TORRENTS COVER MANY TOWNS

Will Show Picture Tonight for Flood Relief

ALL PROCEEDS WILL BE GIVEN TO RED CROSS

Local Theatres Will Present Picture At 10:30 P. M.

MUSICAL SHOW TO BE FEATURE

"Up the Ladder" Is the Title—Rex the Place

Tonight, set aside by theatre owners in the southwest as flood benefit night, will be observed in Pampa with a special picture, "Up the Ladder," to be shown at the Rex theatre, at 10:30 p. m.

Roy Sinor and H. A. Gilliland, managers of the Rex and Crescent theatres, respectively, have made preparations for the showing and will give all receipts, without taking out a cent for expenses, to the Red Cross relief fund.

Mullens' Musical show will present one of its best acts in connection with the picture, and the Chamber of Commerce orchestra will furnish music.

With the Mississippi flooding new areas every day and inundating scores of villages—and the crest yet to be reached—Secretary Herbert Hoover, President Coolidge, and Red Cross officials have sent out nationwide calls for the nation's greatest peacetime relief effort.

Gross proceeds of tonight's show will be sent tomorrow to the Red Cross headquarters at Oklahoma City, from where it will be sent at once to centers of destruction.

Since no other effort has been made in Pampa to raise donations, it is believed that the show will provide a large sum.

A minimum admission charge will be set but those who attend may take this opportunity to pay more for their tickets, and thereby increase the amount to be sent to the stricken Mississippi valley.

Sponsor Contest To Close Monday—Miss LeFors Leads

The last day to vote for the local sponsor to Wichita Falls will be Monday. The contest closes Monday night.

Miss Moleta LeFors still leads with 12,665 votes and Miss Margaret Schmidt is second. The costumes to be worn by the Pampa sponsor and delegates are now on display in Barnard's dry goods store window.

Up until noon today the votes placed were: Miss Moleta LeFors, 12,665; Miss Margaret Schmidt, 10,130; Miss Juanita Fulbrite, 10,190; Mrs. Morris Lawless, 10,135; Miss Ennis Hicks, 10,102; Mrs. Pauline Davis, 10,100; Miss Mary Cox, 10,010, and Miss Anna Abbott, 10,000.

Colored Comics To Be Feature In Sunday News

The new colored comic section is a feature of the Sunday News. Eight comics in colors are given News readers.

Our Boarding House, Salesman Sam, Out Our Way, Freckles and His Friends, Boots and Her Buddies and Wash Tubbs are among the comics that will be in Sunday's News.

Death Closes In

Here is Walter L. Boothe of Boone, Va., whose friends, working in shifts, kept him alive by artificial respiration after collapse of his lungs. A relapse at the end of the tenth day threatened to decide the unequal issue in death's favor.

GASOLINE TAX REPEAL ASKED

C. of C. To Compile Data—Sites Offered Cheese Plant

The Pampa Chamber of Commerce after discussion last night voted to sponsor a movement to repeal the tax on gasoline used in tractors on the farm.

This act, if repealed, will do away with the three-cent tax on gasoline which the farmer now must pay for tractor use as well as for his automobile.

A resolution was passed asking that the secretary of the local C. of C. find the number of tractor users in this section, and also the amount of gasoline used in tractors, and that these facts be forwarded to the W. T. C. C. to be placed before the special session of the Fortieth Legislature.

A. G. Marshall placed before the assembled men the facts of the proposed creamery and cheese factory, and its benefit and necessity to Pampa and West Texas.

Two locations were offered by local men. A committee composed of F. W. Cole, Ed Seltz and Chas. Barrett will accompany the Amarillo men on a visit to the farmers of the district, and will explain the proposition to them.

At the present time there are no dairy cows near Pampa, according to a statement by Professor J. L. Lester, vocational teacher at the high school.

The factory men would import cows and place them on nearby farms and give the farmers a market for their milk.

The committee will report at a later date the result of the visit to the farmers, and the number interested in the proposed factory.

British Bill To Prevent Strikes Is Before Parliament

LONDON, May 6.—The trade union bill born during last year's general strike passed a second reading in the House of Commons last night and is now in the hands of a committee of the whole.

It will receive further consideration next Tuesday.

The measure's object—which is to prevent general strikes and strikes of a coercive nature, was the subject of acrimonious debate throughout the week.

END OF CIVIL WAR IS SEEN IN NICARAGUA

Liberal General Says He Is Ready To Quit

FEARS U. S. TO AID ENEMIES

Decision Follows An Interview by Envoy Of Coolidge

(By The Associated Press.)
MANAGUA, Nicaragua, May 6.—After months of fighting, civil war appeared today to be at an end.
While definite settlement has not been reached, General Monada, liberal, has announced that he is ready to lay down arms. The decision followed an interview yesterday with Henry Stimson, personal representative of President Coolidge.
The general said it seemed certain that the United States is prepared to take the field against the liberals if the fighting continues.

Education Board Of Baptist Church Saved for Year

(By The Associated Press.)
LOUISVILLE, May 6.—Existence for another year at least of the education board of the Southern Baptist convention was assured today when delegates approved a motion to table the report of a special committee appointed to consider recommendations.

These recommendations included abolishment of the education board and hospital commission from the financial program of the convention.

Routes of Road Building Will Be Meeting Subject

A second mass meeting to discuss proposed road bond propositions will be held at the Chamber of Commerce at 8 o'clock tonight.

At a previous meeting several routes were suggested, and tonight's session is expected to crystallize opinion regarding the matter. Both district bonds and county-wide bonds will be discussed.

The issue now proposed for district vote would pave slightly less than half the amount of the former propositions, and would give more value at less expense, it is said.

Three More Bodies Taken From Mine

(By The Associated Press.)
FAIRMONT, W. Va., May 6.—Three bodies previously located were carried from the Everettsville mine today to the morgue at the mouth of the workings.

In the morgue are 31 miners known killed. Rescuers today continued the search for 63 men unaccounted for since the explosion last Saturday.

