DALLAS (AP) — The 16-year-old girl sat in the back of the courtroom coddling her month-old daughter. On the witness stand was her stepfather, who fathered the child.

Chris Ahametule Iheduru, 47, was convicted Wednesday of having sex with the girl, and a Dallas County jury took two hours to sentence him to three years in prison.

Prosecutors said the sex was part of a contract Iheduru had with the girl and her mother. The pact called for the girl to have sex with Iheduru so they could have a son. If the child turned out to be a girl, the stepdaughter would keep the baby.

The Nigerian immigrant faced up to 20 years in prison and a $10,000 fine for his part in concocting the plan. His stepdaughter, who gave birth to a daughter last month, had hoped for the maximum.

"I wanted him to get 20 years," she said after the sentencing.

How much, who will pay for drug unit?

■ The center plan calls for treatment of up to 30 youths who have been sentenced there by a court.

By JEFF WEST
Staff Writer

How much will the proposed Gray County Juvenile Drug Treatment Facility cost and how will it be paid for is a current subject of local discussion.

Voters will have a chance to vote in a non-binding referendum on election day, Nov. 3, as to whether they support a plan to convert a nurses' housing unit into a secure "lock-down" facility.

A non-binding vote will serve as a barometer of public opinion but it will not require county officials to take any specific action.

The center plan calls for treatment of up to 30 youths who have been adjudicated, or sentenced, by a court.

The property to be used is at Hobart and Pennsylvania between NBC Bank and Bill Allison Auto Sales. It was built by the county when the county owned the hospital that stood where the bank is now.

When Chief Juvenile Probation Officer Albert Nichols first brought the idea of using the county-owned property for a drug treatment facility to County Judge Richard Peet they estimated it would create between 17-21 jobs.

The men believed the Pampa Economic Development Corporation might want to become involved because of the new jobs.

On March 3, Nichols sent a letter to the PEDC asking them to consider investing $116,000 to pay for renovation costs to the building. On May 19, Peet and Nichols met with the PEDC and asked for $205,000, or approximately two months operating expense. Peet said by that time he believed the county would receive money from the state for the treatment of the juveniles.

According to Nichols, the state will pay for the drug treatment of two juveniles from each county in Texas. If 24 beds are occupied by eligible youths the county will receive $730,847 from the state based upon payments of $83.43 per youth per day. Each treatment program lasts six months. The state will pay more for higher treatment levels.

At the May PEDC meeting opposition from some residents and some board members caused the PEDC to table action.

In June, staff in State Representative Warren Chisum's office told Nichols about a federal grant, administered by the state, that is designed to help with juvenile treatment facilities.

On July 1, Gray County Commissioners voted to apply for a grant of $903,164. The grant requires a 1/4 match from the county. The state had eliminated some items from the application but approved a grant of $570,521. That amount, along with the county's 1/4 match, is expected to pay for remodeling and operation of the facility for one year. Figures were submitted to the state that will garner a similar amount for a second year, if approved. The grant is not connected with money paid by Texas Criminal Justice for treatment.

Because of the reduction in the grant, Nichols and Peet went back to the PEDC and asked for a grant of $55,000. That was an amount the PEDC had mentioned earlier as closer to what they would consider. It's also close to the grant amount requested for renovation of the facilities that will also house juvenile probation offices. Those offices are now in the courthouse. The PEDC applied the grant with the provision that if the facility closes before two and a half years the county must repay the money.

The total cost of renovation is estimated in the grant as $80,687 including the county's match. Renovations are to include a fence, building offices for the probation department and facility staff, a detoxification room and making the building handicapped accessible.

Previously, Peet said he believes the votes (to study the issue and make the grant application) the county commission has taken are enough to go ahead with the project. But some commissioners disagreed calling for the non-binding referendum after which a final vote will be taken.

Next The Pampa News will look at the cost of renovating and operating the facility, the jobs it could create, and the payments that might fund the facility.

Teen visitors...

By MIRANDA G. BAILEY
Staff Writer

They flew in the first day of October and for the next three weeks 16 German students are making Pampa home.

The visitors come from Hildesheim, Germany, the same community a group of Pampa students traveled to a couple of years ago, said PHS Principal John Kendall.

Pampa High School has a relationship with Scharnhorst Gymnasium, the German high school, allowing students from both places to take turns visiting each other's country for a 3-week period.

"We've kind of adopted each other," said Kendall.

The Europeans will fly out of Amarillo on Sunday, Oct. 18.

Until then, the 16 students and two German faculty sponsors are staying with students and families in the community. Kendall said local host families were selected on a voluntary basis over the last year. In the end, he said, there were more volunteer families than needed.

The students met last Friday for a briefing by Kendall before they were assigned student ID cards and sent off with their Pampa host students to begin the American experience.

The visiting students went to the same classes as their host students the first couple of days, said Kendall, and after that they were given the option to choose the classes they want to attend.

"I think all the kids are enjoying this," said Kendall.

Wounded man drives to hospital

Shooting under investigation

A shooting incident in which a county man, shot in the arm, drove himself to Columbia Medical Center last night remains under investigation today.

Sheriff's deputies responded about 9:30 p.m. to a call about a shooting at a residence at the intersection of Gray 2F and Gray D.

When they arrived, no victim was there but deputies subsequently checked Columbia Medical Center where they found the wounded man, Eddie Reams, said Gray County Sheriff's Lt. Jim Scott.

Reams, whose age was not available, was being treated for a gunshot wound to his upper arm and was later sent to Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo, Scott said.

