HUNDREDS ATTEND AMARILLO BATTLE

It's Thanksgiving Day and by the time you all read this we should be either in Amarillo or in the dumps. . . That football game over there this afternoon has caused us worry to no end, and none is happier than we that it's about over for 1936.

Never having seen an Amarillo-Pampa game and never having been in a section of the country where high school football supercedes even college games, we have been taken by surprise all week with predictions all the way from 96 to 0 in favor of Amarillo down to 6 to 0 on the Pampa side of the ledger. . . All of which had us a bit mixed up when we got around to "clocking" the big Turkey Day tilt in the Panhandle.

While most of you today were eating turkey, chicken and ordinary Thanksgiving fare, fellows like City Manager C. L. Stine and Police Chief Art Hurst were munching on Red fish and shrimp, hotsy-totsy delicacies, brought back by airplane from the Gulf of Mexico, and piloted in by Dee Smith in his Waco cabin plane.

A man nowadays is nervous if his wife approaches with a hat in her hand. He doesn't know whether it is a new one, or one he accidentally sat on.

An Ohio city is pleased with its new parking meters, though they brought the problem of convincing drunks there will be no jackpots.

It is hard to understand why Prophet Farley is going into the building business to make money when, after a week at the race track, he could retire.

If Soviet hunters are like America's, it would seem dangerous for Russia to practice dropping its armies from the skies during duck-hunting season.

Mary Pickford has learned that some Buddy loves her, and she doesn't have to wonder which one.

C. Stuart Johnson, professor of paleontology at West Texas State Teachers college not only excavates the prehistoric monsters which roamed the Panhandle millions of years ago, but he draws their pictures as well.

When writing articles about his finds in the creek banks of the region he makes his own illustrations. His knowledge of the bony structure of these animals makes it possible for him to visualize their bodies. The razor tooth tiger, plant reptile, mammoth and Stegosaurus, a lizard, have been among his subjects.

In view of the fact that curves (the kind you find on highways) cause very little trouble to Panhandle motorists the following may not even interest them, but we'll tell you about it anyhow:

Automobiles with swinging bodies which counteract the effect of centrifugal force in curve driving will be the last word in the motor world, according to German automobile manufacturers who are trying out a new invention.

The device automatically lowers that side of the car which is on the inside of a curve and thus forestalls the outside swing.

The invention, designed by Joachim Klobe, can be used on motor cars with one-piece front axles as well as on those with knee-action wheels.

Personally, we won't ever venture to say what will happen to the Gray county inebriate who gets behind the wheel and drives on the outside of the curve instead of the inside.

Texas' famous Magic Valley will command the Centennial spotlight in December, as the most glittering festival year in the history of American entertainment comes to a triumphant close.

With the Texas Centennial Central Exposition in Dallas preparing to close November 29, and the Fort Worth Frontier Centennial having closed November 14, thousands are preparing to make the cross-Texas trek to the Rio Grande Valley where Mission, Harlingen, and Weslaco are the Centennial's official hosts.

The Texas Cirrus Fiesta, to be held in Mission December 4-6, is a banner celebration on the Centennial calendar. Parades, style shows, bathing revues and many other events crowd the program. Exhibit A at this big show, however, as at the events in Harlingen and Weslaco, will be the Magic Hock Moeley declaring that it took him more than six hours to drive from Lubbock to Pampa last night. He said that traffic in both directions was so heavy that the highway looked like a white way.

LEFORS TROOP BAND TO PLAY MONDAY NIGHT

FIRST AID DEMONSTRATION ALSO TO BE GIVEN HERE

The LeFors Boy Scout band of 20 pieces and the troop's first aid experts will furnish the program at the regular monthly court of honor Monday night at 7:30 o'clock in the county courtroom.

The LeFors troop, probably the largest uniformed troop in the Adobe Wells Boy Scout council, will attend the court in a body. The band will play several selections. The boys are members of the LeFors high school band. The troop is camped in a school bus. The troop's first aid demonstration which the boys and their scoutmaster, J. H. Duncan, grade school principal, have been preparing for several months. The demonstration is said to be exceptional up-to-date and finished.

All parents, friends and teachers of boys, and all Boy Scouts in Pampa are urged to attend the court of honor. Oil company employees interested in first aid are also invited to see the LeFors first aid team work.

Likelihood that numerous advancements and merit badges will be awarded is indicated.

THANKSGIVING

More intricate and more complex
Than the lives our Pilgrim Fathers had,
Our years are spent with much to vex,
And much to make us glad.
But even as they paused to pray,
We pause to thank Thee, Lord, today.

The sun was theirs, the sun is ours,
The good earth yields as it did then,
We have the same life-giving showers,
We have the women and the men
Who have walked bravely through the years,
Facing, and conquering their fears.

We have our State, we have our land,
We thank Thee, Lord, that we are blessed
In countless ways, Thy out-flung hand
Has given us what has been best,
Accept the praise that each heart lifts,
And make us worthy of Thy gifts.

Commander's Heroic Deeds Recalled By Writer

By PA PAMPA
(Via Short Wave Radio)
CAPE SHERIDAN, Greenland, Nov. 26.—Little did I think when I sneaked out of Pampa last week to take off via rocket ship from Hutton, Kans., that I would have the honor of spending Thanksgiving Day here on the coast of Cape Sheridan where Commander Robert E. Peary, of the United States Navy, stopped on Dec. 5, 1908, and made final preparations for his final dash to the North Pole in April of the following year.

Pa Pampa

We (my masked pilot and I) over-shot our intended destination after leaving King William Land yesterday. It was our intention to make the second stop on North Devon Island, but the motors were functioning excellently and the atmospheric conditions were so favorable that we agreed to keep going until a likely landing place here into view. And here we are on the Cape Sheridan coast. This leaves only about a 700-mile hop into the North Pole area where we will probably engage Eskimo dog-team sleds and push out across the ice until we reach the home of Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus.

Everybody knows by this time that I am the official delegate of the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce, sent up here to personally present Santa with Pampa's official invitation for Old Saint Nick to be the city's honored guest on Santa Day in Pampa, which will be held Saturday, Dec.

NEW THEATER TO BE OPENED ON TOMORROW

'COUNTRY GENTLEMEN' WILL BE FEATURE AT CROWN

All plans were in readiness today for the opening of Pampa's new Crown theater at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. It was announced today by P. C. Crown, president and general manager of the Crown Theater Corporation.

The new theater, in the former location of the Standard Food Market on S. Cuyler-st., will present as its opening attraction, "The Country Gentleman," featuring the comics, Olsen and Johnson.

The theater, Mr. Crown stated, will have a popular-priced policy of 10 and 20 cents for afternoons and 10 and 25 cents at night.

"The Crown theater," Mr. Crown said, "is dedicated to the progressive City of Pampa, and we promise its patrons clean entertainment and solid comfort. Our pictures will be first run and of the highest type obtainable."

Mr. Crown stated that he has booked for showing in the near future, two outstanding pictures of the year, "Dodsworth" and "The Garden of Allah."

In addition to the feature picture for the opening tomorrow, the Crown program also will present the latest Pathe News release, an animated cartoon movie, and The Major Bowes Amateur show.

The new theater has a seating capacity of 540. All seats are cushioned. The theater is equipped with the Microphonic sound, latest type of sound reproduction.

The theater also is air-conditioned and equipped with latest type heating unit.

Pictures will be changed three times weekly on Sundays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Mr. Crown also announced that the theater has coming the latest serial release, "Robinson Crusoe," which will be an early attraction for patrons of the Crown.

10 JAPANESE SOLDIERS KILLED BY RUSSIANS

HSINKING, Manchoukuo, Nov. 26 (AP)—Ten Japanese soldiers were killed in a clash with Russian frontier guards north of Paganichinaya, the Domei (Japanese) news agency reported today.

The Russian government at Moscow announced receipt of information of the border fight, on the Far Eastern Russo-Manchoukuo frontier.

The clash was described as the "most serious" in a series of border encounters between soldiers of the two states.

TEXAS TEACHERS HOLD ANNUAL CONVENTION

FORT WORTH, Nov. 26 (AP)—Members of the Texas State Teachers' association gathered today in fifty-eighth annual convention.

The executive committee approved for submission to the convention without recommendation amendments calling for election of a woman president every other year and reorganization whereby delegates would be elected by districts.

The committee approved creation of a speech arts section; transfer of Travis county from the Alamo to the Central Texas division; Karnes county from the South Texas to the Alamo division, San Patricio from the Alamo to the South Texas division and Grayson county from the Northeast to the North Texas district.

Seattle Paper Strike Settled

MRS. MANNING BABY HURT IN CAR WRECK

Mrs. Ed Manning received serious injuries when she failed to make a turn on U. S. Highway 60 between White Deer and Panhandle about 10 o'clock last night while enroute home from Amarillo.

She was brought to Worley hospital in a Pampa Mortuary ambulance suffering from concussion, shock, severe lacerations about the head and bruises. One of the gashes on her head almost reached her right eye but attending physicians say she will not lose her sight. Because of terrific shock it had not been determined this morning whether the skull had been fractured.

The accident happened on the downhill curve around a small lake about six miles west of White Deer. Mrs. Manning apparently failed to realize she was so close to the curve because her car shot straight off the highway. She was alone at the time and was following her husband who was driving another car.

The road at that point is dangerous. This morning several Pampans agreed to appeal to the Texas highway commission to have the road constructed straight through instead of going around the lake. They declared the curve was banked the wrong way and that insufficient highway markers were available at the approaches to the curve.

KILLED IN CRASH
CORISCANA, Nov. 26 (AP)—Ernest J. Smith, 29, of Corsicana, was killed instantly early today in an auto collision in the business district here.

Smith's car figured in an accident with a local state home bus. The state home football team was in the bus en route home from McKinney where it played McKinney high Wednesday night. No funeral arrangements had been made. No one other than Smith was injured.

Strikers, Employees Go Back to Work On Monday

SEATTLE, Nov. 26 (AP)—The Seattle Post-Intelligencer will resume publication with its Monday morning edition after settling a news room strike which closed down the newspaper for three and a half months.

The Hearst-owned morning paper reached an agreement last night with the Seattle chapter of the American Newspaper Guild.

Today the long-silenced plant hummed with activity for the first time since picket lines were thrown about the building August 13.

Twenty-seven strikers and the employers who did not walk out in protest against the dismissals of Frank M. (Slim) Lynch, news photographer, and Phillip Everhardt Armstrong, dramatic critic, will return to work Sunday.

The preamble said the agreement was "an office policy" and not a "contract," but the statement of policy would be continued for one year and as long thereafter as "economic conditions justify."

The cases of Lynch and Armstrong were left with the National Labor Relations Board which held a hearing here in September, another in Washington, D. C., this month and set December 1 for the newspaper management to file a brief.

A minimum weekly wage scale was established providing $25 a week for editorial employees of less than three years experience, $40 for those of three years; $20 for library clerks, home economics and society department employees of less than three years; $15 for copy clerks, office clerks and messengers of less than three years; and $18 for those of more than three years.

The "policy" provides for a 40-hour, five-day week effective March 1, 1937, with pay or time off for overtime. A 40-hour, six-day week was in effect.

PAMPA'S STAR BACK WILL NOT PLAY IN TILT

BOTH WOOLDRIDGE AND J. W. GRAHAM ARE INJURED

Redoubtable football fans streamed to Amarillo by the hundreds today to witness the annual Thanksgiving classic between the Harvesters and the Sandies. Deep down in their consciousness they had a feeling that somehow the pitifully small Harvesters would rise up and smite the huge Sandies, or would give the bull-necked behemoths from Potter county the battle of their lives.

Those who did not drive to Amarillo stayed at home to eat turkey, go to a show, enjoy the football game as it came over the NEWS' radio station, KPDN.

It was also a day of religious observance. General Thanksgiving services were held in the First Methodist church with the Rev. John Mullen preaching the sermon.

For many local families, today, like Christmas was a day of reunion, and transportation systems all over the country were taxed far beyond capacity, carrying hundreds of thousands to their homes.

Churches, Sunday school classes, the Welfare agency and individuals distributed food. Hundreds of Thanksgiving baskets were distributed locally. Most business places were closed.

For the fourth time since they entered Class A competition a Harvester football team will tread the turf at Butler field in Amarillo in an effort to wrest a win from the Golden Sandstrom.

When the two teams met for the first time in 1930, the Harvesters lost 2 to 0 on a muddy gridiron. Two years later Amarillo took a 7 to 0 game after the Harvesters had two touchdowns called back by a slow and fast whistle. In 1932 the same official. Two years ago Amarillo came out victorious, 13 to 6.

