RANGE SHOWS DROUGHT, BUT COAST BETTER

Buyers Are Unable To Find Enough Stockers Says Report

LATE RAINS GIVE RELIEF

Calf Crop Is Fine Goats and Sheep Doing Well

(By The Associated Press.)

HOUSTON, June 15.—Supplementing his June 1 livestock and range report, showing considerable deterioration in the conditions of both due to drouth, H. H. Schultz, government statistician here, points to the coast section as the only portion of Texas where moisture is plentiful and grass is abundant, except in a few small areas.

The situation is offset, however, by the fact that the range is understocked, owing to inability to get stockers at an acceptable price. Buyers are many but sellers are few, Mr. Schultz has found and adds that cattle are fat but scarce in numbers. The calf crop, his reporters say, is the best in many years, not only in numbers saved, but quality and condition as well. Here and there in this area screw worms have caused a few losses and a few cases of loin disease and tick fever have developed.

Grass Is Short.

Other sections, Mr. Schultz finds, have not been so fortunate. In the plains district moisture is badly needed. A few localities have been without rain since October and consequently grass and row crops have not made much progress. It follows that the prospects for the summer range are poor. Cattle, meanwhile, he learns, have been holding up fairly well but it has become necessary either to feed cake or old grass or ship to better pastures. Young calves are many. They had a good start but are at a standstill now. Mother cows are shrinking fast. The unfavorable outlook has slowed up local trading and restocking. Late reports of local showers may, however, bring some improvement in the general situation.

Practices will commence soon. As a choir, the club will sing at the different churches in the city and at recitals.

Federal Authority Publishes First Book On "Law of Radio"

(By The Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Radio communication has turned out to be such a prodigious industrial infant that the courts and lawyers are finding it increasingly necessary to study the statutes affecting its development and control. The first text book on the subject was published recently and is the work of Stephen B. Davis, solicitor and assistant secretary of the Commerce Department.

When Secretary Hoover was first called upon to struggle with the growing pains of the infant, he made Davis chief assistant for his effort. His book, "The Law of Radio Communication," as based upon knowledge he has gained in the three years which have followed.

When radio was merely a means of communicating over sea, Davis' volume points out, there was little controversy and trouble about legal rights. But when, in 1922, people in general began to get their box scores, cets and speeches from it, courts and governments had to come into the field.

Once there they found some perplexing barriers functioning. To begin with, there can't be any ownership of ether, Davis asserts, even though it is the channel and surface upon which the radio waves flow.

Nor can the owner of property prevent, by court or other action, the free transmission of the waves across his properties.

Nevertheless, government can enter the field, Davis proceeds, although he regards a national assertion of ownership over ether as questionably effective. Manifestly, communicating by radio constitutes interstate commerce, he says, and by established precedent the federal government of the United States can take hold upon anything of that kind. Further, the states of the Union have established police power, and radio transmitters and receivers can be governed as police matters. Finally, every individual has a right to a certain freedom from exactions and annoyance from other individuals, whether a club or a radio loud speaker is the vehicle for making the annoyance effective.

Under these three general headings Davis has assembled a series of rulings and principles, based on court and official decisions, which express the body of law as it stands covering radio communication. His volume does not assume the status of an official guide or compilation of radio decisions, but it is the first text book and general statement of problems and principles.

Albania and Jugo-Slavia Have Severed Diplomatic Relations

(By The Associated Press.)

BELGRADE, June 15.—Albania's minister to Jugo-Slavia has requested and received his passports, and with his legation staff is leaving the country today. This completes the severance of diplomatic relations between the two countries, which began with the withdrawal of the Jugo-Slavian legation from Tirana June 4.

The trouble arose through the arrest of an employe of the Jugo-Slavian legation on a charge of espionage.

Hopkins Well Is Puzzle—Oil Goes High After Shot

Oil flowed 50 feet over the top of the derrick of the Riley-Heck No. 1 Mrs. J. M. Hopkins well, section 66, block B-2, last night when a small shot was used to loosen the casing lost in the hole some weeks ago.

The company left six joints of casing in the hole and drilled around it. When about six feet from the bottom of the old casing, difficulty in drilling was encountered and the shot was used to loosen the obstacle. Oil commenced to flow as the result of the shot which was at 3,064 feet.

If the flow is great enough, it is the intention of the company to go no further at the present time, but if the flow is slight the well will be drilled deeper to prove that territory for further drilling operations.

This particular well has been the source of many disasters. Some difficulty was encountered during drilling, then the derrick burned down, and lastly the bradhead parted and the entire length of casing was dropped into the hole and had all been removed with the exception of six lengths when the contractors decided to drill around it.

