Hundreds Of Carrier-Based Planes Hit Luzon, Manila In Daring Raid Tokyo Reports Today

Churches Opened On Leyte-Samar

By LEONARD MILLIMAN
Associated Press War Editor
Fresh from sinking or damaging 58 Japanese warships in the greatest naval victory of the Pacific war, American task forces are hurling hundreds of carrier planes across Luzon Island at Manila from waters scarcely 100 miles away, Tokyo radio reported today.

The U.S. carriers were said to be operating several hundred miles northwest of Leyte and Samar Islands where Gen. Douglas MacArthur has liberated 1,500,000 Filipinos in a land-consuming advance that outstripped Japanese gains in China.

The box score on the second naval battle of the Philippines announced by Adm. Chester W. Nimitz showed 24 Japanese warships sunk, including four carriers, two battleships and nine cruisers, 13 probably sunk, and 21 damaged.

This unprecedented victory, scored in last week's three-pronged naval battle, cost the U.S. Third and Seventh fleets six warships, including "considerable casualties" on five that went down in the battle of Surigao Strait off the southern end of Leyte.

In the air the Japanese lost 171 planes. Ten U.S. aircraft were shot down, carrying with them 18 airmen.

Unconfirmed Tokyo radio reports today said more than 200 U.S. carrier planes swept the Manila area in three waves Saturday and on Sunday Japanese planes began attacking an American carrier task force in Lamson Bay on the east coast of Luzon opposite Manila.

Four carriers were reported in the group. Infantry and tank troops driving through the rain and mud of the Philippines broke up all organized resistance in Leyte valley which MacArthur said "for all practical purposes is ours."

Japanese garrisons were wiped out along 212 miles of the coastline extending from Carigara in the north to the southern tip of Panaos Island in the south. The lower third of Leyte Island was conquered by guerrillas and the 21st Infantry regiment. On adjacent Samar, MacArthur announced "the small garrisons are helpless and can be destroyed at will."

Schools and churches were reopened on Leyte and Samar for the first time since the Japanese overran the islands two and a half years ago.

Japanese columns speeding up their drive to cut China in two smashed deeper into the outskirts of Kweilin, last formidable Chinese stronghold in their path. Fierce fighting was reported 13 miles north and 10 miles east of the city.

In north Burma's general offensive, Chinese troops advanced 57 miles in their drive south from Myitkyna to reopen highway routes to China. They overran scant opposition to occupy the village of Myotit, 24 miles north of Bhamo, a road junction near the China border.

British Troops Capture Kozane; Fifth Army Make s New Advances

ROME, Oct. 30 (AP)—British troops have captured Kozane, 58 miles southwest of Salonika, after the first sharp battle with retreating Germans in northern Greece, Allied headquarters announced today.

The Allied communique said casualties were inflicted on the Nazis in a spirited fight west of the town, which is 40 miles from the Yugoslav border and is on one of the main escape routes for the Germans.

The British entered the town at 2:45 p. m. yesterday, and were given an enthusiastic welcome by the populace, the communique added.

Military Crisis Strikes At China

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 (AP)—China has been plunged headlong into a new military and political crisis by the recall of General Joseph W. Stilwell to Washington.

Information reaching here indicates that decisions which must be made in Chungking in the next three to four weeks may well determine the fate of the Chinese war effort from now on.

Among American officials there is hope, but little real confidence, that Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek will be able to put his military and political affairs in order without further delay.

High strategy of the war against Japan hangs on the outcome. Allied strategy has called for a drive across the Pacific, via the Philippines, to the China coast and a drive from interior China to the same coastal point.

The ultimate objective was to equip China's manpower with American supplies and technical training. Until this could be accomplished the aim was to keep pressure on the Japanese from forward air bases which had to be protected by Chinese armies.

In a sense their base has been taken, however, by bases on the Pacific side, in the Saipan-Guam area and now in the Philippines. China sea shipping and Japanese cities which once could be reached only from Asiatic bases are vulnerable now from the islands.

The situation within China will come to a head in Mid-November when the central executive committee of the Kuomintang is scheduled to meet. As controlling agent of China's one party, the committee is the most powerful political organ in the country.

Before it will be charged recently framed and published at Chungking by the advisory people's council. The council sharply criticized some of the leaders serving with Chiang. It attacked his military administration on the ground that conditions of the troops were bad.

These criticisms accorded with the reported observations of American experts who have visited the country in the last two years: the Chinese soldiers are brave, tough, loyal troops, but their top leadership in all too many instances is incompetent, ineffective and closed to outside suggestions for improvement.

Canadians Open Dunkerque Drive On Beaten Foe

LONDON, Oct. 30 (AP)—Allied columns paced by tanks and planes raced for the German escape bridges and ferries across the broad Maas and Hollandschdiep in Holland only five to 12 miles away today and Berlin radio asserted that a major withdrawal across that barrier to Rotterdam was in full swing.

Allied troops, breaking into the last of the chain of strongpoints before the Maas, entered Roosendaal, a city of 25,000, 12 miles south of the Willemstad ferry across the Diep, the sea arm of the river.

The four pockets were below the Maas where the chief resistance center of Breda has been taken; on Beveland island, on flooded Walcheren island, virtually cut off by a Canadian drive to within 3,000 yards of the causeway connecting with Beveland; and a tiny six mile long, four mile wide corner of Belgium south of the Schelde.

The drive across flooded lowlands, laced by canals and dikes, in the campaign to clear the Schelde approaches to the Allied harbor of Antwerp, was gaining momentum and approaching a conclusion after some of the most difficult fighting of the war.

On Walcheren the remnants of German forces were fighting from islands within the island—bits of land and raised dikes around the principal cities of Vlissingen (Flushing) and Middelburg which stood above the flood waters looted by Allied bombing of the sea walls. The Germans admitted many of their guns were under eight feet of water.

The German high command said other Canadians, after a violent artillery bombardment, had launched a major attack on Dunkerque, a remaining coastal pocket in France, and had achieved a "etempary" penetration.

Canadians and British fighting westward on Beveland north of the Schelde had taken the chief center, Goes, and pushed through Heikensand to within 3,000 yards of the causeway to Walcheren, virtually cutting the connecting link. They had captured nearly 4,000 of the 11,000 garrison on the two islands.

Below the Schelde they had driven south until they had pushed the Germans entirely out of Holland into Belgium where the Germans held a six-mile coastal strip northwest of Knoeke, and Heyst, and running Brugge, including the towns of Sluis, Cadand, Zuidzande and Retrachement were captured. Only a few hundred Germans remained here after the capture of 6,000,500 of them taken yesterday.

To the east a four-day German counterthrust from two armored divisions, supported by tanks, planes and much artillery, had gained headway, but it was too late to be of great aid to the remnants of 40,000 German troops being pushed against the Maas.

Jewel Barton Elected District B. & P. W. Head

COLORADO CITY, Oct. 30 — In a business session attended by ten presidents of B. & P. W. clubs represented at the Fifth District Conference held in Colorado City Saturday and Sunday, Jewel Barton of Big Spring was elected district director for 1945. She will succeed Golda Wilhite of Pecos.

