HOUSE AND SENATE ARE DEADLOCKED

SHORT SESSION DUE TO CLOSE LATE TONIGHT

HOUSE STILL REFUSES TO ACCEPT SENATE PENSION BILL

AUSTIN, Oct. 27 (AP)—The Senate today delivered an ultimatum to the House of Representatives in a resolution "respectfully declining" reconsideration of the omnibus tax bill. The House had asked the Senate to further consider the bill with its plan to reduce pension rolls.

The resolution of rejection was introduced by Senator Frank Rawlings of Fort Worth and was adopted viva voce. Lieut.-Gov. Walter Woodul declining to accede to cries for a roll call vote.

The deadlock between the Senate and the House continued very much in evidence today though some members said there were signs the lower chamber was weakening and ultimately would accept the deliberation feature.

Soon after House action rejecting the report of a conference committee on the bill was formally read in the Senate, Senator A. J. Blackett of Victoria moved to appoint a new conference committee, but the motion went out on a point of order. None of the senators seemed enthusiastic about meeting the House objections to the omnibus bill and several, including Senator Clint C. Small of Amarillo, author of the delimitation amendment, said the upper house had completed its labors on the measure.

A resolution calling for sine die adjournment at noon had been adopted by the Senate and was laying on the desk of Speaker Coke Stevenson. Adjournment, however, was not expected before late tonight. In the House, Rep. J. W. Adamson of Denison pleaded for acceptance of the conference report, asserting that while he had no objection personally to paying every cent of a pension it had been shown conclusively the state could not pay such a bill.

"We ought to quit acting like children," he said. "Old age assistance."

MANY PAMPANS PLAN TO ATTEND CARNIVAL

Between 50 and 75 Pampans are expected to attend the annual Grandview community Halloween carnival at the Grandview school southwest of Pampa tonight. Cars to accommodate that many will be available at the city hall at 7 o'clock. Chairman Guy McFadden of the chamber of commerce goodwill committee reported.

The Grandview carnival is one of the big fun nights of the year. Residents of the community do everything possible to entertain their guests who attend from many miles around. Several Pampans will take part in the fun and frolic.

GOODWILL TRIPS ARE RECOMMENDED BY BGO

Goodwill trips to Skellytown on Friday night and to Lefors and Hopkins school No. 2 on Saturday night were recommended at a meeting of directors of the Board of City Development in brief session last night.

Because of the conflicting dates, no organized visits were believed possible but the directors agreed to urge as many as possible to attend the gatherings.

The directors heard a report on the trip to the Centennial last week and those who attended were enthusiastic about their reception at Dallas and Fort Worth.

An anxious look on the face of Mrs. Bains at the county welfare office, and here's the reason: bedding and food are needed urgently and immediately for a family which contains three boys, the eldest of whom is 11 and who is ill. The father has been sick 10 days. Before that he worked at various jobs, but the family is now broke and in dire need. Persons who will help are urged to take the food and bedding to Mrs. Bains' whose office is on the third floor of the courthouse.

Charm That Won Royal Favor

The charm that has made her the favorite of King Edward VIII of England is revealed in this informal portrait of Mrs. Wallis Simpson, formerly of Baltimore, Md. Since her friendship with the king became known, not only England, but the entire world, has sought a view of Mrs. Simpson. This photo hints at one thing she may have in common with the king—a fondness for animals. (Copyright, Dorothy Wilding.)

Pioneer Dance To Be Held At Gym On Friday Night

Centennial Body Will Sponsor Annual Fall Ball

From the Oklahoma line to the New Mexico border and from the Oklahoma Panhandle to "way down below the Cap Rock, the square dancers and the "gully jumpers" and their number is legion, were "getting up wind" for the annual October pioneer dance to be held at the high school gymnasium Friday night by the Panhandle Centennial committee which has sponsored and conducted all old-time dances held in Pampa in the last three years.

Today, two local old timers, Mrs. E. A. Shackleton and Mrs. H. H. Isbell, were mailing invitations to all old timers who attended Panhandle Centennial celebrations here during the last two years. They were copying names off the celebration registration books.

Scores of lovers of the old-time dances and the square dances from Canadian, Higgins, Dalhart, Wheeler county, Donley county and Potter county, have already sent word they will be here "with bells on."

Musie will be furnished by Homer Ratliff's hillbilly orchestra of six pieces. His was the most popular orchestra that played for Centennial dances. It will be recalled that he played the last night.

Tomorrow Dick Hughes and Garnet Reeves will announce hosts and hostesses for the affair. A. A. Tie-man will be floor manager. "Positively and absolutely," said Mr. Tie-

Uncle Sam Attempts To Collect $1,100 Here For Revenue Stamps

Uncle Sam stopped off in Gray county this week in an effort to collect $1,100 which he claims property owners owe him for failure to live up to the law which provides that a one-dollar revenue stamp must be placed on each deed recorded in the county clerk's office.

The law sets forth that the seller of a property must place a stamp on the deed when it is delivered to the buyer. If this is not done the dollar must be paid by the latter.

Officials made clear that the county clerk's office is in no way responsible for the oversight, it being merely a matter between buyer and seller and the federal government.

Ralph Kenniston and L. P. Herrndon, both of Amarillo, representatives of the internal revenue department, are here making the collections on the revenue stamps.

Notices were sent to approximately 1,100 persons in Gray county last week after a check of the recorded deeds in the clerk's office. Upwards of 200 persons a day were notified to appear in the clerk's office to pay the revenue assessment this week. The revenue collectors will remain here through Friday, Mr. Herndon stated.

JURY EXPECTED TO GET GAMING CASE TONIGHT

MARCH OF WITNESSES CONTINUES IN DUNN TRIAL

BULLETIN Testimony in the Dunn trial was concluded this afternoon about 2:30 o'clock. Judge W. R. Ewing immediately began preparing his charge which he expected to be completed by 4:30 when arguments were to begin. They were expected to be completed tonight.

Witnesses still were marching on and off the witness stand in district court this afternoon in the trial of Sam G. Dunn, of Pampa, charged with keeping a gambling house at the Belvedere night club.

Taking of testimony did not get under way until last night when the court was in session until 10:15 o'clock. The delay yesterday came when attorneys exhausted the list of prospective jurors and the court had to send out deputy sheriffs to round up additional veniremen.

The jury was seated late in the afternoon. Its members are Ralph Caruth, Glenn Pool, Clyde King, L. D. Pittman, Creed Bogan, E. Vanderberg, Clifford Allison, R. L. Edmondson, C. L. Austin, W. K. Wharton, Frank Ferguson, and Frank Painter.

State witnesses, the same who testified in recent gambling trials in the court, were called to the stand last night and told the same stories that juries in the previous trials of Dave Slaughter and L. G. Deuran had heard. Slaughter was found guilty and now awaiting hearing of an appeal from his sentence of two years in the state penitentiary. Deuran was acquitted after two trials, the jury having failed to reach agreement in his first trial.

District Attorney Lewis Goodrich rested his case shortly before noon today and the defense began its testimony under the guidance of Attorney John Sturgeon, of Pampa, and Attorney Robert Underwood, of Amarillo.

Special equipment on the machine includes windshield, leg guards, special siren and lights, and a new feature which holds the speedometer needle at the highest rate of speed instead of allowing the needle to drop back to zero. When the officer

Beauty Locked Nude IN ROOM FOUR YEARS

HAVANA, Oct. 27 (AP)—Police today discovered a beautiful young Spanish woman locked nude in a room where she said she had been held prisoner for four years.

The woman, in her middle twenties, was too overwrought to give a coherent story when the startled officers stumbled into the room during a raid on a midtown residence.

She told them her father was a millionaire residing in Spain but that all she could remember of her name was either Lydia or Aida.

Her nervous condition made questioning impossible and she did not disclose the name of her alleged captor.

Police, however, arrested Jose Gregorio Silva, who, they said, rented the room four years ago.

People You Know

By ARCHER FULLINGIM Frank Whitaker had a group of close friends while he lived in Pampa, and they remember the quiet man and his son whose mother in Georgia now claims was kidnaped by his father. The worshipping son and his father roomed on a street that was alive with children's voices. In the morning they took a cold shower together; then they came to town for breakfast. Before he went to work, the father took his son to a kindergarten. He came by for him in the afternoon. Then, the son holding his father's hand, walked to town in the evening. If Frank happened to be talking to a friend about engineering and the boy asked a question, the vague point was explained. The boy was already included in the conversation, even when his father talked of his favorite game of chess. Also devoted to Frank III were Georgia Tech friends of the father, who live and lived here. There was always a rap look on Frank's face, often seen on the faces of mothers, but rarely on the faces of fathers, when he dressed his son after the two got up of a morning.

Why Has This Case Been Brought To Me?

IPSWICH, Eng., Oct. 27 (AP)—Mrs. Wallis Simpson, fascinating Baltimore-born friend of King Edward of England, won a divorce in a brief hearing at historic Ipswich Assizes today.

The whole hearing lasted just seventeen minutes. Mrs. Simpson was on the stand for fourteen minutes.

Justice Sir John Anthony Hawke announced a decree nisi after hearing a few minutes of formal testimony.

Costs of the case were charged to the defendant, Ernest Aldrich Simpson who did not contest the divorce.

The decree will be made absolute within six months.

She was questioned carefully by her attorney, Norman Birkett, to bring out the facts of the most celebrated divorce case in the United Kingdom since the stirring days of Henry VIII.

She produced three letters, which she handed to the judge.

Her evidence alleged that her ship's broker husband, a subject of the king, was guilty of misconduct at the Hotel de Paris at Bray, near Maidenhead, Berkshire, at the end of July.

A belloy, a waiter and a clerk identified the hotel register to show the alleged misconduct.

Mrs. Simpson, in a trim blue suit with a pink-dot blouse and a smart blue waiker hat at a jaunty angle, was completely at ease on the witness stand.

Justice Ignores Woman She showed not the slightest trace of nerves.

At 2:40 p. m., a little more than an hour after she had reached the assizes, her automobile roared away from the court precincts.

She had left the courtroom even before Mr. Justice Hawke handed down his decision.

Known as a stickler for correct court procedure, the judge was very stern with Counselor Birkett, one of England's most able lawyers, and with Mrs. Simpson's other attorney, Walter Frampton.

On the other hand, Mr. Justice Hawke paid not the slightest heed to the svelte plaintiff, studying the papers in the case and devoting his attention to the lawyers without even so much as looking at Mrs. Simpson once.

Finally, with a resigned gesture, the celebrated jurist flung the papers aside on his desk and announced: "Very well, a decree nisi."

There were rumors, entirely without substantiation, that Mr. Justice

Stalin, 'Dead,' Asks For Peace In Other World

MOSCOW, Oct. 27 (AP)—Dictator Joseph Stalin politely acquiesced today to reports of his death.

The austere Stalin, in a rare whimsical flight, sent a brief note to the Associated Press in response to a written query submitted to the Kremlin several days ago asking for comment on reports Stalin was dead.

"I know from the reports of the foreign press that I long ago abandoned this sinful world and moved into the other world."

"As one cannot doubt such foreign press dispatches unless he wants to be expelled from the list of civilized people, I request you to believe them and don't disturb me in the calm of the other world."

"With respect,"

'BEEN ROBBED' SCREAMS BABY DERBY LEADER

Two Of Her Brood Will Not Be Registered

TORONTO, Oct. 27 (AP)—Mrs. Lily Kenney fell from her pedestal as Toronto's ace childbearer today.

The dozen children she claims to have borne in the last ten years shrank to nine as a search of the official records was made; and the cry went up from the Kenny camp: "We've been robbed!"

Her counsel, I. E. Weldon, said: "Mrs. Kenney has lost out as sole winner of the Millar mothers' marathon on a foul. She has had more children than any other Toronto woman, but now she's dropped back into a tie with other mothers on a pure technicality."