Bricks Cracking—Paving Stops Pending Arrival of Expert

Brick laying has ceased for a few days on account of breaking of brick sent. A representative of the Mineral Wells Brick company is to be in the city today.

Work of preparing the side streets for the cement base is in progress and Kingmill street will be ready in a few days.

Unwritten Law Murder Defense

When Arthur Birkes of Red Rock, Okla., goes to trial for the murder of Dr. Harry McQuown, his wife will be a witness for him. She is expected to testify that Dr. McQuown tried to make love to her, that she told her husband, that Birkes warned McQuown to leave town within 24 hours and, after a sleepless night, shot the physician the next day when he saw him on the street. Mr. and Mrs. Birkes are shown above.

GRAY SAYS HE NEEDED HELP TO KILL PARAMOUR'S HUSBAND

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, May 6.—Defense attorneys in the trial of Henry Judd Gray, charged with helping Mrs. Ruby Snyder murder her husband, Albert Snyder, rested today.
Throughout questioning by attorneys for Mrs. Snyder and the State, Gray adhered to the story that he struck the first blow but could never have killed Snyder without the help of Mrs. Snyder.

American Declares U. S. Interested In World Prosperity

(By The Associated Press.)
GENEVA, May 6.—Henry Robinson, head of the American delegation to the International economic conference, told the conference today that the American people are profoundly interested in peace and prosperity in Europe and the rest of the world.

No nation, he said, could enjoy full economic activity unless other nations are prosperous.

The trend of discussion thus far has shown that Europe seeks to adapt successful American industrial systems to its own needs.

Two Big Wells Near Pampa Now Flowing Heavily

Park-Etal No. 1 came in yesterday flowing 15 barrels an hour at first pay. The well is in the S. E. of the N. W. of the N. W. of section 67 block 4, of Carson county. The property is owned by J. A. McConnell.

First pay was reached from 3,083 to 3,086 feet.

Prairie Oil and Gas company's No. A-4, also on J. A. McConnell land, section 67, block 4, still has a steady flow of 1,800 barrels a day.

When first brought in the well produced 2,300 barrels but the decrease was slight and is now a steady producer.

Hail Storms Do Huge Damage In Oklahoma Counties

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 6.—Hail damage to crops and buildings in Oklahoma during the past week is estimated at approximately $2,000,000.

A hail and wind storm Thursday struck Noble, Garfield and Alfalfa counties, damaging wheat more than a million dollars, it is estimated.

MILLIONS OF ACRES BELOW MUDDY WATER

Refugees Clinging To Tree Tops And Roofs

VILLAGES ARE WHOLLY GONE

Crest of Flood May Bring Still More Destruction

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW ORLEANS, May 6.—Muddy torrents of the Mississippi still raced uncurbed over Northern Louisiana lowlands today after having overrun more than five million acres of farm and swamp land.

Rayville had disappeared and an urgent appeal was made for boats to remove residents from tree tops and roofs of houses.

Tallulah and Newellton are being invaded by the waters, at the delta point, and dozens of smaller villages have disappeared.

More than 300,000 square miles have been covered by the river and its tributaries in Louisiana.

VICKSBURG, May 6.—(AP)—Appropriation of half a million dollars for crop rehabilitation work in the Mississippi area was made today by the Red Cross at a conference of officials, attended by Secretary Hoover.

(By The Associated Press.)
HOUSTON, May 6.—Mississippi River floods which have won places in weather bureau history have been compiled by L. H. Daingerfield, weather observer at Houston. The Flood now on the way to New Orleans is the mighty Mississippi's worst and is expected to reach nearly 24 feet between May 6 and May 20, if the levees hold.

Teaches Geography While Traveling

HOUSTON—A novel class in geography is conducted for several hundred elementary pupils by a teacher who is never present at the lessons. Mrs. Edith D. Wright, principal of the Hawthorne school is on a leave of absence touring the world. For several months she has sent lessons to her school in the form of descriptions of the places she has visited.

The pupils listen to the letters and follow her itinerary on maps. Mrs. Wright's last letter was dated from Calcutta, India.

Justice Gets $5 Each For 73 Counts

(By The Associated Press.)
AUSTIN, May 6. (AP)—The 40th legislature having boosted the fees of certain justices of the peace, several members expect to set about to limit them in the special session.

A case in point was described by Senator I. D. Fairchild of Lufkin. A Texas justice, he said, held preliminary hearings for a man charged with embezzlement in 73 counts and submitted a bill at $5 a case as now allowed by law.

Fairchild talked the matter over with Senator Edgar Witt of Waco and both agreed that something should be done. The senator from Lufkin probably will introduce a bill designed to "correct such conditions," he said.

DOCTOR IS KILLED

NOCONA, May 6.—Dr. C. E. Smith, 40 years old, died Thursday in Gainsville hospital after an automobile plumed from the bridge yesterday 8 miles from St. Jo. Where they had lived three years.

Walter Darlington, Sr., of Kansas City, is a business visitor in Pampa today and is impressed with the growth of the city.

Baptists Report 21,777 Sunday Schools In South, With Enrollment of 2,724,367

(By The Associated Press.)
LOUISVILLE, May 6.—The 21,777 white Baptist Sunday schools of the South, with their 2,724,367 pupils, are now doing the most effective work in their history, Dr. I. J. Van Ness of Nashville, corresponding secretary of the Sunday School Board told the Southern Baptist Convention in session here today.

From its sale of merchandise to these schools during the past year the Board's gross receipts were in excess of $1,800,000 and from these receipts, more than $430,000 was put into general denominational service. This represented an increase of more than $50,000 over the appropriations in any previous year. During the past ten years the Board has put more than $2,200,000 into the general denominational work, Dr. Van Ness said.

The report points out that 1,476 churches were aided in planning new structures by the Architectural department of the Board, while the Educational department issued a total of 103,145 teacher training awards, of which 31,262 were normal course diplomas.