Later, deputies located the victim's brother, Tom Reams, at his (Tom Reams') home which, Scott said, is the scene of the shooting. His age was not available.

Two handguns have been recovered — one in the victim's car at Columbia Medical Center and one at Tom Reams' home, Scott said, noting he thinks both weapons had been fired.

Fund focuses on, aids crime victims

(This is part of a series of articles for October in conjunction with national Domestic Violence Awareness month.)

Shifting the focus from the criminals and placing it on the victims of violent crime, the Crime Victims' Compensation Fund administered by the Office of the Texas Attorney General can provide victims and their families financial assistance for certain out of pocket expenses not paid for by insurance, workers' compensation or some other available resource.

"Homicide, sexual assault, kidnapping, aggravated robbery, arson and other violent crimes can leave a victim and their family emotionally and financially devastated," Morales said. "The Crime Victims' Compensation Fund is an important safety net for them. The fund can help pay for doctor bills, counseling fees, funeral costs and certain other related expenses attributed to the crime."

With the belief that criminals should be held responsible for their actions, the fund is sustained through fines paid by convicted criminals. There are no tax dollars involved in the administration of the fund. With the exception of gifts, grants and donations, criminals bear the entire cost of the program. They pay by way of fines assessed by state and federal courts for felonies and misdemeanors, through restitution and from parolee supervision fees.

The Crime Victims Compensation Fund has existed nearly 20 years. It was created in 1979 when the Texas Legislature passed the Crime Victims' Compensation Act. From 1980 to 1997, eligible victims of violent crime have been awarded more than $284 million

Expert looks at future... County's population to age, growth to be slow

By JEFF WEST
Staff Writer

Gray County's population is going to get older, more culturally diverse, and grow at a smaller rate than much of the rest of the state.

Those are the conclusions of Steve Murdock, Ph.D., Chairman of the Rural Sociology Department at Texas A&M University. Murdock is a demographer who has studied growth patterns in Texas. He spoke at the Chamber of Commerce Luncheon Wednesday.

The expert was here to compliment the "Focus Groups" the PEDC is sponsoring to get citizen input into the kinds of growth and the types of business that Pampa should seek.

Murdock said the major demographics that will affect the future of Texas are the changes in the rates and source of population growth, the aging of the population, the increase in the minority population and the change in household composition.

Texas is expected to grow in overall population over the next 20 to 30 years. Murdock said there will be an increase of 190,000 a year even with no migration from elsewhere. He said the Gray County population could shrink anywhere from 7 to 33 percent depending on the rate of net migration.

One scenario showed an increase of 55 percent but he said that is based on the population growth at the prison. Inmate numbers are included as a part of the county census.

"If Gray County could build a new prison every 10 years, it could sustain that growth," he joked.

While Texas will grow, the Panhandle as a whole will not grow nearly as fast and that will mean even less representation in state government, he said. That's because legislative districts are drawn up according to equalized population, not size.

He said the major concern for government will be taking care of the aging

Raytheon to trim 14,000 jobs

LEXINGTON, Mass. (AP) — Raytheon Co. will eliminate 14,000 jobs across the country over the next two years, the latest defense contractor to trim its work force to cut costs.

Raytheon officials had said they would trim about 9,000 positions, but on Wednesday announced expanded cuts. Most affected are facilities in Texas, Massachusetts and California.

"It was a big shock, the layoffs were," said Travis Thompson, a worker at a Lewisville, Texas facility, one of those slated to be shut down. "But the closing of the plant was the biggest shock."

The industry has been struggling. Boeing, for example, plans to cut 18,000 to 28,000 jobs by the end of 1999.

Contractors are being hurt by cuts in the national U.S. Defense Department budget and fiercer competition by peer companies that have been consolidating and buying each other out, said Jerry Weltsch, a defense and aerospace analyst at Frost & Sullivan, of Mountain View, Calif.

Raytheon relies on defense contracts for 68 percent of sales.

The latest cuts will fall on Raytheon Systems Co., which specializes in defense electronics and integrated information systems.

FUND

from the fund.

The fund was first administered by the Industrial Accident Board, later known as the Workers' Compensation Commission. The Office of the Attorney General was assigned full responsibility of the fund in 1991.

By 1997, victims had received in excess of $160.3 million from the Crime Victim's Compensation Fund.

Awards on any one claim occurring after Sept. 1, 1997, cannot exceed $50,000. However, in the event of a catastrophic injury, an additional $50,000 is available. Claims on any one claim occurring prior to Sept. 1, 1997, are set at $25,000 respectively.

Examples of what the fund can help pay for are:

- medical bills associated with injuries sustained by a drunk driving collision
- counseling costs of an abused child or a sexual assault survivor and their immediate family.
- burial and funeral expenses
- lost wages and loss of support payments
- costs associated with crime scene clean-up
- travel expenses for those seeking medical treatment, counseling, or to participate in the criminal justice process.

"baby boom" generation which he said will start turning 65 in about 2011. He said that group is so large that Social Security must change.

Most of the growth in the state is happening in Harris, Dallas, Bexar, Tarrant and El Paso Counties, which include Houston, Dallas, San Antonio and El Paso.

As for the population makeup in Texas and the panhandle, the fastest-growing category of those under 45 will be minorities. Murdock said in the next 20-30 years two of three people under 45 will be a minority, with Hispanic providing the fastest growth. He said that education of minorities will be the key to keeping income levels high in the next few decades.

He concluded by saying citizens must focus on where they want to be in the future.

