School bus seat belts on hold for now

By MIRANDA G. BAILEY
Staff Writer

The Pampa ISD school district's bus fleet won't be seeing new seat belts until the board of education can find the best seat belt for the best price.

Jack Bailey, executive director of personnel services, researched information on the purchase of 961 seat belts for the district's bus fleet. District employees will install the belts once they're purchased.

He informed the board last week that he only received three responses from the several seat belt manufacturers he contacted. Of those three, the best price is an $8.50 seat belt from a company in Willis, Texas.

Bailey informed the board he only received three responses from the several seat belt manufacturers he contacted. The best price was $8.50 per belt.

The belt is connected from the floor, said Bailey, and the metal mechanism is the type that is pushed to be unlocked like seat belts found in most automobiles today.

Superintendent Dr. Dawson Orr reminded the board that while the seat belts are not mandatory by the state, he believes the seat belts will correct several problems on the buses.

Three of the district's buses are completely full right now.

"If we do get seat belts, we must do an orientation on how to operate the seat belts for maybe a week, and hopefully that will care of some of the problems on the bus," he said.

The board, who had expressed concern at a prior meeting regarding seat belts with "push" mechanisms, again confirmed their dissatisfaction with this kind of belt. Joe Martinez said he has had problems with these kind of belts in his car jamming and becoming inoperable.

"I've seen them jam up without even having anything stuck inside (the mechanism)," said Martinez.

"None of these three companies had other styles of belts? They all had push seat belts?" Johnson asked. "I don't know if we've exhausted our search."

"I'm really concerned about these kind of seat belts," said Lee Porter.

The board asked Bailey to continue to find other possibilities and samples of belts, preferably belts like those found in airplanes.

"I don't want to spend the money if we're not comfortable with the decision," said Orr.

Johnson made a motion that the issue be tabled until better quality belts be investigated, and Porter seconded the motion.

Gazebo to incorporate bricks from old building

By MIRANDA G. BAILEY
Staff Writer

A gazebo is now in the works for Dr. V.E. von Brunow Park. Board member Rusty Neef was commissioned last night to come up with three drawing plans for the Parks and Recreation Advisory Board to choose from at next month's meeting.

Neef, also owner of Neef Welding Works, said he is excited that the board agreed on incorporating bricks from the original von Brunow building into the gazebo's design. He said he also intends to make the design "multi-media" with wood shingles for its roof, and green iron for its exterior, to match the benches and trash receptacles that were recently placed in the park.

Closer to the end of the meeting, Neef presented the board with an update on the construction of Gerald Sanders' statue, "Grandfather's Vision," which was commissioned for the new park.

Based on what Sanders recently told Neef, and on a discussion the board's chairperson, Judy Elliott had with Darlene Birkes of Pampa's Area Foundation for Outdoor Art, the artist is busy until after the first of the year.

By that time, the park's nine trees should be planted and it could be possible that the gazebo will be constructed. All these factors considered, the board is projecting to have the statue into the park with a ceremony either in January, or in early spring.

In other matters, the parks and recreation board has a board member vacancy. Member Charles King resigned due to "circumstances beyond my control," he wrote in his resignation letter to the board.

Parks Superintendent Reed Kirkpatrick briefed the board on happenings in the parks department. He said the playground equipment the board commissioned for Recreation Park was installed this month.

"But the equipment's colors are different than was expected," said Kirkpatrick. Specified colors for each piece of the equipment as discussed previously by the board, and designed by former board member Kathy Gist, were changed.

The playground equipment company made a mistake by telling the parks department there would be no extra charge for specified colors.

"It ended up being a significant amount of money for the variety of colors and I didn't think I could justify spending that."

Board terms were also discussed at last night's meeting. Term expirations are as follows:

Michael L. Fry (term expires) Sept., 2000 (appointed) April, 1998
Rusty Neef Sept., 2000 — Jan., 1998
Kenneth W. Strickland, Sept., 2000 — Aug., 1998
Judy Elliott, Sept., 1999 — June, 1994
Eileen Kludt, Sept., 1999 — March, 1996
Joe Martinez, Sept., 1999 — Aug., 1996
Vacancy, Sept., 2000 — April, 1997.

Burglars busy overnight

Burglars were busy in Pampa last night breaking into several buildings including the city's temporary library.

Several of the buildings were on West Brown including Mojave Oil Company at 821 W. Brown where a window was broken out. After investigating, police found that the company's gas station on that property had also been burglarized. Company spokesman Lance DeFever said the thieves left some computer equipment on the floor and only got away with $20 or so in change from the station and offices.

Further investigation found at Fashion Tip Toes at 808 W. Brown thieves took the air conditioner, stole a CD player and left with about $400 in cash, according to owner Anne Rapstine.

Group wants to aid in fighting addiction

By JEFF WEST

Letting people know what resources are available for people wanting help with drug and alcohol problems was one of several items discussed at a citizens' forum last night.

The forum at the sheriff's department was called to discuss drug problems in Pampa and what could be done to combat them. About 25 people attended.

Chief of Police Charlie Morris talked about efforts the police and sheriff's department have made to increase enforcement of the drug laws. He includes getting authorization to have a minimum number of officers on the street during all three shifts, even if that means increased overtime and using reserve officers to boost manpower.

He also spoke about training his department has received from Pampa resident and former DEA agent Charles Henry, who has arranged for more local training from the DEA.

But Morris said enforcement isn't the answer to stop drug abuse. "Every time we arrest one drug dealer there are two or three more to take their place," he said. "I don't want to head up an occupying army."

He asked the group what it thinks needs to be done. Several people offered suggestions about making sure people know that resources are available for those who are ready to break their addictions. Some also said intervention with young people is critical.

Morris agreed saying the only way to eliminate the dealers is to stop people from using drugs.

Several members of the group agreed to get together a list of free and low-cost agencies and resources to help with addiction problems. They also agreed similar forums should be held once a month to help organize and inform citizens about the problem and possible solutions. The next meeting will probably be Oct. 15.