(By The Associated Press.)

MITCHELL FIELD, New York, June 15.—Officers at the army field made known today that New Yorkers will probably not see Charles Lindbergh's plane before the flier returns home.

They said present plans call for Lindbergh to leave here for Washington Friday morning immediately after receiving the $25,000 Orteig prize.

At Washington he will transfer to the Spirit of St. Louis and then fly to St. Louis.

Russia In Turmoil With Rumors Of Polish War Current

(By The Associated Press.)

LONDON, June 15.—Rumors of new terror in Russia, with numerous executions, wholesale arrests, drastic military preparation, impending declaration of martial law and crowds of foreigners fleeing from Moscow, are current here.

It is said that strict censorship, imposed on all telegrams from Russia, accounts for the inability to confirm sensational stories. The population of Moscow is described as being panic stricken, with reservists being called out. The dispatches suggest these preparations due to expected war with Poland.

LeFors Conviction Carries 25 Years

A. G. Howie, convicted by a jury last night in the 84th district court, was given a sentence of 25 years in the penitentiary.

He was charged with rape in connection with the testimony of a step-daughter. The offense, according to testimony, was committed last December, and Howie has been in jail since that time.

The case began late Monday.

Byrd May Fly Back Over Pacific

(By The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, June 15.—The New York Evening Post says today that Commander Richard Byrd, who is expected to hop off soon for a trans-Atlantic flight, has such elastic plans for guiding his monoplane after it leaves America that he may even cross Europe and the Pacific ocean before he ends the trip.

Plenty of Labor Is Available In Texas For Wheat Harvest This Year

(By The Associated Press.)

FORT WORTH, June 15.—As a result of a number of unusual conditions which have brought about an abnormal employment situation, Texas will need no outside labor to assist in harvesting its wheat crop this year, C. W. Woodman, assistant director of the United States Farm Bureau, said here.

In conjunction with other bureaus of the Department of Labor, Woodman's office is sending out notices warning the transient laborers who usually pour into the state at this time of the year to remain away until they have received notices of changed conditions and can be assigned to points needing laborers.

The drouth through the wheat belt, which reports indicate has reached alarming proportions, is the principal cause of the slight demand for harvest hands, according to Woodman, who cited a letter from A. F. Barkley, Spearman, which declared that "crops are very short" in Hansford, Hutchinson, Ochiltree counties and what wheat will be harvested can be taken care of by local men and trucks. Earlier in the season, the Spear-

ESCAPES MAN HUNT IN DASH BACK TO HILLS

Officer Found Tied To Tree—Arrest Didn't Go

CAR STOLEN AT DRUMRIGHT

Child Asleep On Seat Later Found On Vacant Lot

(By The Associated Press.)

TULSA, June 15.—After kidnaping the marshal of Jennings, Okla., and stealing an automobile in which a small child was sleeping, Matthew Kimes, bank robber, was the object of an extensive man hunt today.

Apparently he had eluded officers, having been chased to Hominy, Osage county. He headed for the Osage hills after stealing a car at Drumright last night.

George McAninch, marshal of Jennings, was captured by Kimes when he attempted to stop the outlaw. Kimes tied McAninch to a tree.

The bandit stole an automobile belonging to Orville Noble, and apparently did not notice the child lying asleep on the back seat. The baby was found soon afterward on a vacant lot, still asleep.

Peek's Company To Drill Well In McIlroy Oil Pool

F. A. Peek, of Amarillo, was in the city today in the interest of the El Rio Oil company, of which he is vice-president. Until recently he lived in Pampa.

Other officers of his company are Fred B. Manley, president; S. A. Meyer, secretary; and E. W. Little, treasurer. All of the officers are Amarillo men.

The company, incorporated in Texas at $200,000, has 1,930 acres of proven gas land in northeastern Potter county, 80 acres of lease in section 91, block 46, H&TC railway survey, Hutchinson county, and 40 acres in section 4, block 23 of Hutchinson county. It is preparing to spud in a well in the southeast part of the 40 acres. This is the center of the sensational McIlroy pool, surrounded by wells making 1,000 barrels upward. Nearest production is only 600 feet from the location for the first well.

man Chamber of Commerce had requested that 1,000 men and trucks be sent into its territory to work harvest fields.

The Mississippi valley floods likewise have had an adverse effect on normal labor conditions, causing hundreds of refugees to come to Texas and clog the regular employment channels, Woodman said, pointing out that probably 200 persons who said they were from the Mississippi area had been served through his office and that doubtless many others likewise applied for employment in other Texas bureaus.