"Don't assume things will not change. Things are going to change, they always do," he said.

He said the future of the area will be determined by the goals that a community sets. "The goals have to be what citizens want," Murdock said.

Florida 911 operator suspended for asking caller out on date

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A 911 operator has been suspended from his job for asking a caller who had reported a crime out on a date.

Steve Toncheff, 34, was suspended from his $21,000-a-year job Tuesday after Chief Deputy Leonard Davis of the Volusia County Sheriff's Office learned about the late following an investigation by the News-Journal of Daytona Beach.

Joey Winn had called 911 in July to report that her Ormond Beach mobile home had been burglarized.

Toncheff answered the line, took her information and dispatched a deputy to the scene, according to copies of the 911 tape obtained by the newspaper.

About 20 minutes later, Toncheff allegedly called Ms. Winn back to ask how she was doing. He asked if he could call her again and then called back later that night to ask Ms. Winn out on a date.

"He said he knew it was inappropriate and said he had never done this before, but would I like to go out sometime," Ms. Winn said. They dated for about three weeks.

The newspaper reported today that Toncheff had been using sheriff's equipment to help him locate dates. Papers found in Toncheff's possession show he used sheriff's office computers to discover the names, addresses, phone numbers, birthdates and other personal information about women who called in to report emergencies, the newspaper said.

Tapes from the sheriff's office also show Toncheff used official 911 lines to make personal calls, in violation of sheriff's office regulations.

Abducted children returned to state, parents in Montana jail

By AMY STEINBERG
Associated Press Writer

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — A 21-month-old boy said to have been starving on a diet of mostly watermelon and lettuce was released to state custody, a pound heavier than when his parents allegedly abducted him from a hospital.

David Fink and his brother, Elijah Evergreen Fink — born in the Montana wilderness while police searched for their parents — were examined by doctors at Primary Children's Medical Center and discharged to state custody Wednesday evening.

"We're ecstatic to have him back," said Dr. Edward Clark, medical director at the hospital, where the children spent the afternoon. "Our team was obviously very shaken."

David's first trip to the hospital came Sept. 14, when worried family members brought him in after his weight dipped to 16 pounds. Five days later, his parents, Christopher and Kyndra Fink, allegedly abducted him from the hospital.

The parents, both 23, said David was the "Christ Child" and they gave him a limited diet to keep him pure. The FBI says he was fed mostly watermelon and lettuce.

A normal 21-month-old would weigh between 22 and 32 pounds, doctors say.

The new baby, Elijah, appears healthy.

Montana authorities found the Finks on Monday in a mountainous region of southern Montana called Dead Indian Gulch.

Legionnaires' disease outbreak

BALTIMORE (AP) — Part of a plastics plant in a Baltimore suburb has been shut down after three employees contracted the pneumonia-like Legionnaires' disease. One of the victims died.

Tests at the Poly Seal plant in Dundalk will try to determine the source of the illness, said Diane Dwyer, chief epidemiologist for the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene.

Health officials are testing hot water and air conditioning systems and other areas to find the source of the legionella bacteria, which grows in water. Ms. Dwyer said Wednesday.

Local teacher represents region at Vocational Home Economics Teachers Association of Texas

AUSTIN — Katie McDonald, home economics teacher at Pampa High School, will be representing home economics teachers and their programs in Region I, District 16 on the 1998-1999 Board of Directors of the Vocational Home Economics Teachers Association of Texas, an organization known across the nation for its outstanding leadership in the promotion of Family and Consumer Sciences programs. As a director, her duties include promoting the importance of the Home Economics Curriculum at the local level and working toward the Long Term Goal in the VHETAT Program of Work of increasing membership in VHETAT in conjunction with the other Board members in Region and County/School District Membership chairs who have been appointed for the school districts in the region.

Organized in 1963, the major goal of VHETAT has been to promote excellence in all aspects of Home Economics education from youth leadership to programs for adult education in the fields related to family living and child development.

With the development and approval of the new Texas Essential Knowledge and Skills by the Texas Education Agency the Home Economics teachers are now able to offer a new improved program teaching life skills and the importance of home economics for both family and the business community. They are encouraging their students to appreciate human worth, accepting responsibility for one's actions in order to create a successful atmosphere in the family as well as work life.

Emphasis is placed on occupational skills helping students to enter a competitive workforce and effectively integrate work, family and other life roles. The Home Economics curriculum prepares students to meet the future both academically and technically giving them the skills required to meet industry demands. Whether high school students are college bound or entering the workforce after graduation the new TEKS as applied to the Home Economics curriculum offers a seamless educational system that prepares them with the necessary employability, academic and technical skills to become successful in their chosen career fields.

As a home economist, McDonald is teaching programs related to the strengthening of the role of today's family in the society of the future. As a member of the board for VHETAT she will be in a position to effect the decisions made by the Texas Legislature and Congress regarding the funding of Family and Consumer Science education programs into the next century.

Thornberry recipient of NFIB award

WASHINGTON — The National Federation of Independent Business recently named U.S. Rep. Mac Thornberry a winner of its 1998 Guardian of Small Business Award. NFIB presents the award every two years in recognition of outstanding legislative leadership on behalf of small business.

NFIB President Jack Faris praised Thornberry for "taking a stand" for small business, citing his 100 percent NFIB voting record. "The record shows that when the roll is called, Rep. Thornberry has been a true and consistent friend of small business," Faris said. NFIB's voting record tallies 13 key small-business votes in the House taken during the 1997 and 1998 sessions. Issues included range from legal reform measures, to regulatory relief, to a variety of tax cuts. Among the latter supported by NFIB were bills to reinstate the home office deduction, lessen the "death tax" levied on family-owned businesses and allow the self-employed to deduct their health care costs.