Candidates, backers already on Web to promote 2000 bid

By FREDERIC J. FROMMER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — It may be early for White House aspirants to open formal offices for the 2000 campaign, but the World Wide Web is already flush with sites that look presidential.

On some, the hopefuls coyly market themselves with pitches that stop just short of saying, "Vote for Me." On others, surrogates sing their favorites' praises or, from a contrarian point of view, bash politicians they don't want to see in the Oval Office anytime soon.

Lamar Alexander, the former governor of Tennessee, ran for president in 1996 and hasn't stopped since. Although his political action committee's Web site, www.lamaralexander.org, doesn't mention a 2000 presidential run, it drops a lot of hints.

The site displays Alexander's press clippings from a visit to Iowa, site of the first presidential caucuses, and prominently displays this campaign-like quote:

"For the new century, America needs not so much a new kind of government — not a Squarer Deal or a Fairer Deal or a Greater Society — but a New Spirit."

You can also check out Alexander's schedule, heavily loaded with trips to Iowa and New Hampshire, site of the nation's first primary.

For another point of view, you can click on a satirical Web site called the Daily Muse (www.cais.net/aschnedr/lamar.htm), which offers such reasons to vote against Alexander as:

—America would have a president named Lamar and a First Lady named Honey.

—"How can we count on someone who doesn't know the price of eggs and milk but who does know how much it costs to dry-clean 363,000 flannel shirts?"

Former Vice President Dan Quayle, at www.quayle.org, highlights his "Campaign America" PAC, ostensibly aimed at helping Republicans get elected to Congress. It's replete with information about Quayle, his speeches and his books, and reads like a presidential platform.

So does the Web site for Sen. John Ashcroft, the Missouri Republican who is a favorite of the Christian right. Click on www.johnashcroft.org, for information about his "Spirit of America" PAC.

Ashcroft proudly announces himself "Fighting for Conservative Values." While again there is no explicit reference to the 2000 presidential race, the Web site carries this advice from Terry Jeffrey, Pat Buchanan's former campaign manager: "Look out for John Ashcroft."

Rep. John Kasich, the Republican deficit hawk from Ohio, said in Iowa recently that all signs are pointing to a presidential run. There are Web sites in place to help him along.

Kasich's site, www.pioneerpac.org, is ostensibly dedicated to helping elect "courageous" leaders who want smaller government. It also features a gushing profile and beaming photograph of Kasich.

He has at least one other Web-site maker waving banners for him. A former intern, Gregory Kinzelman, has three Web sites — www.w.kasich2000.org, www.w.w.kasich.com, www.kasich2000.com — blaring: "Kasich 2000 for President."

Kinzelman currently is a Washington antitrust lawyer.

and his Caring About America 2000, which calls itself "a single candidate, nonauthorized Political Action Committee." The page features a photo of Kasich surrounded by stick figures lifting weights and doing other activities, links to various aspects of Kasich's potential candidacy. It boasts that it is forming a grassroots network of volunteers through the Internet.

A couple of Republicans are explicit about their aspirations.

Sen. Bob Smith, R-N.H., has incorporated the state's motto in his Web address: www.livefreeordie.org. The site includes an Iowa Public Television interview in which Smith discusses a possible 2000 bid.

Alan Keyes, a conservative talk show host who was an also-ran in the 1996 GOP primaries, has a Web page, www.keyes2000.org, for his 2000 exploratory committee.

Many sites have already been gobbled up by "Web speculators" who hope to sell them at a profit to candidates or their opponents.

Others are in safekeeping with supporters.

A visit to www.wellstone2000.com encourages people to back Sen. Paul Wellstone, a liberal Democrat from Minnesota, for president.

But this is not the product of some professional political consultant. Click on the name of the Web site's author and you get "Paul Hogarth's Homepage," with a picture of a college student strumming on a guitar.

Hogarth, a junior at the University of California, Berkeley, tells visitors why his page is dedicated to Wellstone:

"I think it's probably time better spent than just another Web page about some random college student and the story of his life."

Human fire alarms hired by high school at $1,000 a day

HYANNIS, Mass. (AP) — The high school's new $45 million wing is so soundproof that youngsters can't hear the fire alarms — so the school board is hiring firefighters to stand guard at nearly $1,000 a day.

Barnstable High School officials discovered that the hallway alarms cannot be heard in 70 classrooms in the new wing, which uses concrete supports and thick ceiling tiles to make it earthquake proof and virtually soundproof.

Officials considered using a louder alarm or having it routed through each classroom's public address system. But neither plan met codes.

Until the problem can be fixed, fire codes require the school keep three firefighters on duty from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. each school day. If the fire alarms sound, the firefighters will let everyone know.

The problem was discovered a week before school started Sept. 8.

"This was a surprise to us," said Harry Holway, a Barnstable School Committee member and chairman of the building committee.

"We went to the fullest extent of the building code and beyond and, I think, caught the engineers off guard. The building is so well-constructed, you can't hear the alarms."

Nine firefighters work four-hour shifts at $25 or more per hour. The firefighters will be paid out of the building project's $1 million contingency fund.

The building committee will discuss a permanent solution next week.

Burglary charge reduced to charges of assault with injury, criminal trespass

Charges against a Pampa man have been reduced from burglary to assault with injury and criminal trespass.

The Gray County Sheriff's Office reports a caller told them on Sept. 22 that Kevin Lynn Boyd, 35, 320 Anne, had broken into a house in the 300 block of Tignor and had assaulted a man and a woman at that residence. When deputies arrived, Boyd had

According to Gray County Sheriff's Lt. Jim Scott the woman said Boyd did not live there.

Deputies later found Boyd and transported him to Columbia Medical Center for a head injury and then booked him into Gray County Jail for burglary.

The charges were later reduced after consulting with the district attorney's office, according to Scott.

Boy Scout Pete Long was recently awarded his Eagle Badge for volunteer work with the Red Cross, his Eagle project.

Scout earns Eagle Badge for Red Cross project

Pete Long, son of Morris and Vickie Long, was awarded his Eagle Badge at his Eagle Court of Honor recently at St. Matthews Episcopal Church in Pampa. His Eagle project was to clean and reorganize the warehouses for the Red Cross.

