Pampa is to Undergo
New Growth

Gray county continued to mount in crude oil production this week, but even with two new wells could not offset the Panhandle decline. The Gray total was 10,376 barrels as compared with 10,177 for the previous week. There are 152 producing wells in the county.

The Panhandle fields produced 105,666 barrels of crude from 1,453 wells. Last week the total was 107,967 barrels.

Production by counties:

Carson, 156 wells, 9,613 barrels.

Hutchinson, 1,007 wells, 83,505 barrels.

Moore, 2 wells, 90 barrels.

Potter, 1 well, 35 barrels.

Wheeler, 35 wells, 2,047 barrels.

Of chief interest as the week came to an end was the showing at the St. Clair Petroleum company's No. 1 Crews, in section 9, block 25, north-east of Alanreed.

Bottomed at 3,005 feet, this wildcat was shot twice before good results were obtained. The well is being cleaned out after the second shot of Thursday. It made several heads when the tools were run, and two drillers were painfully hit by flying rocks and oil.

Rensaul Petroleum corporation's No. 1 Mark Huseby in section 55 will be cleaned out to test the result of a shot. The tools were lost after the shot, but have been recovered. A good well is indicated.

Although the oil situations of other fields are slowing down, the Pampa field is going steadily forward and it is being predicted by oil men that the city's population will be increased by 1,500 before the end of the year. Regarding Pampa as the logical center of field operations, big companies are planning to make investments in this vicinity. The coming three months will bring about developments, it is said, which will surprise even the most optimistic.

Work on the Empire Gas and Fuel company's booster station on the C. C. Dodd property about two miles east of Pampa on the LeFors road, is progressing rapidly. More than 75 workmen are employed in the erection of buildings for the housing of the workmen and the housing of the machinery.

Considerable equipment is already on the ground and more is arriving daily. Parts of the booster pumps have been on the ground for several weeks. The line has been laid far enough for the company to start the erection of the station.

Crisp sliced bacon may be served with greens and string beans and used to garnish and give flavor to many other simply cooked vegetables.

Texans Declared Too Lazy

Inertia and Tenant System Declared Ruin Cotton

(By The Associated Press.)
WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 13.—Laziness and the tenant system in Texas have caused a state of affairs too serious to be tolerated, Prof. John Todd, English cotton authority who has just completed a trip through the South said here today.

He added that the climate is largely responsible for the condition.

Clarence Ousley of Dallas acknowledged Todd's correctness, but declared that Texas farmers are no lazier than those of Alabama and Georgia.

Heavy Rains Flood Kansas Towns And Send Arkansas River Higher

(By The Associated Press.)
GREAT BEND, Kans., Aug. 13.—Torrential rains here and at Holsington last night flooded sections of both towns and resulted in considerable damage.

No lives are believed lost, but passengers on a Union Pacific train near Holsington were compelled to climb to roofs of the cars for safety, due to high water resulting from the downpour last night.

The rainfall measured three inches, and followed rains amounting to nearly four inches the night before.

The Arkansas river here was within 18 inches of the overflow stage and was still rising.

At Hizer a 9-inch rain sent water running through streets four feet deep, forcing residents from their homes.

At Albert, where 6 inches fell, water was two feet deep in the telephone exchange.

County Towns to Plan Exhibit for Tri-State Fair

In the interest of the Gray county exhibit to be shown at the Tri-State exposition in Amarillo commencing August 11, Scott Barcus, J. L. Lester and W. C. Montgomery visited LeFors, Alanreed, and McLean Friday.

The secretary of the Alanreed Chamber of Commerce, and several members that the Pampa delegation talked with were enthusiastic about the exhibit from the county. The matter will be discussed at the meeting of the local Chamber of Commerce members Thursday night.

At McLean O. H. Foster, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and President McMillan were agreeable to the plan and will present it at the regular meeting tomorrow night. Mr. Lampke, agricultural teacher at the McLean school, was willing to assist in getting the exhibit ready.

Secretary E. Bacchus of the LeFors Chamber of Commerce believes that LeFors will support the idea.

If the plans for the county exhibit are approved by the different organizations interested, a committee of three men from each place will meet and work out the county exhibit for the fair.

