Lefors trash hauled away

Trash is making its way from Lefors to the landfill once again after an emergency meeting of the Lefors City Council late last week.

Trash had been building up for about three weeks in Lefors after recent rains caused early delays and then the city's garbage truck broke down, according to Lefors City Secretary Judy Williams. She said the part of the truck that compacts the garbage had broken.

The city had inquired about having temporary trash service from several entities including BFI, the City of Skellytown and Waste co in Pampa. BFI gave a bid of $650 a week while Skellytown said they would do it for $350. Wasteco gave a bid of $250 a week.

In a special meeting the Council agreed to take the Wasteco bid and ask them to start immediately.

Williams said that some trash had been picked up over the weekend and that Wasteco representative Curt Farmer had told her the whole city would be finished by Wednesday.

Williams said that there was a company in Pampa that could fix the truck but city employees had not had a chance to bring it in.

Toddler's family still wants Super Playground fence

By KATE B. DICKSON Associate Publisher

The aunt of a Pampa toddler, who drowned after walking away from the Super Playground, says she received more than 40 telephone calls in less than two days in response to her letter published Sunday in The Pampa News.

Melody Lane was the aunt of Ethan Wayne Anderson, 17 months old, who died March 15 a day after falling into a rain-swollen creek bed. She wrote the editor in response to the city commission's decision to install benches between the playground and the creek bed.

Lane, and Ethan's other family members, including parents Angela Anderson and James Alexander, had asked city fathers to build a fence around the entire playground. The playground is fenced around what's known as the toddler area but Ethan was playing in the other section the day of the accident. Asked by The Pampa News why Ethan was not in the toddler area, she quoted her niece, who was also playing there that day, as having said there were "big kids" in the toddler area who were playing "rough." At the last city commission work session, commissioners agreed with the recommendation of Community Development Director Bill Hildebrandt that benches, which will give playground supervisors an additional vantage point, be added in the area.

DWI probation pulled; man gets seven years

A 34-year-old Pampa man was awaiting transfer to state prison today after his probation on a drunk driving charge was revoked.

Thomas J. Carpenter was ordered to serve seven years in prison after 31st District Judge Steven Emmert found that allegations of injury to a child were true during a probation revocation hearing Monday afternoon.

Carpenter was accused of throwing his girlfriend's son against a wall on Feb. 9, 1999, in violation of his probation on a driving while intoxicated conviction. Carpenter was also accused of being behind in paying restitution, attorney fees and probation fees, all technical violations of his probation.

Carpenter was convicted on March 10, 1997, and given seven years probation on a DWI subsequent offense.

Professional wrestling is coming to Pampa but the winners are already known.

Former pro wrestler and promoter Ricky Romero is bringing an afternoon of wrestling to the Clyde Carruth Pavillion on June 20 to help raise money for a kid's boxing program run by Pampan J.R. Moreno.

Moreno, who is retired from Cabot, teaches boxing and other lessons in his garage to a variety of Pampa youngsters, currently ranging in age from 9-17. He operates out of his garage and as many as 40 kids have to compete for the limited equipment.

Romero was a staple in the wrestling world in Amarillo and around the Southwest for many years winning many titles including a World Tag Team Wrestling Championship. While he has always helped people less fortunate, he became more involved after a son was killed wrestling in Australia.

Moreno heard that Romero often helped raise money for worthy causes. They got together and Moreno said he told Romero he doesn't think he can continue the program without some help. Romero then set about getting a wrestling card together to help raise money. Moreno said boxing equipment is very expensive with good gloves costing $150 and the equipment he has is old. Moreno has furnished the equipment out of his retirement income so far.

They got together and Moreno said he told Romero he doesn't think he can continue the program without some help.

While the final line-up isn't set those who have agreed to appear are Ricky Romero Jr., Mark Youngblood, The Crippler and Doink the Clown, a professional wrestler from New York. Besides the wrestling matches some of Moreno's boxers will put on exhibitions.

If this card is a success then Romero might bring the matches here more often, he said.

Tickets are $9 for ringside if bought in advance and $10 at the door. Bleacher seats are $7 in advance and $8 at the door. Children 6-12 will get in for $6 and children under 6 are free. Clyde Carruth Pavillion is the building just past the rodeo arena in Recreation Park.