In all, NFIB will present Guardian awards to 229 representatives and 55 senators who voted favorably on key small-business issues at least 70 percent of the time during the 105th Congress.

The nation's leading small-business advocacy group, NFIB represents 600,000 small and independent businesses nationwide.

County FSA announces CRP sign-up

Matt Street, Farm Service Agency county executive director, announced recently the next Conservation Reserve Program general sign-up will be from Oct. 26 through Dec. 11.

"This will be another opportunity for landowners to sign up for a voluntary program to get financial and technical assistance for improving their land, water and wildlife resources," Street said. "If you haven't tried to get into the program, if your CRP contract offers were not accepted in Sign-up 16 last fall, or if you have contracts expiring, this is the time to make new contract offers."

The new, environmentally-focused CRP provides immediate benefits to producers, ranchers and taxpayers through reduced soil erosion, improved water quality and expanded wildlife habitat. Under this voluntary program, landowners enter into contracts with the United States Department of Agriculture Commodity Credit Corp. to place erodible and other environmentally sensitive cropland in conservation practices for 10 to 15 years. In exchange, landowners receive annual rental payments for the land and cost-share assistance for establishing those practices.

The CCC will continue to evaluate and rank all eligible CRP offers using an Environmental Benefits Index, which is based on the potential environmental benefits from enrolling the land in the CRP. The EBI is composed of six environmental factors (wildlife habitat cover benefits, water quality benefits, on-farm benefits of reduced erosion, benefits enduring beyond the contract period, air quality benefits and conservation priority areas) plus a cost factor.

Maximum CRP payments will be determined based on county average dryland cash or cash rent equivalent rental rates adjusted for site-specific, soil-based productivity factors. CRP payments can include an additional amount, not to exceed $5 per acre per year, as an incentive to perform certain maintenance obligations. Cost-share assistance will be provided to establish approved cover on land enrolled in the CRP.

Interested producers and landowners should contact Gray County FSA at 2501 E. Frederic, Gray County Annex Building, in Pampa or call (806) 665-6561.

House taking historic impeachment vote today

By LARRY MARGASAK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A somber House today moved to launch an impeachment inquiry that would make President Clinton the third chief executive in history to face the prospect of removal from office.

"All of us are pulled in many directions ... but mostly we're moved by our consciences," said Judiciary Committee Chairman Henry Hyde, R-Ill., opening two hours of historic debate.

Democratic leaders were nervous, knowing that conservatives in their party and those with tough election races only a month away were defecting to support the open-ended inquiry demanded by Republicans.

The resolution directs the Judiciary Committee to investigate "whether sufficient grounds exist for the House of Representatives to exercise its constitutional power to impeach William Jefferson Clinton, president of the United States of America."

After lobbying Democrats for days, the White House could only stand by and watch the inevitable vote, offering a plea to set aside politics.

"To date this process ... has been infected with politics," presidential spokesman Joe Lockhart said. "It should be a serious constitutional effort and as we move forward, it's our hope that the seriousness and the constitutional nature of it returns."

Lockhart said he did not think Clinton watched today's debate.

Democrats protested that debate over such a grave issue was limited to two hours. Their anger reinforced the partisan bitterness that has pervaded the process since Independent Counsel Kenneth Starr referred possibly impeachable conduct to Congress on Sept. 11.

In contrast to united Republicans, the debate also exposed deep division among Democrats.

"The president betrayed his wife, he did not betray the country," said Rep. Robert Wexler, a freshman Democrat from Florida. "God help this nation if we fail to recognize the difference."

Rep. Paul McHale of Pennsylvania, the first congressional Democrat to call for Clinton's resignation, said the president was guilty of "repeated deceit under oath" in the Paula Jones lawsuit; and "deceived the American people" about his conduct.

Democrats proposed a Dec. 31 deadline for the committee to finish its work, but Hyde said "an artificial deadline would be irresponsible. It would only invite delay and discourage cooperation."

The second-ranking Republican on the committee, Rep. F. James Sensenbrenner Jr. of Wisconsin, said the panel needs to conduct a broad investigation of Clinton's conduct because "obviously somebody is telling the truth and somebody is lying. The Judiciary Committee must be given the power to decide the issue."

Hyde, who will oversee the inquiry, pledged to avoid a "fishing expedition" and asked his Democratic colleagues to work with the Republican majority. "Too much hangs in the balance for us not to rise above" partisan politics, he said.

Democrats had argued for weeks to limit the inquiry to the Monica Lewinsky affair, but Republicans offered a resolution that would place no limits on the investigation.

Rep. Rick Boucher, D-Va., spoke in favor of a "fair and balanced" but shorter alternative that was doomed to fail.

The Democratic proposal would limit the scope, set a deadline and ask that the Judiciary Committee first consider the historical standards for impeachment before deciding Clinton's fate.

It was to be voted on before the GOP proposal.

In eleventh-hour maneuvering, the White House refused the requests of some moderate Democrats to stop opposing a broad inquiry not limited by time or subject matter. But the president advised lawmakers to cast "a vote of principle and conscience."

First lady Hillary Rodham Clinton, a House Judiciary Committee staffer during the Watergate hearings, assured a group of Democratic freshmen who asked to meet with her that the president would support their re-election campaigns no matter how they voted.

