FORT WORTH (AP) — The captain of American Airlines Flight 1420 was among those killed when the plane he was piloting skidded off an Arkansas runway and crashed in flames during a severe thunderstorm.

Three other members of the Chicago-based flight crew were injured when the plane broke apart in Little Rock just before midnight Tuesday.

The captain of the twin-engine Super MD-80 had accumulated 9,600 flight hours and had flown for American since 1979, Bob Baker, the airline's executive vice president of flight operations, said today.

The airline did not immediately say how many hours of experience the pilot had as a captain on MD-80s.

The captain's name was not immediately released, but American said he was the airline's chief pilot in Chicago.

Sources familiar with the investigation said nine people were known dead. The airline said it could not confirm the number of fatalities.

The other man in the cockpit, the first officer, suffered a broken leg. He had just joined American in February.

The two officers were among six crew members on the flight. Two of the four flight attendants also were injured, with one suffering a broken hip or pelvis and the other suffering a broken leg.

The cockpit crew had been on duty for 13 1/2 hours, near the maximum of about 14 hours.

Records: Driver in fatal wreck was on probation for two DWIs

By KATE B. DICKSON
Associate Publisher

Less than 48 hours before a fatal accident Sunday in which drunk driving is alleged, the driver was released on probation in Gray County Court after pleading guilty to a 1998 DWI charge.

Justin D. Sober, 22, 1220 McCullough in Pampa, was released despite the fact he is wanted on an active warrant issued in March in Donley County for violating the terms of his probation given on yet another DWI guilty plea. (See related story this page).

Meanwhile, Sober, who was released from Pampa Regional Medical Center yesterday, is in the Gray County Jail today where he is being held under $200,000 bond — $100,000 for Stacey Kaye Sehorn's death and $50,000 each for the two injured passengers.

Sober had been placed on one-year probation in Donley County (Clarendon) following a guilty plea June 3, 1998 before Donley County Judge Jack Hall, according to Donley County Clerk Fay Vargas. He had been arrested by a DPS trooper on May 23, 1998.

Sober got his second DWI when a Pampa police officer arrested him on Oct. 31, 1998, according to Gray County Court records. It was for that DWI Sober was given probation Friday when he appeared before Gray County Judge Richard Peet. Following the Sunday accident that claimed the life of 19-year-old PHS graduate Sehorn, District Attorney John Mann filed one count of intoxicated manslaughter against Sober and two counts of intoxicated assault. He said tests revealed Sober's blood alcohol level was "more than twice the legal limit." In Texas .10 is legally drunk.

The assault charges relate to injuries suffered by two passengers, Nakisha Horton, 19, of 3420 S. Coulter in Amarillo, and Shawn Allen Reames, 29, Rt. 1 Box 150 C, Pampa; Mann said. Horton is a patient at Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo.

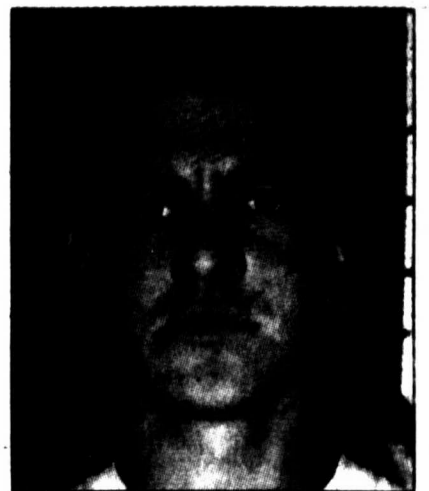

Horton's father, Jerry Horton, said today his daughter is in "critical but stable" condition. Her mother, April Adams of Skellytown, also confirmed her daughter's condition this morning.

Previously, incorrect information had been given to The Pampa News which reported she was on life support and that her father's arrival from out of the country was awaited so further medical decisions could be made.

The teen does have a brain injury, but just how much damage has been done remains to be seen, Horton said today.

"She is responding to treatment and her vital signs are improving," Horton said, adding that doctors have told him it may be two or three weeks until more is known about her prognosis. "This is not something she's just going to snap out of."

Justin D. Sober
Though she can breathe on her own, Horton said doctors have (See RECORDS, Page 5)

Carl and Helene Baumgardner particularly enjoy the homemade cinnamon rolls at the weekly Biscuit Eater's Ministry breakfast at the First Christian Church.

Biscuit Eaters ... Food, fun, fellowship

By DAVID BOWSER
Staff Writer

Each week about a 100 folks gather in Fellowship Hall at Pampa's First Christian Church for the Biscuit Eater's Ministry.

"A few years ago Jack Hood's wife died," said R.C. Grider, a regular at the Saturday morning breakfast. "A member of this church went over to his house and took two biscuits. That was the beginning of the Biscuit Eater's Ministry."

Since then, a group of men have gathered beginning about 7 a.m. each Saturday to fix a breakfast of scrambled eggs, ham, biscuits and gravy.

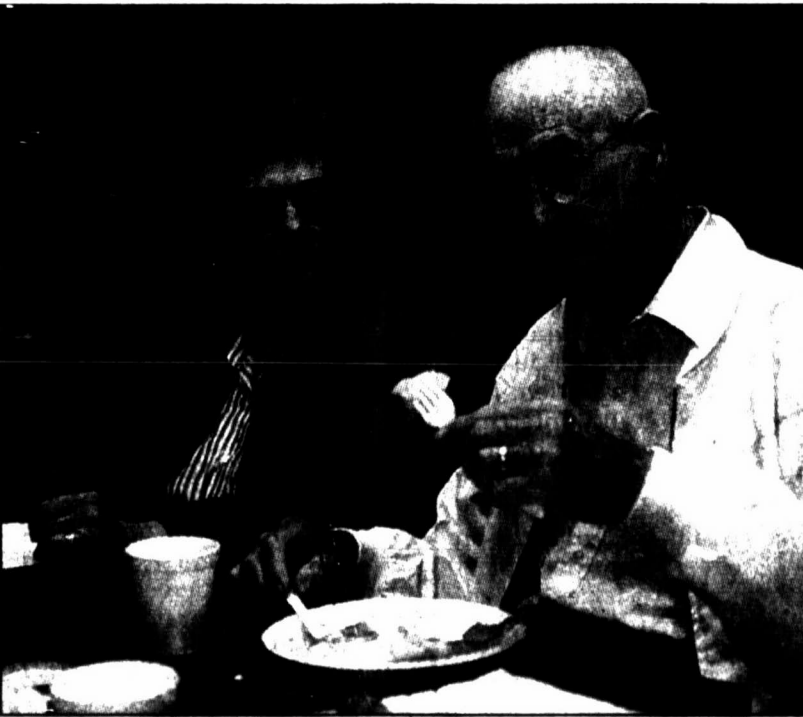

"They fix homemade cinnamon rolls, too," said Helene Baumgardner between bites.

