Proxmire and the Brass

We can't fault Sen. William Proxmire of Wisconsin for continually pointing out the waste that goes on in military spending, but once again we remind the senator that he should look also at his own colleagues. Sen. Proxmire's latest barb at the military pointed out that the American tax payers are spending thousands of dollars to maintain special quarters for high ranking military brass who want to fish for salmon in Alaska.

Some Forms Of Extremism Full Of Risk

By C. R. BATTEN The "lunatic fringe" popped up several times during the conversation. People present were members of an important industry that converts natural resources into consumer goods. The subject was the general public attitude toward business an industry and toward their own industry in particular.

I wondered what the speakers meant by the "lunatic fringe." First I suspected that a member of a lunatic fringe might be anyone who doesn't agree with the speaker. But that could include a lot of people I thought I might be the only sane person present. That seems rather uncharitable, so I decided that the lunatic fringe is synonymous with extremism.

ARE STRIKES INEVITABLE? War on Economic Front

By VICTOR RIESEL WASHINGTON — Once upon a time there were two of the toughest men I've ever known as man and boy reporter. One was President Harry Truman. There was war in Korea. There was a strike in the coal fields. And there was the leonine mine workers' president, John L. Lewis. They disliked each other.

David Cole was in those days, and still is, adviser to presidents and dean of mediators. He knew that Mr. Truman had said the coal digging stoppage was "one of the worst crises I've ever seen." (Expletives deleted). So Dave Cole, director of the mediation service, finally prevailed on both strong men to meet. They did in the Oval Office.

Despite Dave Cole's soothing words and presence, peacemaking wasn't going well. They were stubborn giants then. Finally, Harry Truman said to the president of the striking United Mine Workers (UMW), "Come and see what they've done to my house. I won't be here long, you know." It was 1952 and the mansion had just been renovated. So they went upstairs. They sauntered through the private living quarters as Mr. Truman pointed out famed curios and gifts. He stopped before a small marble-topped oval table. Said he: "This is my very favorite. Abraham Lincoln signed the Emancipation Proclamation on it."

DUNAGIN'S PEOPLE

President's Leadership Faces Credibility Test

By CLARK MOLLENHOFF Washington D. C. — Rambling presidential rhetoric that assures "fair profits" for farmers is easy, but devising the complicated legislative mechanisms to achieve it will put President Ford's leadership and credibility to a severe test.

Three of the farm organizations — the National Farmers Union, the National Grange and the National Farmers Organization — believe that Ford's farm promises are probably "campaign rhetoric" which will not be remembered. William J. Kuhfuss, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation is afraid that Ford may mean it, and is fearful it will result in more government guarantees on production cost and profit.

Delegation spokesmen (there was one woman), said the mine union would need heavy relief aid in seven states in which coal digging is concentrated and in 14 other states where there are bituminous, though scattered, pits. Perlis put the machine in high gear. He dispatched speakers to miners meetings. He sent letters to scores of relief agencies.

Dear Abby

All he wants is sex and Chinese food

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Sandy and I have been married for two years; he was divorced and so was I. (No dependent children.) All Sandy cares about is Chinese food and sex. My biggest problem is that Sandy is a loner. He is not interested in being with other people. Since our marriage I have been out of touch with all my friends, many of whom are interesting, worthwhile people.

DEAR WIFE: I don't know how long a marriage can exist exclusively on a diet of love and Chinese food, but I think you're about to find out. Sandy is selfish and stubborn in his refusal to compromise. And only you can decide if your life without Sandy would be better than your life with him.

DEAR ABBY: I am married to a very good man. My first marriage was a disaster. Mark never came straight home. He'd stop somewhere for a "drink" and come home anywhere from one to five hours late. I couldn't take it, so after three years, I divorced him.

DEAR SAUS: Yes, and no. Neil shouldn't have even one drink on his way home, because should he become involved in an accident (even if it's not his fault), if he's had one drink, he could be in a lot of trouble. Because of your disastrous marriage with Mark, you may be taking it out on Neil. Speak your piece, then button your lip.

DEAR ABBY: I am constantly amazed at some of the "problems" you are asked to solve. Many could be solved if the person had one ounce of common sense and a half an ounce of guts.