If any individual town or organization wishes to enter an exhibit at the fair, the committee will assist in every way possible.

More than 500 barrels an hour is going on the ground.

The well is accompanied by 80,000,000 feet of gas. The regular sand there is found at 3,000 feet.

Main Streets to Be Re-Surfaced and Paving Swept

Tom Lane, acting in the capacity of city manager will flush the pavement once every week. On account of the increasing traffic, it is expected that the work will have to be done at night. Commencing Monday, Mr. Lane plans to re-surface and grade the main thoroughfares from the end of the present pavement to the outskirts of the city. The work will start at the end of the pavement on West Foster avenue and extend to the tracks. Then South Cuyler street from the end of the paving to the south outskirts will be graded.

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic:—

David Brings the Ark to Jerusalem.

Scripture Lesson:—

2 Sam. 2, 3, 4, 5:1-3; 6:12-15.

2 Sam. 2:3. And his men that were with him did David bring up, every man with his household; and they dwelt in the cities of Hebron.

4. And the men of Judah came, and there they anointed David king over the house of Judah.

2 Sam. 5:1. Then came all the tribes of Israel to David unto Hebron, and spake, saying, Behold, we are thy bone and thy flesh.

2. In times past, when Saul was king over us, it was thou that leddest out and broughtest in Israel: and Jehovah said to thee, Thou shalt be shepherd of my people Israel, and thou shalt be prince over Israel.

3. So all the elders of Israel came to the king to Hebron; and King David made a covenant with them in Hebron before Jehovah; and they anointed David king over Israel.

2 Sam. 6:12. And it was told King David, saying, Jehovah hath blessed the house of Obededom, and all that pertaineth unto him, because of the ark of God. And David went and brought up the ark of God from the house of Obededom into the city of David with joy.

13. And it was so, that, when they that bare the ark of Jehovah had gone six paces, he sacrificed an ox and a fatling.

14. And David danced before Jehovah with all his might; and David was girded with a linen ephod.

15. So David and all the house of Israel brought up the ark of Jehovah with shouting, and with the sound of the trumpet.

Time:—David becomes king of Judah, B. C. 1063. David becomes king of all Israel, B. C. 1055. David brings the ark to Jerusalem, B. C. 1042.

Place:—David's capital, first at Hebron, was removed to Jerusalem when he became king of the entire country.

Golden Text:—We shall be satisfied with the goodness of thy house, Thy Holy Temple.—Ps. 65:4.

Introduction.

After the death of Saul and Jonathan, David knew that his outlaw and fugitive life was at an end. He also realized that the time had come for the fulfillment of God's design that he should be king, a design so solemnly disclosed to him by God's prophet many years before. But David, even under such circumstances, did not make haste. He retained the patience which had characterized him all through his weary and perilous wanderings. Like "Great David's greater Son," he waited on God's will; he knew how to bide his time. He would not even select without divine direction a place in which to dwell now that his hunted life was over.

David King in Hebron, vs. 3, 4.

Hebron was a most suitable place for his capital because it was central in the tribe of Judah, and was in the hilly uplands, easy to defend. It was Abraham's city, rich in the precious associations of the patriarchs. It was Caleb's city, selected by that doughty old warrior when the country was divided under Joshua. It was moreover a priestly center, and David during his wanderings had spent much time near it, and had made many friends. He was divinely led to choose it for his capital. "And his men that were with him did David bring up, every man with his household." David's men were the warriors who had attached themselves to his cause and had shared his exile. Thus David had the effective nucleus of an army.

always at hand, a powerful aid in those tumultuous and uncertain days. "And there they anointed David king over the house of Judah." David had been anointed privately by Samuel to be King in his boyhood; this second anointing cast no discredit upon the first, but merely confirmed it publicly.

