NO. 17

ITEMS OF INTEREST FROM OVER THE STATE

Sanderson.—Sale of the largest lot of wool produced by any single grower in Texas took place when Roy Hudspeth of Sutton County obtained 48 5-8 cents a pound for his long wool clip of 60,000 pounds.

Cleburne.—Glenmore Carter, an apprentice printer at the Southwestern Junior College at Keene, near here, lost a portion of his right hand, Monday when the member became entangled in one of the job presses. He was given medical attention at the college.

Plainview.—Lee Satterwhite of Panhandle, speaker of the House of the Thirty-ninth Legislature, in a statement to the Associated Press Monday said he did not see how he could keep out of the race for the nomination for Governor next year.

San Antonio.—Leaving thousands of dollars in forged checks along a trail of extravagant living that led through three states, passing through San Antonio twice, a man internationally known as a "check artist," has been traced by San Antonio officers and is in jail in Memphis.

Vernon.—B. M. Fagan, 32, tool dresser employed on the McCamey-Sherrin lease in the South Vernon field was almost instantly killed late Tuesday when the crown block of the rig on which he was working was pulled in while trying to pull casing.

Austin.—Commutation of a death sentence to life imprisonment, one full pardon, two conditional pardons, a 15 days' respite, and one furlough, were granted Monday by Governor Ferguson.

Henderson.—Clyde Lason, and an older brother, who are visiting relatives in the Brachfield community near here from Port Arthur, were wrestling Saturday night, when Clyde's head was struck against some hard object, killing him almost instantly.

Wellington.—O. F. Burgess, store owner, living near the Texas-Oklahoma state line, northeast of here, received severe lacerations about his body and legs Monday when a frightened cow dragged him through a barb-wire fence.

Greenville.—Ralph Hales, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hales, died at the family home near Campbell Monday as the result of a blood clot on the brain, caused by an accidental blow from a small stick.

Elizaville.—Thieves broke out the glass doors in the Bevens Drug Store here Sunday morning and carried off a punch board worth $300 worth of prizes. Nothing else in the store was molested.

Austin.—Dr. J. W. Cantwell, superintendent of schools at Wichita Falls, was here Monday seeking approval of a $500,000 school bond issue. Judge E. B. Holman, Galveston, also was here in interest of a $500,000 bond issue. Both matters are being considered by the Attorney General's Department.

Bartlett.—Fire of undetermined origin destroyed four mercantile brick buildings at 2 o'clock Monday morning. The fire started in the building occupied by H. Kreisman dry goods store and from there spread to the adjoining buildings. Two other buildings were seriously damaged.

Fort Worth.—After his automobile was stolen in front of a theater he was attending Sunday night, D. P. Stoughton, 1423 Davis street, recovered it on his way home to get the license and motor numbers to report them to the police, when he was stopped by two men in his car who asked him the way to Polytechnic Heights. Recognizing his car, Mr. Stoughton demanded his property and the men jumped out and fled.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Henry of Palo Duro are visiting relatives and friends here this week.

Misses Mina Beth Seelbach and Miss Minnie Ellis, students at the West Texas State Teachers' College at Canyon, visited Miss Eula Nell Seelbach at the B. E. Finley home Saturday night and Sunday.

GAS SUPPLY TO BE CLOSED UP SOON

W. L. Woodward of Santa Anna, arrived Wednesday night to wind up his deal for a supply of gas to be piped to town, under his recently acquired franchise from the city.

It is not definitely known as yet whether Mr. Woodward will secure his supply of gas from the Dancinger Bros. well six miles south of town, or from the Tipton-McConnell well, nine miles west of town, but a deal is expected to be made with one or the other within the next day or two.

Mr. Woodward states that he is very anxious to get the supply question settled and a contract signed up so that he can go ahead and order his pipe shipped out. He expects to move here from Santa Anna as soon as he gets things lined up to go to work.

He estimates that the system can be installed within 45 days, after work is started, unless held up by non-arrival of materials.

The time for buying coal is almost at hand and many people are anxious to know whether or not to contract for a supply of coal or take a chance on the gas being installed in time for the cool days of early fall.

SCOPES FOUND GUILTY IN EVOLUTION TRIAL

Dayton, Tenn.—The trial of John Thomas Scopes on a charge of teaching evolution theories in the public schools in violation of the Tennessee law, ended in a verdict of guilty. The minimum fine of $100 was imposed by the court and bail for an appeal was fixed at $500.

