Local Pastor To Be Honored With Degree

Rev. R. E. Day To Receive D. D. From Howard Payne College Today

Rev. R. E. Day, pastor of the First Baptist church and dean of local ministers, will have a D. D. degree conferred upon him this morning by Howard Payne college in Brownwood.

REV. R. E. DAY

Since November, 1936, Rev. Day has been pastor of the First Baptist church, coming here from the First Baptist pastorate at Bryan, Texas. He has also held pastorates at Conroe and Uvalde.

A native of East Texas, Rev. Day was graduated from Rusk college and from the Southwestern Theological seminary at Fort Worth. For several years he did evangelistic work.

Among Texas Baptists he is recognized as a leader, having served two years ago as first vice-president of the general convention and chairman of the important finance committee. Last year he was a member of the convention executive committee.

His close acquaintance with Baptist leadership enabled him to bring such personages as Dr. George W. Truett, Dallas, Dr. J. Howard Williams, Amarillo, the late Dr. G. L. Yates of Amarillo, Dr. Roy Angel, formerly of San Antonio, and Dr. William R. White, leader in Southern Baptist work, here for meetings.

Stalin Pushes War Program

New Agency Appointed To Speed Military Preparations

MOSCOW, Nov. 26. (AP)—The usually taciturn Joseph Stalin today approved a new and separate military industry commissariat, which had informed observers to believe he wished to accelerate Russian armament in preparation for war.

The idea was the only one accepted of the 109,000 suggestions offered for the new constitution which Stalin formally presented for ratification by the eighth all-union congress of Soviets.

The new ministry, Stalin said, would be evolved from the heavy industry commissariats which have been in charge of armaments.

"I think it is necessary to organize such a commissariat," he said. The major part of Stalin's speech, as secretary-general of the communist party, was devoted to an attack on fascism and assurance that the communist party would continue to be the only party in Russia.

THESE BOYS IN STEER UNIFORMS FOR LAST TIME TODAY

Twelve members of the Steer squad of 1936 will be appearing in uniform under Coach George Brown's direction for the last time today, in the Turkey Day tilt with Sweetwater, since all are seniors this year. Not all of them are regulars, but all probably will see some service in the game. They are: top row, left to right: Leroy Wood, Woodrow Harris, Louis Madison, Charles Lockhart; second row, left to right: Nelson Henninger, Robert Hildreth, Jack Wilson, Bruce Phillips; bottom row, left to right: Arthur Kasch, H. C. Burrus, Cliff Trainer, Ray McCullough.

Hotly Fought Grid Match Is In Prospect

Elevens Evenly Matched; Game Dedicated To Parents Of Players

Out at Steer stadium this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, the Sweetwater Mustangs and Big Spring Steers will meet in their traditional Thanksgiving Day football game. Neither team has figured in first division Oil Belt play this season, but the clubs are closely matched and the game promises to be one of the most bitterly fought battles of the current schoolboy campaign.

It will close the season for both elevens and for twelve Longhorn players and nine Mustangs. The game has been dedicated to the parents of the players.

Air Attacks Polished

Both elevens have been fairly successful via the air route and the passing attack has been polished and groomed carefully for this game.

Starting in the Big Spring secondary will be Madison, Wood, Williams and Bigony. In there is a good passing combination, and coaches have not hesitated in stating that it will be a wide open game.

Although crippled in the bruising Abilene battle last Friday afternoon, the Steers are not seriously handicapped and Head Coach George Brown has pronounced his boys in good mental condition. They wound up practice yesterday morning, touching up on passes and making a study of the Sweetwater offense and defense.

Smith Injured

Brown said he would probably start H. C. Burrus at a wing position in place of Chock Smith, who is on the injury list, and big Cliff Trainer may go in at tackle in place of Woodrow Harris, another cripple. Harris has played consistently good ball all season and is one of the toughest men in the forward wall, also one of the heaviest.

Stokey Louis Madison, who dealt the Abileneans plenty of misery, has been slowed down as a result of the Eagle game. That seems to be the most serious injury, inasmuch as Madison has been one of the chief ground gainers this season.

Wilson, Hildreth, Madison, Harris and Henninger are all lettermen, with Wilson, Madison and Harris having earned two letters.

Edgar Hennig, coach of the Mustangs, was anything but optimistic last night as he discussed his team. It seems that the Sweetwater lads were cuffed around considerably at Breckenridge, and Hennig stated that both of his regular ends were injured to such an extent that they might not even suit out for the game. Mayfield and Voss are crippled, and Hennig said they would be replaced by May and Walker.

Game time is 2:30.

TEXAS WOMAN FOUND GUILTY OF MURDER

FORT WORTH, Nov. 26. (AP)—A jury found Mrs. Birdie Wilkins, 33-year-old widow, guilty of the rail crossing death of her husband, Arthur Lee Wilkins, late yesterday afternoon.

Her punishment was set at 23 years.

She was charged with Luther Edgar Sumrall, 27, named by the state as the man who drove Wilkins' car onto the Rock Island railroad tracks last month, causing the husband's death when a train struck the vehicle.