The record is different on Harvester field. In 1931 the Harvesters won their only game from the Sandies, a sensational 13 to 6 victory. Amarillo won 9 to 6 in 1933 and last year defeated the Harvesters 13 to 0.

Can the Harvesters upset the dope bucket this afternoon? An estimated

REBELS STAGE FIERCE ATTACK AGAINST LINES

MADRID, Nov. 26 (AP)—Socialist commanders rushed reinforcements to battle-scarred University City today to combat what was described as "fierce insurgent counter-attack."

Every available man in two international brigades was ordered into the northwestern suburban encampments.

General Laeber, acting under orders from the emergency defense council, strengthened the barricade forces with volunteers from the 11th international volunteers.

The 12th brigade, under Gen. Paul Lukacs, a Hungarian, was hurled against fascist troops attempting to drive into the city's streets.

Government commanders asserted the hurried defense "may decide the fate of Madrid."

Fighting in the front lines with the militiamen was Isabel Torno, Spain's first feminine troop commander. Slim, brunette, the 23-year-old communist—who in peace-time is a stenographer in the capital—won commendation for bravery under fire during the siege of Brun.

I Saw . . .

On page 1581 of Webster's New International dictionary the following definition of "pathetic fallacy" (not "poetic fallacy"), which may be of interest to Miss Clarine Brannon and Miss Gracie Fern Latimer: "Pathetic fallacy, a so-called fallacy of authors who, under stress of strong emotion, ascribe human traits to inanimate nature, as in 'the cruel sea.'"

With Thankful Hearts

Thou hast led us into the wilderness, O Lord, and blest it and made it fruitful. And for this and all Thy blessings we thank Thee. We thank Thee for the gentle rain and for the sun that shineth after the rain; for the good earth and the fruitful bough and the rich harvest. For Freedom and for Hope we thank Thee, O Lord, and for stout hearts and sturdy backs and willing hands.

It was a vast land, frightening in its immensity to men whose fathers had lived and died in the tight little shires of England, the fiefs and duchies of feudal France, the castellated towns of the Old World. It was a land of extremes, of raging flood and searing drought, of gentle warmth, blazing heat and bitter, numbling cold. Screaming winds over its raw prairies; its great central valley was fifteen hundred miles across and down its middle a monstrous swollen river rolled its silt-laden current to the sea. If there were regions so thickly forested that a squirrel might travel a thousand miles jumping from tree to tree, there were also regions, equally vast, where cactus, greasewood and sagebrush were the only living things and naked cliffs showed their crazy nightmare colors to an empty sky.

Here was Nature at her best and worst; here she had worked and and sported in her every mood, piling wonder on magnificent wonder without let or stint; forest, mountain, canyon, meadow; desert, swamp land, plateau, jungle. There were storm-tossed inland oceans—Great Lakes, the Indians called them. There were other oceans, too. . . limitless seas of waving grass where buffalo moved by the millions. There were hundreds of millions of acres of rich black loam, fallow since time began. There was iron, coal, sulphur, phosphate, oil. There was silver. There was gold.

Into this amazing land, awful in its splendors, mecurial, quixotic, lavish and cruel, came the white man. He came to escape the tax-gather's staff and the jailer's lash. He came rich in servants and kingly grants or with nothing but his heart and his two hands. He came for devilment and he came to worship his God. Nature fought him, silently, terribly, retreating inch by inch before his tiny tools. Raging rivers, howling blizzards, fever, swamp, the fearful rattlesnake all took their toll. He saw his wife and children dragged away to die horribly at the hands of screaming savages. But always the lodestar of destiny drew him on; westward he followed the setting sun.

His axe blade rang in the Pennsylvania clearing, and a thick black ribbon of Illinois soil rolled back from his plow; the ruts of his wagon wheels channeled the mud of the North Platte and the Republican; he dipped his arms in the waters of the Sacramento. Behind him raw sprawling towns arose and the railroads webbed across the land. And still he came, Englishman, Frenchman, Scotchman, Swede; Greek and Irishman, Italian and Pole, German and Jew, and Spaniard and Hollander. He worked on the railroads, he tunneled in the mines, he sent the trees crashing to earth. He built his home upon the stark prairie, sowed his wheat, nursed his cattle and his swine, toiled and sweat and labored and saw all swept away by flood, fire, wind and drought. He labored and built anew and Nature laughed again and destroyed a second time, but still he pressed on. The hot winds burned him and the Arctic gale. He grew lean, hard, mercurial as the land; quick and keen, thrifty and profligate by turns, terrible in anger, quick to forgive.

And so, slowly, he became an American.

On the last Thursday in November in the midst of her huge black cities and on her tiny farms America turns to celebrate her own great national holiday. But the skyscrapers and the silos are no longer there; back across the miles and centuries the American is sitting with his Pilgrim comrades in the dark New England wilderness. The turkey and the mince pie are but symbols; beneath the jollity of Thanksgiving the heart beats high with a love of country not to be expressed in words. It is a very real thing.

We thank Thee, O Lord for this, our own America, and for the glorious heritage which we are privileged to build into her shining future. Ever mindful of Thy Presence, O Lord, we ask, with grateful hearts, Thy Blessing.

HOLIDAY ENTERTAINMENT AND VISITS FILL THE WEEK-END

DANCE USHERS THANKSGIVING ACTIVITIES IN Game Shares Center Of Stage Today With Dinner

A carefree holiday week-end is being enjoyed by Pampans, with plenty of entertainment. Hundreds of persons attended a Thanksgiving eve dance sponsored by Business and Professional Women's club last evening to usher in the holiday.

Dancers to the music of Phil Phillips' orchestra at the newly-rededicated Southern Club not only had a gay evening, but contributed to the club's student loan fund. All club members, headed by the finance committee, acted as hostesses.

Another dance is scheduled at the Southern club tomorrow evening, when the Phillips 66 club will be host at a benefit for its welfare fund.

Today interest centers in the game at Amarillo, and the Thanksgiving dinner at home. Those who seek entertainment in Amarillo after the football game will find a dance there sponsored by the J. C. D. clubs of both Pampa and Amarillo, proceeds to be divided between the clubs' charity funds.

Country club members and their families will be entertained with square and modern dancing at the club ballroom Saturday evening.

Without all the outside amusement, however, the holiday will have its pleasures as a time of homecoming and reunion. Numerous students are at home from college; teachers and pupils of Pampa schools and residents of the city generally are visiting relatives or welcoming visitors from other cities.

Mrs. H. H. Hicks left yesterday for a visit in Dallas.

Mrs. H. F. Barnhart left yesterday to spend the day with her daughter, Mrs. E. E. Smith, and family in Amarillo.

Miss Frances McCue and Mary Mack McCue left this morning for

Two Recent Marriages Announced

Miss Holt Is Bride In Ring Ceremony Last Evening

Miss Mildred Holt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Holt, and R. C. Grider, son of Mrs. Sam Thurman of Big Spring, were married last evening at 8 o'clock in a ring ceremony read by the Rev. Will C. House, First Methodist minister, at his home.

Miss Evelyn Tackwell and Charles Compton were the only witnesses. The bride was lovely in a frock of dark green satin.

After the holidays Mr. and Mrs. Grider will be at home at 415 W. Kingsmill.

Both were graduated from Pampa high school in 1933. Miss Holt has been employed since as cashier for the F. W. Woolworth Co., and Mr. Grider is an employee of the Humble oil company here.

Surprise Shower Given Mrs. Silor

Mrs. Edna King entertained recently with a surprise shower for Mrs. Arthur Silor. Dainty gifts were presented, and games were enjoyed.

Refreshments were served to Miss Silor, Guy Dunwoody, O. T. Lindsay, E. W. Anglin, C. D. Harris, Anna Brooks, L. C. Eubanks, John Hodge Everett Kennedy, Lillie Savage, and Mrs. H. V. Turner of Odessa. Gifts were sent by Mmes. Brown and Marlow.

Clovis, N. M., to visit the latter's father, Sam McCue.

Miss Lois Amlin, teacher in junior high here, is the guest of her parents at Denton.

Mrs. Clifford Braly has as her guest her mother, Mrs. T. J. Constance of Amarillo.

E. N. Dennard is visiting relatives in Waxahachie.

Mrs. Frances Alexander is spending the week-end visiting relatives in Waxahachie.

McLean Faculty Members Making Holiday Visits

BY MRS. JIM BACK.

McLEAN, Nov. 26.—Teachers in McLean schools will have two holidays on the Thanksgiving week-end, and most are planning trips. Those to attend the state teachers convention in Fort Worth are Supt. C. A. Cryer, John Harding, Sarah Truitt, Helen Heath, Ina Nell Still, Sam Branch, J. M. Dotson.

Marlin Murdock will visit his family in Albuquerque, N. M.; Mrs. Vogel will visit friends in Snyder, Okla.; Miss Bessie will go to Canyon; Miss Allene Malow to Albuquerque; Miss Jewel Cousins and Mrs. Harris to Clearendon.

Miss Elizabeth Kennedy is visiting her mother at Esbelline; Mrs. McCarty at her home in Lubbock; Mr. Graham in Quitaque, Mr. Allen in Amarillo, and Miss Frances Noel in Memphis. Mrs. Jim Back and Mr. Magee will remain in McLean.

New President Chosen.

Mrs. R. L. Appley was elected president of the Ward School Parent-Teacher associations Tuesday, after the resignation of Mrs. Amos Tucker. The meeting was in the gymnasium.

The first grade rhythm band entertained, and Mary Catherine Brooks gave a reading. The Rev. I. H. Sharp was the speaker, on Home Background of the School. Mrs. Jim Back conducted the devotional. Mrs. Harris was in charge of the program.

MARY MCCORMIC WEDS HER FOURTH HUSBAND

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo., Nov. 26 (AP)—Gay Mary McCormic had a new husband for Thanksgiving today, No. 4 and the first one she ever promised to "obey."

The blonde concert and radio singer—she confides she'll be a red-head next—was married by a Kansas City justice of the peace yesterday to Homer V. Johannsen, Chicago attorney, handsome, dimple-cheeked and American just as she insisted her next husband would be after she divorced Prince Serge M'Divani.

"The word 'obey' was in our ceremony," she paused to point out during gay repartee with the man she introduced as "Mr. McCormic."

"That's the first time when I was married I ever said 'Obey.'" (Kenneth Joseph Rankin was No. 1 and Chester A. McCormic No. 2.)

"I'm a better lawyer than Homer—that's why I married him," explained the bride.

"I can throw that word 'alleged' around like a Texas broncho."

The former Texas cowgirl mentioned briefly her legal experience in three divorce suits and a million-dollar action brought against her by a Hollywood woman writer after some fistfights.

CHURCH ANNOUNCES SALE

A bazaar and bake sale will be sponsored by the Women's Missionary union of Skellytown Baptist Church in the Skellytown postoffice building Saturday, beginning at 9 a. m. Baked food and fancy needlework will be featured. The public is invited to visit this sale.

Oyster shells have been found 4,000 feet under the ground in Texas gulf coast oil fields.

Dorothy, attractive daughter whose education as a student in Wellesley college "will not be complete until she learns to make that cake," frequently gets one by mail, her mother says.

Mr. Becker, sports enthusiast and a leading Cincinnati clothing merchant, says he "even gets letters from woolen mills" with whom he does business, saying the writers "expect to sample that sponge cake some time."

She explains: "Too much sweet is too much."

And what does her family think of it all?

Secret of Cake Roosevelt Liked Called "A Knack"

By Paul E. Mason

PORT THOMAS, Ky. (AP)—Mrs. Sam Becker paused in the energetic stirring of two dozen egg yolks in a big blue bowl.

"And what difference would it make," she smiled, "if I did give you the recipe for my 'famous' sponge cake? The knack of making it—it would still be mine, wouldn't it?"

And that is the answer to what has become a frequent request, ever since Mrs. Becker, wife of a Cincinnati clothier, came into national prominence by baking a cake and handing it personally to the President and Mrs. Roosevelt as they paused on a campaign visit here.

Farley Gets One, Too

The nation's first lady, acknowledging the act in a letter, termed the cake "delicious."

Early this year, Mrs. Becker baked a similar cake for the inaugural banquet of Gov. A. B. Chandler of Kentucky. Postmaster-General James A. Farley tasted it and "hinted" for one for himself. He got it and likewise sent his "cordial thanks" and testimonial of its excellence.

What is there about Mrs. Becker's sponge cakes that makes them "different?"

Mrs. Becker, tall, Auburn-haired mother of a daughter, 18, and a son, 15, professes she doesn't know.

How is it made?

Well, the recipe which she says came from Russia and has been handed down from her great-great-grandmother, calls for two dozen eggs and "some sugar and butter and some cinnamon."

