CITY MANAGER EXPLAINS PLAN AT BIG DINNER

Says System Simple and Business-Like in Principle

SAN ANGELO IS EXAMPLE GIVEN

Faults of Other Forms Corrected in Recent Years

Principles of commission-manager city government were explained by word and illustration last night to the more than 70 persons present at the monthly membership meeting of the Chamber of Commerce.

The speaker was E. V. Spence, city manager of San Angelo, who is one of the best known city officials of West Texas. The banquet was at the New Schneider hotel. The orchestra conducted by Prof. Otto Schlick provided music for the occasion.

In introducing the speaker, President C. C. Cook of the Chamber of Commerce explained that a commission of fifteen, appointed by the city council, is now working on a new city charter and considering various forms of government. T. D. Hobart is chairman of the charter commission.

System at Fault

"I am not here to criticize," Mr. Spence said in his introductory remarks. "Your councilmen are doubtless good men and I compliment them on what they have been able to accomplish. They are not to be blamed for any difficulties, but rather the system which handicaps them. Like in other things, we are improving our city governments."

The speaker briefly sketched the three principal forms of city government: Mayor-council, commission, city-manager. The mayor-council plan, of which Pampa had a modified type, is the oldest of the three. Objections to it were given as conflicts in authority, unwieldy numbers of councilmen, shortness of terms, and lack of business-like administration. It was shown how employees are subject under most forms to orders from the mayor and each of the councilmen. Each councilman must produce results in his ward comparable to that in other wards, regardless of the respective needs.

Retire When Capable

Members of the council require several months to familiarize themselves with their work, yet they are apt to retire or be defeated just when they have become most valuable to the city. There is no continuity in the council as a whole, and, furthermore, in a growing city the people have little opportunity to know well each of the many officers elected.

The commission plan, as explained by Mr. Spence, is an improvement over the older form, in that it concentrates responsibility in three men, usually designated as commissioner of public works, commissioner of finance, and commissioner of finance. Each man is in charge of a department and must know intimately its workings, yet his work is subject to the commission as a whole. Weaknesses of the plan are that good men rarely serve long, the men may not be fitted by training or experience for their departments, and they retire after learning how to fill their position.

Like Big Business

There are 300 cities with the commission plan, but the number is not increasing, largely because so many commission cities are going to city-manager government. Declaring the old forms are unbusinesslike and contrary to the principles of good management, the city-manager pointed out that no other big businesses are so operated. Directors of corporations do not handle details, but have managers and other executives.

In taking up the subject of city-manager government, the speaker

Secretary of State Flays Reed's Recent Attack on Maternity Bill

(By The Associated Press.)

AUSTIN, Aug. 10.—United States Senator James A. Reed of Missouri was taken to task today by Mrs. Jane Y. McCallum, secretary of state and women's leader, for his statements recently in Houston in which he attacks the federal maternity and infancy law, known as the "Sheppard-Towner act."

She said there was nothing new in it (Reed's attack) "to those who, for years, have been familiar with the periodical and illogical effects of the Missouri states-righter to interfere with the rights of women, both state and national."

What she considers evils of present unhygienic attention to birth cases were pointed out by Mrs. McCallum, who was secretary of the women's joint legislative committee when the Sheppard-Towner act was passed.

The statement in part:

"I have read carefully Senator Reed's attack on the ways of his government, delivered before the Texas Bar association at Houston and given such wide publicity.

"In his statement, the senator ran true to form. He expediently avoided attacking federal aid for good roads, agriculture and tick-eradication, but confined most of his peroration to such things as pure food laws, woman suffrage, child labor, prohibition and the maternity and infancy or Sheppard-Towner act.

"His sequence was unwittingly logical when he oratorically exclaimed that the accouchement and burial are alike regulated by law, for burial of mother or babe (and sometimes both) follows accouchement with pitiable and inexcusable frequency. And I unhesitatingly charge that this is true because of the interference of such men as Senator Reed.

"The vials of their wrath seem limitless when poured out against women and mothers who are striving through the Sheppard-Towner act, under the Children's bureau to remedy the situation—striving to instruct and govern midwives many of whom continue, right here in Texas, to administer such concoctions as wasp nest and dirt dauber tea to suffering, ignorant mothers, and who have many other practices that are unprintable.

"But even such malpractice as this is not the worst risk to which destitute and ignorant mothers are subjected when there is none of what the Missouri Senator terms interference with the tender and holy office of motherhood. I shall have to deal in very plain language, but it is a time when plain language is necessary.

"But nothing should be done about it. That is interference with the tender and holy office of motherhood.

