Winter home heating costs could be hefty

Natural gas prices keep rising

By KATE B. DICKSON
Associate Publisher

When winter comes lots of folks are going to be in for a big surprise and not a nice one at that.

Natural gas prices are going through the roof and are expected to climb even higher once the cold weather heating season gets here. Bills two, even three times higher than last year could be the result. That was the word Tuesday from Energas representatives as well as City Manager Bob Eskridge during a City Commission work session at City Hall.

"I'm afraid people aren't going to understand," Eskridge said, adding, "They will just know that their bill is high."

What the city manager was referring to is that Energas rates and the actual cost of the gas are two separate things. The Energas rates are primarily a service and delivery charge while the cost of natural gas is a pass through to the customer — whatever the cost happens to be.

During the last heating season, gas cost in the $2-range per mcf. Now, it's climbed to more than $4 and could go over the $6 mark this winter, according to statements made during the meeting.

Meanwhile, the commission voted 3-2 to accept a rate hike settlement offer that Energas representative Bill Guy said will up the average (See HEATING, Page 2)

Pampa firm launching cyberspace virtual mall

By DEE DEE LARAMORE
Staff Writer

The picture wasn't as good as what I would see in a magazine," he recalled. He remembered thinking, "I can't see what I'm getting here." "I was really frustrated. I didn't buy it," he said.

If James Bradley's dreams become a reality, Pampa will be the launching pad for a cyberspace concept that could revolutionize shopping worldwide. And it all started with a computer game and a fishing rod.

About 18 months ago, Bradley was playing a computer game his kids had given him when a friend called and asked him to go fishing. He decided he wanted a new fishing rod, so he looked up a fishing supply website on the Internet.

"There was the rod I wanted, but I couldn't get a good look at it.

This is the entrance to 3d2u.com portal mall, a three-dimensional shopping experience and brainchild of Pampam James Bradley.

Team pledges safe operation at Pantex

AMARILLO (AP) — A three-company management team is pledging to provide a safe work environment as it prepares to take over the Pantex plant, a federal facility near here equipped to assemble and dismantle nuclear weapons.

"The members of our team are looking forward to becoming a part of the Amarillo community that has consistently supported the Pantex mission and its critical role in national security," said Denny Ruddy, president of a team that includes BWX Technologies Inc., Honeywell Inc. and Bechtel National Inc.

"We intend to deliver a safe work environment that provides manufacturing leadership to the weapons complex," he said Tuesday, in a news release.

The U.S. Department of Energy has awarded BWXT Services Inc. a five-year contract to run the Pantex nuclear plant, ousting Mason & Hanger Corp., which has managed the $300-million-a-year operation for more than 40 years.

age residential service charge by about $1.12 a month. This increase, effective Oct. 1, does not include the cost of gas.

Voting for the settlement were Mayor Robert Neslage, Commissioner Jeff Andrews and Commissioner Faustina Curry. Casting no votes were Commissioners Bob Dixon and Jeff McCormick.

Under the settlement agreement, Pampa is guaranteed no service charge increase for three years. The settlement also allows the city to opt out of that agreement in favor of whatever rate is ultimately set in the next few months by the Railroad Commission. However, the three-year moratorium on increases would not apply and costs incurred in the rate case would be passed on to consumers. The RRC is hearing the case because some area cities, including Lubbock, are balking at the settlement because their consultants say Energas should drop rates $7 million.

The settlement includes a $3 million overall rate hike which is less than the $11 million originally sought.

Regarding the increased cost of natural gas, Guy noted that Panhandle winters the last couple of years have been as much as 25 percent warmer than normal.

That means, he said, if this winter's weather is even normal, much less colder than normal, the increased gas cost could have heating bills doubling or tripling.

Little League Dad Cries Foul For Comment From the Stands

DEAR ABBY: I recently took my father to my 11-year-old son's Little League game. While my son's team was at bat, a ball was hit up the first base line. The first baseman made a gallant attempt to catch the ball, but missed and it went into the outfield.