But there again, just how much sugar and butter and cinnamon she won't say because, she explains, "it's a family secret."

Friends who recently were favored with what she described as a duplicate of the cake given to the Roosevelts were struck by its resemblance—except in color—to the moist fluffiness of angel food.

The analogy stops there, perhaps, and one is surprised further to find "pinches" of ground cinnamon flecked through its fine-grained texture.

Mrs. Becker graciously imparts a "secret."

There is, she says, the tiniest bit of cinnamon flavoring in the cake itself, aside from the ground product dotting the slices. This housewives may accept as something out of the ordinary, if not new—for almond, lemon or vanilla extract is the more usual flavoring for cakes of that variety.

Dislikes Iceing

Mrs. Becker, who insists she is "just a homey housewife who loves to cook" despite her prominence in club affairs, says she "will ice a cake if they ask me to," but prefers them "as they are."

She explains: "Too much sweet is too much."

And what does her family think of it all?

Daughter of Pioneer Family Goes to Detroit

Miss Shirley Cox of Pampa and Clarence Jarrett of Detroit, Mich., were married Monday at Fayetteville, Ark. They will spend the Thanksgiving holidays there with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Jarrett, before going to Detroit to make their home.

Miss Cox, formerly of Mobeetie, has been employed by the telephone company here. She is a member of a prominent pioneer family of the Panhandle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Cox of Miami and the granddaughter of the late P. P. Reid and Mrs. Reid of Pampa.

Mr. Jarrett is employed with the Greater Detroit building association. The bride was complimented with a shower at the home of Mrs. Robert Brown before she left here to be married.

Turkeys Decorate For Bridge Party

Mrs. F. H. Siltou entertained the Deuce of Clubs at her home Tuesday afternoon. A Thanksgiving theme featuring turkeys was used in decorations. Turkeys were pictured on tallies, and candies in the shape of turkeys were served at the tables.

One table of players were special guests. They were Mmes. J. Cook, C. Huff, Paul Jones, and J. M. Hatfield. Members playing were Mmes. Clifford Jones, Ralph Jones, R. K. Eason, and Paul Carmichael.

Mrs. Hatfield scored high for guests, Mrs. Eason high and Mrs. Clifford Jones second high for members, and Mrs. Paul Jones held the traveling prize. A salad course was served after the games.

Guests Speak at Chapel Program

At the Thanksgiving chapel of Horace Mann school yesterday afternoon, two guests appeared on program. John S. Mullen, First Christian minister, conducted the devotional then talked on the origin and meaning of the holiday. Mrs. Raymond Harrah told a Thanksgiving story.

Miss Frances McCue's room was in charge of the program, and presented a skit, Down in Dixie. It culminated a unit of study on the south for the room. Pupils were assisted by three sixth grade students, who added tap dancing and harmonica music.

Miss LaTrice Quattlebaum led the school chorus in songs.

Careless smokers caused 47,845 fires in the nation in 1935—23 per cent of all forest fires.

DROPS DEAD

BEAUMONT, Nov. 26 (AP)—After driving all night to reach the home of her daughter here where a family reunion was to be held Thursday, Mrs. Rose E. Young, 48, of Fort Worth, dropped dead apparently of a heart attack a few minutes after reaching the home of the daughter, Mrs. H. C. Leftwich.

Beaver returned to the Royal, Neb. section after an absence of half a century. Reason for the return was not known.

CLUB STUDIES FAMOUS OPERA

Treble Clef Program Has Mrs. Dodge As Leader

The story and music of Wagner's opera, Lohengrin, were presented at the social meeting of Treble Clef club yesterday afternoon, when Mrs. Bob McCoy and Mrs. G. C. Malone were hostesses at city club rooms.

Mrs. Dave Dodge was program leader, and told the story of the opera, reading passages. Mrs. Walter Wannier reviewed the life of Richard Wagner and his work as a poet, musician, and his political career in Germany. She mentioned that practically all his operas, like Lohengrin, are centered around the fanciful themes of German myths.

A vocal solo, Elsis's Dream, was sung by Mrs. Harry Lyman. The Swan Song by Mrs. Alex Schneider, Song to the Breezes by Mrs. John Hann, and Breathe Thou Incessant Sweet by Mrs. W. A. Bratton. A quartet, Mmes. McCoy, Dodge, Sam Irwin, and Parris Oden, sang the famous Bridal Chorus. Mrs. Walter Stein played the prelude to the third act as a piano solo.

A dessert course was served after the program to Mmes. C. C. Dodd, Harry E. Hoare, E. W. Voss, W. R. Ewing, F. E. Leeb, Ed Donnell, Miss Jimma Searey, Mrs. Robert Ewing of Shamrock, and those on program.

LUNCHEON FOR MISS DALY IS PRETTY EVENT

Mrs. John Sturgeon Is Hostess for Party

Pretty appointed in the honoree's favored shades of orange and yellow, a luncheon was given by Mrs. John Sturgeon yesterday as a compliment to Miss Jean Daly, bride-elect of Walter E. Rogers. Mrs. Sturgeon entertained at the Schneider hotel.

For the centerpiece, a white bowl set on a mirror held roses shading from yellow to deep orange, and candles in pastel colors. Yellow and orange ribbons ran from the reflector to the ends of the table, marked with white figures of birds.

Corages of roses were presented to Miss Daly and her mother, Mrs. John A. Daly. Other guests were Mmes. W. H. Davis, W. D. Kelley, R. E. McKernan, Biery, Lynn Boyd, Frank Carter, A. J. Holland, Tom Wade, Misses Lonna Willis, Fern Hughey, LaVerne Ballard.

Miss Daly, who is to be married Saturday, has been complimented with a succession of parties since the engagement was announced earlier this month.

OUR SPIRIT OF GRATITUDE SHOULD BE AS SINCERE TODAY AS ON COUNTRY'S FIRST THANKSGIVING

The America that celebrates Thanksgiving this year isn't like the America that celebrated the first Thanksgiving Day, 300-odd years ago.

Today's America is a broad land, a rich land, secure and safe and strong. That earlier America was a tiny one, hemmed in by great foes, a wee colony planted between wilderness and ocean, one which might survive and might not.

The contrast is as striking as any in history. And yet there is more similarity than you might think between the two Thanksgivings.

The tiny Massachusetts Bay colony was returning devout and heartfelt thanks for the mere fact of survival. Ahead of it were uncounted problems, some of them very great; but just back of it lay the greater fact of escape.

The dangers of hunger, destitution, and cold had been beaten down, the great menace of the Indians had been held at arm's length.

Whatever might happen in the future, the colonists at least knew that their settlement was not to go the way of hat earlier, tragic one on Roanoke Island in Virginia.

So there was that sense of deliverance. There was enough to eat, there were houses to live in, there was assurance that all they had worked for and hoped for would not be snatched away from them before they had even a fair chance to taste it.

And from that sense of deliverance came a great upsurge of thanksgiving, of gratefulness to Providence for an escape from dire perils.

It is not hard to see the parallel between that and the situation today.

No American needs to be reminded that we have come through a time of great difficulty and danger. Our institutions have been tested to the utmost. The age-old dangers of hunger and cold have been with us; with them we have had that utterly terrifying feeling that nothing was secure, that some sort of lasting darkness might be ready to descend on our fair land, bringing chaos and confusion to us all.

Somewhat, we got through that bad time. We may not know, any more than those early Pilgrims knew, just how we did it, but we do know that it is at last behind us. The sky is lightening, our institutions are secure, we can look ahead with hope again.

Great problems remain for us, but we can face them with full faith that it is our destiny to meet and solve great problems.

Should not we today feel that devout sense of thankfulness, as our ancestors felt it three centuries ago? Have we not, in truth, as much to be thankful for as they?

Can we not, today, express our sincere gratitude to Divine Providence—and, having done so, await the future with the confidence that was implicit in the first Thanksgiving?

DAILY WASHINGTON LETTER

By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON.—One of the reasons John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers are citing President Bill Green of the American Federation of Labor for trial is that this is one of Lewis' ideas of having fun.

Another reason is that Lewis, in the great battle between the Committee for Industrial Organization and the federation, believes it's good tactics to harass the enemy.

And still another reason is that Lewis was more than willing to expose the phroneness of persistent reports of peace negotiations and practically close the door against any compromise gestures from the A. F. of L. convention at Tampa, where the C. I. O. unions will not be represented.

Mr. Green may not be in so silly a position as the C. I. O. leaders privately insist he is, but his position is extremely peculiar just the same.

It is even more peculiar since he was cited for trial than it was before.

Mr. Green must be a member of an A. F. of L. union to be an A. F. of L. officer. He is a member of the United Mine Workers, but that union has been suspended from the federation by Mr. Green and other members of the federation's executive council and the chances are that it will soon be expelled.

Question as to Mr. Green's eligibility to be president continues to be raised. Now the U. M. W. comes along to point out that, as far as it is concerned, Mr. Green is just an ordinary union member and accuses him of conspiring against, working against, and maligning his own union.

Subsequently, it is believed, he will be ordered to "cease and desist" and the eventual upshot is expected to be his expulsion from the mine workers' organization.

All of which makes the task of Mr. Green no less painful at the Tampa convention. There are craft union heads whose gratitude to Green for his fight for their cause is so great that they would just love to boot him out and take his job for themselves.

Whether the latest Lewis move will encourage such an attempt is uncertain. In any event it makes it just that much harder to bring any peace between the two labor factions and it may have the effect of disrupting solidarity and morale among the craft unions.

Like it or not, there'll be more and more labor news in succeeding months. The A. F. of L. convention probably will be the most important in its history.

The C. I. O. is going into high gear in its campaign to organize workers in the mass production industries.

Congress will have requests for some very important labor legislation, including wage and hour bills.

Meanwhile, Senator LaFollette's committee investigating labor spies and civil liberties violations will resume its spectacular hearings in December and a good performance may be expected, because the committee wants to make a good showing prior to its request for a large appropriation with which to continue its work.

Labor policies of one of the two biggest automobile corporations, one of the great rubber corporations, and a big steel corporation will be on the pan. The committee probably also will get around to the Burns detective agency.

After operating to date on a shoestring appropriation

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

NEW YORK.—One of the major benefits of the new drama season has been the clearing-up of a pertinent question. I mean, we are no longer in the dark as to how a Hamlet must behave on Broadway in order to satisfy the metropolitan reviewers.

He must, first, over-act. Then he must rant and rave like a lunatic and cleave the air with a battle-axe as well as with horrid speech, leaping like a mountain goat from one emotional peak to another. Finally, he must read into the character a degree of lunacy such as not even Shakespeare himself imagined. These are the "musts" in order successfully to stage Hamlet on Broadway. Emulate these and you will be called to the disparagement of all others.

At least recent history indicates as much. I am thinking now of Mr. John Gielgud, the distinguished over-actor, who came from London to play the title role in Mr. Guthrie Hamlet to the Imperial. But Mr. Gielgud believes in nothing if not tradition and so he plays Hamlet as two centuries of distinguished over-actors before him have played the part. The New York critics were charmed by this fidelity and sang him a hurra, but such lyric sweetness that I think it should be set to music. Were Mr. Gielgud to over-act in any other play as he does in Shakespeare the critics themselves would be the first to hoot him off the stage. And that's what I can't figure out. Why is Shakespeare exempt from the temperance demanded of every other playwright?

Howard's Tone Quieter After Mr. Gielgud established himself at the Empire theater, Leslie Howard brought his production of "Hamlet" to the Imperial. But Mr. Howard does not throw an epileptic fit every time he opens his mouth, and so the reviewers were unable to see in him any of the "verve and consummate fire" so plentifully found in Mr. Gielgud. Mr. Howard fancies that one can love one's mother without shouting it from the third balcony, but this, of course, is a fallacy and the sooner he realizes it the happier he will be. I have always thought that Shakespearean characters, at least occasionally, should speak in modulated tones, and I have always hoped that some day somebody would give us a Hamlet in whom we could believe. Hamlet, after all, was a moody creature (in no sense mad in the beginning) and I suspect that the over-the-marriage-in-a-mother had more to do with his despondency than the murder of his father.

If Hamlet actually achieved madness he approached it in measured steps, and he certainly wasn't crazy when the first curtain rose. At least he wasn't in my understanding of the play, nor in Leslie Howard's interpretation of it. But Mr. Gielgud, in the first scene, shows us a Hamlet already wrecked by emotional violence. It is unreal to me that one could attain such a frenzy at that point without the aid of there wreaking vengeance on whomever he has condemned.

