Cotton Module Systems Increase Gin Efficiency

Cost reductions associated with cotton module handling systems are primarily a result of the large increase in gin efficiency rates from trailer handling, says a Texas Tech University agricultural economics professor.

Dr. Don E. Ethridge, formerly with the U.S. Department of Agriculture, has released the results of a study analyzing the effects of module handling systems on ginning costs associated with stripper harvested cotton. The study was a joint effort of Dale L. Shaw, a former USDA economist, Jess A. Robinson of Iowa State University and Ethridge.

"Gins can totally absorb the cost of module assembly only if they can obtain the additional volume," Ethridge said.

The report studies two major cost factors for gin operators: 1) costs associated with moving modules from the farm to the gin and 2) the effect of various module handling systems on the processing costs at the gin.

Four different gin seed cotton handling systems were studied, including trailer handling with suction feeding, module handling with suction feeding, module handling with automated feeding using suction, and module handling with automated feeding using blowers. Costs of ginning were estimated at 1979-80 prices for each system.

The results generally indicated that module handling lowers ginning costs below trailer handling costs for plants operating

Cub Scout Rally Planned

There will be a Cub Scout Roundup Rally on November 3 at 7 p.m. in the Mary DeShazo Cafeteria. All parents and boys of age 8 to 10 are urged to attend this meeting.

Some of the scouting activities planned are the pinewood derby, the rocket derby, BB gun safety, overnights and fishing trips, field trips and the Scout-a-Rama.

A den meeting is held once a week and the pack meetings are held every six weeks.

Any questions concerning scouting membership or activities may be directed to...

at greater than 50 percent of seasonal capacity.

For example, the researchers found that a plant with a 35 bale per hour capacity can reduce costs to $33 per bale and produce 25,700 bales per year using module handling, automatic blower feeding. That same plant using trailer handling, suction feeding is only capable of producing 21,200 bales per year at a per bale ginning cost of $39.

Mules Fall To Cats In Homecoming Loss

One of the biggest upsets in area football was pulled off by the Dimmitt Bobcats Friday night when they downed the Mighty Mules, the same Mules who were picked to win by 33 point in the Harris poll.

The Dimmitt Bobcats came to Muleshoe Friday night with football on their minds and ended up stealing the Mule's thunder with a 10 to 7 win. Although Coach Williams angry Black's stats were over the 'Cats, the Mules just didn't come through with the big play.

The Mules received on the opening kickoff with Kirven tagging the ball for a 50 yard return; to no avail however, for the Mules were unable to move less than 4 yards before giving up the ball with a 24 yard Angely punt.

In the end of the next series, the Cats' Jeff Watts gave a preview of his kicking ability by putting his foot to a 70 yard punt, one of several punts which kept the Cats in the game.

With 20 seconds left in the first quarter, the Cats began to smell blood and worked their way into field goal position where Johnny Nino completed a 31 yard attempt to put the Cats on the board with 3.

The Cat's strong halfback, Mark Bruegal proved to be the workhorse for the Dimmitt crew and seemed to be able to get through when it counted.

The game proved to be a defensive one throughout all four quarters with both teams proving tough. Vela, Garcia, Denny, Coleman, Norman, and Ramos all had a good game-as well as some of the offensive Mule squad, Hamilton, Angely, Hysinger and Kirven.

Muleshoe's botch of their first close attempt to score came with 2 seconds left in the 2nd quarter when Sam Gonzales hit Kirven with a 50 yard pass into the Cat's end zone. The play was called back, due to a holding penalty called against the Mules-one of several that hurt badly.

Water Trust Fund Of Prime Interest

Voters in Bailey County as well as the rest of Texas will have the opportunity to voice their opposition or support to the seven proposed constitutional amendments on Tuesday, November 3.

The passage or non-passage of the proposed constitutional amendments will greatly affect all governmental agencies, local as well as state.

Probably the most controversial of the seven amendments is Number 4, The Water Trust Fund. It is one of the most critical issues voters will decide upon when they cast their ballots on Tuesday. No other one thing is so vitally important to the State of Texas' and its people than the precious water resources. This is of prime importance now, with the increasing problems that many rural and urban citizens face.