The "technicality" was a ruling by the provincial registrar-general that no belated registrations will be accepted from Millar contest entries. This bars the registration of two children Mrs. Kenney says were born to her in 1930 and 1931.

Mrs. Kenney's lawyer said he would depend upon the courts to decide on the merits of her claims.

The development failed to shake Mrs. Kenney's confidence. She went right on planning to spend the $50,000 she feels sure she'll get.

Her latest idea is to start a new baby derby. For this she

TWO AUTOISTS ARRESTED FOR PASSING BUSES

DRIVE AGAINST VIOLATORS CONTINUED BY OFFICERS

Two more autoists were arrested yesterday afternoon in the Gray county sheriff's drive to enforce the state law prohibiting cars from passing school buses stopped on public highways.

Deputy Sheriff George Inman, of Pampa, detailed last week to conduct the campaign against violators, started out after school yesterday and followed one of the Pampa independent school district buses from Pampa, west on the Berger highway.

Inman reported today that he caught two alleged violators when the bus made its first stop outside the city limits.

The alleged violators are A. Latham, of Pampa, and J. W. Gillenwater, of Wheeler. Latham and Gillenwater are charged with passing a standing school bus without first coming to a full stop. Both were scheduled to appear before County Judge C. E. Cary this afternoon.

Deputy Inman said that he had stopped Latham as the first alleged violator and was taking his name and address when Gillenwater passed the standing bus. He said he followed the Gillenwater car for more than a mile before he overtook it.

Superintendents and board officials from the following counties are expected to attend tonight's session in Pampa: Hansford, Hutchinson, Ochiltree, Lipscomb, Donley, Roberts, Hemphill, Gray and Wheeler.

Tomorrow night school heads from Randall, Briscoe, Swisher, Castro, Farmer, Deaf Smith, Oldham, Potter and Armstrong counties will hold a similar meeting at the courthouse in Amarillo.

Wife Confesses She And Lover Plotted Slaying

Each Charges Other With Responsibility

She related that Sumrall went to the Wilkins home at dusk on Saturday and that Mr. and Mrs. Wilkins and Sumrall went to a beer tavern. Later they went back home and she prepared dinner for all of them. Mrs. Wilkins continued. They ate and talked for about two hours, she said, and then Wilkins left to take Sumrall home. Saying he'd be back in about half an hour.

The next she heard from him, Mrs. Wilkins related, was when an undertaker called to tell of the death.

"When they told me about the train killing my husband," continued Mrs. Wilkins, "it came into my mind that Edgar probably carried out his plans and put my husband on a railroad track so the train would kill him."

She denied she had attempted suicide early Sunday morning. Mrs. Wilkins was taken to city-county hospital suffering from the effects of chloroform. The woman told investigators that she inhaled chloroform to relieve a headache.

Sumrall had declared in his statement that Mrs. Wilkins had piled him with drinks two weeks ago and suggested the rail crossing killing. This Mrs. Wilkins denied emphatically.

Mrs. Wilkins is under a two-year suspended sentence for forgery and passing.

TEX'S TOPICS

For one more accustomed to a steel mill or an orange grove than to a cotton field, it is quite an experience to drive through fuzzy fields and come out at Texas Technological College in Lubbock to watch the antics of a bale of cotton from the time it arrives in the mill until it becomes a suit of clothing or a necktie.

That's what we were privileged to do last week-end during the visit of Texas Tech as the guest of Dr. Bradford Knapp, college proxy, and Cecil Horne, director of journalism. While this textile mill visit imbedded itself on our mind, that isn't the only attraction at Tech, where 2,700 students are enrolled this year.

If one wishes to forget entirely about the textile end of the college, he can be amazed at what Tech is doing for her students in eleven different engineering departments, in agriculture, in painting, sculpturing, or in home economics and home management, and other allied courses.

After going through the college, one just naturally comes to the conclusion that Texas Tech is a place where practicality supersedes theory in more ways than one—a place where a boy or girl goes to study what he has selected to study and finds that his study periods consist actually in "doing it" instead of reading how it should be done.

It's all simple enough. For instance, you find boys in the agricultural department operating an up-to-the-minute dairy, which, by the way is self-sustaining, costing the taxpayers not a penny unless they happen to be one of the customers who buy the dairy's products.

We learned something on this trip through Texas Tech that takes some of the sting out of a general belief about college graduates. . . From all we were able to pick up about them in the last few years, many colleges have been dumping their graduates into the cold school of life, jobless and not knowing where to turn.

Not so in Texas Tech. According to Dr. Knapp there is a demand for Tech students. They all have jobs before graduation day and when the diploma is pocketed, they walk out of school into industry. This is true, he said, in all of the engineering departments, and Tech has little or no trouble in placing graduates from any department.

The wonder of it all, one observes as he goes through Tech, is how 2,700 students are accommodated in such small quarters and buildings. Tech is badly in need of expansion, says Dr. Knapp and he wasn't a bit backward about telling a conference of newspapermen gathered in Lubbock last week-end.

One problem in particular that the college has—is that of finding living quarters for the students. The present dormitories—modern and highly desirable—are entirely inadequate to meet the needs, according to Dr. Knapp, and the college meets difficulty in the search for private homes in which to place students.

It was our first trip there, but Texas Tech, from what we could see of it in a short period of time—appeared to have what might be termed educational "it." If only it is given the proper assistance to develop and grow as the enrollment figures indicate it should.

Principally, we were won over because the methods of operation appear to be so practical, because there seem to be so few frills and an outstanding lack of fluff and folderl with which too many of our modern educational institutions are overburdened.

Another example of the way Texas Tech operates is found in the school of journalism directed by Cecil Horne. Here the students do not listen to bore-some lectures and do not spend too much time reading how a newspaper story should be written.

Instead, they do simply the most common sense thing of all to do. They go out and get actual

Sister Mary's Kitchen

Try rice for a change—cook it with beef or chicken for a delicate, yet substantial, in-1 dinner dish. To make an appetizing novelty that fits the spot, use 2 tablespoons butter; 1 medium onion, chopped; 1 pound round steak, ground; 1-2 green pepper, chopped; 1-2 cup uncooked rice; 2-3 cups tomatoes (No. 2 can); 1-4 teaspoon paprika and 1 teaspoon salt. Add black pepper if you want it.

Melt butter in 1-2 quart saucepan. Add onion, brown lightly by cooking for about 3 minutes, stirring constantly. Then add meat and cook until browned on all sides. Stir in all other ingredients. Cover, simmer for 45 minutes—simmer, that's important! Fast cooking will ruin it.

Chicken With Rice

Chicken with rice is a savory invention. Use a medium fowl cut in 8 pieces; 1-3 cup butter; 1 large onion, chopped; 1-2 clove garlic, chopped; 2-3 cups tomatoes (No. 2 can); 1-4 teaspoon onion, chopped, and 1 cup uncooked rice.

Heat butter in frying pan. Add chopped onion and garlic. When brown, remove, set aside, and brown chicken in the butter. In the meantime, boil the rice in 1 quart water for 5 minutes. Then add the fried vegetables, chicken, ham, and season with salt and pepper. Stir until all ingredients are evenly distributed. Place in double boiler, cover, and simmer over hot water for 3 hours. Add more boiling water if rice becomes too dry.

Spanish Rice

If you have 2 cups cooked rice left in the refrigerator, use it with tomatoes to serve with steak. To 2 cups cooked rice, add 2 cups cooked tomatoes, 1-2 teaspoon sugar, 2 tablespoons minced onion and salt and pepper to taste. Spread evenly in greased pie plate or shallow baking dish. Dust with 1-2 cup grated American cheese. Bake in hot oven 20 minutes.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Orange juice, griddle cakes with sausage, maple syrup, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Spinach and poached egg on toast, hot buttered toast, stewed apricots, tea.

DINNER: Chilled cranberry sauce, Spanish rice with meat, string beans, Indian tip salad, chocolate bread pudding, coffee.

This Safe, External Treatment Helps END A COLD Quicker

Massage VapoRub briskly on the throat, chest and back (between and below the shoulder blades). Then spread it thick over the chest and cover with warm cloth.

Almost before you finish rubbing, VapoRub starts to bring relief two ways at once—two direct ways:

1. Through the Skin. VapoRub acts direct through the skin like a poultice or plaster.

2. Medicated Vapors. At the same time, its medicated vapors, released by body heat, are breathed in for hours—about 18 times a minute—direct to the irritated air-passages. This combined poultice-and-vapor action loosens phlegm—relieves irritation—helps break congestion.

During the night, VapoRub keeps right on working. Often, by morning the worst of the cold is over.

Avoids Risk of Stomach Upsets

This safe, external treatment cannot possibly upset the stomach, as constant internal "dosing" is so apt to do. It can be used freely, as often as needed, even on the youngest child.

Book Review Is Heard By Guests

A large group of guests enjoyed with members of the A. A. U. W. current literature group a book review by Mrs. Hol Wagner last evening at city club room. The review was the second in a series planned for this winter, to be open to the public monthly.

Mrs. Wagner presented in lucid and interesting style the story of Sparkenbroke, novel by Charles Morgan. The long book is rather difficult to read, she explained, but holds the interest with its very English style. Although it is based on the familiar triangle theme, she pointed out that plot and characters are less important than the author's style and the philosophy he expresses.

Mrs. Wagner completed her review in less than an hour.

Mrs. Tom Aldridge is chairman of the current literature group, which has one closed meeting and one public meeting a month.

GREGORY LEADS IN QUEEN RACE

ACTIVITIES SHOW HER TO BE POPULAR STUDENT

After an exciting contest, both on the football field and among the program salesmen in the grandstands, the probable outcome of the Harvesters queen election was determined Friday.

The contestants now rank in the following manner: First—Pauline Gregory, second—Bernice Barrett, third—Leona Hurst, and fourth—Lamaria Courson.

Pauline Gregory, the leading girl, has proved to be a popular student during the time she has been in high school. She was pep squad leader in her junior year, and is now, in her senior year, field marshal of the pep squad. She was in the pep squad drum corps also. She took major parts both in the junior and senior plays. She is now vice-president of the senior class.

Every Student Has Opportunity to Read The Little Harvester

There is no excuse for any Pampa high school student not reading The Little Harvester every week. A copy of the school paper is placed on the bulletin board each Wednesday morning.

This gives the students who do not subscribe for the Pampa Daily News a chance to read it every week. Each Wednesday morning and all through the day on the bulletin board, students and even teachers, standing around the bulletin board perusing columns of the high school paper.

ON THE BAND TRIP

The band's most honorable president looking very tired but happy early Tuesday morning.

Most of the band pestered Duke Ellington for an autograph.

Jannette Cole and Donna Jo Berry very proudly carrying around several copies of the Fort Worth Star Telegram containing their pictures—"I love me."

"Love is a sweet thing with a flute player," says the ever-romantic Junior Barrett.

While stopping at Vernon to eat, Borden March made his usual trip to Woolworth's.

Why should a boy get up at 3 a. m. to go see his uncle—tsk-tsk. Have to do better next time, Paul.

Members of the band were continuously complaining about the hotel beds which upon investigation were found to contain pounds of salt, dozens of tacks, gallons of water, and plenty of ice.

Dallas must be a dirty city. One band member was known to take six baths in a single night.

SENIORS ADOPT CLASS RINGS DIFFERING IN STYLE, DESIGN FROM THOSE OF OTHER YEARS

Blue Stone Set To Be Decoration On Ring

Senior class rings, which differ in style and design from all others selected heretofore by Pampa high school students, were adopted yesterday morning by the senior class members.

The majority of the students are of the opinion that this year's ring is more beautiful than any other which has preceded it, according to Mickey Ledrick, president.