Hard To Understand Let me make it clear that I am not disparaging Gielgud. The critics liked him and so all power to him. Nor am I carrying the torch for Leslie Howard. It is simply that I am unable to understand how a man could be so over-the-top against what seems to me the most satisfying "Hamlet" Broadway has seen. It may be that Howard's personal following will be strong enough to pull him through, although few plays ever survive the Hamlet to the Imperial. But Mr. Howard falls, it seems to me the theater shall have been bankrupt of something fine it has never had before and perhaps may never have again.

HOW'S your HEALTH

FORGETTING Matthew Arnold said, "We forget because we must and not because we will."

He anticipated modern psychological thought, which maintains that forgetting from the mild degree witnessed when an appointment is missed or a promise not kept, to total amnesia, represents a significant psychological mechanism by which the individual seeks to escape an unpleasant reality.

Freud pronounced the theory that what he terms the minor slips such as mis-speaking, mis-hearing, mis-reading, are not simple accidents, but are caused by and are revelations of the emotional attitude of the individual to the particular elements involved.

This man who is forced by someone anxious about his catching cold to carry an umbrella or to wear overshoes, is particularly likely to misplace and forget them. The appointment which is missed is likely to have been one not looked forward to with any joyous eagerness. The future to remember a well-known name usually indicates that the individual or some associated element carries an extraordinary emotional charge.

The more serious degrees of forgetting, those which we call amnesia, have the same type of causation which, however, is of a more involved nature. In the most marked degree of amnesia, when the individual has lost contact with his immediate world, when he is unable to tell who he is, where he came from, and what he is doing, we are likely to find an antecedent history of some extremely trying or painful situation which the victim was not capable of meeting.

In many such cases, hypnosis is effective in breaking through the amnesia and in uncovering its preceding difficulty. Amnesia varies in degrees. The loss of memory may be limited to recent or remote events.

Certain amnesias are due to specific injuries or illnesses. Usually such losses of memory extend over a definite period. The person suffering with the delirium of illness, for example, is likely to have an amnesia which has a definite beginning, and also a fairly definite ending. Such is known as retrograde amnesia.

In the senile individual, we sometimes encounter what is known as anterograde amnesia. In this state the patient seems no longer able to store up memories, and the amnesia is continuous, the individual forgetting what had but just transpired.

Among other things, the committee is investigating activities of the Black Legion. But the results of that investigation, if any, are for the time being kept a deep secret.

Oddly, such a person may recall clearly and correctly the events of his early lifetime.

Talks to parents

By Brooke Peters Church

It is not fair to put upon a child the burden of fulfilling his parents' ambitions. Every man must accept his own failures and shortcomings. He cannot hope to reduce them in his children. Each child is an individual in his own right, and must be permitted to choose and follow his own bent.

Mr. Smith had not been able to go to college, and to him a college education was of paramount importance. He planned to send his son to a university, and hoped in this way to live vicariously the life that he had missed. His son, however, had different views. When he finished high school he went out to find a job. The father's relationship with the child was for years embittered by this second disappointment.

Mrs. Smith had given up an acting career when she married, and now set her heart on seeing her daughter on the stage. The child was taught dancing, elocution, languages, anything that would equip her for acting. But Susie was a home body and wanted nothing more than marriage, a home and babies. At the first opportunity, she married and lived happily ever after.

There is no use in planning children's lives for them. They must be permitted and encouraged to choose for themselves. The very eagerness with which one pushes them in a given direction or towards ambitions which one has set up for them, is apt to make them go in an opposite direction.

Every child has a right to its own fullest development. He cannot inherit his parents' dreams. The burden is too great. He should be given an opportunity to choose what he will do in life, with no pressure or even suggestion from his parents.

ANSWERS to QUESTIONS

A reader can get the answer to any question of fact by writing "The Pampa Daily News" Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, director, Washington, D. C. Please enclose three (3) cents for reply.

Q. What are some of the present-day expressions derived from Shakespeare's works? S. K.

A. Among the present-day expressions found in the works of Shakespeare are: Pluming youth; What's that to us; Believe me; I'll be sworn; By and by; The ghost walked; By no means.

Q. Did Horace Walpole say "Every man has his price"? N. E.

A. The remark is attributed to his father, Sir Robert Walpole. It is, however, a distortion of various remarks that he actually made, such as "All these men have their price."

Q. What material is used in making the new indestructible playing cards? W. R.

A. They are made of Lumarith, a cellulose acetate material. One deck, used for 15,000 deals, showed no sign of wear.

Q. Is there a town in the United States named Rudyard Kipling? G. E. S.

A. Michigan has two towns which share his name. One is named Rudyard and the other is Kipling.

Q. Is Tibet an independent country? D. H. B.

A. Tibet is nominally a Chinese dependency but actually semi-independent, ruled by the Dalai Lama, the head of the Tibetan religion which is known as Lamalism.

Q. Who made the largest single campaign contribution to the Democratic National Committee? E. L. H.

A. A contribution of $100,000 from the United Mine Workers of America was the largest.

Q. Did the late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes serve in the civil war? W. K. G.

A. He served three years during the civil war and was wounded at Ball's Bluff, at Antietam, and at Marye's Hill.

Q. Is Chinese tea ever flavored with any flowers except jasmine? H. J.

A. The Chinese have tea scented with lily oleanders, gardenias, peonies and roses, but these are rarely exported.

Q. Is it proper for a mother or sister of the prospective bride to give her a shower? J. W.

A. The shower is in better taste when given by a friend.

Q. Please give directions for cleaning an oven. F. J. S.

A. Dissolve some potash in cold water and paint the inside of the oven with an old brush. The potash ruins the brush. Leave this on overnight and the next day wash it off with warm water. If the coating of rust is light, it may be removed by scouring with emery powder and rubbing off with kerosene. Kerosene left on it all night will turn out the rust.

Q. How many people turned out to welcome President Roosevelt when he returned to Washington after the election? N. M.

A. It is estimated that more than 200,000 people were in the crowd which lined the streets and gathered at the Union Station.

The Wrong Murderer

By HUGH CLEVELY

Chapter 33 KENNEDY AGAIN

Terrance still had to decide what he was going to do. If, as Lee-Ramsden had told him, there was a warrant out for his arrest, the sooner he obtained a disguise the better. The best place at which to obtain a good disguise would be Clarkford, the theatrical costumers, in Wardour Street.

He decided to get to Clarkford as soon as possible. The quickest way to get there was by car, and the nearest car was that belonging to the two crooks. He entered it and drove away from the house.

Wardour Street was crowded with traffic. He stopped near to the shop as possible, and walked along the pavement towards the shop. Just as he was turning into the doorway a hand tapped him on the shoulder and a well-known voice said: "I want a word with you, Mahony. I've been looking for you for some time."

The voice was that of Inspector Kennedy.

"Mahony cursed under his breath. "I was told you wanted me," he answered calmly. "But before we go any further, let's have look at your warrant."

It was his intention, as soon as the Inspector put a hand into his pocket to tick the Inspector's feet from under him and make a dash for it, but the Inspector did not put his hand into his pocket.

"Warrant?" he echoed in a surprised tone. "Who told you I wanted you, or that I had a warrant?"

He paused.

"Whoever he was, your informant was quite correct. I have got a warrant for your arrest; I've had it in my possession since yesterday. And it will depend on the manner in which you answer one or two questions whether I put it into execution or not."

Now it was Mahony's turn to be surprised. He stared at the Inspector, frowning.

"One moment, Inspector," he said. "Let's just get things right. Did you leave Mr. Lee-Ramsden's house at about lunch-time this morning with the intention of arresting me?"

The Inspector shook his head.

"I wasn't at Mr. Lee-Ramsden's house at all this morning," he answered. "Somebody's been pulling your leg. I was there this afternoon, though, enquiring about Miss Fraser. Mr. Lee-Ramsden seemed to have an idea that you were going to try to get out of the country."

"Lee-Ramsden said that!" exclaimed Mahony.

With the Inspector's words the full realization of Lee-Ramsden's treachery had come to him. It was Lee-Ramsden who had given him away to Lawson; it was Lee-Ramsden and Lawson between them who had sent those two men to lay him out in the house in St. John's Wood. But why?

"What's the excitement about Miss Fraser?" he demanded. "Why were you enquiring for her?"

"I am enquiring for her because she may be charged with being an accessory to a murder," replied the Inspector grimly. "She was in a house in Pennyfields this afternoon where two men were killed. She was seen to enter the house, and her car was still outside after the murders were committed. The house is in Royal Road and belongs to a man named Bassett."

Mahony was accustomed to receive shocks, but this was about the biggest shock he had received so far that day.

"Mr. Fraser—in a house in Pennyfields," he repeated incredulously. "But what the devil was she doing there?"

"Crossword puzzles, I suppose," replied Kennedy sarcastically. "Are you trying to pretend that you don't know what was there?"

"I'm not trying to pretend anything. I didn't know she was there. This is the first I've heard of it," answered Mahony truthfully.

The Inspector simply did not believe him. Once more he was strongly tempted to arrest Mahony. But that would do no good. Once under arrest, he was quite convinced that Mahony would keep his mouth shut and refuse to answer any questions at all.

"So that's your line, is it, Mr. Know-Nothing?" he said. "All right, Mahony, I'll be seeing you again."

He nodded and walked away. Mahony went to the nearest pub and ordered a stiff drink. He felt he needed it. This new turn in the situation was altogether startling and unexpected.

From the pub he rang up Bassett's number and had a brief conversation with him. The result of that conversation was that he and Bassett met in a bar near Charing Cross, and Bassett told him in detail all the events of the afternoon.

"But don't the police suspect you of being mixed up in all this business this afternoon?" asked Mahony.

"The cops 'ave been suspecting me of things for the last ten years," replied Bassett, grinning. "So long as it don't get no further than suspecting, I ain't worryin'! I told the cops my 'ouse was bruks into by persons unknown while I was sittin' in Eli Solomon's back parlor, and I don't know nothing about it till someone came in and told me there was a shemuzzle goin' on my place, and bodies fallin' out of windows, and 'ell to put generally. I ain't sayin' they believe me, but I've got witnesses that I was in Solomon's, and they can't do nothin'." The point is, wot's your next move goin' to be?"

Mahony's face was grim and set while he considered his answer.

"That rather depends on you," he said slowly. "Do you think you could find me half a dozen men, real toughs, who'd be willing to take a chance a pretty long stretch of imprisonment for fifty pounds apiece? I shall want 'em tonight, at about half past eleven."

"I could find you the men all right," answered Fatty Bassett. "I wonder... How long are you goin' to want these men for, mister?"

"Not more than a couple of hours," answered Mahony.

"Well, see here," said Fatty Bassett, with the air of a man who puts forward a brilliant idea. "The 'Amy Robsart' is sailing from the port of London at six in the mornin'. I know the skipper and I know the crew; there's not one of 'em as wouldn't sell his soul for fifty quid down, and they're as tough a bunch as I know. Wot about 'avin' arf a dozen of 'em, and they does their job, and you gives 'em their money, and they gets back to the ship in time to sail first thing in the mornin'?"

"That's a damned fine idea," said Mahony. "About the time the police are beginning to look real earnestly for them they'll be somewhere out in the North Sea. And now there are some other things I want. Listen carefully, Fatty, you've got to get this right."

"I want a couple of those men in evening dress—the most presentable two, because I'm going to take them into society. I want a couple of big cars. I want some drink—some good drink; I should think Champagne would be about the mark, and I want enough for about fifty people."

"That'll mean about fifteen bottles, if you're goin' to give 'em a good drink each," put in Bassett.

"Yes, a Jeroboam holds about the equivalent of six bottles; three Jeroboams would do it, I should think. And I want enough knock-out drops put into that drink to put the whole fifty people to sleep for a good couple of hours. One more thing, I want a place where I can hide a prisoner, if necessary. Can you manage all that?"

"I can manage it," said Bassett. "But wot's the idea? Wot are you goin' to do?"

"With any luck I'm going to stage a hold-up at the Golden Centipede Club that will set London talking for a week, and Lawson swearing for a month," answered Mahony calmly.

After parting from Mahony, Inspector Kennedy returned to Scotland Yard. From there he rang up Elsa Little.

"Terrance Mahony is dining with you this evening, I believe, Miss Little," he said. "Are you going on with your original plan of trying to fool him into committing himself?"

"Yes," answered Elsa.

"Right," said the Inspector. "I didn't think much of the idea at first, but perhaps it may come in useful. Would you mind if I send along a couple of sippy roads in microphone so that I can listen in the next room to what you say?"

"No. You can do that if you want to," agreed Elsa.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY Thanksgiving day fell on Nov. 26...