The right fielder stopped the runner at second base, and my father shouted to the first baseman, "You should have made that play!"

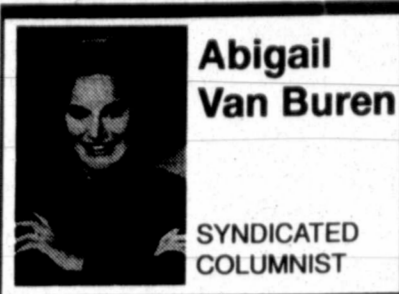

Concerned that he would hurt the boy's feelings, I told Dad he shouldn't shout at the boy. My father then became angry with me and said the boy needs to know that he "screwed up" so he would "learn from his mistakes."

My father's loud lecture embarrassed me. I told him after he calmed down that I would be sitting in the bleachers. A few minutes later, I looked for him and saw that he was walking home. I had driven him to the game. We have not spoken since.

I feel it is the coach's responsibility to instruct the players. Parents who attend should be supportive, not negative. Was I wrong to defend the boy and "insult" my father?

FRUSTRATED
LITTLE LEAGUE DAD

DEAR FRUSTRATED: The job of parents and grandparents at children's sporting events is to cheer them on. Your father's remarks were not helpful. They were hurtful to the first baseman's self-esteem. The boy couldn't help but know that he goofed.

Abigail Van Buren

Call your father and point out to him that he didn't like being corrected in public — he got angry and walked home — so why would he think a young first baseman would appreciate being yelled at by a stranger? Perhaps that will help him view his actions in a different light. If it doesn't, buy him some peanuts and Cracker Jack — and leave him home.

DEAR ABBY: It's rare nowadays to find nice people willing to help a complete stranger. That's why I want to share this with you:

I live in Cheyenne, Wyo. I was seven months pregnant and was driving alone to Thermopolis, five hours away.

Three hours into my trip, I found myself in a major snowstorm. I couldn't go on and I couldn't turn back, so I left the interstate the first chance I got. The nearest town had only one gas station, one motel and two restaurants. Neither of the restaurants accepted credit cards, and all the rooms at the motel were already booked. I waited with other stranded motorists for the weather to clear. Unfortunately, it just got worse. The highway patrol eventually closed all the roads.

A wonderful couple checked into their room and invited me to share it with them. Then they bought me dinner. They refused to accept anything from me except my profuse thanks.

I never expected to meet people willing to put themselves out for someone they didn't even know. In this age of distrust, it's reassuring to know that there are still wonderful people out there.

VALERIE GIBSON

DEAR VALERIE: Thank you for sharing your experience. As more and more people have written to me relating random acts of kindness, it is clearly apparent that generosity of spirit is alive and well in our country.

Good advice for everyone — teens to seniors — is in "The Anger in All of Us and How to Deal With It." To order, send a business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Anger Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, IL 61054-0447. (Postage is included.)

No give-up in Rangers despite losing 'Pudge'

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — The Texas Rangers haven't given up despite losing catcher Ivan Rodriguez to a season-ending thumb injury.

Pinch-runner Scarborough Green hustled across the plate with the go-ahead run in the eighth inning on an outfield overthrow and Cabe Kapler had a two-run triple later in the inning as the Rangers beat the Anaheim Angels 9-6 on Tuesday night.

"With Pudge out, the natural tendency is to slack off," Rangers manager Johnny Oates said. "So my focus right now is to make sure we're playing hard. When you play hard, good things will happen. We've won games before without Pudge, but we're going to miss him, no doubt about it."

Rodriguez underwent surgery Tuesday to repair three fractures at the base of his right thumb, which was injured Monday night. Before Tuesday night's games, Oates spoke to several team leaders on the importance of remaining focused over the final two-plus months of the season.

"His injury has a huge impact on this club," said Rangers closer John Wetteland, who pitched the ninth for his 26th save after wasting a three-run, ninth-inning lead on Monday night.