"You should each one understand ... the president wants you to vote the way your constituents want you to vote," Rep. Marion Berry, from Clinton's home state of Arkansas, recalled her saying.

Clinton told an intimate dinner of Democratic party contributors Wednesday night that Democrats should generally seize the opportunity to rise above "Washington-centered destructive politics" and reap the voters' reward in November.

"Maybe it is the irony of this terribly painful moment, which I regret very much putting you all through, that we are being given yet one more chance to affirm our better selves," Clinton said.

The last presidential impeachment inquiry was authorized in 1974, when Democrats ran the House and Republican Richard Nixon was in the White House.

The only other president to face the possibility of removal was Andrew Johnson, the unpopular successor to Abraham Lincoln. The Senate came within one vote of removing him in 1868.

The Nixon case was triggered by a politically inspired burglary. Clinton's troubles began over his sexual relationship with Ms. Lewinsky, the former White House intern, and gathered steam with the president's efforts to conceal the affair.

Clinton has apologized for his sexual affair and asked the nation for forgiveness in hopes of ending this grave threat to his presidency. Opinion polls show about one-third of the public believes he should either resign or be impeached.

A USA Today/CNN/Gallup Poll out today found 53 percent of those surveyed oppose impeachment hearings while 44 percent favor them.

Congress is expected to adjourn for the year this week, and House Judiciary Committee hearings and a vote by the full House on any articles of impeachment would not take place until next year. A Senate trial and vote of two-thirds of its members would be required to remove Clinton from office.

The broad Republican language in the House resolution took on a new importance Wednesday. Starr, whose referral last month of 11 areas of possible impeachable conduct led to today's vote, wrote the Judiciary Committee: "I cannot foreclose the possibility of providing ... additional substantial and credible information" that could constitute grounds for impeachment.

Man executed for 2 slayings

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — With a survivor of his stabbing frenzy watching through a window a few feet away, condemned killer Jonathan Nobles was executed for the murders of two Austin women 12 years ago.

"I carried a lot of anger into that room," Ron Ross, who was stabbed 19 times and lost an eye during the carnage at an Austin house, said after watching Jonathan Nobles receive lethal injection. "I really don't feel it now."

Nobles, 37, was put to death Wednesday night after expressing love and seeking forgiveness from survivors of the victims of his drug-induced attack on Sept. 13, 1986.

He addressed virtually every witness by name. Then he quoted a biblical passage from Corinthians about love and said he was dedicating his death to the Virgin Mary.

"I'm so sorry I've been the source of pain — truly, truly sorry," he said.

'Longhorn' is bull no more

DALLAS (AP) — An early morning surgical squad has removed an appendage from a life-size, vine-covered sculpture in downtown Fort Worth of a longhorn that was more anatomically correct than officials desired.

"We had requested a steer. We got a bull. We just felt like the real focus should be on the topiary and not what sex it is," Roland Mackie, general manager for Sundance Square Management, said Wednesday after the sex-change operation.

The $4,000 sculpture quickly became a topic of conversation after it was put in place about two weeks ago, across the street from a gender-neutral horse-and-wrangler sculpture that is popular with tourists.

There was no doubt about the longhorn's gender. "I was downtown this weekend, and I walked up to it and said, 'Wow, that's a longhorn bull,'" said Fort Worth City Council member Jim Lane. "He certainly had the right equipment."

Others, too, paused to look. "We were wondering if we were the only ones who noticed," said M.W. Floyd, a Fort Worth police officer who patrols the Sundance Square area on horseback.

"All I know is, one day it was a bull, and now it's a cow," said his partner, Officer A.D. Simmons.

Man Draws on Life of Booze To Tally High Price of Beer

DEAR ABBY: I have a message I would like to pass on to teen-agers. I hope you will print it.

Young people, that first beer may carry a cost far higher than the $5 you pay for a six-pack. Let me tell you what beer cost me:

1. A career in the Air Force because after six years, I wanted to drink beer instead of report for duty.

2. An accounting career because I stole from my employer to buy beer.

3. A close relationship with my parents and sister because they don't drink.

4. A son and daughter. They have refused any contact with me for 11 years. I last tried to talk with them in October 1997, but they wanted no part of me.

5. A close relationship with my wife and another son because my wife doesn't drink.

6. Friends. I used and abused them until they had enough and cut me off.

7. A secure future. I'm 53 with no savings, assets or insurance.

8. My driver's license.

9. Medical care. I fear what a doctor may find.

10. My self-respect. I'm a loser and there's no reason to be sober.

In the 1970s I attended AA and stayed sober for two years, but it didn't last.

Thirty-three years ago when I drank my first beer, I had dreams and plans. I had no idea that I'd be a common laborer and a drunk in 1998. Before you start drinking, think where it may land you in 33 years.

Abby, I am one of the lucky ones. You may ask why I think I'm lucky. Well, I'm alive and my drinking hasn't killed anyone — yet. I wish there were a foolproof cure, but there's not, so the only way to avoid ending up like me is to never risk drinking that first beer. Believe me, it's not worth it.

You may use my first name, but please don't use my last name because I don't want to embarrass my family any further.

DONALD IN FLORIDA

DEAR DONALD: Your letter is quite sobering. I hope it will prompt every young person who is tempted to try a beer to carefully consider the consequences. I urge you to return to AA or some other treatment program. Many people have successfully beaten this addiction, and you can too, if you get help.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for 35 years. He has a 42-year-old daughter from a previous marriage. She has been married twice and has three sons. She forced her second husband to pay for her college education, and then she dumped him.