The entire testimony of William Jennings Bryan was stricken from the record today by Judge John T. Raulston, who held that the cross examination by Clarence Darrow of Mr. Bryan on Mr. Bryan's biblical views had nothing to do with the case.

The scene of the "evolution trial" will be shifted from Dayton to Knoxville, where under the regular order of procedure, the Tennessee supreme court will hear cases from this circuit the first Monday in September.

NEW MATERIAL FOR LONG DISTANCE LINE

The Southwestern Telephone & Telegraph Company received a carload of material here Monday, consisting of wire, cross arms and insulators. This new construction material will be used to string another copper toll line from here to Amarillo.

Work on the new line is to start at once.

"THE HOME-COMING OF A THIEF"

The subject at the Christian church Sunday evening is one that will be of interest to all who hear it. It is the story of the conversion of a young man recorded in the New Testament, and in the discussion answers will be made as to the attitude of the home, church and community toward those who have fallen into crime. Fathers, mothers and young people should hear this subject. Prevent and not have to cure. Safeguard and not have to reform. This is an important and pertinent question.

Remember, Bible school at 10 a. m. Preaching of God's word at 11 a. m. The newly organized mixed class for young married people will be opened Sunday morning.

Come—a welcome awaits you at all services.

JAMES TODD, Jr., Minister.

NEW LIGHT PLANT OWNERS ARE HERE

Carl M. Einhart of Roswell, N. M., president of the Southwestern Public Service company was a visitor in this city last Sunday, in company with Frank Schram, manager of the Roswell electric plant and C. S. Makels, manager of the Amarillo plant, which was recently purchased by Mr. Einhart and associates. A Mr. Hall of New Jersey was also a member of the party.

The Southwestern Public Service company recently purchased the local electric plant from F. W. Grogan, and these officials of the company were here closing up some of the details of the sale.

The Southwestern company expects to take charge of the Pampa plant about the first of the month, but have made a deal with Mr. Grogan for him to continue to operate and manage the plant until they have selected a man to take charge of it. The Pampa plant, according to Mr. Einhart, will be operated under the direction of the Amarillo office of the company.

These gentlemen are well pleased with the town and surrounding country, and are already planning improvements to the local equipment.

It is the general opinion that in time this new company will erect a super power plant somewhere along the line where gas is available and then serve all their territory with high tension lines. Such a plan will, if put into operation, probably 24-hour service and possibly a reduced rate.

A number of plants in West Texas and Eastern New Mexico have been recently been purchased by the Einhart interests.

STATE TAX RATE SHOWS INCREASE

Austin.—The State tax rate was fixed at 77 cents on the $100 property valuation for 1925 by the State automatic tax board Monday evening, which is an increase of 2 cents over the 1924 tax. The State ad valorem tax remains at 35 cents on the $100, as also does the 35 cents school tax, while the Confederate pension tax was increased from 5 to 7 cents. This increase is in accordance with an amendment to the legislation creating the tax.

OIL FIELD ACTIVITY IN THIS LOCALITY

Very little is going on at the various drilling wells this week.

Drilling has been resumed on the Phil Engel test on the Ledrick ranch, after reaching contract depth of 3500 feet. The well was still in the lime, so arrangements were made to make a deeper test out of it, and since resuming operations about 50 feet more hole has been made. It is the intention of those interested to carry the hole on through the big lime if possible.

The bit was lost in the hole at the Dancinger Bros. well, section 85, late last week and to date has not been recovered. The drill stem broke leaving the standard bit in the hole.

Work was resumed first of the week on the Wilcox No. 2, Combs & Worley ranch. The well has been making about 20 barrels per day from the upper pay, and shut down awaiting the completion of the big storage tank on the lease.

The A. R. Anderson et al well on the Bradford ranch, south of the river, is still shut down with several million feet of gas in the hole.

The big 80,000 barrel steel storage tank on the Wilcox lease six miles south of town is nearing completion at this time. The steel has all been riveted in place and the tank was completed Thursday with the exception of running some steam pipes inside in order to heat the oil in the winter when desired to pump it out.

The tank, which is the largest one anywhere in West Texas, and as large as is manufactured, will be ready to run crude into within the next few days. The monster tank is 136 feet in diameter and 42 feet high. Approximately twelve carloads of material were used in it.