"Jack Hood, he's the man who started this," said Clyde Carruth as his finished off a helping of biscuits and gravy. "He's been at the head of it ever since."

But Hood wasn't here last Saturday, at least not physically. He was having back surgery in Oklahoma City. Hood may have been in an Oklahoma hospital, but he remained in the hearts of those who are used to having Saturday morning breakfast with him. Next to the donation jar was a get well card. Grider made sure every body signed it — and that every body knew who it was for.

Neva and Clyde Carruth are among the regulars at the Saturday morning non-denominational fellowship breakfast each week at the First Christian Church of Pampa. The weekly biscuit and gravy breakfast draws as many as 19 denominations from almost 40 congregations.

Sober's second DWI prosecuted here last week as first offense

Gray County Attorney Todd Alvey, who prosecuted Justin D. Sober on a Pampa driving while intoxicated charge Friday, told The Pampa News Tuesday he was unaware at the time that Sober had a previous driving while intoxicated conviction in Donley County.

But late this morning, Alvey said he was aware of Sober's Donley County conviction saying, "my office reminded me we knew it was a second offense."

Sober is behind bars today on $200,000 bond in the Gray County Jail on charges connected to Sunday's fatal accident that killed Stacey Kaye Sehorn, 19, of Pampa and injured two others.

Asked why he did not present the Pampa case as a second offense DWI, Alvey said, "I would have had to refile on the case and I wanted to go ahead and get a conviction."

Alvey said when he first filed the Pampa case, "I believed it was a first offense."

Alvey said today he ran a National Crime Information Computer criminal history check prior to filing the case but says he can't remember what the history showed.

Neither can Alvey recheck his file for the NCIC report because he said the report was destroyed sometime after court Friday. He said it is routine to destroy the information following a conviction.

Asked who destroyed the document, Alvey said, "My office."

Asked who in his office destroyed the report, Alvey said, "You can say me if you want to. I don't know why you think it's important."

Alvey said he was reminded it was the second DWI offense based upon a subsequent NCIC check that he had made.

There is also an active warrant out for Sober, 22, charging him with violating his probation on the Donley County conviction, according to (See SOBER'S, Page 5)

County puts property back on taxing rolls

The Gray County Commission voted to put some property back on the tax rolls and keep working with the Texas Forest Service at Lake McClellan.

Two bids were accepted Tuesday for three pieces of delinquent tax property. One was a bid of $700 for a vacant lot at 736 E. Brunow it was valued at $1,130 and had $1,120 in uncollectible back taxes.

The other were two adjoining lots at 212 and 220 N. Gillespie which was valued at $19,590 but they had been off the tax rolls for some time and had $8,186.68 in back taxes accumulated against it. The properties previously had some structures on them which the city tore down, Pampa City Manager Bob Eskridge said in an interview.

The Commission also voted to allow County Clerk Susan Winborne to purchase some office equipment. One item she requested is a computer terminal for one of her staffers who does not have one. The terminal and software, which will tie into their main computer, will be leased for $250 a month.

Winborne also got approval to change the folders and cabinets used to hold all the records her office keeps. She said some of the envelopes used to hold large amounts of records in a sleeve, or shuck, are not available anymore. She said her office is running out of room to store records which have been stored folded in envelope-type shucks. She said she hopes to get folders that will store the records flat and cabinets that will hold the new folders. She said there is enough money in the records storage budget to allow for the changes.

BISCUIT

"Jack does a lot around the church here," Carruth said.

Hood, who is officially the church treasurer, also oversees the flowers outside and the morale internally.

"I'm a member of the United Methodist Church here in Pampa," Grider said. "Any denomination is welcome here."

"Everybody is invited," Carruth said. Grider said as many as 19 denominations have been represented at the Saturday morning breakfast fellowship. Carruth said they've had as many as 39 different congregations represented.

The money goes to pay for breakfast first, then to fill any other needs. It supplements the income of the church, Carruth said, and raises money for kids to go to camp. In the past, they have also helped other churches get started in Pampa.

"It's all paid for by contributions," Carruth said. "Whatever you think the breakfast is worth."

A group of about eight-to-10 men do the cooking each Saturday morning. They start serving about 8:15 a.m., and the food goes quickly. By 9 a.m., the volunteers are cleaning up the tables.

There's usually not much left to clean up.

Report: federal prosecutors subpoena AG's records in tobacco case

DALLAS (AP) — Federal prosecutors have subpoenaed Texas Attorney General John Cornyn's records relating to the involvement of a Houston lawyer involved in the state's tobacco case, The Dallas Morning News reported today.

The subpoena is the first public confirmation that federal officials are investigating efforts by former Attorney General Dan Morales to have attorney Marc D. Murr paid hundreds of millions of dollars for his role in Texas' historic $17.3 billion settlement.

Sources speaking on condition of anonymity told The Associated Press last month that the FBI has been comparing computer hard-drive data to papers to determine whether Morales backdated four contracts and letters to make it appear Murr was involved in the case longer than he really was.

However, federal authorities continue to refuse to publicly confirm or comment on their investigation.

The subpoena was issued May 20, but not released until Tuesday in Austin. A public records request brought the document to light, the paper said.

Convicted killer in Liberty County case put to death

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Relatives of a rape-slating victim are thankful Texas authorities finally executed the man convicted of the vicious killing.