Long has had a distinguished scouting career that began when he joined scouting in November 1992. He earned 37 Merit Badges and has served as a patrol leader, assistant patrol leader and senior patrol leader for Troop 413. At present, he holds the title of troop guide.

Long is a vigil member of the Order of the Arrow and is lodge chief for the Iron Horde Chapter of Nischa Achowalogen Lodge. Long held the title of task master for the Order of the Arrow's "Summer Ordeal" that was held at Camp M.K. Brown near Wheeler in August. He was responsible for planning the work details for over 100 Boy Scouts and adult scouters at the camp.

Long also attended the National Scout Jamboree the last of July 1997 with 37,000 other scouts from the United State of America in Fort A.P. Hill in Virginia.

Long is a member of the Pampa High School Band where he plays the percussion.

FPC to present one-woman show

BORGER — Frank Phillips College will present "The Dysfunctional Family of Henry VIII, or "One Man, Six Wives and a Rift with the Pope," a dramatic presentation by Gloria Hocking, at 7 p.m., Sept. 29 in FPC Fine Arts Building. The free one-hour performance is being sponsored by the FPC Lyceum Committee and is open to the public.

Audience members will meet Henry VIII's six wives as Hocking portrays each wife's story as a first-person monologue. She offers insight and commentary from the perspectives of the ultimate insiders at the king's court with little costume, a few props and a couple of accents.

Hocking consulted many books to develop this one-woman play. "I wrote my own material based on the books, but I am not a writer," she said. "I approached it as an actor, and any good actor tries to take characters and liken them to real human beings. I tried to look at how the women and I were alike, and get at their feelings and emotions. Women, through the ages, have really felt the same about things like husbands, babies, mistresses and divorce."

Hocking is an actress with a wide range of experience, from feature film and network TV work, to stage work — her true love. A consummate performer, she has been praised for flexibility as well as her talent. In the past few years, she has created more than 40 one-woman shows and performed more than 2,000 shows around the U.S. Based on personages from fact and fiction, she presents characters struggling with everyday life.

American bison exhibit to open at Canyon museum

CANYON — An exhibit featuring the American bison, commonly referred to as "buffalo" will open at the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum on Sept. 27. Many aspects concerning the American bison, including the natural history, paleontology, prehistoric people on the Plains, the Plains Indians, buffalo hunters and the effort to save the buffalo from extinction will be included in the exhibit. Part of the exhibit will feature the buffalo as the mascot of the West Texas A&M University from 1921 to present.

Some of the items included in, Where the Buffalo Roam: Bison on the Southern Plains, will be a collection of buffalo kitshe, several works of art featuring the buffalo and a prehistoric buffalo altar excavated at Caprock Canyons State Park. Several photographs and a mounted buffalo head also will be displayed.

"We have hundreds of items in the Museum's collection to chose from, which relate to the buffalo. The exhibit will be interdisciplinary, with something of interest to everyone," stated Curator of History, Dr. William Green. "Since one segment of the exhibit will feature the WTAMU Buffalo, we hope may of the visitors to the University's homecoming festivities will include the Museum in their plans." Green continued.

Pampa Fine Arts Association to receive grant

Pampa Fine Arts Association is in line to receive a grant from Texas Commission on the Arts to help are schools, libraries, festivals, and other agencies use the services of Lorelee Cooley, a storyteller from Pampa who is listed on the official "Texas Touring Artist Roster."

The funding can be used to match artist fees paid by the agencies for Lorelee Cooley to do programs, workshops, or storytelling classes. It would be a 50-50 match. That means if the total artist fee is, say, $200, the grant would pay $100 and the agency would pay the other $100.

Lorelee Cooley, who calls her work "Storyspinning," has been working as a storyteller since 1977. She is listed on the South Carolina Artist Roster, and served as the founding president of the Atlanta-based Southern Order of Storytellers, a regional storytelling organization that hosted the 1995 National Storytelling Conference.

Other artists or arts groups from the Texas high plains that are approved for listing in the "Texas Touring Artist Roster" include the Amarillo Little Theatre, the Lone Star Ballet, Andy Wilkinson of Lubbock (who was featured in a program entitled "Tribute to the Texas Plains" at M.K. Brow Auditorium in 1997) and Alan Munde and Joe Carr, bluegrass artists with connections in Littlefield, who will be featured in October at the Gem Theatre in Claude, Texas, with their play, "Two Swell Guys from Texas."

Schools, churches, libraries, businesses or other organizations who would like more information about scheduling "Storyspinning with Lorelee Cooley" may contact Pampa Fine Arts Association, (806) 665-0343, or Lorelee Cooley, (806)665-7321. The funds are available for matching until the run out, and the grant was for approximately $2500.

Lorelee Cooley will tell stories during the Super Playground Project, Oct. 21-25, using some of the grant funds with an "in-kind" match.

Minister's musings

Most people are drawn to the unusual. Walking into my office people often notice the old steering wheel mounted in a metal frame on the north wall. It is an unusual object to be found in a room. And naturally, like most unusual objects displayed in an office, it has a story.

This old steering wheel is from a 1938 Allis Chalmers tractor and has a lot of sentiment attached. First, it was the first tractor my father ever purchased. It was purchased used because he and Mom could not afford anything more when they moved with two small children to West Texas to begin farming in 1940. They had used all other available resources and credit to purchase a sandy dry-land farm.

Second, it was the "learning" tractor for me and my younger brother as we grew up on the farm and learned to operate farm machinery. This tractor was quite limited in its versatility. It has a mechanic lift (no hydraulics), mechanical hand brakes, no live PTO, and wheels that were completely fixed in position and width. Tractors having advanced features were in existence, but my folks simply could not afford one. Now, I do not believe tractors so unequipped as "Old Allis" are even on the market.

"Old Allis" proved herself during the following war years, when tractors became scarce and parts rare. She was dependable, even running on kerosene after being started each time on gasoline. I guess you could say she did her part in the war effort. Not a single major breakdown occurred that would have been disastrous in such a time. Of course, after the war, other tractors were bought and irrigation wells were drilled, but "Old Allis"

By Rev. Larry Heard

continued to be a useful part of the family farm. She was basically used for pull type equipment, especially the old "sandfighters" that were a vital part of a West Texas sandy-land cotton farm.