A white Thanksgiving with three inches of snow on the ground and flakes still falling... Pampa falls drove over a slippery road to Amarillo, hoping that Amarillo would defeat Lubbock on a slushy field and throw the district football race into a three-way tie...

The welfare board asked for 25 Thanksgiving baskets to give needy families, received 45.

A family reunion at the P. C. Ledrick home was one event of a quiet Thanksgiving day.

Pampa schools sent exhibits to Amarillo, where the State Teachers Association met. Many local teachers, attended.

ONE YEAR AGO TODAY A permit for operating a radio station was granted to the Pampa Daily News, a telegram from Washington informed Gilmore Nunn, manager.

Engle Scout leaders were given to Grover Foster and Chris Martin Jr. in a court of honor.

A tabloid section of The Daily News, printed on gold paper with green ink, heralded the Thanksgiving day game with Amarillo here.

PEACEFUL GENEVA FEARS AIR RAIDS.

GENEVA (AP)—Geneva, seat of the League of Nations and some 90 other organizations dedicated to international peace, is going in strong for protection against air bombardment.

Citizens have recently founded a Geneva section of the Swiss association for passive air defense. Public meetings are being held to teach the people the use of gas masks and the adoption of other security measures.

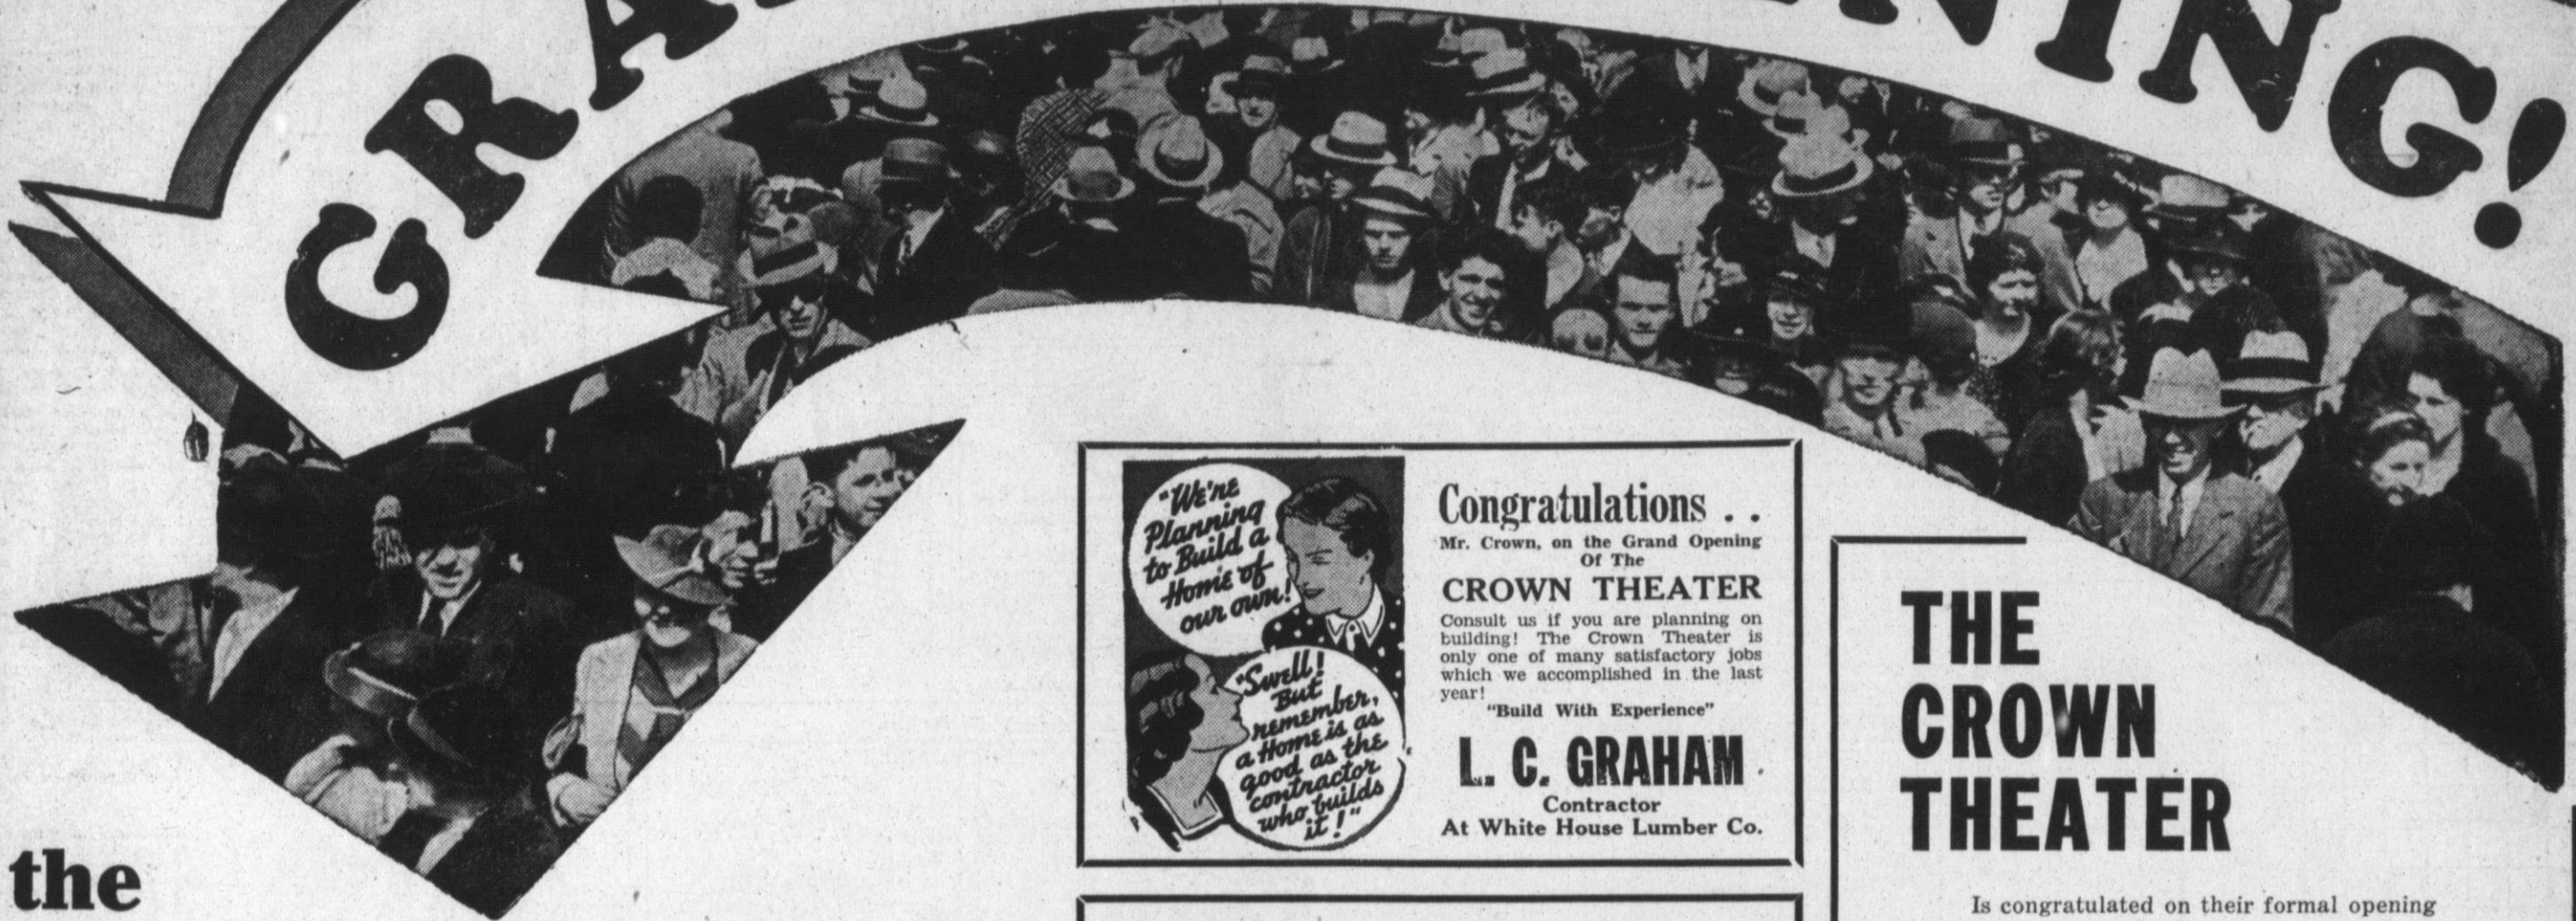

CHURCHILL SAYS LAWRENCE MIGHT HAVE WON EAST.

OXFORD, England (AP)—If the World War had continued for several more years Lawrence of Arabia (Aircraftman T. E. Shaw) might have realized Napoleon's young dream of conquering the east. That at least is the view of Winston Churchill, expressed during the unveiling of a memorial at Oxford high school, where Lawrence was educated.

outlook... National Biscuit responded marketwise to grapevine report that overhauling stock had been liquidated.

Consolidated Aircraft received a $6,000,000 Navy Department contract... Crane Company common being avoided until it 'proves' itself marketwise—newcomer to Big Board.

Texas Gulf Producers get $1 a share this year... Zenith Radio's first fiscal six months' net better than that shown for all of previous fiscal year... Union Bag & Paper has a long-pull speculative following—mostly Canadian... Walworth's recent market activity due to shares having new 'friends'.

Amsterdam traders like Curless-Wright class A shares for long-pull... And, that on December 2nd the Navy Department will announce contracts for 2,635,000 pounds of copper.

JAPAN WORRIED ABOUT CITIZENS' HEALTH.

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's government officials, doctors and army officials are alarmed at what they term the steady decline in the nation's health, physique and longevity.

Diseases like tuberculosis, heart failure, cancer, arterial disturbances and kidney disorders, they declare, are increasing at a disturbing rate.

The Asahi, one of Japan's biggest and most important newspapers, says that army statisticians show that 400 out of every 1,000 applicants for the army are found to be physically unfit.

AMSTERDAM (AP)—The first Diesel-drive taxis have appeared on the streets here for trials.

If successful many more will be placed in service. Diesel engines have already been used for several years on buses in Holland.

Q. Where do Texans who live in Washington, D. C., vote in national elections? H. M. O.

A. If they still retain their Texas citizenship, they can vote by absentee ballot at their Texas homes; if they have become permanent citizens of Washington, they can not vote.

Q. What amount has been spent in Federal buildings in Texas in the last three years? G. S.

A. Federal expenditure for Federal buildings completed or allocated, mostly postoffices, from 1934 to 1936 inclusive has been about $10,000,000.

Q. What is the timber acreage in what is known as the "East Texas timber belt"? B. L.

A. There is an area of 12,624,000 acres, of which 10,615,000 are in pine.

THE FINANCIAL WHIRLIGIG

By LOUIS SCHNEIDER

DULL

For a spell bond issues of bankrupt railroads ran wild. Then along came Charles D. Mahaffie, chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission. With a few words he threw a wet blanket on the movement. Mr. Mahaffie said that many bankrupt roads were to be reorganized. "Traffic" was the word he used. It threw speculative bond interests into a small panic.

But after the selling was over dullness ruled. The inside dope is that the largest amount of recent bankrupt railroad bond buying was for institutional investors. They bought on the belief that these issues were discounted too much on the downside and wanted to average their price costs. That being completed and with the speculators frightened the rail bonds are expected to be dull until trading courage is again revived.

Just what is the financial picture of the railroad industry? According to Interstate Commerce Commission figures since 1870 there have been more than 1,000 railroad reorganizations. The legal entanglements averaged a duration of from two and one-half to more than four years.

Today there are ninety railroads in receivership. They own 64,981 miles of track. These ninety carriers show a capitalization of $2,265,196,000. On the submitted figures the ninety bankrupt roads average 26.5 per cent of the nation's total mileage and 22.4 per cent of the total railroad capitalization.

The railroad industry's history discloses how overcapitalized many carriers are when incorporated or even when reorganized after going through the financial washing machine.

INFLATION

Many people are investing funds in real estate because they regard it as an inflation hedge. Informed real estate men say that caution is warranted. It is pointed out that as, if and when currency inflation comes, many will find that they have their funds badly placed. It is said that only certain sections of the country sport on speculative buying but the real profits will be had from real estate which actually produces what the public can eat.

It might be well to add that smart real estate men don't expect currency printed-press inflation. They do believe that if President Roosevelt doesn't put a stop to his easy money rule and spending credit inflation will become a certainty.