Six hundred and eighty-six Baptist Sunday school of the South have attained the high mark of efficiency represented by the Board's standard of excellence. Texas leads the several states in the number of standard schools with 137, while other states with high records in this connection include North Carolina with 115, Louisiana with 97, Kentucky with 82, South Carolina 48, Georgia 34, Missouri and Virginia 25 each and Mississippi 24.

Other interesting figures in the statistical section of the board's reports show that Southern Baptists have 26,003 local congregations, 18,564 ordained ministers, 3,708,253 church members, 19,774 B. Y. P. U.'s, with 498,426 members; 20,961 Woman's Missionary Union organizations with the last year reported total contributions in the sum of $4,149,363.59; 21,660 houses of worship, 3,254 pastor's homes; local church property valued at $184,119,387; contributions for the year to benevolences $8,222,537.82, and to all other purposes $40,106,852.31.

Total baptisms for the year reported by the church totalled 198,544.

DOROTHY MANNERS

JULIA LANG

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., May 6. (AP) —There are so many beautiful women in Hollywood that some make a living telling the world how beautiful the others are.

Dorothy Manners, who writes for the fan magazines, formerly played leads with Herbert Rawlinson. Virginia Bradford, on the other hand, is apparently through with writing about the screen folk of Hollywood for her home-town paper in Tennessee.

She now plays ingenue leads.

Jacqueline Logan is better known as a screen actress than a writer, but she formerly worked on a Colorado newspaper and she still writes motion picture reviews under an assumed name.

Dorothy Spensley is another fan magazine writer and Julie Lang writes studio publicity.

Many Can Watch Cal Go To Work

(By The Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, May 6.—Dupont Circle, since President Coolidge went to live there, means more than just one of the National Capital's many parks.

Some activities of official life are now a good deal more "public" than at the comparatively sequestered White House on Pennsylvania avenue which is being repaired.

The business of sending a President off to work, for instance, has become a matter of interest to hundreds who are detained at the Circle every morning at nine o'clock while traffic streaming into the Circle from ten directions is halted to permit the executive limousine to emerge and slide on its way to the White House offices.

The temporary White House stands out prominently on this busy thoroughfare. If it is a fine morning as he steps out of the grilled doorway, Mr. Coolidge may pause to catch the scent of early magnolias. Otherwise he is likely to step quickly into his automobile, stooping slightly so the broad black fedora which he usually wears to work misses the low door.

But it is especially in the afternoon that Dupont Circle become popular. Dozens of mothers and nursemaids bring out the youngsters for an airing, ruminating that perhaps a President's park is a choice place for the children and at the same time keeping in mind all the diplomats and other representatives of state that might be glimpsed.

Besides, there is Mrs. Coolidge. She leaves the temporary White House on foot frequently, and the style of her hats, gowns and shoes is an item of considerable interest.

Occasionally the Coolidges' two handsome white colts are taken into the circle for exercise, and the youngsters deem it a great occasion if the cautious negro attendant permits them to pat the dogs' fleecy white heads.

Austrian President Has Pacifist Mother

VIENNA—Marianne Hainisch, mother of the president of Austria, who recently celebrated her eighty-eighth anniversary in perfect physical and mental vigor, has at all times avowed herself an ardent pacifist, even during the tumultuous years of the world war.

Frau Hainisch has always been a staunch liberal and an indefatigable charity worker. She keeps up a correspondence with women in other countries who are active in the women's rights movements.

Self-Incorporated; Will Finance Career

COLUMBUS, O.—To finance a concert career, Faye Ferguson, a pianist of Ironton, has incorporated herself under the laws of Ohio. She lacked funds to finish her musical training, so she became Faye Ferguson, Inc., and sold stock to her friends.

A board of directors will govern and declare dividends on her. She has appeared already in New York and Philadelphia as a soloist with the Cincinnati Symphony orchestra and, although only 20, has given 300 concerts.

Hurlers' Mainstay Is Son of Star

PHILADELPHIA—G. Foster Sanford, Jr., son of the former Yale football star, Rutgers' coach and exponent of the multiple kick, is the mainstay of the University of Pennsylvania hurling corps for this season.

Six feet three inches tall, Sanford has the ideal build for a pitcher. Last season he won six and lost one, making the best record of all pitchers on the team. Sanford is also a tackle on the football team.

Princess Maud Is Poultry Farmer

STONEHAVEN, Scotland—Lady Maude Carnegie, niece of the King, has had remarkable success with the poultry farm she started at Elsieck, Kincardineshire, while her husband is interested in the dairy business.

Princess Maude, daughter of the Princess Royal and the late Duke of Fife, is fond of out door living and prefers the hobby of raising chickens to the social whirl of London, where she and her husband are always in great demand.

Lord Carnegie, son of the tenth Earl of Southesk, devotes one of his farms to a herd of Ayreshires. The most improved hygienic methods of milking are in force at the Elsieck dairy farm, and produce is shipped as far as Aberdeen and some other Scottish cities, while Princess Maude sends some of her eggs as far as London.

SEEN About New York

NEW YORK—Wearing a resplendent, gold-braided uniform outside of a motion picture theatre is less of a sinecure than it sounds.

The work of the doormen outside of Broadway picture palaces appears prosaic under the surface. After reporting for duty a functionary of the portals donned his regalia and stepped briskly to a post in front of the box office.

A woman dropped her ticket, and he gave chase when a frisky wind carried it away. Two men in a hilarious mood were steered away from the ticket window. The prospective customers had to be kept in an orderly line. These and other duties seemed to be endless.

Photographers, too, are beauty doctors. A girl insisted that a dimple show on her picture where there was none.

A remodeled house in Greenwich Village has a quaint old-world entrance with a stone walk leading into a tiny inner garden. The number plate above the door is a copper silhouette of a monk peacefully reading a book. Paradoxically, anyone walking inside hears the strains of two radios with different stations calling, one victrola repeating Caruso, and several telephone conversations reverberating in the open court.

A landlord has fixed a ghastly blue light in the entrance lobby of his house. When he received a complaint that the glow was not becoming to the women, making them look like cadaverous specimens, he gave his reasons.