Several of the young boxers will be selling the tickets and they can also be purchased at Hastings at 1500 N. Hobart starting today.

Wreck blocks Hwy. 136

By NANCY YOUNG Managing Editor

Traffic was blocked for two and one-half hours on Hwy. 136 between Stinnett and Borger Sunday night following a two-vehicle collision shortly before 7 p.m.

A Borger man, Pedro Trujillo, 45, was transported by Lifestar helicopter to Amarillo's Northwest Texas Hospital from the scene. Two Gruver residents were transported by Borger's Rural Metro Ambulance service to Golden Plains Community Hospital emergency room in Borger.

Department of Public Safety Trooper Bobbie Shields said Esmerelda Renterio, 50, of Gruver was driving a 1999 Dodge vehicle northbound on Hwy. 136 when a 1995 Chevrolet pickup driven by Trujillo pulled on to the highway from a service road about a half-mile south of the Canadian River Bridge. The pickup pulled into the path of the Renterio vehicle, according to Shields. He said Trujillo's pickup was struck in the driver's door the impact.

The trooper said the investigation determined Renterio was not exceeding the speeding limit. Renterio and her husband, Jesus Renterio, 52, who was a passenger in the vehicle, were transported by Rural Metro to GPCH's ER. Mrs. Renterio was treated and released following treatment while her husband was transported by ambulance to NWTH.

The highway was block from 7 p.m. until 9:30 p.m., said Shields, due to extensive wreckage and debris scattered across the highway. Traffic was diverted through Electric City and Farm Road 1559.

He said Borger Fire Department was called to the scene to foam down the area due to a gasoline leak from the pickup. Bilingual firefighters also assisted in translating for some of the victims. Also assisting at the scene of the collision were Hutchinson County Sheriff's Deputies, Emergency Operation Center volunteers, and Stinnett Police Department. Shields said intoxication assault charges may be pending in connection with the wreck. DPS trooper and knocked into the west bar ditch by the force of Don Johnson also investigated the accident at the scene.

Hildebrandt told commissioners the playground "is not inherently dangerous" and no additional fencing was recommended.

He said there were "a lot of kids" at the playground the day Ethan "evaded supervision to go toward the other (Highland Park) playground. It was a tragic accident."

But Lane says, "I still think Ethan's death could have been prevented had there been a fence.

"I had eight calls before 9 Sunday morning," Lane said, regarding public response to her letter which chastises the commission for opting against fencing the playground.

Lane has a petition with about 300 names listed in support of adding the fencing. She said callers have asked to sign the petition and some want to help circulate the petition.

Once she's through collecting names, Lane said, 'We will take the petition to the city commission and see if it makes any difference."

If not, she said Ethan's family will " ... look to see

Reames upgraded to stable condition Horton remains critical By NANCY YOUNG Managing Editor

what other recourse there might be. "I am very disgusted, angry and frustrated with the city," Lane said, adding, "I really don't want people to think Ethan was neglected."

After her early meetings with the park board and city commission, Lane said, "I really felt like the city would build a fence. It seemed to me that's the way they were leaning."

She complained also that Hildebrandt did not keep her informed of the talks about the playground's safety after she said he told her he would let the family know what the city was doing.

"I'm still waiting to hear from him," she said. Ethan was at the playground with his sister, a cousin, his aunt and great-aunt when the accident occurred, she said.

Since the little boy died, Lane said she keeps seeing the "pain in my sister's eyes" as the result of the youngster's death.

"When she (Anderson) was reading the story in the paper about how the city wasn't going to put up a fence," Lane said of her sister, "the look in her eyes was like Ethan had died all over again."

Texas Eagle thriving again

Recently, in Austin, Amtrak Railroad repaid a loan the state government made to keep Amtrak's Texas Eagle operating. That was the final chapter in a saga that is worth retelling. And it shows what teamwork can accomplish.

This crisis arose one slow August day in 1996 when Congress was in recess.

The bad news was announced in Washington: come November, Amtrak would discontinue the Texas Eagle and three other passenger routes. This was a serious threat. Knowing how slowly Congress moves, I feared the route was a goner. So I went to bat to try save the Eagle, the passenger route that runs from Chicago to San Antonio, from Liberty, a Navy ship stationed in the Mediterranean. (Israel called the attack a tragic mistake.)

