Less Talk About 'Decisive Action' On Intervention In Spain

LONDON, Oct. 12 (AP)—Britain, at least temporarily set back in the diplomatic game she and France are playing with Italy, today began to soft-pedal last week's hints of "decisive action"—and something of the same tendency was noted in Paris.

Confronted by Premier Mussolini's refusal to enter talks about withdrawal of Italian troops from Spain's civil war, the Anglo-French diplomatic allies realized full well that adoption of a strong line now would create an immediate possibility of European war.

This they seemed determined to avoid.

A heavy slump in the London stock market yesterday and an apparent veering from the political left in France's cantonal elections on Sunday were factors in the ticklish negotiations.

Exact Nature Of His Radio Talk Tonight Not Disclosed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—President Roosevelt's "fireside chat" tonight probably will touch on half a dozen subjects, it was said at the White House today, but their nature was not disclosed.

Secretary Stephen T. Early said the president's speech—presumably reviewing the president's western trip—was set by a talk after last year's drought inspection tour.

Guesses as to the principal topics ranged from foreign affairs to the federal budget, but most observers believed Mr. Roosevelt would emphasize the prospect of huge crop surpluses and his belief in the need for legislation to control production.

Some predicted he would announce an extra session of congress for the middle of next month to deal with the problem.

The president's speech, to be broadcast nationally at 8:30 p. m. (CST), will be his tenth "fireside chat" since he entered the White House on March 4, 1933. It will be delivered from the executive mansion.

Jap Planes Brought Down During Raids

Bombers Encounter Stiff Resistance At Nanking

NANKING, Oct. 12 (AP)—Five Japanese warplanes were brought down today during spectacular air raids on the Chinese capital and nearby cities, the Chinese announced.

Three of the planes were shot down during dogfights with Chinese aircraft over Nanking. The other two suffered destruction at the hands of enemy pursuit planes at Chinkiang.

Taking part in the raid on Nanking were 24 Japanese aircraft. Two bombers made an ineffectual attack on Soochow and attempted to attack Chinkiang. Before they reached the city, however, they encountered Chinese planes and were shot down.

The air battle over Nanking was most spectacular.

One of the Japanese planes crashed heading into the center of the city after a spectacular dogfight with a Chinese pursuit plane.

The Japanese invaders were greeted with a terrific anti-aircraft barrage as they swooped down on the arsenal, dropping the heaviest bombs they have yet used in a raid on Nanking.

Local Post To Install New Officers Nov. 8

James T. Brooks, who 20 years ago led Big Spring's own company D, 117th supply train, 42nd division, through 180 days in France as its captain, was elected Monday evening to succeed Robert Winn as commander of the Ray E. Fuller VFW post here.

Judge Brooks and other officers elected will be formally installed on Nov. 8 when Arthur Dodd, state department commander, G. E. Garetson, Abilene, chief of staff, and George McWhorter, Lubbock, district commander, are expected to come here for the ceremonies.

Other officers named Monday at a meeting of the post were Ed Winger, senior vice-commander; Allen "Buck" Hall, junior vice-commander; W. M. Weaver, officer of the day; C. L. Bryant, quartermaster; and U. G. Powell, chaplain. Bryant and Powell were re-elected.

The adjutant, guard, sergeant-major, service officer and post surgeon, all appointive offices, will be named by the new commander upon his installation.

At the meeting Monday evening plans were discussed for a junior VFW band. It was disclosed that some 21 VFW "juniors" already play instruments. Sam Goldman, member of the local post, would be the band director.

MOBSTERS SHOT DOWN BY G-MEN

INDIANA DESPERADO AND PAL FALL IN BRIEF GUNFIGHT

Another Of Gang Surrenders When Surprised By Agents In Maine City; Has Terrorized Midwest

BANGOR, Me., Oct. 12 (AP)—G-men wiped out the notorious Indiana gun-man gangster, Al Brady, and one of his mobsmen today in a sensational five-minute gunfight on Bangor's busiest downtown street.

A third gangster, superficially wounded threw down his gun and surrendered. One federal agent was wounded.

The dead: Al Brady, 35, wanted for three slayings and several robberies.

Clarence Shaffer, Jr., a Brady mobster.

The wounded federal agent was Walter Walsh. He suffered a minor injury in the shoulder.

Traced To Bangor

The gangsters, who long have terrorized the Midwest with their forays upon banks and their armed squads, had been traced to Bangor by the department of justice agents working with Indiana state police.

Brady and his two companions went early today to a sporting goods store to buy ammunition. A squad of G-men stationed themselves in a vacant building across the street, with machine guns poised.

When Brady, Shaffer and Dalhover emerged, the G-men opened fire.

The gunmen, surprised, sprinted, whipping out their pistols as they dodged behind posts and parked cars. They blazed away in return and busy Central street was swept by the clattering crossfire of machine guns and pistols.

Deputy sheriffs and Bangor police hastily cleared the streets of passersby who miraculously escaped injury, and kept curious onlookers beyond range.

But the destruction of Brady and his men was not as simple as the killing of the more notorious Indianapolis gangster, John Dillinger, who also fell before G-men guns. The firing today went on for five minutes before Brady and Shaffer lay dead before the horrified gaze of scores of Bangor citizens on their way to work.

In the killing of Brady, the department of justice ended a career which they charge included the murder of an Indianapolis police sergeant, Richard Rivers, an Indiana state policeman, Paul Minneman, and Edward Lindsey, a Plaquemine, La., grocery clerk.

Brady also led his mob in numerous raids on banks in the Midwest, the officer said. He was known like Dillinger as a desperate criminal with a "nervous trigger finger."

The government men declined, as usual, to discuss the detective work that led to the discovery of the gang's presence here. It was recalled that Brady on one occasion boasted:

"I'll make John Dillinger look like a punk."

But today the G-men made Al Brady look like John Dillinger that Chicago night when federal fire cut him down as he fled from the "finger woman," the storied "lady in red."

Cooperating with the G-men was Walter Eckert, captain of the Indiana state police, who was called by the federal men because of his detailed knowledge of the most famous of few remaining Midwestern robber chiefs.

Underwriters To Banquet State President To Be Speaker At Wednesday Affair

Address by O. D. Douglas

An address by O. D. Douglas of San Antonio, president of the Texas Association of Life Underwriters, will feature a banquet session of the Big Spring underwriters group, scheduled for Wednesday evening in the Crawford hotel ballroom.

Douglas is on a speaking tour of West Texas points, and his visit here will be marked by a ladies night program sponsored by the local association. All underwriters and their wives have been invited to attend. The program will start at 7:30.

W. W. Inkman will be in charge of the program, and Douglas will speak on the topic, "Success Is Yours." He will also tell of the objectives of the state association for the coming year.

Douglas, one of the best known insurance men in Texas, has served as president of the San Antonio underwriters' association, and in addition to being president of the state organization, is on the executive committee of the national association.

Germany, Belgium Arrange Treaty

Berlin, Oct. 12 (AP)—Germany and Belgium are about to conclude a treaty of amity and non-aggression, according to sources close to the foreign office.

The treaty, it was said today, is patterned upon a similar pact with Poland. If and when it is signed, the treaty is likely to put an end to Franco-British negotiations for a new western pact, like the Locarno security treaty.

Reichsfuehrer Hitler, who dislikes multilateral agreements, is believed to have started negotiations soon after the Belgian king, Leopold, urged his cabinet a year ago to give up the Franco-Belgian alliance in favor of a policy of neutrality.

NEW HUNTING LAW UP TO ALLRED

Austin, Oct. 12 (AP)—An extended dove hunting season became more of a possibility today.

House and senate adopted a conference report bringing conflicting federal and state regulations into agreement and only Governor James V. Allred's approval was needed.

Although the chief executive had not submitted the matter to the special session of the legislature, friends were confident he would sign the bill into law.

It would provide an open season Sept. 15 to Nov. 15 in the entire state except Panhandle counties and the 9th and 23rd senatorial districts where shooting would be permissible Sept. 1 to Oct. 31.

MORE TRUCKERS FACE COMPLAINTS

Highway patrolmen's vigilance against trucking law infractions was evidenced in more complaints Tuesday on the justice court dockets against eight operators.

Patrolmen last week filed a large number of complaints for similar offenses as highways were crowded by the heavy fall traffic movement.

STREET WORK IS HAMPERED BY RAIN

Cloudy weather and occasional showers not only stymied cotton picking Tuesday, but it practically suspended all highway and city street work.

Task of pouring concrete curb and gutter on E. 3rd street was delayed pending return of fair weather as was topping on city streets and a section of the highway.

Peaceful Return Or Expulsion, Is Federation Decision

DENVER, Oct. 12 (AP)—The American Federation of Labor extended today to its unions which have joined John L. Lewis' C.I.O. their choice of the olive branch of peaceful return to the federation's fold or the club of expulsion.

Although the A. F. of L. executive council will meet at the close of the federation's convention here, probably tomorrow night or Thursday, there was little indication it will attempt to wield immediately the power to expel, conferred yesterday by a 26,616 to 11,227 vote of the convention.

"The door is open," William Green, federation president, told the convention before it voted the power he and others of the council had requested.

"The hand of the A. F. of L. is extended. The voice of the A. F. of L. says 'please come back home.' If any one of these (C.I.O.) organizations comes to the door x x x we'll be there to welcome them and embrace them."

Green simultaneously warned the convention that the council will wield its expulsion powers against "obstinate" unions.

"I say to those who want to go (to the C.I.O.), get out and leave us alone," he shouted.

Proposed Increase In Sulphur Levy Shaved Down By House

Vote To Boost Rate To $1.28 Instead Of $1.50 Per Ton; Oil Impost Next To Be Considered

AUSTIN, Oct. 12 (AP)—A bill reducing current departmental appropriations $4,875,932 survived a maze of parliamentary maneuvering in the senate today, marking the first major step in the economy bloc's drive for less state expense instead of more taxes. The vote on final passage was 27 to 3.

AUSTIN, Oct. 12 (AP)—Low taxes took command in the house today as that body continued work on the general revenue-raising bill recommended by committee.

Several hundred thousand dollars was shaved from the $10,000,000 proposal when the house voted to increase the sulphur tax rate to only $1.28 per ton, instead of the $1.50 advocated by committee. The present levy is $1.93.

TQ SPEAK HERE

O. D. DOUGLAS

An attempt to kill the $1.28 amendment failed, 75 to 66.

Oil was the next subject under discussion. The committee recommended the production levy on that resource be boosted from 2 3/4 to 4 per cent of value. The bill also provided substantial increases in imposts on other natural resources and public utilities.

Wants "Moderate" Course

Rep. Jeff D. Stinson of Dallas, arguing for the $1.28 amendment, pleaded for a "moderate" tax-raising course in order that the proposal might muster the two-thirds majorities necessary to put it into immediate effect. He suggested natural resources levies be boosted only 25 per cent instead of the 46 per cent advocated by committee.

Friends of the proposal hoped to send it to the senate tomorrow.

With the session already more than half gone, the upper chamber had been unable to do any revenue-raising work due to the fact tax bills must originate in the house.

Advocates of the 46 per cent increase said the sulphur industry was controlled by monopolies which could well afford to pay a much heavier tax. Opponents said that if the industry was monopoly-controlled imposition of a large tax would cause it to remain in that condition by discouraging independent operations.

Not Mistreated

"Sulphur is not being mistreated," said Rep. John J. Bell of Cuero, who helped draft the bill. "The Texas Gulf Sulphur company has paid out more than $105,000,000 in dividends."