He didn't want to deprive his own tenants of pleasant atmosphere, but since his was the only lobby on a congested street he feared the neighbors would linger too long, saying their farewells at night, and so he chose the best weapon to chase them.

His own tenants, he added, could go into the garden or into their apartments to say good night.

FEATURES FROM OTHER LANDS

English Princes Are Dance Honors Rivals

LONDON—(AP)—The Prince of Wales and his younger brother, Prince George, vie with one another for the honor of being the best dancers in the Royal family. The Duke of York only dances fairly well and admits it, but he holds the palm so far as the tennis court is concerned, as none of his brothers have been able to fathom his left handed deliveries. Prince Henry, the third son of the King, who has just celebrated his twenty-seventh birthday, is easily the best cricketer of the family. Prince Henry too, is fond of hunting and often rides with the Prince of Wales, but frankly confesses that the heir to the throne is a much better rider than he.

"I fall, or am thrown, nearly as much as Edward," the Prince said to some of his friends after a recent hunt, "but the public doesn't hear of it."

Master of King's Horse Abolished

LONDON—(AP)—The ancient office of the King's Master of the Horse is to be abolished in the interest of economy.

The office at present is held by the Earl of Granard, who married Miss Beatrice Mills, daughter of the late Ogden Mills, of New York, in 1909. Reports in Court circles have it that the Earl will be the last holder of this title.

Since the war economics have been effected at Court to the extent of more than 20,000 pounds annually, without any loss of efficiency. The King makes no secret of the fact that he is entirely in accord with persons who have been urging strict economy.

The Master of the Horse is the third ranking dignitary of the Sovereign's household, all questions of the King's horses and hounds as well as the stables and coaches being under his jurisdiction.

Birkenhead's Income Discussed by Press

LONDON—(AP)—Lord Birkenhead and other members of the government have been under fire for some time because they have engaged in journalism while in office. In a recent speech Lord Birkenhead he took to journalism to supplement "flagging resources."

This statement was taken up by a writer in the Star who computes that during the last twelve years Lord Birkenhead, as solicitor general, Lord Chancellor and Secretary of India, has received "something like 130,000 pounds" from the government. That is nearly $650,000, or more than $50,000 a year.

The writer in the Star remarks that this does not take into account Lord Birkenhead's earnings through private legal practice, which are supposed to be enormous.

High State Jobs Held by Scots

LONDON—(AP)—One of the standing jokes of England is the great number of Scots always found occupying high positions in state, church and industrial life. Scotsmen never turn back—to Scotland, say the English.

"When I held a certain office in England not so long ago," said Ramsay MacDonald recently at a dinner of the Scot's Labor Club in London, "we Scotsmen in England had scooped the pool. The two archbishops, the lord chancellor and the prime minister all were Scotsmen. We had everything worth having in Church and State."

Windsor Castle Monuments Restored

LONDON—(AP)—Heraldic stone beasts that adorn the pinnacles of St. George's Chapel at Windsor castle have been restored but a slight mistake on the part of the renovators has not escaped the eagle eye of a certain number of parliament.

He raised the question in the House of Commons as to why a certain heraldic beast is now represented with its horns facing the same way, whereas the correct design is for one horn to point forward and one backwards.

These stone beasts, lions, bulls, and fabulous monsters, were first set up in Tudor times to unite of houses of York and Lancaster the white rose and the red.

Dodge Brothers New Gear Shift Sturdy and Compact

Out standing among the changes recently announced in Dodge Brothers entire line of passenger cars is the adoption of a sturdier, more compact transmission with the gears arranged for standard shift. The new gearset entered production at the same time as the new Dodge Brothers motor, which has been featured in the company's recent newspaper, magazine and posterboard advertising and which has been the subject of such widespread comment throughout the automobile industry.

The aim of the designer was to provide a gearset so sturdy that although transmitting the increased power developed by the new engine it would sustain the good reputation earned by the former transmission for long life and freedom from wear. Another feature of the new transmission is ease and quietness of shifting. This reduces the amount of effort required to operate the car under modern traffic conditions and thus increases the pleasure of driving.

Shipbuilding Very Poor Since War Removed Demand

GENEVA, May 6.—Ship building occupies a considerable place in the international economic conference, which began its labors at Geneva today.

The League of Nations will submit a memorandum to the conference showing that the pre-war shipbuilding capacity was adequate for its prospective needs, but that to replace the tonnage of merchant shipping lost during the great war, which amounted to 13 1-4 million tons, immense extension of shipyard capacity took place, and that in 1919 the total capacity of merchant ship building yards had risen 10 million tons, against a pre-war capacity of about 5 million tons, the latter figure including 1 1-2 million tons for warships.

The report says that owing to the Washington naval treaty, warship construction is now almost negligible. The world's building capacity—excluding the United States—is about 6 million tons. The world tonnage in 1925 was 64 1-2 million tons, against 47 million tons in 1913, while the real world demand is probably not more than 55 million tons. For some years to come the maximum production figure is likely to remain between 1 1-2 and 2 1-2 million tons.

The existing crisis in shipbuilding is attributed partly to a diminution in cargoes, and partly to the vast over-production during the years immediately following the war, which was accentuated by the building of merchant fleets on government account in or for the United States and Canada and Australia. The report expresses the opinion that the immediate future of the industry in each country is likely to depend not only on the rate of scrapping of old ships and on the

Cattle Rustlers Still Menace In Grazing Districts

(By The Associated Press.)
FORT WORTH, May 6.—The notion that the ancient warfare between cattle and sheep raisers and rustlers is a thing of the past and exists today only in works of certain well known magazine and novel writers is a mistaken one, officials of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' association, an association which is constantly battling the rustler, said here.

Only the fact that the cattlemen and sheep men have organized to fight the modern rustler prevents serious losses each year, they said. Foremost among these organizations is the association mentioned heretofore and the Sheep and Goat Raisers' association of Texas, headquarters of which is at Ozona, in the heart of Texas' sheep raising belt.