City Planning For Yule Festivities

Uniform Christmas Decorating Is Approved

Uniform and colorful Christmas decorations for the downtown area through cooperative buying met with unanimous approval Wednesday afternoon by members of the chamber of commerce committee in charge of promoting a program of seasonal activities.

V. A. Merrick, D. D. Douglas, Joe Ogden, and Dave Tobolowsky were named as a committee to meet at 8:30 a. m. Friday to formulate plans for marketing decorations to merchants at cost.

Nat Shick will again be in charge of special decorations including the lighted Christmas tree on the courthouse lawn.

On December 1 the city and Texas Electric Service will string red and green lights across street. Other decorations will go up on December 8.

Santa Claus is scheduled to appear here on the evening of December 22, climaxing activities earlier in the afternoon when a school student parade will be held. Distribution of candy to children and a treasure hunt will feature the visit by St. Nick.

The following evening the musical program sponsored by the music club will be presented, probably from the courthouse lawn if weather is fair. Inclement weather would drive it to the municipal auditorium.

Variety Show Will Be Presented By Lions Club Dec. 8

A fast moving program containing a wide variety of entertainment will be presented by the Lions club December 8 under the direction of Douglas Doan, talent scout for radio station KBST.

Doan will serve as master of ceremonies for the affair and will have charge of building the program.

Thirty-six merchants have agreed to sponsor entries in the program, and about half of that number of entertainers have applied for places on the program.

Doan said he would take applications of any performer at his offices in the radio station at the Crawford hotel. Applicants may see or call him there during the day, or contact him at his room in the Crawford hotel.

Tickets for the affair have gone on sale and are in the hands of club members and the high school pep squad.

DELEGATES NAMED TO FARM MEETING

Oleyn Cantrell and J. O. Rosser were elected delegates by the county agricultural committee today to the state meeting in Dallas on Dec. 24.

They were announced as official representatives following a committee meeting Wednesday.

VISIT DETROIT

W. L. Hanshaw and W. O. Queen, proprietors of the Hanshaw Queen Motor company of Big Spring, accompanied by their wives, have been in Detroit for several days touring the Oldsmobile factory. They are expected to return to this city by Saturday afternoon, according to word received from them Wednesday afternoon.

Christmas Seal Sale, To Help In Tuberculosis Fight, Starting Today

Into the mails on this Thanksgiving day are going hundreds of envelope packets, bearing a supply of Tuberculosis Association Christmas seals.

The mailing marks the opening of the association's annual seal sale by which it finances its activities to curb and cure tuberculosis. Accompanying this article is a reproduction of the 1936 seal.

Recipients of the seals are requested by members of the Howard County Tuberculosis association to accept the seal allotment, returning the $1 fixed as their cost to the association. The seal sale is under direction of Mrs. J. C. Douglas.

The sale—30th annual affair put on by the association, has received the endorsement of Governor James V. Alfred who issued a statement saying: "The declining death rate from tuberculosis is ample demonstration that the state and national tuberculosis associations are accomplishing their purposes. Texas has been generous in contributing to the Texas Tuberculosis association by the purchase of Christmas seals each year. The thirtieth such sale in the nation presents a challenge to good citizens everywhere. As your governor, I earnestly hope that the citizens of Texas will contribute to this cause this year."

Have Cause To Be Thankful

U. S. Citizens Have Freedom Not Enjoyed By Others, Club Is Told

Citizens of the United States have much to be thankful for, Dr. D. F. McConnell, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, told the Lions club Wednesday.

Reciting conditions of child and woman servitude in foreign countries, usurpation of rights of free speech and worship in countries under dictators, the speaker pointed to America as a country which enjoyed benefits unknown to other nations.

Service club units, he said, have done much toward conquering the spirit of selfishness in their national and international programs to help the underprivileged. Most of all, he said, Americans should be thankful that they live in a country where there is a higher religion, where they "can try God" after everything else has been tried.

Ira M. Powell, accompanied by Mrs. J. H. Kirkpatrick, sang two numbers for the club.

Douglas Doan, talent scout for radio station KBST and master of musical program on Dec. 8, outlined plans for the affair. Dan Conley announced the concert here Friday evening by Bohumie Kryl and urged club members to attend.

The club was served a venison dinner through the courtesy of Elton Taylor, member; Pascal Buckner and B. J. McDaniel were presented with keys for introducing two new members into Lionism.

CAUBLE SELLS YEAR'S CROP OF HEREFORDS

I. B. Cauble, Howard county breeder of Hereford bulls, said today he had sold all this year's crop of bulls.

He sold 24 head to the L. Moody interests for ranches on the Texas and Mexico sides near Eagle Pass. Mr. Eldor, agent for the interests, was enthusiastic in his praise of the bulls.

Bill Currie bought seven bulls for his ranch in Glasscock county. From year to year, Cauble has found a ready market for his bulls, and

Errors Made On Security Blanks; Read Instructions, Shick Requests

One of every three employers returning social security application blanks to the post office Wednesday were filling them incorrectly, Postmaster Nat Shick declared.