Rep. Fred Mauritz of Ganado countered with the argument that sulphur already was being taxed 7 per cent of value while oil was taxed only 2 3/4 per cent. He said sulphur operations had put an additional $33,000,000 of taxable wealth on the rolls of Wharton county in his district.

The house was considering the bill section by section and expected to fix the oil rate after disposing of sulphur. The proposal also would boost levies on gas, carbon black, cement, public utilities except telegraph companies and impose a 10 per cent tax on admissions to picture shows charging more than 40 cents.

The senate's economy movement advanced when members voted, 23 to 6, for immediate consideration of a bill cutting $4,875,932 from departmental appropriations for the current biennium.

Some senators said floor consideration should be delayed 24 hours allowing preparation of amendments further reducing allotments.

Army Drive Short Of Goal, Appeal Made For Funds

The Salvation Army's campaign for funds to finance its 1937-38 program in Big Spring has attained only the half-way mark, and if the organization continues its work here more subscriptions are necessary, it was said Tuesday by Envoy Mrs. Phil T. Ruseby, director of the drive.

"If the Salvation Army is to do the work the citizens of Big Spring expect it to do, they must support it now in its fund campaign," Mrs. Ruseby said. "We are asking Big Spring folk for only one-half the grand total of the budget, but so far they have not given that one-half."

"The Army is the only such relief organization operating here, and its work deserves support. It is especially urged that those we cannot contact in person make arrangements to send their donations to the Army hall, 122 Main street, or mail checks to the Army at P. O. Box 1248. We hope our appeal will be met generously and promptly."

COMMITTEEMEN FOR TENANT PROGRAM TO BE NAMED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—Secretary Wallace confronted today the big job of selecting nearly 1,500 committeemen—most of them farmers—before the federal farm tenancy program can begin operation.

When congress approved a start on the longtime program of converting several million landless farm tenants, sharecroppers, and laborers into land-owners through government loans, it directed that three-man county committees should pass on tenants and the land they will buy.

Wallace has split up among the states and territories the $500,000 that will be loaned during this fiscal year and has designated Paul V. Maris, former Resettlement official, as director of the purchase program.

Loans during the first year will be limited to 300 counties.

'Biggest' Baby Claimant Has A Contender Here

California's claimant to the "biggest baby" title, 23-months old Gilbert Rubio, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vadat Rubio of Los Angeles, had better look to his laurels.

For Big Spring boasts a contender in the healthy and energetic person of little Miss Idella Mae Ferguson, 10-months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Ferguson.

The picture of health, the curly haired blond miss compares favorably with Master Gilbert despite the 19-months discrepancy in ages. Their measurements, in which he holds slight edges, follow: Chest 23 and 21 1/2, thigh 15 and 13 1/2, reach 15 1/2 and 12, wrist 6 and 5, height 35 1/2 and 31 inches, and weight 48 1/2 and 32 pounds.

Idella Mae was born in Lubbock and has lived here for the past month. Doctors have praised her as a pretty, unusually healthy West Texas girl.

U. S. Consul Is Assassinated

J. T. Marriner Shot By Armenian For Refusing Visa

BEIRUT, Syria, Oct. 12 (AP)—James Theodore Marriner, one of the best known American foreign service officers, was shot and killed today by an Armenian to whom he had refused a visa to enter the United States.

The assassin's gun felled the tall, scholarly consul general as he stepped from his automobile before his office for the start of the day's official business.

Marriner's chauffeur captured the assassin.

Police, after a preliminary investigation, said the killer's name was Mejrardich Karayan.

They reported he pumped six bullets from a revolver into Marriner at close range. The consul general was struck in the head, abdomen and thigh. He died instantly.

An investigating magistrate examined Karayan. The prisoner, Karayan, announced, admitted that Marriner's refusal to issue a visa for the United States was the motive for the attack.

The authorities said the American official had blocked Karayan's entry on the grounds of insanity in the Armenian's family.

Marriner had arrived at the consulate general from his mountain home in Broumanna, outside Beirut, when he was attacked at 8:30 a. m.

Marriner, 45 years old, was known throughout the diplomatic service in Europe as a quiet-spoken, effective agent of his government.

RECORD OF THE BRADY GANG

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 12 (AP)—Here's what the Federal Bureau of Investigation holds against the Brady gang:

Jan. 25, 1936—Robbery of the Rooney Grocery, Robinson, Ill. $320 cash and groceries.

March 4, 1936—Robbery of R. O. Wieland Jewelry Store, at Greenville, O., of $8,900.

March 19, 1936—Robbery of Kay Jewelry Store, Lima, O., of $6,526.

March 21, 1936—Robbery of a grocery at Piqua, O., of $150 and slaying of Grocery Clerk Edward Linsley.

April 9, 1936—Robbery of Sol Partner Jewelry Store, Dayton, O., of $27,000 in jewels.

April 27, 1936—A repeat robbery at the Kay store, $12,000 in jewels. In a subsequent fight, Police Sergeant Richard Rivers of Indianapolis was slain.

Nov. 23, 1936—Robbery of North Madison State Bank, North Madison, Ind., of $14,000.

Dec. 17, 1936—Robbery of State Bank, Carthage, Ind., of $2,155.

Feb. 26, 1937—Robbery of Citizens State Bank, Greenville, O., of $8,174.

April 27, 1937—Robbery of People's Loan & Trust Co., Fairland, Ind., of $14,247.

April 27, 1937—Robbery of Goodland State Bank, Goodland, Ind., of $2,600. In the chase, State Policeman Paul Minneman was slain.

Besides this list, a number of robberies in Indiana and Ohio is attributed to the gang, and they are suspected of at least one other killing.

Penn Crude Price Cut

Second Reduction In Two Months Causes Concern In S'west

OIL CITY, Pa., Oct. 12 (AP)—The Joseph Seep purchasing agency of South Penn Oil company today reduced the price of Pennsylvania crude oil 25 cents a barrel, the second reduction in two months.

Attributing the action to an oversupply of oil and smaller demand, the agency announced these new prices:

New York Transit, Bradford Transit, National Transit lines, $2.35; south-west Pennsylvania lines, $2.05; Eureka pipe lines, $2; Buckeye pipe lines, $1.85; Corning Band unchanged at $1.27.

On September 1, prices were reduced 22 to 27 cents a barrel.

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 12 (AP)—Mid-continent oil men regarded today's cut in Pennsylvania crude oil prices with more concern than that of last month.

There was no positive indication among crude purchasers, however, that reductions might follow in this area. A psychological effect of the Pennsylvania cut was conceded by some.

One authority said he felt oil men were "resigned to a general cut in crude prices." Another held purely local conditions in the east could not affect prices here.

For some days there had been talk in trade circles of a "softness" in the crude market.

EPISCOPAL LAW ON REMARRIAGE IS TOPIC OF DEBATE

CINCINNATI, Oct. 12 (AP)—The House of Deputies of the Protestant Episcopal church plunged back into warm debate today over a proposal to liberalize its law on remarriage.

On one side were churchmen and laymen who urged that no remarriage at all after divorce be permitted; on the other were advocates of repealing nearly all the rules against remarriage.

The argument revolved around a recommendation of a joint commission of the Episcopal general convention, after a nine-year study, proposed that bishops be authorized to determine whether a communicant should be permitted to marry.

The present law permits remarriage for only the innocent party in a divorce for adultery. A minority report submitted by the Rev. Dr. Howard C. Robbins, a professor at the General Theological Seminary, and R. G. S. Seymour of Litchfield, Conn., would broaden the scope of the present law.

Food And Meal Planning Lectures Expected To Attract Local Women

Happy Kitchen Cooking School To Be Held In Big Spring

Women of Big Spring and surrounding territory will hear and learn about menus, marketing, budgeting, step-savers, recipes, baking, frying, labor-savers, vitamins and scores of other interesting things related to food when the Happy Kitchen Cooking School is held at the city auditorium October 25, 26 and 27.

The school, a real gold mine of information for every housewife, is to be presented under the auspices of this newspaper, acting in cooperation with a number of national food concerns and local merchants who wish to provide this opportunity for the women to study under the direction of a nationally famous home economist.

The lecturer, Miss Jessie Hogue, in addition to being thoroughly familiar with her subject, is one of the "most interesting talkers ever presented."

Everything in connection with the Happy Kitchen Cooking School is free. No admission is to be charged, and numerous free attractions have been provided, such as the daily distribution of valuable samples and souvenirs.

Miss Hogue will cover the whole subject of food with two main thoughts in mind; first, to make kitchen work more pleasant and efficient; and, second, to make the family's food dollar go further than it has ever gone before.

Women attending the school will be rewarded by gaining new knowledge not only in preparation of so-called fancy dishes, but also in an abundance of ideas on how to vary the basic foods in such a way that nobody at the table need ever complain that they are eating the "same old thing" every day.

Those who attend are urged to be in their seats early, as it is impossible to reserve seats, and each lecture will start promptly at 2 o'clock so that the lecturer may include her entire program.

COLUMBUS STATUE OUT OF CONDITION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—What with the ravages of years and vandalism of visitors, the Christopher Columbus statutory at the capitol has encountered hard times.

A checkup on the 445th anniversary of Columbus' arrival in the new world disclosed today that erosion has eaten deeply into the globe held in his right hand.

Furthermore, someone has broken all the fingertips off the figure of a woman in the group. Along one side is the terse inscription, scrawled during the last summer: "Louise loves Eugene."

Dorcas Circle Studies Home Missions

Presbyterian Circle Meets In Wilson Home Monday

Women's Missionaries in Home Mission Fields was the subject for discussion Monday afternoon when Mrs. W. G. Wilson Jr. was hostess to the Dorcas Circle of the First Presbyterian Women's Auxiliary.

After a short business meeting Mrs. D. A. Koons led the devotional, using Bible readings from Matthew, Mark, Luke and Romans, also first and second Corinthians. A circle of prayer was held, after which Mrs. H. W. Caylor directed a most interesting program.

The hostess was assisted during the social hour in serving refreshments by Mrs. Currie, Mrs. Loren McDowell, Mrs. L. S. McDowell and Mrs. D. A. Koons.

Answering roll call were Mrs. Carl Strom, Mrs. E. C. Boatler, Mrs. Bill Edwards, Mrs. J. E. Friend, Mrs. Ellen Gould, Mrs. Frank Knaus, Mrs. R. V. Tucker, Mrs. Strom, Mrs. Caylor, Mrs. Currie, Mrs. L. S. McDowell, Mrs. Loren McDowell, Mrs. Koons and the hostess.

Members of the society were invited to the ranch home of Mrs. Loren McDowell one day next week for a social gathering.

Study Of New Book Is Begun By First Methodist W. M. S.

Women's Missionary Society Meets In Circles

Study of the new book "What Is This Moslem World?" was begun Monday afternoon by the W.M.S. of the First Methodist Church which met in circles.

Mrs. N. W. McClesky was hostess to Circle One and Mrs. Hayes Stripling led the book discussion. Present were Mrs. D. C. Sadler, Mrs. C. M. Watson, Mrs. G. B. Friedman, Mrs. Evelyn Williams, Mrs. W. E. Crockett, Mrs. W. L. Myers, Mrs. Bernard Lamun, Mrs. Merl Dempsey, Mrs. H. M. Rowe and a visitor, Mrs. Henson of Lubbock.

Circle Two convened in the home of Mrs. C. E. Talbot with Mrs. Herbert Keaton leading the program study. The society met at 2:30 and the following were present: Mrs. O. D. Cordill, Mrs. W. J. Warren, Mrs. Winston Manuel and Mrs. Keaton.