By the modern rustler is meant one whose method of work and motive for working a her differ from the old cattle and sheep thief who stole to get a start at ranching and used a pony and a branding iron to perpetuate his thievery. The modern rustler steals to realize quick money on sales to butchers, and he uses the modern motor truck by means of which he can cover perhaps a hundred miles between sundown and sun-up.

He is particularly adept at rustling sheep, thirty or forty of which can be loaded into one truck.

Sheep rustling, according to statements here, has developed principally in the last twelve years, having begun in serious proportions about twelve years ago when wolf-proof fence was introduced into West Texas. Whereas before this form of fence became so popular a herder was in charge of a flock of sheep for twenty-four hours a day, now the herds are without a guardian, and bed down where they may be when night overtakes them. The rustler has no sheep-herder to contend with when he drives up in his truck.

The cattle and sheep associations are fighting the rustler through its inspectors, men who are authorities on sheep brands, methods of thieves and means to combat them. Insistence on bills of sale for cattle delivery to butchers, as provided by law, has done much to control cattle and sheep thievery.

The main reason for keeping milk production records is to find out which cows are profitable and which are not. The inferior cows can then be disposed of and the better ones kept for production and breeding purposes.

Good-Will Tourists Carry Many Toys

(Special to The News.)
OKLAHOMA CITY, May 6.—The week of May 15-21 will be a bright day for the kiddies in 75 Texas and Oklahoma cities, for during this week the Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce Goodwill tourists will visit these cities to greet old friends, make new acquaintances and mingle with the people of these communities, distributing souvenirs to the little folks. They will arrive in Pampa May 16, at 8.40 a. m.

With 150 Oklahoma City business men on the trip, every child is assured a handsome collection of noise-making and fun-provoking remembrances handed out by the Goodwill tourists.

PIONEER CHURCHES

That oil boom towns are somewhat analogous to frontier conditions, and therefore challenge the church workers' attention was declared at the Forty-Fourth annual conference of Congregational churches in Dallas last Sunday.

There is considerable truth in the statement, although press reports of the meeting do not fully describe the viewpoint of the speakers. There is no doubt that boom conditions bring together a large number of "floaters" whose lives are little ordered to ordinary church life, and for whom special work is a laudable enterprise when properly managed.

But it should not be assumed by those not familiar with oil field conditions that there is no church life. The usual number of faithful church workers are to be found in any place where large numbers congregate, and often the churches, while small, have brilliant workers.

Like pioneering conditions, however, oil boom days bring unusual difficulties to the ministers, who deserve special assistance from their church boards. The churches will do well to make special efforts among the oil workers, in order to take to these people the services which they find difficult to provide for themselves. And it should be known to the world at large that the average, bonafide oil man is as fine a specimen of American as can be found anywhere. In this large class may be found some of the best educated men of the region, whether in engineering or in the arts and sciences. The oil man may have on khaki, and there may be oil on his hat, but very likely there is a sheepskin or diploma in his trunk.

Oil field people need the church, but they need an intelligent ministry—not a type which looks down upon them from spiritual heights and mistakes clothes for the heart and spirit.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer.

WASHINGTON. — The old army game of peacetime preparedness is saving innumerable refugees from death by drowning or exposure in the great Mississippi flood area.

The army has thrown in everything from steamboats and generals to tent pegs and mess cooks. Its donations of supplies run into the millions. Its officers in flood sections have constantly been reporting conditions and need for supplies to their commanding generals and the War Department.

Army engineers were the first into action as the waters rose to menacing proportions. All along the Mississippi the War Department has district engineers with tugs, steamers, barges and dredges. These craft were the first called upon for river transportation and for the vital work of rescuing refugees from levees and other points of danger. Army engineers are charged with supervision of levees and they know their stuff.

The inland Waterways Corporation is also on the job. It is directly under the War Department and General T. Q. Ashburn, operating 137 boats on the lower Mississippi.

The fourth and seventh corps areas have been denuded of tents, for which the Red Cross relied entirely on the army. Some 35,000 tents have been sent to refugee camps—enough to accommodate something like 200,000 persons.

For the first time since the war, tent factories are resuming production at the Philadelphia quartermaster's depot so that the army's own men and the summer training camp students may have shelter. The army has given its equipment gladly and never expects to see it again.

Along with the tents went proportionate supplies of planes, cots, stoves, blankets, raincoats, sandbags, vaccine and rolling kitchens.

The Philadelphia depot staff has been working night and day. The reserve and supply depots at Chicago, Columbus, Jeffersonville, St. Louis, New Orleans, San Antonio, Brooklyn and Boston have all been active.

Railroads are furnishing free special trains to carry the supplies. The first shipment of some 25 carloads of army equipment from Philadelphia was thus handled by the B. & O. and Pennsylvania railroads. Ordinary rates for army supplies would have amounted to about $500.

The corps areas most directly involved are the fourth and seventh, commanded respectively by Major Generals Malin Craig and Benjamin A. Poore. The fourth has headquarters in Atlanta and includes Louisiana, Mississippi and Tennessee. The seventh, with headquarters in Omaha, extends down the west bank of the Mississippi to the southern Arkansas border.

PRESS FORUM

SETTLEMENTS

Pampa News: It looks like there is going to be a settlement on the plains everywhere a big well comes in, unlike the olden times, when the pioneers established a town at the end of every good day's journey.

The Spanish priests began that system of settlement. When all this country was subject to Spain the missionary priests came, in the wake of the soldiers or with them, and established missions a day's journey apart. From Nacogdoches along "the road of the King," El Camino Real, they founded their tiny settlements across Texas, across Mexico, into California. The trail they made was later followed by armies, adventurers and immigrants. The system yet prevails in a measure. Our American pioneers who trekked across the plains of Northern Texas journeyed from water hole to water hole. Those were grim days, starward days, days of derring-do. Now come the oil wells, and settlements rise about them. Some of these hurry-up burges became towns, and some of the towns are metamorphosing into cities. It may be remarked, though, that oil is an impermanent asset. Agriculture stays. Those who are building on oil may reap a more sudden harvest, while those building on agriculture will reap a more durable one.