An invitation from the Coleman club to hold the next annual leadership conference in Coleman was accepted. A stirring challenge to Business and Professional Women's club members was issued in the final address by Dr. Mattie Lloyd Wooten, state president, which climaxed the two-day meeting after the anniversary luncheon in the Crawford hotel.

Introduced by Florence Clifton of Abilene, who presided during the luncheon, Dr. Wooten explained in detail the seven legislative aims of the national B. & P. W. organization and exhorted West Texas clubs to "decide what it is you want from your legislators, state and national, and then quit dawdling. Do something."

Dr. Wooten grew whimsical when she pointed out that Governor Coke Stevenson has "expressed himself as against women serving on juries in this state. You know his reason?" she smiled. "The courthouses, he holds, in Texas are not equipped so that women jurors can be cared for overnight. That from any man who has traveled to New York in a pull-man with only a curtain between him and a woman!

"It is high time that this downright silly, childish discrimina-

Duck for Dinner

Roast fowl is the best way in which to celebrate the traditional holidays. Even if you can't get a turkey, you can have an excellent meal out of duck, goose or chicken. Roaster which heats quickly and roasts the fowl evenly is needed. Brush with drippings often so the bird will have a nice glaze.

The success of a holiday dinner depends largely on the perfection with which roast fowl has been prepared. There's nothing like roast duck, for example, evenly browned and fork-tender.

A good roaster is ideal for roasting any type of bird. It will heat quickly and help brown the bird all over so that it does not have to be turned constantly. When the fowl does not have to be disturbed, it will have a much better appearance.

Stuffing is used in most fowl, except duck. If a stuffing is desired, it may be baked separately so it is not too greasy or soggy. The more common practice is to place whole apples or onions in the cavity of the fowl to absorb excess fat, and still leave the fowl with nice flavor.

Check the size on the roaster to see if it is large enough for the bird.

An enameled roaster of 14-inches will fit a bird weighing up to seven pounds. A 15-inch roaster is used for a 10-pound bird, and an 18-inch roaster for a 14-pound bird.

Since the enamel finish is fused into a strong metal base, a porcelain enamel roaster makes an exceptionally durable utensil that will give long service.

Special Activities At USO For Nov.

The fight will get under way this evening at 6:15 p. m. The idea behind this program is to determine the world's champion crooner as far as Big Spring is concerned. To determine the champion, we will ask you, the radio audience, to cast your vote, either by card or letter to THE BATTLE OF THE CENTURY, % KBST, or leave it at Burr's Department Store in Big Spring. You may vote each and every day if you like and as the contest grows to a close we will ask you to guess which of the two stars will win and the number of votes your favorite will receive. The person getting nearest to the number of votes the winner receives at the end of the contest will be awarded a certificate by Burr's Department Store which will be good for $5.00 in merchandise at their store. In case of a tie the award will be duplicated.

You can't see the crowd waiting for telephones

... yet many people are waiting here in Big Spring

When people crowd bus and railroad stations, it's easy to see that travel facilities are overburdened. If you could see the folks waiting for telephone service here, you'd know the telephone system is crowded, too.

We wish we could put in telephone service immediately for everyone who is waiting, but we can't get the facilities to do it. Our telephone equipment factories still are working full speed to supply field equipment and electrical weapons for the army and navy.

Facing such a condition we must first of all—prescribed by the War Production Board—furnish the telephone service necessary to the war effort, public health, and security.

Then others waiting for service are connected in order—those waiting longest are served first, just as at a cafeteria or theater. In general we are able to fill delayed orders only as fast as present users give up their telephone service. We immediately assign the wires, instruments, and central office equipment thus released to those nearest the top on the waiting list, who can be served by that equipment.

To those of you who still are waiting, we say, "Thank you for your patience. We'll be glad to install a telephone for you as soon as we possibly can."

Insurance May Lag In Days Of Rising Costs

Have you enough insurance to cover your loss? Perhaps you say to yourself—"Oh, I have enough insurance if fire should damage my house or its contents." But, have you? Are you sure? You know, of course, that most things cost far more today to repair or replace.

Unless you want to dig into your own pocket in case of a loss, we suggest you see your local agent and talk things over with him, his advice will help you to determine just how much insurance you should carry to adequately protect what you have. Remember—It's not safe these days to be under insured.

Have you had any changes made in your insurance since December 7th, 1941? Few indeed have escaped decided changes in their mode of living and the value of their properties since Pearl Harbor. Your insurance needs have likewise changed, ask your agent, Henry C. Burnett in the Read Hotel Building, to assist you in a survey of your insurance hazards, check them against your present insurance.

It is essential, in these days of increased values and high replacement costs, to make certain that you have enough fire insurance to adequately protect you. Many properties today are greatly under-insured. Full coverage insurance also is of prime importance today especially in view of increased and increasing replacement costs due to war conditions, the Broad Form Dwelling and contents insurance written to include protection against loss caused by fire, lightning, wind storm, explosion, hail, riot, smoke, vehicles, aircraft, vandalism, and malicious mischief.

Building material alone has gone up 27% since 1941, household goods and other contents cost likewise have advanced 25% or more to say nothing of the increase in construction labor. Having in mind the continued rise in construction costs, as well as the upward trend in the cost of replacement of commodities, the situation is of vital importance to you as an insurer and brings up the question, Am I adequately insured? Have I had my policies analyzed since the marked rise in construction costs and increased values of all commodities? Oversight on your part may prove costly and embarrassing in the event of loss.

The Henry C. Burnett Agency is thoroughly equipped to review your policies and make recommendations to provide sufficient insurance coverage wherever necessary. Yes, the agent is a good man to know, because his daily job is making people safer and happier. He maintains a continuous study of the changing needs of your risks and a continuous program to improve his methods of service to his patrons, progressive in aid and cooperation to the policy holders. Alert to new ideas and innovations for his clients, ready at all times to render that special help which is so important under today's conditions. Nabors Gets New Stocks, Majors In Top Service

Nabors Beauty Shoppe at 1701 Gregg is one of the most modern and best equipped beauty salons in west Texas. This shop is owned and operated by Mrs. O. L. Nabors, longtime resident of Big Spring and has been in the beauty business here for 15 years.

Only well experienced beauty operators give complete beauty service at Nabors's. Mrs. Nabors pointed out. The operators are Iva Belle Cardin, Betty Burns, Doris Smith, Jewel Monteith Rhinehart and Mrs. Nabors.

Recently Mrs. Nabors returned from market where she purchased many new products, among these are Revlon Christmas gift sets. Nothing makes a better gift for a woman than some kind of cosmetics.

If you find it difficult to get an attractive permanent because of soft, fine, or dead hair just make an appointment at Nabors's beauty shoppe because they want the most difficult hair problems — the operators consider it a challenge to them and have met them well for years.

Nabors's beauty salon is a discriminating shop for particular women with the newest hair fashions that are exclusive but not expensive.

For hair styles in the modern manner try a creamwave or cold wave. Nabors's offer skin and scalp treatments as a specialty and Revlon cosmetics.

Nabors's beauty shoppe extends an invitation to beauty where abused hair is made lovely again. All work is under the personal supervision of Mrs. O. L. Nabors.