Members of Circle Three were guests in the home of Mrs. Pete Johnson, at which time Mrs. M. L. Musgrove led the devotional. Miss Ogle was guest for the afternoon and Mrs. C. A. Bickley led a discussion of the book. Following the Circle meet an auction sale was held in the basement of the church with each one contributing.

The Circle will meet next Tuesday in the home of Mrs. V. H. Fiewellen with Mrs. I. S. McIntosh leading the discussion.

Those present were Mrs. S. P. Jones, Miss Ogle, Mrs. C. A. Bickley, Mrs. Arthur Woodall, Mrs. Pascal Buckner, Mrs. Musgrove, Mrs. W. W. Croft, Mrs. Fiewellen, Mrs. H. L. Hudson, Mrs. F. V. Gates and the hostess.

Benefits From Auction To Furnish Playground Equipment For Chalk

As a result of an auction held Friday night by the Chalk Parent-Teachers association $100 was realized and will be used for playground equipment and other needed school materials.

A committee served cake, coffee and hot chocolate following the auction sale. Much fun was had and a musical program was presented by the Drifters. The Chalk P-T-A extends thanks to the merchants of Big Spring, Coahoma, Foran, Ross City and Chalk for making the auction possible.

SUFFERS INJURY

Weldon Stamps, announcer for Radio Station KBBT, suffered a deep gash on his upper lip early Tuesday morning when he was entering a car while en route to work. As he started toward a car that had stopped to pick him up, another vehicle approached and he bumped into the door as it swung open. Two stitches were required to close the wound.

Committees Appointed By W.M.U.

East Fourth Baptist W.M.U. Meets At The Church

East Fourth Street Baptist W. M. U. met Monday afternoon at the church and appointed various committees. Mrs. V. Phillips, chairman, appointed a committee to collect funds for the Buckner Orphan's Home which included Mrs. H. C. Crocker, Mrs. R. A. Humble and Mrs. C. R. Bird.

A committee to handle funds to sponsor finance of a student to Howard Payne College in Brownwood was named. Mrs. O. R. Phillips, Mrs. S. H. Morrison and Mrs. O. F. Presley.

Mrs. W. U. O'Neill and Mrs. W. R. Puckett were named leaders for the Sunbeams. It was announced Mrs. J. E. Leigh, of Dallas, state secretary, would be in Big Spring October 28 for the purpose of teaching a class in things we should all know.

Present for the afternoon included Mrs. W. S. Garnett, Mrs. V. Phillips, Mrs. H. C. Burnett, Mrs. W. O. McClendon, Mrs. Humble, Mrs. O. R. Phillips, Mrs. E. D. Anderson, Mrs. H. V. Crocker, Mrs. Doug Thompson, Mrs. S. H. Morrison, Mrs. George W. Holden and Mrs. J. R. Phillips.

Retired Missionaries Discussed By Wesley Memorial W.M.U.

Ten members of the Wesley Memorial W.M.S. gathered at the church at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon for the purpose of hearing interesting talks about retired Missionaries and deaconesses.

Mrs. John K. Whittaker led the devotional from Psalms 19, after the program was presented by Mrs. Herbert Drake, Mrs. J. B. King, Mrs. Fannie Barrett and Mrs. Perry.

Others present were Mrs. W. G. Anderson, Mrs. Richard Wyatt, Mrs. J. I. Low, Mrs. Witt, Mrs. Brock and Mrs. W. W. Coleman.

THE SPORTS PARADE

BY HANK HART

Eddie Morgan, former Big Spring Invitational golf champion who now resides in Odessa, has finally bounced back into form. Eddie lost out in both the Midland and the Big Spring meetings this year but he showed a return to form in trouncing Bill Shafer in the finals of the Odessa-Muay championship Sunday. Eddie was five under par in ousting Shafer 4 and 2.

According to reports Bob Woods, the "wild horse" of the 1936 edition of the Big Spring Steers, may enter Marshall Junior college in Big Spring this year but he waited too long and will have to hang around until the spring term if he wants to enroll.

The Longhorns, opening their first drill in preparation for the Friday night game with the Beck outfit, showed all the confidence in their work and indications are that they will not be bothered by an inferiority complex when they line up for the kickoff. The Steers may be too young as a whole to realize the competition they will meet later on in the year but then again they probably sleep pretty well at night.

Skipping into 1938 finds that Big Spring may finally trump in with that long awaited dream of really having something on the ball. It was first believed that Coach Murphy would be bothered by lack of backfield material when he brings them out again but take a look at these secondary prospects and you'll find that it won't be so bad. There's Lefty Bethell, who'll probably bark the signals, Alton Beck, the injured combination end and back, who has been teamed by Murphy as one of the best all around prospects to come under his wing in some time; D. R. Gartmann, the Sanko lad who is trying to learn the plays after a late start, and J. L. Enloe, a 185-pound, powerfully built kid who is ineligible this season. No, Murphy won't be lacking in the way of personnel when he issues the call next year. If anything, that quartet may wind up far better than the sterling performers who are working this season.

Why the scribes who follow the major league baseball teams through the summer still call Carl Hubbell the greatest left hander in the game today is very puzzling. Hubbell may be tops in the National league but the manner in which the Yankees took him apart in the first game of the recent world series indicated that there are at least four teams in the junior circuit which could do the same thing.

Our nomination for the standout hurler of the year is, of course, Lefty Gomez, who had the best earned run average in either league, who struck out more men than any other pitcher was able to do, who had as much control as the average big league pitcher and who allowed only 88 runs in the 35 games he appeared in.

Gomez can be counted on for several sterling seasons in the big show yet. He's only 26 years of age, having come to New York when he was 20 years of age. He's won as many as 26 games in one season and three times topped the 20-game mark.

Cleaning the cuff: Of the 1934 pitching staff of the St. Louis Cardinals, there remained only one member who is still wearing a Red Bird uniform. Diz Dean is still on the Misourians' pay roll, but all the others have disappeared. Tex Carleton is with the Chicago Cubs, Paul Dean has retired. Bill Walker is in the American association along with Jim Mooney, Dazy Vance and Jess Haines are out of baseball and Bill Hallahan is with Cincinnati. . . . Of the Detroit Tigers' hurling corps, which met the Cardinals in the world series classic that year, there remains Tommy Bridges and Eldon Auker. . . . Bochy Koch, Baylor's All-American of several years ago, is still recognized as an all time, all-southern guard while Gaynell Bussey rates at one of the wing posts. . . . Some of the experts still consider Ray Morrison, Vanderbilt's mentor, as one of the 10 greatest quarterbacks of all time, ranking him with Frank Cardozo, Notre Dame; Walter Eckersall, Chicago; Benny Friedman, Michigan; Bo McMillan, Centre; and Ben Lee Boynton, Williams.

UPSETS NO MORE

EAST LANSING, Mich., Oct. 12 (AP)—The "upset" in football will get so plentiful there soon will be no upsets.

That's what Coach Charles Bachman of Michigan State says. Surprised scores will get to be matter-of-fact news, he predicts.

The reason? The smaller colleges are getting better players from well-coached high school teams. Because the small colleges get the players, they are leaving the push-over class.

D. U. Monroe, 64, Sees First Grid Game

OTTAWA, Kas., Oct. 12 (AP)—Sixty-four-year-old D. U. Monroe saw his first football game and was not surprised.

"It's sorta like catchin' wild geese. It reminds me of the time down on the farm when I roped a big calf. I threw a rope around his neck and it dragged me half a mile. Football is rough, too."

Monroe, filling station operator, just didn't get around to going to a game until recently.

Tide Seeks To Add To Dick Harlow's Record Saturday

Cornell Meets Syracuse, Eli Week Later

Yale And Army Tangle In Traditional Affair

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR. NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (AP)—It already has been pretty well established that Cornell's football fortunes, under the coaching of Carl Stearns, have made a great comeback in two seasons.

This week the gridiron fans probably will learn whether Harvard, another college which started out to recover a few seasons back by hiring a new coach, has been as successful in its effort.

Dick Harlow took over the job at Cambridge a year before Snavely moved in at Cornell. Both had about as far to go from the depths of football as reached at the two institutions to the heights the alumni hoped they would attain and, if Harlow has been slower, it probably was because he didn't have as good material.

In two preparatory games, the Crimson team has looked as if it might be as good as Cornell already has turned out to be. Harvard hasn't tackled any opposition like Penn State, College and Princeton yet, but it walloped Springfield 54-0 and a Brown team that looks a lot better than the Bruins of the past few years, 34-7.

Next Saturday Harvard tackles Yale, which also has been promising to be one of the best teams in the East.

Navy Larger

Navy has an edge in size over the Crimson squad but it's a question whether Navy will be the same without Bill Ingram who is on its injured list and out of the Harvard game, Harvard has practically all the players who made a fine showing in holding Yale to a 14-13 victory last November.

Cornell, meanwhile is slated to run up against another of those comeback-bound teams Saturday—Syracuse, which placed Ossie Solem at the helm at the beginning of the season.

Cornell has to think about Yale the following week and can't be too attentive about the weekend game.

These two games come close to the tops in the "ivy league," which has gone a long way toward regaining its old time gridiron fame in the past two years, but another pair are almost as attractive to the cash customers, Yale and Army clash in their traditional battle at New Haven, and from this emerge one team that will outshine both Cornell and Harvard before the season ends. Penn and Columbia, who fell before the Elis and the Cadets last week, have a "consolation" game.

Yale, featuring Clint Frank, looked very good in walloping Penn 27-7 last Saturday, Army, although badly disturbed at times by Sid Luckman's passing, came through 21-18 against Columbia. Princeton, another member of the informal ivy circuit, goes West to face Chicago while Dartmouth gets its first test against Brown.

COAST TEAMS IN PASSING SHOW, THROW 56

By The Associated Press.

EAST LANSING, Mich.—Michigan State coaches had to do some intensive searching to find two of this year's stars. Line Coach Tom King discovered Ole Nelson, towering end, in a freshman basketball class while Allen Diebold, first string quarterback, didn't think he was good enough to play college football and reported only because his high school coach insisted.

DURHAM, N. C.—Duke's Blue Devils are likely to be dubbed the travelers before they settle down to play a few home games.

This week they face Georgia Tech at Atlanta. The following Saturday they'll be facing Colgate at Hamilton, N. Y., after the longest trip a Duke team ever has taken and they end their tour Oct. 30 by playing Washington and Lee at Richmond.

NEW YORK—Ed (Kris) Kringle, Manhattan right halfback, is becoming a gridiron "iron man" at a job where sturdy backs often fall to rest.

He has played the full 60 minutes against both Texas A. and M. and Michigan State, acting as blocker and "mop-up" man and occasionally doing a bit of running, passing or kicking.

PORTLAND, Ore.—The University of Portland and Pacific University may not rival the famous teams from the Southwest but they're not because they don't try.

In their recent meeting Portland tried 27 passes and Pacific 38. They completed ten five, respectively.

FORT WORTH—Almost any team might win its football games if it follows the theories expounded by Coach Dutch Meyer of Texas Christian.

"If we make more points than they do, they can't beat us," he says. "And if we keep the ball most of the time, they can't do their stuff."

Keep your addresses filed in a notebook. Then when Christmas comes you won't have that last-minute rush and hunt

CLARK SUCCESSFUL AS COACH OF DETROIT, PLAYS ON SIDE

EARL (DUTCH) CLARK "My Job Is A Snap..."

DETROIT, Oct. 12 (AP)—The Dutchman is making good in a dual role this fall.

