TODD DELIVERS SERMON TO SENIORS

LARGE AUDIENCE ATTENDS SUNDAY MORNING SERVICE

The High School auditorium was more than filled to capacity last Sunday morning during the baccalaureate services for the 1925-1926 graduating class.

The stage had been beautifully and artistically decorated on Saturday by members of the faculty and high school.

Shortly after 11 o'clock the three ministers and Superintendent Campbell, Principal Green, and Miss Rorex took their places upon the platform, and Mrs. Tom Ross began playing Mendelssohn's "Wedding March". Slowly from each side entrance to the auditorium a graduate walked, and meeting at the center aisle, they walked together down the aisle to the front seats reserved for them to the left of the stage. As each couple met and walked down the aisle, another graduate would enter from each side and in this way the entire class entered the auditorium and was seated.

The Juniors seated across the aisle and to the right of the platform, then arose, and facing the audience sang, "The Son of God Goes Forth to War".

Superintendent Campbell then asked the audience to stand and Rev. Tippen, minister of the Baptist Church, pronounced the invocation. Rev. J. B. Osborne, minister of the Methodist Church then read the Scriptures, from the sixth chapter of the gospel according to Luke, beginning with the 20th verse and concluding with the thirty-eighth. Following the reading of the Scriptures Rev. Osborne asked the congregation to stand and unite in singing, "Come Thou Almighty King", which was led by Miss Rorex.

The audience was then seated and Rev. James Todd, Jr., minister of the Christian Church delivered the baccalaureate sermon. In his introductory remarks Mr. Todd expressed his appreciation of the opportunity extended through the thoughtfulness of the ministry on the part of Superintendent Campbell to address the assembly at various times throughout the past school year. He said that he had endeavored to leave with them thoughts that would be an inspiration to them in years to come, and that he wanted to give to the graduating class "the crowning thought", which was to be found in the text, the thirty-eighth verse of the sixth chapter of the gospel according to Luke: "Give, and it shall be given unto you; good measure, pressed down, shaken together, running over, shall they give into your bosom. For with what measure ye mete it shall be measured to you again."

The text he said was "the concluding statement in the teachings of the Christ, the Master Teacher, concerning the blessings and the woes of life"; that it was the basic law of life upon which all of our interrelations are based, that the world was slow in learning the truthfulness of this statement of the Christ, but that we all had learned from the experience of life that it was true, and in the words of their class motto as they went "out of school life, into life's school" to learn, and learn well, to "give; and it shall be given unto you."

Mr. Todd said that "each gives of the power of his and her own individuality in thought, in word and in deed, and the effects and attendant results return, and with interest." He said "we are coming to realize more and more that mental telepathy is a science; that the thought in the mind of one individual can be transferred to the mind of another by direct concentration," and used as an example, a statement from a recent letter he had received from a friend in which he said: "There must have been telepathic connection between us, for I had been thinking for some time of writing you and on the day that your card was written I had actually started a letter to you."

He expressed the thought that possibly many of them had had similar experiences, and said "will we then deny that thoughts that become our convictions and decisions are less unless expressed in word or deed? Shall

GRAY COUNTY GETS BIG RAIN THIS WEEK

Lightning killed two big mares belonging to Raymond Davis Monday night of this week. Approximately two inches of rainfall occurred on that night with lightning playing across the skies for several hours.

Farmers state that the crop has been damaged very little by hail or wind this spring and prospects are bright for a good crop. Some of the wheat has started heading out already.

HAROLD LLOYD IN "FOR HEAVEN'S SAKE" CRESCENT THEATRE

If you have tears, prepare to shed them; if you have cares, prepare to shed them; and if you have troubles, prepare to forget them, for Harold Lloyd is coming!

Harold—with his lensless spectacles and ingratiating smile; his shy appealing manner and wholesome-contagious humor—is coming to the Crescent next Monday and Tuesday in his latest funfest, "For Heaven's Sake!"—to make you laugh and chuckle and grin and guffaw and roar at his antics, adventures and thrilling experiences as a missionary in the slums of a big city.

Yes, Harold is a psalm-singing salvationist in his new comedy opus—a mighty drusader, who comes to the conclusion that the underworld can stand a lot of uplifting. Just picture him trying to persuade the toughs and gangsters to trod the straight and narrow and slippery path and you'll have a faint idea of the uproarious action, the hysterical excitement and the delectable fun concentrated in "For Heaven's Sake!"

Of course, there's a girl at the bottom of Harold's strenuous soul-saving efforts—a lovely and lovable girl, charmingly personified by Jobyna Ralston, who furnishes the love interest so necessary to every well-balanced photoplay.

Noah Young, James Mason and Paul Wiegler are others in the capable supporting cast. "For Heaven's Sake!" was especially written for Lloyd by Ted Wilde, John Grey and Clyde Brushman. Sam Taylor directed.

We deny that we give. In thought? Why is it that he same thought is to be found at the same moment in the minds of more than one individual? He referred to the contention "of a noted metaphysician that it was the unity of thought in the minds of the American people that he could not get well that killed ex-President McKinley, and not the bullet of his assassin."