On this date:

In A.D. 632, the prophet Mohammed died.

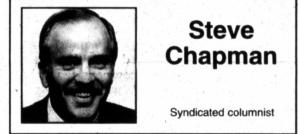

In 1845, Andrew Jackson, seventh president of the United States, died in Nashville, Tenn. In 1861, Tennessee seceded from the Union. In 1915, Secretary of State

William Jennings Bryan resigned in a disagreement over U.S. handling of the sinking of the Lusitania.

Killing enemy civilians immoral

Americans should be proud to learn that the United States and NATO are winning the war in Yugoslavia. By this, I don't mean we are defeating the Yugoslavian army and security forces. Unfortunately, they have achieved their objective of using mass terror to empty Kosovo of ethnic Albanians and are firmly entrenched in the province, with no apparent intention of leaving.

requiring dialysis, and patients in intensive care are all at grave, immediate risk - and there are 13,000 of them in Yugoslavia.

As water supplies vanish and sanitation deteriorates, disease will spread, posing a particularly lethal danger to anyone who is very old, very young or already ill. The longer the war goes on, the filthier conditions will be and the more people will be in mortal peril. Yet NATO continues to insist that it occupies the moral high ground. Alliance spokesman Jamie Shea says that if patients die because hospitals are deprived of electricity, that's not our fault. Milosevic, said Shea, "can either use his backup generators to supply his hospitals, his schools, or he can use them to supply his military. His choice. If he has a big headache over this, then that is exactly what we want him to have." This is the logic of a kidnapper: If you don't do as I say, I'll kill my hostage — and the blame will be on you. Even Henry Kissinger, vilified as a war criminal by Vietnam-era anti-war protesters, says this approach goes too far. "What kind of humanism expresses its reluctance to sacrifice military casualties by devastating the civilian economy of its adversary for decades to come?" he asks in a Newsweek essay. As Kissinger suggests, the reason we are trying to win the war by punishing innocents is that we aren't willing to try to fight an army with an army. We're sacrificing Serbian newborns to avoid casualties among volunteer Americans. If we're don't want to go in with combat troops and armor on the ground - and we shouldn't — then we need to either abandon the air war or conduct it in such a way as to minimize the harm to ordinary people who have no more control over Milosevic than we do. Fighting this way is a blunder. Worse, it's a extinction.

First we managed to persuade Congress to provide enough money to keep the Eagle operating, through the spring of 1997. This gave local and state supporters time to rally.

During this time, I was reminded again of how people in Texas really love trains. I heard from Texans who had such detailed knowledge of passenger rail that they proposed entirely rewritten Amtrak schedules to make the Eagle successful.

In May of 1997, Amtrak received a $5.6 million loan from the State of Texas to keep the Eagle running. Amtrak promised to operate the Eagle three times a week, and put up 47 passenger cars as collateral.

All cities along the route pitched in, too. They agreed to guarantee 50 percent of the loan.

In fact, the commitment of local elected officials to their trains and depots is truly amazing. Mayors Celia Boswell of Mineola, Audrey Kariel of Marshall and J.W. Perry of Temple worked with other mayors and state officials to support the loan.

Without their help, the Eagle would have died. That's exactly what happened in states that did not fight for their Amtrak service. The Desert Wind service between Salt Lake City and Los Angeles was halted for lack of funding. The Pioneer link between Denver and Seattle also rolled to a stop

On May 21 of this year, Amtrak did something that is almost unheard of in government circles. It paid back its loan to the State of Texas EARLY, saving $54,000 in interest.

Best of all, the once-nearly extinct Eagle is soaring. Today the Eagle is increasing its ridership. It has won profitable contracts to deliver mail. Express trains have been inaugurated. A fourth day has been added to the schedule. Eventually, it will run seven days a week.

With expanded service in Texas and a new line coming in from Oklahoma, Amtrak is carrying passengers across our country cheaply and conveniently. And we are creating a seamless transportation network so people can switch from automobile to bus to airplane to train — whatever best suits their needs:

An elderly lady in Bandera can take the bus to San Antonio, get on Amtrak at the lovingly restored Sunset Depot and travel to Chicago to visit her grandchildren.