Earl (Dutch) Clark, the best back in professional football (he first rocketed to fame in 1929 when he was chosen quarterback on the Associated Press All-American), has assumed his new duties as coach of the Detroit Lions and so far there has been no indication Clark will not be as outstanding a success as a coach as he was as a player.

Clark is the only playing coach in the National professional football league but he does not believe the fact that he will be on the field of battle rather than on the bench will lessen his effectiveness as a coach.

"After all," Clark says, "I won't be the first playing coach in professional football. My job is a snap compared to the one George Halas had a few years ago when he played, coached and owned the Chicago Bears."

"I'll concede that on the field one may miss a few things that would be apparent from the bench, but it should even up. I know I could see things on the field last year that weren't evident on the bench. As far as substitutions go, we have worked that out already. Every man in the lineup will have a designated replacement before the game. If I send a player to the bench, his substitute should be on his way in before the player reaches the sidelines."

Clark plans to play whenever he thinks his presence will help the team.

Continue Work On Plans For First Game

Devil Gridders Open Season Against Coahoma

Working side by side with their "big brothers," Ben Daniel's Devils scrimmaged briefly Monday afternoon on the practice grounds south of the high school and the junior mentor sent his outfit through another rehearsal of plays before sending them to the showers at dusk.

Daniel will present his frosh gridders publicly for the first time this season next Thursday night at Steer stadium when they take the field against the Coahoma Bulldogs.

Daniel is working all 30 of his boys at intervals and will probably trot them all out in the Thursday night game unless the going gets too rough.

The Coahomans, under the guiding hand of Lloyd Devan, have been working out for six weeks and will have the advantage of having played four games to date this season but gruelling scrimmage work the past two weeks plus constant drilling of plays have tuned the locals up to the point where they should be ready to go.

The invaders from east Howard county will have a weight advantage over the junior footballers. They also will take the field with a backfield built around the 165-pound Ralph Marshall who gave the Devils plenty of trouble last season.

ALL TEAMS TAKE GRIDIRON THIS WEEK IN SW

FORT WORTH, Oct. 12 (AP)—Action on the homestead sector will be hot and heavy next Saturday, when six of the seven Southwest Conference elvens will be seen in action on Texas soil.

Headlining the week's activities will be the annual T.C.U.-A.A.M. fray at Fort Worth. Coach Homer Norton of the Aggies, having put his team into the victory column last year, 18 to 7, after the Aggies had gone 12 years without beating the Horned Frogs, will be out to repeat the dose.

The Christians believe they have what it takes to stop the Farmers this year. And those two conflicting ideas are just what will cause some 15,000 rabid fans to gather in the Horned Frog Stadium for the battle royal.

In Austin Coach Dana Bible's rejuvenated Longhorns will get their first test in conference competition, the Arkansas Razorbacks furnishing the opposition. There will be a huge crowd in Steer Stadium, but these will be only a small fraction of those interested in the outcome.

The Southern Methodists have as their guests in Dallas the Commodores from Vanderbilt University. Matty Bell trimmed his old boss, Ray Morrison, 16 to 0 last year. Advance dope has it that this year's contest will be a better battle.

Tulsa beat Oklahoma 19 to 7. Oklahoma beat Rice 6 to 0. That would seem to indicate that the Owls will be in for a rough afternoon when they meet Tulsa in Houston Saturday. But you never can tell about comparative scores.

The Baylor Bears are the only team playing out of the state next Saturday. They cross the line at Shreveport, where they will try to get revenge for a 10-0-0 defeat at the hands of Centenary last year.

CHISOX SLAM IN WITH 6-4 WIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 12 (AP)—The Cubs went out to stop an old White Sox habit today—that of winning another city baseball title.

Holding three victories to two for the Cubs as the result of their 6 to 4 win over the National leaguers yesterday at Comiskey park, the Sox sent righthander Vernon Kennedy after their 12th city baseball championship and their fourth in a row. A win for the Cubs, who will start southpaw Larry French, will change the scene of action from Comiskey park to the Cubs' home lot, Wrigley field, for the seventh and final tilt.

An old campaigner returns for a crack at Johnny Nemanic in the 30-minute semi-final. He's Sailor Moran, the former box fighter, who has his own little way of doing things.

Texans To Be In Jones Golf Tournament

Atlanta Four Ball Meeting Honors Amateurs

ATLANTA, Oct. 12 (AP)—A favored Texas team met a Louisiana pair today in the opening match of the Southern Amateur Golf association's first four ball tournament honoring Bobby Jones.

Fifteen other teams, waiting until tomorrow to begin their play, competed in a special 18-hole individual medal tournament for added prizes.

The Texas unit of Reynolds Smith and Don Schumacher, both of Dallas, was favored slightly to defeat B. M. Downing and Hickman Green of New Orleans in their 36-hole test over the No. 1 course of the East Lake Country club.

All matches will be on a best ball basis over the 36-hole route.

Last night the players attended a buffet supper at the Atlanta Athletic club in honor of Robert Trye (Bobby) Jones, whose golfing prowess the new tournament is to commemorate.

The permanent trophy which will be carried home by the winning team features the four cups won by Bobby in his golfing "grand slam" in 1930. The cups pictured in bronze are the American and British amateur and open mugs.

Jones viewed the trophy, heard the speeches and arose to remark "I hope it's not a memorial."

McHorse Leads In Scoring

Captain Jimmy McHorse of the undefeated Oilwell Lions took the lead in Oil Well district's scoring parade at the close of last week's games, having scored nine more points than has James Beam of the Allene Eagles.

Deane Hoser did not tally in the Breckenridge game but the Shepherdville manager managed to hold a tie with John Hagan of the Bulls who scored his team's lone touchdown.

Charles Ray Settles, Big Spring, is tied for seventh place, having scored 24 points.

The leaders:

Player	Td	Pat	Pt
McHorse, Brownwood	9	0	54
Beam, Abilene	7	1	43
Moser, Stephenville	1	0	42
Hogan, Breckenridge	7	0	42
Fuller, San Angelo	6	0	36
Wood, Stephenville	4	3	32
Settles, Big Spring	4	0	24
Dorton, Abilene	4	0	24

Steers Out In Quest Of 1st Local Win

Murphy Sends Crew Through Two Hour Drill, More Due

Pass offense and defense was stressed in a lengthy drill by the Big Spring Steers on the high school grounds Monday evening as the Herd opened its week of preparatory work for the week with one of the strongest foes it will meet all season.

The Breckenridge Buckaroos maddened by defeat at the hands of Sweetwater and Stephenville on successive weekends, will come to town Friday night intent upon moving up the Oil-Belt ladder.

Virtually all hope of a district title has been eliminated on the part of both teams but the tug-of-war lights four days away will still attract plenty of interest.

It will be the first time in several years that the Bucra have not figured prominently in the district rankings. Eric Curtis, mentor of the Beck outfit, lost several valuable keymen at graduation time last May and seemingly has not been able to replace them but he has a fast willing bunch of gridders that are going to make trouble later on.

Due To Improve

The Longhorns showed nothing in their game with the Cicco Lobos a week ago to indicate that they were capable of taking such a team as the green and white clads from the eastern section of the Oil Belt but Murphy would allow his boys to bear down for fear of making indications that they will put on a much better performance against the Curramen Friday.

The Herd will be seeking its first victory over Breckenridge. Since Prince Shotwell was coaching at Buville several years ago the Bovines have been trying to knock the Buc out of the victory column but thus far they have been very unsuccessful. The nearest they ever came to victory was in 1930 when Bill Flowers returned a kick-off some 65 yards for a touchdown through the entire Breckenridge team but the Buc happened to have a back by the name of Boone Magnus at that time and the country looking athlete personally led the visitors to a 19-6 win over the locals.

Last season the Curtis charges went wild with a passing attack to trounce the Longhorns 33-0. Memory of that oft-quoted jacking was one of the reasons that Murphy and Carmon Brandon are putting in long hours in teaching pass defense.

The Buc's showed definite weaknesses against Stephenville as aerial defense and the Longhorns may take that route to try for a victory.

The Longhorns will go to Steer stadium later in the week for a scrimmage drill and are due to spend several more hours before Friday in brushing up their own little air show which has met with a reasonable success in the last three games.

BABE TEES OFF AT FT. WORTH

FORT WORTH, Oct. 12 (AP)—Bundled in sweaters and slickers, feminine shotmakers began teeing off this morning at Colonial club for the qualifying round of the Texas women's open golf tournament. Skies remained overcast and the wind was cool.

Despite the conditions, some sensational low scoring was expected. The field of 70 players included some of the nation's best women-players and the chase for medalist honors promised to be warm.

First to go off at 8:30 o'clock were Mrs. Logan Van Zandt of Tulsa and Miss Alice Daniels, young local contender.

The second twosome was composed of Mildred (Babe) Dedrickson and Edna Saenger. Miss Saenger, who comes from Shreveport, was the winner last year.

Mrs. R. F. Galletly of Wichita, Kas. is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Clarence Garner, for several days. Mrs. Galletly arrived Monday evening.

La. School Takes Scoring Honors

MONROE, La., Oct. 12 (AP)—Bidding for high scoring honors among the nation's football teams is little Northeast center, Louisiana State University's junior college.

The Indians have rolled up 211 points in three games this year and if you listen to the Tebe's fans the scoring has just begun.

The desire to pile up a touchdown record struck the Monroe school with a bang after the Indians opened their campaign by routing Arkansas A. & M.'s eleven from Monticello by the amazing score of 111-0. The Arkansas team won last year's game, 6-0.

Then came a clash with Tennessee Junior College and a 39-0 victory. Kilgore College, which annexed the Texas junior college championship last year and was undefeated since October, 1936, fell victim to the Indians to a tune of 41 to 6.

Behind this high scoring are 34 husky youngsters and a young coach, Jimmy Malone, who learned his football at L.S.U.

The squad was drawn from a student body of about 500, half of whom are coeds. They came from Louisiana, Arkansas, Texas, Alabama and Tennessee.

Among the scoring stars are Backs Bob Kellogg of Wynne, Ark., Dick Elliott, Ola, La., Vernon Leatherwood, Estelle, Tex., and 140-pound Jimmy Meeks of Van Buren, Ark.

The line averages around 190 pounds and the backfield 160.

CLARK TO PLAY

FORT WORTH, Oct. 12 (AP)—Coach Dutch Meyer of T. C. U. today is seriously considering altering his backfield for the big game with A. & M. here Saturday.

He wants to get Earl Clark, the demon blocker from Breckenridge, into the fray.

Just recovering from a siege of pneumonia, he kept him out of uniform for nearly two weeks. The 170-pound sophomore showed Meyer so much effective blocking in Monday's drill that the coach said he may make changes this afternoon that'll assure Clark of service against the Aggies.

One Legged Golfer In Appeal For Tourney

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 12 (AP)—Frank C. Platt, San Francisco's only one-legged golfer, wants the U.S.G.A. to sponsor a national tournament for players handicapped like himself.

He's pretty confident he would grab off the championship and those who have played with him or watched his shotmaking efforts agree he would stand an excellent chance.

Platt, a hotel executive, bungs out scores in the 70s consistently. A medium sized, middle aged aged he whacks the ball for 200-yard drives from the tee, balancing himself on one leg. He uses crutches on the greens and for short approaches.

Stained fingers are often the result of careless holding of cigarettes.

SAILOR MORAN BACK ON WRESTLING CARD

Seaman Meets Nemanic In Semi-Go

Rain or shine—and it looks very much like old Jupe Pluvius has been shoved around to where he's lost his respectability and opened up his wrath on West Texas—the wrestling attractions will go on as per schedule in the new indoor arena at Goliad and first streets tonight with neither of the main eventors of a week ago around to spend their time under the lights at the ringside.