He said that though his hearers may not agree with him that we give in thought, that all did agree that we gave in word and in deed, and at just as we did give it would be given to us; that "No man liveth unto himself, and no man dieth unto himself." He called attention to the fact that "the individual in whom the community was the most interested is that one who is the most interested in the life of the community." And also that the giving on the part of a group in the community's leadership made the community largely what it was, and that "our national problems are created back in the life of the various communities of this in the world today." And other great nation; that we make our contribution in the nation, and that we give so that nation becomes.

"And America is the greatest nation nations are looking either to us or at us. And why? There stands in the city of Plymouth, Mass., a monument erected over a quarter of a century ago to the memory of those who gave our nation birth. The statue of "Faith" is mounted on a granite base surrounded by four massive buttresses on which are figures of "Morality", "Law", "Education", and "Freedom." Truly, these are the principles and ideals which have characterized the life of our nation from its beginning.

Since 1885 there has stood on Bedloe's Island in New York Harbor the colossal bronze Statue of Liberty, which was executed by a noted French sculptor and presented to the American people by the people of France in commemoration of the one hundredth anniversary of America's birth.

AMARILLO'S FIRST CITIZEN-BUILDER, CATTLEMAN, DIES

Amarillo honored Tuesday the memory of its first citizen, Hartwell T. Cornelius, who died there Sunday at the age of 71.

"Uncle Tuck" Cornelius came to Amarillo 40 years ago and built the first house there. He was one of a party of seven young men, coming there from Jack County. All others in the party have died since.

The young men staked tents in what is now the business district and Cornelius built a frame structure in which he opened a grocery store. He later engaged in the cattle business.

JONES-EVERETT MACHINE COMPANY BUILD PLANT HERE

The Jones-Everett Machine Company are establishing one of the largest plants that has been located here during the recent oil excitement. They purchased four acres of land in the southeast part of the city and are now constructing their first unit, which is 40 feet by 130 feet.

M. W. Jones, who is here supervising the construction of the plant, states that this first unit is just a starter for the plant he will build here if Gray county oil field comes up to the expectations of prominent oil men of Texas and Oklahoma.

The Jones-Everett company are using corrugated iron in their first building. They are also building homes for their employees, whom they plan to rent for a nominal sum. They own plants at Ardmore, Houston, Ellard, and Graham, Oklahoma and Pampa, Texas. Mr. Jones states that his company is also engaged in the manufacture of patented fishing equipment and plans to manufacture their products here in connection with their other work.

ROSS CRAWFORD DIES FRIDAY OF PNEUMONIA

Ross Crawford died of pneumonia and complications Monday, May 14, at 10:00 a. m., at the old Hayhook Ranch.

Ross Reed Crawford was born in Arkansas City, Kansas on April 6th, 1890, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Crawford.

At the age of two years he was left fatherless, and with his mother moved to her former home at Jackson, Ill., where three years later his mother passed away.

Following the death of his mother he made his home with his uncle, John A. Reed, with whom he came to the Panhandle in 1902, where for the past twenty-four years he has been known in and about Pampa and Miami for the high traits of character that made him friend to all, and all a friend to him. One year was spent in Montana, part of another in New Mexico, and one winter in California.

For the past nine years he has been employed on the old Hayhook Ranch, much of that time being assistant foreman. On the 20th of last month he was taken ill with influenza which soon developed into pneumonia. He was considered in a convalescent condition, when he again became ill with erysipelas, and was apparently recovering when he developed yellow jaundice. On Friday morning, May 14th, at nine o'clock friends from the ranch left for Pampa for some necessities for his comfort, but shortly after they left him a sudden turn for the worse resulted his death at 10:00 o'clock. Besides his parents, a brother and a sister preceded him in death. He leaves a brother, John H. Crawford, and sister, Mrs. Anna Clay in Kansas City.

The funeral service was held Sunday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock in the home of Mr. G. C. Walstead, a friend of many years. Rev. James Todd, Jr., minister of the Christian Church officiated. Mrs. Doucette sang very effectively "There Will Be No Night More," accompanied by Mrs. T. M.

PLANS MADE FOR MORE NEW BRICK BUILDINGS HERE

Building permits for the month of May show every indication of surpassing any month in the town's history. The first five days of the month the city granted nearly $12,000 in permits for business houses and residences.

Mayor Reid states that approximately $300,000 in business houses is contemplated for the next thirty days. Plans are being made daily for new brick business houses. A large number of merchants have been prevented from locating here during the past two months on account of the shortage of buildings.

PAMPA C. OF C. TO HAVE LARGE NUMBER AT CONVENTION

W. L. Woodward, chairman of the committee on the arrangements for Pampa's attendance at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Convention at Amarillo June 21 to 23, attended a luncheon at the Amarillo Hotel Tuesday of this week.

The luncheon was given for the secretaries and directors of chambers of commerce in the surrounding towns. Twelve towns were represented, rain preventing many from going.

Mr. Woodward states that the Pampa headquarters is in one of the best locations in the city, being in Allen's Dry Goods Store, 420 Polk Street, 1 block south of the Amarillo Hotel.

Secretary C. P. Buckler and others of the local chamber now busily engaged in making arrangements for Pampa's participation in the convention. It is expected that practically every citizen of Pampa will attend the convention at least one of the three days.