In a harvest bulletin sent out by the central office of the farm labor division, Department of Labor, Kansas City, growing use of the combine was stressed as causing smaller demand than usual for harvest hands.

Finally, building depression in a number of cities have sent a large number of men to the farms to fill jobs ordinarily reserved for the transients, Woodman believes.

The situation will not be clarified until cotton work picks up, in Woodman's opinion.

NON-STOP PUBLICITY RECORD TO LINDBERGH

The Associated Press reports finding of a man in Corsicana who didn't know who Lindbergh is or what he has done. That is news.

The newspaper public is very nearly the entire public, and the newspaper heroes are the people's heroes. Who are the leading heroes, then, measured by this classification?

In order of time, recent compilations list them as Hobson, Dewey, Docter Cook, Peary, and Lindbergh.

But no individual of modern times has held the sustained interest as has Lindbergh, whose youth, daring and nature of the exploit have inspired the greatest receptions any American ever received.

Lindbergh's European triumph is another proof of the growing spirit of internationalism, made possible by the miracles of radio, telegraph, and printing marvels.

Whereas most receptions are closed books thereafter, the modern international hero is admired in every home where newspapers circulate and his triumphs are limited only by his willingness to travel where he is invited.

The world stands instantly receptive to real merit, but it is unlikely that anything lacking in genuineness will ever win the same reward. The world thinks very much alike, using the same information in every part.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer.

WASHINGTON. — One of the most fascinating factors of international relations is the spy system.

The giveaway on the great network of espionage maintained by the nations of the world always comes when a spy is caught red-handed. Ordinarily it works very quietly and then, every year or two, evidence of its operations comes to light and one is immediately met with the informed comment — often defensive — that all governments employ spies to gather military and other secrets from other countries.

The latest instance of this followed the British howl of virtuous indignation against Russian espionage. The British presumably found much less than they expected to find in the Arcos raid, and the assumption also is that they would have found more had they suddenly raided the flabbergasted embassy of one or more of the other great powers.

At any rate, Lloyd George, who knows a great deal about the British government as well as about other European governments, was only one of several who pointed out publicly that all governments spied upon each other and stole each other's documents.

There is no indication that our own government can lay claim to any pious freedom from such tactics. It would be asleep on its feet if it could.

You hear, in confidence, strange yarns about the international spy system as it affects the United States.

Some of the stories probably are not true—but some of them probably are. There is enough evidence even on the surface to indicate that military and naval attaches in world capitals manage the

PRESS FORUM

From the Sacramento Union:

A piece of news that has not found its way over the wires, but which is of interest to several million Americans concerns one of the greatest burdens of war—the pack which the infantryman carries on his back. There is many a Sacramento man who will testify that there were times when the entire burden of the great war rested in the region of his spine, rolled up, in a "shelter half."

Ten years after the great army of Americans in the World War ceased to carry the "pack," the weight has been reduced from 79 pounds to 51 pounds. If the reduction of 28 pounds every 10 years keeps up it will not be so bad to go to war 20 years from now—without any pack.

The same 10 years has brought another reform for the "doughboy." The rations are increased. One and two-tenth ounces of beans and .5712 ounces of salt are among the various articles of food per day per soldier.

Twenty-eight pounds less on clearing houses for subterranean information bought and otherwise obtained from spies. The likelihood is that they haven't anything much else to do.

It will be recalled that our own military attaché in Mexico City was recently in the limelight when important documents which had passed through his hands were obtained by the Mexican government. A splendid job of international hushing was performed and the incident seemed a turning point in relations between the two countries, but in all fairness it should be said that no official proof was ever produced to show that the attaché had done anything that wasn't open and aboveboard.

It was obvious, however, that there had been certain military espionage along the border which seems to have been practiced by both sides.

At the rather ripe age of 93, Chauncy M. Depew declares that the girls of today are no different from the girls of 70 years ago. That is encouraging. There are many elders who shout out that girls of today are headed for perdition, but here comes the venerable old New York post-prandial hero and declares that the girl of today is just the same as the girl he courted 70 years ago.—Henryetta Free-Lance.

your back—more beans and salt around in front—how can the next war be cruel?

READERS' FORUM

Editor, Pampa Daily News: The first thing which must be considered in building a great Pampa is co-operation between labor and capital.

Builders, or capitalists, even though it costs more money, should patronize home labor, as that keeps money at home, where it will be spent to bring greater prosperity to all lines of business.

The builders in Pampa who are guilty of letting contracts, buying material and getting labor out of town do not have the right to ask citizens of Pampa to cooperate with them in their lines of business. Be a home builder and booster and be square with home folks.

We must have a payroll in Pampa outside of small local firms and the city offices, as there is no payroll of importance, excepting the oil companies.