The ring selected was of the round type. The square style being overruled by a large majority.

The new ring is definitely different from the old type in that it will have a dark blue stone set, across which will be written the initials of the school. Above there will be a shock of wheat. All metal parts of the ring are made of gold. On the base of the set will be engraved the year of graduation.

Singers Wanted For Glee Club

More male voices are needed in the boys' glee club, according to Miss Helen Martin, instructor. A high tenor singer is wanted particularly, for the boys' quartet. The members are Arvo Goddard, Jack Cunningham, and Junior Williams. The quartet meets the fifth period.

The boys' glee club, which meets the first period is also open for membership. The six who belong at present are:

Francis Hutchins, H. T. Hampton, Gene Finkbeiner, Buddy Mitchner, Arthur Schaeffer, and Jack Cunningham.

The girls' glee club meets the second period and can also use some additional singers, says Miss Martin.

The music department has been furnishing music for station KPDD.

Pep Squad, Band Hold Pep Rally

To stir up spirit for the Western-Harvester game, a rousing pep rally was held last Thursday night.

The pep squad, band, and loyal supporters of the Harvesters met at the campus at 8 o'clock and marched to the front of the La Nora theater. Leaders of the pep squad led the yell from the balcony of the theater.

Savage Is Speaker At KPDD Broadcast

Band Director Winston Savage talked over KPDD concerning the qualifications of both Lubbock and Pampa football teams last Thursday afternoon. He also spoke on the band's trip to Dallas, expressing his appreciation to the people who made the excursion possible.

Gene Finkbeiner played three numbers on the piano: "A Little Bit Independent," "Truckin'," "A Melody From the Sky," and "Dear Old Pampa, High School." The band played several numbers. Another program will be given by the band next Thursday over station KPDD.

The McGowens moved here in Billie's sophomore year and she is now a senior. She has been a member of the pep squad for two years and the glee club one year.

Science Classes Receive Supplies

Since the chemistry laboratory is better equipped than any other course in the department, science teachers are centering their time and money on building up the biology and physics materials this year.

Two hundred dollars worth of equipment has recently been bought and distributed proportionately between the biology and physics departments. Electric apparatus has been ordered so that the physics class can make electricity, heating, and lighting experiments.

Preserved specimens, riker mounts leaves, and microscopic slides are among the chief equipment to be placed in the biology laboratory.

This material is to help students get the most out of the courses according to the instructors, Mrs. Frances Alexander and Miss Alice Short.

Centennial Building Is Hallmark of Beauty and Dignity

Housing imposing bronze statues of the immortals of Texas history and a wealth of authentic Texana, the Hall of State, its beauty set off by flimpy flags and cotton cloudbanks, stands one of the most important of the permanent structures at the Texas Centennial Exposition in Dallas.

ROOM! GIVE US ROOM!

The housing problem of the Pampa school system brings to mind the ancient Greek legend in which Hercules, attempting to slay a many-headed monster, found that with each decapitation two heads grew back in its place.

From time to time Pampa has attempted to solve this still pressing problem by building additions in the ward schools. Believing that conditions would change has not, however, removed the heart of the difficulty—the central high school campus.

There, 1300 students are somehow instructed under one roof, crowded into poorly lighted rooms, pushed out into the street for want of elbow room. The situation could be eased considerably if half of the new combined enrollment of the junior and senior high schools were quartered elsewhere.

In attempting to relieve such apparent obstacles to higher education, these things present themselves: crowded halls, miniature offices for officials, insufficient locker space, an inadequate amount of gym floor to serve both schools, crowded classrooms, and congested traffic around the campus.

These things could be remedied by removing either junior high or senior high to a separate building, which may or may not be already constructed, or moving one to a new location where a new building would be necessary.

Upon the removal of one of the schools, the red brick building on the central campus could be used to house the administrative offices of the superintendent, the health department, the book store, and the school tax collector and assessor.

Remember that Pampa is no longer the boom town but it is a healthy, growing city, and is rapidly expanding. Give Pampa's children a chance to be healthy and expand, too.

SO YOU FAILED, EH?

So you failed, eh? It just goes to show you that you really can't make high school a lounging place. Now is the time for all the students who "flunked" to start working. Keep up your notebooks. Prepare your lessons before class.

Especially the football players should work hard to keep eligible to play now that conference games have started.

It really doesn't help you to copy your school work. You come to school to develop initiative and borrowing someone else's ideas doesn't help.

One might think it is smart to have the 'honor' in his opinion, to never have prepared a notebook in his high school days by himself, but it isn't. It reflects on the supposedly smart fellow.

Another thing that makes your grades go down like a bar of soap is your skipping classes. Most teachers grade on your attitude in class and how you recite. And of course, if you're not there you don't get the credit of those who are attending and helping carry on the class.

If everyone tries to study, makes all classes, and gets requirements, it will raise the average of Pampa high school.

Start NOW to raise your grades for the next six weeks.

Hallowe'en Spooks, Cats, Bells Will Soon Be Here

When the frost is on the pumpkin and the haze of Indian summer suggests the nearness of broom-riding witches, every student begins to think of Hallowe'en.

Hallowe'en, or All Saints' Day, celebrated by parties, dances, wearing of masks and capes, putting soap on shop windows. Among the more entertaining are: pouring sugar in gasoline tanks, dropping hydrofluoric acid on car windows, stacking furniture and blocking the traffic in streets by waste. Some will prefer to stream showers of confetti to the accompaniment of melodious cow bells and tinny horns. Dogs and cats will stay in for fear of having fire crackers tied on their tails.

Tall, white-robed, spectre-like figures will haunt the neighborhood with their ensemble of black and orange, the favorite colors of Hallowe'en decorations, when they creep on Oct. 31.

The origin of the eerie fun-making that marks Hallowe'en is lost amid the misty ages of antiquity. Most of the rituals, the "Kvigli of Saman," of old Ireland, when certain wicked souls were called together by the lord of death, Saman, on the night of Oct. 31, are present in the goblins, masks and antics of today.

To these Druidic ceremonies was added the Roman festival in honor of Pomona, in which fruit and nuts played an important part. Allied with this is the German "Walpurgis Night," celebrated the eve of May 1. In many districts of England it is called "Nutcrack Night."

At the faculty meeting last Wednesday morning, Frank Monroe reviewed two articles from the Texas Outlook, one on Developing Teaching Personality, and the other on Emotional and Temperamental Characteristics of the Growing Child.

E. N. Dennard discussed making lesson plans: "In planning lessons," he said, "certain major aims must be established." He mentioned development of character, culture, and citizenship as the three chief objectives in education.

Supt. R. B. Fisher spoke briefly on the initiative a teacher should use in planning lessons and in developing a student's personality.

HARVESTERS TO MEET CLOVIS, ONE OF STRONGEST SQUADS IN NEW MEXICO, IN GAME FRIDAY

'THANKS A MILLION,' SAYS DIRECTOR SAVAGE

Members of the Pampa High School band who have just returned from the Texas Centennial take this means of expressing their sincere appreciation for assistance given them in making the trip.

To local business men, the Board of City Development, the Band Mothers club, chaperones, high school officials, and any other organization or individual who helped, band members wish to say again, "THANK YOU."

Winston Savage, Director.

College To Send Ex-Student News

Since Katherine Snell and Mildred Tolbert are enrolled in the freshman class at C. I. A. the college is going to make every effort to send school authorities here throughout the year such news of these graduates as would be interesting to P. H. S. students.

According to F. L. McDonald, director of the department of journalism, the news will be supplied by the News Bureau of the college.

In exchange for this service Mr. McDonald asked that the Pampa high school paper be sent them, as they are interested in the activities of the schools represented in the college. Editor-in-chief Betty Blythe has written that the Little Harvester staff will gladly comply with Mr. McDonald's request.

The Lass-O, student weekly publication at the college, was the only standard women's college paper in the United States to receive the All-American rating in the National Scholastic Press Association contest last year.

Enrollment in Both
Junior, Senior High
Is Same, 649 Pupils

According to the six weeks' attendance officer, the enrollment in both junior and senior high school is 649 students.

The original attendance entry was senior high school, 667, and junior high school, 672.

The number of tardies for six weeks in the senior high school was 146, and junior high school 133.

Special Train Is Met By Pep Squad Girls

The special train from Lubbock Friday at 1 o'clock was met by the pep squad, other Pampa students, and drivers of courtesy cars. The cars were available for any Lubbock fans who wanted transportation to another part of town or to Harvesters park.

The Lubbock and Pampa bands and pep squads marched back to the gymnasium.

At the Lubbock-Pampa game the Lubbock pep squad, which is composed of 59 girls, performed an intricate stunt. The Pampa squad's stunt was a crisscross.

The special train left at 6:30 Friday afternoon. Many Pampans were at the station to see it off.

Fans from Berger and Amarillo were also present to witness the game.

Wanna Buy a Dog? Students Say 'No Sale'

Wanna buy a dog?
"No sale," says Freda Bellows and Ida Belle Wagon. These two have been lugging a rag dog around that must have originated in Kalamazoo.

It is a small pup, about four inches high, with the queerest expression on his face, as if he has just eaten absolutely all of the hamburger that his capacity will stand. Or perhaps he is wistfully eyeing a seven-bone steak which someone holds before him.

He seems to be very devoted to his pretty owners and vice versa, as many boys have found that it is a case of "Love me, love my dog."

Boys Hold Lubbock To Lone Score in Hard Battle

Following their most victory Friday, the Harvesters will journey this week to Clovis, N. M., where they will meet the team there. The Clovis squad is one of the strongest in the state. During the past few years, the New Mexico state championship has gone to them several times, and this year's team is better than many former ones. However, the Harvesters are improving steadily, and much confidence is placed in them for the battle. The game will be played Friday night at 8 o'clock.

Last week the Pampans were defeated 7-0 by Lubbock in one of the best games ever played on Harvesters field. In holding the Westerners to the lone touchdown and extra point, the Harvesters proved that they were undefeated by previous losses.

The playing of Roy L. Jones, Nobilit, Showers, and Cox was equal to the opponents' best. Lubbock's defense was a tower of strength that threw the smaller Harvesters for many losses.

Richie Nabors, Storrs and Gants stood out on the defense while Ingley, and Webster played bang-up games on the offense.

The starting lineup was as follows for Pampa: LE—Maxey, LT—R. Jones, LG—Morgan, C—Nobilit, RG—Mathews, RT—L. Jones, RE—Cox, QB—Woodridge, HB—Enloe, HB—Graham, FB—Showers.

Louise Meador Plays Accordion, Piano at Assembly Program

New talent was discovered in P. H. S. Friday when Louise Meador entertained with numbers on the accordion and piano.

She played "Me and the Moon" and "Alabama Jubilee" on the accordion and "Twelfth Street Rag" and "Under the Double Eagle" on the piano. Louise moved here this fall from Frost, Tex., and entered school as a senior.

Winston Savage, band director, gave a brief summary of the band's trip to Dallas, after which Coach Olaus Mitchell made a brief pep talk.

The program was then turned in to a pep rally with special numbers from the band and pep squad.

Interviewer Finds Casa Manana To Be Very Popular Show

Casa Manana seemed to interest more band students than any other thing in Fort Worth. In Dallas the Cavalcade was the chief drawing card. Here is what some of those interviewed have to say about their trip:

"I surely did enjoy my trip but I enjoy my sleep more than anything else because I got less of it than anything else."

W. L. Davis.
"In Fort Worth I liked the Casa Manana most and in Dallas I enjoyed the House of Magic where it showed how radio was controlled by light and human touch could stop it."

Miss A. Short.
"The most interesting thing I saw was the Casa Manana. It cost me one buck to get into it. It was the most stupendous and colossal thing I have ever seen."