Two more reasons for sentimentality exist. In May of 1956 my dad and I were planting cotton. I was driving "Old Allis", preparing the seedbed ahead of my father following me on a tractor with a planter attached. I was praying for my younger brother to make a profession of faith and accept Christ as Savior during the revival going on in our local Baptist church (why do us preachers schedule revivals during planting season?). About mid-morning God spoke clearly to me that my brother might possibly be saved, but not in answer to my prayer. Rather, because Jesus loved him and died for him, and that others were praying for him. But my prayers were being unheard by God because I was living outside the will of God for my life (see Psalms 66:18). I knew God was "calling" me to preach, but I had argued with God for sometime. I had dictated to God that I would "surrender to preach" after I reached my 18th birthday, but not before. At that moment God told me that unless I surrendered to him then,

I would not live to see my 18th birthday (three months away). At that moment I yielded myself to the will of God. Both of my hands were on the old steering wheel now hanging on my office wall.

When I told our little church the decision of my following God's will ministry, I saw my younger brother profess his faith in Christ, and my Dad make a vow of rededication and commitment. He vowed to underwrite the educational cost of ministerial preparation. He and Mom were faithful in that commitment, first through college and then seminary. And, when I returned 20 years later to earn a Doctor of Ministry degree, Dad insisted that he had to underwrite the costs.

The final note of the steering wheel and my Dad happened in 1984. I asked him about the old tractor. He replied that it was waiting on the salvage man to cut it up for scrap iron. After going to the farm he and I sawed this old steering wheel off of "Old Allis". Six months later Dad died after complications from heart surgery (he would have been 86 this week, Sept. 25). The steering wheel continues to tell its silent story of the moving of God in my own life, and of the faithfulness to God of a father in his own vows. Even in missing him, I renew my vows of faithfulness to God and to my children. Dad of any age, will you let this story be encouragement to Godly living that will touch the lives of those around you?

Church-centered weight control program

First Place Workshop will be on Saturday, Oct. 24, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the First Baptist Church Dumas in Fellowship Hall.

First Place is a church centered health program with emphasis on weight control. It includes Bible studies, small-group support and a proven common-sense nutrition plan. It also aims for the growth and balance in all areas of life, spiritual, mental, emotional, and physical.

The first place program consists of nine areas of discipline. These areas make up the commitments that each member agrees to when he/she registers. They are attendance, prayer, scripture reading, memory verse, bible study, live-it (nutrition plan), fact sheets (food dairy), phone calls, and exercise.

The First Place Workshop is a good way to learn more about First Place and to meet many people who have succeeded in the program. You will be given the necessary tools to enable you to begin a first place group in your church. For more information call Barbara Johnson (806) 935-5604 before Oct. 9.

Picking the right pact...

When Adam and Eve nibbled their first bite of that all-revealing apple, they became the first to want more than what God had intended for them.

Genesis tells us the fruit of the tree was good for food, pleasing to the eye and desirable for gaining wisdom. When Eve calculated those values, it was an easy decision to stretch forth her hand for the fruit, then pass a piece to Adam. You know the rest of that story.

Dr. Faustus, learned in philosophy, the law and medicine and miserably restless for more, wanted his own apple from the garden. With no handy Edenic tree and having plucked all the university could offer, Faustus made his own deal.

Unlike Eve who was recruited by Satan, Faustus called for Lucifer. It was Lucifer's black arts which Faustus believed would satisfy him after the failure of learning to do so.

You know this story, too. Faustus traded 24 years to live for every human experience which he promised to use for the good of Germany. Instead, he plays rude jokes on the Pope, consorts with demons and entertains himself with magic tricks.

From the Back Pew...

And at the end of the appointed time, it was time to pay the Satan-piper.

Adam and Eve got another chance. God came to the rescue and while they were banished from the perfect garden, they were not damned for their foray into illicit knowledge.

Faustus paid the price of his soul. Of course, that was his bargain, though rued in the moments before Satan snatched him.

People who fret over such questions as the reasons for Faustus's damnation - his despair, his union with the demon incarnated as Helen of Troy, or whether a heavenly hand fated the doctor's demise - will tell you the final upshot is Faustus chose the demonic pact.

While the stories of Adam and Eve parallel that of Faustus for time - wanting what God has not ordained - they fail as parallels because the garden couple unexpectedly came upon the desire to "be like God, knowing good and evil." They almost accidentally sinned.

Faustus knew his lust for life and deliberately, wantonly sought to satisfy it.

Have you ever wondered whether it was worth it?

Eternity, one of America's leading contemporary Christian music arts from Austin, will be in concert Sunday, Sept. 27 at First Baptist Church, 203 N. West, at 6:30 p.m. There is no admission charge. The group has traveled across the U.S. and around the world.

Pastor dismissals decline among Southern Baptists

NASHVILLE (AP) — Congregations asked fewer Southern Baptist pastors to leave their churches last year, according to a survey of 35,812 of the denomination's 40,877 churches conducted for the state Baptist conventions. In 1997, 892 pastors were fired from leadership posts. That's a 29 percent drop from the previous year.

Among the problems most commonly cited were disagreements over who would run the church and pastoral leadership style. In some cases, the study noted, the churches were in conflict before the pastor arrived.

Daughter's Jealousy Turns Family Revelry Into Rivalry

DEAR ABBY: My daughter, "Doreen," and daughter-in-law, "Melanie," don't get along. They used to be good friends and went everywhere together. But from the day Doreen learned that her brother was going to marry Melanie, she did a total reversal. My husband and I can't figure out what went wrong. It is very difficult to have a family function now. Doreen comes in and completely ignores both her brother and his wife.

SYNDICATED COLUMNIST

I finally confronted Doreen and asked her to explain. She told me it appears that we care more for Melanie than we do for her. I told her we try to treat everyone in the family the same, but I think Doreen is jealous of Melanie.