RAIL HEARING GOING ON AT PLAINVIEW

Representatives of the Interstate Commerce Commission, the State Railroad Commission and attorneys and officials of various railway companies are at Plainview this week in attendance at the I. C. C. hearing of railway applications for permits to construct roads to and through various points on the South Plains.

The Fort Worth & Denver City railway system is asking for a permit to build a line from Estelline to Plainview and on through west to Dimmitt, as well as branches to Silverton and to Lubbock.

The Santa Fe system also is asking for a permit to build to Silverton and also to Dimmitt. Objections are being heard from representatives of the T. P. & G. proposed line and also the Quannah, Acme & Pacific, both of which claim that permits to either the Denver or Santa Fe will interfere with their plans for building in that section.

The I. C. C. is hearing the testimony of all concerned, and will in due time issue a permit in all probability to the road which in their judgment will best fill the needs of the people of that section of the state.

The Epworth League of the Methodist church will have an ice cream social Friday night on the P. C. Ledrick lawn. There will be orchestra music. Everyone is invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hubbard have adopted a baby girl from the Presbyterian orphanage at Amarillo. She is only 16 days old, and has been named Betty Joe by her foster parents.

TO ERECT MONUMENT AT BUFFALO WALLOW

A historical monument commemorating the battle between six white men and 125 Indian warriors will be unveiled with appropriate ceremonies at the Buffalo Wallow battle ground near Canadian in Hemphill County, Sept. 12. The memorial, which is being erected by the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society, is to be a granite slab four feet square and 20 inches thick, resting on a concrete base, and will bear the following inscription:

Amos Chapman of Selling, Okla., is now the only white survivor of the Battle of Buffalo Wallow, the story of which is regarded as one of the epics of the frontier. He is past 80 years old. Every effort will be made to have Mr. Chapman and his family present at the unveiling of the monument.

A two days' celebration, sponsored by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, which will include a rodeo, cowboy contests and other amusements will be held as near the battle ground as a suitable location can be found. Barbecued beef, bread, pickles and coffee will be furnished.—Miami Chief.

LINOTYPE INSTALLED IN WHITE DEER PLANT

M. B. Cavanaugh, editor of the White Deer Review, installed a linotype in his plant last week.

Few towns the size of White Deer can boast of having a newspaper, and we know of none which are so well equipped as to employ a linotype machine in their work. Mr. Cavanaugh deserves much credit for his progressiveness.

KANSAS CITY STOCK MARKET

CHAS. M. PIPKIN, Market Correspondent

Kansas City Stock Yards—Good to choice fed steers which remain in moderate supply met an active demand again Monday at strong prices. Receipts of grass cattle were not as large as a week ago and the general price level was unchanged. Trade showed an active turn in practically all classes that showed quality. Both cattle and sheep were lower. Hogs have shown an uninterrupted decline since last Wednesday and lamb prices have been sagging since the first of the month.

Monday's Receipts
Receipts Monday were 27,000 cattle, 8,000 hogs, and 9,000 sheep, compared with 34,000 cattle, 6,500 hogs and 11,000 sheep a week ago, and 17,300 cattle, 8,500 hogs and 6,400 sheep a year ago.

Beef Cattle
The better classes of steers good enough to sell at $12 up were quoted strong to 15 cents higher. Those from $12 down were steady, except best grassers at $8 to $8.85, and they were strong. Fed classes were scarce, selling at $11 to $13.50. Kansas wintered steers brought $8.75 to $11.25 and straight grass steers $4.75 to $9.25. Demand was sufficient to care for the offerings and a good clearance was reported. If general rains come this week receipts of grass cattle will lighten materially. Cows and heifers were fully steady. The bulk of the grass fat cows brought $3.50 to $5.25, and grass fat heifers $5.25 to $7. Fed heifers sold up to $11.50, and some steers and heifers mixed brought $12 to $12.50. Veal calves were steady, top $9.50.

Stockers and Feeders
Trade in the better classes of stockers and feeders was active at strong prices. In some cases fleshy feeders were up 10 to 15 cents. The class of steers that can be handled on a short feed are low enough to make good money.

Hogs
Hog prices have been on the down grade since last Wednesday, and Monday's decline of 10 cents makes a total break of 60 to 70 cents in the past five days. The top price was $13.55 and bulk of sales $13.20 to $13.50. The 140 to 160 pound classes sold at $13 to $13.25, and stock hogs and pigs $12.25 to $12.75.