"It is difficult to be restrained on this particular subject, but the outstanding fact is that most physicians admit the midwife to be a necessity in thousands of cases.

"How many there are practicing in this state it has not yet been possible to determine, but 2,738 have been located by those identified by Senator Reed as spies, snipers and regulators that swarm over the land like lice of Egypt.

"Are Texans to be swept off their feet by mawkish sentimentality outpourings concerning interference with the most sacred of earthly relations, and the dark valley of death, or are they going to clean up these relations, license and govern midwives, educate expectant mothers, save mother and the babe from the valley of death, administer prophylactic drops in the eyes of the babies to prevent lives of blindness, and suggest proper feeding, clothing and exercise to insure lives of health?"

Black Jack County Will Be Raided For Its Bootleggers

(By The Associated Press.)

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 10.—Heavily armed with rifles, pistols and riot guns, squads of prohibition officers and military police left here today headed toward Black Jack county, south of here, where it is believed they have gone to make a clean up of bootleggers.

None of those in the party would disclose their destination or their plans.

Flood Threatens Arkansas Again As Rivers Leave Banks

(By The Associated Press.)

LITTLE ROCK, Aug. 10.—After being swept by three successive floods this year, Southeastern Arkansas today faced inundation again as flood waters of the Arkansas river poured through gaps in the levees 20 miles south of Pine Bluff.

Decha and Chicot counties are bearing the brunt of the flood. Approximately 100,000 acres will be inundated, it was estimated.

Hard Worker

A schedule which calls for his opening court every Monday over a two-year period, without a vacation is the work Newton P. Willis of Canadian took upon himself when he accepted appointment as judge of the 84th district court, March 1, 1927.

But Judge Willis, who was a hard working attorney, has entered willingly upon the task of relieving the oil territory of a mass of trials and litigation. He is now presiding over the Gray county session at LeFors.

Judge Willis comes of a pioneer family, his father having settled in the Panhandle at an early date. Frank Willis Sr., organized the first district court of this section in old Mobeetle in 1881; therefore, the son now holds a position similar to that which his father helped to create when the Panhandle was young.

Captain Erwin To Start Again On Hong Kong Trip

(By The Associated Press.)

DALLAS, Aug. 10.—Captain Erwin, who started his Dallas-to-Hong Kong flight late yesterday, but who was forced to return after making 250 miles, was expected to start again late today for San Francisco, the first leg of the flight.

Man Who Falls Off Train Killed

HOUSTON, Aug. 10.—A man named Gregg, 30 years old, of Waco, died here today in the hospital where he was taken after being found unconscious on a railroad right-of-way near Eureka Junction Sunday.

Officials believe Gregg fell from a troop train.

Associated Charities Fund Is Started By Committee of Five

First steps toward formation of an Associated Charities organization were taken today when a temporary board of trustees was formed with Mayor F. P. Reid as chairman.

Other members are C. H. Fisher, J. M. Dodson, Olin E. Hinkle and J. E. Murfee. These trustees expect to start a fund for a permanent organization.

It is expected that the first funds will be raised next week through a percentage of the receipts of the L. D. Brunk Players. This tent theatre will open Monday under the auspices of Associated Charities.

L. D. Brunk's Players is the parent organization of theatres originated by him and his sons. This will be the first appearance in Pampa of the original Brunk organization. A good orchestra, high class, clean vaudeville and late releases are promised by the players.

"Cheating Husbands," a three-act comedy, will be the opening bill Monday. Big audiences are said to be approving the repertoire of the show.

Reid Expects To Revive Pampa Fair For Next Fall

Mayor F. P. Reid thinks Pampa and Gray county should have a large exhibit in the Tri-State fair next month in Amarillo and is doing his best to get citizens of Pampa and the community interested in sending produce to the fair.

"Although this has been a bad season, we should have our city and county represented there," he said this morning. "It will advertise our city and our community to have exhibits marked from Pampa or from Gray county."

It is also Mayor Reid's intention to revive the Pampa fair next year. More than $800 remains in the bank from the last one, and this can be used to re-organize the Pampa fair, that could be held at the baseball park.

Local Men Propose Chartered Pullman To Dempsey-Tunney Bout

A group of local fight fans headed by Jimmie King of the Barton Torpedo company are planning a Pampa car to the heavyweight bout in Chicago, September 22.

If 20 make the trip, the cost for transportation will be approximately $100 each. This price will include Pullman facilities going and returning, with the car to sleep in while in Chicago.

It is believed that fans from nearby towns will join the Pampa men in making the trip. By going together, the fans will bring publicity to this vicinity.