"Shick urged employees to read the small print underneath each line to be filled in before writing anything on the line.

Most common error, he said, was that of married women listing their names incorrectly. Instead of putting their given name, maiden surname, and their married surname, they were listing their two given names and the present last name, he said.

Another common error was that of giving their mother's full maiden name as that of their paternal parent.

He found that 10 of the first 29 blanks returned contained errors. He also warned against erasures. "Before filling out form SS-5 (employee's application for a social security account number), please read carefully the small print under each line," Shick requested. "If you will go by that, there will be no mistakes. Do not make any erasures; if you do, the blanks will have to be returned."

All of the blanks should be returned before December 5, he said.

Thanksgiving Service Held

Reasons Why We Should Be Grateful Listed In Pastor's Message

"Do not take for granted the temporal blessings bestowed upon us by a merciful God," was the exhortation of Rev. Grady Anderson in the Thanksgiving Union services held Wednesday, Thanksgiving Eve, in the First Methodist church.

Taking as his subject, "Reasons For Thanksgiving," Rev. Anderson enumerated them as redemption, divine protection, and physical sustenance.

The Thanksgiving services were conducted by Rev. D. F. McConnell, vice president of the Pastors' Association, who also gave the scriptural reading, quoting the 103rd Psalm.

Invocation was by Rev. H. C. Reddoch while the benediction was pronounced by Rev. C. A. Bickley. G. N. Crosswhite was the song leader and Miss Roberta Gay was the pianist for the services.

The choir and the congregation joined in musical tribute with the hymns, "Praise Him! Praise Him!" "There Shall be Showers of Blessings;" "Count Your Blessings;" "O Sweet To Trust In Jesus;" and "Blessed Assurance."

Trio Injured In Car Crash

Collision between two automobiles on Highway No. 1 fifteen miles east of Big Spring early Wednesday evening resulted in injury to Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Andre, aged Los Angeles couple, and to Miss Gertrude Jones, Lamesa school teacher.

The Andre car, a model T Ford, was en route from near Butler, Pa. to Los Angeles, where the couple reside at 3736 Rowle street. The car occupied by Miss Jones, an Oldsmobile sedan, and carrying R. H. Huddleston, Misses Virginia Sharpe and Jessie Mae Ownby, also school teachers of Lamesa, was en route to Fort Worth, where the party was to attend the state teachers' association meeting.

According to Mr. Andre, the collision occurred when he was attempting to dodge a cow which was straggling on the highway, and the approaching car cut over in an attempt to miss the Andre machine.

Mrs. Andre suffered lacerations and shock, while Mr. Andre received forehead cuts and chest bruises. Neither was believed seriously injured. Miss Jones was thought to be the most badly hurt. She sustained a severe gash in the right leg, and body bruises and lacerations. She was riding in the rear seat, and it was believed a sharp part of the Andre car struck her on the leg. Both cars were demolished.

Mr. Andre, a carpenter by trade, said he had been unable to work for two years, and was returning from a visit to relatives in Pennsylvania to his home in Los Angeles. He is 78 years of age, while his wife is 72.

Crescencio Gomez, Mexican, was brought here from Lockhart where he was held on advice from local officers. Lloyd Day was returned from Abilene to face charges of robbery with firearms.

Both cases likely will be considered by the grand jury which convenes Monday.

Day is charged in connection with R. L. and Sonny Lamb, who have admitted to almost a score of crimes over West Texas, in the robbery of a liquor store at Comstock on July 27. The Lambs are to be brought here Monday for trial, according to plans by officers. They were sentenced to 99 years each, at Guthrie, on charges of robbery with firearms.

Factory Payrolls Show A Big Gain

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 (UP)—Factory payrolls zoomed upward 6.6 per cent during the 1936 fiscal year in their greatest advance in six years...

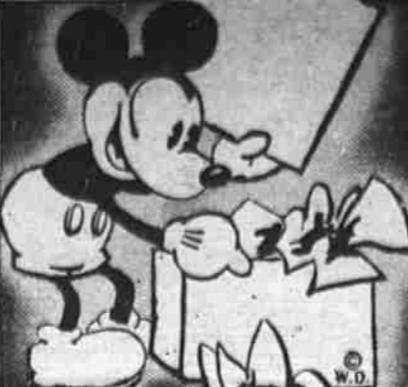

As industry speeded its drive to re-employ jobless workers, Miss Perkins disclosed weekly paychecks in October averaged $180,745,000 in the nation's factories—the highest total since June, 1930.

Monthly payrolls increased from September to October in every geographical sector. More workers were employed in all sections except the Pacific coast.

Miss Perkins reported factory employment had attained 96.5 per cent of the 1923-1925 average considered "normal" by the bureau of labor statistics. Payrolls are at 88.9 per cent of this figure.