"Although we feel that nothing can justify the loss of our loved one, we are grateful in knowing that William Little will never be able to kill and destroy another innocent life," friends and relatives of 23-year-old Marilyn Peter said in a statement after they watched Little receive lethal injection Tuesday night.

Little, 38, was convicted of the rape, stabbing and strangling of the Liberty County woman more than 15 years ago at her home in a rural area near Cleveland, about 30 miles northeast of Houston.

The U.S. Supreme Court two weeks ago refused to review his case, upholding rulings of other federal courts and clearing the way for the lethal injection, the 13th of the year in Texas.

Little declined to make a final statement when asked by the warden, Jim Willett, but told authorities as witnesses were gathering in the chamber that he wanted to create no problems.

Cowtown to celebrate anniversary

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Yee-hah! It's Cowtown's sesquicentennial!

Festivities starting Thursday for the city's 150th anniversary include musical tributes, historical displays and initiation of a daily cattle drive through the street.

"It's a great excuse to have a party," Fort Worth Mayor Kenneth Barr said. "As cities go we are not an old city, but for this part of the country, 150 years is a long time."

The city was founded as a military post on June 6, 1849, by the U.S. Army's Co. F, 2nd Dragoons. The fort was named for commanding Gen. William Jenkins Worth.

The city became known as Cowtown because of its roots in the cattle industry. Several of the anniversary events will take place in the city's Stockyards area, now a tourist destination.

Pharmacists ignore ban on selling smokes

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Just across the border in Ciudad Juarez, the government now says you can't pick up your cigarettes alongside your prescriptions. Pharmacists beg to differ.

As of Tuesday, a new law banned pharmacists from selling tobacco. Despite the new tobacco restriction, shiny packages of Marlboros, Camels and Pall Malls were still very much available in Juarez drugstores.

"We think it's a contradiction to sell cigarettes and medicines in the same store," Juarez environmental standards director Luis Salmeron told the El Paso Times.

Pharmacists explained that nobody notified them of the cigarette law reform.

"The government will have to come here and tell us, or send us some printed notice," pharmacist Oscar Aztorza shrugged. "We won't stop selling a product just because we saw a story on the news."

First US-born Kosovo refugee arrives at new Dallas home

DALLAS (AP) — The first U.S.-born child of a Kosovo refugee family, Amerikan Karaliju, has begun a new phase of a brief and already eventful life.

Born May 6, shortly after his parents and family arrived at Fort Dix, N.J., in a refugee airlift, Amerikan became an instant U.S. citizen and was named to reflect his parents' sense of good luck.

He arrived Tuesday night at Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport with his extended family of 24.

Local resettlement officials said the boy and his family may be in for a rough ride at first because the group is so large that housing and basic necessities are not yet in place.

Sheban Murseli, a Farmers Branch construction contractor who emigrated from Kosovo in 1982, said he petitioned the U.S. government for all 24 of his relatives to come to Dallas under a Clinton administration promise to relocate 20,000 refugees.

Bush pinches pennies, polishes stump speech for first campaign trip

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — George W. Bush was entertaining some of his best Texas donors, but there wasn't a tenderloin or truffle in sight — just bowl after bowl of peanuts and pretzels.

And little white cardboard signs that read, "Enjoy your peanuts and snacks. Texas money will be saved for Iowa and New Hampshire."

The inexpensive and unconventional tactic is all part of the Texas governor's plan to raise more money — and spend less of it — than the rest of the GOP presidential field.

"This is kind of like a Southwest Airlines fundraiser," Bush joked Tuesday night, referring to the discount air carrier. "Beer and peanuts."

The crowd of $1,000 donors dissolved into laughter as Bush made his maiden appearance at a campaign 2000 fund-raiser. "If I decide to go further, I want to save some money," he said.

Elsewhere:

BIPARTISAN BUSH: Gov. George W. Bush has declared the 1999 Texas Legislature a bipartisan success and says he wants to move on into the partisan world of presidential politics. The Republican governor, who polls show as the GOP front runner, has already scheduled campaign trips to Iowa, New Hampshire and 10 other states this month. ... LEGISLATURE WRAPUP: Both political parties are claiming victories in the just-ended Texas Legislature for their work on teacher pay raises, more money for education, tax cuts and children's health care. The dust had hardly settled on the end of the 140-day session when both parties Tuesday claimed victory on the same issues. CHARTER SCHOOLS: Recommending a Waco charter school's state contract be revoked, a Texas Education Agency administrative law judge said the school has violated numerous laws and accumulated an "insurmountable" budget deficit. The State Board of Education is to consider revoking the contract next month. COCAINE—HEART: Cocaine users are 24 times more likely to have a heart attack during the first hour after taking the drug, according to a Harvard study. The study was published in Tuesday's issue of Circulation, a journal of the American Heart Association.

Teamsters, automobile haulers close to settlement

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP) — Saying they are close to an agreement to avert a strike, Teamsters union officials began a second day of overtime negotiations with trucking companies that haul new cars to dealerships nationwide.

"It looks like we have an opportunity to win a good contract for our members without striking," said Teamsters' spokesman Chip Roth late Tuesday night.

Roth said talks would continue today. The Teamsters' contract with 17 trucking companies that hauled more than 15 million cars last year was originally scheduled to expire at 12:01 a.m. EDT on Tuesday. But the union offered a first 24-hour extension of its strike deadline shortly after that passed.

Late Tuesday, as the new deadline neared, both sides agreed to continue the talks, setting another new deadline of 12:01 a.m. EDT Thursday. Ian Hunter, chief negotiator for the National Automobile Transporters labor division, which is representing the trucking companies' management at the talks said progress was "slow but steady."

The Teamsters' contract covers about 12,800 drivers, mechanics, yard and office workers. Union haulers currently earn $68,000 a year in wages and benefits, with salaries of $55,000.

The contract dispute is the first major challenge at the bargaining table for Teamsters' president James P. Hoffa, since he took office in March as head of the union once led by his late father, Jimmy Hoffa.