Robert Kilgore.
"One of the most interesting things I saw was the House of Magic in Dallas that showed us how the human touch could stop a radio. In Fort Worth it was the exhibit of Will Rogers' favorite room and some of his other favorite possessions."

Ella Faye Young.
"I enjoyed the Casa Manana most of all because it was a musical show."

Arvo Goddard.
"The most interesting thing I saw was the money and coin exhibit in the Federal Building at Dallas."

Director W. Savage.
"The Casa Manana at Fort Worth was the most interesting thing I saw because I am a lover of music and it was a musical show."

Jack Allison.

F F A BOYS ARE OFFICERS

LOCAL CHAPTER GETS 3 ELECTED IN DISTRICT

Three Pampa boys were elected to F. F. A. district offices at the meeting held in White Deer Saturday. Jiggs McDonald was chosen vice-president, Earl Rice, secretary, and Fred Brandenburg, parliamentarian. A. E. Frasier, local sponsor, presided at the meeting.

Approximately 100 boys attended the session, which was the first of its kind this year. Schools comprising the Pampa district of the F. F. A. are Pampa, Perryton, Panhandle, Wheeler, Canadian, White Deer, Miami, and McLean.

Several talks were given by various teachers and by the area supervisor, C. T. Ryan, R. L. Chapelle, head of the Texas Tech Agriculture department, was also present. Among the skills demonstrated, rope making seemed to interest the group most.

The next meeting of this district will be in Miami on Nov. 14 in conjunction with a judging contest of dairy cattle and poultry.

Officers Chosen In Tennis Club— Round-up Planned

Mattie Brown was elected president and Ruby Hayes secretary of the Girls Tennis Club yesterday afternoon. The president appointed Sarah Pafford as chairman of the food committee and Martha Ann Martin as head of the tennis committee.

The club will have a Fall Round-up of girl tennis players here Saturday of this week. Unique invitations were sent out to a few towns in the surrounding territory including McLean, LeFors, Canadian, Panhandle, White Deer, Berger, Miami and Mobeetie.

The invitation says "Come, stay all day—bring your own equipment, except nets. 'Chuck' will be served at 12 o'clock (on the house)."

"Several other outfits are coming. Let us know how many to expect."

"If it is bad weather, come on anyway. We are planning to have an upspringing good time," says Miss Kathleen Milam, sponsor.

Curry To Change Gorillas' Lineup

The Gorillas of Pampa high school were defeated 37-7 by the Warriors of Miami Thursday afternoon.

Coach Robert Curry said that there would be several changes made in the lineup for the next encounter.

Oliver Coshaw will be shifted to the backfield. He formerly played guard. Harry Wisely will be moved back to guard and Omar Harrell will fill the center position. Jack Cunningham will be shifted from the center of the bench to the end.

The Gorillas will not play a game this week but will take the field next week with a remodeled eleven. The change is expected to be very effective, especially on offense.

Question About CARDUI

PERIODICAL PAINS
"Why do so many women take Cardui for functional pains of menstruation?"

Each dose of Cardui contains a purely vegetable sedative and antispasmodic—that is, a pain-relieving and cramp-relieving medicine that is especially effective at monthly periods.

This fact about Cardui (that it helps to relieve many of the ordinary functional pains of menstruation with a beneficial plant extract, not habit-forming, not objectionable to take) is greatly appreciated by thousands of women. They recommend it to others.

Cardui is purely vegetable, found in form, and comes in bouillon bottles, with full directions for use. Try it! Of course, if it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

VICE PRESIDENCY SHOULD BE MADE REAL JOB

Every four years the attention of the American people is jogged to a realization of the fact that their vice president leads a deplorable life.

He gets a workout during the campaign, and he usually makes the most of it—except in the case of Mr. Garner, who doesn't seem to like to make speeches. A vice president has to make the most of it, for it is the only chance he gets.

If his ticket is beaten, of course, he retires to private life, and there are no more rear platform talks in his program. And if he wins, his fate is even worse; for he retires then to the lofty and distinguished obscurity of the vice presidency, wherein his compatriots ignore him completely and eternally.

This has become a great joke, in recent years. That excellent musical show of a few years back, "Of Thee I Sing," got at least half of its fun from a long-drawn jibe at the vice president's plight.

Tom Marshall, vice president under Wilson, lived up to the part perfectly when he solemnly announced that what the country needed most was a good five-cent cigar. It was generally agreed that that was the kind of statement a vice president should issue.

But how absurd is all this! The vice president holds the second highest office in our gift. One life stands between him and the presidency. Logically, he should be selected with as much care as the president. And the job that he holds most certainly should be as big as the responsibility that goes with it.

As things stand, of course, the job is a washout. The vice president must be more or less a parliamentarian to preside over the Senate; he needs a stout digestive apparatus so that he may eat all the dinners offered to vice presidents.

Beyond that, he has nothing whatever to do. Small wonder that many good men seldom want the job, or that those who hold it are so promptly forgotten.

We have been luckier with our vice presidents than we deserve. The two who were advanced to the presidency in the century—Calvin Coolidge and Theodore Roosevelt—acquitted themselves very well indeed, and were elected under their terms expired.

Our "weak" presidents in the 19th century were, as a rule, men who were elected directly to the office and not who stepped into it from the vice presidency.

But we can't rely on that kind of luck forever. Sooner or later we are apt to find our little custom most horribly expensive. If and when we do, we doubtless shall wonder why we ever continued the custom so long.

It should not take too much rejiggering of our laws to make the vice presidency a real job—the sort of job a vice presidency is in a modern corporation, for instance.

If we did that, we would automatically make the selection of vice presidential candidates a real job, too. And our machinery of government, year in and year out, would be a lot sounder.

DAILY WASHINGTON LETTER

By Rodney Dutcher

CLEVELAND, O.—Among the "big five" states whose electoral votes are so vital to Governor Landon, Ohio is the only one which has voted with the winning side in every presidential election since 1892.

You will find some Ohio Democrats fearing that the unpopularity of Democratic Gov. Martin Luther Davey will pull President Roosevelt down to defeat and some Ohio Republicans will tell you they're worried lest Davey ride on Roosevelt's coat tails to victory over their candidate, Attorney General John W. Bricker.

Generally speaking, however, there are certain points on which most politicians and political experts agree: 1—Bricker will defeat Davey and run well ahead of Governor Landon.

2—The winner's margin in the presidential contest will be very small.

3—Roosevelt will receive large urban majorities and destination of Ohio's 26 electoral votes will depend on the extent to which rural and small town voters feel outraged concerning the New Deal.

New Deal partisans who believed a month or two ago that Landon would win Ohio now believe otherwise. Some Republicans agree with them, conceding a recent swing to Roosevelt.

But the so-called rural vote usually dominates Ohio and although large cities formerly Republican now obviously are Democratic, the rural areas appear to have returned to at least normal Republicanism.

The Roosevelt-Landon battle is so close, what with negro, labor, and WPA all veering heavily toward the New Deal, that this writer suspects it will be decided by any strong leaning there may be among the 200,000 to 300,000 new voters who appear on this year's unprecedentedly large registration lists.

The Columbus Citizen polled 100 new voters in normally Republican Franklin county and found 76 for Roosevelt, 17 for Landon, 2 for Lemke, and 1 for Browder. The Akron Times-Press found new voters similarly strong for the president.

In Cleveland one is told that 120,000 new registrants went on the rolls after conspicuous activity by Democrats and especially by the pro-Roosevelt Labor's Non-Partisan League.

But those are urban indicators. Heavier registration outside the cities may signify, as Republicans insist, a strong Landon protest vote.

Roosevelt personally has been sure of Ohio ever since Senator "Honest Vic" Donahey told him he had it in the bag. Other big Ohio Democrats had previously told the president the same thing, but he remained skeptical.

The fact that Donahey recently made a hot radio speech for F. D. R., on the other hand, may be much more important than his prediction. Donahey served three terms as governor, built a big reputation as "the people's friend," and was elected senator in 1934 by the walloping majority of 437,000, after the administration had vainly opposed him in the primaries.

Many Ohioans pay a lot of attention to Vic.

THE ALBATROSS IS THE MOST PNEUMATIC OF ALL BIRDS! EVERY BONE IN ITS BODY IS FILLED WITH AIR SACS, WITH THE EXCEPTION OF THE SCAPULA AND HYOID BONES.

LIGHTNING HAS BEEN KNOWN TO START 147 FIRES IN THE SAME FOREST IN A SINGLE DAY.

BEEES, DURING HOT WEATHER, SUCK UP WATER INTO THEIR HONEY SACS, AND CARRY IT TO THE LARVAE IN THE HIVE.

The wandering albatross measures 14 feet from wing tip to wing tip. The enormous spread is due to the elongation of the arm bones.

So what happened? So he ran into the girl he had danced with one night in a New York cabaret. "Come here, you," he yelled. Estelle remembered the routine of his Broadway numbers, and had no difficulty in slipping into the role vacated by his former partner.

They danced together first in an English seaside resort, and their reception was such that the rest was easy sailing. Cannes followed, and then came triumphs in all the well known watering places.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS By Frederic J. Haskin

A reader can get the answer to any question of fact by writing The Pampa Daily News Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, director, Washington, D. C. Please enclose three (3) cents for reply.

Q. If a voter registers as a Democrat or a Republican must he vote that ticket at the election? T. H. E. C.

A. Declaration of party at registration is not binding. The registrant may vote any ticket regardless of the party he has declared for on registering.

Q. How many football fatalities and accidents were there last year? E. C.

A. In 1935, there were 46 football fatalities. Of the 46 only 3 were college players, 26 were high school players, and the rest were sand-lot players. It is estimated that there were 55,440 football accidents, resulting in injuries in the 66,000 high schools of the country, and 9,900 injuries in the 889 colleges. These figures correspond to an average of 90.3 per thousand of football squad members in the high schools and to an average of 150 per thousand in the colleges.

Q. How much hair does the average person lose? R. S.

A. About forty old hairs normally fall daily from a healthy scalp.

Q. How many secret service men went with the President on his campaign tour? S. H.

A. Ten accompanied him. Other guards were added as occasion demanded. Two secret service men were on duty in the President's car constantly, the guard being changed every four hours.

Q. Is it true that the big mail-order houses can judge the number of orders received by weighing their mail? S. S.

A. Sears, Roebuck & Co. says: Our company has successfully used the method for many years of weighing the mail each morning to determine the approximate number of orders. Our estimators are able to judge with considerable accuracy and, while the pieces of mail in the boxes are not weighed, the estimate is seldom more than a few hundredths off one way or the other. This method enables us to determine in advance the schedule for handling orders. We are also able to judge from the number of orders received on Monday the approximate number of orders for the rest of the week.

Q. What per cent of the wood which is cut yearly is used in making paper? S. L. M.

A. About four per cent of the wood cut in North America is consumed in making paper.

Q. Is Elery Queen a pseudonym? C. J.

A. The mystery stories written under this name are the product of the collaboration of Frederic Dannay and Manfred Lee of Mount Vernon, N. Y.

Q. What causes the yellowish sulphur-like gathering on top of the water which falls in some rains? W. O. C.

A. In most if not all cases this material is pollen usually from coniferous trees. The trees bear early in the spring great quantities of yellow pollen, which is usually blown off by the winds or beaten off by rain. It is light and floats on the puddles caused by the rain. Most of it probably was on the ground before the rain came, especially if the wind was blowing in the direction of the rain, but was not observed on the dry ground.