KARPIN ON BRIDGE

By FRED KARPIN

In every card game that is played for money, for glory, or simply to pass away one's time, there are those who are superstitious. Bridge is no exception. Even at the top level, there are individuals to whom superstition is a governing force.

Superstitions may vary amongst bridge players: in a rubber-bridge game some players, having a choice of cards with which they wish to deal, will always choose the blue deck rather than the red deck (or vice versa); or they will select one particular seat rather than another; or they will not allow a kibitzer to sit on their left (or right). One well-known expert carries a "special" pencil which he uses only for scoring.

In tournaments, certain pairs will refuse to be Pair No. 6, or Pair No. 11, etc. Others will insist on Pair No. 6 or Pair No. 11 etc., these numbers being their "lucky" or "unlucky" ones. Some players will never sit South, others will never sit North, etc., etc.

One internationally famous expert has just one superstition: whenever he is playing a five- or six-club contract, with x-x-x-x facing the A-Q-J-x-x-x, he will always lay down the ace, hoping to catch the king. In all other suits, holding the identical trump combination, he finesses against the king.

Here is a deal in which our superstitious expert caught a singleton king. The hand arose in a national championship. He was sitting South.

Neither side vulnerable. South deals.

The bidding:
South West North East
1 ♦ Pass 1 ♥ Pass
2 ♠ Pass 3 ♦ Pass
4 NT Pass 5 ♣ Pass
6 ♣ — Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: Ace of ♦.

After winning the opening lead with his ace of diamonds, West shifted to the deuce of hearts, dummy's jack taking the trick. The nine of clubs was then led, east following suit with the seven-spot. South promptly put up his ace, and as is evident, caught West's singleton king. After picking up East's remaining trump South claimed his contract.

For those readers who might have the feeling that declarer's play of the trump suit was correct, let me offer this supposition. Reshuffle the East-West cards a few thousand times, give East 13 cards and West 13 cards — and discover for yourselves how much more often finesse will be the winning play — even in the club suit.

HOMEMAKERS CLUB
Skellytown Homemakers Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Miles Pearson. The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Gertrude Huckins, with the Lord's prayer in unison.

Hostess gift was won by Mrs. Eula Berry and the game gift won by Mrs. Mable Pearson.

The group worked on hand work.
The next week meeting will be Nov. 19 in the home of Mrs. John Simmons in the form of a Thanksgiving dinner at the noon hour.

WE ARE THE DRAPERY PEOPLE

At Wit's End

By ERMA BOMBECK
My husband crawled out from under the bathroom sink, rose to his feet, summoned the entire family about him and said, "I suppose you all wonder why I have gathered you here today."

We all nodded soberly. "I have just cleaned out the trap under this washbowl and I would like to inventory the items I have removed: 14 toothpaste caps, one shampoo cap, a blue balloon, a plastic naval officer, a wine bottle cork, three rubber bands, a dime, and a class ring from a girl's school in Peoria."

"If it's silver, the dime is mine," said my son. "Don't interrupt, a Barbie bra, a pencil stub, a tooth, possibly human, a luggage key, 17 rusted bobby pins and 85 pounds of hair. What are we going to do about it?"

"Are you suggesting a garage sale?" I ventured. "I am not suggesting a garage sale," he said between clenched teeth. "I am suggesting that this family stop littering the plumbing. Do you know what really aggravates me?"

"I know," said a son raising his hand. "The night we left on 32 lights and no one was home."

"No, it was my feet hanging out the window last summer on our vacation."

"You are all wrong," I said. "It's standing in front of an open refrigerator door like you're waiting for change."

"This is not a game show," said my husband evenly. "This is serious. We are the only family in the block who has a live-in plumber who retired at age 23 to live out the rest of his life in Hilton Head. A week has not gone by that something in this bathroom has not bubbled, hissed, dripped, trickled, or run over. I don't mind admitting I'm not the world's greatest plumber... why are you snickering?"

"I'm sorry. It's just that no one reseats a toilet with Play-Doh."

"I do the best I can living with four people who are not ready yet for indoor plumbing. Now, here is the plan. In the future, if you have hair falling out, either place it in the nearest receptacle or braid it back into your original hair. Replace all caps on their original bottles or tubes and report any suspicious gurgling noises you hear immediately."