Abby, Melanie has always been nice to my husband and to me, and I'm happy our son married her. The whole family was at my son's house this past weekend for an anniversary dinner he and Melanie gave for us. It just happened to be Melanie's birthday. Neither of my daughters mentioned it or wished her a happy birthday. They had to have known. Although Doreen talked to our son, both of my daughters ignored Melanie.

I'm at my wit's end. I'm at the point of giving up family gatherings. Any help or advice would be greatly appreciated.

DEAR ABBY: "Broke in San Francisco" does not necessarily have to level with his girlfriend about his economic situation. I dated a man in the same boat. He solved the problem by using a little imagination.

He took me on romantic picnics and read poetry aloud to me. We went to the beach at sunset and strolled through the surf hand in hand. He took me to art shows, museums, the zoo. He brought me handpicked field flowers artfully arranged in wine bottles and left sweet notes on my windshield. I could go on, but you get the idea.

It eventually dawned on me that he didn't have a lot of money to spend, but I couldn't have cared less. I felt pampered, spoiled and loved. What was this man doing with all the money he saved? He was paying off the mortgage on his home so I would always have a place to live after we were married.

DEAR LUCKY: What a fine tribute to a special man. You were not only lucky, you were wise to hang on to him. Not everyone is as fortunate as you:

DEAR ABBY: I have a solution for "Broke in San Francisco," who cannot afford to wine-and-dine his girlfriend as before. Marry her; then you'll no longer have to take her out. That's what my ex-husband did.

BASKETBALL

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two days before the scheduled start of the trial, robbery and attempted murder charges against Fresno State basketball player Kenny Brunner were dropped after the victim was unable to identify him as the attacker.

Brunner, who played at Georgetown last season before transferring to Fresno State, was accused of robbing and trying to shoot Los Angeles City College basketball coach Mike Miller on May 22. However, after charges were filed, Miller and two witnesses changed their statements and said they were unsure whether Brunner was the assailant.

GOLF

COLOGNE, Germany (AP) — Colin Montgomerie, Van Phillips and PGA champion Vijay Singh shot 7-under-par 65s to share the first-round lead at the German Masters.

Lee Westwood, Sven Struver, Richard Boxall, Ian Garbutt and Jarmo Sandelin were one stroke back at 6-under-66. Darren Clarke was four back at 69, along with defending champion Bernhard Langer.

TENNIS

TOKYO (AP) — Top-seeded Arantxa Sanchez-Vicario beat Elena Likhovtseva 6-0, 6-4 to advance to the quarterfinals of the Toyota Princess Cup. Sanchez-Vicario will face No. 5 Anna Kournikova, who beat Wang Shi-tung 6-0, 6-4. In other matches, Olga Barabanschikova beat No. 4 Dominique Van Roost 3-6, 6-3, 7-5, and No. 7 Anke Huber eliminated Li Fang 7-5, 6-3.

TELEVISION

NEW YORK (AP) — Fox Sports Net will not run advertisements for the muscle-building supplement androstenedione. ESPN, which first ran the commercial Tuesday for the supplement used by Mark McGwire, pulled the ads one day later in response to criticism from the NCAA and a national high school federation.

MetRx, the company that placed the advertisement, had said the ads were scheduled to run on Fox Sports Net. But Fox spokesman Vince Wladika said no spots had been scheduled and none would run on the network.

BOXING

BOSTON (AP) — During an intensive battery of tests under way at Massachusetts General Hospital, doctors are strapping electrodes to Mike Tyson, checking him for drugs and asking him hundreds of probing questions.

The tests, ordered by the Nevada State Athletic Commission, are part of Tyson's attempt to return to the sport he was banned from after biting Evander Holyfield's ears.

When it's all over, they hope to have an answer to the one question many in the boxing world are asking: Is Tyson mentally fit to return to the ring?

A team of psychiatrists and neuropsychologists have been asked to predict, among other things, the chances of Tyson exploding into an uncontrolled rage in a future bout.

Raiders, Cowboys Sunday

IRVING, Texas (AP) — What next for "Prime Time"? A touchdown pass?

The Oakland Raiders go into Sunday's game against the Dallas Cowboys thinking perhaps they've seen it all from Deion Sanders, who has scored six different ways in the NFL.

Sanders scored on a punt return and on a pass interception against the New York Giants in a 31-7 victory to run his touchdown totals to 20 in his nine-year career.

"I still have some things we've worked on in the offense that I can't talk about," Sanders says, mysteriously. "I can't reveal what I've worked on."

It's no mystery. The Cowboys have been trying Sanders as a short yardage quarterback inside the 10-yard line. Sanders has an excellent passing arm, which he demonstrated every day in training camp. Before the Giants game, Sanders took about 10 snaps in practice.

Sanders was a left-handed option quarterback at North Ft. Meyers High School in Florida.

So far, Sanders has scored eight times on interceptions, once on a fumble recovery, four times on punt returns, three times on kick-off returns, three times as a pass receiver and once running the ball on an end around.

"He's just a great special athlete," said quarterback Jason Garrett. "I don't know how he does what he does but he just does it."

Sanders caught a 55-yard pass in the win over the Giants and totaled 226 yards on punt returns, a pass interception return, and receiving for the game.

Total team effort lifts Pampa girls to 14-4 overall record

PAMPA — Pampa displayed an all-around attack in its District 3-4A opening win over Caprock on Tuesday night.

With a variety of kills, blocks, digs and serves, the Lady Harvesters downed Caprock, 16-14, 15-8, in McNeely Fieldhouse.

"We've got lots of weapons, and we're not afraid to use them," said PHS head coach Carmen Pennick. "We're real pleased at being 1-0 in district. That's a good start."

For the Lady Harvesters, Anne Gaddis had 9 digs, 8 block solos, 8 block assists and 4 kills; Tandri Morton 3 kills, 5 digs, 4 solo blocks and 3 block assists; Lisa Dwight 5 kills, 2 solo blocks and 4 assists; Lisa Kirkpatrick 8 kills, 8 digs, 3 block solos and 1 assists and Kimberly Clark 1 service ace and 4 setting assists.