TES Announces Unfreezing Of Lamps, Irons

The Texas Electric Company has been informed that lamps will be easier to get, pending the release and loosening up on the previous shipping priorities. This does not mean that you can dash down, demand that lamp you've been needing and unable to get, and expect it to be there. Shipping is still slow, but faster than it has been.

The company also wishes to announce a bulletin sent to them October 19, which stated "The WPB has asked cities to refrain from Christmas displays of outdoor decorative lighting this year, as in 1942 and 1943. The request is based on the short fuel supply in many areas.

Indoor lighting in homes or stores is permissible, it was stated. This should spare you the trouble of planning that front yard Christmas decoration. Carl Blomshild has been asked time and time again if flat irons will be easier to get in the future. Monday he advised that all those people having these irons keep them, and keep them in the best of condition by bringing them down to the Texas Electric Company for repair should anything happen to them.

"It is almost impossible for anyone anywhere to purchase irons. The new brides generally have to use the iron that 'mother' or 'grandmother' was kind enough to let them use. There will be a few more irons on the market, yes... but not right away. I advise you to keep that old iron in the best of condition."

Should you have any electrical appliance that needs repair work, the Texas Electric company is prepared to help you.

Highland Park - Marshall Game Tops Weeks Card

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor
Conference play dominates Texas as schoolboy football from Panhandle to Gulf this week but an inter-district battle between Highland Park (Dallas) and Marshall gets a big share of the interest.
Highland Park, ranked No. 4 in the state, will be winding up its practice schedule preparatory to leaping into the District 6 fight and the Scotties may be taking on more than they can handle in this parting fling with sectional combat.

Marshall it was that played Waco, the No. 1 ranking team, a real ball game before losing by a touchdown. But despite this the Mavericks are down in a tie for fifteenth place in the state ratings.
The major battle in conference

Rice Jumps Into Spotlight In SWC With Defeat Of Texas; Fear Aggies

By JACK BUTLEDGE
Associated Press Staff
They say rice is rationed in Japan, and members of the Southwest conference would like to see the OPA step in and do something about the Rice situation in Texas, too.
Two conference games are scheduled this week-end, but Rice, the new champ apparently with two victories and no conference defeats on its record, plays a non-title game and will be top man on the circuit's totem pole for two weeks, anyway. Rice meets Arkansas Nov. 11.
Texas University, toppled unexpectedly Saturday in Houston by the Owls, will play Southern Methodist University in Austin and Texas A&M tangles with Arkansas at College Station in conference games.
The Owls' perfect conference record won't be in danger but they won't be able to relax when they take on Texas Tech at Houston.
The conference eases up on inter-sectional play, with only one member leaving for other pastures. Texas Christian, the only other conference team undefeated in title play but with a tie chalked against it, goes to Savannah, Ga., to play Chatham Field. TCU is second in the conference standings, and its position won't be threatened until it meets Texas Nov. 18.

Rice, roundly outplaying and upsetting favored Texas 7-0, has a grip on the title and for the first time in five years of Jess Neely's reign the Owls can be optimistic over the future. Oddly enough, the team they may fear most is the one that today is gracing the bottom of the standings—Texas A&M. Rice still plays Arkansas, Texas Christian and the Aggies.

THE STATE OF TEXAS
TO: T. J. Dunn, whose residence is unknown, to the unknown heirs of T. J. Dunn, whose names and residences are unknown, and to A. C. Ingram and wife, Luna Ingram, and C. F. Ingram, who are non-residents of the State of Texas, GREETING:
You are commanded to appear and answer the plaintiff's petition at or before 10 o'clock A. M. of the first Monday after the expiration of 42 days from the date of issuance of this Citation, the same being Monday the 11th day of December, A. D. 1944, at or before 10 o'clock A. M., before the Honorable District Court of Howard County, at the Court House in Big Spring, Texas.
The plaintiff's petition was filed on the 26th day of October, 1944.
The file number of said suit being No. 5269.
The names of the parties in said suit are: T. S. Firth as Plaintiff, and T. J. Dunn, and the unknown heirs of T. J. Dunn, deceased, A. C. Ingram and wife, Luna Ingram, and C. F. Ingram, as Defendants.
The nature of said suit being substantially as follows, to wit:
Plaintiff is seeking to recover title to and possession of Lot No. 7 and the East one-half of Lot No. 8, in Block 39, in Cole & Strayhorn Addition to the City of Big Spring, Howard County, Texas, and his suit is a suit in trespass to try title. Plaintiff also seeks to reform a deed, dated July 9, 1943, from A. C. Ingram and wife, Luna Ingram, to Agnes D. Dennis, said deed recorded in Volume 116, Page 34, of the Deed Records of Howard County, Texas, by having inserted in said description "Block No. 39", plaintiff alleging that said block number was left out by mutual mistake. And plaintiff also seeking to cancel a lien retained in above mentioned deed in favor of A. C. Ingram and Luna Ingram and remove cloud from title caused by same. Plaintiff alleges that said deed above referred to was intended to convey the property as first above described, and further, alleging that the indebtedness secured by above mentioned lien has been paid.
Issued this 26th day of October, 1944.
Given under my hand and seal of said Court, at office in Big Spring, Texas, this 26th day of October, 1944.

Sliding Down The Sports Chute

with BILL
warfare will be at Austin where the unbeaten, untied Maroons play the team considered their chief challenger for the District 15 title—the Thomas Jefferson Mustangs. Jefferson, boasting the most widely-heralded back in the state—Trackman Perry Samuels—is one of two threats in the path of the Maroons, who weekly have moved up in the state rankings until they now occupy the fifth slot. Kerrville, also undefeated and untied for the season, is the other top challenger.
Other leading games in conference play are Pampa at Amarillo in District 1, Sweetwater at Abilene in District 3, Greenville at Sherman in District 5 and Jeff Davis vs. Lamar in the Houston district.
Pampa last year upset Amarillo and the Golden Sandies have been living for this week and a measure of revenge on the Harvesters, who have performed in mediocre fashion this season.
Sweetwater, one of the state's nine unbeaten, untied teams, takes on a tartar in the comeback kids of Abilene, a team as dangerous as they come these days.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
A young pitcher named Dick Blow was breezing through a game for the Albany Eastern league club one day last summer and shook off the catcher's signal. . . The catcher repeated the sign and again Blow shook his head. . . Then they staged one of those conferences where they shoot the breeze between the plate and the mound. . . In the course of it, Blow blew his top and they came to blows. . . Seeing what was in the wind, Manager Rip Collins stormed out of the dugout and chased both off the field. . . That night, Ripper handed the pitcher his release, saying, in effect, "Blow, Blow."
To turn to other District Three games let's look over at Abilene where the Eagles were hard pressed to come from behind and take a 25-19 victory from the Midland Bulldogs. This looks bad for the Eagles as they meet Sweetwater next and the Mustangs won 26-6 for a very easy victory. Abilene let the Bulldogs get out in front 18-12 and then scored two quick ones for their win.
Over at amesa the Tornados fell over at Lamesa the Tornados fell before a vicious Mustang passing attack which rolled up 215 yards and a 47-6 win. The losers scored late in the fourth period after Sweetwater had completely dominate the game and had not had any trouble in scoring at will. It was just a matter of keeping the score down for the scarping Lamesa eleven.
It all leads back to one fatal point. . . San Angelo, Midland was rated for a dark backward chance to give someone some competition for a while early this year, but two conference losses drop them out, although their running game did outgain the Eagles and their passing was not far behind. Abilene, though they have lost no games in league play, are due to give no trouble to the defending champs on comparative scores of the two. Sweetwater is the only team that remains in the running and they might be eliminated Friday, as they meet the Eagles in the game that will name the top contender for Angelo's title.
That should pretty well sum up the area's football as the local Steers are idle this week in preparation for a November 10 tilt with San Angelo, and two weeks probably will not be half enough time. But one consolation for fans is that everyone will get a chance to see the coming as well as going state champs in action. . . while they are defending their title and moving for another one.
A few explanations of my observation for Angelo getting pretty far downstate if they win the district might come in handy. . . for me at any rate. Amarillo should come through with the District One championship. Plainview could do it after last night's showing against Lubbock, but they were lucky to win and the Westerners had a very bad night. Amarillo is definitely stronger than Lubbock, but that game could knock the Sandies from an undefeated conference season and throw the league into a three-way tie. At any rate Angelo can easily take any team up there and guarantee them a place in the quarterfinal playoffs, and that should prove very interesting for their victims there.
See you. . .