Now this daughter is ready for graduate school and has dropped several hints that we should pay for it. My husband is 62 and retired. I run a home-based sewing business so we don't have to dip into our savings to supplement our limited income. Yet this middle-aged daughter thinks we should pay for her education.

Abby, what should my response be in this situation?

FOOTBALL

IRVING, Texas (AP) — It's no surprise that other teams don't quite know what to expect out of the Dallas Cowboys this season.

Even the Cowboys don't know.

"It's like which team is going to show up. It's Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," guard Nate Newton said Wednesday.

Dallas has scored 30 or more points against the three NFC East teams it has played. But the Cowboys haven't won back-to-back games.

"You need to become consistent at some point," Cowboys coach Chan Gailey said. "It's not mandatory that it happens right now. But at some point, you've got to put together a string."

Before Chan Gailey arrived as the Dallas Cowboys coach, "Load Left" was the standard play for the Dallas Cowboys in short yardage situations.

The ball was handed off to Emmitt Smith who ran to his left behind fullback Daryl Johnston and offensive line-men Newton and Mark Tuinei.

The opponents knew the play was coming. Their problem was stopping it.

For years they couldn't and the Cowboys were the best in the NFL.

But once injuries hampered Johnston, Newton and Tuinei and Smith lost a half-step teams had no trouble stuffing the play.

PAMPA — Pampa has jumped to the No. 8 spot in the latest Class 4A poll released by the Texas Tennis Coaches Association.

Pampa defeated ninth-ranked Dumas, 12-6, Tuesday to stay unaten in the District 3-4A standings with three matches to go.

In the boys' division against Dumas, Matt Rains and Bryce Hudson came away with wins for Pampa in singles action.

Hudson won by a score of 6-4, 7-5, and No. 5 player Matt Rains posted a 6-0-6-3 victory over Justin Boardman.

"Matt is continuing to play great singles. I was extremely pleased with our effort Tuesday. It was big win for our team and puts us one step closer to our goal of an undefeated district championship and the chance to compete at Regional," said Pampa head coach Carolyn Quarles.

Coach Quarles also expressed thanks to those who contributed to the Tennis Booster Club. "We have started court resurfacing and hope to be able to improve our facility. Our program is growing and getting stronger, largely because of the united efforts of our parents, players, coaches and the community," Quarles added. "We had a great crowd to watch our players beat Dumas. It meant a great deal to our players."

Dumas maintained its No. 9 ranking despite the loss to Pampa. Highland Park is ranked No. 1 in Class 4A.

Pampa opens district season against Caprock

PAMPA — Pampa finished its pre-district schedule with a 4-1 record while Caprock went spiraling downward to 0-5.

Despite Caprock's dismal record, PHS head coach Dennis Cavalier isn't looking past the Longhorns.

"Caprock's been struggling and they've had a coaching change, but they've got a quite few back, especially offensive linemen, from the team that upset us last year. We just need to concentrate on the business at hand. We certainly don't want to overlook the Longhorns," Cavalier said.

Pampa and Caprock meet at 7:30 Friday night in Harvester Stadium to open the District 3-4A season.

Pampa has been dominant over Caprock in the '90s, winning by big scores like 55-6 in 1994, 52-14 in 1992 and 54-7 in 1991. The Longhorns finally came out on top last season, 34-27. The win over Pampa was Caprock's lone district win.

Caprock's lone shining light this season has been running back Nick Fields, who is the district's second leading rusher with 464 yards and two touchdowns.

"Fields handles the ball a lot in their offense. He's got the speed to go outside and is quick enough to cut back inside. He has a lot of running skills," Cavalier said.

The Harvesters could have two starters sidelined Friday night. Defensive end Andy Schroeder has been suffering from headaches ever since Pampa's 16-6 win over Randall last week. Fullback Erich Greer sustained a hip pointer in the same game.

Pampa tailback Curtis Johnson rushed for 193 yards and a touchdown against Randall last week.

"Andy's headaches have been less intense and he was feeling better Wednesday morning," Cavalier added. "Erich is making some progress."

Jeff Warren and Forrest King will be looked at to fill the defensive end spot should Schroeder be unable to play. Warren will also alternate with Courtney Lowrance at offensive tackle in place of injured starter Jonathan Waggoner.

Ollie Lowe, Greer's backup, will start if Greer can't go. Fullback Thomas Long has been called up from the junior varsity to help out.

The rest of Pampa's offense will have Jeremy Miller at center, Kory Nickell and Jess Baker at guards; Cody Sheppard at tackle and Justin Barnes at tight end.

Greg Lindsey alternates with Joel Barker at the split end position and Armando Tarango alternates with Blake Baldrige at flanker. Justin Roark is at quarterback and Curtis Johnson is at tailback.

Pampa's other defensive starters include Tyson Curtis and Calvin Tucker at tackles; Brandon Hill at end; Jared White, Kris Davis and Brent Phelps at linebackers; Randy Burklow and Jarred Bowles at cornerbacks; Joel Barker and Bryant Smith at safeties.

AUSTIN (AP) — Several proposals on state football format are under study by the University Interscholastic League, including one that would do away with the two-tiered playoff system.

Three teams would continue to advance into the playoffs from each district, but they would play toward one state championship, thus eliminating the current two-division format, according to the Texas High School Coaches Association recommendation.

An ad hoc committee on reclassification and realignment instructed the UIL staff Wednesday to consider the proposal and several others.