RECORD BREAKING YIELD PREDICTED BY ASSOCIATION

This year's wheat crop was estimated at 22,000,000 bushels Monday by members of the Panhandle Grain Dealers Association in annual convention at Amarillo. This yield would equal the record breaking production of 1919, and is several million bushels above the normal crop.

Dealers from all parts of the Plains country report the crop in splendid condition. The average yield is estimated at 20 bushels.

Resolutions were passed opposing the Haugen and Tischer bills, which were branded as monopolistic. Officers of the association: C. R. Slay, Groom, president; U. S. Strader, Amarillo, vice president; and J. N. Beasley, Amarillo secretary, were re-elected. Amarillo was chosen as the next meeting place.

Prosperity Item

The following were passengers: G. C. Walstead, Lee Ledrick, P. C. Ledrick, J. D. McClelland, Paul Caylor, W. S. Camberra.

Mr. Hindman was returning from a fishing trip in the party with two other men. He was driving the car and one of his companions noticed the car going toward a ditch. He looked at Mr. Hindman, and saw him fall across the wheel, dead.

PAMPA BEATS WHEELER HERE LAST SUNDAY

Well, well, who said Pampa couldn't pull out of the kinks and win a ball game? Whoever did was all wet, for the local boys won their last Sunday game in big time order.

The first half of the first was short and sweet for Wheeler, with Wofford struck out, Martin got on first safe, Vinson struck out, and Craig flew out to left field.

The second half was just as sweet, but not so short. Maddox popped out to shortstop; green hit a three bagger; L. Douglas singled and scored Green; Sam Douglas singled; Harrington singled; and Eoff came up and cleaned the bases, scoring three men and himself on a neat homer, and making the score 4-0.

Well, for the next two innings, the boys had just a ball game, but in the fourth the gravity of the Oilers lowered considerably. Swanner started it off by striking out two men in a row. Eoff started the depreciation process by miffing the first batted ball of the inning; right fielder followed suit on next hit; short repeated the performance; center fielder figured there was no use to change it, so he muffed a long fly to his section. Wofford then flew out to L. Douglas. Score 4-4.

In a following inning Wheeler broke the tie by one score, and in the seventh Lard again tied the score. Things looked like the bats would have to be drawn, but Harrington stepped up to the plate and handed the pill a beautiful smack for a circuit trip with two men down—last half of ninth, and the count 2-3, breaking up the ball game and winning for Pampa 7-6.

Pampa meets Hereford here Sunday. Swanner will be in the box as usual, with Sam Douglas behind the bat, Eoff, 1b; Lard, 2b; Bigg, 3b; Stewart, ss; Wilson 1f; Harrington, cf, and Maddox rf. Umpire: Culpepper. Score keeper: Duenkel.

PLAYING THE GAME

The game of life is similar to the game of baseball. Each player has a certain duty to perform in this world. Each person cannot be an umpire or a pitcher but he must serve where he is best fitted. The game of life requires team-work and teamwork is gained through co-operation. With the co-operation of our fellow men we are able to strike into the future, play the game of life honestly and squarely, and make a score.

Let each base on the diamond of life be a milestone. A player moves from base to base only through the co-operation and help of his fellowman. A player strikes many oppositions and obstacles which detain him in reaching his home base, a victor.

In baseball it is very important to know when to move and how to move, for a false move may cause the game to be lost. This is also true in life, for a player must watch his every step. If he makes one false move, he may ruin his life and he may ruin the lives of others.

In playing the game of life a player should not let trials and temptations turn him from the straight and narrow path, but look for help from the guiding hand of God: Only through

GOOD CLEAN BEDS and Cots at Eldridge Rooming House, 1 block south of railroad on Main Street. (7-3pd)

List your City Property, Leases, Royalties, Farm Land and Cattle with Southwest Land Co., Pampa, Texas. (71p)

God can one win in the game of life. It is not the great riches that we may have in this life where "moths and rust doth corrupt, and thieves break through and steal", but the successive victories we have won, toward that goal—Eternal Life. When a player has played the game of life and has left footprints on the sand of time, may the Great Umpire of Heaven say: "Well done, good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things; enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."

BLUEBONNET, STATE FLOWER, SEEN EVERYWHERE, BUT FEW KNOW ORIGIN OF BLOSSOMS

Bluebonnets, Texas state flowers, have fairly ravished Texas this year with their royal beauty and their exquisite perfume. Wooded by an abundance of rain and favorable climatic conditions, they have lavishly given of themselves in all their majestic sweetness.

Most everybody in Texas has seen bluebonnets this year, but not everybody knows the history and significance of this flower which the Lone Star State has so signally honored.

A quarter of a century ago, legislators at Austin grew heated over the selection of a state flower. The Colonial Dances of Dallas originated the idea, and presented the matter to the Legislature. The resolution was introduced in the Senate by Representative Barry Miller, and it went through with flying colors. However, the House met it with bitter opposition.

Cotton, Cactus Urged.
A most impressive appeal was made by Representative John M. Green, Cuero.

Phil Clement, real estate man, Mills, was on his feet in an instant and moved the adoption of the open cotton boll, with its snowy white down, as "the white rose of commerce."

John Garner, Uvalde, moved to substitute the cactus. The flower of the plant was so eloquently described by him that those present saw not thistle and thorn, but daisy and daffodil.