"By the way, Dad," said our son, "here's a President Ford WIN button that was stopping up the drain in the shower. Why were you wearing a WIN button in the shower?"

"I could hardly wait for the answer as my next question was, 'Where?'"

Southern Lebanon Attacked By Israel

United Press International - Israeli troops stormed into southern Lebanon today, blew up a small house near the border and captured three suspected guerrillas on the eve of the U.N. General Assembly debate on Palestine.

The Israeli command in Tel Aviv said the house in Daharia, about a mile north of the frontier, "served as a shelter for terrorists."

The Lebanese Defense Ministry in Beirut said Lebanese artillery opened fire on the raiders, but that there were no casualties in the 40-minute fight following the dawn raid. Israel said none of its soldiers were injured.

News men in southern Lebanon reported that Israeli war planes flew over the cities of Sidon, Nabatieh and Marjeyoun today, breaking the sound barrier several times.

Israeli patrols also were concentrated on several points on the Lebanese-Israeli border, news men said.

Israeli war planes Monday bombed suspected guerrilla hideouts in southeastern Lebanon in the first air attack on the neighboring nation in seven weeks.

A military communique issued in Beirut said the 17-minute strike by a dozen Israeli Phantom fighter bombers on the wooded and farming regions of Arqoub killed at least two persons and wounded seven others.

Yasser Arafat, leader of the Palestine Liberation Organization, flew to Algiers from Cairo en route to New York to address the U.N. assembly session, which opens Wednesday morning, a PLO spokesman in Cairo said today.

In New York, police and Secret Service agents riding helicopters, boats, and squad cars guarded the advance team of PLO delegates.

Police riflemen watched from atop buildings, officers with police dogs patrolled streets, and the city's bomb squad was on alert amid Jewish Defense League threats to assassinate Arafat.

Bitter residents of a Tel Aviv slum today vowed to continue street demonstrations in protest of the Israeli government's tough economic austerity measures.

Seminars Set On Predators

Workshops scheduled in Dalhart, Claude, and Gruver Counties will provide livestock producers experiences in several techniques of rodent and predatory control.

The program will be held today at 7:30 p.m. in the Elementary School Auditorium, Dalhart, Nov. 13, 7 p.m. in the Fairview Community Center in Armstrong County, and Nov. 14, 1:30 p.m. in the County Agriculture Building in Gruver.

Foster Whaley, Gray County Extension Agent, said wildlife specialists of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the US Fish and Wildlife Service and the Texas Rodent and Predatory Service will discuss techniques of den hunting, aircraft hunting and calling up coyotes.

Effective setting of traps and M-44 devices for predators will be demonstrated, and methods of reducing rodents' depredation of feed stuff illustrated.

Instructors in the program will be Melton Caroline of the Fish and Wildlife Service and supervisor of the Rodent and Predatory Animal Control Service, and Charles W. Ramsey, wildlife specialist of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Still other instructors will be district supervisors of the Rodent and Predatory Service: Jodi H. Webb, H.B. Ellard, V.K. Carpenter, Raymond Trimble and Loyd Cheatu.

'Beefiest' Set At Auditorium

A 'Beefiest' will be conducted Friday Nov. 15, at 9 a.m. in M.K. Brown Memorial Auditorium.

Mrs. Bonita Laske will speak on the topic 'How To Stretch Your Beef Dollar.' Mrs. Laske is a foremost authority on this topic and speaks to groups across the nation.

Frank Orts will speak on 'What the Consumer Should Know About Beef.' He, too, has addressed groups nationally.

Local speakers will complete the program, according to Foster Whaley, County Extension Agent, and Mrs. Elaine Houston, CEA.

Briscoe Amends Donor Report

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — District Attorney Robert O. Smith agrees there is something "fishy" about a $10,000 campaign contribution to Gov. Dolph Briscoe which a Dallas cement company owner originally claimed was given by 100 of his employes and affiliates.

It was learned Monday that an amended Briscoe campaign report now lists Cloyce Box of Dallas, owner of the OKC Corp., as the donor of the $10,000, which was given to the Briscoe campaign in cash last Dec. 27.