Otto Ludwig, who drew with Jack Hagen last Tuesday, played his hand the right way and has moved all the way up to the featured go of the evening. Maybe the promoter figured that any one know it in no small words. He has a very short memory, however, and has dropped in again to see if West Texas is still as large as it used to be.

Nemanic still seems to be the fall guy. He has been a "trial horse" for some of the most unruly pugs to be seen within the ropes here and he certainly can't let up tonight. However, he'll face against Moran isn't exactly pleasant to think about but then that's his business.

Cyclone Mackey, who should have had enough by this time, is back again. This time he goes on at 8:30 in the 30-minute bout which opens the card. He will engage the Shiek Ben Ali Mar-Allah of Persia who is getting back on the right track.

Sights and Sounds
By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—Most places, typing is an occupation, in Hollywood it's an affliction.

The movie-makers will do the funniest things. They've done it, most recently Stella Adler, now known by her own request so it will spell as it sounds—as Stella Adler. Stella of the blonde hair and gray-green eyes made her name on the stage in grippingly dramatic portrayals. There probably isn't a mustard pie in any of the plays of Maxwell Anderson, Paul Green, or Clifford Odets, in whose works Miss Adler appeared on Broadway. So—

Stella's first movie is "Love On Toast" in which oakes—nice, gooey oakes—appear in important roles.

Heavier Roles for Sophie. If this goes over, Stella Adler may become the screen's funny girl, and have to beg for a chance to be dramatic—just as Mary Boland has done before her. Mary Boland was an actress of parts on the stage, but in pictures her first was comedy. With one exception—unsuccessful because audiences wouldn't take it—Miss Boland has been funny ever since.

Just the reverse happened to Gladys George. Gladys George clicked in bawdy comedy—in "Personal Appearance" which was lusty enough to be chosen by Mae West as a movie vehicle.

Sophie Tucker is next in line. The "red hot mamma" business is going to be cooled off in the smiles and tears of comedy-drama. She tried it out in "Broadway Melody of 1938" with a catch in her voice and a tear in her throat, and from now on things are going to be different for Sophie.

Once in a while, among the established picture people who have been typed in one part or another, comes a similar radical departure. George Raft in "Souls at Sea" left behind him the gangster and fopish dapper assignments of his past and made a new impression as a sympathetic character.

But Myrna Loy still holds the

Liquor Cannot Stand The Light Of Truth

Resolutions Adopted At the Sixteenth Triennial Convention of the World's WTCU

SPIRITUAL EMPHASIS
Recognizing our need for divine guidance in all our efforts for world purity, world prohibition, and world peace, and with gratitude to God for help and direction through the past years, we urge the comrades of all lands to observe the noontide hour of prayer, to maintain family devotions in their homes, and to pray for revival of religion in all the churches of the world.

TOTAL ABSTINENCE
Science and experience demonstrate that the moderate use of alcoholic liquor as a beverage is harmful and opens the way to alcoholism and drunkenness. Total abstinence is the best rule of life. Therefore, we appeal to all who desire to lessen excess to become total abstainers themselves and to refrain from offering alcoholic liquors to others.

TEMPERANCE EDUCATION
In view of the fact that alcohol is a narcotic, a deterrent of important bodily functions, a habit-forming drug, and a protoplasmic poison, we urge our members to inform themselves and to redouble their efforts to secure systematic temperance instruction in schools and colleges so that young people especially may realize the effects on the physical, social and economic life of the community.

SOLUTION OF THE LIQUOR PROBLEM
The repeal of prohibition in the United States and Finland has not solved the liquor problem in those countries nor has so-called government control. Other methods substituted instead of prohibition have proven ineffective in lessening the consumption of beverage alcohol. We declare our conviction that eradication, not restriction, is the only solution of the world-wide liquor problem.

ALCOHOL AND TRANSPORTATION
Medical observations and experiments have demonstrated that small doses of alcoholic liquors quickly affect mental alertness and eyesight and create dangers in every kind of transportation. They weaken judgment, lessen concentration, and slow down reaction. This convention, therefore, calls upon the transportation authorities and governments of all countries to prohibit the consumption of alcoholic liquors by the drivers of road vehicles, by the pilots of air craft, by the operating personnel of railroads and water craft, when on duty and for twenty-four hours before going on duty.—(Submitted by the local WTCU.)

Outlook For Texas Range Unfavorable

AUSTIN, Oct. 12 (AP)—An unfavorable outlook for winter range feed in Texas came from the United States crop reporting board today.

Early in September rain fell in many sections but since then very little moisture has been evident, the board said. In the northwest more rain was needed for the subsoil to insure grazing from small grain fields. Conditions continued very dry in the south.

The condition of all ranges on October 1 was 74 per cent of normal compared with 86 per cent a year ago. The condition of cattle was 79 per cent compared with 86 a year ago and the condition of sheep was 79 per cent compared with 80.

HELP 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

To Flush out Acids and Other Poisonous Waste

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 Miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Problems of urinary passages with smarting and burning above there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the beginning of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 Miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Grain Crop Estimates Up

Higher Production Of Wheat And Corn Forecast

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—agriculture department estimated the year's wheat production at 886,895,000 bushels today and said the indicated corn crop was 2,561,986,000 bushels.

A month ago the indicated wheat crop was 885,950,000 bushels. Last year's production was 628,461,000 bushels, and the 1928-32 five-year average, 846,532,000.

The corn crop indicated a month ago was 2,549,281,000 bushels. Production last year was 1,829,327,000 bushels and the five-year average, 2,554,772,000.

The winter wheat crop this year totaled 688,145,000 bushels, compared with 519,013,000 last year and the five-year average of 623,220,000.

The total spring wheat crop was put at 198,750,000 bushels, compared with 197,805,000 indicated a month ago. 107,448,000 produced last year, and 241,312,000 and the five-year average of 241,312,000.

August Oil Output Shows Big Gain

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—The bureau of mines reported today the daily average production of crude petroleum in August amounted to 3,712,000 barrels, a gain of 141,000 barrels over July, and 645,000 barrels over August, 1936.

Production gains registered in the major producing districts of Texas, the bureau said, sent the daily average for the state over the 1,500,000-barrel mark for the first time. The daily average production in the East Texas fields amounted to 482,000 barrels, the highest since September, 1935.

Production gains in California, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Louisiana were reported to be relatively small.

The bureau noted the domestic demand for motor fuel did not come up to expectation in August. It was only 8 per cent above August, 1936. The yield of finished gasoline from crude in August was 43.2 per cent, the same as July.

Exports of motor fuel amounted to 3,771,000 barrels, the highest since May, 1932.

BACK IN LONDON

LONDON, Oct. 12 (AP)—King George and Queen Elizabeth returned to London today after a 10-week holiday in Scotland and hurried to Buckingham Palace for the first official engagement of the busy fall season.

One hundred and fifty American legionnaires and their wives were received informally in one of the state drawing rooms on the first floor.

No Names In Newspaper At Prison

It's A Case Of Where 'Numbers Make News'

SANTA FE, N. M., Oct. 12 (AP)—Numbers—not names—make "news" for the editors of "El Boletin," "El Boletin" has just made its journalistic bow as a tabloid monthly newspaper to the inmates of the New Mexico state penitentiary.

Edited and published by prison inmates, the paper disseminates news of interest and serves as an education-rehabilitation project for penitentiary inmates.

Reporter No. 9079 rips out a news item.

The newspaper observes the usual nonentity of prison life. There are no names in the columns except those of prison officials.

Spells A Grade Letters to the editors are numerous and to the point. For instance: Editor: For the first time in my life I have enjoyed seeing my name in the paper without having after it, "Held in 6000 bond. Thank you. No."

With the streamer line of page one, "New Prison Paper Makes Its Bow To The Inmates," the editor sizes up his policy as follows:

"In the exercise of sound editorial policy we shall print the news of reader interest, no propaganda, but facts—and avoid the contagion of falsity."

Aid To Newcomers
News item No. 1 announced the prison population at 632, eight females and 624 males.

Another item points out, apparently for benefit of newcomers, that the "vital period" of an inmate's life is the "first introduction to the routine of a penal institution, that the impressions created by the beginning of a man's term may have a great influence on his future conduct."

The first edition announced a short story contest for prisoners, in line with the warden's policy of encouraging creative writing.

Child Dies, Mother Seriously Ill Of Poisoning

TEXARKANA, Ark., Oct. 12 (AP)—Seven-year-old Polly Potts was dead and her mother, Mrs. Guy Potts, 41, wife of a Miller county deputy sheriff, lay critically ill today from the effects of what prosecuting attorneys said was a poisonous mixture.

Both the mother and child were brought to a Texarkana hospital last night in unconscious conditions after another daughter, Jeanette, 18, found them in separate beds at the Potts home.

The child died soon after arrival at the hospital while the mother was given little better than an even chance to recover.

Deputy Prosecutor George Edwards said Miller county officers had investigated and found that a liquid solution had been swallowed by the mother and her daughter. He added that a formal inquiry by a coroner "will be unnecessary."

Jeanette summoned neighbors when she was unable to force the doors of the Potts' residence. A note was found pinned to the back door.

"A splash of lemon juice or extract often will add a tang to cakes, cookies or frostings flavored with vanilla.

Third Party Chimera

Prophecies or threats of a third political party of national proportions and success may be likened to a boy "hollering down a rain barrel." As rain barrels are nonexistent today, and many people do not know their purpose, it may be well to explain that a rain barrel was set under the downpour of a home to catch water from the roof to be used in washing clothes and sometimes taking baths. When empty or partly so and one leaned over it and "hollered" it gave back a feeble and resounding noise—but nothing else happened. It was a popular amusement of the small boy of that day, just as the third party and third tier bogey of today serves to lighten the humdrum of real political life in the minds of the makers of these noises.

There will never be three influential political parties in this country. It has tried often and always has resulted in giving one of the old parties an advantage and a victory it might otherwise have not had, and profited the attempted third party exactly nothing.

Theodore Roosevelt, it may be remembered, succeeded in electing Woodrow Wilson when nothing was further from his thought or his wish. The Know-Nothings and others of a day further off reaped about the same barren harvest. The recurrence of predictions of a Farm party or a Labor party or a Farm-Labor party may be useful in storing up one or the other or both the old parties to doing something, but it will have no other effect. The Populists of forty-odd years ago did that, and gradually the Democratic party adopted most of the Populists' platform planks but the profit, if any, went to the Democrats and not to the scattered members of the organization that thought it was a real third party.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—An excellent time to witness miracles in New York is about dusk, for then the blind seem to regain their sight and the legless walk away.

They throw away their crutches and disappear into the first convenient crowd—and especially do they vamoose if a copper happens to stroll by.

At that, they do a lot of good, for they evoke a lot of human pity and drag down an occasional coin from the sensitive or the unwary.

It is difficult to tell those who are on the level and those who are merely dead beats. The cops have a list of the lads who are licensed to peddle wares, or beg, and they have a list of the unlicensed ones who are notorious for their ability to wring tears out of people who are ordinarily stone-hearted.

The other day, showing a visiting friend the town, we finally ended up at the Polo Grounds for a game, and I pulled a boner in buying a program from a one-legged man. The programs cost only a nickel, but one should never purchase them outside of the park. The one I bought was authentic, all right, or rather, it had been authentic once upon a time. The trouble with it, I learned a little later, was that it was a year old.