Sheep and Lambs
Trade in sheep and lambs though active was largely at 25 cents lower prices. Colorado and western lambs sold at $14.25 to $14.60, and native lambs at $13.25 to $13.65. Some Colorado ewes brought $7 to $7.50. Arizona wethers $6.25 to $7, and Texas wethers $8. A bunch of 1,000 Arizona feeding lambs of 55 pounds sold at $12.25.

Horses and Mules
Trade in horses and mules still shows regular summer dullness. Southern demand is scheduled to open up next month.

The only man who can succeed at his work by beginning at the top is the well digger.

Death and taxes are inevitable—but death is satisfied with one whack at you.

If you can't get a thrill any other way just trying pinching the hind leg of a mule!

So long as women are willing to do so much lecturing for nothing, they can not expect the same pay for that line of work as men get.

Recently a man from a little city not many miles away from here was boosting his city and community up to the very stars. Another man in the group said: "Neighbor, what is the secret of the wide-awake spirit of your city and community?" The stranger took off his hat, ran his fingers slowly through his hair, looked down at the sidewalk, seemingly in search of words to express himself, and this was his answer: "Oh, we are still a 'from' community." When pressed for an interpretation of his statement, replied, "I mean none of us has been there long enough to get over asking each other where he came from." And he added, "When this community gets so old and settled that no one need ask the other where the other is from as we already will know that everybody has been born and reared here, our community will be dead. A community needs new blood, just as does a herd of livestock or a nation. "In many ways we lament the loss of our best young people and shudder at the thought of having to get used to new people when they move into the neighborhood, but the best thing they bring is an outside point of view and a challenge to everything we do. Habits and customs which will not stand the challenge ought to be abandoned.
There are two ways in which a community may die; one by losing its best stock and replacing it with stock of inferior quality, the other in keeping its own stock and fencing out the stimulus and challenge brought by new people.

We usually feel that getting industries for Pampa would require a great deal of expense, the work of a full time secretary, and an intensive campaign carried on throughout the country. But the success of one city in locating new manufacturing plants by means of direct mail advertising indicates that we might be able to accomplish something without going to great expense. The city in question is Toronto, Canada. Of course Toronto is a large city, but the thing that influenced many manufacturers to go there might be used to advantage by any other town. Exactly 110 new industrial plants were secured in that city during a period of about three years by the judicious use of letters.
If a small campaign succeeded in locating but one new industry in our town we might feel well repaid, and the proportion or chance in our favor is certainly as good as that. The campaign that meant so much to Toronto was carried out after the most careful thought and thorough analysis of the industrial advantages the city had to offer. The first letters sent to prospective manufacturers failed to say a single word about Toronto. Instead they stressed the importance of the nearby market, the excellent transportation facilities, and the availability of raw materials and labor.
These letters were sent to a list of manufacturers whom the backers of the Toronto campaign thought might be interested in locating branch factories closer to markets. Of course it may be difficult to draw a parallel between Pampa and a city like Toronto.
But we feel that it well pay us to give this idea some thought, and possibly a trial, especially so after we get gas piped in for cheap fuel.

Clarendon News: West Texas Chamber of Commerce officials are authority for the statement that there is not a single town or community in West Texas that is not growing by leaps and bounds. It may not seem to home folks that Clarendon is growing very much but by making a comparison a year or so back, it is readily seen that we have enjoyed a very satisfactory, steady growth.

Randall County News: To ride on

The automobile has not taken all of the business from the railroads, but they have taken a greater part of the short haul business. There are more people traveling year by year than ever before. People like to be on the move.

McLean News: Many a merchant has found that his business would not stand the strain of donating to the various forms of so-called "advertising" schemes offered him. Statistics show that newspaper advertising is cheaper than any other form, results considered. And results is what should be expected; not the satisfaction of seeing the firm name in a conspicuous place.