Colored Team Wins Easily 33-6 From Collegians

Opening their 1944 season the Colored Bombers of Big Spring Army Air Field flew to Tyler Saturday and took on a Butler College eleven that found itself soundly outclassed by the big 33-, after jumping to an early lead that was never threatened.
In the first five minutes of play D. Armond romped 11 yards to score for the Bombers, and Frank Noel added the extra point. This was the scoring for the first quarter and the remainder of that period was fought on even terms.
In the second period Frank Noel came across from his wingback position on a reverse and swept his left end for 17 yards and the locals second score. Armond made the conversion. The half ended some minutes later with the Post eleven leading 14-0.
In the third quarter Paul Blanchard reversed his field and then scampered some 60 yards to score standing. The attempt for conversion failed after the fine run Blanchard made.
Again in the third quarter the service eleven took over and marched to paydirt with Armond putting the final touch to the drive with an 18 yard dash to the double stripe. Again the conversion failed.
In the fourth quarter Blanchard added another six points to the score by an 11 yard drive across the goal, and Noel made the conversion good.
Late in the game a fumble by Owen Warford was recovered by the collegians on the 17 yard marker, and a penalty against the Bombers moved the ball down to the two. On the third play the collegians plunged over for their 6 points and the game ended very shortly thereafter with the Post eleven winning easily 33-6.
Starting for the locals were Mullins and Logan at ends, Chapman and Sherman at tackles, Hudson and Conner at guards and Leroy Sims at center. In the backfield was Armond, Blanchard, Noel, and Smith the quarterback.
Outstanding men for the Post team were Chapman and Sherman in the line, while quarterback Smith made several nice runs although he did not score.

Wide Open Spaces

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Oct. 30 (AP)—The trouble with New Mexico's wide open spaces, say the men who drive its school buses, is that they're all cluttered up with fences. The drivers are asking for legislation to force replacement of gates with cattle-guards.
The state school transportation director reports that one poor fellow whose route cuts through livestock pastures must open and close 22 gates twice daily.

Sergeant Gibbons Out-Yorks York To Capture 500 German Soldiers

By HAL BOYLE
WITH THE AMERICAN FIRST ARMY IN GERMANY, Oct. 22 (Delayed) (AP)—Sgt. Thomas J. Gibbons had no intention of out-Yorking Sgt. York. He certainly had no idea he ever would capture 500 Germans single-handed.
The military piped piper from Elmhurst, N. Y., became one of the heroes of his division—the famous fighting First Infantry—by a simple and unromantic error.
He simply made a wrong turn in the road.
Gibbons was reballing down a road in a captured German vehicle thinking of everything except the enemy when he absent-mindedly took a wrong fork. He was jolted rudely out of his day dream by coming face to face with a 50-odd ton Tiger tank and 15 Jerry soldiers.
The New York lad became a prisoner and his captors marched him off to their headquarters for a third degree.
But Gibbons didn't know anything.
"Search me," he said when they asked him what unit he was from. "I don't know—I just work here," he told them when they wanted to know what American forces were then attacking in that sector.
Disgusted, they dispatched him toward their rear lines. But here his captors ran into difficulty themselves. For they no longer had any rear. They had been encircled and what had been their rear was just another front now.
Frantically they began searching for an escape route. American artillery poked the fields around them. American planes whined down to strafe at them and then

Bombardier Cage Team To Rehearse

The Big Spring Bombardiers of the AAFBS will hold a practice session at the Post gymnasium tonight at 8:00, meeting the Group II Officer's basketball team.
Capt. Floyd Burdette, 6 foot 5 inch coach and playing star with the bombardiers will start a lineup that will include S-Sgt. Dickson Kirk and Sgt. Rex Alexander, forwards, Pfc. Rex Alexander, center, and S-Sgt. Mel Vice and Sgt. Flinn Dunham at guards. Except for Dunham this team ranges well over six feet.
Alexander, former star at Murray Teachers College in Kentucky, gives promise of being one of the high scorers of the season. He is a fine ball handler who can shoot from the pivot spot with either hand.
The Group II Officers are led by Lt. Ned Humphreys.

Colorado City Dog Goes To War

Laddie, 19-month-old full blooded collie and pet of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Lowe of Colorado City, has gone to war. First Mitchell county dog to be accepted for training by Dogs For Defense, directed by Forest N. Hall, Dallas, he was waggled goodbye to his owners this week after papers telling of his acceptance for the armed forces arrived.
Mrs. Lowe, suspiciously red about the eyes after she saw Laddie crated and shipped, said "We saw something in the Abilene paper that made us think. We have no sons in the armed forces. Laddie is our only contribution. If you've ever had a dog you loved you'll know how we feel."
"But then Laddie will make a good soldier. And if he can be trained so that he can save the life of just one mother's son, we'll be terribly proud."
Peggy Jeff Humphries, the little girl next door who played with Laddie most, is not so philosophical about the Dogs For Defense idea and the final physical for Laddie. "I hope he's 4-7," she sobbed after the Lowes explained how good dogs may join the army.

Millard Takes Title In GI Badminton Play

Section A at the Big Spring Bombardier school today boasted another titleholder as Sgt. John Millard, of Dayton, Tenn., won the enlisted men's badminton singles championship. Millard won the title Saturday at the Post gymnasium defeating Cpl. Ray Szymanski of Chicago by scores of 15-8, and 15-7. Szymanski had been a pre-tournament favorite.
Szymanski had reached the finals by defeating S-Sgt. Mel Vice 15-13 and 15-13 while Millard had reached a shot at the title by his wins over Sgt. Flinn Dunham by scores of 15-10, 15-11.
All of the semi-finalists were of Section A.