Hoffa said the negotiations are aimed at "trying to develop a win-win" agreement that would keep union jobs secure by helping the trucking companies stay competitive and gain new business transporting used-cars as well as new ones.

To that end, the Teamsters agreed Tuesday to "terms in some locations throughout the country that allow for scheduling changes that will provide the companies some flexibility," Roth said. He declined to give specifics, however.

The trucking companies have been seeking concessions on scheduling they say are necessary to compete with nonunion haulers and railroads, including the right to hire part-time workers. The Teamsters have opposed part-time jobs.

Another point of contention that Hoffa has said the union would be willing to strike over is the companies' proposal to start new workers at lower wages. A key Teamsters' demand, meanwhile, is for higher pensions for workers who retire after 25 years.

Auto industry analysts say a strike of any significant length by car haulers could hurt consumers as well as auto makers. Shoppers who order new cars may face a long wait, and dealers could drop some sales incentives to ease demand.

"A Teamsters haulers' strike could interrupt what could be a banner profit year for the car companies," said Lincoln Merrihew, automotive analyst for Standard & Poor's DRI, in Lexington, Mass. "Automakers really want to capitalize on the fact that consumers are very confident right now and are really responding to (sales) incentives ... but if there's a real shortage, dealers might be less willing to negotiate and prices might go up."

With unemployment at its lowest level in nearly three decades and the stock market climbing, Americans have been snapping up new cars.

The Teamsters contend the trucking companies have shared in the profits and can afford to treat workers better.

However, the companies say their share of business has declined in recent years due, in part, to nonunion competition.

"Unless we change the way we do business, there will be less business for us, and fewer union jobs, in the future," said Hunter.

Fiance's Failure to Back His Bride Bodes Ill for Their Future

DEAR ABBY: After reading the letter from "Still Steaming in S.F.," I have to wonder what kind of a man "John" is to have allowed his fiancée to be publicly snubbed at his law partner's dinner party.

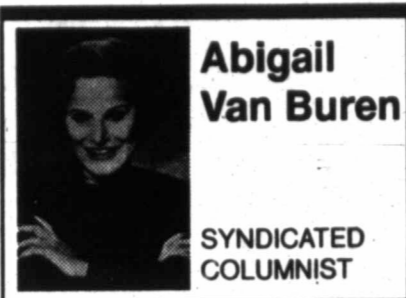

"Steaming" should think twice about marrying someone who would do nothing in a situation of this sort, and if she does decide to go through with it, she should exclude the law partner and his wife from the wedding. If she does relent and invite them, the invitation should be addressed to the husband only.

Abby, a marriage should and must come before any business arrangement. If it doesn't, beware the future. It will be filled with similar "snubs" and a husband who sacrifices his life partner's feelings in favor of his working partners.

BEEN THERE

DEAR BEEN THERE: Although the fiance could have been more sensitive to the treatment "Steaming" was receiving, I'm not sure the incident is a dire preview of her future with the man. The hostess showed appalling bad manners. However, I do not agree that "Steaming" should stoop to the same level by excluding the couple from the guest list, or by improperly addressing their invitation. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: I have the perfect solution for "Steaming in S.F.," Of course she must invite that dreadful woman to the wedding! Her husband's career will be the casualty if she doesn't. However, she can get some revenge in a subtle yet satisfying manner if she's having a sit-down dinner at the reception.

At every wedding, there's one table where the hostess seats those guests who just don't seem to fit in with the others. Usually, at least one of the people at this table is a distant relative who never shuts up and has an opinion about everything. Seat "Mrs. X" next to this guest. Maybe she'll even leave early!

NOBODY'S VICTIM ANYMORE, ATLANTA

DEAR NOBODY'S VICTIM: Spoken like a true veteran of the social scene. The name for that table is "Siberia." You're not the only reader who identified with "Steaming in S.F." Read on:

DEAR ABBY: I agree with your advice to "Still Steaming in S.F.," who was publicly snubbed by the wife of her husband's business partner. I had a similar experience.

The social event at which I was snubbed eight years ago was a lovely outdoor wedding shower that was being held for my fiance and me. The "snubber" fancied herself to be a major mover in local political circles. She was not even on the list of suggested guests we had given the hostess. She was a good friend of the host and hostess, and my fiance was casually acquainted with her. When he attempted to introduce me to this woman, she was extremely rude and acted as if I were invisible. I was shocked and embarrassed.

I later learned that during my fiance's bachelorhood, this woman had tried repeatedly — but unsuccessfully — to fix him up with her various girlfriends. I now realize that the snub had nothing to do with me — and everything to do with her frustration at failing in her matchmaking efforts. She was being a poor loser. "Steaming" might very well find a similar history between her husband-to-be and the law partner's wife.

SNUBBED AND HAPPY IN ST. PAUL

DEAR SNUBBED AND HAPPY: Indeed she might. It's also possible that the law partner's wife was herself attracted to the woman's fiance. However, that's no excuse. It is the duty of the hostess to make sure all her guests enjoy themselves. Not only did she fail at that, she behaved so badly other guests commented on it. That's hardly a social triumph.

careful with finances. You could find money slipping through your fingers. Check out an investment very carefully. Tonight: Snuggle in.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
***** Extremes mark your day. Another does anything and everything to get your attention. Let your hair down. Networking opens doors at work. Carefully think through a decision. Laughter and humor mark your interactions. Make it an early day. Popularity peaks. Tonight: Out and about — strut your stuff!

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
*** Pace yourself. Realize how much you need to get done. Ingenuity marks your day, though you could have a difficult time getting organized. Do what you can. Tune into your intuition; understand where your strengths are. There is a tendency to go to extremes. Tonight: Off to the gym.

his daughter on a ventilator to aid her. She is also being kept under sedation.

In addition to her brain injury, Horton said his daughter has a broken leg, a broken hip, a bruised lung, a lacerated liver and a lacerated spleen.

Horton spoke to the newspaper as he was preparing to leave the hospital briefly to attend Sehorn's funeral at First Baptist Church.

A driller for Parker Drilling Company of Tulsa, Horton said he was in Papua New Guinea, which is off the coast of Australia, when the accident occurred.