POISONED CANDY

Father Indicted In Son's Death

HOUSTON (UPI) — A chemist testified Monday that a candy-filled straw laden with cyanide to his two children, the Bates children and young Parker, Jimmy Bates, who went trick-or-treating with O'Bryan and their children Halloween night, testified for an hour and 15 minutes.

He said O'Bryan suggested bringing his children to the Bates neighborhood for Halloween a week earlier. He said on the rainy night, the children only went to doors where porch lights were on and people were home. He said they stopped at a home where the light was on, but Bates said he saw no one come to the door.

"If, in fact, they have listed a group of people as contributors who were not actually contributors, it was a violation of the law and the district attorney would do something about it if he wanted to," Wood said.

Jess Hay, the chairman of a campaign committee which collected funds for an Oct. 30, 1973, Briscoe fund raising dinner, reported last February the $10,000 was in 100 contributions of $100 each.

The report contains names of contributors scattered throughout several dozen pages. Each lists two initials and a surname, followed by "P.O. Box 10426, Dallas." That address was traced to the OKC Corp., Box's cement manufacturing company.

The Texas Observer reported none of the 100 individuals named as contributors could be found in the Dallas telephone directory.

Hay was questioned about the $10,000 in contributions by attorneys for Frances Farenthold — who is suing Briscoe over the 1973 dinner — one week before he amended the February campaign report.

In the Oct. 29 amended report, Hay said he tried to get Box to list individual addresses with each donor, but failed. For the first time, he pegged Box as the original source of the $10,000.

The money "had been advanced from the personal funds of Mr. Box for the account of each of the listed contributors," the statement said. It said each person was "either affiliated or employed by OKC Corp."

Box has not been reimbursed by any of the 100 individuals, it said.

Therefore, the committee is uncertain as to whether or not Mr. Box may be legally deemed to have become a contributor to the extent of the sums advanced, and, particularly, with respect to any portion of such advances for which he has not been reimbursed as of any date certain," the statement said.

It stressed that Box loaned the money from his personal account, and not the corporation's funds, which would have been illegal under the 1973 campaign finance act.

Smith, the DA who successfully prosecuted bribery cases against former House Speaker Gus F. Mutscher and other state officials, said "unless it came out of corporation funds, I don't see anything to look into."

He expressed interest in hearing more details about Box's loans, but reiterated he was not willing to commit himself to an investigation.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 13
Your birthday today: This year a new moon marks the evening of your birthday. It is clear that you must move on soon to a different way of life and thought, so the year ahead is spent scrambling to complete unfinished business and rounding up enterprises into stable earning situations. Today's natives are tenacious and abide by social customs despite little real enthusiasm for them.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: You attract cooperation from the right people. Encourage family thrift, pooled purchasing, general household economy and clean-up. Romantic interest stirs.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Begin the day bright and in good humor. Ask for help where you need it; make peace where it's been upset. For you, it's a seller's rather than a buyer's market today.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Be sure the merits of what you've been doing are noticed by people who can be helpful and listen to others' suggestions. Compare notes; divide the work.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Imaginative enterprises thrive. Put in a claim for benefits you've earned; don't expect they'll come, without asking for them. Evening is for sentimental journeys.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: On every side there are expressions of good will and indications of profitable combinations. Stir yourself to make the best of it. Celebrate this evening.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Come to the point. Pose your question, insist on what is yours and recover loaned equipment. Long-planned changes are implemented as well today as they ever will be—move!

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Settle financial details clearly and leave no uncertainty for later adjustments. Social and career moves are favored as are purchases of clothing and accessories.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Get going early for a day full of many incidents and much optimism. Meet people who are important to you. Pursue romantic urges. Find or give a modest party tonight.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Be the diplomat with a good word for everybody. Past discord can transform into harmony and the resulting cooperation put to prompt action. Romance brightens up.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: A fresh start in emotional matters runs counter to a pressing need to close out old business in commercial and career negotiations. Finish your work first, then play!

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Make a strong sales pitch to promote your ideas and projects. Lucky changes happen spontaneously. Express your sentiments; pursue romance.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: You have much going for you today. Decide what is in your best interests, gather the help you need and get started! Be willing to travel if need be.