Registrations for the trip may be made with the Daily News up to August 20, by which time it is hoped the quota will be reached.

Coolidge Attends Memorial Dedication

(By The Associated Press.)

KEYSTONE, S. D., Aug. 10.—President Coolidge traveled over the mountain trails again today to come here for the dedication ceremonies of starting work on the gigantic memorial to four American presidents.

The figures of Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln and Roosevelt are to be carved out of a large granite stone at Rushmore, near here. The memorial is being sponsored by people of South Dakota.

HIGHER COURT MAY REVIEW DEFENSE PLEA

Bill of Exceptions Is Requested To Be Heard

SACCO IS "DONE WITH COURTS"

Bombs Futile, While Police Halt All Riots

(By The Associated Press.)

BOSTON, Aug. 10.—Possibility that the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti might be postponed from early tomorrow morning was seen when Judge Sanderson of the Supreme court announced today that he would not give his decision until tomorrow morning on the move by defense counsel.

He is to decide whether he shall permit a bill of exceptions from his refusal to grant a writ of error and habeas corpus to go to the full bench of the Supreme court.

At 10 p. m. members of the executive council were instructed by the governor's office to go to lunch and be back between 3 and 3:30 p. m.

(By The Associated Press.)

BOSTON, Aug. 10.—Nicola Sacco refused to sign a petition for a writ of habeas corpus today which attorneys associated with the Sacco and Vanzetti defense committee submitted to him.

Vanzetti signed the petition, his lawyer said, after coming from the death house.

Sacco became angry when the petition was shown him. He denounced the courts and explained: "They have crucified me for the last seven years. I will have no more to do with them."

(By The Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, Aug. 10. (AP)—Led by a 16-year-old girl, Aurora Dangelo, a mob headed for the loop district was broken up by police early today.

Sixty-seven men and four women, including the leader, were arrested later when they formed a protest meeting against the electrocution of Sacco and Vanzetti.

(By The Associated Press.)

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 10. (AP)—A bomb exploded today in the palace of justice, but the damage was slight.

(By The Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, Aug. 10. (AP)—Bodies of two men believed to have been taken for a ride and shot to death in the usual gangster fashion were found lying on a suburban road today.

The men apparently were Italians.

Pulling Cars Out Of Mud Is Big Activity In City

Service cars are being kept busy this week towing cars into the city and pulling cars and trucks out of ditches in the neighborhood of Pampa. The worst places are on the Amarillo road after crossing the tracks and on the LeFors road from the city limits to the Saunders pool.

Numerous calls come from within the city limits, especially on the stretch of West Foster avenue from the end of the pavement to the Schafer hotel, where mud is anywhere from six inches to two feet deep and as slippery as ice.

At one time an oil company truck, a bus and three cars were in the ditch after crossing the tracks on the Amarillo road. Between Pampa and the Saunders pool six cars were stalled and in the ditch at once, and within the city limits cars without number came to grief in the muddy streets.

Cody Johnson returned last night from Amarillo, where he spent the week-end.

CRUSOE CHOOSES SWEETHEART IN NEW FILM STORY

LONDON, Aug. 10. (AP) — The modern Robinson Crusoe is not lonely by a long shot—he has a sweetheart. But she does not wear short skirts, and her hair hangs down her back in long, enticing tresses.

Crusoe's ideal was first seen here on the films and became quite popular from the beginning, especially among the women, probably owing to the fact that in real life the sweetheart is Miss Fay Compton, one of Britain's most popular actresses.

BILLY EVANS Says

Nick Would Be Umpire
Modern baseball fans know Nick Altrock only as a clown, yet he was one of the greatest southpaws the game has ever produced. The Herb Pennock of today is the Nick Altrock of 25 years ago.

Recently while sitting in the room of my hotel at Washington, with leg propped high in the air recovering from a knee injury, Altrock dropped in to see me.

"Just learned you might never be able to umpire again," said Nick, as he poked his head through the open door, "and I wanted to ask you to say a good word for me to president Johnson."

"I am about ready to retire as coach, even though I'm just past 50, and I've decided when your eyes are no longer good enough for the duties of coach you immediately become eligible for the umpiring job."

I assured him that I thought he was entirely too young to start umpiring, but I would be glad to give him the requested boost when he made up his mind that he was ready to take up umpiring.

Nick never took life or baseball too seriously; perhaps that is why he has gotten so much out of both and has always been hale and hearty.

Yanks Too Powerful
Nick having had his little joke, we discussed the fine tribute the people of Washington had paid to Walter Johnson, which naturally caused us to talk past and present conditions in baseball.