Total factory employment and payrolls are at their highest levels since March and June, 1930, respectively. The number of wage earners in the manufacturing industries was 8,078,800 last month. This compared with 5,097,300 in July 1932.

The October weekly payroll of $18,745,000 was more than double the July, 1932 figure of $8,170,000.

MONTGOMERY WARD

CHRISTMAS WINDOW COMES TO LIFE

Apparently all that was needed to bring lively and enthusiastic comment from Mickey, Donald and Santa himself, as they were busy decorating a Montgomery Ward Christmas window display, was for little Joan Mickle to ride gaily in her new tricycle originated by Wards this season. Mickey and Donald seem to be predicting instant and enormous popularity for the new three-wheel streamliner.

FEDERAL, STATE PARTNERSHIP TO CARE FOR JOBLESS IN 1938

Unemployment compensation is a major part of the new social security program. How it works is explained today in the second of a series of three articles.

By SIGRID ARNE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 (AP)—Unemployment is one of the major misfortunes at which the social security act is aimed.

To fight this evil partnership are being setup between the federal government and the states, intended to provide unemployment compensation to people thrown out of work.

The money is to come from a tax on payrolls. In most states the tax will be levied on companies and persons having eight or more employees. In a few states employers of four or more will be subject to it; in one, employers of one or more.

This tax generally will amount to one per cent of the payroll the first year and advance to three per cent in 1938 and after. In a few states part of the tax will be levied directly against employees, but in many states workers will not be taxed thus for this purpose.

Payments Begin In 1938

Beginning in 1938, when a man in a state and group covered by this section of the law loses his job he will report to the nearest unemployment compensation office. His record will be examined. After the legal waiting period of a few weeks, he will receive a check.

In most states it will be for half the amount he was being paid while on the job, unless he was making more than $30 a week, in which case it will be $15. That's the maximum under many state laws.

The jobless man will get another check for the same amount each week for a period of time to be determined by the number of weeks he worked before losing his job. Under most state plans thus far his compensations will continue for one-fourth as many weeks as he worked in the preceding two years.

For example: If a worker earned $25 a week for two years (40 weeks), then lost his job, he could receive $12.50 a week for 26 weeks.

To Prevent Sponging

Meanwhile, the compensation office will be looking for another job for each man getting these checks while not working. And when it finds an opening, the worker must take the job, or lose the compensation, except in certain cases. These exceptions entitle him to refuse the job when:

1. The place is available because of a strike or lockout.
2. The wage offered is substantially lower than prevails in the community.
3. There is a difference of opinion about labor union affiliations.

Thus far 15 states and the District of Columbia have complied with the national requirements and will be ready to pay unemployment compensation in 1938. Wisconsin already is paying the compensation, having had an unemployment compensation law when the national act was adopted.

States Complying

Employers already are sending in the payroll tax for which they became liable last January. A record of workers who come under the compensation act was started automatically as these remittances were made.

The unemployment insurance tax in 1936 on all employers of eight or more persons over 20 calendar weeks of the year was one per cent. In states having unemployment insurance laws, the taxpayer can credit against his federal unemployment tax, up to 90 per cent of its amount, any sum paid under a state tax.

Social security officials will certify to the treasury on December 31, 1936, for this purpose all states having unemployment insurance laws which the board has approved. The unemployment tax revenues from states not thus certified will go into the general treasury fund.

Five states and the District of Columbia had sent in taxes amounting to $37,652,444.48 by last October 15. These states were: Indiana, Wisconsin, New York, Mississippi, Oregon.

Stores Show 14 Pct. Rise In Credit Sales

Increase Over 1935 High-est In Decatur, Ill., Says Retail Group

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 26. (UP)—Credit sales are up 14.1 per cent this fall as compared to the 1935 figure, a survey by the research bureau of the National Retail Credit Association reveals.

The highest percentage was found in Decatur, Ill., where sales rose to a high of 36 per cent.

The bureau, in checking 13,162 retail stores throughout the country, found business greatly improved in October over the same month a year ago. It reported an almost "universal" pickup in employment and generally higher prices for farm products.

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., a "city where unemployment doesn't exist," had the highest collection record of 45 cities in the United States. The figure was 25 per cent above last year's.

An average increase of 5.8 per cent in collections was reported, with Fort Lauderdale first and San Francisco trailing with a decrease of 3 per cent.

In explaining the increased collections in Fort Lauderdale the report said:

"Collections in the Florida city were due to continued building activity and no unemployment. There are practically no able bodied men there who do not have a steady income at this time."

Both collections and credit sales continued to increase in the New York and Pennsylvania area, the Association said. Pittsburgh reported a general improvement in industry—which is running above 90 per cent of normal with employment greatly improved.

FOR THE THIRTIETH YEAR

A notable example of what concerted and continued public campaigning can do against the scourge of disease is the record that has been made in the United States in reducing the death rate from tuberculosis. Figures indicate that rate has been cut, in thirty years, more than two-thirds.