Many other flowers were introduced by loyal admirers, and the Dames saw that there was danger of their flower losing ground. Immediately they began lobbying, and it was surprising to find that some members of the House wouldn't have known a bluebonnet if they had seen one. Accordingly a bluebonnet picture was sent for and one painted by Miss Mode Waller, Austin, was submitted.

Deep silence reigned for an instant, and then applause fairly shook the old walls.

Ode Written by Clement.
A Houstonian, John Kennedy, confessed that he was in favor of any kind of a bonnet, and Phil Clement, who had made such a brave fight for his favorite, the cotton boll, immediately became inspired and wrote an ode, composed of several stanzas, to the bluebonnet, which helped him out of an emaciated bluebonnet.

The Mexicans tell the story of a little Mexican maiden who was offered up as a sacrifice to a god who would have a sinless human slaughtered in order to appease his wrath. The land of the Aztecs was afflicted with a terrible pestilence and the pleadings of the terror stricken people and the prayers of the priests were of no avail. Finally the god to whom they prayed agreed to accept the Aztec maid.

In approaching the altar on the hill-side, her little bonnet of blue dropped, unnoticed, from her head. Ever night there sprang up about the altar beautiful flowers in the pattern and color of the bonnet.

In Mexico the flower is called el conejo (cottontail rabbit).

The springing of the bluebonnet from human blood is associated with the old Greek legend of the "bleeding heart shamrock."—Mary Dazett Lake in Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

The zeal of the Dallas women won the admiration of the majority of the legislators, and it is to them that Texas owes her thanks for the enthronement of its favorite flower.

The carnival of Spring is upon us, and many highways are abloom with bluebonnets. Thousands are availing themselves of the opportunity of witnessing the gorgeous spectacle. Acres upon acres of this bright Spring flower are attracting the attention of artists from far and near.

The bluebonnet picture with its subtle blue reflected on field, sky and water, is one of charm.

Blue Praised by Artist.

It is said that the Texas state flower is of a color and shade that is not equaled in all the world. In England two pictures hang in the home of a man who loves and appreciates good pictures. One is of the blue corn flowers of Europe; the other is of a pair of buffalo clover, the original name of the bluebonnet, from the brush of the late Charles H. Cox, Liverpool, Cox, true artist and lover of the great out-of-doors, said that these two flowers were the only masses of blue in the world, and that the blue of the buffalo clover of Texas was the better blue.

Bluebonnet has a Scottish sound, but our bluebonnet and the Scotch headgear are in no way akin. The botanist knows this flower as lupinus. There are about 20 species in America, mostly in the West. The plant is better known as belonging to the clover family. It rather chooses a soil, not too rich, adding thereby to the beauty and fertility of the landscape.

The real bluebonnet is the scabiosa of old-time gardens. Some say its round head bears resemblance to the Highland bonnet, hence its name.

Priests Brought Flowers.
Tradition has it that the flowers were brought to this country from Jerusalem hillsides by Spanish priests and planted inside the Mexican missions. From there they spread like a blue blanket over the land.

Warriors, fighting in the happy hunting grounds, are said to have knocked chunks of sky from the vaulted dome of blue, and these falling to earth, took root and be-barrasing situation.

The gelatin mold should be greased with a little salad oil before putting in the gelatin.

Deviled egg mixture served in tomato shells on a lettuce leaf is both pretty and delicious.

Lubbock—The Texas Technological College announces the staging of a stupendous West Texas pageant at the close of the present College year. This Pageant will deal with some of the big accomplishments of West Texas during the past ten years, including the securing of the Texas Technological College itself.

Newspapers Help Women to Achieve Most of Reforms

RIVERSIDE, Cal. — Newspapers have made possible all of the reforms achieved by women in public service, Mrs. W. A. Fitzgerald, former president of the California Federation of Women's Clubs, declared in an address at the federation convention here.

"Never in the history of journalism have newspapers been of as much service to women as at present," she said. "It is through their excellent and authentic channels that women in public service have been made possible."

"Withdraw the publicity and I wonder if you realize what would happen? Almost stagnation. And right here I want to say that I would like to know where this so-called 'yellow journalism' exists. The less informed the speaker is the more she rants about 'yellow journalism.' It seems to me a brand of ignorance. I don't know any 'yellow' journals and I have had much to do with newspapers. It is about as ethical to call your newspaper 'yellow' as it would be to call your best friend 'yellow.'"

FIFTY-NINE YEARS AGO WERE GOOD OLD TIMES

Folks boiled coffee and settled it with an egg.

Ladies rode side saddles.

Little Johnnie wore brass-toe boots and daddy wore brogans.

When the preacher told the truth the people said amen.

Left-over noon vittals were finished at supper time.

Neighbors asked about your family and meant it.

Merry-go-rounds were called flying Jennies.

It took twenty minutes to shine shoes with Mason's blacking.

Ladies dresses reached from their neck to their heels.

People served hot licker instead of canned soup.

Only crooks on record were lightning rod agents.

Indigestion was called plain bellyache.

The neighbors got fresh meat at hog killing time.

And men made the same wife do a life time.—Exchange.

Brought Home.