Q. How many people in the United States own cars? W. D. H.

A. There are 22,500,000 passenger automobile owners.

Q. Who is the first mixed and used painter? A. R.

A. It is unknown, since paint has been employed from a very early period. White lead was mentioned by Theophrastus, Pliny, and Vitruvius, who described its manufacture from lead and vinegar. Yellow ochre was used by the ancient Egyptians, Greeks, and Romans. Pots of it were found in Pompeii. Naples yellow has been found in the yellow enamel of Babylonian bricks. Verdigris was familiar to the Romans. Indigo has been employed by the East Indians and Egyptians from an ancient time.

Q. Are there more widows or widowers in the United States? C. D.

A. The census of 1930 gave the number of widows in the United States at 4,734,207 and that of widowers at 2,925,035.

Q. Who was the first surgeon to wear rubber gloves in the operating room? L. T.

A. Dr. William S. Halsted, a noted professor of surgery who died in 1922, is said to have introduced the practice.

Q. Why was the Battleship Maine in Havana Harbor at the time it was destroyed? G.

A. The Battleship Maine, which was mysteriously destroyed by explosion, in Havana Harbor, Cuba, on the night of February 15, 1898, was there to protect the lives and property of American citizens during the revolt of the Cubans against Spain.

Q. How much has been spent for liquor since the end of prohibition? A. H.

A. The amount expended for alcoholic beverages in the United States since prohibition is estimated at eight billion dollars.

Q. Where in New York is the memorial to the late Sophie Irene Loeb, child welfare worker? R. P.

A. The memorial which is in the form of a drinking fountain is in dependence. Baby talk is charming, but the sooner the child outgrows it the sooner he will be able to make himself understood. To talk baby talk to him is like talking broken English to a foreigner. In either case it is unkind. To neglect to answer a child's questions or to answer them evasively or untruthfully is also unkind. To walk with him through all the wonders of a newly discovered world and say nothing to explain it is to keep him out of his birthright. Children are human beings, not toys.

The Wrong Murderer By HUGH CLEVELY

Chapter Seven MURDER

Mr. Little left the room. Lawson waited. His dark eyes were glowing, and his fists were tightly clenched. All his muscles were taut with suspense. From inside the study he heard the front door open. Mahony's voice sounded in the hall.

"I've brought Miss Little home. She's unconscious, but I don't think there's much wrong with her."

Lawson's tensed muscles relaxed. Now he knew the worst. In the hall he heard Mr. Little's voice, hoarse and indignant.

"What does this mean? What have you been doing to her? Elsa! . . . Elsa! . . . What's the matter with her? Has she been hurt?"

Through the slightly open doorway Lawson could see a black garbed monk in the hall, with Elsa in his arms. So that was what Mahony had done—pretended to be one of his own men. In that case he had probably carried out this business single-handed. And if so, there was hope for him yet.

He glanced around him quickly. Hanging over the mantelpiece was a small, sharp-pointed, ornamental dagger. He picked it up and crouched against the wall of the room, just inside the doorway.

Mahony saw the light in the study and made for the study door.

"She was kidnapped by your friend Lawson," he said grimly. "I managed to get her away from his touch. Now for heaven's sake stop squawking; pull yourself together and try to be useful."

He thrust open the study door with his foot, entered the room, and crossed to a small sofa. He did not see Lawson crouched against the wall. Mr. Little entered almost immediately behind him.

"Lawson!" he exclaimed in an incredulous tone. "Lawson! I don't believe . . ."

His voice died away abruptly in a choking gurgle as Lawson's knife slid neatly into his back below the shoulder blade, piercing to the heart.

Mahony heard Mr. Little gasp as he was laying Elsa down on the sofa. He turned quickly, just in time to see the back of a tall figure vanishing through the doorway. The door slammed as Mr. Little, already dead, subsided in a heap on the floor.

Mahony stepped quickly forward and bent over Mr. Little. The hilt of the knife sticking out of his back made clear what had happened. The front door of the house slammed. From outside came the sound of a car engine accelerating. The sound faded.

Mahony withdrew the knife from Mr. Little's back, found some brandy, and tried to revive him. But a couple of minutes' effort showed him that it was useless, and he abandoned the attempt and passed to consider what his next move should be.

Again the front door-bell rang shrilly.

"Oh, damn!" said Mahony, and went to the window and looked out. On the front door-step stood a policeman.

From the sofa came a long, shuddering sigh. Elsa moved slightly; she stretched out her arms in the manner of one awakening from sleep, and opened her eyes wide. The sound of a movement from Mahony caused her to look in his direction.

As yet she had not fully recovered from the effect of the drug; she had a dazed, sleepy look. Her blue eyes wide open, stared at Mahony's masked, cowl'd figure with a bewildered question in them. She hardly seemed to know where she was, or how she got there.

The front door-bell rang again, insistently. Elsa looked away from Mahony towards the door. Her glance encountered the still, ghastly form of her uncle lying stretched near the door. The knife, bloodied up to the hilt, was by him on the carpet.

She shrank back; her hand went to the Heckscher Playground, Central Park.

Q. Why can the sun be seen before it is actually above the horizon? M. C.

A. Refraction always increases the apparent altitude of a celestial body and it is for this reason that the sun can be seen above the horizon when it is really below.

to her mouth in an instinctive gesture of horror and dismay. Then her mouth opened wide; she was about to shriek.

Mahony sprang forward, grabbed slightly.

"No, stop it; you're not to," he said in a commanding voice. "Scrieking won't help."

She did not shriek. She did not even struggle.

"Let me go," she said.

Mahony let go her wrists, and she rose from the sofa and dropped to her knees by her uncle's side. She still had a dazed air. Over her uncle's body she looked at Mahony.

"You . . . you've killed him," she said in a hoarse voice.

"No, I haven't," began Mahony. "I . . ."

Again there was the sound of a car drawing up outside the house. Mahony broke off his speech abruptly, cursing himself for a fool. What the devil was the good of hanging about trying to explain things? His only sensible course of action would be to get away as quickly as possible.

Elsa would certainly remember having been kidnapped by a masked man dressed as a monk. He himself was masked and dressed as a monk, and her uncle was murdered. It would be impossible to explain his presence in the room and clear himself of a charge of murder with Billy Ross.

And even if he told all he knew chance that he would not be believed. If he had no proofs of his story.

The front door-bell began ringing again. Mahony wasted no more time arguing with Elsa. He ran across the room, wiped the dagger quickly on his robe, opened the door, crossed the hall quickly, and opened the front door of the house.

On the front doorstep stood a constable. Another man had just got out of a car and was mounting the steps to the front door to join him. By the light that streamed from the open door, Mahony recognized the new arrival as Lawson.

"Hallo!" said Lawson in a surprised voice. "Who are you? And where's Miss Little?"

His intention obviously was to pretend that he knew nothing of Elsa's deliverance from the kidnappers or of her uncle's murder.

around HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD—Getting down to the bottom of things when your movie idol is posing for a closeup, you probably will find she has feet of soft, comfortable felt—or practical, heel-less mules, or roomy woolen slippers.

In the long shots, when the camera will see her feet, she will wear the latest, highest-heeled bit of leather that may be required for style and glamor, but give her a chance to shake them off, even for a minute or two, and out come the slippers.

Making pictures means being on your toes figuratively, and on your feet, literally, most of the time you're working. Even with a stand-in to take the pedal beating for the star whenever possible, the actress takes a weary pair of "dolls" home when the director's last "cut" for the day is given.

On Feet Constantly Comparatively few movie scenes allow a player to sit down for any length of time, even when the scene is purely conversational. When talk stops the action the players have to move around to keep their bodies, if not the plot, in motion. Count in the several takes, with entrances and exits, on each scene, then the many rehearsals, plus the strolling around the player does to kill time between shots, and it is considerable walking and standing that it done.

Katharine Hepburn, strolling over to her "Quality Street" set, is elegantly costumed and outfitted but her feet are shod with plain green broador slippers. Another comfort-lover is Margaret Sullivan, who switches to roomy slippers the minute a scene is done, and wears them in the scene if she can get by with it. Sylvia Sydney kicks off her high-heeled footwear and changes to the low-heeled shoes she prefers for comfort. In fact, almost all the stars, given half an opportunity, will exchange camera-dictated bootery for plain, folksy, easy slippers.

One of the exceptions is Joan Blondell, who in pictures wears very high heels and dres not seem to mind, on the stage or off. Jean Muir and Kay Francis, usually tall among romantic ladies, sometimes wear slippers on the stage for a practical reason—in high heels they might detract from the photographic height of other members of the cast.

Footwear, even for the stars in pictures, is seldom brand-new before the camera. In the wardrobe de-

NOBLITT UNWILLINGLY SITS ON SIDELINES, SUFFERING FROM HIP INJURY

SMITH IS TRANSFERRED TO BACKFIELD

WIDE OFFENSIVE GAME IN CLOVIS BEING PREDICTED

Only Ivan Noblitt was absent from practice yesterday afternoon when the Harvesters went through a light practice session in preparation for their invasion of Clovis, N. M., Friday night. The injury to Noblitt's leg had crept into his hip and he looked on from the sidelines while his teammates worked off scum from the backfield with Lubbock.

Coach Odus Mitchell presented a surprise for the rail birds, and there were several in the stands. The latest happening was the transfer of little Don Smith from guard to the backfield. The midget had had a hankering to try the ball lugging game and his showing when "fooling" around the field attracted the eye of Coach Mitchell.

In a pass offense workout yesterday, little Smith shagged several consecutive passes over first string backs and his power hitting the line reminded one of "Boogey" Nash. All the time he was practicing, the midget was bothered with a couple of bolts.

Offense will be stressed in practice all week and also in the game Friday night. The Harvesters have a great defense, as was demonstrated Friday against the huge Lubbock Westerners and in previous games. But games are won on points and so far this season the Harvesters have been able to register in only one game.

Dope points to a wide open offensive game in Clovis with Showers providing the aerial activity for the Harvesters and Graham and Eloe working on the ground. World-ridge's ankle is still bothering him and his speed will likely be cut down.

Leon McIntyre leads the Clovis attack and the former Shamrock star is a hot shot this year. He hits the line, runs the ends, passes and is on the receiving end of heaves. Dulaney is McIntyre's chief assistant on offense.

The trip to Clovis will be made by car with the return after the game. The cars will leave from the high school gymnasium about 8 o'clock. Game time will be 12 hours later.

BORGER PUPS TO PLAY HERE ON THURSDAY

JUNIOR HIGH'S LARGE TEAM EXPECTS TO TAKE VISITORS

Borger's Bull Pups will come to Pampa for a return game with junior high on Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Coach Tom Herod announced yesterday after his charges had gone through a stiff workout. Admission to the game will be 10 cents.

The Bull Pups were scheduled to play here last Thursday but a mix-up in dates sent the Borger eleven to Stimitt for a game. Arrangements for Thursday's game were made by telephone this time.

Playing their first game of the season after less than two weeks of practice, the Pups lost an 18 to 0 game to the junior high in Borger. With several weeks of hard practice, and two victories behind them, the Pups will be here to wipe out the loss.

The youngsters play a surprising brand of ball and fans will get their money's worth watching them. Coach Herod has a big team this year. Some of the players will probably be ready for Harvester competition next year.

DALLAS, Oct. 27 (AP)—Not exactly the same powerhouses as Southern Methodist and Texas Christian were at this stage last season, but nevertheless, just as select are the East Texas Teachers of Commerce and the West Texas Teachers of Canyon. They're the only undefeated and untied senior college teams in Texas today. The East Texans are heading for the Lone Star title while the West Texans have eyes on the Border conference flag.

Genial Cecil Grigg, at the recent Rice-Georgia game, stood outside the Rice stadium and searched for a husky man to push the Rice water cart. He approached one prospect and offered to get him past the ticket gate if he would push water to tired Owls in return. The young man graciously declined, but the ticket taker on his own. It was Forrest (Spec) Town. Georgia's Olympic hurdle champion and football end.