TELEVISION

Informed quarters report that television will be in commercial use either late next year or early 1938. This is confirmed by the fact that the Radio Manufacturers Association has already recommended a set of standards to the Federal Communications Commission. Those who wish to own a television receiving set will have to pay $400 or more.

But that doesn't worry manufacturers of regular radio receiving sets. This because television broadcasting will go out on an extremely short wave length of very high frequency. It is only perfected to reach one station and at not further than thirty miles' distance. Thus only one station could be had while no picture receiving sets can get any station at any distance.

SQUEEZE

Because of "backdoor" sales growers have placed cocoa traders in a bad market position. These fellows knew the size of the Brazilian crop and sold contracts against it. But now that it is time to deliver they find that farmers have disposed of a large part of it. To top it all off the short interest in the speculative market is fairly large. Consuming demand continues heavy. It gives the British interests complete control of the world cocoa market because they bought out Gold Coast offerings.

To sum up: The British can juggle prices at will... According to the best of trade informants the squeeze of shorts and traders is now in full swing. New commitments are being avoided since the squeeze may terminate at most any time... All this accounts for the sustained strength and new high prices of cocoa futures and spot deliveries.

REPORTS ARE THAT:

New Brazilian administration to make sincere effort to stabilize coffee prices... New York Central to be a dividend payer next year... Elgin Watch operating near capacity year... A drive has started to educate American public to buy Swiss watches and save money because of Swiss currency devaluation—will affect sales of American manufacturers... Kaufman Stores to benefit from increased wages being paid steel workers... American Commercial Alcohol expected to pay $1.50 a share dividend—meets next week... Wilmington interests say that U. S. Rubber has a promising

This is Not 'Bull,' Says Carlos Domino

By ARCHER FULLINGIM
C. W. Carlos Domino, grand champion Hereford bull of the Kansas City Royal Livestock exposition and of the Centennial livestock shows at Dallas and Fort Worth, told me Sunday afternoon with an indignant snort as he pawed up dirt with emphatic foreleg at the Combs & Worley ranch that persons who say, "Aw, bull!" or "he's shooting the bull!" should be shot themselves.

He is in favor of debunking "the bull" and thinks that an unnecessary stigma has been attached to bovine males by Americans who continually cry "bull."

In a fantastic and remarkable interview, the famous Combs-Worley animal related experiences and expressed opinions in answer to my queries, as follows:
"Well," said Carlos, "It's about time you're getting down here. It's been sort of dull since I got back from Dallas. To be perfectly frank, I've missed the crowds!"

"And the publicity?" I asked.
"Well, if you're a bull you can't get along without publicity."
"How does it feel to be a $10,000 bull?"
"How do you get $10,000? That was the first offer made for me. The herdsman, Andrew Meikel, who introduced you to me, tells everybody I'm priceless."
"You don't happen to be conceited, do you? Isn't that spreading the bull on a little top thick?"
"What do you think? Maybe you want to make something out of it? If you do, I'm not too civilized to use a horn or two... However, I might ask you if anybody has ever been around to see you with $10,000? Being well-bred I can afford to overlook the insults of mere humans."

"Well, this is an interview, not a comparison of bank accounts and family trees... How do you pass the time away since you got back?"
"Well, I've got it pretty soft now. But I've had it pretty soft all my life. Never had to lift a hoof for anything I ever wanted."
Liked Royal Best
"Do you like it out here now or do you yearn for the bright lights?"
"I've been taking it easy. I don't get cleaned and curled so often now. I let the hair on my back and flanks grow curly. In this picture, I Meikel had to do that every day at the shows. You'll notice the white hair on my face is naturally curly."

"Which show did you enjoy the most?"
"Indubitably, the Royal! They were more interested in Sally Rand and Mlle. Corrine, the apple dancier, at Fort Worth and Dallas than in me. I was the talk of the town in Kansas City."
The Crest Counts.
"What do you consider your best points?"
"Well that's another question which other people, that is informed people," and he lifted an eyebrow at me, "might answer better than I. But I'd rather tell you and get it right in the paper than have someone tell you and get it wrong. At the Royal the judges said my constitution was perfect, superb, colossal, monumental... They also marvelled at my crest. That is the slight hump back of my neck. Note how gracefully dothed it is. The size and shape of the crest denotes, as you may know, the masculinity of a bull. Note the broad deep flanks, and the broad straight back. My color is cherry red, and because Meikel wants me to keep that color, I am kept in the stalls all day, and allowed to get my exercise at night. This Panhandle sun fades the hair."

"Do you take any credit for your own success or do you share it with your dam and sire and other ancestors, and Meikel and Mr. Combs and Mrs. Worley?"
Bouquet For Meikel
"You should know that my mother was a championship $1,200 cow, and that she was bought by my present owners before I was born. Meikel is perfect. My temper has become like his—smooth, calm, unburied, philosophical, but determined. He has strong convictions, on certain subjects, for instance, line-breeding. Naturally, I have the same. We have never had the slightest disagreement, and I have never disobeyed him. People are always remarking on the perfect accord that exists between us. For instance, I do not wait for his cane to tap my hoofs when he wants me to pose in a show stance. I move my feet when he flourishes the cane."

"How did you like the Centennial?"
"The Dallas show was a disappointment. Few people except officials seemed interested. Although, I must say they did take my picture and run it in the papers. But it was the rage of Kansas City. The best people wearing tails and top hats and evening dresses came to see me. It showed, I thought, prop-r respect. If you know what I mean."
Domino On Romance
"Did you have any strong romance on your trip? There were some beautiful heifers in those shows."
"Young man, my private life is my own. That's what's wrong with you newspapermen. If I did any romancing, it comes under the head of private business... However, since you brought up the subject, if you'll glance at the beautiful heifer in the fifth stall, you'll see as comely an animal as I saw at all the shows. She's also a prize-winner."

"Outside of your regular scope of activities, do you have any strong feelings on any other subject?"
"Yes, I believe that Pampa should hold the premier livestock show of the Panhandle. The best herds in the Panhandle are within sight of Pampa. There are the Sills, the Talley, the Osborne herds, and you'll pardon my saying so, the Combs & Worley herds. Pampa is not only the oil and wheat center but the pure-bred Hereford center of the Panhandle."

"Anything else you'd like to say?"
"Just one more thing. There was a certain bull that gave me strong competition in all my shows, but he thought too much of himself. He reminds me now of the Sandies. This bull won the important shows but couldn't compete with me under pressure. That's the way the Sandies will do Thursday. They've put on a big show this year, a mighty show, but their big top is going to fall down and leave them in utter confusion when they meet those Harvisters. Boy, they are pure-breds! ... But you'd better get going. I could talk all afternoon on football!"

GERTRUDE STEIN GOES TO DOGS IN NEW BOOK

Nobody Knows What New Volume Is About
NEW YORK (AP)—Gertrude Stein has gone to the dogs to illustrate points in her new book. It's hard on the dogs.
This because only one man is on record (so far) as understanding what the book is about. He is Thornton Wilder, and even Professor Wilder admits parts of it stump him.

"There's the title, for example: 'The Geographical History of America or the Relation of Human Nature to the Human Mind.'
Publisher's In Dark.
Probably for the first time in literary history, a publisher confesses publicly that he doesn't understand one of his own books. Bennett Cerf prints a publishers note on the jacket. Part of it reads: "... I must admit frankly that I do not know what Miss Stein is talking about. I do not even understand the title. I admire Miss Stein up here. We also have plenty of sweets. The penman furnishes strength and the sugar supplies heat. This place, Cape Sheridan, is the spot from where Commander Peary's men—six of them—left with 17 Eskimos, 19 sledges and 133 dogs on Feb. 28, 1909. Commander Peary had formed his plans carefully. After they had gone a short distance over the ice, a small party would load all the food it carried, beyond what was necessary to take it back to the ship, on the sledges of those who were going forward. The idea was to have one supporting party turn back. Later another supporting party would also turn back, leaving any unnecessary food with those who were to go on.

Finally, 150 miles from the North Pole, the last supporting party turned back and Commander Peary, Henson and four Eskimos started on their desperate rush to the Pole. On April 6, 1909, their instruments seemed to indicate that the Pole had been reached. Flags were hoisted and the party camped. Mr. Peary went on several miles farther to make observations to be sure that he was right.

However, we do not believe we will have to push as far out as did Commander Peary. We understand that Santa's toyland is about 400 miles from the Pole this year. They say he has moved since Christmas of last year in order to be in a more convenient place from which to start his annual Yuletide visit to the little boys and girls of the world.

I am completely overcome by the awesome, historic connections of the land on which we have made our second stop. I was happy to learn that this was the place where Commander Peary had been, because I knew the boys and girls of Pampa and the Panhandle of Texas would be interested in what I had to tell them about this place about which they have studied in their geography and in their histories of polar explorations.

We are preparing to have our canned turkey for Thanksgiving dinner today. We have a fire burning here beside the rocket ship and while you are enjoying turkey and all the trimmings in your homes back there in Texas, we, too, will be having a happy Thanksgiving Day feast—even if we are up here so far away from civilization.

Now that we're getting so near to our goal—I can hardly wait until we find Santa Claus. My only regret, as I said before, is that I cannot have all the little boys and girls, from back home, here with me. I know that Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus would be glad to see them, and I suspect the boys and girls would get quite a kick out of it, too.

EDITOR'S NOTE: — Another dispatch from Pa Pampa in Santa Claus Land will appear in the Pampa Daily News tomorrow. Don't miss it.

Valley's incomparable climate and natural beauty. The Valley Mid-Winter Fair, scheduled for Harlingen December 2-6, this year is a Centennial event of first importance. The bountiful valley will here display the wealth of its varied products, but these exhibition features of the fair will be balanced by many entertainment attractions.

The Westaco Birthday Celebration, calendared for Westaco Dec. 9-10, will offer entertainment novelties found nowhere else in the world. Here will be held the unique annual style show, in which contestants will wear dresses made only of fruits, vegetables, or flowers as they parade down an elevated boardwalk more than a block long.

Far from the Magic Valley of the Rio Grande, however, other Centennial celebrations will gather in Anson, historic West Texas community, to participate in one of the most picturesque celebrations of the year—the Cowboys' Christmas Ball. For three nights and two days, beginning the evening of December 3, this folk festival of the West, celebrated in story and song, will be alive with frontier gaiety.

Beware The Cough That Hangs On From a Common Cold

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Creomulsion not only contains the soothing elements common to many remedies; such as, Syrup of White Pine Compound with Tar, fluid extract of Licorice Root, fluid extract of Wild Cherry and Menthol, but also has fluid extract of Ipecac for its powerful phlegm loosening effect, fluid extract of Cascara for its mild laxative effect and, most important of all, Beechwood Creosote is perfectly blended with all of these to reach the source of the trouble from the inside. Creomulsion can be taken frequently and continuously by adults and children with remarkable results.

Thousands of doctors use Creomulsion in their own families as well as in their practice knowing how Creomulsion aids nature to soothe the inflamed membranes and

236 STRIKING SEAMEN JAILED AT BEAUMONT

BEAUMONT, Nov. 26 (AP)—With 326 striking seamen in the county jail as a result of a mass picketing demonstration at Port Arthur Wednesday night in defiance of a district court injunction, county officials watched Thursday for a threatened influx of pickets from Houston.

"There'll be 1500 more over from Houston today to take our places," one of the strikers is reported to have told a deputy sheriff as the prisoners were being transported by chartered buses from the picket lines near the Gulf and Texas refineries to the county jail early Thursday morning.

In an unfinished floor of the county jail building the 236 prisoners milled about after a hurriedly prepared breakfast of bologna sausage, bread and syrup and they waited for the dinner which will consist of stew and bread.

The demonstration is believed to be in the nature of a test of the injunction granted by Judge George C. O'Brien in fifty eighth district court last Saturday, prohibiting among other things any picketing of the docks in the county in interference with seamen going to work on vessels docked in the county.

Judge O'Brien has not been officially notified of the arrests and will probably be asked Friday to cite those under arrest with contempt of court.

Borger News

BORGER, Nov. 26 — Figuratively speaking, Borger was closed up tight as a drum today for the Thanksgiving holiday.

W. R. Daniels and W. J. Moss were released from the North Plains hospital following major operations. George Yeith who is recovering from an attack of pneumonia was also released from the same hospital.

Mrs. O. H. Grant suffered a fractured pelvis in an automobile accident Tuesday. R. E. Neufeld, driver of the other car, underwent an operation on his knee-cap which was fractured.