Many local and state governments and organizations have voiced their support of Amendment 4.

Those who advocate the Water Trust Fund argue that the loan guarantee program would allow local communities and water districts to back their bonds with the credit rating of the state. This would mean lower costs of funding and lower utility bills in the long run.

The passage of the amendment would provide the means for research, conservation, water quality and flood control projects in areas where local authorities could determine needs and scope of these projects.

Most certainly, one of Amendment 4's strong points is the fact that it would cause no new taxes.

Without the passage of the Water Trust Amendment, ceilings on state bonds will remain low, and as a result, the bonds will remain unmarketable. Texas can not depend on federal funds to help finance water projects any longer.

Those who speak out against amendment 4, maintain that Texans should learn to live with its avail- Cont. Page 6, Col. 2

School Board Calls Bond Issue

In a specially called meeting Thursday, October 29, The Board of Trustees of the Muleshoe Independent School District unanimously passed a motion calling for a bond issue in the amount of $2,000,000. for the purpose of energy conservation measures and renovation of school buildings. Plans include the construction of an indoor physical education area at Dillman Elementary.

A Cotton Set-Aside May Be On The Way

With a lot of cotton being produced this year, prices are down. This dilemma may lead the government back into agriculture to create a cotton set-aside program--a program in which farmers would be paid not to grow cotton on a certain amount of their land.

"Interest in set-aside programs always increases when production is up and prices are down," says Dr. Ron Knutson, economist in marketing and policy with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "Since Secretary of Agriculture Block recently announced a 15 percent wheat set-aside, interest has grown regarding a similar program for cotton."

Such a program would be optional for cotton farmers, explains Knutson. If they opted to participate, they could not plant cotton or any other crop for harvest on the deferred acres.

Mae Wilterding introduced Al Jones, from the Wild Life Refuge. He showed slides of the cranes and other different birds and animals that live on the refuge. He also told about each one.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Wilterding. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Friends Of Library Officers

To Be Elected Wednesday

A meeting of the Friends of the Library is scheduled for Wednesday morning, Nov. 4 during the story hour (10 a.m.) at the library.

An election of officers will be held. "Several of the offices are being vacated so there is a need for willing volunteers to take on this work, which is beneficial to the entire community" Margaret Hamilton said.

"Also the Friends of the Library are asking for donations to help pay for a new projector which was purchased this summer." "Along with losing the bookmobile, the library also lost the use of a projector."

"A lot of the civic organizations use the projector, therefore, we are urging you to help us pay for it" she continued.

You may take your donations by the library.

In Fashion

With clothing prices what they are, individuality is a mark of all fashions. Rather than discard last year's wardrobe, add ruffled blouses, collarless jackets or ruffled sweaters to skirts and pants.

Jewelry fashion demands larger and bolder pieces. Large pins and earrings will be seen as well as ropes of pearls.

It's easy to find an excuse for delaying hard work.

Ladies Golf Association Installation Of Officers

The Muleshoe Ladies Golf Association held their monthly meeting Wednesday, Oct. 23 at the Country Club. Sixteen members attended the luncheon.

Laverne Winn, president introduced the guests, Rita Johnson, Melba King and Jeanell Turner.

A report was given on the High Plains tournament held in Farwell. Members playing in Farwell were Dorothy St. Clair, Marlene St. Clair, Jeanette Millen, Analita

Haley and Evelyn Riley.

Play day winners for October and November included Ruby Hart, Jeanetta Precure, Claudine Elliott, Neats Foster, Laverne Winn, Argile Millen, Lynn Campbell, Marlene St. Clair, and Pearl Gupton. They each won golf balls.

"Laverne Winn, outgoing president, was presented a gift with thanks for a job well done" says Neats Foster.

Installation of officers followed the meeting. Madame MM Gypsy, fortune teller installed the officers.

Incoming officers were presented at a round table centered with a crystal ball filled with golf balls.

Madame MM read the cards for each officer describing her duties and responsibilities. Her final reading, predicted a curse of lost balls, out of bounds, fanning the ball and water hazards for members that did not attend meetings in 1982.