Sports Editor Harold Schwitz of San Antonio's Light took the trouble to dig up and reveal the fact that the University of Texas has bouted 14 extra points after 48 touch-downs scored in the last three years. He adds, however, that Texas did beat Notre Dame, 7-6, and Texas Christian, 20-19, in 1934, on extra kicks. He further adds that extra points could have been used in the 18-21 Baylor reverse and the 6-6 tie with Louisiana State.

Somebody at the University of Texas was fibbing when they said Charlie Haas, great Corpus Christi halfback, was not even drilling with the Longhorn frosh and probably would never play again because of a lame knee. He ran 83 yards, knee and all, for the winning touchdown against Rice's freshmen. Perhaps it was a 65-yard quick kick he previously had booted that snapped it back into play.

At the Texas Christian-Mississippi State game played in drizzling rain and deep mud at Dallas, some were remarked, after both teams were covered with mud, that the referee could still listen for Southern draws left. He further adds that ex-Wilmer Allison, the tennis player, qualified with a 74 in the Austin Country club's open tourney. Two of the state's toughest "minor league" colleges teams, Texas School of Mines and Hardin-Simmons, meet in Dallas' Cotton Bowl Saturday.

Sports Roundup

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (AP)—While Mickey Cochrane goes hunting, the Detroit front office is fishing. It has just hooked a pitcher named Harry Trout. Iowa wolves, in great packs, are full cry after Coach Ossie Solem's job. All Ossie has to do to drive 'em back into their dens is to upset Minnesota. Why did Dreadnaught Ray Impellittere rush back from the coast where the pickings were so fat? Are they getting ready to pitch him against Joe Louis? Believe it or not, Notre Dame hasn't scored a point in the Pitt stadium since 1930, when the last of Knute Rockne's great teams relied on 35 points on the Panthers in the first half.

This tidbit printed in New York will go great in Minnesota. "Minnesota begins to stand near the top of the (football) heap." Branch Rickey says it will take $400,000 or the equivalent to get Dizzy Dean away from the Cardinals. Slip Madigan's St. Mary's gridders wear sweaters with big bars on the front. Jimmy Crowley asked Slip what Fullback Aronson was doing winking a harp. "That's a Jew's harp," shot back the nimble-witted Madigan. "Few backs can equal the record of Captain Roger Keith of Tufts." He broke into the jumbo lineup as a sophomore and has started every contest since. Last year he played all but two minutes of an eight-game schedule.

MUSTANGS ARE AMONG SECOND TEN LEADERS

MINNESOTA IS PICKED BY ALL 44 GRID EXPERTS

BY ALAN GOULD.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (AP)—To the surprise of none, it's unanimous this week for Minnesota in the Associated Press college football ranking poll. The Gallatin Gridders received the No. 1 vote of all 44 expert contributors to the second weekly poll from the key points of observation from coast to coast.

The main race, for second place, was won by Pittsburgh's Panthers, who rebounded at the expense of Notre Dame with a display of rushing power rated only a few notches below the performance of Minnesota. Pitt outscored Northwestern, this week's challenger of Minnesota, in a close race for the No. 2 spot.

Here are the results:

1. Minnesota; 2. Pittsburgh; 3. Northwestern; 4. U. of Washington; 5. Fordham; 6. Army; 7. Southern California; 8. Louisville State; 9. Tulane and 10. Marquette.

The second ten—11. Nebraska; 12. Yale; 13. Holy Cross and Duke; 14. Southern Methodist; 15. Auburn; 17. Princeton and 18. Santa Clara and 20. St. Mary's and Penn. Of last week's top ten there are six survivors in this week's leading group. In addition to Minnesota and Pitt, Northwestern moved up a notch and Washington gained four positions to become the Pacific Coast's leading entry in the ranking derby.

Duke, Purdue and Yale dropped to the "second ten" while Notre Dame, rated No. 7 last week, fell out of sight.

The Southwest has yet to crack the "top ten," although one of its teams, Texas, tied Louisiana State early in the season. Southern Methodist, last year's conference champion and Rose Bowl choice, received preference in this week's balloting over any other Southwest entry.

Pug Grubbs To Battle Martin For 10 Rounds

BORGER, Oct. 27—Borger's favorite pugilistic son will come home for a last appearance before starting on the big time in Milwaukee, Wis., soon.

Pug Grubbs and he will appear on a benefit card with Mickie Martin, one of the leading lightweights in the northwest. The two speed merchants will meet in a 10 round battle Thursday night in the high school gymnasium, with proceeds going to the Junior police fund. The movement is sponsored by the Borger Lions club.

Grubbs recently returned to the ring after a long layoff. He has been going strong in New Mexico and Colorado. Promoters in the north and east became interested and signed him for the big circuit.

Martin is a worthy opponent for the Borger boy. Red Gallagher of the Denver Post rates Martin as one of the best in the game. He is recognized as champion of the middle west.

Three fast preliminaries, yet to be matched, will open the card. Tickets are now on sale by all members of the Borger Lions club and at the Fox Drug, City Drug, Cullen Drug and at the Briggs Pharmacy in Whittenton.

SMU TO PLAY LONGHORNS IN SATURDAY TILT

'SLINGIN' SAM' TO BE IN CONDITION FOR BAYLOR

(By The Associated Press)

The topy-turvy Southwest conference campaign, marked by reversals that have kept the gridiron handicapper groggy, moved today toward the final October week-end with three conference and one inter-sectional encounter on tap.

Southern Methodist, tripped only by Fordham, makes its conference debut at Austin against the University of Texas. The Texas Aggies, their record marred only by last week's scoreless tie with Baylor, face the University of Arkansas, and Rice enters George Washington University at Houston.

After a respite from the grid wars last week Southern Methodist Mustangs tuned their aerial machine and engaged in a strenuous scrimmage.

The Texas Longhorns came out of the Rice contest with no serious injuries. Players who participated in the game took it easy yesterday while the remainder of the squad drilled against Mustang plays.

New plays held the attention of the Texas Aggies as they went thru a brisk limbering up drill.

Injuries make the chief worry at Fayetteville, where the Arkansas Porkers sought to perfect plans to topple the loop-leading Aggies. The Razorbacks studied faults in the Louisiana State tilt.

'Slingin' Sam' Baugh, out of the Texas Christian lineup against Mississippi State last Saturday, was back in uniform and was expected to be in top condition against Baylor.

Coach Morley Jennings at Baylor stressed anti-aircraft designed to check Baugh's passing trickery.

At Houston, the Rice Owls joined in a celebration yesterday of Saturday's victory over Texas then settled down to work on plays for use against the George Washington Colonials.

Kemper Eleven Turns In Fourth Season Victory

BOONVILLE, Mo., Oct. 27. — The Kemper Military School Yellowjackets turned in their fourth victory of the season last night when they defeated the Kansas City Junior college Blue Devils 67 to 0. The Cadet gridmen are undefeated in Missouri Junior college conference play.

Coach J. D. Skelton's entire squad of twenty-five saw service in the game at Wyandotte stadium. The starting line-up of first-string men was replaced by a reserve team near the end of the first quarter and the same procedure was repeated during the second half.

Next on the Kemper schedule is the homecoming game with The Principia Friday, Oct. 30.

Among the Yellowjackets who played well in the Kansas City game was Cadet Tom Rose, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Rose, of Pampa. Cadet Rose plays left end on the Kemper team.

MUTILATION CONFESSED

RICHMOND, Ky., Oct. 27 (AP)—Kentucky's second mutilation slaying within three months was solved today when Sheriff John McWilliams announced Parkie Wenny, 43, West Alexandria, Ohio, confessed to bludgeoning his wife, Ethel, 53, with a hammer and then decapitating the body with a pocketknife.

POPE DISAPPROVES

VATICAN CITY, Oct. 27 (AP)—The Reverend Charles E. Coughlin's manner of attack against President Roosevelt, it was reported authoritatively today, is thoroughly disapproved in the Vatican. It would be difficult, however, one prelate said, for any action to be taken at this time against the radio priest.

Beauty & Bovine

Center of interest at the National Dairy show at the Texas Centennial Exposition in Dallas are members of farm royalty, Miss Lillian Heard of San Angelo, Texas, National Dairy Show Queen, and "Carnation Ornbay Butter King," $100,000 champion of all cows in production of both milk and butter fat.

GOVERNOR LANDON TO SPEAK IN PITTSBURGH

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 27 (AP)—Gov. Alf M. Landon brought his presidential campaign to this steel center today for a night address that aides said would deal with "civil service and the spoils system."

The republican nominee will speak in Duquesne garden at 8 p. m. (CST), concluding the personal drive for his native Pennsylvania's 36 electoral votes which he began in Philadelphia last night with the assertion the new deal "wields the same axe which has destroyed the liberties of so much of the Old World."

A throng that overflowed the 15,000-capacity convention hall, where President Roosevelt was renominated, roared its applause as Landon said new deal "waste and extravagance" violate the constitution and must be paid for by the "little fellow."

Use of public money for political purposes, Landon said, has been "open and impudent." He laid responsibility for the "most sinister political machine in history upon 'one man—and one man alone . . . the President of the United States."

CONTINUANCE ORDER ON FILE IN JACK SUITS

BANDERA, Oct. 27. (AP)—A continuance order on file today in suits by heirs of Charles W. Harris for possession of lands in Bandera, Dallas and Bexar counties.

Judge Brian Montague granted a continuance yesterday pending outcome of an appeal of a case tried at Dallas.

The cases were based upon the will of Capt. Charlie Jack, who came to America shortly after fighting in the Napoleonic wars. Filed in Bandera county in 1867, the will left about 10,000 acres in the three counties to Harris, his grandson, stipulating that all was for his use and "should be leave children legally begotten shall be inherited by them."

Harris died at Medina after having sold most of the land. It now is owned by a number of persons and some of it has changed hands several times.

Value of the property involved was not estimated.

FIREWORKS DISPLAY TO BE FETE ATTRACTION

DALLAS, Oct. 27 (AP)—Sailors at Camp Stephen F. Austin had their equipment in shining order today for flag and gun drills in observance of Navy day at the Texas Centennial exposition.

A fireworks display depicting a Naval battle will climax the program tonight.

The movement of school children to the exposition continued with today set aside for students from the district centering at Nacogdoches. Yesterday's attendance was 20,023.

PUNTS AND PASSES

PHILADELPHIA — If Temple and Holy Cross aren't able to put their full strength on the field for Saturday's game, they can hang the blame on the Carnegie Tech team which played them on successive Saturdays.

Chris Pappas, Temple back, still is limping from an injury suffered in the Carnegie game while two Holy Cross guards, Elio Luciano and John Carr, and fullback Bill Osmani were on the shelf yesterday as a result of Saturday's meeting with the Tartans.

LOS ANGELES TO CLOSE GATE TO TRANSIENTS

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 27 (AP)—Determined to make Los Angeles an unpleasant winter resort for indigent transients, officials moved swiftly today to close the gates of the city to them.

If undesirable do manage to run the blockade, said James E. Davis, police chief, they will spend a winter at hard labor in prison camps. He recommended six-months sentences.

As the initial steps in erecting a barrier to unemployed wanderers, L's Angeles police officers were dispatched today to Colton and Victorville, two points on main travel routes to Los Angeles.

They were sent to check up on the influx of migratory vagrants into the state—an influx which, said Davis, has already begun to assume alarming proportions.

Orders for the blockade were issued yesterday.

Davis said there will be no extraordinary extending of the jurisdiction of Los Angeles police as there was last winter when "foreign legion" achieved a "bum blockade" on the borders of the state.

COACH BILL ALLEN IS PRESENTED A JACKET

McLEAN, Oct. 27.—Coach Bill Allen of the McLean Tigers is sporting a swell new suede jacket. And Bill is mighty proud of his new possession.