A business traveler will someday be able to arrive in Dallas on Amtrak, connect with DART to the Dallas-Fort Worth Airport and fly anywhere in the world.

Amtrak could be a real boon to football season in Texas. Imagine the convergence on Austin for the Texas-Missouri weekend as fans roll in from Saint Louis on the Eagle. A Big-12 football package on Amtrak would be a winner in Texas.

Railroad passenger service is critical to Texas' transportation future. We simply could not allow the Eagle to be grounded, so Texans mounted a true cooperative effort to save it. I've worked hard to help reform Amtrak and get it on a firmer financial footing. My goal is to preserve Amtrak as an important option for Texas travelers and tourists visiting our state.

Thought for today

"The great man is the man who does a thing for the first time." —Alexander Smith

But never mind that. The other war is going superbly: We are beating the daylights out of the country's civilian population. Women and children, the elderly and the newborn, the sick and the lame — they are no match for the most powerful military alliance in history.

Since the first day of the air war, we've said that our bombs are not aimed at civilians. At the same time, we are deliberately doing things guaranteed to bring about suffering and death among innocent people.

Intentionally bombing civilians would be immoral, everyone agrees. But intentionally targeting them with equally lethal, though slower-acting, means of destruction is entirely permissible, according to NATO's reasoning.

After years of being victimized by Slobodan Milosevic, the people of Yugoslavia have found themselves being pummeled by his enemies. Bombing has cut off electricity to 80 percent of the country. Most residents of Belgrade no longer have running water. Bread is scarce, and food is rotting in refrigerators. Medicines are hard to come by.

There is no evidence that blasting the power grid has impeded the Serbian war on Kosovo. This guerrilla-style operation can manage just fine without it. About the only military benefit is that the loss of electricity disrupts communications and radar, neither of which is crucial to Milosevic in riding out the air assault.

Early in the war, NATO tried to give the impression that any hardship to innocents or damage to the country's civilian economy was purely a byproduct of our effort to destroy the Serbs' ability to wage war. Lately, though, allied officials have admitted that one big purpose is to inflict pain and suffering on the people of Yugoslavia.

"If you wake up in the morning and you have no power to your house and no gas to your stove, and the bridge you take to work is down and will be lying in the Danube for the next 20 years, I think you begin to ask, 'Hey, Slobo, what's this all about?" " says NATO air commander and U.S. Air Force Gen. Michael Short.

There are only two problems with this approach: It's ineffective, and it's immoral. In previous conflicts, as Dartmouth professor Robert Pape notes in his 1996 book "Bombing to Win: Air Power and Coercion in War," U.S. bombing "knocked out nearly all power generation in North Korea (90 percent), North Vietnam (85-90 percent) and Iraq (over 90 percent), but in no case caused the population to rise up against the regime." The Serbs follow a strange but familiar pattern: When we bomb them, they don't blame their government -they blame us.

As for morality, knocking out power is guaranteed to kill people who are helpless and blameless. Infants in incubators, patients crime.

Info-enter-advertainment industry

I'm sure George Lucas, the director, is grateful that he could save a lot of money on advertising. The news industry took it upon itself to hype and promote his new Star Wars episode to a degree I've never seen before for any movie.

That's OK. Any Lucas movie will be a good one with good moral values. It's just an interesting example of the changes in the news business. Admittedly, I am a relic of the dark ages in the business. I remember when a publisher angrily nixed a suggestion that his newspaper run a TV schedule. "They're competitors, and if they want to advertise their schedules, they can buy an ad," he grumped. Stories about movies were confined for the most part to an occasional review, unless the movie was being filmed or premiered in the circulation area. But that was a long time ago in an America far away.

Now, thanks in part to corporate mergers and takeovers, the news and entertainment industry are blended and it's hard to tell where one starts and the other stops. It's common now to say that one is in the "information" business rather than in the news business.

One of my favorite TV shows in the long ago was a western called "Have Gun Will Travel" with the late Richard Boone, who played a gun for hire. I wonder if all these people who crop up on TV talk shows have business cards that say: "Have Information Will Talk"?