In the eighth, David Segui singled with one out off Mike Holtz (0-2) and Green came in to run. Green raced to third on Bill Haselman's single off Mark Petkovsek, and when left fielder Darin Erstad's throw to third eluded Troy Glaus, Green scored to snap a 6-6 tie.

Haselman went to third on Erstad's error, and Kapler drove in two runs with a triple.

Pampa routs Plano in Sectional tournament

GRAHAM — Pampa All-Stars beat Plano 37-13 in an 11-12 girls Sectional softball tournament last weekend.

Nicole Clark pitched the first inning, facing nine batters while striking out two while allowing one hit and four runs.

In the bottom of the first, Pampa sent 17 batters to the plate scoring 12 runs.

In the top of the second, Pampa scored three runs to bring the score to 12-5.

Jackie Gerber came in to pitch in the top of the third for Pampa. She faced four batters and struck out one while not allowing a run.

In the bottom of the third, Pampa sent 27 batters to the plate scoring 22 runs and making the score 37-5.

Cassy Tice came in to pitch in the fourth inning with Maggie Hopkins coming in to relieve Tice to complete the game.

Plano scored eight runs in the fourth to make the final score 37-13. The game was called after the fourth inning due to the 10-run rule.

Contributing key hits in the game were Jackie Gerber, Nicole Clark, Cassy Tice, Amy Youree and Callie Cobb. The decisive blow was delivered by Cassy Tice, who hit a grand slam home run over the left field fence in the bottom of the third inning.

Outstanding defensive plays were made by Britteni Rice and Autumn Darden.

The sectional tournament also includes teams from Big Bend, Graham, White Settlement and Whiteface.

Anderson: from soldier to runner

By The Associated Press

Mike Anderson carried a rifle before he started cradling a football, and survived boot camp long before he ever thought of attending an NFL training camp.

Three years after creating the "Mile High Salute," the Denver Broncos have found a true-to-life soldier.

Anderson, Denver's sixth-round draft pick in April, spent four years as a communications specialist in the U.S. Marine Corps after graduating from Fairfield (S.C.) Central High School.

Football was never a consideration when Anderson was a lanky teen-ager. He played drums in the school marching band before deciding to join the Marines.

"When I got out of high school, I was just looking for something to do," Anderson said during a break at Denver's training camp. "I kind of wanted to get away from where I grew up, and I also wanted to earn money for college. I saw it as a good opportunity and it was a challenge."

Six weeks of two-a-day practice sessions pale in comparison to rigors of the 13-week boot camp in Parris Island, S.C., where Anderson began to acquire the traits he still takes onto the football field.

"As a Marine, you've got the attitude that you're willing to lay down and die for the man beside you," he said. "That's your brother. When you come out on the football field, as a team you want to achieve the ultimate goal, the Super Bowl. You can't let the next man down."

After Parris Island, Anderson was assigned to Camp Pendleton, north of San Diego, and fulfilled his physical training requirements by playing flag football.

Word of his running ability led to a visit from a Camp Pendleton football coach, who gave Anderson an order that would change his life.

"A couple buddies of mine in the unit played on the base team that we had," Anderson said. "They had the coach come to me and demand me to come out. I went out and started playing after that."

Hooked on football, Anderson traded his military stripes for a chance to play tailback at Mount San Jacinto College. The junior college stint led to an impressive two-year Division I career at Utah.

Anderson set a school record by average 102.4 yards per game for his career.

NBA players to lose 10 percent of paychecks

PARADISE ISLAND, Bahamas (AP) — NBA players will begin giving back in the 2001-02 season.

From the highest-paid superstars to the lowest-paid rookie, the players will lose 10 percent of their paychecks. And the money will be going back to the league.

"I think players are going to be really upset when they learn about it," said Orlando's Pat Garrity, who was elected Tuesday as the union's secretary-treasurer. "Ten percent is a pretty big chunk."

Known as the escrow tax, the 10 percent giveback was agreed to by the players during negotiations to end the 1998-99 lockout.

The tax would be triggered only if players received more than 55 percent of basketball-related income. But projections show the players will receive 64 percent of such income in the upcoming season.