Gonzales seemed to have regained his expertise with passing, but couldn't connect with his receivers, due to the super coverage of the Cats and - just some of the time, the receiver couldn't find a handle on the ball.

With a minute and 22 seconds left in the 3rd period, the Cats' Larry Garcia intercepted a Gonzales pass intended for Larry Norman which set them up on the next play for Bruegal to scoot 25 yards into the end zone for a Cat TD. The PAT was good and the Cats went into the 4th quarter leading the Mules 9-0.

In the very next play, the Mules rallied and Gonzales fired off a 61 yard pass to Angely for the first and only knock at the door for the Mules. Hysinger's PAT attempt was good and the Mules still trailed by 3.

From that point on, it was back and forth with the ball, with both teams playing good defense. The Mules took the ball with 50 seconds left in the game in a short drive which should have been the winning point of the game, only to have a pass intercepted by King on the 31 yard line. The Cat's only had to maintain possession at that point and ran out the clock beating the Mules 10-7.

A touching and heartening scene was played out after the last buzzer sounded, as both teams knelt in mid-field for prayer.

This is what it's all about, to come out, win or lose, with a feeling of good will toward fellowman.

So, don't be too quick to judge the Mules, because the game is a means to an end-that of building menot just a football team.

able water through conservation. While this may be true to some extent, others urge preparation for the future years by voting for the Water Amendment and facing up to the growing water problems now. Austin Mayor Carole McClellan sums up the subject well by saying this: "If Texans had not had the vision decades ago to create priority funding for education, we wouldn't have the fine educational opportunities our young people enjoy now; if Texans had not acted years ago to create priority funding for roads and highways, we wouldn't have the finest highway system in the nation today. Water resources and facilities are more critical to our future than either of these important parts of our lives. If we're in trouble on water, we're all in trouble. Time is running out and we must act now to help assure the future well-being and prosperity of all Texans."

Many pro-water people take the stand that those who oppose the Water Trust Fund are either totally misinformed or not informed at all.

(Note: Please see Page 7 for a complete list and description and pros and cons of constitutional amendments.)

A problem with the adoption of automatic blower feeding in the near term is that gins must be in a position to gin totally from modules and relatively few gins are yet prepared to do so.

The automated suction feeding system has a higher per bale cost than the automatic blower system but it is a dual system which can accommodate both modules and trailers.

Cost of module assembly using palletless module move trucks are also sensitive to the extent of equipment use.

Gins can reduce ginning costs by processing modules because the module handling system provides the potential for increased ginning efficiency, larger plant capacities and annual volume.

Compared to trailer handling, module handling can lower ginning costs enough to offset module assembly costs only if the gin's annual volume can be increased in proportion to the increase in annual capacity associated with the higher efficiency rates from module systems.

The 71-page report which took the researchers three years to complete contains studies of module mover truck costs and findings on investment costs, plant cost relationships, assembly costs and economics in size.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Legislators flocked back to the State Capitol last week to put finishing touches on redistricting plans and send them with a good luck kiss toward this week's final vote. The five-member Redistricting Board must complete work on new Texas House and Senate districts by midnight Wednesday, Oct. 28, or the task automatically goes to the courts. One plan for the Senate has already been presented by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby. Speaker Bill Clayton and Comptroller Bob Bullock were expected to present their maps earlier this week. The Hobby plan does not pair any incumbent senators, since four senators have decided not to seek re-election: Walter Mengden, R-Houston; Dee Travis, R-Dallas; Bill Meier, R-Eules; and Peyton McKnight, D-Tyler. Mengden is vacating his seat to run against incumbent U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, a Democrat. The arch-conservative made his announcement last week, and in the media blitz he repeatedly criticized Bentsen for voting for the windfall profits tax. The accusation was bit of a faux pas, since Bentsen has always been a staunch foe of the windfall tax. Travis will also vacate his Senate seat to campaign for the Dallas congressional seat given up by fellow Republican Jim Collins. Meier, a former Democrat who switched parties this year with an eye on Collins seat, has announced he will not seek election to any office, but will work for the re-election of Gov. Bill Clements. Hobby's tenacious opposition to dedicated fund programs is well known around the Capitol, and his stance did not startle observers as much as his outspokenness on this amendment. The political ramifications are intriguing, particularly in light of how this amendment might affect Clayton's political career. The four-term Speaker long ago announced he will not return to the House, and would like to run for statewide office, probably Land Commissioner. "Know thyself" is a good saying, but not in all situations. In many it is better to say "Know others."