I'm undecided if the info-enteradvertainment suppose Americans have developed short Force be with you.

industry's good or bad. An old way of doing something is not necessarily the best way to do something just because it was an old way. And people do seem a lot more interested in the new space movie than in the wars in Kosovo and Iraq

It's eerie, sort of, to think that nearly 700 U.S. planes are pounding the bejesus out of ugoslavia while in the United States, people go about their business just as if it weren't happening. Even the round-the-clockers on television have lost interest in the war, and it's been relegated to just another story along with the latest pill story, the movie opening, the guncontrol debate, the latest lawsuit, and so on.

I guess the guy who painted soup cans and said everyone has 15 minutes of fame was short of the mark. It seems now everything, even war, gets only 15 minutes of fame. You don't attention spans, do you? That would be bad for Latin teachers.

Another factor in the decision to relieve Lucas of the necessity to buy advertising is that our society seems to measure the importance of things in dollars. The new Star Wars episode will surely gross a zillion dollars. Therefore, it's big news.

On the other hand, I just read that NATO jets are burning a quarter of a million barrels of jet fuel per day destroying Yugoslavia in preparation for the day when American taxpayers will be told to rebuild Yugoslavia. It seems to me we could save a lot of money, not to mention lives, by refraining from destroying it in the first place. But then, I'm no foreign-policy expert. I suppose if I owned some of the big corporations that will profit from both the destruction and the rebuilding, then I could see the wisdom of the policy.

Alas, I have only a few shares in an information company pension plan. Not a single bomb, missile or construction company in my portfolio. Shows you what a dope I am. I thought with the collapse of the Soviet Union, peace might spread like the common cold.

So, my advice is, be bullish on bombs and missiles and bearish on peace and sanity. Who knows? The bomb-shelter business might even make a comeback. In the meantime, may the a mom $5 mil secret: Duri the role too bu shuffle his wit sort th the ki room, bed.

CANADIAN — The family of a weekend murder tomers who had been at the store Sunday morning. victim here is offering a $10,000 reward for the person who killed Imogene Gladys French.

French, 77, was found dead shortly before noon Sunday in a locked storeroom at the Oasis Truck Stop with an electrical cord was wrapped around her neck.

Authorities said a customer, who had stopped at the store with his son to buy a soft drink, called authorities when he found the store empty.

Deputies searching the store saw French through a window lying on her back in a large store room. The door to the store room was locked and had to be torn from its hinges.

Hemphill County Sheriff Dean Butcher said today that the family of the murder victim was posting a $10,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and indictment of the killer.

The sheriff said Ken French of Morrilton, Ark., Monday afternoon. It will be handled through the 1946, in Russellville, Ark.

Officers suspect that French was killed between 11:15 a.m. and noon Sunday. Officers said they were hoping that someone might remember seeing something that would lead to the killer.

Sheriff Butcher said today that investigators were ollow up on each and every lead.

Trucker indicted in fatality

MIAMI — An Odessa truck driver was indicted this week by a Roberts County grand jury on charges of criminally negligent homicide in connection with a head on collision in March north of Pampa Johnny Lee Johnson, 39, was indicted Monday in connection with the death of Michael Wayne Keenan, 47, of Amarillo, on Texas Highway 70 about 16 miles north of Pampa.

Department of Pubic Safety officers said Johnson was southbound on Highway 70 about 8 p.m., Thursday, March 18, when the tractor trailer rig he was driving began to jackknife. Officers said Johnson's red Kenworth crossed the center line into the northbound lane of the highway and crashed head on into a northbound white 1995 Chevrolet Cheyenne driven by Keenan.

DPS Trooper Ronnie Shank said the utility trailer that Keenan was pulling broke loose in the crash and that Johnson's tractor-trailer rig ended up on top of Keenan's trailer in the northbound lane.

Authorities said the highway was slick with rain and sleet at the time of the accident.

Johnson was cited at the time for driving too fast under the conditions of the roadway.

Presence is the Important Part Of Grandmother's Appearance

DEAR ABBY: "Loving Granddaughter in Wichita, Kan.," who was embarrassed by her grandmother's hairdo at her wedding, should have signed herself "Shallow Granddaughter."