Significantly, the various Tuberculosis associations have been in existence for thirty years. While the campaign against the disease has not been confined to those associations alone—research and medical science and wider knowledge have contributed mightily—these groups have played a great part in this humanitarian war.

The work of these organizations is made possible by the funds incoming from the sale of Christmas seals, a modest enough way of financing which does not demand a great deal of any one citizen.

The familiar little Christmas seal makes its appearance today, the sale campaign being conducted from Thanksgiving to Christmas. The bigger the volume on these seals, the better the state and county associations will be equipped to carry on their anti-tuberculosis work unhampered by short funds.

While the record against tuberculosis is a gratifying one, the work is not finished, of course. It must go on, and it can go on only through public financial support. The seals make possible a great humanitarian work, a work that has saved thousands of lives and can eventually bring this dread disease under control.

There are few finer contributions that can be made during the seasons of Thanksgiving and Christmas than one toward the Tuberculosis associations.

It is a simple thing to accept the Christmas seals that are mailed out, merely by returning a check for the small amount requested. This thirtieth year of Christmas seal sales should find warm and widespread response, throughout Texas and in our own county.

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

NEW YORK—Keeping tab on folk whose names make news in the biggest town in the world is largely a matter of going through one's mail. With the smart shops laden with exciting Christmas treasures, the prodigal ones are hurrying homeward to prepare for the holidays. So, to the mail basket.

Joe Cook writes from Hollywood that he has learned a new dish and wants to spring it on acquaintances when he gets back. Ted Lewis is whirling that baton in Cleveland, O. Ina Claire, one actress whom Broadway can ill afford to do without, is touring America with "End of Summer". Charles Laughton has decided to remain in London.

Erin O'Brien-Moore, saying she may linger in Manhattan until spring, is considering a play about a nun who renounces her vows and returns to the outside world. Katherine Cornell is acquiring a sun-lamp tan. This will fit in nicely with her character of the native girl which she will play in "The Wingless Victory". Billy Rose will grab a fast plane for California when he departs from Texas: "Why poke around Broadway where they talk in thousands, when you can go to Hollywood where they speak in millions?"

Heading For Manhattan

Jack Dempsey hopes about so constantly that a postmark is never an indication of his whereabouts. A note from the Mauler is dated from Boston, but five minutes later I read in the papers where he is in Chicago. This means if I hurry I might catch him on Eighth avenue in time for lunch.

Even John Barrymore, with his new bride, is heading toward New York. Lenore Ulric is out west but wants to get back in time to redecorate her upstate manor before the holidays. Clark Gable is considering an offer to write a monthly essay on hunting and fishing for a magazine. He is expert with fire arms. Jean Harlow wants to fly to New York around December 1st.

Albert Stevens Crockett chides me for overlooking a good story when Captain Harry Graham, the British playwright, died the other day. "He used to be engaged to Ethel Barrymore," he informs me, "and when I interviewed her in London she yelled, 'Yes, it's true—come in and I'll give you the 'horrible details.' It was Crockett who later scooped the world on Miss Barrymore's engagement to Russell Colt, he getting the word from Colt's father in the Elephant's Leg of the Moulin Rouge in Paris.

At The Hotels

It's too nice a day even to read the mail, so let's stroll around the hotel lobbies and see who the new arrivals are. Here is Helen Chandler, radiant and looking 13 years old. She and her husband, Bramwell Fletcher, prefer to appear together in plays, as the Lunts do. The Lunts never consider a play unless it offers dual starring assignments.

The way people are spending money it is hard to find lobby space to stand in, much less reserve a suite of rooms. That grinning Irishman joking with a detective is James J. Braddock, the heavyweight champion.

This Mardi Gras spirit has me a bit daffier than usual. I keep thinking of the last time I was in New Orleans, with its wild roast duck, crayfish gumbo, and Huey Long. Hugh Shields, of Indianapolis, slams into the Roosevelt. Hugh is an old friend, and columns can wait. You know how it is when reunions take place. It is then only noon, but when we stop talking the stars have been out for hours.

New dealers discard amendment idea
Thirteen states could block move
Practical plan for economic changes being devised
Laws won't help, but labor organizations may

Practical Wisdom

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—There are not going to be any constitutional amendments. The idea has been discarded. You may depend on that.
The president's legal counselors are wholly agreed that such a method of establishing minimum wages and maximum hours, or a centralized federal control over agriculture is impractical. The president knows it too.

Although the governors of 39 states are now democratic, and so are the legislatures of nearly as many states, it is apparent that President Roosevelt cannot expect to swing 36 states necessary to ratify any constitutional change. Any 13 states could beat him. He would probably lose that many in the east alone.
Consequently, the trend of inner new deal thought on the subject has entirely changed, despite the election sweep. A practical way of accomplishing the same social and economic changes is being effected.