Just about everybody agrees that our state needs to face up to our growing water problems.

As Governor Bill Clements said in a recent address in Austin, "No part of Texas is without some form of water problem and unless we accurately assess our needs and prepare to meet them, we will face crisis after crisis after crisis in the years to come."

The Texas Legislature took action earlier in the year to provide a mechanism to establish priority funding for water projects to be planned and administered by local communities with financing support from the state.

On November 3, Texas voters will decide at the polls whether to pass Constitutional Amendment No. 4 which would authorize the plan.

Some critics oppose the amendment, arguing that it creates a dedicated fund which would lead to a tax increase in the future.

Governor Clements, however, has a persuasive answer to that charge:

"The truth of the matter is, Texans are more likely to face increased taxes if we DON'T pass Amendment No. 4," Clements declared. That's simply because the surplus will be frittered away every two years with the help of some lawmakers opposing Amendment No. 4, and we'll end up facing a water crisis down the road that people will demand we take care, even if it does mean a tax increase."

We're inclined to agree with Governor Clements on this one. Amendment No. 4 may not be perfect, but at least it's a beginning.

Three former governors and a long list of respected leaders across the state support Amendment No. 4. The voters of this area should too.

Here are 'pros, cons' of proposed amendments

Speaker of the House Bill Clayton has provided descriptions of the seven proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution that will be voted on Tuesday, with the basic arguments for and against each. Clayton has personally endorsed Proposition 4, which he authored [creating a state water development trust fund], and Proposition 5 [exempting livestock and poultry from taxation]. Here are the proposed amendments, with the basic "pros and cons," for you to study before you vote Tuesday:

Amendment #1 Reinvestment Zones

Authorizes the legislature to allow cities, towns, and other taxing units to encourage the improvement, development or redevelopment of certain areas through property tax relief and through the issuance of bonds and notes.

FOR: Property tax exemptions and tax increment financing provide incentives for private interests to redevelop distressed areas. Redevelopment of business and industrial areas would lead to increased employment.

AGAINST: Taxes in a reinvestment zone are frozen for many years, while other taxpayers must pay a larger share to keep up with inflation. Is not limited to property tax exemption for small areas of redevelopment. A few property owners might be left to pay all the taxes for the redevelopment.

Amendment #2 Clear Titles for Certain Free School Fund Lands

Authorizes the General Land Office to issue a patent for public free school land to a person who can prove he acquired the land without knowledge of a defective title or that his predecessors have held a recorded deed to the land and paid all taxes for 50 years before November 15, 1981.

FOR: Allows persons to get a clear title to land where land was purchased in good faith and property taxes have been paid for many years.

AGAINST: (No real opposition voiced.)

Amendment #3 State Financing Management Committee

Allows the Legislature to create a state financing management committee to manage the expenditures of appropriated funds that are not dedicated.

FOR: The state would have the flexibility to adjust to federal budgetary changes and unanticipated expenses of state agencies. This authority would help control costs of state government and make spending more accountable.

AGAINST: A financing management committee could become a political tool to harass agencies. Budget management should be solely an administrative function given to agencies.

Amendment #4 Water Trust Fund

Creates a water trust fund from one-half of the state's surplus revenues, increases to 12% the allowable interest rate payable on authorized but unissued state bonds; and extends $500 million of state's credit to guarantee water bonds issued by qualified political subdivisions.

FOR: The loan guarantee program will allow local communities and water districts to back their bonds with the credit rating of the state. This means lower costs of bond funding and lower utility bills for the ratepayer. Provides mechanism for funding research, water conservation, water quality and flood control projects in cooperation with local authorities who determine the need and scope of projects for local areas.

If we don't raise the ceiling on state bonds they will remain unmarketable. Causes no new taxes. We can no longer depend on federal funds to help finance water projects.

AGAINST: Texas should learn to live with its available water resources through conservation and efficient use.