David King of All Israel

David was king of Judah, with Hebron for his capital, for seven and a half years. The Philistines, victorious in the battle of Gilboa, occupied the country north of Judah, while Ishbosheth, son of Saul, and his followers, led by Abner, made their headquarters in the country east of Jordan. David spent five years in strengthening Judah. Abner at last succeeded in driving the Philistines out of the country north of Judah and in establishing Ishbosheth there as King, and for two years there was civil war between his kingdom and David's. A quarrel between Ishbosheth and his general led Abner to seek David and offer to betray his king to the king of Judah. During these negotiations Abner was slain (without David's knowledge or connivance) by Joab. David's general, whose brother Asahel had been slain by Abner. Soon after this Ishbosheth in turn was assassinated by two of his officers. Then came to David representatives of all the tribes except Judah, which was already with him, and offered him the vacant throne of Ishbosheth, completing his sovereignty over the entire nation.

God's Purpose Fulfilled

It is thrilling to look back upon the path of David from his boyhood in Bethlehem until he is seated on the throne of all Israel, and note how steady was God's purpose through all the vicissitudes of fortune. When David's fate seemed reversed, and God's favor appeared to have left him, it was only the recession of the ways, to be followed by an advance still farther up the shore. Thus it is with all of God's obedient children. Let them keep their faith clear and strong. Let them trust God most in the dark for then he is closest to them though they cannot see him, and he will never fail or forsake those who put their trust in him.

David's New Capital at Jerusalem

David, early in his reign over all Israel, in order to signalize his accession to the throne of the entire country and also in order to bring the capital nearer the center of the nation, captured Jerusalem from the Jebusites who had held it hitherto and who had called it Jebus. The new capital was on the border both of Judah, David's tribe, and of Benjamin, Saul's tribe, and therefore bound together the two royal tribes. It was on the main line of travel along the upland ridge that runs north and south through the country. It was an almost impregnable fortress, being situated on a rocky plateau surrounded on three sides by deep ravines. David could not have found a better site for his city, and ever since Jerusalem has been the great center of the Jewish race. Christ made it the central city in the affections of mankind.

A Sin of Presumption

At the close of last year we studied the account of the capture of the ark of the covenant by the Philistines (1 Sam. 4:10, 11), the woes it brought to its captors, and their dismayed return of the ark to the Israelites. Since that time the sacred chest, the center of so much glorious history, had been left at Kirjath-jearim, shamefully neglected by the nation for about eighty years. Having established Jerusalem as a military capital, David's next thought was to make it the religious center of his people. Therefore he made a great convocation of men from all parts of the country, numbering thirty thousand, and went to Kirjath-jearim to take the ark in solemn procession to its new resting place. The holy object was placed on a new cart which had never been used for any other purpose, and the processions set forth amid the strains of many instruments of music. The ark was placed in the immediate charge of Uzzah and Ahio, probably younger sons of Abinadab, who had not been consecrated to have the care of the ark, and did not feel the reverence toward it that they should. So it happened that, when the procession reached Nacon's threshing floor, the oxen stumbled or started up suddenly, or the cart was tilted into some rut, and the ark toppled and was about to fall off. Then Uzzah put his hand upon the ark to keep it from falling, and instantly the flame of the divine anger slew the presumptuous man beside the sacred chest. It must be remembered that the Ark was the symbol of God's presence. The ancient law required it to be carried by hand, by the Levites, after the priests had covered it; and the Levites were not to touch it, but to transport it by staves through the sides. It was necessary that the old-time reverence for the dwelling place of the Divine Majesty should be restored and thus the fate of Uzzah, which might seem at first too severe, was really required as a lesson to all Israel. Without reverence there can be no true worship, and the sacrifice of Uzzah's life has been a salutary warning for all ages since.

The Ark in the Home, chap. 6:12.
"What a wonderful three months in the house of Obededom, with the Ark of the Covenant always there, morning, noon, and night; Something new and wonderful was among them, an influence that made life more solemn, more important, more joyous. For one thing, their toil must have been sanctified. Think of standing by the Ark in the early morning, and then going out into the field to plough with the oxen. To be working away with one's hands or one's brains, to be meeting the shocks of the world, to be doing this day after day, with a strange light in the face, and with a great, mysterious, uplifting secret in the soul—this is what comes from having the Ark in the house." "Let in God, as Obededom did. Both into heart and home. Let God dwell in you and in your house. Bid him welcome. Be not forgetful to entertain him. He comes in love. Fury is not in him. He is seeking entrance for himself, and shelter for his Ark among the sons of men. Let him not pass by your door. Go out to meet him, and bid him welcome. He will bless you."