Collectively, the players will be returning more than $150 million to the owners in 2001-02. The tax will stay in effect for the 2002-03 and 2003-04 seasons under current basketball-income projections, meaning the players will fork over close to a half-billion dollars by the time the six-year collective bargaining agreement expires.

Players received $1.38 billion in salaries and benefits during the 1999-00 season, and the median salary rose 19 percent to $2 million.

The median salary is up 40 percent in the two years since the lockout, and 76 percent of the players are earning $1 million or more, union officials said.

Seven players, including Garrity, were elected to the union's executive committee Tuesday.

Alonzo Mourning of Miami, Sam Mitchell of Minnesota, Ray Allen of Milwaukee, Jerome Williams of Detroit, Theo Ratliff of Philadelphia and Antonio Davis of Toronto replace Tyrone Corbin of Sacramento, Juwan Howard of Washington, Dikembe Mutombo of Atlanta, Mitch Richmond of Washington, Mark West of Phoenix and retired Herb Williams.

"Great guys to work with," said union president Patrick Ewing, who has one year left of his term.

Ellis trying to get back to full strength for Cowboys

WICHITA FALLS, Texas (AP) — Without any apparent physical problems, Greg Ellis goes through all of his drills. He runs, plants hard and pushes off the left leg he broke in two places late last season.

The only thing that really bothers Ellis is that his Dallas Cowboys teammates are having a scrimmage and doing other contact work while he labors on an adjacent field.

"It's real frustrating. I want to get some practice time in," Ellis said Tuesday, working out again with a trainer. "We go at it pretty hard, but they won't let me have any contact yet. Other than that it's full-go."

Ellis is still trying to get back to full strength after breaking his left fibula and tibia in the first quarter against Philadelphia last Dec. 12. He missed the last three regular season games, but still led the team with 7 1/2 quarterback sacks.

There is no definite timetable for when Ellis will resume contact and be ready to play. He definitely won't play in the first two exhibition games, Sunday against Pittsburgh and Aug. 5 against Atlanta in the American Bowl.

"After the Tokyo trip, that's what I want to do. I want to come back and be able to play again. I want to give it a try," Ellis said. "But you've got to be smart. I realize what the trainers and coaches are doing by not letting me go."

Cowboys coach Dave Campo would only say Tuesday that Ellis was "very close."

Like Ellis, Campo is eager to see how the North Carolina connection at defensive end is going to work for the Cowboys.

Tar Heel defensive ends were the No. 1 picks for the Cowboys in two straight NFL drafts. The Cowboys took Ellis eighth overall in 1998 and got Ebenezer Ekuban with the 20th overall pick in 1999.

When Ellis broke his leg, Ekuban moved from his backup role behind Kavika Pittman at right end and took over the starting role at left defensive end. Now that Pittman has gone to Denver as a free agent, Ekuban is staying on the left side and Ellis is being moved to the right in hopes of better utilizing his pass-rushing skills.

"Greg is an accomplished pass rusher in the league. We've got him on the right side, the blind side for most of the quarterbacks," Campo said. "That puts Ebenezer on the right tackle, historically not the best pass protector of the two tackles. With his speed and putting on 90 pounds of strength, I would think that he would have an excellent chance to have a good year."

Now that football is his full-time job, Ekuban has a sole focus on football. And that is evident in his second Cowboys training camp in that he is stronger and visibly bigger.

During off-season workouts, Ekuban improved his bench press from 410 to 500 pounds. In the process, the 6-foot-3 end also increased his body weight to 280 pounds, 15 extra pounds of bulk evident in his thicker neck and wider chest.

"I just wanted to improve as a total football player," Ekuban said. "Lifting weights all year, your body naturally is going to get bigger. It wasn't my thought process to get bigger or stronger, it just happened."

Notes: This is the first Dallas training camp since 1989 without Daryl Johnston as a player, but the former fullback was in Wichita Falls on Tuesday. He was preparing for his new job doing Cowboys football on television and radio. ... DL Dimitrius Underwood took part in some drills Tuesday after missing time with a bruised foot, but TE David LaFleur was held out of both workouts because of nagging sore groin muscles.