Abby, I was married last December, surrounded by family. Only one thing could have made it better - if my grandma had been able to attend. However, my grandmother passed away four years ago. I loved her dearly and miss her very much.

She always wore her hair the same way, and had it styled by the same woman who had done it for many years. She always wore the same double-knit polyester dresses and pastel sweater suits, and I loved her all the more because of it. She was an original.

I cried when I read "Loving Granddaughter's" letter. Please tell her she should love her grandmother because of the unique individual she is. Otherwise, her shallowness will tarnish the golden memories she should be creating for the future

Rangers slip past Dodgers

LOS ANGELES (AP) -Rafael Palmeiro says his right knee, which required two operations during the offseason, remains a bit of a burden.

You can't tell by his numbers — a .366 batting average with 17 homers and 50 RBIs.

Facing Ismael Valdes for the first time, Palmeiro went 3-for-4, including an eighth-inning single that drove in the goahead run as the Texas Rangers beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 3-2 Monday night.

"It bothers me some," Palmeiro said of his knee. "I'm probably about 70 percent."

Palmeiro underwent arthroscopic surgery Feb. 10 to clean out some rough cartilage under his right kneecap. Less than four weeks later, he was jogging and tore the cartilage that absorbs weight and provides stability, forcing another operation.

Doctors said the injuries weren't related, and Palmeiro called them "a fluke, a coincidence.'

"Palmeiro hit a 2-2 pitch from Valdes (5-4) down the rightfield line to drive in Mark McLemore from second base and put the Rangers ahead 2-1.

Ivan Rodriguez followed with another single to right, driving in Juan Gonzalez and knocking Valdes out of the game.

McLemore opened the eighth with a single, and Gonzalez drew a one-out walk, the only one issued by Valdes.

Palmeiro was playing just his third game at first base after serving as the Rangers' designated hitter previously. He has missed only two games this sea-

OBITUARY

DALLAS (AP) — Raymond Berry, a top Texas high school coach who helped inspire his son to follow a National Football League career, has died in Northeast Texas after a long illness. He was 95.

Berry, the father of NFL Hall of Famer Raymond Emmett Berry, died Sunday at his home in Paris. His funeral was scheduled at 1 p.m. Thursday at the First Christian Church in Paris.

The elder Berry established himself in high school coaching at Corpus Christi and at Paris, where he began his career in 1938. He stayed with the same two assistants until his retirement in 1962.

Starting in 1927, the Mesquite, Texas graduate was an assistant to the legendary Pete Shotwell at Breckenridge. Under Berry, the Paris Wildcats won seven district championships in 10 years. Berry ended a 27-year coaching career with a 180-99-11 record.

Indiana ties NBA series

NEW YORK (AP) — Returning to the scene of Larry Johnson's devastating four-point play, the Indiana Pacers came up with the only suitable answer.

They made sure no such miracle would happen again.

The Pacers, still as poised and confident as ever, picked apart the New York Knicks despite getting almost nothing from their two best offensive players. As it turned out, the Pacers didn't need much from Reggie Miller or Rik Smits to beat the Knicks 90-78 Monday night and tie the Eastern Conference finals 2-2.

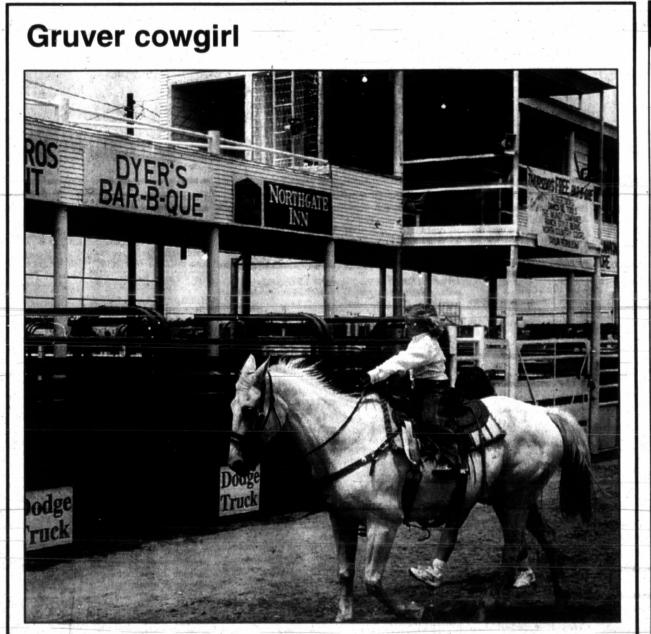

"If you let that taste stay in your mouth, you have no shot," said Miller, never a factor as the Pacers carved out the most lopsided victory of the series. "It was tough to sleep. Everyone was tossing and turning."