Plans
Contrary to popular belief, the president is not planning to bring forth a new simple law to effect his wage and hour objectives, because there is no such law.
The NRA substitute plans being promoted by various Roosevelt supporters (the Johnson plan, the Richberg plan, etc.) merely represent the personal view of their promoters. These will not be taken up by Mr. Roosevelt because they will not do the job. For a time, serious consideration was given to the federal incorporation charter which has been widely advertised in the last few weeks. That scheme too has been dropped into the waste basket. Like the others, it was not practical. Legal authorities found that, if the state charter question ever were opened up by a new federal law, the damage done to good state charter laws (like that of New York) would be irreparable.

The plain fact is no law can be written to provide an effective federal system of minimum wages and maximum hours, or if there is one, Mr. Roosevelt's searchers have not been able to find it.

Problem
The difficulties are these: Conditions in each industry and in each locality differ so widely that it is impossible to lay down an inflexible rule for all. The NRA discovered that.
Managers of corporations are now being beaten with political needs because they will not loosen up on wages and hours, whereas everyone knows they are responsible to their stockholders to deliver earnings and profits. If they do not, they will be supplanted by managers who will. No one has yet thought of a law which would make it profitable for managers to increase their labor costs until profits justify it. The law of human nature would have to be repealed and the possibilities of that are even more remote than a constitutional amendment.

Finally, in view of the two conditions stated in the two preceding paragraphs, there is just no known way to keep chiselers from chiseling by law.
In the early days of the new deal, it was customary for Mr. Roosevelt to say, "there ought to be a law," and there was a law. That time has passed. What the president wants now is a law that will stick and be effective.

Labor
All this does not mean the president has abandoned his announced objectives. He is merely working to attain the same purpose through means other than those which are now under public debate.
First and foremost, he is obviously attempting to get the American labor movement strengthened and expanded on a national scale. He is said by some to believe that, if John L. Lewis can organize the steel industry, a national program of minimum wages and maximum hours can be effected. That is, labor itself might do the job, without any controlling federal legislation of importance.

What has happened in Tampa the last few days is not encouraging to those who expect anything from this source. As long as Messrs. Green and Lewis scrap about the horizontal and vertical methods of unionization, they might just as well both be permanently horizontal.

However, the possibilities of this approach to the Roosevelt purpose are by no means dead.

Unopened Loopholes
There is another way yet unopened in which the federal government may move. Pending in the supreme court is the Wagner labor board case, and coming up later is the holding companies act. The decisions in these cases may be tremendously important.

The court will probably throw out the Wagner act on unconstitutional grounds. But the way in which the court chooses to throw it out may make a lot of differ-

President And Business On Better Terms

Executive's Latest Statement On Unemployment Encouraging
By BYRON PRICE
(Chief of AP Bureau, Washington)
Those who hope for a better understanding between the White House and the business world have found great encouragement in Mr. Roosevelt's latest statement on re-employment.

Whatever they may foreboding as to governmental policy during the coming administration, the president's words certainly represent a notable change in temper and psychology from many of the presidential utterances of the past three years.

In even, persuasive tone, the chief executive has thanked business for what it has done to provide private jobs, and has suggested without threat or bluster that it keep up the good work. The statement contains no recriminations against those large employers who stood so determinedly against his re-election, no castigation of "economic royalists," not even a remote hint of a revival of NRA if voluntary effort fails.

More important still: all the circumstances indicate that the statement in no way surprised organized business. The line of communications between Mr. Roosevelt and business leaders has been badly interrupted in recent months; apparently it is in working order again. In this instance, at least, important business figures not only expected the event but seem to have a fair idea in advance what form it would take.

'Amazed' At Opposition
It is too early, of course, to say whether this means a new and more diplomatic Roosevelt in the realm of his relationship to business.

Some of those who visited him at the beginning of the political campaign left with the distinct impression that he was shocked and incredulous at the news that so potent a section of the business community was preparing to oppose him politically. He strenuously disclaimed any rancor against business as a class, and protested that all of his policies had been directed toward a genuine revival of private enterprise.

In the heat of campaigning he spoke very bitterly of this business opposition. But he has not done so since. The tremendous sweep of his victory may, perhaps, be reflected in the milder words which have followed. It is at least conceivable that, having gained much, the president now feels that much is expected of him in tolerance and in "binding up the nation's wounds."

Is it beyond the possibilities that, having lived in controversy through a first term, and being now assured of a second, Mr. Roosevelt may hope to end his White House days in the more peaceful atmosphere of an era of cooperation and good feeling?
Culmer Days?
At this moment such a suggestion can only be presented speculatively. Mr. Roosevelt is a man of boundless energy. Sometimes his program has seemed geared to a speed so great that its sheer momentum would make it impossible for him to stop, even if he tried.
In the recent campaign he has said that many things remained to

In a few seconds Lawson stirred feebly and opened his eyes. For a moment he stared at Mahony...

Many College Students Return Home For Holidays; Others Vacationing Elsewhere

Big Spring was alive with greetings late yesterday and early today as college homecomers were welcomed back home for the Thanksgiving affairs that will officially begin with the football game this afternoon and terminate when the last student boards the train, bus or automobile that will take him back to his school.