A party of tourists were going through a small town, having the time of their lives, laughing and joking. One of them thought she would have some fun, and called to a little girl standing near, "Are there any shows in town?" To which the little girl answered, "Only the one you people are making."—Minnesota Minnehaha.

How's Your Vent?

A YOUNG woman was singing. Her voice sounded flat and dead. A friend said, "The trouble is the acoustics." The young woman gasped, "Law, I didn't know I had such a thing!"

Maybe you don't know you have a vent—in your plumbing system? But you have. And unless your vents are good, your plumbing is bad.

All plumbing fixtures must be vented. A vent is an outlet—an outlet for foul odors and disease-breeding waste.

If you have old plumbing—old fixtures—chances are your vents are old and bad and out-of-date. Get rid of the old vents. Have new ones installed.

The better your vents, the better your health. The best is always the cheapest.

"O, GOD GIVE US A MAN FOR GOVERNOR"

Sterling City News-Review: God, give us a man for governor, even as Thou gavest Israel a man to be king. A man whom filthy lucre will not corrupt, and whom power will not make mad; a man who is big enough to visualize all Texas from the pine clad vales in the east to the cactus field of the west, from the Red Line which separates us from Oklahoma to the Rio Grande that makes the boundary line between us and the land of Monteruma and deal justice to us all.

O, Lord, the woman whom Thou gavest to rule over us is the same flesh and spirit of the woman which Thou gavest Adam for a helpmate. She has listened to evil counsel, even as Eve listened to the serpent; and listening, she has beguiled us. As Delilah sheared the locks of strength and wisdom from the head of Thy strong man Samson, likewise this woman thru evil counsel has sheared us very close. She has LANHAMIZED our road fund and BURKETTED our road hands so that we are made ashamed of our foolishness.

O, Lord, Miriam, the sister of Moses, was all right to give Israel a song and dance on the shores of the Red Sea when they had made safe passage; but when thou wouldst lead Israel out of the land of bondage Thou gavest a man to lead, even Moses, the man of wisdom and character. Give us such a man! Yes, let a Daniel come to sit in judgment in this hour of our thralldom.

Give us a man! An honest and wise man to lead us back to the paths of righteousness which our fathers trod. Make us brave, so that the thoughts of bedsheets and pillowslips will not frighten us and cause us to hide behind an abbreviated skirt any more.

O, Lord, our foolishness has made us shun Thy admonitions, and now we are covered with the ashes of shame, for didst Thou not say unto Eve: "Thy desires shall be unto thy husband and he shall rule over thee." We tried it the other way. Lord, now we are sorry, God give us a man. Amen!

The human eye is often a false witness. It cannot be trusted to tell the truth. It is the slave of illusion. James Douglas.

I do not know which is the more tragic, a grown-up person who cannot play, or a child who wants to play and has no opportunity.—Lady Astor.

Pampa News, Gentlemen:
In announcing my withdrawal from the race for Sheriff and Tax Collector of Gray County, Texas, I wish to thank each and everyone for the encouragement and support they have given me, and it is with some regret that I make this announcement of withdrawal, but due to the changed business conditions in Pampa and surrounding community, as a result of the oil development, I find it necessary to devote all of my time and attention to my present business, which prevents me from making the canvass and campaign that I had planned upon and which I think should be made in seeking an office of such importance. A number of progressive merchants and business men of Pampa sponsored a double page advertisement in this issue of the News welcoming the high school and college graduates of this section of Pampa. The welcome reads in part, "We, as residents of this community, in active business life, feel that right here in Pampa exist untold opportunities for your future success."

Too often high school and college students are inclined to seek their fortunes abroad when better opportunities are open in their home town. During the coming year Amarillo will spend $50,000 in an effort to get more industries and people to come to Amarillo. Wichita Falls will spend $100,000 for the same purpose. The farsighted men of Pampa see the value of this course and are following the lead of the larger cities. The double page advertisement in this issue of the News is only one of the many ways in which the business men of Pampa are carrying out this campaign.

Emporia the model child—whom all the other children hate—the pet of Providence. Still we have a certain Pharisaical suit for self praise which makes us Emporians like to hear the best about ourselves. Well—here it is from The Lawrence Journal:

Emporia is writing a chapter of taxation history that might be studied with profit by other towns. In the past two years the city levy there has been reduced from 10 mills to 10 1/2 mills, although the valuation has been lowered. In spite of the tax reduction all city expenses have been met and all city activities maintained, giving credit to the business ability of the commissioner of finance. The present state of Emporia is in contrast to that of Fort Scott, where The Tribune is calling for every possible economy to "get the town out from under its 5 per cent tax burden". The Tribune says, "that rate of taxation will stifle any town."

When the tax rate mounts to the point reached by Fort Scott it is obligatory upon the town to think of doing something for towns that have luckily escaped such a condition to defer giving attention to the virtues of municipal thrift and foresight. Not all towns will find it possible to reduce taxes as Emporia has done but by minding their business closely many may avoid an increase of the levy.

The answer to the tax problem is simple: Popular intelligence. If a town has enough sense to choose its public officers upon their merits as public servants, not upon secondary virtues—taxes come down. But when a town elects officers because they belong to a certain church, or lodge or party or because they need the salary—bang! Up go the taxes. Now, Emporia—Well, spare our blushes! —Emporia Gazette.