States Begin Study To Outlaw Closed Shops Of Unions By Constitutions

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 (AP)—Should a worker be forced to join a union—where there is a union or "closed" shop—in order to get a job?
This is the heart of a bitter fight now in Arkansas, California and Florida. Its results may be far-reaching for organized labor in this country.
In each of those states the voters on Nov. 7 will ballot on a proposed amendment to the state constitution. The amendments are practically identical. They say in effect:
No worker should be compelled to join a union in order to get or hold a job.
The AFL and CIO are fighting the amendments. They say their purpose—and net effect—is to smash the closed shop and unions themselves.
They say that if these amendments pass similar amendments will be offered in other states.
A closed—or union—shop is a place where none but union members may work, an arrangement arrived at by a collective bargaining contract between a union and a boss.
This is what supporters of the amendment say, an argument that has been raised often and with repeated emphasis in the past few years:
A worker should be free to earn a living—that is, getting a job should not depend on whether he belongs to a union—but no law protects that freedom.
Unions charge dues but no one against his will should be compelled to pay any organization for the right to work, particularly return-

...and an extra one for the pot!

LIKE every good American, you've bought your share of War Bonds.

You've bought 'em to help build the tanks, ships, planes, and guns.

You've bought 'em to back up our fighting men.

You've bought 'em for every conceivable reason to help speed the winning of a very tough war, and as long as that war goes on you'll naturally keep on buying Bonds. BUT...

Next payday, even if it pinches, why don't you buy an extra Bond—just for yourself?

There are a hundred and one ways you could use some extra money a few years from now. Buy that extra Bond—tuck it away—and you'll have that extra money!

If you're going to want something extra out of life—now's the time to get it.

When you're cooking up some coffee, it's that extra spoonful "for the pot" that makes a richer, better brew. Put an extra War Bond in the pot—and let it make a richer, better future for you!

WAR BONDS ... to have and to hold !

Don't Destroy Property

Tuesday we come face to face again with one of our peculiar festivals, and because of its nature we believe it is timely to urge a reserved and sane observance of Halloween.

Why, unless it be linked with the idea of evil spirits coming out of hiding to flit about for a night, there should be vandalism, we cannot see. But somehow there has persisted a certain feeling that on Halloween it is all right to do what is wrong morally the other 364 days in the year.

Big Spring has shown a marked tendency to improvement in recent years in the observance of Halloween. There has been a diminishing amount of property damage. This year, with a war still on and replacements difficult or impossible to obtain, we hope that there will be nothing disarranged which may not be easily restored.

A sincere word from parents, together with a moment of sensible reasoning, will accomplish this goal. Only youngsters who are turned foot-loose and fancy-free will tear up property on Halloween. The vast majority of children are even more conscientious about rights of others than adults, and a simple straightforward talk will impress them.

Soldier Vote Interesting Factor

Gathering of election returns has been developed to such a fine point that ordinarily it is possible to tell by midnight on a presidential election day who is to be the winner. Such may be the case this year, but it is unique that it may also be as late as Dec. 16 before the outcome of the election is finally determined.

This is not altogether impossible if public opinion polls prove as accurate as the better ones have in the past. In many instances the results are so nearly evenly divided that they may now be put in the 50-50 class. The soldier vote might easily be the determining factor in these pivotal states.

Pennsylvania, a hotly contested state, will not count all soldier votes until Nov. 22, and California, also fairly close, is not to tabulate its soldier vote until Dec. 16. Washington will count these ballots up to Nov. 25, Rhode Island to Dec. 5 and Nebraska to Dec. 7.

In Texas only the votes which are on hand by closing time of the polls Nov. 7 will be counted. It's doubtful that one soldier vote will change results much here, but they may be felt to a pronounced degree. Already there are some 37 of these federal soldier ballots in hand, and applications show there are 144 more potential votes from men overseas. Further interest of soldiers in the election is attested by the fact that 95 men in service in the states, who had no poll tax receipts, applied for but could not be granted a vote in Howard county.

Comparatively few states have poll tax laws, as their soldier vote may be even more pronounced than ours. It so happens that the results in those states may be considerably closer than in ours, all which increases the mystery.

Washington - Voters Fool The Vote Guessers

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Political prognosticators here already have been wrong on two scores and to say that it has them a bit bumbled up to put it lightly.

It is almost certain now that the Nov. 7 civilian vote is going to be far larger than anticipated, and already it is certain that the service vote is going to exceed the expectations of those who made predictions just after the soldier vote law was passed.

In the case of the war service vote, about 4,500,000 ballots were sent out and the number marked and returned already is close to 2,000,000, with reports still incomplete. And it is still weeks away from the receiving deadline of many states.

Even those who had early pessimism on the size of the service vote now are estimating that it will reach at least 3,000,000. This would be nearly 40 per cent of the potential vote of unformed men and women—a remarkable showing considering the difficulties involved. With battlefronts spread all over the globe, the fact that the Army and Navy have been able to distribute ballots from the states to even 4,000,000 men seems a masterpiece of organization.

As for the civilian vote, the only way of estimating is on the basis of registrations. Considering all the talk of apathy early in the campaign (and there was every indication that there was) the available registration figures are nothing short of sensational.

A recent Associated Press survey in 13 cities of over a half-million population indicated that, including servicemen and women who had applied for ballots, registration was greater than in 1940 in all but one—St. Louis. There official figures weren't available but a decline of about 20,000 in registration was expected. On a 1940 basis, these cities would provide nearly 24 per cent of the total popular vote for President.

Various reasons for this revival of interest are given, but all are mostly speculation. Various Get-Out-the-Vote committees, particularly the CIO-PAC in industrial centers, are given some credit. Generally, however, it appears that the electorate wasn't as apathetic as it seemed, and the blitz character the campaign has taken on in recent weeks has stirred it to new interest.

What this will mean at the polls, of course, can only be guessed. The surprising thing is that with the election only days away, the sideline boys are shying away from guessing now. Nearly all their calculations were made on a basis of popular vote not exceeding 39

The War Today

by Dewitt Mackenzie
Associated Press War Analyst

The Allies have been doing a workmanlike job over the week-end in ousting the Germans from bitterly disputed southwest Holland, and the task nears completion.

This means that the great port of Antwerp in neighboring Belgium shortly will be available for the movement of much needed supplies to support the Allied assault on the Siegfried defenses. Thus far the Nazi heavy artillery has been able to block shipping by commanding the estuary of the River Scheldt on which Antwerp lies.

There also has been an unusually heavy bombing of the German defenses, communications and industries in the Cologne-Arnheim sector—the type of bombardment which precedes big offensives. So on the whole the week-end developments have been in effect re-affirmation that our Allied high command intends to launch a major drive at the earliest feasible moment. A lot, of course, depends on the opening up of Antwerp.

The German command is rushing work on fresh fortifications west of the Rhine in preparation for the Allied assault. Hitler's idea is to hold this river and so protract the war into next year. That's the most formidable line of defense still facing the western Allies.

Once the United Nations forces have reached the west bank of the Rhine they will be in position to exert a new and terrible pressure on the Germans even before the crossing is made. This will be by bombardment of vital war industries.

Veritas, British official commentator who has just made a personal survey of the fighting front, in calling attention to this prospect, points out that the Allied artillery will "be within easy range of almost all the important industrial centers of the Ruhr and the Saar. These two regions together represent between 60 and 70 per cent of Germany's heavy industry and over four-fifths of her coke supplies." And he reaches this grim conclusion:

"The arrival of the Allied armies on the Rhine will entail the total destruction of a high proportion of Germany's heavy industry, upon which all her war production ultimately depends. In addition, Silesia and the great industrial centers of Czechoslovakia are now indirectly threatened by the Russian offensive."