Let's pull together for some manufacturing enterprises. Let's organize and promote something for the good of Pampa and, furthermore, treat our fellow man square, though we may pay him more money. It will come back to us here in increased prosperity, but money spent in Amarillo or Berger or elsewhere is gone forever.

Now for a greater Pampa. Let's go! MRS. R. C. MINNIS.

A host of prospective June brides are becoming impatient, but Judd Gray and Ruth Snyder wouldn't care if June never again arrived, it being the month when they are to hop off into uncharted space.—Muskogee Times-Democrat.

American Link Prestige Will Be Much Threatened

NEW YORK, June 15. (AP)—America's supremacy on the links, which reached its crest last year in sweeping British victories by Bobby Jones and Jess Sweetser, will be subjected to its most threatening challenge since 1920, in the American open championship at Oakmont, Pa., June 15 and 16.

Ten places in the starting field already have been set aside for a band of British professionals whose invasion has the double objective of successfully defending the Ryder team trophy against an American team and of lifting the most coveted of American link titles. One invader, the powerful hitting veteran, Ted Ray, is a former American open champion.

Of the many scattering attempts which foreign stars have made to penetrate the home defenses, only two have been successful. Ray's triumph seven years ago was the last, terminating a 20 year stretch during which no European player was able to break through. The other victory in 1900 was posted by the great English stylist, Harry Vardon.

The success of British forces in these two campaigns, however, was pronounced, for on both occasions compatriots finished in the run-up positions. J. H. Taylor of England was second to Vardon in 1900, two strokes behind the winner's score of 313, while Vardon tied three American players for second place in 1920.

There was one other notable British invasion in 1913 by Vardon and Ray, when the two famous overseas players finished in a tie with Francis Outmet, then a young Boston amateur, for first place. To the surprise of critics and a large gallery, Outmet then proceeded to win the subsequent play-off, shooting 72 to 77 for Vardon and 78 for Ray.

Contrasting with the record of British professionals on this side of the Atlantic has been the amazing success of American players abroad in recent years, links stars from this country having won five of the last six British open tournaments.

Jock Hutchingson, first to break through in 1921, set the pace for Walter Hagen, who scored in 1922 and 1924. Jim Barnes followed suit in 1925, while Bobby Jones annexed the crown last year.

Clarke Beats Demons To Open Series, Now For 2 Double-Headers

DES MOINES, June 15.—Bob Clarke won a ball game here yesterday, scattering the Des Moines hits by serving a nice curve ball while his teammates offered fair support.

The score was 5 to 2. Pallas for the Demons had worse luck, and would have been beaten earlier but for the snappy infield support given him.

Adams, Gunther, Smith, and Swansboro contributed timely and heavily to Amarillo's opening victory.

SPORT TALK

Baseball weather is with us again after a short winter. The home clubs can now get out and practice for their coming game. The Grays have a distress signal up which reads: "Pitcher Wanted."

Bob Clarke, ex-Pampa pitcher, won a ball game yesterday and had to win it himself. As usual the Texans had several errors behind the big boy, and he had to pitch himself out of the holes.

The error column of the Texans reads, Smith to Handley to Nick, just like a double play. Jackson formerly with Lubbock, is waiting for his release from an eastern league team before joining the Texans. Jackson is the boy who helped lick the Grays in Lubbock three weeks ago. The big boy is a regular fly hawk and sure can pound the pill.

Shreveport finally go beaten and by Houston in a 2 to 1 battle. Ball fans in general seem to be pulling for Shreveport, an the team deserves it, too.

Flint Rhem of the St. Louis Cardinals is pitching great ball and is closely followed by old Jess Haines. They have a regular string of wins to their credit this year.

Heard some talk on the street today that the fat and lean ball game will be played in the near future.

MAKES HIS FISTS PAY FOR PULPIT TRAINING
SPRINGFIELD, Ohio, June 15. (AP)—A few seasons in the prize ring and a hitch in the marine corps have made up Herbert F. Mamburger's preparatory course for the ministry. Hamburger finishes at Wittenberg college this month. Next fall he will paste in his memory book his ring soubriquet of "Irish Berger" and his campus nickname of "fightin' parson," to enter Hanna Divinity school, a department of the college.

Both his pugilistic and marine corps experiences have given him some advantages for a pulpit career. Hamburger avers. Before he lays aside his gloves forever, he will take a farewell fling at the fight game this summer, hoping to lay aside enough winnings to see him well on the way to a bachelorhood of divinity.

McALLEN (AP)—Anna Baum, 13-year old girl, is winner of a statewide music memory contest. She was one of the youngest of scores of entrants.