Wichita Falls was there before oil was, although oil gave it a forward urge as nothing else could have done. It is now a city, and will continue to grow, oil or no oil. It will grow because it has an agricultural back country, and because crops are more dependable for the long pull than oil derricks. Amarillo and Lubbock and some others, will go upward and onward not so much from their quick resources as from their slower assurances. Oil is fascinating. Grain and cattle and cotton are stayers, and it is the stayers that make a country. Let West Texas as well as East Texas, and the other two quarters, remember that the soil will be fruitful after the oil has departed.—State Press in Dallas News.

International C. of C. May Make Study Of Trade Barriers

(By The Associated Press.)

GENEVA, May 6.—Creation of a permanent organization to study and attempt to adjust international trade is recommended by the International Chamber of Commerce in a special report submitted to the international economic conference.

All countries of the world except Soviet Russia, Spain and Liberia will take part in the effort to study means of putting Europe and the world generally on its feet economically. Trade barriers are believed in some quarters to increase the difficulties of economic reconstruction in Europe.

To Study Conditions

The International Chamber of Commerce recommends the creation, under the auspices of the League of Nations, of an organization in which government representatives would have an opportunity of meeting regularly to study, in a permanent manner, the conditions and needs of international trade, with the understanding that they would have the right to draft treaties and arbitrate disputes in the field of international commerce.

The chamber expresses the opinion that some of the fundamental difficulties encountered by trade and industry lie in the continued instability of important currencies, and hopes that stabilization will take place as soon as possible in all countries. It expressed the sentiment that it is to the interest of countries with stable currencies to help countries having depreciated currencies and support their efforts to insure their monetary reconstruction.

Tariffs are Detrimental

On the particular subject of trade barriers the chamber considers that the system of excessive tariffs can only be detrimental to the world restoration and that certain questions not directly connected with the customs tariffs should not be neglected as throwing light upon the influence of customs duties on national economy and on international relations.

International industrial ententes, the chamber believes, possess great advantages for the participating industries, because they tend to eliminate ruinous competition. They also are regarded as an advantage for the community, provided they respect the interests of labor, as well as the interests of the consumers and of trade. The report recommends therefore that national laws should be so made or so amended as to permit the conclusion of such ententes.

Furthermore, the chamber recommends the prompt conclusion of a general convention for the abolition of import and export prohibitions and restrictions on the basis of the preliminary draft already prepared by the League's economic committee, and recommends a policy by which free movement of raw material may be assured throughout the world.

Need Standard Equipment

As to transportation, the chamber commends the establishment of uniform goods classification and the standardization of railway material, including, particularly, passenger coaches.

As to sea transport, the chamber expresses its regret that in certain countries there is still flag discriminations, i. e., inequality of treatment between national and foreign merchant ships. It also would welcome the rapid disposal of the tonnage of state merchant-ships, the abolition of subsidies and the establishment of an international plan for the abolition of double taxation, which is still frequent in the maritime transport industry.

KEELER DESCRIBES CYRIL'S ODD STANCE

Golf Balls Recall Tolley's Terrific Drives

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a series of features by O. B. Keeler, internationally known golf writer, whose articles will appear regularly twice a week in the sport pages of The Pampa Daily News. As the series progresses, Mr. Keeler, who is personally acquainted with all the leading players, will discuss current subjects and events and take you behind the scenes in the world of golf, revealing intimate, interesting incidents relating to great golfers, many of which have never been told before.)

BY O. B. KEELER
ATLANTA, May 6.—Each Spring, along with the poetic thoughts of love, we find an earnest and influential group of golfing authorities considering a new and less powerful golf ball as standard to supplant the present 1.62, which means the ball must be not smaller than 1.62 inches in diameter nor heavier than 1.62 ounces.

The idea is that this ball goes too far. Not many duffers will agree. Their own standard fault is standing too near the ball after hitting it.

How far is a drive that is too far?
In 30 years of golf, I have seen one really extravagant orgy of slugging—by Cyril James Hastings Tolley, former amateur champion of Britain. Cyril visited Atlanta three years ago and played three matches with his friend Bobby Jones. The matches were informal and they amused themselves by slugging.

Cyril got most of the amusement. He was outitting Bobby, who is no short driver, 30 to 40 and 50 yards. It appeared somewhat unreal. With his odd, pigeon-toed stance, Cyril was slugging so enthusiastically that his great bulk (he weighs about 210) was fairly spinning at the finish and he was facing at right angles to the line of play.

At Druid Hills, he set records likely to endure. From the sixth tee his drive carried 310 yards, crossing a water-ditch that is a hazard for second shots. At the twelfth, facing a light breeze, he touched off a drive which had to carry 280 yards to cross a stream.

It did. To show there was nothing accidental about it, he drove three more balls across the stream. These ranges are not estimated and there was no roll to include in the huge wallows.

At the sixteenth, his drive, with a carry and roll of 350 yards, was just off the green, and he duplicated that range next day at Brook-haven, the shot being more severe as it had to carry an angle of forest to take the direct line to the thirteenth green.

No one else had the temerity to try that shot. Tolley cut off enough of the angle on a 400-yard dogleg hole to send the ball to the edge of the green, pin-high.

I had watched Abe Mitchell and Charlie Hall and Ted Ray and all other great rangers of golf, but I never had seen anything like such consistently tremendous wallowing. I asked Cyril if he ever had hit them so hard before. Cyril is a most modest Englishman. He reflected.

"Well," he said finally. "I've never hit at them as hard before." And he told me an apparently inconsiderable factor which enabled him to hit with all his gigantic power and still retain something of control. It was the curious pigeon-toed position of the left foot in the address.

That position, said Cyril, tended to "lock" the left hip and prevent it from turning too soon during the downward stroke. That was three years ago. You probably read a good deal since concerning "hitting against the left leg." That was the idea in that quaint pigeon-toed stance of Cyril James Hastings Tolley.