When asked where he got it, Bill just remarks, "oh, some of the fellows bought it and gave it to me."

For the benefit of those who don't know where the jacket came from, Coach Allen was presented with it before his team played the Amarillo Sandies. Captain Gill of the Sandstorm made the presentation before a group of players of the two teams.

Coach Allen played his high school football with the Sandies.

AUSTIN, Oct. 27 (AP)—The state highway department today had announced highway projects in the federal aid program for the year ending July 1, 1937, and costing approximately $15,500,000. Projects by counties included: Potter—Highway 5, bridge and approaches on Canadian river, north of Amarillo.

PEANUT FATAL

GALVESTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—A peanut that was swallowed 14 days ago and lodged in his lung had brought death today to Donald Roy Scott, 18-month old son of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Scott. The child was brought to a hospital a week ago. Two attempts to remove the kernel from a lobe of the child's lung failed. Besides his parents the baby is survived by an aunt and uncle in Houston, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Williams. Funeral services were set for this afternoon.

THE FINANCIAL WHIRLIGIG

CONFIRMED.

Railroad shares had been constantly bulled by professional traders on the premises that loadings for the balance of the year would be high. Your correspondent's rail informants had warned of the opposite being true. Now it is so confirmed by the Association of American Railroads itself.

The Car Division of that organization stated that we are at the peak loading levels of the year. It also stated that there will be no shortage of cars this quarter. In fact it was said that the trend of loadings is down for the balance of the year. And so the rail news behind the news disclosed in this column is officially confirmed.

SUGAR.

Informed sugar circles say that the rise in the price of 1937 contracts is attributed to the presidential election odds. These figures show in favor of the Democratic administration.

Re-election of President Roosevelt would mean that the present quotas would be retained. The trade regards them as satisfactory. But it is feared that should a Republican victory be announced a change in the sugar policies would follow.

TEST.

For years the wide price fluctuations of international currencies was attributed to a Balkan Gang. That outfit is usually blamed for the raids on the currency of any particular nation. Your correspondent has been told that there is no such crowd. The so-called Balkan Gang is made up of world international money brokers who direct their orders thru Stockholm, Sweden. That city is privately known to be the currency speculating center of the world.

The latest inside knowledge from Stockholm is that French francs and the American dollar are again being sold. Funds are being shifted into gold, British banknotes, Belgian, Swiss francs and Dutch guilders. In Stockholm the rumors are that the French government isn't safe and that the United States is anxious for a lower dollar in order to protect its foreign trade. These rumors are aimed to get the British sore.

According to New York currency dealers it means the stabilization funds of France, United States and England are to be given the acid test. If the dollar and franc are allowed to fall against the pound sterling it will be regarded as failure on the part of the tri-power currency agreement. Should that be so active speculation in world currencies will be resumed.

CONTROL.

The wheat trade reports that the 12-month period starting January 1 Argentina and Australia combined will have about 225,000,000 bushels for export. A bad weather spell could reduce this amount to 200,000,000. It means a weekly supply of less than 4,000,000 bushels against a world use of 10,000,000 per week.

Since Russia is not an exporting factor and since a large portion of the Danubian 90,000,000 bushel output will be held for war storage purposes the importing world will have to look to Canada for its consuming needs. In other words the trade sees Canada controlling wheat prices for the first half of 1937.

CAUTION.

All speculative quarters are talking higher prices for the Texas & Pacific shares. Rail informants disclose that current earnings are good. They admit that fixed charges of the road were covered while other carriers operated in the red. But the talk—it is pointed out—doesn't disclose that Texas & Pacific benefits substantially from the emergency freight rate charges. These charges expire as of December 31. Based upon that knowledge they are not following the so-called well informed buying of the shares. In fact caution is being exercised in making any rail commitments.

KOPPERS.

Koppers Gas & Coke is to do re-funding of its outstanding five and five and one-half per cent debentures. Underwriting houses say the new offering will run to the tune of from $25,000,000 to $30,000,000. It is expected to carry a four per cent coupon and may be offered at a discount. Mellon Securities Co. will head the syndicate. The offering is to be made toward the close of next month.

REPORTS ARE THAT:

Since Commercial Investment Trust has paid only $3.65 out of an estimated $5.80 net per share for year in-gainers look for large extra dividend distribution. Pacific Coast traders say that Alaska Juena has long-term prospects. . . California Pack-

Speaker

CANYON, Oct. 27.—The speaker for Home Coming and Mothers' and Dads' day at the Canyon college on October 31 is one of America's best known present-day figures. Eminent Champ Clark, above, is United States Senator from Missouri and was one of the key-note speakers at the last democratic national convention. Long before that he was known to the American people through his work as national commander of the American Legion. Today he is so much in demand that it took several weeks to persuade him to come to Canyon on a date so near the national election.

GRIDIRON HEROES

THEY make few rough-and-ready football players in the modern era of the game who could stack up with Ernest J. (Pug) Rentner, Northwestern University's All-America halfback in 1931-32. Pug was all football, and Big Ten and intercollegiate opponents of the Wildcats during his career will confirm that.

His best year was in 1931, when he rambled 1551 yards, 648 from scrimmage. He was particularly poisonous to Minnesota that season. Against the Gophers he streaked 95 yards from a kickoff for a touchdown, and later dodged 80 yards with a punt for another counter.

Pug was a great blocker and ball carrier, and no tackle was too tough for him to try on defense. At present he is playing pro football with the Boston Redskins.

'NO FORGOTTEN RACES' ASSURED BY ROOSEVELT

FDR Heads North To Cover Four States

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—After enunciating a policy of "no forgotten men and no forgotten races," President Roosevelt busied himself today with preparations for his last drive for re-election.

Heading north tonight, he will cover four states which held 102 votes in the electoral college during the week remaining before the nation ballots.

Although eight campaign trails are marked out along the trail, he will go first to Bedloe's Island, in New York harbor, tomorrow for a speech described as non-political celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of the Statue of Liberty.

After stumping through Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware, Thursday, he will return here for a brief White House interlude before concluding his drive in New York State.

A black overcoat thrown over his shoulders to shield him from the autumn chill, President Roosevelt joined with negro students and faculty of Howard University last night in an outdoor ceremony opening a new chemistry building built with PWA funds.

"As far as it is humanly possible," he told them, "the government has followed the policy that among American citizens there should be no forgotten men and no forgotten races. It is a wise and truly American policy. We shall continue faithfully to observe it."

DARING WOMAN AVIATOR NOW DESIGNING HOMES

SANTA FE, N. M., Oct. 27.—The feminine hand that two decades ago rocked the cradle of aviation in its infancy is designing prize winning homes today in New Mexico.

For Katherine Stinson Otero, once America's most daring feminine aviator who designed some of her own planes is a leading architect of the southwest, building homes she "likes so much" that she "wants to live in them" herself.

As the comely wife of Judge Miguel A. Otero Jr., a world war aviator, now running for the United States Senate on the Republican ticket, she prefers to stay out of the public eye.

"The judge is making the race, not I," she explained today.

20 years ago Miss Katherine Stinson became the first woman "sky-writer," flew the first regular air-mail route—New York to Washington, held American distance and duration records, and then collapsed while driving an ambulance through war torn France after being denied the privilege of flying for her country.

Production of Oil Reaches New High

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 27 (AP)—Another new high in the nation's production of oil was set today as the second year's record in successful production reported today by the Oil and Gas Journal.

For the week ending October 24 a total of 3,067,885 barrels of crude daily flowed out of the wells. It was a record over the week ending October 17, 1935.

Although still nearly 3,000 barrels over the market demand estimate made by the Bureau of Mines, Oklahoma produced 300 less barrels daily than the week before, a total of 586,425.

East Texas showed a drop of 3,273 barrels daily to a total of 446,587 while the total state of Texas increased its production 2,416 barrels daily to 1,199,822.

Louisiana increased 727 barrels daily to 233,625 barrels. California decreased 1,100 barrels daily to 594,900 and Kansas production was up 3,175 barrels daily to 168,565.

Eastern fields, including Michigan, increased 1,293 barrels daily to 144,648 while the Rocky Mountain section increased 800 barrels daily to 64,110 barrels daily.

FORD IS PALLBEARER DETROIT, Oct. 27 (AP)—The body of James Couzens was borne to the grave Monday by Henry Ford and others who were associated with the late senator in business, philanthropic and political activities.

The casket was taken from the flower-banked rooms of the Couzens home in Bloomfield Hills after funeral services conducted by the Rev. S. S. Marquis, rector of the Church of Christ, Cranbrook.

Mary Schoville of Synacova, Ala., attended 21 schools in 13 years.

FISHER IN OVERSIGHT WITH TEXAS NEEDS RETIREMENT PLAN FOR TEACHERS

Supt. R. B. Fisher of the local school system today submitted several reasons why Texas teachers need a retirement plan. Voters will pass on the state retirement amendment in the election Tuesday, Mr. Fisher remarks.

In the Journal of the National Education association, Joy Elmer Morgan presents a series of pictures revealing the need of retirement plan for the aged or senescent teacher. "Infirmary and decrepitude do not belong in the schoolroom," Morgan points out. "Children are normally vigorous and buoyant. They love energy and action. Society cannot afford to put feebleness on the frontier of childhood. There is more tragedy here than the public knows. School officers are too frequently having to choose between the welfare of children and the needs of aged teachers who must live. Low salaries in past years have left many veterans in the service who must face want unless provision is made for them. They should not haunt the schoolrooms when they have become too weak to carry the load. They should not be cast out to neglect and oblivion. There is a better way. The better way is a sound system of teacher retirement."

"It is not consistent to blow the trumpet call for new volunteers—to insist that we shall have the best talent for the schools—when observant youth can turn to living examples of long professional service unrewarded by provision for old age. Let us reward the faithful in the name of common fairness, and let children, in the name of justice to public servants, and for the sake of showing young people who are considering teaching as a career that the public can be grateful."

Contributory retirement funds are found alike in government and industrial fields. Usually the teacher retirement idea is a form of social insurance financed equally by the teacher and the state; it is closely allied with the general and group insurance movement, now far advanced in public and private economy. Nearly 400,000 industrial workers are working under pension or retirement statutes. Several states, notably New York, have retirement systems for state employees. Twenty-four states have retirement plans for teachers. The 83 per cent of the public school teachers in the United States are either in local school systems or in states that make provisions for retirement.

Practically all other vocations offer speculative opportunities, but not so in the teaching profession. The teacher invests the productive period of his life in the character and training of boys and girls but this is hardly a tangible provision for security during old age. Teachers' salaries will probably continue to be far below the average salary of other vocations and professions, and there will remain little opportunity for independent living in old age. Consequently, many of the best teachers facing this unfortunate stark reality choose to go into other vocations, and those that remain in teaching are hindered in their work by the prospect of a dreary old age.

The teacher has no opportunity in his profession to build up a good-will asset that can be sold when he becomes old. Compare this condition to valuable good-will assets in private business. Regardless of the fact that his services are of great financial and social value, all this value belongs entirely to the public when he retires. He cannot use it as capital. Essentially, the retirement system is merely a plan whereby a teacher is relieved, in a measure, of the disconcerting thought of deary dependence of old age by enabling him to build up during his active work an asset that will sustain him upon retiring from active service.

The federal and state plans for unemployment insurance and for retirement and old age pensions do not apply to teachers. The teachers of Texas are neither protected against unemployment nor against the insecurity of old age. The average prevailing salaries are utterly inadequate to permit teachers to accumulate reserves through private initiative. A large percentage of teachers receive wages less than those of unskilled day labor industrial workers. More than sixteen thousand common school teachers of Texas receive an average salary of less than $60 per month on a twelve month basis. Data reveals that most of the older teachers have been unable to accumulate any significant reserve after long years of service.