Like most of the oldtimers, Altrock insists that there isn't as much to the game today as there was 20 or more years back.

"It's largely a matter of power with the lively ball in use," he said. "The Yankees simply have too much stuff in the old power house when they turn loose Ruth, Gehrig, Lazzeri and the rest of that mob."

Nick, lest you have forgotten, was a member of the famous Chicago White Sox of 1906, which won the American League pennant that year and then went on to defeat the supposedly invincible Chicago Cubs in the world series that fall.

It will be recalled Altrock worked and won the first game of that series 2-1, defeating Mordecai Brown. No one figured him as the pitcher to open the series. Ed Walsh was favored by most of the critics, with "Doc" White as second choice.

Nick Altrock told me how it happened and for the first time the real reason why he pitched the first game of the 1906 series is revealed.

Had Bet on Game
In those days Nick Altrock was firmly convinced that beer taken in proper quantities was a fine tonic for a pitcher. Being German, Nick favored large portions served in steins.

The night before the first game, Nick spent five or six hours testing the various brews in a Chicago cafe. Late in the evening or perhaps it was early in the morning, when he tired of hearing some Cub supporters shout the praises of that team, Altrock wagered $100 against $300 that the White Sox would win the first game.

Altrock thought he could beat any team when right. When he knew it was his turn to pitch, he always bet on himself. When the morning of the first game dawned, he learned that he had wagered $100 on the outcome and to his great dismay, he felt that he would not be the selection of Manager Felder Jones.

GRATIFYING — Reaffirming of the Seminole pact at another meeting of the major operators is welcome news. The agreement is already taking effect, although no efforts are being made to rush attainment of the 450,000-barrel daily quota.

OIL IN ROCKS — The oil fraternity should have read a recent Daily News feature with much interest—that pertaining to the recovery of oil through treatment of oil shale in the Colorado and Wyoming mountains.

BEST CHANCE—Pampa is to have another opportunity to obtain good roads and get her heavy oilfield, local and tourist traffic out of the mud. We submit this fact: That the city we live in is situated over or near an oil bearing structure which will take years to tap, and that new wells will be drilled from month to month, giving need for good roads to every part of this vicinity, every month of the year.

PEDDLING—The city council has taken under advisement a proposal to place restrictions upon promiscuous peddling in Pampa. It has been shown that transient salesmen are flocking here because of the general belief that "you can sell anything in the oil fields."

FIRE FIGHTING—A crew of the San Antonio fire department made a daring run of 50 miles Monday morning in little more than an hour to save the business district of a hamlet. San Antonio had plenty of fire fighting equipment and it was nothing less than a duty to try to save a tiny neighbor.

This Bird Seems to Have Quite a Family

An ordinance likely will be drawn as a corrective measure.

GOOD STUFF—We like the way Pampa high school coaches and officials are stressing the fundamental principles of football as they relate to all-round development: character, condition, scholarship, teamwork.

UNDERSTOOD — "Texas," says the Springfield (Mass.) Union, "is too big to be misunderstood very long."

UNWORTHY SON?—Gen. Wood died and was buried with but little mention of his son in discussion of his life. The son was not, evidently, "a son of his father."

Twinkles: Nature is persistent, even if it may be far-fetched to say insects would have been as big as cows but for man's war on them. Wolves and jack rabbits are costing millions of dollars to keep their numbers to the desired minimum.

TAX FOR BAND—Wellington recently voted a small tax to support a municipal band, and it seems the opponents of the proposition didn't consider the project until after the election.

TEXAS PRISONERS—Texas prisoners were caught recently trying to make whiskey in their cells. Now the wets claim the men were not given enough water.

A judge fined his wife the other day after taking her plea of guilt. But it is not recorded what he found when he got home that day.

Well, well, we read of a fellow who won four prizes, one for excellence of memory, who can't remember what the other three were for.

Lots of people live forever in a frontier of ideas.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer.

WASHINGTON.—At least four of the new senators ought to be able to restrain themselves from increasing oratory for which the Senate is so justly famous. They are Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, Carl Hayden of Arizona, Millard Tydings of Maryland and Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma.

These four men, promoted by their states at the expense of distinguished Republicans, are all of senatorial calibre and their presence in the upper house will give no comfort to those who would convince us of the stupidity of the electorate.

Hayden explains that he learned his lesson very early in the game. He was elected to the House 16 years ago. For a whole month he kept perfectly still. Then one day up came some legislation affecting forest conservation.