Now, the Knicks might be doing the same. They are left to ponder how their charmed playoff run stalled so quickly and thoroughly. "They did everything," Knicks guard Chris Childs said. "You name it, they did whatever they wanted to." The series returns to Indiana on Wednesday night with nearly everything about it changed drastically since Johnson's four-point play gave the Knicks an improbable victory in Game 3.

The Pacers overcame another poor game from Miller, foiled Knicks coach Jeff Van Gundy's decision to start Latrell Sprewell and restored their confidence and homecourt advantage.

Stanley Cup Capsule look at the matchup for the Stanley Cup allas Stars (51-19-12, regular season) vs. Buffalo Sabres (37-28-17) 1998-99 Series Record: Tied 1-1.

Outlook: Both teams are trying to win their first Stanley Cup. It is the Stars' first appearance in the finals since moving from Minnesota, where the franchise made the championship round twice. As the Minnesota North Stars, they lost to the New York Islanders in 1981 and to the Pittsburgh Penguins in 1991. The Sabres lost in their only finals appearance, to the Philadelphia Flyers in 1975. Dallas won the teams' first meeting of the season on Oct. 10, scoring three power-play goals against Dominik Hasek in a 4-1 victory at Reunion Arena. Rookie Martin Biron earned his first career victory, filling in for the injured Hasek, in the Sabres' 2-1 win at Marine Midland Are on March 5. Jason Woolley leads Buffalo in playoff scoring with 13 points (three goals, 10 assists), fol-lowed by Curiis Brown, Michael Peca and Alexei Zhitnik (12 points each). Brown leads the team with seven goals — including three game-winners. Miroslav Satan, the Sabres' leading scorer (40 goals, 26 assists) in the regular season, returned in the Eastern Conference finals after missing the semifinals with a foot injury. Hasek — likely to win his third straight Vezina Trophy and fifth in six years, as the league's top goalie — has a 1.82 goals-against average and a save percentage of .938 in the postseason. The Sabres, unbeaten in seven home games, will be well-rested after having had eight days between games. Hasek will have to be in top form if Buffalo is to extend the series and have a chance at winning.

Buffalo is to extend the series and have a chance at winning. Dallas's trength is playing coach Ken Hitchcock's disciplined defensive system and wearing down its foes. The Stars, who have won the Presidents' Trophy as the NHL's top team for the second straight season, are 7-2 at home in the playoffs. Sixth in the league in power-play percentage during the regular season, Dallas struggled with the man advantage in the first two rounds (5-for-52), but was 5-for-28 against the Avalanche. Joe Nieuwendvik 28 against the Avalanche. Joe Nieuwendyk (nine goals, nine assists) has five game-win-ners — including two in overtime. Mike Modano has 16 points, including 11 assists, Modano has 16 points, including 11 assists, followed by Jamie Langenbrunner (nine goals, five assists). Goalie Ed Belfour and the Stars' defense shut down Colorado in Games 6 & 7 of the Western Conference finals — both 4-1 victories. Belfour also had a shutout in Game 3, has a .927 save percentage and a 1.83 GAA in the cleaver GAA in the playoffs. Prediction: Dallas in 6 games.

WB to be available on KDBA

If you've heard the rumors that WGN will no longer be the source for the WB in Amarillo, they are true. As of September, premiere month for the new fall television season, the WB will be available to subscribers of cable systems carrying KDBA, Amarillo's new cable exclusive local station, according to a WB news release.

So far, Cable One has refused to carry the new station. If they do not sign on before September, their customers will lose the WB. The WB 100+ Station Group launched its new local cable stations in 80 markets last September and has continued to grow across the country.

Rhone-Poulenc and is working to identify the source of the problem and to correct it as quickly as possible. If you believe your crops