MONARCH THREATENED IN BRITISH DISPUTE

LONDON, Nov. 26 (AP)—Newspaper editorials on relations between the cabinet and King Edward, apparently aimed at the undercover dispute over Mrs. Wallis Simpson, were interpreted today by the publication "The Week" as a "threat to the position of the monarchy."

The weekly said two editorials in the Times and one in the Daily Telegraph constituted "the first occasion on which muttered, whispered threats of the old guard as to what they would do in certain eventualities have begun to reach the printed page."

The Times and Telegraph editorials criticized the Daily Mail, another newspaper, for its editorial which drew a contrast between the king's energy and the cabinet's inaction in dealing with problems facing "depressed" areas in Wales.

Blast Kills Child And Injures Four

FREDERICK, Okla., Nov. 26 (AP)—Thanksgiving Day dawned on the charred ruins of a farm house where death struck last night in midst of preparations for a community Sunday school party to celebrate the holiday. A stove explosion and fire killed a child, injured four other persons and destroyed the home.

The child was Kenneth Wayne Calloway, 3, at whose home 16 miles northeast of here the tragedy occurred. Miss Inez Stevens, 23, teacher at Horse Creek school, suffered serious burns in the fire at the Calloway home.

Less severe injuries were suffered by the father, Roy Calloway, 38, Mrs. Calloway, 36, and Miss Vivian Chapman, 19, of Hollister, teacher at North Deep Red school.

Calloway frantically plunged his little boy into a tub of water when he couldn't smother the flames enveloping the child after he snatched the boy from the blazing kitchen of the four-room house.

"I didn't know what else to do," the father said in despair. "We had a gasoline heater to use in the front room," the farmer explained at a hospital here where his little boy lay dying. "We were trying to get the stove generated when it blew up."

10,000 fans will crowd into Butler field to find out and several hundred of them will be from Pampa.

Will Coach Blair Cherry keep his "college" team in the firing line through the game or will he pull them if he gets a lead? Is the question in the minds of Pampa fans. The Harvesters themselves are not in doubt. They are determined to show their best and force the Amarillo mentor to keep his players in the game.

The team will not be at full strength when it takes the field. Coach Odus Mitchell announced following a final light workout yesterday. Missing will be that little piece of spinning dynamite, Woody Woodridge. The mite fell into a chair in the Plainview game and injured a knee. Although he was under treatment all week, the injury failed to respond satisfactorily and although he tried to practice yesterday afternoon he was unable to run or pivot. Lewis Jones, out all week with a knee infection, reported for practice but he will not start the game.

Although working out at top speed all week, little J. W. Graham, who will replace Woodridge at the signal barking job, is still troubled with a hip injury, received in the Borger game. With Graham calling signals, Albert Ayer will take the halfback position. Coach Mitchell planned to take his cripples to Amarillo early this morning where they were to undergo treatment from a bone specialist. Woodridge declared yesterday that he would get in the game this afternoon if he had to take the field against orders.

The boys left for Amarillo by car at 10 o'clock. They were to take a long rest and eat a light lunch before the game which will be called at 2:30 o'clock with Barry Holton (Notre Dame), one of the best officials in the southwest, handling the whistle.

The game will be broadcast over station KPDN, Pampa, and KGNC, Amarillo, for the benefit of those who will be unable to go to Amarillo. More than 800 Pampa football fans will sit in reserve seats on the east side of Butler field this afternoon and other hundreds will take general admission seats. Hundreds of students will be in a special section. Pampa Drug store sold more than 800 reserve seat tickets between Monday morning and this morning when the unsold ducats were sent back to Amarillo. Sale of tickets was brisk yesterday afternoon when more than 200 reservations were made.

PLANTER CONVICTED. JONESBORO, Ark., Nov. 26 (AP)—U. S. District Attorney Fred A. Isgrig charged today that eastern Arkansas planters raised a $5,000 defense fund for Paul D. Peacher, who was sentenced to two years and fined $3,500 yesterday on conviction of enslaving seven negroes. "I know nothing about subscription of any such fund," replied N. F. Lamb, chief of defense counsel for the 42-year-old city marshal of Earle. Peacher furnished $5,000 bond.

4-INCH SNOW. CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 26 (AP)—A four inch snowfall caused postponement today of the Case-Western Reserve football game.

THE TIMES AND TELEGRAPH editorials criticized the Daily Mail, another newspaper, for its editorial which drew a contrast between the king's energy and the cabinet's inaction in dealing with problems facing "depressed" areas in Wales.

SMELLAGE TO OPERATE NEW GAS STATION

SKELLY PRODUCTS TO BE FEATURED AT LOCATION

The Bob Smellage service station, which occupies a large portion of the building and lot of the new Williams & Brown building at Somerville and Francis streets, is said to be one of the most modern and up-to-date in the Panhandle. The latest washing and greasing equipment has been installed. New type gasoline pumps, four of them, provide plenty of space for servicing of customers.

Skelly products are featured. Other well known brands include U. S. Royal tires, Peerless tires, Skelco batteries and car heaters.

Personnel of the station includes Aubrey Johnston, Bill Allen, Cal Pearce and Bob Smellage, manager. A cordial invitation is being extended to the public to visit the station on the two days of the formal opening, Friday and Saturday.

CAPITOL JIGSAW

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

AUSTIN, Nov. 26 (AP)—After four years, Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the railroad commission, broke his record of not missing a monthly prorating hearing.

As a result of two days tramping through South Texas oil fields, he contracted a cold and failed to show up at the hearing Nov. 19. The hearing was conducted by C. V. Terrell and Lon Smith, other members of the commission.

A deer story, like many others at this season, reached the ears of sportsmen.

A man drove to the Austin police headquarters and asked investigation of the disappearance of two bucks from his automobile. He shot the deer in the hill country not many miles away.

When he left the hunting grounds he tied the bucks to the rear bumper, when he arrived at Austin they were gone.

Some of Governor Allred's friends were surprised when he granted a conditional pardon to W. D. Welburn, Jr., former Methodist minister of San Antonio convicted of perjury.

The governor had repeatedly said he was through with the case and in his proclamation of clemency stated he had no doubt as to Welburn's guilt. Welburn had served about a year of his seven-year sentence.

He was convicted of perjury after testifying he had never married Mrs. Wineta Long Welburn and was not the father of her child. She successfully sued for divorce.

The governor said Welburn's conduct in prison had been exemplary, apparently he had been punished adequately, and many prominent persons had recommended clemency.

Papers on display at the University of Texas Centennial exposition indicate Stephen F. Austin, the Father of Texas, did not usually sign his full name.

As a general practice, he signed it either S. F. Austin or Step. F. Austin. A check bearing the latter signature is in the collection while other papers are signed Step. Austin.

ORGAN IS GIVEN SIAMESE TWIN IN OPERATION

Rheumatic Fever Is Fatal to Godino Brother

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
NEW YORK, Nov. 25 (AP)—Simplicio Godino, Siamese twin whose brother died Tuesday night after an illness of 10 days, was a complete man today for the first time in his life, made so by a rare feat of surgery which separated him from his "other half."

Lucio, the twin who died, possessed the complete body, and takes it with him to his grave. Plastic surgery gave the living brother the missing part, a rectum. This was the only organ in common between these 28-year-old twins.

Lucio was stricken while motoring here from North Carolina, where the brothers had made a theatrical appearance. At first it was believed Lucio had pneumonia, but today the fatal malady was announced as rheumatic fever.

Simplicio, who lay in the hospital bed with his mother, was not ill for an instant. He bewailed the plight that kept him in bed although he felt well. He took his brother's death bravely.

During the operation the twins' wives remained in a room in the hospital, shaken with grief and anxiety. They are sisters, the former Natividia and Victoriana Matos, and were married to the twins in Manila in 1929. They were still at the hospital today, where it was announced that Simplicio had a blood transfusion, had eaten and was doing "very well." He had a prolonged sleep.

The brothers were connected at a three-quarter angle by muscular tissue at the base of their spines. They were virtually back to back. When one walked forward the other walked backward.

Their blood circulatory systems were virtually distinct, a fact which is believed to have saved Simplicio from catching his brother's ailment.

Their nervous systems were likewise separate. This made it possible to do the separation operation without an anesthetic. The separation line was made through the tissues of Lucio, after he died, with no pain to the living brother.

After separation the plastic surgery operation was done with all the usual technique.

COTTON PICKERS WILL BE SOLD IN RUSSIA

CENTER, Texas, Nov. 26 (AP)—Advices received here today by relatives said the Rust brothers of Tennessee, inventors of a mechanical cotton picking machine, had closed a deal with the Russian government for the manufacture and sale of the revolutionary machines.

The brothers, M. D. and J. D. Rust, of Memphis, Tenn., perfected their invention about two years ago. It caused a stir in cotton centers.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Wood, parents of Mrs. M. D. Rust, said they received a telegram from their daughter today which revealed J. D. Rust had cabled from Russia that the Soviet government had agreed to manufacture and sell the machines.

M. D. Rust will sail immediately to aid in production work, the telegram said.

In two years after completion of the Santa Clara valley water conservation project in California, the water level was raised to an average of 21 feet over 120,000 acres.

NEW OLDSMOBILE HAS MANY IMPROVEMENTS

Two entirely new Oldsmobiles for 1937, each distinctively different and original in body styling, and offering many important advancements in mechanical design, are being given their first public showing by Oldsmobile dealers throughout the country.

Announcement of the new cars—the Oldsmobile Six and the Oldsmobile Eight—culminates the busiest development period in the four decades of Oldsmobile progress.

The cars are longer, lower, roomier, and more comfortable than those which made Oldsmobile sales history in 1936. The motors provide greater reserves of power with lower engine speeds, with corresponding improvements in both performance and operating economy. The Six now develops 95 horsepower, against 90 horsepower in the 1936 model; while the Eight develops 110 horsepower over the previous Eight. Wheelbases of the Six and Eight have been increased respectively to 117 inches and 124 inches.

In the Six is found an entirely new interpretation of radiator grille design. The new treatment employs eight die-cast horizontal grille louvers, deeply recessed and plated in chrome. Hood louvers are of a triple horizontal bar design which harmonizes with the radiator grille. Headlamps are gracefully streamlined.

NEW MANCHESTER MAYOR ONCE SWEPT STREETS

MANCHESTER, Eng. (AP)—Joe Toole, socialist who recently was elected mayor of Manchester, explained things will be quite different from the times when he used to sweep up refuse outside the town hall.

"For a year I shall live in a magnificent suite of rooms at the town hall. The city will give me £2,000 ($10,000) for expenses, a valet to brush my trousers, two secretaries, and a typist.

The new $14,000 building of Williams and Brown, local dealers for Oldsmobile, will be formally opened for public inspection Friday and Saturday of this week. It has been completed for more than a week and plans have just recently been completed for the formal opening. It is located at 212-222 North Somerville street.

The building houses a complete repair shop, a showroom for new cars, a wash rack, and a grease rack. It is designed along modern lines to give the most efficient use of available space. It is of brick and tile construction with stucco exterior finish. The white stucco with black block letters, indicating the various departments, makes a very attractive appearance. Huge floodlights, placed high on poles facing the building, gives it a daylight appearance at night.

The property is owned by Ben Williams and Robert Brown, who have lived in Pampa for a number of years. The Oldsmobile agency, formerly known as Ben Williams Motor Company, recently moved from 112 North Somerville.

The Fox Rig & Lumber Company furnished the building materials, the Motor Supply Company supplied the station equipment, John W. Crout & Son were the painters, and Rol-Top doors were installed by E. L. King & Company.

New tools and equipment have been installed in the repair department, in charge of John Venable, making the department complete for service, not only on Oldsmobiles, but also on all makes of cars. Parts and accessories are being unpacked for the 1937 models. It is planned to carry a complete stock which is being put in stock as fast as it is available.

Plans have been made to show visitors through the complete building Friday and Saturday.

MEXICO CITY TO HAVE HER FACE LIFTED BY OPENING OF SEASON

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 25 (AP)—Old Mexico will have her face lifted before 1937's tourists come to see her.

A public works program involving expenditure of 60,000,000 pesos ($15,666,000 U. S.) was outlined last week by Cosme Hinojosa, chief of the federal district, for this capital that, one Mexican humorist says "will be pretty if they ever get through building it."

Not all that money, Hinojosa explains, will be coming from taxpayers next year: revenues are estimated only at 45,000,000 pesos.

Nevertheless, "the city's credit is on such solid foundation," he expects to have no difficulty financing the program.

Most interesting to Americans who will travel down the new international highway in 1937, will be Hinojosa's plans to improve and "make more typical" ancient Xochimilco, the suburb sometimes called "Venice of Mexico."