"I'm so tired . . . and so glad to be with you again," she said. "I'm glad, too," said Mahony. There were dozens of things that he wanted to say, but he could find no words to say them.

Lawson grinned. His expression was absolutely radiant. "My evidence against Ross is in his handwriting; it shows quite clearly that he was engaged with me in my criminal activities," he said.

Reading And Writing
By John Selby

Last year, when "With Napoleon in Russia" was published, it became evident that the memoirs of Armand de Caulaincourt, Duke of Vicenza, were to provide the most important addition to Napoleonic history in the last half century. Perhaps more.

Now the memoirs are concluded with a volume called "No Peace With Napoleon," a title much less effective than the one used in France, where the same text was called "L'Agonie de Fontainebleau." Those who read the first volume will recall that chiefly it was a long and tragic monologue delivered by Napoleon to his devoted Caulaincourt in the course of the bitter flight out of Russia. It had the vividness of a motion picture closeup, without the dis-ortion which accompanies that celuloïd exploit.

The new volume begins with Caulaincourt at the Congress of Chatillon, ostensibly as the Emperor's plenipotentiary, but actually as a kind of pawn being pushed around by both the Allies and his own Emperor. The Congress was a futile affair; Caulaincourt finally left to join Napoleon, in time to try without success to persuade him that the Allies were not following him, but were headed for Paris. Caulaincourt was in a desperate situation, and again he failed. What was worse to Caulaincourt — Napoleon failed.

From this point the narrative goes through the months to that terrible day in Fontainebleau when the Emperor, for a moment unable to face disgrace and Elba, takes the poison he had carried with him for a long while, and tries to die. This was late in the night of April 12-13, 1814; this also is one of the numerous events of Napoleon's career which has been obscure for more than a century.

Sigma Alphas Join Clubs In Contributing Food To Needy Families

Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority joined other clubs and organizations today in furnishing food for a Thanksgiving meal to the needy when a basket prepared by Mrs. C. A. Bickley and Miss Nellie Puckett was presented to the Salvation Army for donation to an unfortunate family.

At a recent meeting this club made further plans for the Welfare Nursery Christmas tree which will be trimmed at the nursery shortly before Christmas day when Mrs. G. G. Sawtelle will be hostess.

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. W. J. McAdams with Mrs. Ira Driver, Mrs. Ladonia Patrick and Miss Mildred Creath in charge of the program. Roll call was answered with a Thanksgiving thought.

Mrs. Fox Stripling will give a paper on "Interesting Women in the Bible" at the December 11 meeting to be held in the home of Mrs. W. J. Maddy.

Responding on the roll call were Mrs. C. A. Bickley, Mrs. Thomas J. Coffee, Mrs. Ira Driver, Mrs. Garland Earley, Mrs. F. V. Gates, Mrs. W. J. Maddy, Mrs. W. J. McAdams, Mrs. Ladonia Patrick, Mrs. G. G. Sawtelle, Mrs. Fox Stripling, Mrs. W. T. Strange, Miss Mary Burns, Miss Edith Gay, Miss Nellie Puckett, Miss Lellene Rogers and Miss Mildred Creath.

HARRY HINES NOT TO RESIGN, ALLRED SAYS

AUSTIN, Nov. 26. (UP)—Chairman Harry Hines of the state highway commission is not going to resign, Gov. James V. Allred said yesterday.

"The wish probably was father of the thought in that rumor," Allred said. "I have talked with Hines about it and he says he has no such intent. He would be foolish to resign just before Feb. 15 after being alone for two years."

The governor referred to the fact that Hines has been his sole appointee on the commission and that he will have another appointment to make Feb. 15. Who that will be he did not disclose.

"While I am about it I might as well announce that I will not resign," Allred added. "I like this job at $1,000 a month."

Final Events of Centennial Year In Rio Grande Valley

DALLAS, Nov. 26.—Texas famous Rio Grande Valley will command the Centennial spotlight in December, as the most glittering festival year in the history of American entertainment comes to a triumphant close.

With the Texas Centennial central exposition in Dallas preparing to close November 29, and with the Fort Worth Frontier Centennial having closed November 14, thousands are preparing to make the cross-trek to the Rio Grande Valley where Mission, Harlingen, and Weslaco are the Centennial's official hosts.

The Texas Citrus Fiesta, to be held in Mission December 4-6, is a banner celebration on the Centennial calendar. Parades, style shows, bathing revues and many other events crowd the program. Exhibit A at this big show, however, as at the events in Harlingen and Weslaco, will be the Rio Grande Valley's incomparable climate and natural beauty.

The Valley Mid-Winter Fair, scheduled for Harlingen December 2-6, this year in a Centennial event of first importance. The beautiful Valley will here display the wealth of its varied produce, but these exhibition features of the fair will be balanced by many entertainment attractions.

The Weslaco Birthday Celebration, calendared for Weslaco December 9-10, will offer entertainment novelties found nowhere else in the world. Here will be held the unique annual style show, in which contestants will wear dresses made only of fruits, vegetables, or flowers as they parade down an elevated boardwalk more than a block long. The city itself is an important attraction, the facades of the entire business center having been rebuilt this year to present the appearance of a Spanish village.