—Horatius Bonar.

"And never strife nor clamor Shall break the tranquil spell In which our Lord's beloved

In the house of Obededom, In sunlight or in dark, Abides the ceaseless blessing That rests within the ark."

—Margaret E. Sangster.

WATER—A city's prospects are as good as its water supply, according to an old saying. Many times the observation is very true. Certainly the city can be beautiful without water, its industries cannot operate, and living with an abundance of H2O is irksome. Pampa is fortunate indeed to have abundance of water. Consider Sweetwater, the railroad center of Central Texas, where there is a struggle under way to find a supply of permanence. It seems that water will not fall on the water shed of a big city lake. Another lake is contemplated, but in the meantime well drillers are working feverishly to develop a temporary supply. The real value of one of nature's most abundant products can only be fully appreciated by those who have not enough.

BEGINNING — The Pampa Daily News is five months old. Like all publications, it had to have a beginning. If during this time it has proven its announced purpose to be an honest purveyor of local news, an alert booster for all local institutions, a participant in everything for the best interests of Pampa and trade territory, then the staff believes the city's own daily has earned at least a part of the commendation it has received. With a circulation far above that of the average small daily in proportion to resident population, the Daily News is well able to render a distinct public service, and to this attainment the staff dedicates its efforts, hoping that each issue will help someone or some institution and make Pampa a better city.

PUNISHMENT — The prolonged Sacco-Vanzetti trial has other aspects than that of litigation. One is capital punishment. It is said the men were convicted on circumstantial evidence. Whether they are guilty or innocent of this specific crime may require years to determine. In the meantime, they may be dead—killed legally by the state and beyond the powers of the state. There is a growing feeling that capital punishment, which is largely based upon legal revenge, is wrong. Those who feel this way are not all sentimentalists. There are many jurists among them. Life imprisonment, if convictions were sure, would be as effective as the present non-too-certain danger of being convicted and put to death. Life imprisonment, too the professional crook, is a fate virtually as bad as death, while the possibility of death at the hands of the state has little influence upon those who kill in the heat of anger.

Since the Ladies Are Taking To The Air

FEASIBLE — Considering the immense amount of oil work to be done in the Pampa field in the next decade, and remembering that Pampa is the logical site for district offices, we believe that the proposed Oil Exchange is not only logical, but is one of the big needs of the present time. Oil men like to group their offices in order that operations may be drawn together for mutual convenience. This thing an oil building would tend to do, and Pampa would profit much in the doing thereof. Let's get behind the Oil Exchange.

ALIMONY — Possibly the anti-alimony clubs being formed in several cities are more for publicity than actuality, but they at least will call attention to the injustices of the alimony system in this country. The high figures granted by the courts for the separate maintenance of estranged wives are exemplary of the efficiency of some lawyers, but they smack little of common sense. Alimony is better than divorce in many cases, although it almost invariably leads to the latter.

FIFTY YEARS—Half a century is a long time, and it will surprise many to know that Friday was the fiftieth anniversary of the phonograph. Edison, when 30 years old, first spoke into a transmitter. Since that time the instrument has slowly been improved. The greatest strides of its progress were made by Edison himself, although in recent years new methods of recording and new principles of sound have been devised by several companies. But Edison is the father and developer of what is now a truly great instrument. He did much to lead the world of experimenters to radiophone, which is a far cry from the old

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—The Hoover presidential boom is likely to strike a snag in waters which will be comparatively smooth sailing for Vice-President Dawes.

On the other hand, the Dawes craft can make good headway on any stream that the Hoover boat can navigate.

In selecting a presidential candidate, the enemies a man has incurred are taken into serious consideration. If a man can be found who has no enemies worth speaking of, he has an edge on the next fellow. A glance at presidential candidates for the last 20 years will confirm that as a general statement.

Thus when two men stand head and shoulders above the other candidates for the Republican nomination, as do Hoover and Dawes, the man who has the least opposition within the party seems likely to win. And it's a fact that while some important political elements which would stand for Dawes would put up a real fight against Hoover, the elements in the Hoover strength would have little trouble in accepting Dawes.