MAY DAYS.
Higgins News: We of the News were made happy Saturday morning—yes, happy. Two blessed little bright-eyed tots slipped to our door with—what do you suppose? A May basket. And as we sniffed the fragrant flowers—lilies and apple blossoms—we felt the touch of a fairy wand and was a child again singing at the top of our voice among the lilies and early roses. In our little pink apron were violets, both blue and white and about us the cherry blossoms were snowing sweet petals upon our bare head. Blue flags were waving a welcome and from the apple tree a bird was hiding a nest in the dainty blossom clad branches. A Wake us not from our dreaming, fluffy white clouds in the sky. It is May! It is May! Sparkle, little diamonds of dew! And the air is filled with sweet perfume of lilies and apple blossoms from our May basket.

Got Him.
Christian Science Monitor: A school inspector was testing a class of boys who were supposed to be rather dull. He asked a boy to give him a number. The boy said "seventy-three."
The inspector wrote on the blackboard 37, and waited for the boys to call attention to the error, but no one spoke. He asked another boy to give him a number, and he said, "ninety-one."
The inspector then wrote 19 on the blackboard—and still there was no comment. With great patience he asked a third boy for a number.
The boy said: "Thirty-three. Now, play about with that if you can!"

Care of Hen With Chicks.
Furnish roomy, dry, well ventilated coop where hen and chicks can be confined for first few days. Coop should be so constructed that rats, cats, etc., cannot get in at night. Chicks should be confined for three days until well rested and strong enough to range. Range should be small for a week or 10 days. Feed sparingly and often after chicks are two days old. Chicks should be dusted with house powder if hen has lice. Baby chicks should have all the milk they will consume. Finely ground oyster shell should be available from the start. Yellow corn is preferable to white corn for chickens of all ages. This is especially true of baby chicks.

Mix the flour and cold water to a smooth paste and add to it slowly the scalded milk, continuing the stirring. When thickened, cook over hot water for about fifteen minutes. Add sugar and beaten egg yolks and cook two minutes. Strain the custard through a fine sieve and, when cool, add the apricot pulp and juice, and freeze.

OUR CALIFORNIA LETTER

By J. F. Vicars

Editor Pampa News:
I have delayed writing this letter longer than I intended for the reason that so many things of interest have been transpiring lately that I simply over looked it.

The Beydlers, so well known to most of the readers of the News are now citizens of San Jose. They have bought two very desirable lots in a new and beautiful addition, have a garage completed, and are building a residence according to their own ideas of what a house should be. It will be remembered that Mr. Beydler managed a lumber yard in Pampa for many years and later built and conducted a theater there.

On their visits to see us we never get tired of talking about our experiences at Pampa and the people whom we know back there. We read together the names included in that long list of new subscribers and renewals which you published not long ago, and it was surprising how many of them we remembered, and we almost wished for the time being, that we were living there again.

But what with the gas in the homes and the oil wells, and the pipe lines, and the new additions to the town, and the new homes they are building, and the new business blocks that are going up, and the new people that are coming in, and the general excitement, it would not be to us the old Pampa we left behind us so long ago. Mrs. Tinsley was telling me recently

GRADE STREETS.

Childress Index: Many of the streets of the city are in worse condition than they have ever been, which property owners are anxious to know why. It was believed when the highly traveled streets of the northwest section of the city were paved that there would be more time for other streets to be dragged but it appears the dirt streets are overlooked until too dry for effective working. The city should map out a system for street dragging, assigning a grader and tractor to a certain given area and employ some man to operate the machine following a rain. There are several makes of motor drags that do wonderful work if got in use just as quickly as practical to drag a muddy street. Childress can have good dirt streets if the proper work is done, and within a few months the streets can be got in condition to be given a topping of some binding material that will make them almost like a paved street. This suggestion is not a new idea, for it is followed by many cities, large and small.

Pineapple Delight.

One cup of shredded pineapple, one cup of diced orange, one cup of strawberries cut in halves, one cup of sugar, one-third of a cup of water. Boil sugar and water five minutes and when cold pour over fruit. Garnish with sprigs of mint. Serve very cold.

Time to enjoy life is just as important as having money to enjoy it with. Hart-Parr tractors are giving thousands of farmers more money and more time. Farmers raise bigger crops, in less time and at a lower cost the Hart-Parr way. Don't put off getting that Hart-Parr tractor you have always wanted—get it this year. Come in and look over the 1926 line and ask us for a demonstration.

ly that she had sold an 80 acre farm just south of Pampa for $100 per acre. If that be any indication as to the value of land generally, the price must have advanced considerably since I came away from there less than five years ago, for I then sold 80 acres adjoining the townsite on the south for $60.00 per acre.

I have been interested in the case of Jack Silva who had one of the most remarkable escapes from death recently that I ever heard of. It seems to me that it could have been nothing short of miraculous. He fell ten stories from the top of the Commercial Club building on which he was at work, to the earth beneath and is alive today and rapidly recovering from the shock and the bruise he received from the fall. Looking from the ground to the top of this great building it does seem impossible that anyone could survive such a fall.