"It was pretty much of a total team effort," Pennick said. "Gaddis did a super job and so did Morton, Dwight and Kirkpatrick. With Clark's serves we were able to set up the things we wanted to occur. It took Caprock out of their offense and helped us out late in the game."

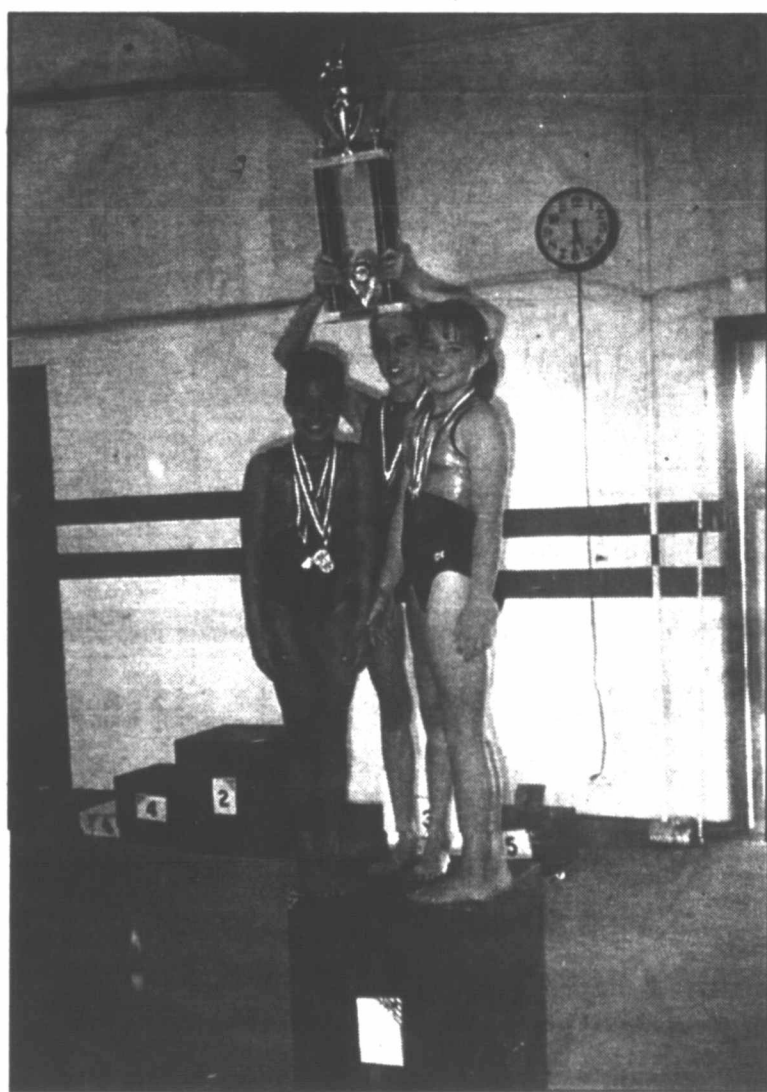

With the win the Lady Harvesters are 14-4 for the season. They travel to Dumas for more district action Saturday afternoon.

"We'd better be prepared. Dumas had a pretty quick match against Hereford," Pennick said.

Dumas defeated Hereford, 15-6, 15-9, Tuesday to open district play. Pampa's next home match is Tuesday night against Hereford.

Caprock defeated Pampa, 15-10, 16-14, in a junior varsity match played Tuesday. Lindsey Hampton and Destiny Engel had 4 kills each for the Pampa JVs.

McGwire looking for more homers with three games left

Cardinals 6, Expos 3

ST. LOUIS (AP) — With three games to go, the long balls and long answers are suddenly in short supply for Mark McGwire.

McGwire was a terse, angry slugger after going homerless for the first three games of the St. Louis Cardinals' season-ending, six-game homestand. He was 1-for-3 with a walk in a 6-3 victory over the Montreal Expos on Thursday night and enters the final stretch tied at 65 homers with Sammy Sosa of the Chicago Cubs.

Despite his frequent assertions that it didn't matter who won the home run derby, his postgame session with a pool reporter showed definite signs of stress. The good humor man who traveled the country and spoke his inner thoughts after breaking Roger Maris' record earlier this month was gone.

Question: Did you see a lot of fastballs? Answer: Nope.

Question: What do you expect to happen the last three days? Answer: I have no idea.

Question: Are you as relaxed right now as you could possibly be? Answer: Yeah, that's why I don't understand the big fuss.

McGwire last homered on Sunday — the last day he spoke to the assembled media — and is 2-for-10, both singles, in the first three games of the homestand. In the opener of a four-game series against the Montreal

Expos, he didn't even put a ball in the air.

Facing nervous rookie Javier Vazquez (5-15), he walked on four pitches that didn't come close to the plate in the first inning and scored on Ray Lankford's three-run homer. He took a called third strike on a 2-2 pitch in the third, grounded a single through short in the fifth. Against reliever Shayne Bennett in the seventh, he grounded back to the mound on a checked swing.

Before the game, Expos manager Felipe Alou promised that his pitchers would challenge McGwire and not "walk him like cowards." After the game Cardinals manager Tony La Russa wasn't complaining, although as usual lately he said McGwire didn't get many decent pitches to swing at.

"This is a competition, you're supposed to compete," La Russa said. "As long as a guy is competing against you and they make good pitches ... they just pitched him really tough."

"He's concentrating, but he's not having a lot of fun because there's not a lot in that area to swing at."

Lankford had four hits and four RBIs, including a three-run homer, as the Cardinals won for the seventh time in eight games. Lankford has 105 RBIs but is getting very little attention because of McGwire's mania.

"So far I think it's one of my best seasons," Lankford said. "Hopefully, I'll continue to get better."

Pitching to McGwire so consumed Vazquez that he forgot about Lankford, who matched his career high with his 31st homer.

"It was hard to get McGwire off my mind that first time," Vazquez said. "It was right over the middle. It was not a good pitch at all."