That is one of the principal reasons why, at this writing, Dawes seems the better bet.

The important anti-Hoover sentiment will be found among farmers, senators and other politicians. Among these classes of influence Dawes has been busy building up his fences. He is the strongest candidate who will appeal to all three, although any one of them might prefer someone else.

Hoover's great strength lies with the business and financial interests. He has had the aid of a matchless publicity machine and for a long time has appealed to the imagination of the ordinary man.

But is Dawes found wanting in those respects? Not at all. He is a banker himself and is tied up with big business in various ways. He has been his own publicity machine, but he is certainly as widely known as Hoover and he too has captured the imagination of the average citizen.

The two men are both believed to be extremely ambitious for the presidency.

With the foreign situation as it is, America's international bankers will be quite solicitous about the next president. It is predicted that the Morgan interests, for instance, will sup-

Pampa Daily News: The Dearborn Independent may become a house organ—and perhaps, next time, not a glass house. Mr. Ford is an excellent business man, but has never qualified as an expert in language any more than in history. The Dearborn Independent isn't becoming a house organ, because it has always been. The only change that is overtaking the periodical is that it will eliminate the general character that has made it interesting and become a sort of catalogue for the firm; that is, if the plans for it are carried through. Mr. Ford believes in selling his paper like his product. He made his organization put its shoulder to the wheel and push. There are no sales specialists in the firm, except in making sales of the firm's products. The organization is grateful for the change that has come over the Independent because it relieves it of a variety of sales that does not appeal to it, as is proven by the fact that otherwise it would join the soliciting hordes that add to Mr. Bok's million readers. Six transit gloria mundi, also Tuesday to Sunday, inclusive. The Independent had a lot of interested readers. Aaron Sapiro testified under oath he read it, and believed to the tune of a lot of money that other folks did. But there will not be so many readers of the new Independent. The only thing that is more uninteresting reading than the catalogue of a lizzie maker is a garage bill. — State Press in Dallas News.

In these days a street sweeper has to be a nighthawk sure enough, as people do not hit the hay as they used to do.
There is some agitation to have our streets cleaner. 'Twould be fine, but remember the olden days and be thankful that while the streets may look like dirt, it doesn't require hip boots to cross them.
More paving is one of the city's greatest needs, folks, and clean pavements can't be kept when there are so few.

Menus for the Family

By Sister Mary

BREAKFAST—Mushmelon, ready-to-serve cereal, cream, poached eggs on grilled tomatoes, crisp graham toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Stuffed cucumbers, broad, currant jelly, cream puffs, milk, tea.

DINNER—Fried scallops, tartar sauce, creamed potatoes, buttered lima beans, stuffed sweet green pepper salad, fresh plums, milk, coffee.

The fish is fried in deep fat. If wanted for small children the easiest way to prepare it is to boil it in water to which lemon juice and salt are added. The water must be boiling when the fish are put in. When the boiling point is again reached, the heat is reduced and the scallops simmered for about ten minutes. Drain and serve with a little melted butter.

Stuffed cucumbers are not quite ordinary and use up left over lamb roast or any sort of cold meat or fish.

Stuffed Cucumbers

Four large cucumbers, 2 cups stale bread crumbs, 4 tablespoons melted butter, 1 small onion, 1/2 cup chopped lamb, yolks 2 eggs, 4 thin slices bacon, salt and pepper.

Cut a shallow lengthwise slice from each cucumber. Scoop the seeds and center from the thick part of the cucumber. Moisten crumbs with left over gravy or hot water and add melted butter. Mix lightly with a fork and add onion grated, meat and unbeaten yolks of eggs. Season with salt and pepper and mix thoroughly. Pack into the prepared cucumbers and put bacon on top. Cover with the shallow slices of the cucumbers and tie in place with a soft cord. Place on rack of roaster and bake 30 minutes in a hot oven. Baste several times with water or stock. Remove binding cord and serve one cucumber to each person.

Mrs. A. Cole, Mrs. E. S. Graves, and Mrs. R. S. Barksdale of this city are in Amarillo this week attending the Seventh day Adventist conference.