Another plan would retain the current Division I/Division II format. But the proposal by Austin resident Ed McLeroy would change the format for how schools are selected to each division.

Three schools from each district now advance to the playoffs, with the largest of the three going into Division I and the other two in Division II.

All 96 playoff teams — three from each of the 32 districts — would be ranked in descending order based on their enrollment, under McLeroy's plan.

Both proposals are under study by UIL staffers in Austin, who will make a recommendation to the Legislative Council Standing Committee on Athletics, meeting Oct. 18.

Pool & Spa boosts mark to 2-0

In Pampa Soccer Association games last weekend, Pampa Pool and Spa defeated Kid's Stuff in girls' under 12 division play. Myca Vinson scored a goal early in the first half and added another near the end of the game to lead Pampa Pool to a 4-2 victory.

Each team traded goals in the first half with Adeena Dallas scoring first for Pampa Pool, the lead was short lived as forward Michelle Evans of Kid's Stuff put a hard kick in goal to tie the score at one apiece. With the score evened, Pampa Pool and Spa took no time in adding another goal by forward Megan Jouett to take a 2-1 lead late in the first half. In what is a rare play in soccer, Jennie Rogers kicked off for Kid's Stuff and scored when the ball hit the defense and bounced in to goal.

Good defensive efforts for Pampa Pool and Spa were turned in by Alisha Dallas, Ashley Garner and Jouett. For Kid's Stuff, Megan O'Neal, K'leigh Sweeney, Lindsey Rhoades and Suzanne Parks had good efforts on defense.

With the win, Pampa Pool and Spa improves their division record to 2-0 and Kid's Stuff drops to 0-2. In other division play, CST remained undefeated with a shutout of Panhandle's Sun Bank by the score of 4-0.

Play resumes in girls' Under 12 division in two weekends due to the annual PSA's 4 v 4 tournament beginning Oct. 10. Play starts Saturday with nearly 120 teams entered from Pampa and the surrounding area, according to Glennette Goode, tournament director.

PSA invites everyone to come out and enjoy the games, playing at the association's fields located at 248 S. Naida Street in Pampa.

"Concessions will be available for those hungry family members can have a good old-fashioned hamburger and drinks or snacks," said Stephen Rogers, Players' Commissioner.

Indians tame Yankees in extra innings

NEW YORK (AP) — Chuck Knoblauch will never live this down if Cleveland winds up ending the New York Yankees' season.

As Enrique Wilson swirled around the bases like a tornado, Knoblauch kept pointing at first base, trying to get umpires to call interference on Travis Fryman.

Knoblauch pointed and pointed, but the call never came. And all the while, the ball sat on the infield dirt for all to see.

By the time Knoblauch finally picked up the ball and threw it,

Wilson was flopping into home plate with the go-ahead run.

"I'm pretty shocked. ... I was kind of dumbfounded," Knoblauch said Wednesday after the Indians' 4-1, 12-inning victory over New York, which tied the American League championship series at a game apiece.

Yankees fans, angry at his no-brainer, had a harsher assessment, booing him loudly when he came to the plate in the bottom half.

"Blockhead," screamed the front-page headline in today's

New York Post. "Chuck Brainlauch," added the back page.

At Yankee Stadium, it seems the wild is the norm during October. And this time, the Indians were the beneficiary, happy to head home to Jacobs Field without a pair of losses.

"You come into New York, you come away with a split. I think you can go home and feel like you did something," said Fryman, who got his first sacrifice in two years.

Lady Harvesters down Borger in volleyball

BORGER — Pampa defeated Borger, 15-10, 15-8, in a District 3-4A volleyball match Tuesday night.

Pampa improved its record to 3-2 in district and 16-6 for the season. Borger is 0-5 and 4-17.

Lisa Dwight, Lisa Kirkpatrick and Lisa Scribner paced the Pampa victory. Dwight had 10 kills and 8 digs while Kirkpatrick added 6 kills. Scribner came away with two service aces.

Pampa's junior varsity also won, 15-4, 15-5.

In other district matches, Dumas defeated Palo Duro, 15-8, 15-7, and Hereford won over Caprock, 15-2, 15-10.

Dumas is atop the district standings with a 5-0 record while Hereford holds down second at 4-1. Pampa is in third place.

The Lady Harvesters visit Caprock on Saturday with matches starting at 2 p.m. The next home match is Oct. 13 with Dumas.

CANYON — West Texas A&M defeated Eastern New Mexico, 15-5, 15-11 and 15-10, Tuesday night in a Lone Star Conference South Division match.

Both teams were unbeaten in conference play at 5-0 going into the match.

Sarah Butler and Holly Morgan, both former Amarillo High players, led the Lady Buffs in kills with 17 and 14, respectively. Dumas native Jenny Robinson added 13 kills.

The Lady Buffs have a 13-5 record for the season.

Padres edge Braves in 10-inning contest

ATLANTA (AP) — Ken Caminiti earned this save for the San Diego Padres.

On a long night when Trevor Hoffman could not close out the Atlanta Braves in the ninth inning, Caminiti provided relief of his own. He homered in the 10th Wednesday night and gave the Padres a 3-2 win in Game 1 of the NL championship series.

The Padres have not lost a game in which they led after eight innings since July 24, 1996. Thanks to Caminiti, that streak is still alive.

"I know Trevor is kicking himself a little bit because he's hard on himself," Caminiti said.

Caminiti connected with one out off Kerry Ligtenberg, making him the latest in a long line of Braves relievers to give up a big hit in the post-season.