Our companion got a boot out of that. He nearly split his sides laughing. He would have had a real treat if we had told him of another little incident, occurring not long ago. We subscribed to an outdoors magazine, paying cash and receiving receipt No. M-122. Finally we wrote in to inquire why the first issue hadn't been delivered. Shortly thereafter the letter came back, proving the magazine to be non-existent.

However, so many things like this have happened to us that we no longer blink an eye. It's our trusting nature. That or else they see us coming.

Wrestlers fall into various categories. There is the cry-baby type, who squawks at everything, and moans bitterly between head-locks and hammer holds. Then there is the Praying Mantis type, who assumes prayerful attitudes just before he slugs his opponent or bites the referee's ear.

We were talking with one of the muscle boys the other day and he told us he used to be a bouncer. But it got too tough. The drunks in the place all wanted to take a crack at the bouncer. So he became a wrestler. To get just the right expression of agony and pain on his face, which are necessary to please the customers, he rehearses before each match with a three-way mirror.

In 1850, Jenny Lind, touring the United States under P. T. Barnum's direction received as her share (about one-fourth of the gross receipts) approximately $1,900 a performance, for 93 consecutive concerts.

For forty years during the Restoration period, Shylock, in "The Merchant of Venice," was considered a comic character and played by low comedians.

HAVE-NOT AND HAVE-NOTS

The argument that certain nations are "have-nots" and that therefore their military depredations, actual or contemplated, upon the territory of others is, to some extent at least, justified, has found astonishingly widespread acceptance in peace-loving countries, amongst both liberals and conservatives. It is particularly noticeable among the parlor whites, the "fascist sympathizers" in England, France, and America, where you can find them, here at home. If they accept this argument I don't see why they don't accept the thesis of the most revolutionary communists. Because, after all, it's the same line of thinking. The rich have too much, the poor too little, therefore the poor are justified in expropriating the rich by force. The whole have-not nation argument is an international soak-the-rich campaign.

But the thesis itself is absurd, because it suggests an economic organization of the world that does not exist, has never existed for generations, and to create which would mean poverty and misery for everybody. The Nazi argument, as clearly set forth in Mr. Hitler's book, which is now the accepted bible of Nazi policies, is that Germany is a very large country, without colonies, extremely poor, unable to support her existing population at a proper standard of living on the land she now possesses, and therefore justified in expansion. The Italian Duce has made the same argument time and again. It is also the argument of the Japanese. These countries, it is argued, do not possess the absolute necessities for national existence at a decent level, which are sufficient land to feed their population and sufficient raw materials to furnish their factories.

According to this thesis, it is necessary for all nations to be, at least potentially, self-contained. And, according to this argument all the nations on earth, including their own, are have-not nations. The United States is the richest nation on earth in national resources, but we do not have, on our own soil, the essentials for our basic industries. We must import tin, nickel, rubber, mica, antimony, tungsten, and mercury—name only a few things. Furthermore, all nations constantly face the fear that at some time, in some future, they may become have-not nations. If Mr. Stuart Chase is to be believed (I think he exaggerates) we can already foresee the day when many of our national resources will be exhausted. A provident and far-sighted nation, would, therefore, under this argument be already preparing for new conquests in anticipation of the time when existing resources are exhausted. Mexico and the South American states are near, and relatively weak, and we ought to be subjecting them right now, and hoarding their resources against tomorrow. Of course, this is not Mr. Chase's argument. Rightly, he counsels conservation.

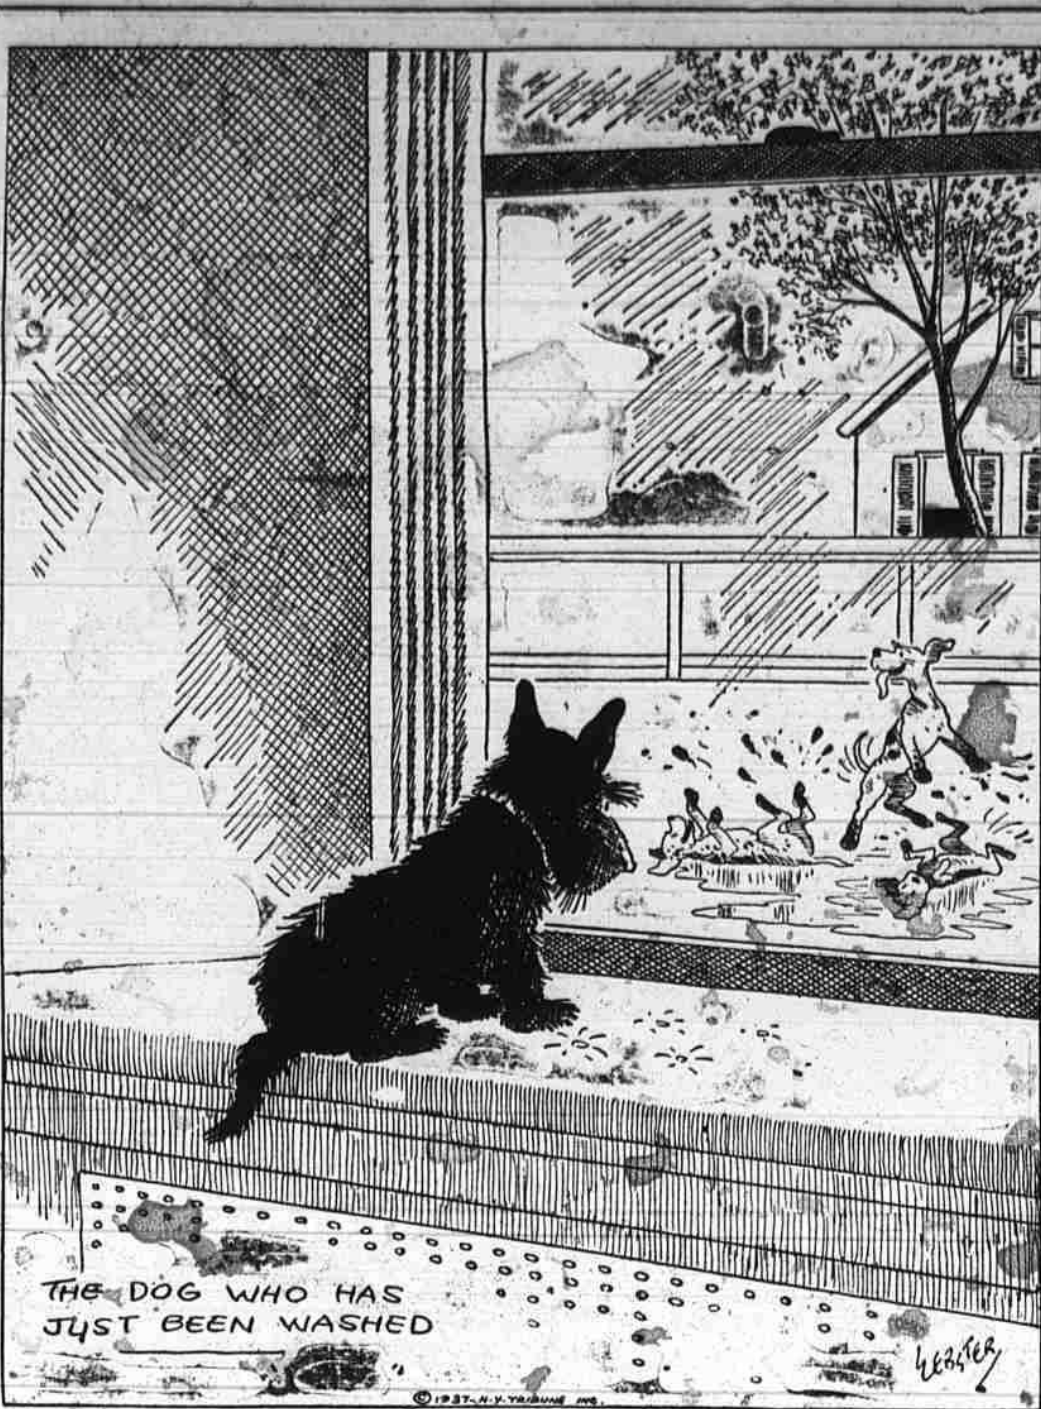

Actually, under the German-Italian-Japanese argument the first have-not nation in the world is Great Britain. For on the British Isles are 42,000,000 people who would starve in a few weeks if they were blockaded. Britain has, on her own islands, almost none of the basic raw materials essential to her industries. Most of her empire consists of a commonwealth of sovereign states. She may make preferential treaties with them, but she has to persuade them that such treaties will be to their advantage and hers, and after a short trial of empire-preference it is by no means certain, or universally agreed in the empire that such is the case. Nowhere in the commonwealth does England enjoy a monopoly of exploitation or of the markets of India, or of the time. What England has from her colonies she has to buy, just as anybody else must.

And it is not clear that what constitutes not having depends entirely upon what one demands for oneself? There is no absolute scarcity of raw materials anywhere. There is only relative scarcity. If, for instance, Germany spends 12 billion dollars in three years on armaments, as she is estimated to have done in the last three years, she will suffer a shortage which she would not suffer if she were using her available foreign currency to buy food and materials for houses, to raise the standard of living of her population. If Italy is to engage in perennial wars of conquest, or set out to put down communism or the threat of it—wherever she thinks it may be appearing in the world, she will need more raw materials than are essential to the maintenance of her people at a very decent level.

And, according to this argument, certain states like Switzerland and Denmark ought to be starving to death, their populations reduced to the level of coolies. Instead, these have-not nations enjoy an exceptionally high standard of both culture and life.

The world is not growing poorer;

SPANISH GOVT. TO MOVE OFFICES TO BARCELONA

CERBERE, Franco-Spanish Frontiers, Oct. 12 (AP)—Spanish government sources disclosed today that all important ministries would be moved shortly from Valencia, present seat of the government, to Barcelona.

The first announcement of the move had said only that the defense ministry would be transferred to bring army officers closer to their sources of war supplies. It was explained that most of the munitions factories controlled by the Spanish government are located in Catalonia.

SHOT BY STUDENT

ISTANBUL, Oct. 12 (AP)—The Rev. William Woolworth, Jr., 43, from Wallingford, Conn., was reported in grave condition today from a gunshot wound inflicted by a 16-year-old Turkish student at the American College of Tarsous, in Southern Anatolia.

The student shot the professor in a fit of anger over failing marks in examinations and then took his own life.

Duce Backs Hitler In Aiding Japan

ROME, Oct. 12 (AP)—Reliable sources disclosed today that Premier Mussolini had ordered Italian aviation experts aiding China to quit as part of an understanding with Reichsfuehrer Hitler of Germany to support Japan in her struggle with China.

The order for the large Italian aviation mission to return home was said to have been issued immediately after Mussolini's return from Germany where he conferred recently with Hitler.

There are about 75 Italian aviation experts in China, headed by Col. Silvio Scaroni. With the German military mission, composed of about 100 retired Reichwehr officers, the Italians have been instrumental in building the Chinese army now fighting Japan.

(Germany, Italy and Japan are linked in a pact to fight communism. Japan has charged inroads of communism in China is one of the reasons that made her campaign against the Chinese army necessary.)

Hitler, these sources said, either has already done so or intends to recall the German military experts.

Chapter 11 "YOU'RE BAD FOR ME"

Richard made cocktails, a chemist mixes a formula... slowly, and with deliberation. They might not have been so very much better than an expertly thrown-together drink, but it created an atmosphere.

"There," he said at last, lifting his glass of amber fluid to the light. "A votre sante... ma belle."