One-third of all regular public employees and more than 3 per cent of the workers of the nation are engaged in some phase of educational service. According to Mark Smith, of Georgia, "There are more teachers than there are carpenters, miners, machinists, bookkeepers, physicians or lawyers. The importance of the teaching profession is not, however, limited to statistical measures. Upon the skill, devotion, and much of the future social safety and material progress of the state, it is so importantly important, therefore, that teaching be made a career wherein men and women of highest ability may render distinguished service without an ever-present fear of future poverty." Some one has said that "an untrained and depressed teacher is a social danger." May it be added that an untrained and insecure teaching profession may be a constant threat to a complicated democratic government as it has come to be known in Texas.

COAST UNIONS THREATEN TO BEGIN STRIKE

THIEP OF SHIPPING IS IN PROSPECT FOR TOMORROW

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27 (AP)—Threat of a coastwise tieup of shipping increased today, with the several maritime unions declaring they will strike at midnight tomorrow unless their "fundamental" demands are met.

Hope that the newly created United States maritime commission might avert the tieup involving 37,000 workers, waned when Rear Admiral Harry G. Hamlet, commission representative, suddenly adjourned a hearing shortly after it opened yesterday, and announced it would not be resumed until Thursday—after the strike deadline set by the unions.

Both shipowners and unions criticized Admiral Hamlet's action and protested to the maritime commission in Washington.

Asserting Admiral Hamlet had refused to confer concerning "violation of the unions to comply with your demands that the agreements be observed, we must be free to proceed as we see fit to protect our interests."

Admiral Hamlet gave as the reason for adjourning the hearing, his wish to give representatives for each side more time to negotiate. The joint union negotiating committee, answering the commission's demand that work continue under present agreements pending the investigation, charged Admiral Hamlet with saying that was not true, and to handle the present crisis and that his duties are confined to full investigation of the merchant marine.

The Sailors Union of the Pacific became the first union to prepare for a walk out when more than 400 voted last night to set up a San Francisco strike committee.

AMNESIA VICTIM MAY BE FORT WORTH YOUTH

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 27 (AP)—James E. Saunders of Fort Worth, Tex., was on his way to Atlanta today to see if "Martin Peace," youth full amnesia victim, is his son.

Police investigators believe the youth was Dwight Saunders, missing from the University of Texas at Austin, where he was a sophomore, since Oct. 15. His features, they said, tallied with a description of Saunders published by the Fort Worth Star-Tribune after the collegian disappeared.

"Peace" failed to recognize a picture of Mrs. Saunders as his mother when shown the Texas paper, and said the name of Saunders meant nothing to him.

When he walked into police headquarters Sunday to ask for aid in identifying himself, police quoted him as saying he had hitch-hiked to Atlanta after finding himself on the streets of Austin without knowing from where he had come or where he was going.

Officers said he bore a college fraternity pin, appeared well educated and was well posted on current events of national and international importance.

An "electric eye" has been invented to detect the smallest deviations in the thread of silk stockings.

BODY OF WOMAN FOUND IN A SHALLOW GRAVE

SOCORRO, N. M., Oct. 27 (AP)—The body of Mrs. Robert L. Shreve, 34, of Dusty, N. M., was found in a shallow grave in the mountains ten miles south of Magdalena last yesterday by officers investigating the stabbing of her husband Saturday.

The woman's head was almost severed, apparently with a knife, and she had been shot through the head with a 22 caliber rifle.

Al D. Romero, who had gone into the mountains to hunt with the Shreves, was arrested at his home in Hot Springs, N. M., south of here, after the dead woman's husband came staggering into a hunter's camp Saturday, bleeding from a deep stab wound in his back.

Before he was taken to an Albuquerque hospital he told Sheriff Talley Couck Romero was his assailant. Sheriff's deputies said they found Shreve's two rifles in Romero's possession when he was arrested.

Morrison Jury Is Unable To Agree

BORGER, Oct. 27.—Falling to reach an agreement, a jury hearing the cattle theft trial of Raymond and Grundy Morrison of Pampa in district court at Stinson, was discharged yesterday evening by Judge E. J. Pickens. Date for a new trial is expected to be set soon.

The condition of Bert Gregg, injured yesterday morning while working on a lease north of Borger, was reported as only fair today. He was struck by a falling crown block and suffered numerous broken bones and bruises. He was brought to a Borger hospital.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. O. R. McNeely this morning, a daughter, Gladys Jean.

MORTON GIRL SLAIN MORTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—Cocharan county officers conducted an investigation today into the slaying of Juanita Kelly, 21, of Morton, whose body was found in a shallow grave near here yesterday. A young man was arrested and taken to Lubbock for questioning. Miss Kelly had been missing since Oct. 17 when she attended a dance here. The young woman's skull had been crushed and her head almost severed.

Paper manufacturing in Pennsylvania today is estimated as a $250,000,000 business.

FAMPA COLDEST SPOT IN STATE LAST NIGHT

The mercury hit another new seasonal low in Pampa last night when it dropped to 27, five degrees below freezing.

After going up to 29 at 6 a. m., then dropping back a half degree, the government thermometer of the Pampa Daily NEWS showed a steady climb throughout the day.

According to Associated Press reports Pampa was the coldest spot in the state last night with its 27 degrees. The lowest recorded outside of Pampa was 30 at Wichita Falls.

Heavy frost tipped the Wichita Falls area last night as a new cold wave striking swiftly on the trail of a striking norther, drove the temperature below freezing levels in North Texas.

Cloudy, extremely damp conditions, however, prevented the frost from becoming widespread over the region or causing crop losses.

The weather bureau said if skies had been clear, temperatures would have fallen much lower last night.

Sponsors said "young squirts" who can't dance the old-time way had better learn how or stay in their seats.

The Centennial committee began two years ago to sponsor a pioneer ball in the fall after requests from many old-timers to that effect had been received.

It was too long to wait from one June to the next and that a fall dance would keep them in good shape.

The dance will begin at 7 o'clock and continue indefinitely.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, Oct. 27. (AP)—Steel furnished the news for recovery in today's stock market as a wave of investment leaders reversed their slumping trend of yesterday and pushed up fractions to 2 or more points.

The come-back lacked steam, however, and a little selling now and then kept many issues within bounds.

Further pleasing business and industrial news, brokers said, inspired shorts covering as well as a moderate amount of investment buying.

Hawke had objected to hearing the case, feeling that his court might be suffering an imposition.

When the case was over, all the doors to the courtroom were locked for a few minutes and even the attorneys in the proceedings were unable to leave.

Outside, a police car pulled up across the road while the Simpson automobile rolled out of a courtyard gate and sped away.

Occupants of the machine held newspapers up in front of the windows to prevent Mrs. Simpson from being photographed.

The London newspapers, none of which had printed a word regarding the divorce, sent reporters to Ipswich who were placed in the unusual position of holding merely "watching briefs" in the courtroom.

Chances were that most newspapers in the United Kingdom would completely ignore the case in tomorrow's editions.

Near the end of the hearing, Mrs. Justice Hawke mentioned this fact. Counselor Birkett replied: "She was subpoenaed, my lord, but she has not appeared."

Testimony, however, was introduced to the effect that the co-respondent had been to a solicitor's office with Simpson a week or so after the alleged incident occurred.

Mrs. Simpson's case was that she had lived happily with her husband until Autumn of 1934, when she said she had noticed a change in his manner.

"He began going away for weekends," she testified.

Mr. Justice Hawke seemed to show irritation at having to hear the case when Birkett asked Mrs. Simpson the first question.

"Your name is Wallis Simpson?" the counselor inquired.

The judge quickly peered over the top of his spectacles and rapped out: "Why has this case come here?"

A whispered consultation between the registrar of the court and the judge ensued.

Mr. Justice Hawke then mumbled: "Oh, well, I am told—"

His voice trailed off so that it could not be heard past the bench, although the spectators—not so many in number—were craning their necks.

Birkett resumed his questioning of Mrs. Simpson.

She said she had been living at Beech House, in nearby Felixstowe. Her town address, she added, was No. 16 Cumberland Terrace, Regent's Park, London.

The judge again interrupted. "The petition reads that you live at Brayton court," he remarked.

Birkett explained the plaintiff had recently moved.

"Were you married to the respondent, Ernest Aldrich Simpson, on July 21, 1928, at the registry office in the district of Chelsea?" the attorney asked.

"Yes," Mrs. Simpson replied, in a steady voice.

"Is there any issue of that marriage?"

"No."

"Did you live happily with the respondent until autumn of 1934?"

They understand when they go there that it's a serious business they are entering into and one which will reap them multiple benefits if only they will snap into the school's method of practical operation and get down to carving out for themselves a sound method of making their way in the life.

ance already has been deliberated and will stay that way of necessity."

He said that he had voted to reject the report in previous tests, but now was willing to "go home and tell the folks the legislature had done the best it could."

Rep. Clarence Farmer of Fort Worth interrupted to say that a bill authorizing issuance of $3,000,000 in interest-bearing warrants on the old age assistance fund to pay pensions was laying on the Senate table and might be passed. The House already had passed the measure.

Adamson replied that "not a banker in the state would cash the warrants unless a tax bill to guarantee ultimate payment was passed."

His remarks were hailed by supporters of deliberalization as indicating a change of sentiment in the House which several times previously had voted decisively against deliberalization.

Rep. Courtney Gray of Brownwood also urged the House to retreat from the position which had resulted in a deadlock.

"I shudder to think," he said, "what will happen to the needy, old people during the coming winter months unless we pass a revenue bill."

"We had better get into a prayerful mood and do the best we can. There are some features about the bill that I don't like but I'd rather get a "half loaf" for the old people in my district than nothing at all."

Gray said other legislative matters such as an emergency appropriation for county officers' salaries needed attention but that Governor Allred had said he would not call another session unless the present one produced a pension tax bill.

The House adopted a resolution authorizing the board of control to spend less Centennial funds for a plaque in the hall of state at Dallas containing the names of members of the present legislature, which appropriated $3,000,000 of state funds to aid the centennial.

SIMPSON-KING AFFAIR TABOO, BROWNS REPORT

England doesn't say much but thinks a lot about the Mrs. "Wally" Simpson and King Edward situation, according to Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Brown and Miss Marjorie Buckler who have just returned from a trip to England.

"It makes good newspaper copy and the papers play it up, but not nearly so much as in this country," the trippers declared. "It is an almost 'taboo' subject among groups of women," Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Buckler said. "It is discussed some in the men's clubs," Mr. Brown remarked.

Everyone agrees, however, that Mrs. Simpson is a charming and beautiful woman. She is talented, educated, and in every way a lady, it is declared. Pictures appearing in American newspapers do not do her justice, they stated.

She is with the king a great deal, but so are many other "commoners," remarked Mrs. Brown. "The king is not like his late father but follows more of an open life, one to which he has become accustomed in his many trips around the world."

There is an undercurrent in England that Mrs. Simpson will become his morganatic wife, but it is not believed in upper circles, according to the Pampa women.

EVER WORKERS FORCED TO VOTE FOR LANDON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27. (AP)—The Senate campaign expenditures committee announced today it had ordered an investigation of charges that Ohio industries were "coercing employees politically."

Although details were withheld, the committee disclosed the inquiry would be based on allegations that employees of the Timken Roller Bearing company at Columbus were informed on October 21 that plant would close if Gov. Alf M. Landon, Republican presidential nominee, was defeated and "that Henry Ford was going to withdraw all his orders and the Democratic policy was permitting the importation of bearings from foreign countries which would eventually ruin the roller bearing industry."

Louis R. Glavis, chief committee investigator, was ordered to conduct the inquiry, the announcement said.