Panhandle Herald: Texas ranked second among the states in petroleum refining plants in 1924, according to a Government report just issued at Washington. California led with a daily production of 743,729 barrels, Texas second, with a daily production of 568,550 barrels and Oklahoma was third, with a daily production of 348, 350 barrels. There were 124 refining plants in operation in Texas last year. The big Gulf Refining company at Port Arthur refined 102,000 barrels daily, while the Texas company, at the same place, refined 45,000 barrels daily. The Magnolia Petroleum company at Beaumont had a capacity of 35,000 barrels daily, while the Humble Oil & Refining Co., at Bayton and the Texas Co., at Port Neches, each had a daily capacity of 20,000 barrels. Fort Worth refineries had a daily capacity of 40,500 barrels and Wichita Falls had a capacity of 21,500 barrels. The capacity of other towns ranged from 16,000 barrels down to 1,000 barrels.
With this great oil production and refining industries and a nearly five million bale cotton crop in Texas last year, it is no wonder that the income tax returns to Washington for Texas showed such a healthy business in this state for the year 1924.

Over 24 Years' Experience

AN IDEAL VACATION
Memphis Democrat: At this time of the year people are planning and taking vacations, or wishing they could take vacations. The constant stream of tourists through the city, from the city and to the city, causes a yearning in the hearts of all to get out and have a try at a vacation of some kind. Sam Braswell, of the Clarendon News, describes what he thinks to be an ideal vacation in the following:

"For many years we have witnessed the sons of men tie themselves away from their usual habitations to the various areas of beckoning "vacation lands." We have seen them go from the low levels of the seashore to the towering heights of the mountains. We have seen them scurry down from the "mile high" plateaus to the tide-kissed sands of the far away beaches. Weeks later we have seen them all return in khaki and tan and weariness of soul. Year after year this by-play of life is repeated and by the selfsame persons, who plan yet again to repeat the performance in the summer months of the following year, while at the same time nearly all are positive in the statement that they return more tired and worn than when they set out; that home is the most comfortable place in the world after all.

"Accordingly we have made a personal resolve to some day plan and enjoy an ideal vacation, a restful, luxurious soul-comforting vacation. An economical vacation—spent at home.
Just take off a couple of weeks, go home, have the mail sent up every day, refuse to discuss business with any of the boys at the office or anybody else—even our banker. Go to bed early or late according to our feelings, eat sumptuously on the difference in home overhead and hotel charges. Play golf and go swimming at will. Buy gasoline on a credit of home dealers instead of plunking down the cash to foreign vendors. Refuse to answer the telephone out of sheer cussedness. Listen to all wife says without talking back and refuse to argue with the kids. Lounge in the front sitting room with golf togs on and even put both feet on the reading table, looking straight forward with a rakish, glassy stare. Read the papers some days and throw them in the waste basket other days, unopened and unread. When your friends come to call, display a card at the door 'Out and In on Vacation—No Callers.' Water no lawn and mow no grass, so the place will look like you were having a vacation. Act like Rip Van Winkle, Andy Gump and Beau Brummel all in one, separately and

THE DEAD VILLAGE
(By Walt Mason)
Now and then I stop for dinner at old Dumprville-by-the-Mere; it grows sadder, grayer, thinner, grows more shabby by the year. No one rises, loud and ranty, to proclaim a needed boom; no one ever builds a shanty, no one dissipates the gloom. And I say to Abner Dinger, landlord of the village inn, "Why, oh, Abner, do you linger in a town too dead to skin?
North and south the trains are winding, two departing every day; all the people they're reminding of a chance to get away. And the walking is much better than it often is. I wot; why not don your crimson sweater and go forth from this bleak spot?"

"Other places used to beckon," said old Abner, "long ago; but I'll stay here now, I reckon, till old age has laid me low. Here I have a place commanding, while I raise my garden sass; here I have some little standing, here I cut a swath of grass. I am 'judge' and 'squire' and 'colonel,' I'm the Caesar of the place; in the country weekly journal men have seen my pictured face. And I'd rather be a Caesar in this dead and dismal hole, than to be an unknown geezer where the big processions roll. In New York no man would greet me save the green goods profiteer, but men chortle when they meet me in old Dumprvilleby-the-Mere."

A PAGE FROM THE LIFE BOOK OF A GALLANT FIGHTER

By MARQUIS JAMES
in American Legion Weekly.

Colonel Miles' command continued its operations north from McClellan Creek, (in Gray County) dispersing Indian bands wherever he met them. In these actions Lieutenant Baldwin, commanding the scouts, is repeatedly mentioned in dispatches for personal gallantry and skill in handling troops. He seems to have borne a charmed life, and eventually was one of the few men in our history to be awarded a second Congressional Medal of Honor. He lived to become a brigadier general and died in 1923.