Pitching figured to decide this series, and starters Andy Ashby of San Diego and John Smoltz of Atlanta kept the score at 1-1 through the seventh. The bullpen, though, were not so stellar.

"We both didn't look good, that's for sure," said Hoffman, successful on 53 of 54 save chances in the regular season. "But it's nothing for anybody to hang their heads about."

Ligtenberg, a rookie, did not regret the 3-1 fastball that Caminiti hit over the center-field fence.

"I attacked him with my strength," Ligtenberg said. "Sometimes you get them. Sometimes you don't."

Caminiti hit the fourth postseason homer of his career, helping him atone for failing to come up with a key throw that let the Braves tie it in the ninth.

"I was seeing the ball good. My timing was back. And I felt good," he said. "It was big."

Hoffman could not even close out the game. With two outs in the 10th, he walked pitcher Tom Glavine — a pinch-hitter because the Braves ran out of position players — and Donne Wall relieved.

Wall, who had only one save this season, walked Chipper Jones before retiring Andres Galarraga on a long fly to center field.

Hoffman pitched two innings and wound up with the victory. The game ended at 1:43 a.m., pushed back by a 2-hour, 1-minute rain delay at the start.

"I'm not out here to get saves; I'm out here to win ball games," Hoffman said.

The win was a good start for the underdog Padres. The last five teams to win the opener of the NLCS have gone on to the World Series.

But San Diego sustained a big loss when 50-homer man Greg Vaughn limped off in the fifth inning because of a strained left quadriceps.

"Not real good news on that. He could be out 3-to-4 days, that's the early prognosis," Padres manager Bruce Bochy said.

Game 2 will be tonight, with Braves nemesis Kevin Brown pitching against Glavine. Last fall, Brown beat Atlanta twice at Turner Field in the NLCS for Florida.

Steady rain, lightning and thunder threatened to cause the first rainout in the two-year history of Turner Field.

The bad weather might have helped hold the crowd down to 42,117 — about 9,000 short of a sell-out and the smallest in Atlanta post-season history.

Hoffman retired Jones in a key spot to end the eighth, then walked Ryan Klesko with one out in the ninth.

Klesko surprisingly tried to take third on Javy Lopez's single and left fielder Ruben Rivera's strong throw beat him, but Caminiti did not catch the ball and Klesko — his nose bloodied from colliding with Caminiti's shoulder — was safe.

Andrew Jones, whose home run gave Atlanta the lead in the third, swung at a 3-0 pitch and hit a sacrifice fly.

Rivera, usually Tony Gwynn's late replacement, instead subbed for Vaughn and opened the eighth with a double off Smoltz. Caminiti followed with a fly to medium right-center, and Rivera tagged up and tested Andrew Jones' strong arm.

Rivera's head-first slide barely beat the throw, though his momentum carried him a couple of feet off the bag. But third baseman Chipper Jones was busy raising his glove to show the umpire that he'd made the tag, and Rivera scrambled back to safety.

Pinch-hitter Jim Leyritz, whose six postseason home runs included three in the first-round win over Houston, dribbled a ball in front of reliever Dennis Martinez.

Martinez fielded the ball and looked at Rivera, and chose to throw to Galarraga at first base.

Rivera immediately broke for home and again slid in headfirst, beating Galarraga's wide throw. Galarraga was charged with a double error, for leaving the bag early and his bad throw.

"Ruben is very qualified," Caminiti said.

Gwynn hit an RBI single in the fifth. For the eighth-time NL batting champion, it was his second hit of the night. He's now 30-for-65 (.455) lifetime against Smoltz.

Portuguese novelist wins 1998 Nobel Literature Prize

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Portuguese novelist Jose Saramago, an outspoken nonconformist who has a soft spot for the common man, was named the winner today of the 1998 Nobel Literature Prize.

Saramago's exuberant imagination and playfulness have made him one of Portugal's most popular contemporary novelists, and his works have been translated into more than 20 languages.

The Swedish Academy said it gave the award to Saramago for work that "with parables sustained by imagination, compassion and irony continually enables us to apprehend an elusive reality."

"He invokes tradition in a way that in the current state of things can be described as radical," the Academy said in the citation for the $978,000 prize.

Saramago, 75, wrote his breakthrough novel in 1982, "Baltasar and Blimunda." Perhaps his best-known work is "The Stone Raft," in which the Iberian Peninsula breaks off from Europe for supernatural reasons and floats off into the Atlantic.

That device allows him to comment ironically "about the authorities and politicians, perhaps especially about the major players in power politics."

Saramago is the fourth consecutive European to win the prestigious prize. Anxiety about the skewing of priorities in modern society is evident in all his works and also gives a clue to his resolute sympathy toward communists.

He had long been seen as one of the strongest potential candidates for the prize and the frequent media queries about his prospects contrasted with his quiet personality.

"I am skeptical, reserved, I don't gush, I don't go around smiling, hugging people, trying to make friends," he told The Associated Press in a recent interview. "I just write."

Saramago's regular newspaper and radio commentaries reflect views that are always inspired by his deep concern for his fellow man.

H O M E C O M I N G

The Harvester Homecoming parade held Friday, October 2, had all the elements of a good parade from floats to marching bands and lots of school spirit. Some of the participants included, from the top: the Pride of Pampa Marching band, floats from DECA and FHA clubs, the football team, king & queen candidates, Harvester veterans along with the spirit bell, and the Pampa Middle School marching band.