"My company was so good about flying me back here," he said. "I got in about 9 last night."

Horton said his daughter and Sehorn had become friends while both were in Pampa schools.

The two were roommates in Amarillo and both were working for the same company, he said. Sehorn, who graduated last Friday night at PHS, had finished her classes in December and had been working in Amarillo during the spring semester.

Horton said his daughter had "joined the Navy" and expected to start her tour of duty at the end of July.

Also at the same hospital is Reames, who had reconstructive jaw surgery and lost part of his tongue in the accident at 2:45 a.m. Sunday on Loop 171 at the intersection with the Lefors highway (273), according to Mann.

The 1995 GMC extended cab pickup driven by Sober did not stop at the stop sign, hit a bar ditch, became airborne and traveled 144 feet before landing on its wheels, according to investigating DPS Trooper John Nelson. None of the occupants wore seatbelts but the driver's side air bag did deploy.

Sober's $200,000 bond breaks down to $100,000 for Sehorn's death and $50,000 each for the two injured passengers, Mann said.

Sober, who broke his leg in the accident, was arrested yesterday afternoon at his mother's home in Miami and was taken before Roberts County Justice of the Peace Fanny Greenhouse for the bond setting, Mann said. Texas law requires an arrested person be taken before a judge in the county in which he is arrested.

If convicted on the intoxicated manslaughter charge, Sober faces two-to-20 years in prison and a $10,000 fine, Mann said. If convicted of intoxicated assault relating to the two injured passengers, he faces two-to-10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine on each count.

SOBER'S

to Donley County Court Clerk Fay Vargas.

Alvey said he did not know about the warrant.

The warrant would not have shown up on an NCIC criminal history check and today, Gray County Sheriff's Lt. Jim Scott said the local department never received notification of the warrant from Donley County.

Asked Tuesday if he routinely checks on the criminal backgrounds of those he prosecutes, Alvey said he does.

"I do run a (National Crime Information Computer) check on their records. It didn't show up on my check," Alvey said Tuesday of Sober's Donley County conviction.

That comment conflicts with what Alvey said today when he told The Pampa News he does not remember what the original NCIC check revealed.

As another person who prosecutes cases in Gray County, The Pampa News asked District Attorney John Mann if he checks on the criminal history of those he prosecutes.

Mann says he does and said he, like Alvey, uses the NCIC, based in sheriff's offices, to seek a "1043 criminal history or rap sheet."

Tuesday afternoon Mann agreed to look for Sober's history on an NCIC check. He had a computer operator at the sheriff's office in Shamrock enter Sober's name and date of birth.

"When I put his (Sober's) name in the computer it shows a June 1998 probation in Clarendon on a DWI and it shows the DWI arrest in Pampa four months later and where he bonded out," Mann said.

Sober, who has been charged with intoxicated manslaughter and two counts of intoxicated assault, was placed on probation Friday when he appeared before County Judge Richard Peet, according to court records.

That court appearance was based on an Oct. 31, 1998 Pampa arrest and came less than 48 hours before the fatal crash.

On Tuesday, when Alvey said he did not know of the previous DWI conviction, he said even if he had known, "We probably would have still given him probation" on the second DWI.

"That's just the normal way things are done (on DWIs) in my office and were done before me," Alvey said, adding it's also the normal way "... DWIs are done in the (Gray County) judge's office and in most of the counties around us."

Under Texas law, the first and second DWIs are considered misdemeanors. It is the third DWI that ups the charge to a felony.

Sober, who was given a suspended 60-day jail term Friday, ordered to perform 60 hours of community service and pay a $1,200 fine and costs, was represented before Judge Peet by Pampa attorney Michael A. Warner, according to court records.

Alvey, who said Tuesday he found out about Sober's record after the fatal wreck, said he will file papers to have the latest probation revoked.

In the wake of the crash, Alvey said the routine probation of DWI offenders may change in the future.

"It's something we'll look at," he said.

Today, Judge Peet said he was unaware of Sober's past DWI conviction when the man appeared before him Friday.

He said the only way he can know about a defendant's history is if the prosecutor of defense attorney informs him.

To do research prior to a case on his own, "would be something improper to do ... that would not be ethical."

He noted that second DWI offenses draw a mandatory 72-hour jail sentence, a 180-day driver's license revocation and said fines and probation guidelines are stricter.

Peet was asked if he thinks the practice of probation on first and second DWI offenses is something that needs to be rethought.

"I don't have an immediate opinion on that," he said. "I know whenever we have a tragedy, the immediate response is to really crack down. It would be a violation of my (judicial) ethics to indicate in a public way my opinion on the issue."

Plane tried to land in violent thunderstorm

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Air traffic controllers were warned that a severe thunderstorm was approaching Little Rock National Airport, just before an airliner crashed while landing in wind, hail and rain.

The American Airlines plane arrived from the southwest late Tuesday at about the same time the storm blew in from the northwest.

The National Weather Service's severe weather warnings are fed directly to flight controllers, meteorologist George Wilken said today.

"The tower would see our warnings and it would be their decision what to tell the pilot," Wilken said.

The National Transportation Safety Board will have to determine whether the storm was a factor in the deadly crash, airport spokesman Phillip Launius said today.

Wind blowing at a steady 50 mph was recorded about 2 miles from the airport, the weather service said. And just after the crash, a wind gauge at the airport recorded a gust of 87 mph, Wilken said.

Hail fell thickly heavily near the airport, residents said.

"Hail was hitting the house so hard we thought it would crack," said Catherine Jones, who lives about a mile from the accident site. "We looked out the window and things were flying everywhere."

In addition to the wind and hail, up to an inch of rain fell in just a half-hour in parts of the city.

Michael Jackson's son hospitalized in New York; unconscious after seizure

NEW YORK (AP) — Michael Jackson is keeping a vigil at the bedside of his 2-year-old son who was unconscious after a seizure caused by a viral infection.

Prince Michael Jackson Jr. was stricken over the weekend, said Jonathan Morrish, an executive with Sony Records, Jackson's label.