Cities To Debate Historic Honors

(By The Associated Press.) FREDERICKSBURG, Va.—Boston, a city steeped in American tradition, will play the unique role this fall of host to delegations from Fredericksburg and Charleston, S. C., in a debate as to whether the Virginia or Carolina city is the rightful owner of the title, "America's Most Historic City." Many believe the Massachusetts city should make the debate a triangular affair, but whatever claims Boston, St. Augustine or other historic cities may advance, Fredericksburg and Charleston are determined to have their forensic battle.

What Patrick Henry Ate To Be Revealed

(By The Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON—Handwritten cook books antedating the Civil War and now in the possession of Mrs. Nancy F. Munce of Virginia, will be incorporated in an Old Fashioned Cook Book to be published this summer by the Woman's National Democratic Club.

Mrs. Munce inherited these recipe books from departed ladies of past generations who thought nothing of mentioning eggs by the dozen and cream by the quart. Most of them were handed down from mother to daughter for generations by word of mouth or in writing.

One of the old books is called, "Patrick Henry's cook book. Although not actually his property, it is composed of recipes of dishes used by his family and probably eaten by him many times. On the flyleaf, in faded, delicate writing is inscribed the statement that these recipes were "drawn off" at Red Hill the Patrick Henry home in Virginia, by Mrs. Elvira M. Taylor, one of his direct descendants.

Shatters Four World's Record

NEW YORK, Aug. 10. (AP)—A sturdy young girl of Nordic extraction, Miss Martha Norelius, is the free-style mermaid champion of America, successor to the crown that was worn by Gertrude Ederle until the famous English Channel conqueror turned professional.

Daughter of a Swedish swimming instructor, Miss Norelius, at 17, first splashed to fame as winner of the Olympic 400-meter championship at Paris. Now, at 20, she has demonstrated clear title to speed swimming honors as a result of record-breaking victory in four national championship events, ranging from 100 meters to one mile. She is one of the galaxy of stars representing the Women's Swimming association of New York that monopolized the national title.

Here's what Miss Norelius accomplished in the four-day championship meet at Massapequa, N. Y.

Shattered four world's records, swam anchor on a 880-yard relay team that broke a fifth, and set up three new American records accomplished what experts had termed the "impossible" by swimming a mile in 25 minutes, 13 2-5 seconds, world's record, with intermediate records broken at 1,000 meters and one-half mile along the way.

Miss Norelius was taught to swim by her father, now an instructor at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., but her championship prowess has been developed as a member of the W. S. A. under the tutoring of L. de B. Handley. In the past year or two she has broken many of Miss Ederle's records.

ces. Word has been received by the committee that the Curtis Wilgoid III owned by Roy C. Keys and Reginald J. Williams of Buffalo, will be among the entries.

Indiana Star May Make Davis Team

(By The Associated Press.)

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—Johnny Hennessey, veteran at 25 of a dozen years of tournament tennis, is Indiana's bid for America's Davis cup team.

Hennessey was a member of the American court team a few years ago and has pushed his personal affairs to the background in a determined effort to land again. He started to condition himself on the sun-baked courts of Florida months ago and gave Bill Tilden a severe battle while in the south later. He forced George Loft of Chicago, one of the summer's outstanding stars, to five sets before being defeated.

Tilden downed him in straight sets for the clay court championship at Detroit, but Hennessey and Lucien Williams of Chicago defeated Tilden and Sandy Weiner for the doubles title.

Hennessey has defeated Jean Borotra, the bounding Basque, three times.

Keep Amateur Status Princess Tells Lords

(By The Associated Press.)

LONDON—In these days of professionalism, the House of Lords should retain its position as the last stronghold of amateurs, believes Princess Elizabeth Bibesco.

Lord Oxford and Asquith's daughter, whose husband recently was the Rumanian minister in Washington, thinks the upper chamber would not necessarily be improved by making it an elected non-hereditary assembly.

"Surely," she says, "the House of Lords is the only representative body that now exists in the modern world."

"Elected assemblies are rarely representative. Candidates are chosen because of marked intelligence or marked docility. Personality may commend itself to the electors or absence of personality to the party managers. But the hospitality of the House of Lords is extended to all schools of thought or thoughtlessness.

"Peers are criticized for not attending and not voting. If they neither attend nor vote, what harm can they do? No doubt the House of Lords is an illogical growth. But English traditions are woven of anomalies."

NO pipe smoker figures fine tobacco as an extravagance . . . but it does seem foolish to charge you five cents extra for a bulky pocket tin . . . especially when the new Granger foil package keeps your tobacco in perfect condition. Quality inside . . . but sensible economy outside