Comets quiet Storm, 79-53

HOUSTON (AP) — After a 2-2 road trip knocked the Houston Comets out of first place, some officials including coach Van Chancellor started talking like the three-time WNBA champion's dynasty was over.

Chancellor and others can stop questioning Houston's team play and ability to keep a lead after the Comets' 79-53 victory over the expansion Seattle Storm (4-20) Tuesday night.

The win puts Houston (22-4) a half-game behind the Los Angeles Sparks for their game Saturday.

"I still think we're going to be a good basketball team," Chancellor said. "I was pleased we bounced back. I think every team goes through a spot that they need to refocus."

The Comets answered Chancellor's challenge for tougher play.

Sheryl Swoopes scored 19 points despite sitting out seven minutes nursing a sprained right index finger.

But Cynthia Cooper, who announced plans to retire at the end of this season and has seen a reduced role on the team, picked and rolled her way to a season-high 28 points. Cooper finished the game going 9-of-14 from the field, including 4-of-5 on 3-pointers.

drove into the lane 6:17 into the game for her first shot, made the basket and a free throw for a 12-11 Comets' lead.

Cooper added a layup and three 3-pointers for a 23-16 lead with 9:20 left in the half.

Cooper finished the half going 5-of-6 from the field, including 3-for-3 on 3-pointers, with 18 points.

"I wanted to come out and play hard," Cooper said. "Play tough. Get it done on defense, let it come to me on offense." Cooper also had five assists and four steals.

Tina Thompson was the other Houston player in double figures, with 11 points and a team-high six rebounds.

The Storm kept the game close for most of the first half, but Houston used an 8-0 run to help build a 13-point lead at the break.

Seattle had trouble with 16, only pulled down two offensive rebounds, and shot 38.6 percent from the field. The Storm never got closer than 11 points in the second half.

WTA&M names July service award-winner

CANYON — Meri Lyn Odell, director of police administration at West Texas A&M University, pretty much stays on call, but it's not entirely due to the fact that she also happens to be victims assistance coordinator for the University Police Department (UPD).

Odell is always ready to help people in need. She has often used her specialized training and people skills while working as a volunteer with Family Support Services in Amarillo, where at various times she has been on call to help victims of sexual crimes and domestic violence — sometimes in the middle of the night — as they attempt to cope during difficult times.

For sharing her talents and spreading hope beyond the bounds of the university, Odell has been named the July recipient of the WTAMU President's Community Service Award.

"She (Odell) has the compassion that people need in order to restore their faith when they've been victimized," UPD Sgt. Shawn Burns wrote in nominating Odell for the award.

Seeing to the day-to-day operations of the LYPD, responding to whatever emergencies arise on campus or elsewhere in the community and caring for her two children, Kelsey and Derek, gives Odell a pretty full plate. But it's not too full to keep her away when Family Support Services calls to inform her that a victim of domestic violence needs an advocate-someone to sit beside during a courtroom hearing.

"Victims, when they might not have any family present, can feel all alone in a courtroom," Odell said. "It helps them when they can show the judge or the jury that they have support."

And Odell always finds time to attend the University Church of Christ, where she and her husband, Barry, have served as Huddle leaders for about nine years. Huddle is a weekly gathering of high-school-age teens who look to the Odells for guidance and friendship.

"We want kids in Huddle to develop a relationship with an adult besides their parents on a one-on-one basis so that they will have someone they can go to when a crisis arises in their lives," Odell said. "Sometimes kids are afraid to tell their parents that something is wrong. We want them to see us as a family and to help them make better choices than they might make if they share their problems with their 15- or 16-year-old peers. We really enjoy working with youth groups, and it's been great to get wedding invitations or graduation announcements over the years from former members of our group."

Odell participates in a number of on-campus activities such as committees for the Homecoming parade and the Christmas party, and she has served on Staff Council. In 1998, she received her bachelor's degree while already working full-time at WT.