Roads leading to the picturesque village afloat, almost the sole remnant of the Aztecs' life-on-lakes, will be widened and smoothed; parking facilities will be provided at the docks where flat-bottomed charter "chaulupas" tie up; dirty water will be drained away from the canals; stands selling "acos," "tamales," "tortas" and similar Mexican dainties will receive rigid sanitary inspection.

Particularly welcome is this last, for this summer several cases of illness among government officials were ascribed to food eaten at Xochimilco during an entertainment for visiting United States navy officials.

Automobilists resident in the capital are pleased that Hinojosa promises to widen streets in the center of the city.

That widening, he pledges, will experience no such contretemps as did San Juan de Letran, main cross-town artery, which is boulevard-

SEVEN DIFFERENT PERIODS

The Iriquois, for example, in New York state, in Ontario and along the St. Lawrence river, have seven separate periods of Thanksgiving. The first is at the beginning of the year and last for seven days. Elaborate dramatizations of gratitude for past favors are presented, new-born babies are named, dreams are interpreted, and solemn prayers for good fortune in the year ahead are offered.

The first running of the maple sap, spring planting, ripening of strawberries, beginning of crop cultivation, appearance of the green corn, and harvesting time all are occasions for thankful ceremonies among the Iriquois.

Celilo tribes of Oregon observe the opening of the salmon season on the Columbia river with age-old rites of Thanksgiving. Feasts and dances from which white men are excluded follow the appearance of the first spring chinook.

In the southwest, at Gallup, N. M., during the last three days of August there is one of the greatest gatherings of Indian tribes in America. Pueblos, Navajos, Hopis, Pimas, Apaches, Patules and Papagos, numbering more than a thousand, meet to "let off steam," as one Indian official describes it, but at the same time to give thanks to the "great spirit" in ceremony and dance.

One of the most colorful Indian Thanksgivings, too, is that held in eastern Oklahoma, near Miami, the latter part of July. There the eastern Shawnees, Senecas, Modocs and Wyandottes assemble to offer up thanks in the "green corn festival" for the gifts of the rain, the sun and the grain.

WHITE MAN'S THANKSGIVING DAY JUST ONE OF MANY FOR INDIANS

By HERBERT PLUMMER
WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP)—When the pilgrims offered their first Thanksgiving, the Indians were their guests, and as courteous folk the red men still observe the day at the same time as their white brothers—but their own Thanksgiving extends throughout the year.

Indian bureau officials say that, although reservation schools close, missions hold services and families feast on the white man's Thursday, the tribes still give thanks to the "great spirit" in their own ancient ways at their own traditional times.

CHINESE FREE GIRL WHO SHOT WAR LORD

NANKING, China (AP)—Murder is a crime punishable by death in China, as in other countries, but slaying of a warlord can be a pardonable indiscretion, especially when the slayer is a young and attractive lady, and the motive filial piety.

A year ago Warlord Sun Chaung-fang, erstwhile boss of the lower Yangtze provinces, repaired to a temple to pray to Buddha. But his religious contemplations were cut short by a bullet fired by another worshipper.

Pocketing her pistol, the gun woman surrendered to the police, explaining that she was the daughter of an officer whom Marshal Sun had caused to be executed years ago.

The trial court sentenced the slayer to prison for seven years, but so strong is the Chinese belief in the ancient Confucian virtue of reverence for one's ancestors that appeals for clemency swamped the judicial authorities. The young lady received a complete pardon.

SKELLY Adds VIRGIN GASOLINE to REFINERY GASOLINE

Tailor-Made to Fit Your Weather
 For FASTER START

VIRGIN GASOLINE PRESSED FROM GAS-WELL GAS

It's a volatile, yet stable, high octane product that is far faster-starting than refinery gasoline. Virgin gasoline is not "casing-head" gasoline. It is the cleanest gasoline known. By adding Virgin gasoline in varying amounts (up to 88%) to refinery gasoline, Skelly "tailors" Aromax to fit your weather—to start faster, to pick up faster, to boost mileage the year around. Drive in today, where you see "The Skelly Tailor" pictured above.

REFINERY gasoline is pretty much alike—yet you and I know it acts differently in different weather. Slow starting in winter. Vapor-lock trouble in summer. Varying mileage results, depending on the weather.

Skelly upset that time-worn precedent of making gasoline "the same everywhere" . . .

1. By announcing that Aromax is NOT the same everywhere.
2. By "tailoring" gasoline to fit changing weather in each community, for faster start and uniformly highest mileage.
3. By adding Virgin gasoline to refinery gasoline, at 24 different tailoring points for nearby Skelly stations.
4. By offering you Tailor-Made Aromax, the fastest-starting, fastest-accelerating, highest-mileage gasoline possible, so far as Skelly engineers know.

Today, only ONE gasoline is Tailor-Made for each community. Skelly is alone in Tailor-Making, tailoring Aromax to keep abreast of the weather. If you wonder whether gasoline can be made to fit the weather, drive in and fill with Aromax. Try a Tailor-Made start. If you're not satisfied with Tailor-Making, Skelly will gladly refund your money. You can't lose.

FREE—New interesting booklet "The Skelly Tailor Tells How He Tailors". Get it free from your Skelly Man.

CATTLE RANCH SEARCHED FOR SLAYING CLUES

RANGER CAPTAIN SAYS BODIES OF PAIR REMOVED

BY LEWIS NORDYKE.
SAN PERLITA, Nov. 26 (AP)—Six mounted men headed into the million-acre King cattle empire today to search for clues in the disappearance a week ago of Luther and John Blanton, San Perlita farmers.

Expressing a belief the men were slain and their bodies removed from the ranch, Ranger Capt. Bill McMurray continued an investigation with the aid of residents of the community and relatives of the missing pair.

Heated feeling subsided yesterday when McMurray gave aroused residents permission to conduct any orderly investigation.

Constable Ernest Oakes of Sebastian and A. J. Faulk, a neighbor of the missing men, headed the new searching party. McMurray let them enter the ranch last night to be ready to start the hunt at dawn.

The Blantons were last seen eight days ago heading for a lagoon on the ranch to hunt ducks. That was a week ago yesterday.

Fifteen men headed by McMurray and Sheriff Howard Crag made a fruitless search on the ranch yesterday. The Ranger captain arranged the search after residents at a mass meeting agreed to leave the investigation in his hands.

Incensed by the failure of officers to find a trace of the hunters, residents previously had threatened to invade the vast cattle domain in search of clues.

Meanwhile McMurray held a game warden and a Mexican in an unannounced jail but did not disclose what connection, if any, he believed they had with the mystery.

DALHART WOLVES WILL BATTLE TULIA HORNETS

The Pampa-Amarillo football game to be played this afternoon in Amarillo is not the only gridiron spectacle for the Panhandle this afternoon.

Up in Dalhart the light but speedy Dalhart Wolves play host and enemy to the big Tulia Hornets for the right to represent district 1B in future competition. While Dalhart and Tulia are playing, another important game will be in progress at Flomot where Paducah and Flomot battle for the district 4 title. Both are undefeated.

Wheeler, winner of district 3B, has been idle for two weeks waiting for the winner of district 4B to be declared. Panhandle, winner of district 2B, has also been waiting for a district 1 winner.

Wheeler will battle the winner of the Flomot-Paducah game next Friday or Saturday, place to be decided. Panhandle will tangle with the winner of the Dalhart-Tulia game, date and place also to be decided.

GODINO WILL HAVE TO LEARN HOW TO WALK

NEW YORK, Nov. 26 (AP)—Simplicio Godino, severed from his Siamese twin brother after the latter died of rheumatic fever, must learn to walk again.

The 28-year old Filipinos were so joined at the spine that one had to walk backward. That one usually was Simplicio.

The living twin, convalescing from the operation which separated him 45 minutes after his brother Lucio's death, also can turn at will in bed.

During Lucio's illness, Simplicio had to lie quietly beside him.

"The condition of Simplicio Godino is favorable," the Academy of Medicine announced last night. "His wound when dressed appears to be in fine condition; pulse and temperature normal."

MEYER LEFT OUT

ROSS FAVORED

NEW YORK, Nov. 26 (AP)—Despite promoter Jimmy Johnston's prediction that the welterweight title will change hands tomorrow night, the general impression along Broadway's fight row today was that champion Barney Ross would take challenger Izzy Jannazzo handily. Odds were as high as 6 to 1 on the Chicago champ to win the first defense of his title since he regained it from Jimmy McLarnin a year ago last May.

FLYING POLE GAINS FAME

FOZANAN, Poland (AP)—In a country blacksmith's shop Antoni Gabriel, peasant without technical education, found time and tools to build himself an airplane. It was the laugh of the countryside until Tony took the ship aloft for a 45-minute flight, attaining a speed of 50 miles an hour and an altitude of from 1,000 to 2,100 feet. Now the village of Mlnchowiec is so proud of him it has raised money to finance his further experiments.

Once a part of a huge swamp region, Putnam county, Ohio, is now an important agricultural area. Organized Jan. 3, 1834, it was named in honor of Gen. Israel Putnam.

THESE HARVESTERS WILL WEAR GREEN AND GOLD LAST TIME TODAY

Pictured above are eight of the 15 Pampa Harvesters who will be playing their last game for Pampa high school this afternoon when they meet the Amarillo Sandies on Butler field at 2:30 o'clock. Maxey, Morgan, Noblitt, Jones, Wooldridge and Showers were substitutes on the Harvester squad last year. Enloe came up from the Gorillas. Ayer joined the team for the first time this year. Other Harvesters who will play their final game today are Clements, McKay, Dedman, Haggard, Rice, Johnson and L. Jones. All but Rice came up from the Gorillas or joined the team for the first time in the fall. Twelve members of the squad will be back next year.

12 DISTRICT CHAMPIONSHIPS WILL BE DECIDED THIS WEEK

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
DALLAS, Nov. 25 (AP)—Twelve district championships hang in the balance this week as the Texas Interscholastic League football campaign enters the final drive before the state play-offs.

Four title-holders have been determined—McKinney in district six, Kerrville in the San Antonio district, Port Arthur in district fourteen, and Edinburg in district sixteen.

They are likely in several of the remaining sectors although Thanksgiving Day is due to clear up the majority.

Amarillo, only undefeated team in the Panhandle, meets Pampa. The Golden Sandstorm is an overwhelming favorite.

Childress plays Quanah and Wichita Falls engages Vernon in district two. Childress could clinch the title with a victory or tie but by losing, and Wichita Falls downing Vernon, Childress would finish in a deadlock with Wichita for the top.

San Angelo is unbeaten in the oil belt. The Bobcats play Abilene Tuesday. Abilene could tie for the championship with a victory. Austin (El Paso) and El Paso high, unbeaten in conference play, clash for the title of district four.

Gainesville, the only undefeated team in district five, finishes the schedule at Sherman. The Leopards would be tied for the championship through a loss to Sherman.

North Side has only to beat Pachel to win the Fort Worth district title. A loss would throw the Steers into a tie with Poly provided the latter won their final game with Riverside.

Dallas Tech plays North Dallas for the district eight crown. Tech was tied by Sunset last week in an upset, should North Dallas win over Tech, the Bulldogs would take the championship although Tech is now leading the race.

Longview and Gladewater, each undefeated in conference play, clash for the district nine championship.

Lufkin, the lone unbeaten team in district ten, plays Athens, and a victory for the district nine champion-ship.

Lufkin the lone unbeaten team in district ten, plays Athens, and a victory would give Lufkin the title. A loss would throw Lufkin into a tie for the top if Henderson won its game with Nacogdoches.

Hillsboro plays Cleburne. The Eagles must win over the Yellow Jackets to clinch the title. A loss would throw them into a tie with Cleburne for the championship. It could be a three-way tie if Waco won over Temple.

A tie for the championship looms in the Houston district. Jeff Davis finished the schedule with four wins and one loss. John Reagan plays San Jacinto Thursday, and if Reagan wins it will deadlock with Davis for the lead.

Corpus Christi plays Robstown Thursday for the championship of district fifteen. Both teams are unbeaten in conference play.

TEN MIDDIES TO FACE ARMY SECOND TIME

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 26 (AP)—Ten of the midshipmen who played last year when Army defeated Navy 28 to 6 will be "out there" in Philadelphia Saturday attempting to "ring the bell" against Army.

The old Japanese bell at the academy here is rung only when Navy defeats Army in football. The bell rang last in 1934 when Navy won 3-0.

Navy ended its rough work yesterday and the Middies packed up for departure today for Philadelphia. The entire regiment leaves Saturday morning for the game.

Bill Ingram, ground-gaining full-back, is the only Navy player in tentative starting lineup who has not seen action against an Army football team. The others either started or got into the game last year.