J. S. Earp and Mrs. E. E. Rapstine of White Deer were in Pampa Friday on business.

Senior Brunk Shows Are Here

One of the most popular of the bills presented by the senior Brunk Players who will open here tomorrow is "The Cat and the Canary," which had a run of 18 months in New York.

Mr. Brunk thought so highly of this play that he purchased the right to show it in five states.

The opening play for tomorrow night will be a three-act comedy, "Cheating Husbands." This is a human interest bill of the type which Panhandle audiences enjoy.

Brunk Players will play in Pampa under the auspices of Associated Charities, which has been organized to stop the miscellaneous collections made here. Previous shows by the same name have been operated by nephews of L. D. Brunk, who founded the organization.

BILLY EVANS Says

Who'll Get Sister

In what club's line-up will George Sisler of the St. Louis Browns be next season?

The player, generally considered the greatest of first basemen of all time, will be placed in the market this fall. Who will prove to be the highest bidder?

When Owner Phil Ball announced that only four members of the present club would be retained, he let it be known, while not naming the players, that Sisler wasn't in the list.

Combie Mack was once eager to secure the services of Sisler, but the poor luck that he had had with many of his veterans this season may cause him to act cautiously.

While George Sisler isn't the peerless first-sacker he was five years ago, he is far from through. New surroundings no doubt would help. It could not be expected that he would feel perfectly at home in St. Louis after having once managed that club.

A half dozen teams in the majors could use him to a decided advantage, so I look for some spirited bidding.

It is baseball history that a playing manager who is deposed, seldom is a success in the role of a mere player on the same club.

Lively Ball in Golf

I see where Bobby Jones has come out for a standardized ball in golf for tournament play that would be much slower than the one now in use. Which makes it seem that golf has its lively ball as well as the diamond sport.

Unquestionably there is a thrill to a long drive from the tee such as comes from no other shot in golf. To get distance, it seems dynamite has been added to the golf ball as well as baseball.

It strikes me that the suggestion made by Jones is an excellent one for major tournament play, but it will never get the vote of the "duffers" of golf and they are greatly in the majority.

The "duffer" likes to get distance even more than the star amateur or crack pro and he knows the lively ball helps him to get it. Many makers of popular golf balls in advertising their wares, have dwelt on the distance feature.

"More yards at the least cost" has been the slogan of mist golf ball makers in their publicity appeal.

A standardized ball for major play is logical, but by all means, let the duffer have his animated golf ball to help him lie about the distance he gets from the tee.

The Home Run Parks

Despite a certain popularity that still goes with the home run, the powers that be in baseball must sooner or later reach the conclusion that the ball now in use is too lively at least for some of the cigar box parks in the majors.

If all the parks had exactly the same size playing fields and the home run distance was 300 feet or more, then I would offer no objections to the lively ball now in use.

On the larger parks there wouldn't be so much wild swinging, particularly on the part of the batters noted for getting distance. More territory for the outfielders to roam would make at least 50 per cent of the players go back to smart baseball.

Ruth's ability to outshine all others at making home runs has been a magnet, but if suddenly a number of players able to equal or better Ruth's deeds came forth as did Gehrig this year, the home run will have lost its Ruthian glamour and much of its kick.

I doubt if any slugger in the history of baseball gets anywhere near the public acclaim that has been showered on Babe Ruth for his home run prowess.

URGES KANSAS PLAN TO BAR UNDESIRABLES FROM RING

(By The Associated Press.)

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 12. — The Kansas plan for rating boxers may be presented to the National Boxing association at its meeting in Toledo, October 17. The plan is proposed by Leslie E. Edmonds, executive secretary of the Kansas Athletic commission and chairman of the legislative committee of the association.

The Kansas plan, if adopted by the National Boxing association, would make available an official record of every boxer who appears in any of the 20 states and five foreign countries represented in the association.

The biggest handicap to promoters staging boxing exhibitions, according to Edmonds, is lack of knowledge of the ordinary run of fighters. Record books now published do not contain the names of more than 10 per cent of the fighters who appear in the rings. Promoters must rely on too much "sight-unseen" employment of fist-cuffers, Edmonds says.