So if the Allies are held up at the Rhine, they won't be wasting any time. Also, what we do with long distance guns won't have to be done by soldiers at close quarters—and that's an inestimable boon.

Marine Enlistment Open To Young Men

EL PASO, Oct. 28—Seventeen-year-old boys again have the opportunity open to them to serve with the United States Marine Corps, it was announced here today by Captain William B. Wood, officer in charge of the local Marine Corps office.

"The Marine Corps has been at full strength for some time past," the captain stated, "but replacements have been recruited in small numbers right along, and our quota for the next few weeks has been increased to the point where more applicants will be welcome at our office."

The El Paso office of the Marine Corps is located at 905 Mills building, and is open from 8 a. m. until 4:30 p. m. Boys of 17 and not yet 18 are eligible if in good physical condition and can obtain parents' consent to volunteer for enlistment. Term of service is four years in the regular Marine Corps.

General Doolittle flew in one afternoon from the far forward airbase of Youks les Bains. The night before his entire crew except for the co-pilot had been killed in a German bombing at the Youks field.

His crew had manned their plane's guns until it got too hot, and then made a run for an old bomb crater 50 yards away. It was one of those heart-breaking freaks of hard luck. A bomb hit the crater just as they reached it, and blew them all to pieces.

Hollywood—Movieland Badly In Need Of River

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—There's a well-known story about a man who was called in to arbitrate a labor dispute in other days. A carpenter's union claimed jurisdiction over a certain task in building construction, and a lathers' union insisted equally strongly that this task belonged to its men.

The arbitrator heard arguments on both sides. Then he went home and thought and thought, all through the night. Next day he announced his finding. "East of the Mississippi," he ruled, "the carpenters do it; west of the Mississippi, the lathers do it."

Sometimes, it seems, Hollywood badly needs a Mississippi river running through it — as an aid to studio labor relations, men who regularly cope with humiliar or more intricate problems.

Movielabor problems hit the headlines usually only when there's a strike or strike threat. But almost every day some minor issue of the who-does-what variety arises in one or another studio. Some of these would be amazing to outsiders — pictures being a fairly pillivated industry to most people any way, — but they're important in union eyes, each union seeking to protect its members' bread and - butter. Since nearly 300 different arts, crafts and services go into the making of a movie and studio maintenance, you can appreciate the possibilities for overlapping or controversial tasks.

Not long ago one studio's carpenters and prop-makers were at odds. Carpenters build the sets (walls, floors, etc.) but the prop-makers claimed they should build "built-in" cocktail lounges, etc. This matter is still at issue, like the one between the "grips" (who move things, build camera platforms, tracks for camera trucks, adjust shades, etc.) and the "green" or nursery men. The "grips" have authority over "shadows" but the "green" man claims jurisdiction over "tree-shadow" since they're made by holding green branches before the lights. But tree-shadows sometimes are "moving" shadows and "moving" is a grip's job, and you can take it from there.

Make-up and plaster men might seem to have little in common, but now there's an agreement between them because make-up artists frequently make plaster casts of players' faces.

The Timid Soul

Ernie Pyle - Buck Eversole, Platoon Sergeant, Is Old-Timer Dealing With Death

By ERNIE PYLE
LONDON, June, 1944—Lieut. Gen. Jimmy Doolittle, head of the Eighth Airforce over here, noticed one day in the roster of officers at his staff headquarters the name of a Captain Doolittle. The name is not a very ordinary one, and he made a mental note that some day he would look the fellow up for a little chat. One day not long after that is phone rang and the voice at the other end said, "This is Captain Doolittle."

"Oh, yes," said the General. "I had noticed your name and I meant to call you up sometime." "I'd like to come in and see you," said the voice at the other end.

"Why, yes, do that," the General said. "I'm pretty busy these days, but I'll switch you to my aide and he'll make an appointment for you. Glad you called, Captain. I'll look forward to seeing you." He was just ready to hang up when the voice came back plaintively over the phone: "But Dad, this is me. Don't you recognize me? I've got a package for you from Mom."

The General exploded: "Well, why in hell didn't you say so in the first place!" It was Capt. J.Jimmy Doolittle, Jr., a B-26 pilot in the Ninth Airforce. The General hasn't got around yet to seeing the other Captain Doolittle. It'll probably turn out to be his brother or something.

The last time I had seen General Doolittle was some 16 months ago, way down at the desert air-drome of Biskra on the edge of the Sahara. That was when he was running our African bomber force that was plastering the Tunisian ports.

General Doolittle flew in one afternoon from the far forward airbase of Youks les Bains. The night before his entire crew except for the co-pilot had been killed in a German bombing at the Youks field. Today And Tomorrow

GIs Look At God In Varying Ways When In Tight Spots Of Combat

LIEUT. COL. JACK HARDING, 9th Airforce USAAF, in Plane Talk

Everybody remembers Eddie Rickenbacker's ordeal at sea, and the credit he gave to divine intervention for his salvation. Relatively few remember that, not long after that stirring event, a young sailor of forgotten name had a similar experience and, after being rescued, made one of those simple, limpid statements that have highlighted the storied of this war.

"Did you pray while you were on that raft?" he was asked. "No," he said. "I'd never prayed much in my life before. So I didn't think it was fair to God to start when I was in trouble."

When I heard that remark, I started a survey among chaplains, commanding officers, ground crews and combat personnel of the 9th airforce to find out how our fighting men feel about religion.

It is certain that some heretofore irreligious young men now attribute to God their rescue from apparently inevitable death.

Take the fighter pilot who, returning from a mission, went directly from interrogation to seek out Chaplain Robert K. Foster of Cincinnati, group chaplain. "I went into a spin at 23,000 feet," he said. "I tried everything I knew, everything I'd ever been taught. I didn't lose my head or black out; every second of the time I was trying to right that ship. Finally I knew it was no go. I was finished. Somehow I didn't feel afraid. I was sad, very sad, because I knew I wasn't going home again. Maybe you couldn't call it a prayer, because it never reached my lips. But there flashed through my mind, 'Oh, Lord, do let me go back home!'

"My hands were off the controls when, at 200 feet that Mustang came out of the spin, leveled off, and here I am. Chaplain, you can't tell me I was alone in that ship." "God Has Taken Over." A Liberator pilot has this to say: "I've flown more than fifty missions, many of 'em plenty rugged. Before I was halfway through I knew that if I finished up it wouldn't be luck. I don't go to church now, and I don't believe I go in for prayer any more than before. But on lots of those missions I know I haven't been flying the ship, that God has taken over."

Says Catholic Chaplain Guy A. Mowes of Bloomington, Ill., assigned to a bomber group: "I've never known combat experience to produce any lasting conversions. The closest I've come to it on this base was once after a particularly tough mission, when a young flier approached me, saying, 'Chaplain, I've noticed the Catholic boys coming out of your communion services before a mission, and they look as if they had something that rest of us lack. I believe that if ever time came I could face it better with that kind of faith. Will you give me instruction?'"