Two new churches will be going up soon in our part of the city. One a Methodist church, about four blocks to the west and the other a Presbyterian church about the same distance to the north. Work has begun on the former and will begin soon on the later. Each is planned to cost $60,000. Work will start soon on the new grammar school building near the new Methodist church. It will cost $200,000. When we came here less than five years ago our location was in the country, but one could hardly believe it now.

We failed to get our copy of the News this week and we miss it greatly. Mrs. Vicars has about 145 young chickens, some of them about large enough to fry, and I have a garden in the back yard that is wonderful to look upon. The peas are in the pod, we've had several meses—the beans are climbing the poles—the spinach has been flourishing since early spring. The Irish potato tops are waist high and so close together you can't begin to see the ground. My neighbors tell me that I will get no spuds that I planted them in the wrong time of the moon. I should have planted them in the dark of the moon, not in the light of it, and when the sign was in the feet, not in the head.

At any rate, Mr. Editor, pay us a visit this summer and we will show you a great time.

San Jose and Santa Clara folk are looking forward with a great deal of interest to the coming of La Fiesta de los Rosas. Almost every male citizen who is capable of sprouting a beard is letting his burnsides grow in honor of the occasion, and they are all trying to elect a queen to preside, who in addition to presiding will be given a presiding, will be given a trip with all expenses paid to the Hawaiian Island or to the Philadelphia Sesqui-centennial exposition, as she may elect. The Mayor of Philadelphia has already wired that a genuine welcome awaits the queen should she make that city the objective of her tour. I am glad that Byrd, the American beat Amundsen, the Norwegian over the North Pole.

can independence. It is the loftiest statue in the world. It represents a woman holding high a flaming torch. We gave to the world these principles and ideals of "Faith", "Morality", "Law", "Education", and "Freedom", and today we are recognized as a great nation.

Upon the ninth anniversary of the entry of America into the World War our daily press carried accounts of secret aggressive preparation for another war, which is predicted to be not far distant. The greater part of the world has continued to give distrust, discord, jealousy, envy, hatred and revenge, and all of these are the life-giving germs of war." He urged his hearers that "it is well to think of the community in which you live, and of the nation of which your community is a part; but it is better to think of the world."

His closing words were these: "I am sincere in saying to you that I will always be interested in you and your work when you shall have found your rightful place in life, and in years to come, I trust, our paths will meet again and we shall talk over together these thoughts I have tried to give to you in these assembly talks, and as you go "out in school life, into Life's school". "Give and it shall be given unto you; good measure, pressed down, shaken together, running over, shall they give into your bosom. For with what measure ye mete it shall be measured to you again."

The march was again played, and the graduates left the auditorium in reverse order in which they entered. Superintendent Campbell then thanked all present for their interest in the school and their co-operation to make it one of the best High Schools in the state, after which the audience stood, and was dismissed with the benediction by Rev. CIVIL WAR STORIES

These are true Civil War stories which were written by members of the American History class in the Pampa High School. The stories were told to the pupils by Confederate Veterans or by descendants of Confederate Veterans.

LOVE IS BLIND

Author—Susie Mae Meador

It is wonderful to hear stories told by your grandparents who are survivors of the Civil War days. The scene of the Civil War days. The later days of the Civil War.

One of my great uncles was a spy for the Confederates, as the sympathy of his parents was for the South.

The home of this uncle was watched very closely by the Federals, because on his trips to headquarters he would sometimes stop at his home. While stopping at his home on this certain occasion the Federals heard of his being there, so they decided to surround and search the house.

My uncle, at a glance realized his fate, if he were discovered. As he was small in size and trimly built, he decided to disguise himself. He swiftly crept up to his sister's room.

The general loudly ordered the soldiers to search every nook and corner of the house. He himself would search upstairs. Just as he reached the top of the stairs he found, not a rebel spy, but a very enchanting young lady dressed in the latest fashion of the 60's, wide hoop skirt of the loveliest pink, tight fitting basque waist, trimmed in old cream colored Spanish lace. Long powdered curls hung over her shoulders and from under her bonnet peeped more little curls, and puffs which looked like they might have been brown underneath the powder.

Her frightened wide open blue eyes, when she saw the general, only made her the more beautiful. She quickly slipped by him and went down stairs calling "Mother, Mother, what is the matter?" His first impulse was to follow her but his duty must first be done.

After the search had been completed the captain came down stairs and began talking to the members of the family in a friendly way, and especially to "Miss Elizabeth."

That night an old fashioned dance was given, as was demanded by the Federals. The captain's heart was completely won by "Miss Elizabeth."

He parted with the promise that when all the trouble between the North and South was over that he would return to take "Miss Elizabeth" for his bride.

The next day after the Federals had left, my uncle went on his way taking the messages the Southern leaders were awaiting.

After all the years of war and strife had ceased the Northern Captain came back to this Mississippi plantation to claim his bride. To his horror and surprise he found that "Miss Elizabeth" was the hated and hunted spy. Ah! The blindness of love had saved uncle's life, but to the humiliation of the Northern Captain.