The President's Community Service Award was established by University President Russell C. Long to recognize the good-faith community efforts of WT students, faculty and staff; offices and departments/divisions; and chartered/registered student organizations.

To obtain a nomination form or for more information, contact the Office of Communication Services at (806) 651-2121.

Hollywood comes to Corpus Christi

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — Crews are turning a World War II aircraft carrier and floating museum into a Japanese ship's deck for recreating the infamous invasion of Pearl Harbor. Alec Baldwin, Ben Affleck and Josh Hartnett are among actors scheduled to arrive Wednesday night in the coastal Texas city. Filming was scheduled to begin Thursday aboard the Lexington Museum on the Bay under tight security, the Corpus Christi Caller-Times Web site reported Wednesday.

City Council members on Tuesday unanimously passed the ship's request to close the boulevard running in front of the Lexington as well as several adjacent streets leading to the ship until filming wraps up next week.

Michael Bay, director of "Pearl Harbor," and his filming crew are coming from the Houston area and filming aboard the Battleship Texas.

Filming is set to run through Aug. 4.

A local Vietnamese-American cast to play a Japanese extra in the movie said he doesn't even have details on the movie. Hung Cao has just been told to show up for several 16-hour days of work aboard the Lex. He isn't allowed to take his uniform home.

PUC strengthening phone competition review measures

AUSTIN — Local telephone markets in Texas will remain competitively open under the close scrutiny of revised performance measures approved recently by the Public Utility Commission.

For competing phone companies to service Texas customers previously served by Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., the competitor must work closely behind the scenes with SWBT to assure the customer's phone service is smoothly transferred between providers.

This "back office" cooperation requires many specific actions be completed successfully by both SWBT and the new provider. To verify this, the PUC has established a set of ongoing requirements and performance benchmarks called "performance measures" to monitor and evaluate the effectiveness of SWBT's ongoing performance.

Every six months the PUC will review the performance measures agreed to by SWBT and its competitors. During each review, the PUC will determine if any changes are needed in the performance measures. The latest review resulted in the elimination of 29 performance measures while adding another 20, mainly related to digital subscriber line service.

As an incentive to competition, SWBT is required to pay penalties if it is deficient in achieving its performance measures. Since the beginning of the year, the monthly amount paid by SWBT has been dropping substantially, reflecting continuing improvements in SWBT's performance. For example, in January SWBT paid $472,600 to the Texas comptroller. By May, the amount fell to $102,000. This improvement shows barriers to competition in local phone markets in Texas continue to fall.

Device May Increase Gas Mileage

BOSTON - National Fuelsaver Corp. of Boston has developed a low cost automotive accessory called the Platinum Gas Saver which is guaranteed to increase gas mileage while meeting all emission standards.

With a simple connection to a vacuum line, the Gasaver adds microscopic quantities of platinum to the air-fuel mixture entering the engine.

Platinum has the unique ability to make non-burning fuel burn. With platinum in the flame zone, you increase the percentage of fuel burning in the engine from 68% of each gallon to 90%.

Since unburnt fuel is pollution, this 22% of each gallon would normally burn when it reaches the platinum of the catalytic converter.

Unfortunately, the converter's platinum burns this fuel outside of the engine, where the heat and energy produced from burning this fuel cannot be harnessed to drive your vehicle.

But when the Gasaver adds platinum to engine combustion, 22% more of each gallon burns inside the engine so that, in theory, 22% fewer gallons are required to drive the same distance.

After studying this process for five years, the government concluded: "Independent testing shows greater fuel savings with the Platinum Gas Saver than that claimed by the developer."

In addition to this study, the Gas Saver has received patents for cleaning out carbon and raising octane, making premium fuel unnecessary for most vehicles.

Joel Robinson, the developer, commented: "We have sold over 400,000 Gas Savers. To our surprise, as many people buy the Gas Saver because it extends engine life (by cleaning out the abrasive carbon deposits) as buy it to increase gas mileage or raise octane."