"Naturally I agreed eagerly. The next day's mission was a milk run, which must have changed that kid's mind. It was weeks ago that he asked me for instructions. Yesterday I saw him and asked him when he was coming in. He didn't even slow down, but gave me an air wave. 'I'll be in, chaplain,' he said, 'just as soon as I get time.'" Other chaplains agree that conversions are almost nonexistent. The ratio of church attendance is just about the same at combat level as it is back at headquarters or in civil life.

The Question of Prayer It's when you examine the question of prayer that you encounter as many different attitudes as there are different types of mentality, conditioned by upbringing, education, religious habit, and the multitude of complex factors that make a man prayerful or otherwise.

"When I go out on a mission," said one bombardier, "I never pray that I'll get back safely. I pray that I'll hit that damned target square on the button so my mom's have to go back there any more."

A spiritual brother of the sailor cast adrift was Staff Sgt. Jesse H. Lewis, tail gunner of La Grange, Ga., who with Staff Sgt. George Williams of Chicago survived a bomber crash in the North Sea. For five and one-half days the two were adrift, overlooked by planes and ships until they had paddled to within eight miles of the English coast.

"I never prayed once on that trip," affirms Lewis, "and neither did Williams. Guess we just weren't in the praying habit."

"The closest we came to that

Two utility workers' unions have agreements as to which shall move stars' portable dressing rooms, which shall open and close stage doors, which shall clean up and sweep streets or sets, etc. One electrical union works the lights and fixtures on sets, another controls a studio's permanent electrical installations (including changing burned-out bulbs.)

The ramifications are endless, some of the problems unanswerable — at least without a Mississippi river handy, — but very rarely does a dispute become serious.

SAY YOU SAW IT IN THE HERALD

was just before we spun into the drink. I didn't say a thing. But Williams said, 'Well, mom, here comes $10,000.' Maybe you could kinda call that a prayer, in a way."

If you think they all pray for the same thing, you're dead wrong. One leather panned crew chief prays ardently and articulately on every mission. For the welfare of the crew? Not on your life.

"Sure, I hope them boys flyin' that baby'll come through all right," and the words ooze out around a cud of tobacco. "But what the hell? They ain't the first crew that've flew her, not yet prob'ly the last. You can get Joes to fly. But get another ship like that? Not easy. I've seen her full of holes, I've seen her on fire, I've watched her come in when nothing but God was holdin' her together. I ain't heartless about the jokers inside her. But if there's only one of 'em alive I pray he'll be able to bring her in. Easy he does too, with an odd mixture of reverence and what in a less sincere spirit would be blasphemy. 'Oh, Lord,' he sometimes almost shouts, 'don't let nothin' happen to that damn ship!'"

Also a Child of God One lad is haunted by the thought that the fellow he's shooting at is also a child of God. "If I pray the Almighty to get me out with a whole skin," he said, "I know that to do it He's got to let that Nazi down, because only one of us is going to tell about it. Well, that guy's got just as much rights to pray for deliverance as I have, hasn't he? So instead of praying louder than he does, I try to fly better and shoot straighter, and let God decide the question for Himself."

Contrast this with the pilot who said, "I guess I don't pray in the ordinary sense. Since I've been flying I've taken on a different slant toward God. 'Way up there above the earth I'm not afraid of Him any more. I feel cleaner and freer, and more friendly. I often simply talk with Him as a friend."

Early Estimates Show Decrease In 1944 Voting

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 (AP)—On the basis of incomplete registrations and qualified estimates of voters, state officials figure roughly that more than 44,000,000 persons will vote in next week's presidential election, including 3,392,000 service men and women.

This compares with the 49,815,312 who actually cast ballots in the 1940 election, but takes into account wartime dislocations in estimating the overall decrease, despite heavy registrations in big cities.

The state officials' minimum estimate compiled by the Associated Press today was 44,102,000. This was raised to 44,637,000 when higher figures were taken into account in eight states where officials gave varying estimates.

The vote forecasts were based on a combined estimate by these state officers of 60,786,625 registrants and other eligibles, compared with 60,576,979 estimated to have qualified for the 1940 election. These officials emphasized that official registration figures are kept only in a dozen states and that hence their estimates are largely guesswork.

The census bureau estimates the number of "potential voters"—citizens 21 years of age and over—at 88,600,000 this year, an increase of more than 8,000,000 in four years, with women of voting age now exceeding the men for the first time by more than 600,000. Males were computed at 44,043,669 and females at 44,662,886.

It estimated 7,860,000 males in the armed forces over 21.

In Texas this year an estimated 1,567,000 persons are eligible to vote. Of this number it is estimated one million persons, including 80,000 service men and women, will cast ballots in the last presidential election year, 1940, Texas cast 1,041,168 votes.

Proud 'Mid-Father'

CHICAGO, Oct. 30 (AP)—Attorney Henry Balaban appeared before U. S. Commissioner Edwin K. Walker and asked for a continuance for his client, explaining he had a sleepless night because of a quadruple blessed event.

Balaban, a bachelor, explained further. His toy fox terrier had given birth to four puppies, one and one-half pounds each, and he was up most of the night in his role of "midwife." Mother and babies doing nicely," he told Walker, who granted the continuance.

SENATOR BONE TO RESIGN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 (AP)—Senator Bone (D-Wash.) said today he will resign "very shortly" to accept a judgeship on the ninth federal circuit court of appeals to which he was appointed April 1.

Grass Condition Controls Stock Rate; Not Price

"The condition of the grasses on the range largely determine the stocking rate on my ranch and not the price scale of the markets," said George White. White, who ranches and farms 15 miles northwest of Big Spring, has had recent experience with the value of proper stocking. For the past two years drouth has prevailed on his ranch. Approximately four inches of rain was received during the growing season this year. In mid-summer White, recognizing the significance of the unfavorable range conditions and the consequences if he retained a normal stocking, decreased his herd of cattle by 43 per cent. By doing this he balanced his number of cattle with the amount and quality of feed produced during an unfavorable growing season. Reduction in the herd was accomplished early and before the range was seriously damaged. The practicality of the principle of conservative stocking is demonstrated in its finality by the net production of the end product—calves. White received a 95 per cent calf crop this year. At weaning age the calves are weighing at an average of 415 to 425 pounds.

Recently White sold 40 calves of weaning age at 12c per pound. "However," observed C. R. Donaldson, range conservationist of the Big Spring soil conservation office, "the method of obtaining a similar record is available to all stockmen—the balancing of livestock numbers with range conditions."

White is carrying out a soil and water conservation program with the Martin-Howard soil conservation district.

Mead Accuses Dewey And Hoover Of Plot

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 28 (AP)—U. S. Senator James M. Mead (D-N. Y.) said today he had it "in black and white" that Herbert Hoover and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, republican presidential nominee, "had initiated an undercover campaign some few months back to drive the late Wendell Willkie out of the Republican party."

"I am in a position to prove," Senator Mead asserted in a statement, "that Hoover, following conferences with Dewey, advised nationally known republican leaders that 'Tom and I are agreed that the sooner we remove that corn Willie from the republican toe, the better it will be for the republican party.'"

"I have this evidence in my possession," the senator added. Mead said that Willkie "was well on his way to his second nomination for the presidency when Hoover and Dewey set out with the determination to stop him and obtain the green light for the New York governor."