AN EPISODE—AS TOLD BY A CONFEDERATE

By Bonnie Carr

It was the latter part of 1865; the war was nearing the close. A party of ten men drew reasonably near to a farm house. The sun was about to sink behind a nearby mountain, and was casting weird shadows on the little valley. The sky was a perfect riot of colors resembling a large canvas on which an artist had spilled every known color. The men were altogether too hungry to really enjoy and appreciate the glorious sunset; and were looking with eager eyes toward the house. The men wore the beautiful gray suits of the more beautiful Southland.

The house was a Yankee's and a large number of guests were present in order to partake of a feast given by the hostess. This house was just on the border, but its inmates were in sympathy with the North. The lieutenant ordered his men to come closer. His plan was for four of the men to attire themselves in Yankee apparel which they had confiscated the day before; and enter the house as Northern spies. As he talked his eyes rested on a lad about eighteen summers—a weary looking lad who had just been through a severe case of fever.

"Crawford", he said, "I want you to be one of the four, I know its a bit risky, but you can do it." Always ready for excitement the lad came nearer, anxiously waiting for his orders.

"You four men, go to the house and enter hurriedly as if you were being chased; and remember that you are Yanks. We will come a little later and pretend we are chasing you, besides getting an idea as to how 'the land lays' we will all get a good supper."

The change was quickly made and the four boys started to the house. They ran as though highly excited—they burst unceremoniously into the reception hall calling for some kind friend to save them. Two dignified old maids appeared in the door way. The boys explained the "situation" to them and naturally the ladies immediately desired to help them because the Rebels were after them. One of the boys crawled under a bed and the other three were standing in the dining room when the Rebels rushed into the house.

"Where are those four Yanks? We saw them enter this house just a moment ago."

"Oh, sir, we have seen no one I am sure."

"We'll have those men. We'll have to search I suppose." The six Rebels went into the dining room much against the ladies' wishes.

"Ah—here are three of them, now where is the other one?"

"There were only three of them, sir."

"Why, lady, you just said there were none, now you say there were three. We'll look farther." So saying they entered the next room and saw a booted foot protruding from under a bed. They pulled the victim from under his hiding place and roughly stood him on his feet.

"Who is this, Madam?"

"Oh, that is my baby brother!" and the old maid threw her arms about the astonished boy, weeping all the while.

"I am sorry, but these men will all four have to be shot at sunrise."

"The Rebels took their 'prisoners' in the dining room and the lieutenant said, "These men will be killed on the morrow, you surely will not object to their eating one more good meal, will you?"

"Certainly they shall eat", the old ladies eagerly replied.

"We'll eat of the same food so as not to be poisoned, but we'll wait until these prisoners finish."

The "guards" took their places behind each of the prisoners and impatiently waited until they had finished. Then three of the men guarded the "Yankees" while the others ate of the delicious food. Finally they had all eaten and the entire group noisily departed feeling extremely happy with their hunger satisfied. The ladies insisted until the very last that one of the boys was their brother, and that was a standing joke with the group for several days.

This is a true Civil War story told to me by J. T. Crawford Sr., who was the eighteen year old boy in the story. This really happened and as you can readily see the story-teller was a true blue Confederate.

FARRINGTON FILES

"Words that great hearts once broke for, we breathe cheaply on the common air."

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Spearman and Jack Spearman were in Pampa Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Roby of Amarillo visited Mr. J. C. Farrington last week.

Mr. Will Benton left Saturday for Alabama.

Mr. Jess Goad has been planting feed stuff this week.

Miss Venice Turcotte was on the sick list but is much improved.

Roy Huff and Purvis Meador have contracted for new Case combines.

A. Converse and little daughter, June, are suffering from tonsillitis.

Mr. James Jackson was in Miami Friday.

Mr. J. C. Farrington has been planting corn.

The Farrington school house was full to overflowing Saturday night when another program and a successful supper went down as history of the community.

Mr. Lacy Goad was in Pampa Saturday.

The Farrington school will close Saturday, May 22nd.

The Farmington community gave a very successful program and pie supper Saturday evening.

The first number on the program was a short play "Gas" given by local talent. This number was very carefully planned and presented in such a way as to indicate that the members of the cast had given much careful thought and study to their parts.

The cast included Mrs. Earl Lewis, Mr. L. L. Goad, Miss Rose Truett (who also directed the play), Mr. Jack Spearman, Mr. James Lewis, and Mr. James Jackson.

The next number was a pageant entitled "Spring Morning", presented by the pupils of the Farmington school and directed by the faculty.

The children who took part were Miss Helen Converse, Miss Margaret Stockstill, Miss Lucille White, Miss June Converse and Mr. Clifford Lewis.

Mr. Converse as Professor Peters presented a short farce and turned the proceeding over to Mr. Clarence Bowers. Mr. Bowers was the really great success of the evening. As pie expert and auctioneer he was undoubtedly the most popular man to appear on the stage. Due to his efforts (and the undoubted quality of the pies) this feature of the entertainment brought in fifty-four dollars and fifty cents.

The program was well attended by both local and outside people. Among the visitors were Mr. and Mrs. John Roby of Amarillo; Sheriff Graves, Mr. Houston, Mr. Zimmerman, Auda and Ira Johnson and the Fletchers from Pampa; Mrs. Jones and daughter, Florence of the Laketon community and many whose names we neglected to secure.

Dr. W. Purviance left Sunday for Kansas City where he will spend the week taking a special course in the treatment of Hay Fever.