Vazquez made his first career start against the Cardinals, and the remainder of the Expos' starters have little or no history against McGwire. He's 0-for-3 with three walks and an RBI against Miguel Batista, who starts tonight, 0-for-1 with a walk against Saturday starter Dustin Hermanson, and has never faced Sunday starter Mike Thurman.

Georges' impact wipes out football, baseball

MIAMI (AP) — The impact of Hurricane Georges on the sports schedule was felt as far away as Southern California.

Hours before UCLA's third-ranked football team was scheduled to depart Thursday for its nationally televised contest against Miami, players and coaches got word that the game would not go off as planned.

"They're relieved that they don't have to go into a situation that would have been very difficult," said Bruins coach Bob Toledo, still dressed for a cross-country flight rendered unnecessary.

The UCLA-Miami showdown was just one of a handful of events that fell victim to Georges, which spawned hurricane warnings across South Florida.

Thursday night's baseball game between the Florida Marlins and Philadelphia Phillies was postponed and rescheduled as part of a doubleheader Saturday. Today's program at Calder Race Course was canceled, and many high school events were postponed.

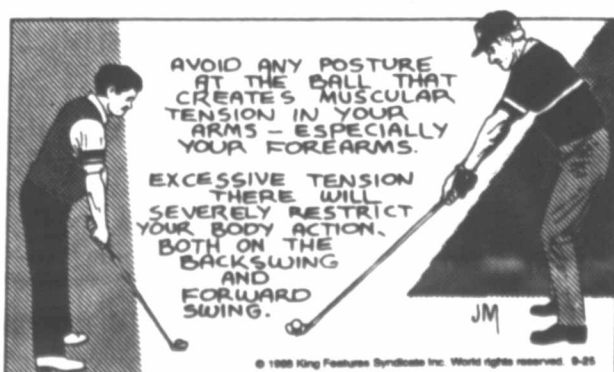

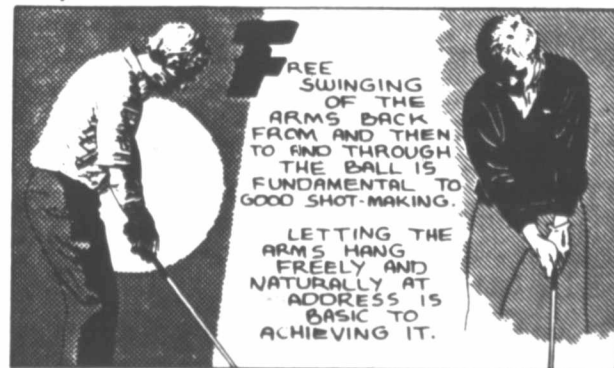

The latest forecasts indicated Georges was likely to slice through the Florida Keys with 105 mph winds today before skirting the state's southwest coast and heading into the Gulf of Mexico.

U. S. in brief...

Georges arrives in Keys

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — Gusty wind and rain lashed the Florida Keys early today, grim signs that Hurricane Georges was coming ashore after killing at least 250 people as it ripped through the Caribbean.

Five million people in eight Florida counties were under a hurricane warning, meaning winds of at least 74 mph were possible within hours. A million more living along 300 miles of coastline around the southern end of the peninsula were ordered out of low-lying areas and mobile homes.

"We order them to leave and if they decide to stay they're on their own," said Becky Herrin, Keys emergency management spokeswoman. "There's nothing we can do for them if they stay."

The first signs of the hurricane arrived in Marathon in the middle Keys shortly before sunset Thursday, spawning the first of several waterspouts. As winds and rain became more steady, as many as 4,000 people lost power in Broward and Dade counties.

Schools, courts, state and federal offices and businesses were shut down in many communities, and scores of buildings were shattered with the familiar plywood of hurricane season.

Jean Burnett was among about 60 people taking shelter at the Glynn Archer Elementary School in Key West. The 80,000 people in the Keys were ordered out on Wednesday, but Burnett and many others were determined to ride out the storm. She wasn't worried about her house.

Hurricane death count hits 250 plus

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Rescue workers coping with the results of Hurricane Georges' fury have been pulling more bodies from mud, water, and rubble. At least 250 people died in the storm that ravaged the Caribbean and now threatens Florida.

Armed forces chief Ruben Paulino Alvarez said Thursday night that 125 were known dead in the Dominican Republic, with another 156 missing.

The death toll apparently did not include 76 bodies that Red Cross official Angel Almanzar said were recovered Thursday by workers in San Juan de la Maguana, 120 miles west of the capital, Santo Domingo.

Reporters trying to reach the area were told it was inaccessible by land because of damaged bridges.

In Manamatuey, where a shelter was washed away Wednesday, three more bodies were pulled from the muck to bring the death toll there to at least eight. And along the capital's seaside boulevard, a woman's bloated, blanched body washed ashore.

Meanwhile, the hurricane continued its onslaught. It struck southern Cuba on Wednesday, crossed it Thursday and was threatening the Florida Keys.

The death toll also rose Thursday in Haiti, where 42 people are now known to have died.

Paula Jones suit settlement talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — At the same time impeachment proceedings are moving forward in Congress, an effort is under way to revive settlement talks in the Paula Jones sexual harassment lawsuit against President Clinton, according to sources familiar with the effort.

One source said Mrs. Jones' lawyers have sent at least one letter to Clinton's legal team exploring the possibility, and that the president was considering the idea.

A second source confirmed there was some form of contact exploring possible settlement talks but declined to be more specific. The sources spoke only on condition of anonymity.

Mrs. Jones' sexual harassment case, dismissed by a judge earlier this year, is being considered by the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals, which is scheduled to hear oral arguments next month in Minnesota. The lawsuit was summarily dismissed in April by U.S. District Judge Susan Webber Wright, who ruled that even if the facts alleged by Mrs. Jones were true, she had not shown proof of any professional harm. The president has denied the incident ever took place.

One of the sources, familiar with Clinton's defense, said Mrs. Jones, a former low-level Arkansas state employee, offered to settle the case if the president would pay her legal fees — about $800,000. The source said Mrs. Jones, who claimed Clinton made a crude sexual pass at her while he was Arkansas governor — and thus her employer — no longer was requiring a statement of apology from Clinton.