"Friday night the child ... lost consciousness, and his legs and arms were paralyzed because of a high viral fever," Morrish said Tuesday in Modena, Italy, where Jackson was to have attended a benefit concert.

"The next 24 hours will be decisive for Prince's health," he told Italian news agency ANSA. "Michael would have wanted with all his heart to be in Modena but as all parents can understand he could not leave his son at this moment." Jackson's wife, Deborah Rowe Jackson, downplayed the reports of her son's illness in an interview with KNBC-TV in Los Angeles.

"He's fine. He is not dying. ... He's had a virus infection and he's going to be fine," she told the station. Mrs. Jackson said she was planning to travel to New York to be with the boy.

"It's horrible to go through," she said. "To hear that your child is dying and to find it on the news and it not be true is terrifying, especially when I've spoken to his father and he told me he was OK."

Jackson canceled his trip to Italy to stay with his son at an undisclosed New York hospital. He was to have shared the stage with opera star Luciano Pavarotti.

Pavarotti reportedly choked back tears as he told the concert crowd Tuesday that Jackson's son may be dying. "It would be best if we think of him and send him our prayers," he said.

Morrish said it was the third time Prince has suffered a seizure this year. In January, Prince was rushed to a hospital and treated for a viral infection accompanied by fever and dehydration.

Prince was born Feb. 13, 1958. Jackson and his wife had a second child, Paris, in April 1998.

Attempts by The Associated Press to reach spokesmen for Jackson were unsuccessful Tuesday.

Confederate flag on manual sparks debate

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — The just-released South Carolina Legislative Manual for 1999 is already sparking controversy. Not for what's in it, but for what's on it.

Black lawmakers were surprised Tuesday to find that the manual — stuffed with information about the state, its government and the courts — displayed the Confederate flag on both covers.

"It's like in your face. I think it's being vicious and disrespectful," said Rep. Leon Howard, a Columbia Democrat, who wants the book reprinted without the flag.

The manual's covers have glossy photographs of the newly renovated House and Senate. In each chamber, the U.S. flag hangs, sandwiched between the state and Confederate flags.

South Carolina remains the only state to fly the battle flag above its Statehouse dome. The question of taking it down has been a recurring issue for lawmakers in a state where a third of the population is black.

The manual brought protests from some lawmakers in the final days of an already tense legislative session filled with disputes about video gambling, funding for education and tax cuts.

Rep. Joe Neal, chairman of the House Legislative Black Caucus, said the General Assembly needs to be more sensitive to "political hot potatoes."

Black legislators say the flag is a painful reminder of slavery and the Civil War. Those who support the flag say it symbolizes South Carolina's heritage.

House Clerk Sandra McKinney edited the manual and helped choose the pictures, Speaker David Wilkins said. McKinney would not comment and referred questions to Wilkins.

Last year, the manual had a photo of the exterior of the Statehouse — and the Confederate flag atop the dome. This year, the photos were of the interior, Wilkins said.

Wilkins said the House would "look at the cost" of redoing the manual, but he was uncertain if it would be changed. "This is not an attempt to offend anyone."

Father, daughter sentenced for lying in Texas pig theft

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — A South Texas man and his daughter aren't riding so high on the hog anymore.

A judge in South Texas sentenced Scott Warren Cornelius and Cammy Cornelius to probation after they pleaded guilty to lying about the theft of Ms. Cornelius' prize pig.

Cornelius, of Agua Dulce, was sentenced to three years' probation and fined $3,000 for aggravated perjury, officials said. His daughter was sentenced to one year of probation and a $1,000 fine for perjury.

The father and daughter were indicted last year on charges of third-degree organized criminal activity. Both were accused of lying to a Washington County grand jury investigating the possible theft of Ms. Cornelius' pig.

The pig had been sold to a commercial buyer during the annual Houston Livestock Show in Brenham last year, but resurfaced two weeks after its sale at a San Angelo livestock show. The castrated male pig won grand champion honors and a $4,000 prize at the show.

Statewide rules adopted by the major livestock shows allow pigs to be shown once, Washington County District Attorney Charles Sebesta told the Corpus Christi Caller-Times.

FOOTBALL

DENTON — The Bill Bates-Darren Woodson Football Camp will be held June 6-9 at the University of North Texas in Denton.

The camp is for youngsters ages 8 to 18. Total overnight camper cost is $350 and total day camper cost is $290.

The camp will feature NFL players, major college and high school coaches.

Tuition includes instruction, lodging in air conditioning dorms at the University of North Texas, meals, insurance, Bill Bates-Darren Woodson Camp t-shirt, autographed picture and certificate. Day campers receive the same benefits with the exception of breakfast and lodging.

For more information, call 1-800-264-1414.

BASKETBALL

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — On a night when 40 fouls were called against the Knicks, the last one allowed Reggie Miller to beat New York from the free throw line.

Miller made two free throws with 2 seconds left, then Patrick Ewing barely missed a turnaround jumper at the buzzer, allowing the Indiana Pacers to escape with an 88-86 victory in a thrilling Game 2 that evened the Eastern Conference finals.

There were 68 fouls in all and 84 free throws, and the Pacers couldn't have asked for a better candidate to attempt the final two.

Miller, the league's leading free throw shooter, faked Chris Childs into the air and was pumped as he shot a jumper, sending him to the line for Indiana's 46th and 47th attempts of the night.

Miller calmly made both to give Indiana the victory in a game in which the Pacers blew a 17-point lead, lost their starting center to fouls with more than six minutes left and overcame an inspired performance from a Knicks team that was undeterred by all the adversity that came its way.

Mark Jackson rebounded from a sub-par Game 1 and led the Pacers with 17 points, while Miller had 16, Dale Davis 15 and Jalen Rose 13.

NEW YORK (AP) — Vince Carter of the Toronto Raptors and Paul Pierce of the Boston Celtics were unanimous choices on the all-rookie team selected by NBA coaches.

Also picked for the team were Sacramento's Jason Williams, Vancouver's Mike Bibby and Orlando's Matt Harpring.