On Nov. 8, 1874: Baldwin routed a Cheyenne detachment and captured its camp on the north branch of McClellan Creek in the Texas Panhandle. In one of the tepees the white men were astonished to find two half-starved little white girls, who had undergone so many strange experiences that they were no longer surprised at anything. They were Julian and Nancy Adelaide German. The soldiers gathered about them in blank amazement, and as the children told their story, Colonel Miles records that tears ran down the cheeks of the soldiers and case-hardened scouts. When the girls said their two older sisters were still in the hands of the Indians, one teamster blew his nose and announced that by God he'd never let his mules rest until "we get them two gals."

Julian and Nancy Adelaide were sent to Fort Leavenworth, Kan. where the wives of officers of the garrison nursed them back to health. Save for the hardships of Indian campaign life they had been unharmed. They were such pretty little things that the ladies had their pictures taken and sent one of them to Colonel Miles. This photograph gave Miles an idea. He turned it over and wrote this message on the back:

Fort Sill, I. T., Jan. 21, 1875.
To the Misses German (captives):
These German sisters are well and are now with their friends. Do not be discouraged, efforts are being made for your benefit.

NELSON A. MILES,
Col. and Bvt. Maj. Gen.
He gave the photograph to a friendly Delaware and told him to find the Indians who still held the two remaining German girls captive, and surreptitiously place it in the hands of the elder. The Indian messenger also was to tell the chief of the German captors that no mercy would be shown him until he delivered the girls alive and unharmed.

This Indian with a few companions traveled 500 miles. He crossed the snow-covered, blizzard-swept Staked Plains to the border of New Mexico, fulfilled his mission and returned. Katharine and Sophia German had given up hope of surviving the winter, which was so severe that even the Indian warriors had perished by the hundred. This note gave them heart. The Indians were glad to accept the terms that Miles offered and at once started to march back to their reservations in the Indian Territory, where they surrendered and delivered over the German sisters.

The Indians were fitted up and Katharine and Sophia German walked along and picked out 75 of them who had a part in the murder of the Germans and others. These were taken to Florida for internment; the others were released to their reservations.

Colonel Miles acted as legal guardian of the four rescued girls until each reached her majority. All of them are married and still living—Mrs. Katharine German Swerdfeger at Ascadero, Calif.; Mrs. Sophia German Feldman at Humboldt, Nebr.; Mrs. Julian German Brooks at South Pasadena, Calif.; and Mrs. Nancy Adelaide German Andrews at Bern, in eastern Kansas, which is nearly the entire width of the State removed from the scene of the tragedy of 51 years ago.

Before the murderers of the Germans were sent south their chief, Minimic, asked Colonel Miles to take his son and teach him the ways of the white man. General Miles told me he was deeply touched by this attention, that it set him to thinking for a better way to improve the Indian than by shooting at him. He recommended that the government undertake systematically to teach young Indians the ways of the white man and drafted a plan to this end. This led to the establishment of the great Indian school at Carlisle, Penn., where in later years pale-face football strategists used to be after Jim Thorpe to teach them the ways of the red man—on the gridiron, anyhow.

KEEPING ON
One step won't take you very far.
You've got to keep on walking;
One word won't tell folks who you are.
You've got to keep on talking.
An inch won't make you very tall.
You've got to keep on growing;
One little ad won't do it all.
You've got to keep them going.
A constant drop of water Wears away the hardest stone.
By constant knowing, Towser

MOUNTAIN DEW WAS CAUSE OF PRAYERS

Dayton, Tenn.—A profane story of Tennessee theology leaked out Monday. One of Dayton's real "characters," a man not unconnected with the Scopes case, met a friend in the mountains.

What with the mountain dew his friend had brought, the Daytonian was just about able to get to bed. He sent for his wife and demanded she pray for him. That worthy woman on her knees beside the bed of pain sent up this orison:

"Lord, Lord, have mercy on my drunken husband."

"Hell! No, Arabella," he interrupted querulously. "Don't tell him I'm drunk! Say I'm sick."

Speaking of Diplomacy

"You certainly have your nerve to charge me 75 cents for that piece of meat," said the careful housewife.

"Yes, ma'am," replied the polite butcher.

"Would you kindly tell me how it is that I can get the same cut at Wilson's market for 50 cents?"

"I can't say, ma'am. Perhaps Wilson has taken a fancy to you. He is a widower and you are very beautiful. Unfortunately for me, I-yes, 75 cents."