He looked at her steadily as he drank.

"You know, Nina," he came and sat beside her on one of the love-seats, "you shouldn't send young men out into the night with heaven in their eyes... unless..."

"Unless what?"

"Unless you mean what you say. Why is that chap good for you, Nina? ... You don't want him."

She flushed.

"So! You were listening."

"I...overheard. Why," he persisted, "is he good for you?"

"Why," she countered, "don't you think I want him?"

He smiled slowly. "Well, I don't think I'll tell you why, just yet, but I'm quite certain, my dear. Now, will you answer my question?"

Nina put her glass down, because it was shaking.

"He's sort of... oh, I don't know, natural and wholesome. I suppose you'd call it... and just mad enough to be entertaining."

Richard was still smiling as he said: "You know, Nina... I think I could be—most awfully—good for you, too."

She said, quickly, softly: "You're bad for me," and could have bitten her tongue.

He took her hand, and traced with his finger, a little blue vein at her wrist, to where it disappeared up under the lace cuff.

He didn't say anything... which was much worse than if he had said a lot. He chose to leave her little, impulsive remark sizzling in the air, between them. The longer they kept silent, the larger it grew.

"I'll have another," said Nina at last, just to say something. But when she brought her fresh drink, she couldn't touch it.

He began to talk then, pointedly, of other things... the way people do, when there is something to be covered up. It didn't occur to her, that he might be doing it on purpose... only that he was trying to help her out.

The room was full of it. Even the old English clock in the corner ticked it out relentlessly: "You're bad for me. You're bad for me." Nina felt that it might just as well have spelled: "the whole work—'You're bad for me because I love you, and I shouldn't!'"

Where were her wits? She felt that if she couldn't think of some way to un-say it, she would go mad.

When Honey came in, a few minutes later, she had an idea.

"Hello, angel. You look divine. I was just telling your husband here, that he's bad for me. I'd already had my share of cocktails, and he comes along and forces more on me."

But when she glanced at Richard, she remembered the old adage about letting well enough alone. He was looking frightfully amused.

He said: "Well, now, that rather takes the wind out of my sails! You see, I was holding her hand, Honey, and I thought she meant that."

He went out to finish dressing.

"Button My shirt?"

"Oh, Nina, darling!"

"Coming Honey..."

Honey began giving her directions before Nina was half-way down the stairs from her room on the third floor.

"Fasten these back garters, will you, like a lamb? I can hardly breathe, let alone bend, in this new girdle... Marie has disappeared, as usual, just when I need her."

Honey was standing, a plump, pink cherub, in the middle of her ornate room.

"And, darling, open the wall safe, will you? I never can think of the combination when I'm in a hurry... oh, and that reminds me, hand me my combination, will you, Nina?... that white one. Richard will be out of his dressing-room in a minute. He has no idea how fat I really am, and I don't want him to."

"Darling, you're adorable. Just right."

"And he an angel and powder my back...? Surely, what dress are you wearing?"

Richard called out from his dressing room.

"That you, Nina?"

"Uh-hmm. Want something?"

"Yes. Button this stiff shirt up the back for me, will you?... I say, Honey, let's sack Marie and hire Nina. That French woman's fingers are always cold."

Nina knocked on his door and went in... leaving it open.

"How do you know? Does she dress you every evening too?"

He was standing before a long mirror, chin up, tying his white tie; but when she came in, in her trailing chiffon, he looked at her in the glass, and let his hands drop.

Somehow, with shaking fingers, she managed to fasten the two buttons at the back.

He smelled of freshly laundered linen, and an expensive soap, and eau-de-Cologne or powder or something he had patted on to his cheeks.

When she had finished, he swung around and took her two hands in his.

"Thank you... sweet thing," he said softly, and pressed her palms against his face, for a moment.

Over his shoulder, in the mirror, Nina could see her mother putting things into her evening bag.

"My powder, my lipstick, my hankie... she's!"

"To Be Alone With You"

"Going, Nina? Hold on a second, will you, while I get my coat? Honey, dear, I want to leave that Franeotte .12 gauge of mine down at Abercrombie's. The forearm needs repairing... Nina can drop me off."

"I'm only going to Bergdorf's on 57th street..."

"Then I'll drop you... By, sweetheart!"

Richard stepped over to Honey and whispered a little endearing something that brought the quick color to her cheeks.

Outside, in the taxi, he drew Nina's arm through his.

"Well, now, perhaps you'll explain why you've been avoiding me lately. Things have come to a pretty pass, when I have to invent an errand to be alone with you!"

"That was right... where was the gun he was going to have repaired?"

Nina felt first hot and then cold.

"You know, Honey, Nina's slacking up in her duties as a daughter. She hasn't shown up for breakfast for the last two mornings. I'm being neglected."

"Nina, darling, haven't you felt well?"

"Just lousy, I guess."

"Well, I warn you, child, if you don't show up tomorrow, I'll bring my coffee up to your room. Honey sleeps like a lazy rabbit and I refuse to eat alone."

"Richard!"

"I warned you, didn't I? Move your feet over. Do you object if people sit on the foot of your bed?"

David said: "You look tired, beautiful Nina. Why?"

"I don't know..."

"I do. You don't know enough poor young men, who can't afford to keep you out late at nights."

"Is that it?"

"Um-hm. You'd better let me take charge."

They were in the comfortable loge chairs at the Capitol theater, and he would have her know it was a very large—evening.

It was fun doing simple, slightly prosaic things with David. He never let them seem too simple... or at all prosaic, really. They walked in the park, once or twice with the bounding Buton, in the late afternoons; and once he took her back for, what he called, a Blue Blazer, in his "apartment just off Park."

The "apartment" was a poorly disguised bed-sitting room, and "just off Park" meant Lexington. Nina, supposed, meant that she shouldn't have gone, and she was quite sure that she would again, if he asked her.

She hung, rather feverishly, these days to his friendship; and the fact that it was a friendship at all on his part any longer, fattened to trouble her. She had too much else on her mind.

When she was with David, she was in a different world. Cordelia had just met him the night of her Montmartre party. Richard had just seen him going out the door. Not that she knew that he existed. She was glad she wanted to keep him separate—not connected in the faintest way with a world that had her stepfather in it.

(Copyright, 1937, Margaret Herzog.)

Richard kisses Nina, slowly on the lips, tomorrow.

Insurgents Push Lines Forward

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontiers, Oct. 12 (AP)—A general advance by Spanish insurgent troops in the Cangas de Onis sector of Gijon's southeastern front pushed Asturian lines back toward the Biscayan capital today, an insurgent communique reported.

The insurgent advance guard was said to have reached the village of Rozos, on the western bank of the Sella river, less than 30 air miles from Gijon. The vanguard had marched west from Arriondas, held by the insurgents since Oct. 2.

Cangas de Onis was reported yesterday to have fallen, opening the way for the push.

The advancing troops found a large number of bodies abandoned by the retreating Asturias, or government troops, the communique asserted.

Tax Official Is Cleared Of Allegations

Group Refuses To Demand Return Of Expense Money

AUSTIN, Oct. 12 (AP)—Tax Commissioner Albert K. Daniel stood cleared today of accusations of false swearing in an expense account by verdict of the house of representatives' appropriations committee.

The group last night unanimously killed a resolution to force Daniel and Mrs. Bernice Grieder, secretary of the former racing commission of which Daniel was a member, to return $463 state money they spent attending a national convention of horse racing officials in New York last summer.

Rep. Lonnie Smith of Fort Worth, author of the resolution, charged Daniel had not stayed at a hotel listed in his expense account and had shown poor judgment in going to the meeting after racing had been abolished in Texas.

"Such governmental extravagances should be condemned," Smith shouted with a threat to take the matter to a grand jury. "Daniel spent $10 a day for a room and as much as $2.50 for a meal."

On the stand Daniel testified he went to the meeting to make a final report to the association on horse, jockey and trainer suspensions in the state and conclude Texas' membership in good standing. He said also he went there to confer with an attorney in reference to saving the state $88,000 in taxes.

The tax commissioner said Mrs. Grieder had been authorized by a majority of the commission to make the group's final financial report to the association.

A date book kept near the telephone will save much time and worry.

Legislation Is Chief Problem Of Oil Men

HOUSTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—Delegates to the Independent Petroleum association convention opening here Thursday, arriving today to join thousands attending the second day of the mammoth oil world exposition, were concerned with pending congressional legislation on pollution, waste disposal and the depletion clause of the income tax law.

Both subjects are scheduled for discussion. Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau has termed the depletion clause the "most glaring evasion of the income tax law."

The clause permits mining companies and oil producers to deduct 27 1/2 per cent of their gross incomes provided the deductions do not exceed 50 per cent of their net incomes.

The association's tax committee has been concerned in seeking means of keeping the clause alive. Yesterday the nation's oil leaders gathered to hear Representative Albert Thomas of Houston tell an audience he hoped the federal government would never need to regulate the oil industry.

District 4-H Club Show Is Set Nov. 6

County Group To Meet Saturday To Plan For Affair

Howard county's 4-H club girls will begin making plans Saturday for entertaining the district No. 6 club girl show here Nov. 6.

Miss Lora Farnsworth, county home demonstration agent, said that more than 50 girls, sponsors and agents from this section of West Texas are expected to take part in the one-day gathering.

The 4-H girls will outline the contest procedure and arrangements here Saturday afternoon. Awards previously earned by local club girls will be presented at the meeting and a demonstration will be given. The 1938 club girl program is to be discussed.

At the district meet here projects in clothing, bedroom improvements, gardening (canning) and poultry production will be judged.

Four girls and the agent from each of the counties in the district will be permitted to attend the judging. Several girls from each of the local clubs will be invited to assist in staging the district party.

Navy Building Battleship Of The Sky

Secrecy Surrounds Construction Of Giant Plane

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Oct. 12 (UP)—A flying, armored, dreadnaught of the skies—the United States navy's bid to maintain its supremacy in the skies—will be given its first tests here within a few weeks, probably about Nov. 1.

And while the finishing touches are being placed on the great plane, in the most closely guarded secret, an even more powerful plane is being designed, it was learned.

Turreted, front and aft, like the giant dreadnaughts of the surface, the new fighting craft will be as large, if not larger, than the trans-Pacific Clipper planes.

Four giant motors, mounted on the wings, will develop more than 5,200 horsepower, it was learned.

Built by Consolidated Aircraft Corp. plant here, where the plane is being built by the most trusted workmen, officials were loath to drop the veil of secrecy concerning the fighting craft—said to be the world's most powerful air fighting machine. It was revealed, however, that a super-strong, all-metal hull, armored to protect the vital portions of the plane from rival aircraft or anti-aircraft fire, is nearing completion.

This hull, it is said, is so designed that the huge flying battleship will be able to ride out the most severe storms if forced to land in the ocean.

5,000-Mile Flying Range

A cruising range of at least 5,000 miles, probably even farther, will make the air-dreadnaught capable of operating with the surface fleet in even the most far-flung maneuvers. Aboard will be complete quarters for the crew, it was believed.

A fuel supply which will enable the plane to take-off and remain in the air for at least 48 hours will be carried—presumably in armored tanks.

Naval and aircraft company officials admit that revolutionary changes in construction technique have been worked out—changes which some compared to the introduction of steel armor-plating on the world famous Monitor, of Civil war days.

It was learned, despite the careful guarding of all phases of the design and construction of the craft, that at least three turrets will be mounted on the big plane.