Carter, the rookie of the year, and Pierce received 56 points each with Williams getting 55, Bibby 47 and Harpring 35.

Chosen for the second team were Houston's Michael Dickerson and Cuttino Mobley, Orlando's Michael Doleac, the Los Angeles Clippers' Michael Olowokandi and Golden State's Antawn Jamison.

Fishing for Small Fry

FRITCH — The Lake Meredith Small Fry Fishing Tournament is scheduled Saturday, June 12 from 8 a.m. to 12 noon at Stilling Basin in Spring Canyon, located below the dam at Lake Meredith National Recreational Area. The tournament will be held during National Fishing Week June 5-13.

Children ages 6 to 14 may fish in the tournament. Check-in will be from 7:30 a.m. to 8 a.m. on the day of the event. Each child must be accompanied by an adult throughout the tournament. There will be three age categories and numerous prizes in each category.

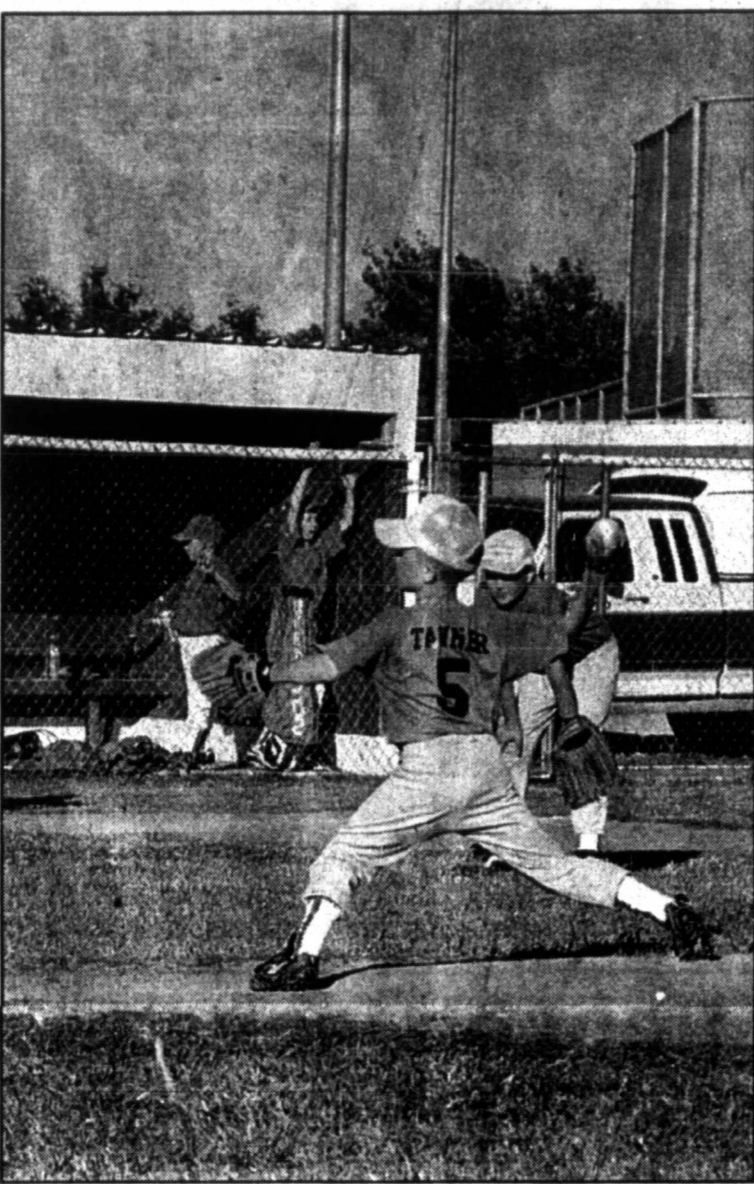

For children too young to fish or family members who don't choose to participate in the tournament, Lake Meredith National Recreational Park Rangers and volunteers will offer a children's games corner with relay races, fishing games, and other activities.

John Brownlee, president of the Lake Meredith Small Fry Fishing Tournament Association, and G.E. Merrill, vice-president, seek volunteers to assist with the event. The next Association meeting is on Saturday, June 5, at 9 a.m. at Lake Meredith National Recreation Area headquarters at 419 E. Broadway in Fritch. Volunteers will be needed to staff a refreshment stand, and assist the Association with management of the event.

"Many local businesses made community contributions towards prizes for the kids. What we really need now are volunteers — people to help us on the day of the event. These kinds of youth-centered activities build stronger families and provide safe, fun recreation for our kids. Please come and contribute your time to a worthwhile event."

For more information, contact John Brownlee at 806-273-6348 or G.E. Merrill at 806-274-3127.

Suntrol downs Pampa Three in softball play

PAMPA — Suntrol defeated Pampa Three, 20-3, in Optimist 13-15 year-old softball action Tuesday night.

Pampa Three led 3-0 after two innings, but Suntrol came on to hold them scoreless through the rest of the contest while plating 5 runs in the third, 3 in the fourth and 12 in the sixth inning.

Stephanie Clark struck out 7, issued 3 base on balls and hit 1 batter, while scattering 4 hits over three innings of work for the win.

Chelsey Davis came on in relief in the fourth inning to pick up the save. Davis struck out 4, issued 3 base on balls and allowed 1 hit in three innings of shutout relief.

Tamra Henthron made an outstanding defensive play in left field, robbing a base hit on a towering fly ball. Teryn Stowers played solid defensively at second and Hollie Gattis turned in another solid performance in right field.

For Pampa Three, Sabrina Johnson had a triple, Lindsey Ledbetter, a double and Abbey Parker, Stacey Johnson and Casey Lee, one single each.

Suntrol was led at the plate by Stowers with 3 singles, followed by Casey Fisher, Davis, Robin Reidle and Henthron, 2 singles each. Ashley Derrington and Gattis each had a double.

With the win, Suntrol improved to 4-2 on the season.

Clark at shortstop and Derrington at catcher turned in strong defensive outings for Suntrol.

Cowboys release Billy Davis

IRVING, Texas (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys on Tuesday released wide receiver Billy Davis.