Another source, however, put the figure at a non-negotiable $1 million. Clinton's attorneys responded to a letter two weeks ago from Mrs. Jones' attorneys, this source said, but made no commitments.

This third source provided no details, saying only that there have been recent contacts.

Hillary works phones for husband

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's Hillary Rodham Clinton to the rescue.

She's working the phones on behalf of her beleaguered husband, telling wobbly Democrats she's "very proud" of him, and taking shots at Republicans as she campaigns for Democratic candidates in congressional and statewide races.

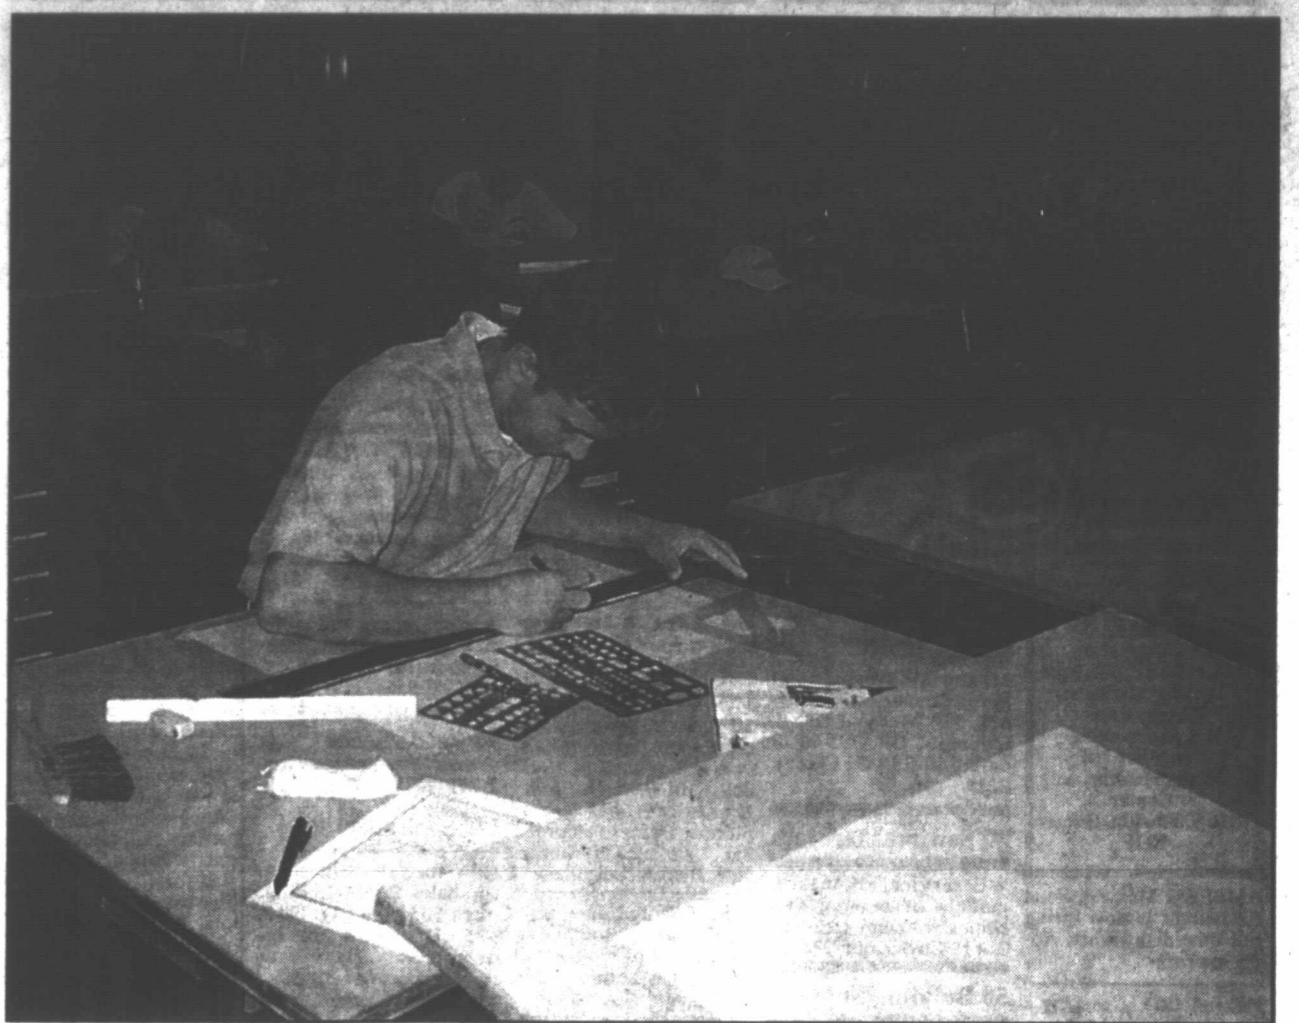

Thursday night at a campaign stop in Seattle, she criticized congressional Republicans for "doing stuff that doesn't amount to a hill of beans in the long-term future of America."

The first lady has always been a big draw for Democrats, appearing at 35 fund-raisers since January — three a day on some occasions. She made appearances Thursday in Colorado for senatorial candidate Dottie Lamm, a gubernatorial hopeful Gail Schoettler, then left to help others.

Earlier, she used an appearance at a Sheridan, Colo., school to castigate Republicans for being too fixated on investigating her husband. "They'd rather spend their time dividing our country, diverting our resources, doing anything but focusing on the real problems of America," she said.

Mrs. Clinton isn't burdened by the negatives that President Clinton carries, and she is willing to work — two reasons she is in great demand among Democrats. She is a popular, risk-free alternative to the party's scandalized titular head.

Consider the case of David Wu, locked in a close race for an open congressional seat in Oregon. Mrs. Clinton was appearing with him today at a forum on child care and addressing a $250-a-plate fund-raising luncheon, then attending a smaller, $1,000-a-person event for Wu's campaign. The events had been booked for months, but interest in them surged recently.