Borger Nine To Play Here Sunday Has Many Stars

City Commissioner Pace, manager of the Borger baseball team, will bring his nine to Pampa to do battle with the Grays. Advance information is that Borger has a fast, well-balanced ball team composed of former Oklahoma State leaguers and Southwestern league players.

Manager Ed Gober has his boys out every day for a stiff workout and they are all set for the game Sunday afternoon. Gober will start Lefty Martin in the box and "Os" Eckhardt will be in right field. This will be Eckhardt's first game on the local diamond.

Among those who will be on the Borger nine are: Munns, Nail, Underwood, Robinson, Owens, Hinds, Fuller, Amos, Newton, Kelly, Ruth, Stone and Flieger.

Texans Smothered Under Deluge Of Hits by Buffaloes

OMAHA, May 6.—A rampaging crew got 19 hits and 18 runs here yesterday at the expense of the new Amarillo club, for whom four pitchers were not enough.

Bob Clarke, Pampa acquisition, was nervous on his first time in the box, and his wildness caused him to be removed in favor of other would be rescuers.

Amarillo got 12 hits but the lead of 17 runs was far too great to be overcome.

Zup's New Gridders Eager, But Slow

URBANA, Ill.—"Heavy and slow, but willing," says Bob Zuppke, head football coach of the University of Illinois of his 1927 squad.

Spring practice for the Illini ended in April. The 12 best recruits for next autumn's team are all natives of Illinois.

"With such stars as 'Red' Grange and 'Frosty' in the spotlight of the past few seasons, Illinois has done its share of spectacular work on the gridiron, but the team hasn't been able to reach the Western Conference since 1923.

SPORT TALK

Sunday afternoon the Borger nine will be here to show the Pampa fans and the Grays that they have a baseball team.

Borger was to have the opening game with the Texans but it so happened that Pampa played that game. The Sunday visitors are coming to show their ability to get revenge on the Grays.

Lefty Martin is all primed for the coming tilt and will show the fans that Bob Clarke was not the only winning pitcher on the local roster. Lefty pitched some nice baseball while with the Pirates.

It is believed in Amarillo baseball circles that Clarke will pitch his first game Monday when the Texans will return from their road trip.

A local baseball fan says he is going to stand behind the plate Sunday afternoon and when Shaw comes to bat yell "three Aces." That seems to be "Hooks" batting signal as he hit a long one after the same words last game.

Cahill's Match Is Postponed One Week

The boxing bout scheduled for Wednesday night in Borger was postponed until next week.

"Rusty" Cahill, local mitt artist and ball player, was to don the gloves with a Tulsa boy. The delay will give the local man another week's training. The match will go through next Wednesday, according to George Hellman, promoter.

Irish Boxing Champ Becomes Professional

CORK, Ireland—Private Mossy Doyle, the Irish lightweight amateur boxing champion, has relinquished his amateur standing and is leaving for the United States.

In 1924 Doyle won the Irish and Army featherweight titles at the Tail-team Games, retaining them in 1925, and scoring in addition victories over British Army, German and Danish boxers.

Our big Bob Clarke got into a ball game for a few minutes, but succeeded in getting a two bagger on his one trip to the plate.

"FLESH AND THE DEVIL"
(At the Crescent)
SUNDAY AND MONDAY

"What would a European picture be like with American direction and the quaintness of old world settings and technique?"

How often critics and the public have asked this question.

And now this has come to pass. At the Crescent theatre there is a European picture; every foot of it transports one back across the Atlantic...

JOHN GILBERT
GRETA GARBO "FLESH AND THE DEVIL"

...but directed by an American—and with an American star.

"Flesh and the Devil" is the first German picture made in America. It has all the settings of Europe; all the technique of the old world; it is a drama from one of Europe's mightiest dramatists; and still it was directed by Clarence Brown, American, at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, in America—and with John Gilbert, American hero of "The Big Parade," in the leading role.

John Gilbert and Greta Garbo, the brilliant Swedish screen star, play hero and heroine, with Lars Hanson, "The Barrymore of Sweden," in a powerful role that makes his first appearance in this country since "The Scarlet Letter" an auspicious one.

Chevrolet Head Sees Prosperity For The Nation

LOS ANGELES, May 6.—Marked evidence of further prosperity that seems to be in store for the country generally throughout the current year was pointed out by R. H. Grant, vice-president and general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor company, who has just concluded a series of 21 nationwide sales meetings that brought him into close touch with business conditions from coast to coast. During the course of the meetings, which consumed three months, Mr. Grant addressed more than 15,000 people and enjoyed an excellent opportunity to survey trade conditions at first hand.

"Business conditions over the United States, as we saw them in the first three months of the year, more than justified the optimistic forecasts made last December," Mr. Grant declared. "Trade activity, and soundness in the early months have demonstrated the accuracy of the opinion that the year should be an excellent one for American business."

R. G. Hughes, secretary of the White Deer Chamber of Commerce, was a business visitor here today.

Miss Pearl Sarguy of Oklahoma City has moved to Pampa to make her home.

Evangelist Outlines Major Doctrines Of Scriptural Church

"The Church and Its Final Hope" was the subject of Evangelist Truehite last night. "The two great keys for the unlocking of the Scriptures are a proper conception of the doctrine of the Holy Spirit and of the return of our Lord, and if a man is right on this he is right on all Scriptures; there are three great comings foretold in the Scriptures;" the evangelist said, "these are: 1. The coming of Christ to atone for sin; 2. the coming of the Holy Spirit; 3; the return of our Lord."

After naming these points he launched into the subject of the pre-eminence of our Lord's return, and made a strong appeal to the church urging them to "watch and pray for we know neither the day nor the hour when the Son of man cometh."

At the close of the service the first invitation was given and two young men surrendered to the Lord and came into the membership of the church.

Almost every seat on the big choir platform was taken. The choir with the boosters are furnishing some splendid music. Beside his solo, "My Wonderful Dream," Mr. Allen led the congregational singing in a masterful way.