The signing of wide receiver Raghbir Ismail to a seven-year, $21.5 million deal in April made Davis largely expendable. Last season, his first starting as a wide receiver, Davis had a career-high 39 receptions for 691 yards and three touchdowns.

Stars still flickering; force final Game 7

DENVER (AP) — The Western Conference finals will be decided by a one-game showdown between two of the NHL's most talented teams. Neither seems ready to blink.

Dallas and Colorado will need a Game 7 to determine the West's best after the Stars forced the series back to Texas with a 4-1 victory over the Avalanche on Tuesday night.

Like the previous five games, Game 6 was still in doubt in the third period before the Stars scored three goals, two of them by Jamie Langenbrunner.

"I dreamed of playing a Game 7 as a kid," said Dallas goalie Ed Belfour, looking ahead to the decisive game Friday night in Dallas. "I always won."

The winner will advance to the Stanley Cup finals against the Eastern Conference champion Buffalo Sabres.

Belfour, trying to shed his reputation for collapsing in the playoffs, was stellar Tuesday night. He kept the Stars in the game long enough for Langenbrunner to put the Avalanche away.

Langenbrunner, who had only 12 goals in the regular season, scored his seventh and eighth goals of the playoffs, including the third game-winner.

"It's a lot more fun, that's for sure," Langenbrunner said. "You play the game to score goals. That's what you dream about playing in your basement."

After giving up 10 goals in two straight losses, the Stars avoided their first three-game losing streak of the season by playing more like the team that won the Presidents' Trophy for having the best record in the NHL.

Belfour's strong play and Dallas' persistent attack were enough for the Stars to earn one more game at home. They are 6-2 at Reunion Arena in the playoffs — with both losses coming in this series. Colorado is 3-6 at home, but 8-1 on the road.

"There's no easy road to the Stanley Cup," Avalanche coach Bob Hartley said. "This round is a classic example. It's going down to the seventh game and we like our chances. We're a good road team, and I think we'll be there."

Rangers down Royals, 3-1

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Mark McLemore singled to key a three-run rally in the eighth inning, and the Texas Rangers beat the Kansas City Royals 3-1 Tuesday night for their eighth straight victory.

The Rangers' winning streak is their longest since 1989.

The Royals bullpen, which struggled in Monday night's 10-inning, 4-3 loss to the Rangers, faltered again.

Reliever Matt Whisenant (1-1) issued a leadoff walk to Lee Stevens and then hit Jon Shave and pinch-hitter Roberto Kelly with pitches, loading the bases with no outs.

Terry Mathews, the fourth Royals pitcher, gave up a single to McLemore that made it 2-1. Rusty Greer followed with an RBI single.

The Royals, 1-7 in their current road trip, have 11 blown saves in 19 opportunities this season.

CattleWomen seeking beef ambassadors

Top O' Texas CattleWomen are looking for youth ages 15-19 to speak for beef and the beef industry. To participate, you must be 15 by Jan. 1, 1999, but not over 19 as of Oct. 1, 1999, and you must present a 5-7 minute illustrated talk about beef and/or the beef industry from information that comes from a packet the CattleWomen provide.

The local chapter includes Hutchinson, Carson, Gray, Roberts, Ochiltree, Lipscomb, Hemphill, Wheeler and Collingsworth counties.

Local competition will be held in June with prizes to be awarded. The winner and runner-up will go to the state contest June 28 and 29 at the Texas Beef Council in Austin. Assistance for travel to the state contest will be available.

First place award-winners at state will receive $1,000 Ivomec Generations of Excellence Scholarship and $1,500 for travel expenses to the National Contest. The second place winner will receive $500 and the third place will receive $300.

The Texas Beef Ambassador will advance to the National Beef Ambassador Competition to be held Nov. 4-6 in Wichita, Kan.

For more information or to receive a packet, contact Berklee Clements at (806) 274-6073 (Borger) or Sally Wickert at (806) 323-6962 (Canadian).

TFU: Crop disaster relief good news for farmers, ranchers

WASHINGTON — The Texas Farmers Union is pleased with an announcement by the U. S. Department of Agriculture that nearly $2 billion in crop disaster relief payments is to be delivered to farmers and ranchers this month.

The funds are part of a $6 billion relief package Congress approved last fall. Payments totaling roughly $2.8 billion were made in November to offset losses due to low commodity prices. TFU helped lead the effort to win passage of the farm relief measure.

"We are pleased to hear the checks are in the mail because many producers are in serious financial straits," said TFU President Wes Sims. "Farmers and ranchers continue to struggle with depressed prices and weak markets, on top of the natural disasters of last year. These funds will help many producers cope with the losses they incurred through no fault of their own."

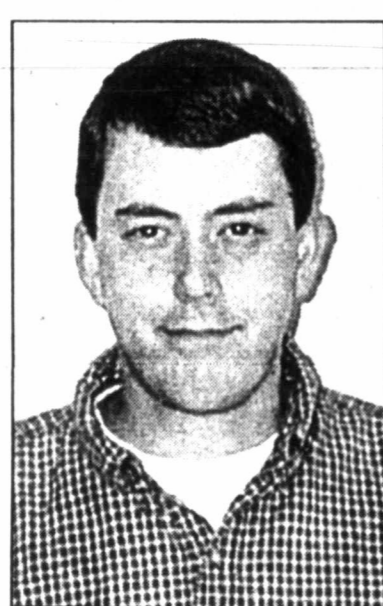

Due to high demand for the crop disaster relief, farmers will receive payments for 84.9 percent of their qualifying single or multi-year losses. In addition, the livestock disaster assistance portion of last year's relief bill was not nearly enough to compensate for losses due to the prolonged drought in the south.

"We hope Congress will work swiftly to approve additional emergency dollars to help make up for the shortfall in crop loss funding, as well as for livestock disaster assistance. This is especially important as farmers brace for another tough year," said Sims.

At the National Agricultural Summit, hosted by National Farmers Union, the leadership of 28 of the nation's farm groups unanimously approved language calling on Congress to fully fund 1998 disaster assistance programs.