Under the system some representative of the Kansas athletic commission attends every fight to report on each boxer under the heading of footwork, speed, accuracy in hitting, sportmanship, condition, weight and general remarks. The standard of comparison is that used in the army in rating the officer personnel. It is set by grouping the abilities of the best, the average and the worst boxers in the observer's experience. At the end of each month the ratings of the fighters are cleared through the state office to every promoter and every representative of the commission in Kansas.

"Since its inauguration six months ago, the Kansas plan has prevented the reappearance of the dud, the has been and the overrated pugilist," Edmonds says. "Once a man fights in Kansas his performance becomes a matter of official record, which is available to all state organizations as well as commissions of other interested states."

Capt. Raymond P. Waltz of the United States army, stationed with the R. O. T. C. at the Kansas State Agricultural college, initiated the Kansas system for rating boxers. The plan has been submitted to the commission of member states of the National Boxing association. If enough of them are favorably interested, Edmonds will present the matter at the next meeting.

Southern Women's Net Champion Learned Game Without Coaching

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Marie Marquette, newly crowned southern women's tennis champion, is a self-made tennis player.

Miss Marquette plays hockey, basketball and swims. In all these sports, she has been coached but in tennis she never received any instruction.

Presented with a racquet by an admirer five years ago, she began her career on the Memphis public courts. Her development has been steady, with little of the spectacular.

Her excellent game is the result of continuous playing.

In winning the southern title, Miss Marquette displayed superior endurance and speed. She plays a baseline game. Her ability to cover the court stands her in good stead against harder hitting opponents.

Before winning the southern championship, Marquette captured the Tri-States tournament, defeating the best players of Tennessee, Arkansas and Mississippi. She now plans to enter national tournaments.

America May Be Hard Pressed To Retain Davis Cup This Year

(By The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK—Is America's Davis cup team of this year facing the fate which befell Uncle Sam's representatives back in 1914?

After scanning the present tennis horizon it wouldn't be at all surprising were the famous trophy to go to a European invading force, just as it did 13 years ago.

In 1914, it will be recalled, Australia, led by the famous Anthony Wilding and Norman Brookes, swept the United States pastimes aside in one of the most thrilling and hotly contested tussles in the history of the famous classic.

That year Wilding whipped Dick Williams, and so did Brookes. Wilding and Brookes also defeated America's sensational duo, Tom Bundy and Maurice McLoughlin, in the doubles.

McLoughlin, then famed as the "California Comet," saved America from a debacle by beating both Williams and Brookes in the singles. The Challenge round ended: Australia 3, United States 2.

Australia this season sent over one of the greatest invading teams ever to compete for the cup. Wilding and Brookes were two of the outstanding players in tennis annals. As a pair they were virtually invincible.

That was the last time the two Australians ever played together. Rumbblings of the war were being heard at the time. Upon their return to their native land Wilding and Brookes both entered the service. Wilding was killed soon after reaching the front. Brookes came through unscathed. Several years ago he essayed a comeback, but the once great racketeer was only a shell of his old self.

That 1914 reverse was the last an American entry met in the Davis cup competition. Six years later Tilden and Johnston won back the coveted trophy, beating Australia 5 to 0. America has since retained the laurels, defeating Australia, Japan and France during the intervening six seasons.

Last year the French stars, Lacoste, Borotra, Brugnon, and Cochet, extended the Americans, but won only one of the five matches. This season the French menace again looms. In fact, the American team seems certain to encounter its severest test since Wilding and Brookes crashed through to victory 13 years ago.

With its two veterans, Tilden and Johnston, admittedly past their prime, and Richards no longer eligible, the United States has anything but a rosy prospect of main-tenance.

Austin Tournament Will Attract Many Tennis Enthusiasts

(By The Associated Press.)

AUSTIN, Aug. 13.—A local tennis tournament to be run off here August 15 will determine who of the Austin netmen will enter the inter-city meet at Waco, September 2 and 3, along with players from Dallas, Fort Worth, San Antonio, Houston and other cities.