Amendment #5 Livestock & Poultry Tax Exemptions

Will exempt livestock and poultry from taxation.

FOR: Livestock and poultry should be exempted to the ranchers like farmers' products are to the farmers. It is difficult to tax livestock on the range and every animal has a different market value. The state will not lose significant revenues because most taxing units do not tax livestock.

AGAINST: This one industry should not be singled out for tax relief.

Amendment #6 Property Tax Relief for Homesteads

Allows counties, cities, school districts or other political divisions to exempt a portion of the market value of a residence homestead from ad valorem taxation.

FOR: This amendment will ease the eventual shift to 100% appraisal values by giving a homeowner a percentage exemption from property taxes for the next few years. This amendment, by giving property tax relief, helps many to buy and keep homes.

AGAINST: This gives the most tax relief to the most valuable homes and renters get no tax relief.

Amendment #7 Veteran Land Bonds

Authorizes the issuance of $250 million in veterans land bonds and increases the interest on bonds to ten percent.

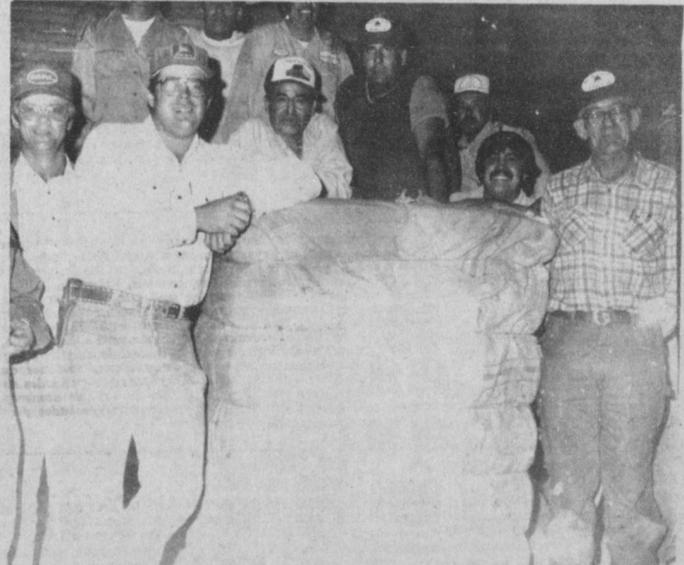

FOR: This program doesn't cost the taxpayers. It has helped almost 73,000 Texans buy land but without this amendment the program will have to shut down before next year.

AGAINST: The veteran's land program is too large already. The federal government has the responsibility to provide benefits to veterans.

Proposition 4: A Step In The Right Direction

U.S. Rep. Kent Hance is calling a proposed water trust fund "a step in the Set Aside..."

Failure to set aside the acreage specified once in the program would result in the farmer losing any benefits from farm programs, including target prices and loans.

How much would a set-aside program help cotton prices?

"Based on past experiences with set-aside programs, a 15 percent set-aside would result in only a 3 to 5 percent decrease in production," points out Knutson. "This reduced production would roughly increase cotton prices by 5 percent."

One reason why production would not be reduced more with such a set-aside program is that only one-half to two-thirds of the farmers normally participate. Also, those who do put their poorest land into the program and increase inputs on the remainder of their land to boost production.

So, cotton farmers and their organizations need to ponder the possible effects of a set-aside program as they study the issue, suggest Knutson.

What can you think of which costs about the same now as in 1975? Try beef, suggests an Iowa State extension economist. But, he adds, don't go looking for any 89-cent cuts. What has remained constant, or nearly so, since 1975, is the real price of beef, taking into account the impact of inflation on prices. He says the real price of beef declined in 1980, but is higher now than in 1976 and 1977 when beef supplies were plentiful. Saying the high rate of inflation tends to make everyone think in terms of grossly overestimated changes in real prices, he cited beef as a prime example. Recent price changes in beef have been much more moderate than suggested by present price tags, he says. If retail beef prices for the past six years are adjusted to 1975 dollars, he illustrates, the 1980 average price per pound for beef figures out to $1.55.