U. S. STEEL ENTERS DIVIDEND PARADE

NEW YORK, Nov. 26. (P)—A $25,219,667 payment to more than 30,000 holders of U. S. Steel Corporation preferred stock was made by directors yesterday with $7 dividend on account of arrearages since the depression.

In one slash the steel giant cut nearly in half, or to $33,326,002, the funds still due preferred shareholders, from the previous total of $68,545,679.

The accumulations after today's declaration amounted to $9.25 a share. The payment is to be made Dec. 24 to stockholders of record Dec. 1.

The action came at the end of a big day for the country's stockholders in which almost 100,000,000 shares were poured out by some 50 corporations in increased, extra, initial and similar favorable dividend changes, while workers in a dozen or so companies received Christmas bonuses or wage boosts.

VAST VAN SWERINGIN EMPIRE PASSES TO OTHER INTERESTS

CLEVELAND, Nov. 26. (UP)—Control of the vast Van Sweringin railroad empire passed today to other financial interests following the death of Oris Paxton Van Sweringin, last of the two brothers who built it.

The organization, directed for 20 years by "O. P." and his brother, the late Manis James Van Sweringin, now will be controlled by George A. Ball, Muncie, Ind., glass manufacturer, and George A. Tomlinson, Cleveland ship owner.

Ball and Tomlinson came to the rescue of "The Vans" when their empire tottered last year. They supplied several millions to finance the new Mid-American Corporation which purchased the Van Sweringin assets when they were sold at auction to satisfy obligations to J. P. Morgan & Co., and other financial interests. The Van Sweringin brothers continued to direct operations and there was an agreement that they should take over a majority of the controlling stock when troubles and tangles were dissolved.

Financial circles speculated concerning a successor to "O. P." Neither Ball nor Tomlinson had had any railroad experience.

The elder of the two brothers was en route from his home here to a conference at the New York Morgan offices when he died of a heart attack on a private car in the Hoboken, N. J., yards of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad.

Kryl Musical Organization Draws Praise

Widely Known Symphony Orchestra Here On Friday Night

Typical of the response given by American audiences to concert appearances of Bohumir Kryl and his famous symphony band—to be held here Friday night—is that described in a review of the Kryl program which appeared in the Journal of Sioux City, Iowa.

The Kryl organization will appear at the municipal auditorium under auspices of the Big Spring high school municipal band, members of which are engaged in selling tickets.

"Telling how the Kryl organization pleased its audiences, the Journal related:

"The orchestra was brought here by the musical organizations of the public schools and the effort was well repaid. One scheduled concert in the afternoon for the school children was lengthened to two when the overflow crowd could not be accommodated at the first concert. Selections suited to the musical taste and knowledge of children were played.

Uses No Baton

"In the evening, Kryl, who uses neither baton nor musical score while conducting, seemed to be pulling fine music out of the air with his talented hands. His musicians, all young persons, appeared to be serious music students endeavoring to please, the stocky picturesque, paternalistic director in his exacting demands for skilled technique and interpretation. His cheery smile was their barometer that the concert was going well.

"From the opening overture to the closing selection, Natchez on a Hill, by Powell, an appreciative audience listened to great music, well played. The Largo and Scherzo from Dvorak's New World Symphony found particular favor.

Solo Applauded

"Prolonged applause followed the playing of a concerto solo by Kryl, who is master of various musical instruments. He chose one of his own compositions, Carnival de Venice. The audience demanded an encore and he responded with the ever popular Mighty Lak a Rose.

"Well received among the orchestral selections was the Scheherazade suite by Rimsky-Korsakov.

"Kryl once was concert soloist with the late John Phillip Sousa and he occasionally drops his hands at his sides while directing, a familiar gesture of the famous bandman.

"Rounding out the program were a solo by Miss Cornelia Bona, a talented young harpist, and a solo by Miss Maryery Maxwell, former Chicago Opera company soprano. Miss Bona played The Cascades and an encore. Miss Maxwell sang Madam Butterfly."

'Little Spec' Towns Eyes The Olympics

AUGUSTA, Ga., Nov. 26. (P)—Preston (Little Spec) Towns, 6 feet 4 inches tall, hopes to land a 1940 Olympic berth in the big hurdles department he hopes will be headed by his older brother, Forrest (Big Spec).

It takes Preston 18 seconds to cover the route his brother did in the record-breaking time of 14.1. But Little Spec is only a high school youngster.

He is a member of the Richmond academy track team and is out for football. Richmond academy is Spec's alma mater.

Preston is like Big Spec in that his preference is football but the cinder path and sandwast pits have strong attractions for him.

"I like the hurdles and enjoy high jumping," he remarks.

Little Spec has the same infectious grin, the same shy manners and the same brevity of expression that characterized his brother throughout the trying period of earning a championship and keeping a level head amidst adulation.

His 135 pounds leaves him ample room for filling out.
