The new office was created after a short discussion, on motion of L. N. McCullough, seconded by Ike Lewis.

One of the first things to be determined is the manner of enforcing city ordinances being placed in the records. Sanitation problems, long before the council, have reached the stage of being treated by ordinances, but conflicts of authority or misunderstanding of administrative details have developed. Formerly the mayor was asked to attend to

MORE COTTON?

Mississippi flood conditions have changed the general aspect of the cotton problem to an alarming degree. A few weeks ago it was agreed that production must be curtailed; now the fact is disputed insofar as exas communities are concerned.

For example, County Agent J. W. Jennings of Randall county, one or the outstanding agents of the state, has through the press advocated the planting of some cotton on the Plains. His reasons are based upon the flood, the boll weevil, and the cotton flea. He believes cotton will go to 15 or 20 cents a pound next winter and advises farmers of his county to get ready to receive the benefit.

The general fear has been that most farmers would plant much cotton to profit by the curtailment expected of the "other farmers."