Wooley International, Inc. W. Hwy 84

The Texas Water Development Board says the state will need $44 billion in water development projects alone by the year 2005, and that Texas will suffer a water "deficit" of 8.6 million acre-feet a year by the year 2030. Almost all this shortage will be in water intended for irrigation projects.

Hance said the proposed amendment enjoys the support of many Texas leaders, including Governor Bill Clements, and is popular in many of the state's quarters. But he stressed the amendment's potential impact on West Texas agriculture and the need for West Texans to vote to help ensure its passage.

The amendment would not impose any additional burden to taxpayers, Hance said, because the funds would come only from the state's surplus revenue and would be deposited into the trust only after all appropriations are complete.

"This amendment is necessary for Texas to handle the variety of water problems it will face, especially that of a severe lack of ground and surface water in the otherwise fertile farmland of West Texas," Hance said. "I urge each and every registered voter in West Texas to cast his ballot for Proposition 4."

LET'S KEEP THE WATER RUNNING IN TEXAS!

In cities and towns all across Texas, local water problems are threatening to erupt into one enormous statewide crisis. Countless communities are facing growing water supply, water treatment, sewage treatment and flood control problems estimated to cost a staggering $50 billion over the next 25 years. To make matters worse, federal funds for water projects have recently been slashed.

But on November 3, Texans have the opportunity to adopt a plan, already passed by two-thirds of the Legislature, which would harness a portion of our state's budget surplus to help shoulder that heavy local burden.

The plan is proposed Constitutional Amendment No. 4.

Passage of Amendment No. 4 would:

- Make possible the sale of more than $200 million in authorized and urgently needed state bonds to address a backlog of needed projects.
- Create a loan guaranty program to enable local communities to save millions of dollars in issuing future bonds.
- Begin to build a "nest egg" for the future from a part of the state's budget surplus to assist local governments in financing future water and sewage projects.

Texas' water needs must be met, either now or in the future. We can act now, and save money... or pay the higher price later for our neglect, with possible increased taxes. Sensible action now makes much more sense for Texas.

Annual Staff At Work

Roger Pamperin, the yearbook salesman for Josten/American for this area, met with the annual staff Tuesday morning, October 27. He discussed with the staff members ideas for a yearbook theme and gave suggestions in making the annual an exciting memory book.

No decisions were made but many ideas and opinions are being considered. Mr. Pamperin is expected to be back in town the last of November to formulate the final plans for the theme, cover, and divider pages for the 1981-82 annual.

Everyone needs to plan to purchase a 1982 yearbook as this year's annual is sure to be a memorable one.

The editor and co-editor of the annual this year are Susie Pierce and Curtis Wheeler. Jan Whitt is the editor of the Mule's Tale, and the members of the staff are Lavon Rhodes, Tamara Gilliland, Crystal Taylor, Dana Splawn, John David Agee, Kacy Henry, and Trinidad Lopez. The advisor is Mrs. Lucy Faye Smith.

Mrs. Pointer has made this quilt for this event for four years. Future Homemakers are pleased to have this as a money making project. Mr. Manuel Rodriguez purchased the winning ticket.

Decorating the Nursing Home for the month of October, featuring a Halloween theme, was the project for October by the group. This project is a joint one with HERO-FHA, who will decorate for November.

A float with a theme "Mule Feast-Devour the Bobcats" was designed and made by FHA members Polly Harrison, Kristi Heathington, Tina Ruthardt, Jana Wuerflein, Connie Puckett and Joy Gabbert.

Baby sitting for Young Homemakers is a monthly project also, and the next YHT nursery will be November 3 in the Homemaking Department.

Special help was given to the Migrant "Make and Take" program when FHA members Piki Kingrey, Tonya Gray, Pat Davis, Michelle Dalfino, Holly Oaks, Laura Olivias, and Maria Martinez kept approximately forty children so that parents might participate in the program.

ATTEND THE CHURCH OF YOUR CHOICE

WORLD WIDE INTEREST

Many good organizations are working with our youngsters, developing an interest in other lands and the ones who dwell there. The church through God's word also teaches us about our neighbors and what our attitude should be toward them. The earth is the Lord's and the fulness thereof; the world, and they that dwell therein.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.