Onions Lead To Matrimonial Break

DALLAS, Oct. 28 (AP)—His wife ate onions and in spite of his protests, she continued to eat onions so the husband went to the sixty-sixth district court here today asking for a divorce.

Three times, said the plaintiff, he had to go to a hospital because he was allergic to onions. They argued, sometimes to 3 a. m., and the subject of onions had made him a nervous wreck.

"He made out a strong case," said Judge Bush after the divorce was granted.

MAN HELD FOR ROBBERY

A man who was apprehended Saturday morning for burglarizing a drug cabinet at the Leonard Pharmacy, is being held for officials from the U. S. department of internal revenue. Local officials confiscated his driver's license in city court Monday morning on the charge that he was a druggist when the license was granted.

TEXAS DOG CHAMPION

PADUCAH, Ky., Oct. 30 (AP)—A Texas dog, Jeff Davis, is the 1944 bench champion of the National Foxhunters association. The three-year-old male entry owned by Johnnie Parker of Houston and J. W. Elliott of Hexia, was acclaimed champion at the 36th bench show yesterday.

AUTO MOTOR BURNS

Local firemen received a call Monday morning at 9 a. m. from the McEwen Motor Co., at 211 W. 4th street. A fire had started in the motor of an automobile, but had been nearly extinguished when firemen arrived. The blaze, which was started by a backfire, damaged the motor and wiring, but the exact amount of damage was not estimated.

U. S. WILL BUILD PORT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 (AP)—The United States will build a seaport of Liberia, West African negro republic. This was disclosed today by the state department and the Foreign Economic administration in announcing a mission will leave soon for Liberia.

RATION OFFICE TO CLOSE

The Howard county OFA rationing office is to be closed all day Tuesday for monthly inventory. It was announced Monday by Sonora Murphy, chief clerk.

Bull potatoes in their packets and rice to remove skins. This saves many of the essential nutrients lost in paring.

Attaway Observes 25th Anniversary

Paul Attaway, veteran postal employee, will celebrate his 25th anniversary as a rural route carrier Tuesday.

He will cover many more miles that day than he did when he started out Nov. 1, 1919 on the Como to Wimsboro run in Hopkins county, and he'll be in a good car instead of behind a horse on a two-wheel cart.

In the course of his career, he has worn out three carts, three buggies "and no telling how many automobiles." He shifted to a car in 1922 when he used a model T before going to Swenson, but for a long time he held his horse and buggy in reserve—and had plenty of occasions to use them, too.

His first year was one of his toughest. Rain was constant and the East Texas bottoms were swollen. It was common for quagmire roads to melt into racing streams, which he and the horse swam.

On one occasion he led his horse through waist deep water in 20-degree weather and onto an inundated bridge and weight of the cart caused the bridge to sink half a foot. Hurriedly he led the horse on across and up a rise before looking back to see the bridge bobble up and float off. When he reached his father's house two miles away, his clothing was frozen solidly.

He had on offer of a better job and would have quit, only his family had said he couldn't hold the carrier's position. He showed them.

On July 6, 1936, Mr. Attaway moved to Big Spring and has been carrying rural route No. 1 since. He holds a 25-year card with the rural letter carriers association.

AB Club Meets At Settles On Friday

Meeting of the A. B. Club was held Friday at noon in the Settles Hotel. The program included four songs by Miss DeAlva McAllister, guest of the club, and a quiz program was led by Howard Bell.

Plans for a committee meeting with Boyd McDaniel, city manager were drawn to determine methods of raising funds for the West Side Park project.

Roy Reeder made suggestions of working with the church women of Big Spring whereby funds can be raised toward getting a paid, all-time supervisor for the park. By doing this, the A. B. Club hopes to cut down and help prevent delinquency in that part of town.

The next meeting will be held November 3, at 12 o'clock noon in the Settles hotel.

IN UNIFORM

First Lieutenant Raymond J. Wright has been awarded the Bronze Star for bravery in action. Lt. Wright, who is in the field artillery, maintained an observation point delivering heavy fire against massed enemy movements. His position was attacked by a determined enemy attempting to break through Allied lines. In maintaining his position, he directed critical fire into the enemy small breach with such effect that they were completely routed and the position restored. Lt. Wright attended Big Spring high school and entered the service from Odessa. His brother, A. J. Wright, lives in Big Spring.

Staff Sergeant Fred D. Andrews, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Andrews, Hyman, Texas, a tall gunner, recently flew a nickellion mission over northern Italy in his Twelfth Air Force B-25 Mitchell bomber, dropping leaflets instead of bombs on the German troops. These information leaflets are printed in German and give accurate news about the war fronts, countering Goebbels' propaganda machine.

WPCC To Hold First Membership Meet

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 28 (AP)—The first full membership meeting of the war production cotton committee will be held at Dallas Nov. 2, the chairman, L. E. Ellwood, cotton work specialist for the A. and M. college extension service, announced today.

This special committee, appointed by the cotton research congress in July to consider problems in cotton production in Texas, is a part of the state-wide cotton committee of Texas. The general chairman, Major Burris C. Jackson of Hillsboro who is on military duty at Washington, will attend.

"The job of gearing Texas cotton to war needs," Ellwood continued, "involves at least two important requirements. First, Texas has the capacity to increase substantially its good spinning varieties without loss of yield. Second, quality, on the basis of spinning performance, must be given full recognition in the farmers' market through price differential."

The committee comprises 43 members representing all divisions of the cotton industry, educators, bankers, newspapers and regional chambers of commerce. It includes Dr. A. B. Cox, Bureau of Business Research, University of Texas; Lamar Folds of Corpus Christi; Dr. Ide P. Trotter, director of the A. & M. College Extension Service; L. E. Parsons, Texas Tech College, Lubbock, and L. T. Murray of Waco.

Fernando Carnero, charged with "transporting for purpose of the sale of liquor in a dry area," entered a plea of "guilty," which was accepted by Judge James T. Brooks and a fine of $100 assessed.

Carnero will remain in the custody of the Sheriff until the fine is paid.

CONGRESSIONAL MEDAL TO BE AWARDED TEXAN

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 30 (AP)—The Congressional Medal of Honor, highest decoration of the United States government, will be presented posthumously at the Fourth Army infantry post here today to the mother of Lieut. Col. Robert G. Cole of San Antonio. He won the medal by leading a heroic charge last June 11 during the invasion of Normandy.

The medal will be presented to Mrs. Clara H. Cole by Major Gen. Jonathan A. Anderson, commanding general of the corps and a former division commander of Col. Cole.

Over 1,000 troops will pass in review before Col. Cole's mother, his wife and 18-month-old son.

By personally leading his battalion in a daring bayonet attack at Carentan, France, Col. Cole made possible establishment of the American bridgehead across the Douvre river, the citation states.

Soldier's Medal Given Texas Soldier At Waco

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 (AP)—The War department today announced the award of the soldiers medal to Sgt. Alfred E. Bush of Comanche, Tex., for a rescue he made during a flood at Waco, Tex., on May 2, 1944.

"A small boat in which several persons were attempting to reach the mainland from a small island on which they had been marooned, capsized," the citation said, "throwing the occupants into the water. He (Sergeant Bush) fearlessly and at great personal risk, plunged into the turbulent river and rescued one of the party from drowning."