Gun Caliber Not Known

One of these will be in the bow, another will be in the amidships section, and the third some place near the tail assembly. It is assumed, also, the plane will be equipped with guns which will give it adequate protection from attacks from all angles, but the caliber and size of the armaments in each turret is something about which no word of information is available.

Meanwhile, it is persistently rumored in semi-official circles here that an even larger and more powerful air-sea fighter has been designed—if not actually already under construction here.

This rumor concerns a plane said to be far superior to anything ever conceived—a plane with at least six motors.

Naval officials remain tight-lipped concerning this rumor.

light shortly before Mr. Roosevelt leaves for Hyde Park, N. Y., on an over-night train.

Belief that the president would discuss the crop situation and a special session of congress was based largely on the nature of his talks during his recent journey to the west coast.

It was accentuated by the latest crop reports—Friday's forecast of the second biggest cotton yield in American history—and yesterday's general forecasts for bumper harvests in the big grain crops.

Argue Lower Rail Rates Not Needed

Litigation Underway On Emergency Freight Schedules

AUSTIN, Oct. 12 (AP)—Representatives of the Panhandle and Santa Fe railway maintained in district court here today conditions in Central Texas counties did not warrant application of reduced freight rates on feed.

The railroad commission seeks to vacate a temporary injunction restraining enforcement of an order making effective what is known as emergency drought rates.

H. M. Baine of Amarillo, general agricultural agent for the Santa Fe, testified moisture conditions were spotted, feed crops were generally better than last year, cattle were in "very good" condition and about 75 per cent of the so-called drought area had good grazing.

He admitted crops perhaps were not quite as good as in some previous years and that there had been "a droughty cycle." But said there were good farmers and poor and the farmer, by conserving available moisture, always made good feed crops.

It was argued for moisture conditions to be spotted, he said.

H. H. Nye of Amarillo, assistant general freight agent for the Panhandle and Santa Fe, testified it was customary for raisers to move livestock to meet changing conditions in range and water, and expressed the opinion range was available to which cattle could be transferred.

Jap Planes

They took to the air and engaged the Japanese bombers. At once three Japanese fighters swooped down from a great height in an attempt to protect the bombers. They engaged in fierce dogfights.

HERITAGE CARS ATTACKED

SHANGHAI, Oct. 12 (AP)—Three automobiles belonging to the British embassy were machine-gunned today by two squadrons of Japanese warplanes. None of the occupants was injured.

The staff cars in which S. S. Murray, the assistant air attaché of the British embassy was riding with several other Englishmen, were attacked by the raiding Japanese planes near Minghong, 14 miles south of Shanghai, about 4 P. M.

Although the three motor cars carried the Union Jack, the British officials said, the Japanese warplanes continued their machine gunning after the occupants jumped from the machines and sought cover.

The British asserted the cars could have been identified easily and added there was no doubt that the attacking planes were Japanese.

Mrs. Bickley Is Hostess To Forum

Evolution Of Woman Is Discussed At Club Meeting

Mrs. C. A. Bickley was hostess to the Modern Woman's Forum Monday evening and the subject for discussion was "The Evolution of Woman."

The history of woman's place in society was briefly traced and some of the necessities of woman's happiness were discussed.

Mrs. W. T. Strange gave a very instructive interpretation of the book "Woman's Coming of Age" by Schmalhausen and Calverton.

A brief review of the most interesting facts found in Earnest R. Grace's book on "The American Woman" was given by Mrs. Charles Watson.

Those attending included Mrs. Thomas J. Coffey, Mrs. Cecil Collins, Mrs. J. P. Dodge, Mrs. I. J. Driver, Mrs. Robert Eubanks, Mrs. P. V. Gates, Mrs. G. C. Sawtelle, Mrs. W. T. Strange, Mrs. Ladonia Patrick, Mrs. Charles Watson, Miss Mary Burns, Miss Nellie Puckett and Miss Marjorie Taylor.

Co. Teachers To Convene

First Such Gathering Of Year Is Slated Saturday

First meeting of Howard county teachers has been set for Saturday at 9:30 a. m. it was announced from the county superintendent's office Tuesday.

Although it is the initial meeting for the year, the gathering is to be one of the most important for the county's teaching force, during the current term.

The teachers retirement program, now in effect and being utilized by only about half the teachers in the city and county, will be discussed.

Organization of the county inter-scholastic league will be attempted, perhaps officers elected.

Probability of effecting an extension course for teachers who wish to do work toward degree in another of the items on the meeting schedule.

The Howard County Teachers association is to be organized and officers named for the year. Texas State Teachers association membership also will be talked.

It is likely that the meeting will be continued over into the afternoon. There are 86 teachers in the county outside of Big Spring and all are expected to attend. Big Spring teachers, too, are urged to take part in the meeting, particularly the organization of the county teachers unit.

Black To Face Other Tests?

Some Think Tribunal Left Way Open For New Challenges

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—Some legal experts expressed the opinion today that the supreme court has left the way open for further challenges of Justice Hugo L. Black's eligibility.

The court ruled yesterday that Albert Levitt, former federal judge in the Virgin Islands, and Patrick Henry Kelly, Boston attorney, did not have sufficient interest in the outcome to warrant their names on the new justice's right to his seat.

This made it possible, in the opinion of some observers, for filing of new contests by litigants who might be directly interested.

Levitt was silent on his specific plans, but asserted he intended to take further action.

Both he and Kelly contended Black was constitutionally ineligible because there was no vacancy on the court and because the justice was a member of the senate which increased the "emoluments" of justices by permitting them to retire at $20,000 a year after becoming 70 and serving 10 years.

Black looked on solemnly while Chief Justice Hughes read the brief decision.

"It is an established principle," the court held, "that to entitle a private individual to invoke the judicial power to determine the validity of executive or legislative action, he must show that he has sustained or is immediately in danger of sustaining a direct injury as the result of that action."

Black, his position secure for the time being at least, spent the remainder of the day listening closely while lawyers argued before the court. He asked no questions but chatted frequently with Justice Roberts.

Bankers Urged To Fight Govt. Entry In Savings Field

BOSTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—A call to bankers of the United States to resist the "assaults" of the "clumsy hands" of government upon the savings field was sounded today by a Boston financial editor at the opening session of the 63rd annual convention of the American Bankers' association.

Approximately 5,000 bankers and bank officials, representing every section of the nation, heard Frank P. Bennett, Jr., editor of the United States Investor, a financial publication, advise adoption of those rigorous methods of moulding public opinion that your rivals have found so effective in a campaign for increased savings deposits.

Bennett spoke after Tom K. Smith, of St. Louis, president of the association, launched the convention with a report that resources of banks belonging to the organization constitute slightly less than 94 per cent of the total resources of all banks in the country.

Bennett, declaring in a prepared address that the savings field is full of rival factors which bewilder "the American saver at times by the babble of their rival claims, pointed to insurance companies and "a host of government agencies."

The editor declared the time to "strike back" at the governmental agencies and other companies was not past. He declared some of the governmental agencies represented "brand new" departures for the government.

Falls To Death

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 12 (AP)—William Ewator, 54, a retired Chicago real estate dealer, fell 11 stories to death from a downtown hotel room window here early today.

The body missed by inches, John H. White, a milkman, who was entering the hotel.

Detective Lieut. George Hill reported Mrs. Yetta Brawar said her husband had been in ill health since coming here two years ago.

STUDENT INJURED

David Lamun, high school student, suffered a fracture of his pelvic bone Tuesday morning while playing at the school.

The fracture was not considered serious, and David was taken home after a cast had been applied at a local hospital.

He had jumped after a football during a pass and touch game and collided with another player, inflicting the injury.

Schools

upper two stories of the present auditorium-gymnasium and reinforcing, and construction of a new wing of the high school building.

PWA has offered Big Spring independent school district a grant of any amount up to $148,000, contingent upon the demolition of the present gymnasium (condemned against usage) and erection of two new buildings for educational purposes.

These buildings, Dunham speculated, would be a gymnasium-auditorium structure on the present high school campus and a ward school likely to be erected in the south part of town, east of Scurry and south of 18th street.

Dunham reviewed revenue sources to the district, pointing out that current ad valorem payments might be expected to reach $66,800 and delinquent collections have been pegged at $20,000. The state will contribute at $22 per scholar, less about $3,000 for county administration, to the schools.

Like Gentry, he stressed the need but made it plain that these opportunities called for additional responsibilities. This, he said, was a question for the people to weigh. And if they believe the move should be undertaken, prompt action is necessary. Under terms of the PWA grant, construction must actually be underway within 12 weeks.

Will Bid For Plane Stop

City's Brief To Be Presented To American Airlines

In behalf of Big Spring's application for a westbound stop on the airlines schedule here will be presented in Chicago Thursday by Dr. P. W. Malone, chairman of the chamber of commerce aviation committee.

He is in Chicago attending the annual meeting of the American academy of ophthalmology and otolaryngology and will present the brief before C. R. Smith, president of American Airlines.

Big Spring is asking for the stop in the belief that it will justify the company from the point of additional revenue from passenger traffic and air mail postage.

The committee chairman took part of the Big Spring brief with him when he left for Chicago Sunday. The remainder is being dispatched this afternoon, by air mail, to him by J. H. Greene, chamber of commerce manager.

American Stocks Stage Rally On London Market

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (AP)—A rally in American stocks in London today was followed eagerly by many Wall Street traders despite the fact domestic markets and most brokerage houses were closed on Columbus Day.

A few firms opened their New York offices to receive quotations from abroad and to handle business for the European and Canadian markets. Brokers reported, however, there was more interest in the quotations, in view of the recent fall of the New York, London and Amsterdam stock markets, than in actual buying or selling over the cables.

Indicative of the interest here in the foreign markets, financial news tickers ignored the holiday generally observed in Wall Street to supply quotations and reports on foreign markets which remained open.

In wake of yesterday's break in New York, which carried many shares to the lowest prices in two years or longer, American shares actively traded in London had a further fall in early dealings there.

CRUDE STOCK GAIN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—The bureau of mines reported today stocks of domestic and foreign crude petroleum totaled 309,036,000 barrels on October 2, an increase of 1,062,000 barrels over the previous week.

The increase represented a gain of 1,178,000 barrels in stocks of domestic crude but a decrease of 118,000 barrels in stocks of foreign crude.

Daily average production was about 3,655,000 barrels, approximately 20,000 barrels below the previous week's level. Daily average runs to stills were about 3,405,000 barrels, the same as the average for the week ended September 18, but 55,000 barrels under the week ended September 25. Daily average imports increased from 65,000 barrels to 81,500 barrels.

What's Happened To Descendants Of Redmen Who Greeted Columbus To America 445 Years Ago Today?

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—Descendants of the Indians who welcomed Christopher Columbus to the new world 445 years ago today may still be hiding out in an island sanctuary, suggests Dr. Herbert W. Krieger of the National museum.

Dr. Krieger, curator of the museum's division of ethnology, speculated on the legend that Andreo Island in the Bahamas holds the solution to the mystery of what became of the Indian tribe, the Lucayans.

Andreo Island is 100 miles off the southeastern coast of Florida. No white man, said Dr. Krieger, has penetrated the full extent of its slanting regions, its caves and pine forests.

The story arousing his interest was that Indian islanders even today do their hunting at night because they dread being seen.

Some 40,000 Lucayans were lured into captivity by the Spaniards during the half century which followed Columbus' appearance, and were sold into slavery for work in mines near San Domingo and for pearl diving off the coast of Venezuela.

"It was a campaign which practically wiped out this kind and friendly race," Dr. Krieger said.

"But it is entirely possible that some of the Lucayans escaped and took refuge on the still unexplored Andreo Island."