Pampa is beginning to feel the effects of the revival. Come and lend your influence to make a "better Pampa."—Reporter.

Moody Would Give Stability To Positions Thru Civil Service

(By The Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Texas, May 6.—A civil service system of choosing state employees now appointed and dismissed at the pleasure of changing political regimes without strict regard for qualifications will be one of the main issues of the special session of the Legislature called for May 9.

Demanding by the Democratic state convention and publicly endorsed by Governor Dan Moody, civil service failed to get action in the Fortieth Legislature's regular session. A bill providing an examination system was one of the many legislative casualties of a crowded session, but Governor Moody feels that it ought to be one of the chief concerns of the special session.

The theory behind the bill to be introduced is that efficient employees acquainted with the working of state affairs will not be brushed out of jobs and unqualified successors appointed merely to satisfy the exigencies of a political spoils system.

On the other hand, all employees and prospective employees at the change of an administration will stand or fall by their merits as shown by examination on pertinent subjects.

Hundreds of employees would be affected. Jobs with the state would carry an added sense of security to their "holders", after once qualifying by examination. Minor clerks with no political pull might retain a job against application of some favored protege of a legislator or high official, if appointment rested on qualifications alone, the civil service supporters point out.

CHRURCHES

"Gossip, slander and tattling" will be the subject Sunday evening at 8 o'clock at the First Christian church.

This is a companion sermon to the one on "Cursing, cussing and swearing," delivered two weeks ago.

Whether you heard that one or not, you will want to hear the subject Sunday evening. Come and bring a friend with you, and also to the Sunday morning service at 11 o'clock.

Bible school begins at 10 o'clock, and has classes for all ages of the family. The men's class meets in the Crescent theatre.

The services of this church are largely attended. A fine spirit of fellowship and welcome prevails.

JAMES TODD JR., Minister.

FORMER PASTOR TO GIVE MOTHER'S DAY SERMON

A special Mother's Day sermon will be delivered at the Methodist church Sunday morning by the Rev. B. J. Osborn, former pastor.

Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

Presbyterian Church

At the Rex theatre at 11 a. m. Sunday the Presbyterian worship will be devoted to the memory and honor of "Mother."

The program will consist of readings and musical numbers appropriate to the occasion.

Sunday school will be held at 10 a. m. We give you a hearty invitation to worship with us.

W. M. BAKER, minister in charge

Social Postponed

On account of the revival meeting now in progress at the Baptist church the social announced for the Methodist church for tonight (Friday) has been postponed.

Bowers Test Is Awaiting Storage For Big Test

Storage is being rushed to completion for Blackwell and McGee's No. 1 Bowers in section 92, block B-2, south of Pampa.

Oil is rising to 800 feet in the hole under some gas pressure, and indications are that the well will flow when cleaned out.

In the few hours it was on the swab, production reached the high figure of 45 barrels in a single hour. It is 14,000 feet to the nearest producer.

San Antonio Mayor Declares Discharge of Teacher "Outrage"

(By The Associated Press.)
SAN ANTONIO, May 6.—A mass meeting by citizens of San Antonio will be held Friday night to protest removal of Miss Ora Johnson, principal of Breckenridge high school, who has been the center of controversy among school board members, students and citizens.

A telegram from Mayor Tobin in California termed the removal of Miss Johnson an "outrage."

Kansas Co-Eds Are Good "Marksmen"

LAWRENCE, Kan.—The Women's Rifle Team at the University of Kansas won 11 out of 13 matches this season.

One member, Miss Nellie Marie Davis of Noel, Mo., made an average score of 99.8, which is considered here to be a national record.

All the matches were by telegraph or the exchange or targets, but arrangements are being made for a shoulder-to-shoulder match with the University of Missouri next fall.

The Kansas team won from the University of Nebraska (two mat-

To Get Pensions On Two Husbands

AUSTIN, May 6. (AP)—A Texas widow, whose first husband was killed fighting for the Confederacy and whose second died under the Union banner, is to be allowed both federal and Confederate pensions, Director Robinson of the comptroller's pension department says.

Assistant Attorney General Paul D. Page Jr., in a letter to Robinson interpreted a law passed by the 40th legislature making the widow eligible to both pensions, although she previously had been denied one from the Confederate fund because her last husband was a Yankee.

Robinson will start paying her the stipulated sum immediately and also will reinstate on the Confederate list the names of several "rebels," previously barred from Southern aid because of their service with the national army in Indian wars.

(Carnegie Institute, Michigan State, Oklahoma A. & M., Gettysburg College (Pennsylvania) and the Universities of Cincinnati, Idaho, Missouri, South Dakota and Vermont.

The team lost to the Universities of Washington (499 to 498) and Maryland (500 to 497).

Seen About NEW YORK

NEW YORK.—Fifth avenue and Broadway at Times Square are only two blocks apart, yet a sharp difference is noticeable in the dress of women pedestrians along the two thoroughfares.

As expected, the Broadway women have a theatrical manner. They are distinguishable from those along Fifth avenue, the street of fashion, not so much in the essential details of their attire as in oddities of cut and novelties of accessories.

Footwear was one example during the winter. Boots of all descriptions were seen in the theatrical street, but rarely did they traverse the short distance to the avenue. There seem to be Fifth avenue and Broadway types of women with actresses and chorus girls making up only a portion of the latter.

Many actresses wear unobtrusive street apparel. But the allure of the stage apparently takes expression for some of the laywomen in the form of clothes patterned after those seen behind the footlights.

Luxury prevails in the pushcart section of downtown Manhattan. Silk and near-silk stockings and underthings, and imitation pearl beads are prominently displayed by the sidewalk vendors.

New York's public forums comprise three distinct strata. At the "top," socially speaking, are the lecture platforms with tickets listed on the scalpers' boards downtown when a foreign-tie-lion appears; next are the series of People's Institute courses, held usually in the great public school buildings and, finally, the socio-political clubs in the congested districts. These invariably bear the name of the district leader, who in each instance wields autocratic power over its functions and the individual members.