Austin, which, with its excellent university courts, is regarded more or less as the tennis center of the state, is expected to have a formidable aggregation from the Waco tournament. Talent will be available both from Austin Athletic club, which does heavily on tennis, and the University of Texas, where tennis is one of the first ranking sports.

Shirred eggs are a pleasant change for breakfast or lunch. Drop the eggs into a shallow buttered baking dish, sprinkle buttered bread crumbs on top and bake in a moderate oven until the eggs are set. Individual baking dishes may be used and the eggs sent in them to the table.

To whip cream successfully in hot weather, it is well first to chill the cream, bowl and whipper. Cream for whipping should contain at least 30 per cent butterfat, aged for 24 hours or more.

Information regarding the advantages offered for textile study and the courses of the Tech was immediately dispatched to the young man. Inquiries about the textile department have come in during the past weeks from England, Switzerland and Japan.

A Hot Race

The hot race for the leadership of the American association between Milwaukee and Toledo is reflected all the way through today's statistics. In team batting, individual hitting and pitching effectiveness they are neck and neck.

Emilio Palmero ranks as the Association's best fliker in averages compiled today including Wednesday's games. He has ten wins to one defeat, pursued closely by Oscar Orwoll of the Brewers with 11 victories and four defeats, Zinn and Sheehan of Kansas City both outrank them in number of wins with marks of 17 and 18 respectively, but are third and fourth because of more setbacks.

Orwoll tops the batters with a mark of .395, with Grimes, the Hen's first sacker, not far behind at .386. Reb Russell of Indianapolis stands third and then comes another Brewers-Hens duel between Bobby Veach of Toledo and Riconda, of the Brewers.

Hens Lead Batting

In team batting the Hens lead with .317, three points better than Milwaukee, each club made slight gains this week, even in their "crucial" series against each other. Kansas City also moved up in team batting and is but a single point behind.

Kirkham, the leading clouter of Columbus, dropped from fourth to sixth place when the race between the Hens and the Brewers grew heated, and Funk, St. Paul's only delegate in the list of the leading hitters, dropped entirely to make room for Kelly of Toledo.

McMillan and Haas of St. Paul are taking the play away from the league in stolen bases, with 26 and 23 respectively. Mac gained three and Bruno two this week.

Leading hitters of the association are: Orwoll, Milwaukee, .395; Grimes, Toledo, .386; Russell, Indianapolis, .382; Veach, Toledo, .371; Riconda, Milwaukee, .364; Kirkham, Columbus, .363; Duncan, Minneapolis, .361; J. Kelly, Toledo, .360; Hauser, Kansas City, .358; Lebourveau, Toledo, .353.

With a team of .300 hitters and

.600 pitchers the Tulsa Oilers are still bowling merrily along through the Western league, somewhat like the Yankees are doing in the American league.

George Blaeholder, with 22 victories to seven defeats stands high above the boxmen of the circuit in averages compiled today including Wednesday's games. Black, another Tulsa fliker, has the best percentage mark among the regulars with nine wins to only one loss.

Since Pete Casey withdrew to the bench except for his weekly effort at pinch hitting, the individual batting leadership has descended upon Langford of Des Moines, and he clings to it bravely. For the first time in many weeks, the ten leading hitters of the league kept their places with only trivial gains or losses and no newcomers in the bunch.

Munson poled another homer, making his mark 25, and McNally of Wichita reached the 17-mark which Casey established before he was "banned" two months ago.

Joe Rabbit got his weekly two stolen bases, having now 38. His speed on the paths makes him the league's leading run getter, although Bennett of Tulsa, the two-bagger champion of the circuit, is only three behind.

A mark which excels the present efforts of any of the major league twirlers is being set by Walker of Denver, who has 142 strikeout victims to date. This is five better than Lefty Grove of the Athletics and 11 better than Dazzy Vance of Brooklyn.

Leading batters of the Western league are: Langford, Des Moines, .395; Comorosky, Wichita, .386; Bennett, Tulsa, .377; Munson, Tulsa, .373; Sturdy, Tulsa, .368; Cunningham, Des Moines, .364; Wingfield, Amarillo, .354; Rabbitt, Omaha, .348; Reagan, Denver, .348; Kress, Tulsa, .346.