American Prowess In Distance Events Appearing Brighter

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, June 15.—The pessimism about the "decline" of American track and field prowess, somewhat prevalent since the Flins started to cut up capers in the distance events, shows a tendency to disappear under the influence of a brilliant season of college competition.

East, south and west the undergraduate talent has performed this year in a manner calculated to warm the heart of any track coach, not to mention the enthusiastic and patriotic followers who see the brightest of 1928 Olympic prospects in the exhibition of the country's athletic youth.

Here are a few of the high spots of the season that show how the new crop is developing:

1. Pole vault world's record, indoors and out, by Sabin W. Carr of Yale, including an astonishing mark of 14 feet at the Eastern Intercollegiate, where Lee Barnes of Southern California was over 13.9 himself and four others topped 13 feet.

2. Sensational sprint performances by Charley Borah of Southern California, consistently beating "events" for the 100-yard dash and galloping the "220" in better than 21 seconds.

3. Development of Fred Alderman, Michigan State ace, as a crack quarter-miler, along with Ross of Yale, the national indoor 300-yard champion; Barbutt of Syracuse and Emerson Spencer of Stafford, who ran the distance in 47.4-5 seconds on the Pacific Coast.

4. Broad jumping feats by Ed Hamm of Georgia Tech, consistently around 25 feet, and the entire qualifying field at the Eastern Intercollegiate, where it took jumps of 24 feet to get into the finals, in which Bates and Mathias of Penn State starred.

5. Five mile-running of Bill Cox, Penn State sophomore, indoor and outdoor I. C. A. A. A. champion as well as cross-country running king.

Except for Cox and Barnes, mere schoolboys in 1924, none of these athletes has experienced Olympic competition and another year's seasoning should make them ripe for international work.

HOME NOTES
Double poultry yards give you a fresh supply of growing green feed and keep the soil clean and unpolluted. This helps in the control of parasitic worms.
Weeds are just like bad habits; easiest to control while they are young before their roots get a firm hold. Because of this, frequent and thorough stirring of the soil is the best way to kill weeds.

It is convenient to build a fence around the garden in panels so you can lift them out to make room for turning the plow and cultivator at the end of the rows. The way to keep a garden clean with the least hand labor is to plant everything in straight rows.

French Aviators Carried 10 Flares

(By The Associated Press.) PARIS, June 15.—Captains Nungesser and Coli had 10 flares when their trans-Atlantic plane hopped off, according to revelations made today.

This revives the possibility that flares seen in northern Quebec were fired by the French aviators, provided they reached America.

RANGE SHOWS

is very dry. On others the grass is still green but more moisture would be beneficial. Cattle generally are in good condition, calves are thrifty and some restocking is being done, principally by holding the young heifers on the range.

The range is generally good in Central and East Texas but more rain is needed to make good summer feed. Indeed, in some localities it is estimated that the range is already above normal. Cattle are fattening, although flies and screw worms have been bothersome. The calf crop is better than normal. In East Texas pasturage is ample for more cattle but stockers prices have seemed too high for safe buying. Grass steers fed on cake are beginning to move to market with the shipments including more young stuff than usual. The total movement, however, is expected to be smaller than last year.

In West Texas rain is needed in almost every locality to keep grass growing and to fill water tanks. Old grass is ample which with a good mesquite bean crop probably will tide the stock over until July when the usual rainfall period begins. As a rule cattle are holding up well but on a few ranches where grass is getting short they are shrinking fast and preparators are being made to feed cake. The calf crop is large. With moisture in a few weeks mother cows should give more milk and their calves do well.

In nearly every section in South Texas the range is getting very dry. In some of the border counties where there is a serious deficiency of moisture, grass is becoming very short and stock water is reported low in a number of places. Feed crops and cotton are making poor progress but a general rain within the next 30 days would be very beneficial and possibly assure summer grass. Except where it is very dry, all spring cattle are reported in fair shape but will shrink badly if relief does not come soon. Some ranchers are shipping out to better pastures while others are depending upon the bean crop and brush to carry their stock until rain comes. Young calves are numerous and are doing well except where screw worms have been bad. Meanwhile restocking is at a standstill, as everything is dependent upon more moisture.

As for sheep and goats, they have been less affected by adverse range conditions than cattle in West Central Texas, the principal producing area in this state. While weeds have matured and grass is beginning to brown, brush is still very good. The lamb crop is turning out well but losses have been unusually heavy from screw worms. The wool clipped is of extra quality and sales have been about the same as in 1926 with a large proportion of the clip already in dealers' hands. A few extra high quality 12-month clips have been sold for as high as 42 cents per pound.
