DRY ISSUE IS AT BAD TIME FOR AL SMITH

Supporter's Statement Is Seized Upon by Opposition FOR AMENDING VOLSTEAD LAW Friends of Governor Are Apprehensive, but Confident

HOUSTON, June 22.—(P)—The prohibition question has been thrown squarely into the Democratic National convention here even before the opening of the headquarters of Alfred E. Smith. It has provoked an endless round of discussion as to the effect it may have upon the convention's deliberations and the New York governor's candidacy itself.

Although all along it has been a smouldering issue, brought at times to a flame, a series of developments both here and in New York state has to center attention on the question at a time when the Smith men particularly were hoping to avoid any open rift on the subject.

It was one of Smith's foremost supporters, Norman E. Mack, national committeeman from New York, who inadvertently opened up anew the prohibition discussion. Less than a week in advance of the gathering of the national Democracy, he issued a statement in which he declared that Governor Smith was opposed to prohibition and stood for temperance.

This was accepted in some quarters as an expression of the governor's own views and, while he denied this, explaining that he voiced only his own opinion, the discussions had gathered headway with full prospect that they would increase in intensity as convention time approached.

Governor Opens Up
The governor himself got into the controversy during the day, declaring in New York city in response to a question that his belief that there should be amendment of the present prohibition provisions had not changed. This was seized upon by the drys, who already are arriving here in force to demand an ultra-dry plank in the party platform and to oppose the nomination of any wet candidate.

While this turn of pre-convention events appeared to give some concern to the Smith supporters, they still expressed full confidence that their favorite would be nominated early in the balloting. In contrast with their confidence, Smith opponents clung to the hope they could prevent his nomination.

To win it will be necessary for Smith to muster 733 1-3 of the 1,100 convention votes. The New York executive's managers are assuring incoming supporters that he already has more than 600 votes definitely lined up and that the necessary remainder will be obtained early in the balloting, which is expected to begin next Thursday, two days after the convention meets.

The driving force of the Smith opposition is expected to be furnished with the arrival here tonight of Senator James A. Reed of Missouri. He is coming to press his own candidacy for the Democratic nomination and has served notice that he intends to fight to the finish.

One of the foremost questions going the rounds of hotel lobbies and other places where leaders gather is where the favorite son votes in the convention will go when the break comes in the balloting. The Smith men candidly concede that they have little chance of getting some of this strength, but they are looking with considerable confidence on at least part of the delegations from such favorite son states as Ohio, Indiana, Nebraska, and Kansas. As they see it, if they can pick up a batch of votes from those states nomination of their favorite will be assured.

The idea of those opposing Smith is not so much to form a coalition as to hold out a block of votes sufficient to prevent his attaining a two-thirds majority. If they are successful in doing this they feel that the convention eventually and on a comparatively early ballot will begin to turn to some other candidate.

Another candidate besides Reed will reach Houston today. He is Senator George of Georgia, who has the endorsement of his state organization and is expected to draw some strength from Florida, Alabama, and perhaps South Carolina and some other of the southern states. George will open headquarters at the Rice hotel, where Smith, Reed, and Cordell Hull of Tennessee, already have their main convention offices.

Some Pampa Youngster Ought to Feel Lucky--He Threw Wire at High Line

Luck is exactly what someone, believed to have been a boy, had this week when he threw a long wire, tipped by an insulator, across a Southwestern Public Service company high tension line.

Lucky for him, he turned the wire loose before the contact was made, or he would have received 6,000 volts. And had he thrown higher and formed a contact between the 6,000-volt and 4,400-volt lines, it is likely that the ground would have been so charged that he would have "froze" where he stood. The heavy line was melted as it were, causing a break in the service for a short while in one district. Manager Bert Curry of the local office today declared that unless persons warn their children against in any way touching the high lines there are apt to be fatal accidents. Throwing of wires across the high tension lines has been reported several times recently. Kite strings also may be dangerous if damp. Moreover, use of small wire as kite string is highly dangerous, unless the experimenter has the skill of a Franklin.

Several remarkable instances of withstanding high voltages have been reported lately in this territory, but death is the only result that contact with high power lines may be expected to produce.

Pampa Float Is Praised at Meeting By Big Crowds

Pampa's float, depicting local wheat and oil assets principally, won honorable mention and received much publicity at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention. This was in spite of the fact that the firm contracting for delivery of the float failed to arrive at the designated place in the parade and the driver had to fall in further down the line.

The firm's driver parked on another street, and when the float got under way it was occupied by Miss Wanda Anderson and Miss Pauline McKeane, who found the truck.

Among the most interesting of the many activities of the meeting was the pageant given at the Texas Christian university stadium Monday evening. Miss Bonnie Jo Pool, Pampa princess, marched upon the raised platform with the other West Texas representatives, through a beautifully lighted pathway. When she reached the platform the word "Pampa" appeared emblazoned in fireworks to match her beautiful gown.

The West Texas Queen was crowned by President R. W. Haynie on this occasion.

W. T. C. C. to Help Moving of Wheat on North Plains

FORT WORTH, June 22.—(P)—Working on a plan to aid wheat growers of the upper plains district to move their wheat this spring, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce is sending J. E. Briggs, its field representative in the Amarillo district, on a tour, starting today, of the wheat section.

Delegates from the plains country in Fort Worth for the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention this week predicted an unusually good crop. They explained weather conditions have been almost ideal for wheat this spring.

Biggest Oil Suit Now Near End

AUSTIN, June 22.—(P)—The biggest oil land suit in Texas history, that of the state for more than 500 producing acres in Hutchinson county, moved closer to the jury today.

Arguments were to begin district court here. Both sides completed introduction of testimony late yesterday. Assistant Attorney General C. W. Truhart, who contends the tract should revert to the state on the theory that it is vacant of title, submitted largely technical testimony as did the sixty odd defendants, corporations and individuals. The judgment will involve millions.

The San Antonio irrigation project, stated Mr. Reid, is developing a semi-arid territory near San Antonio, and that the irrigated land in this territory is fast proving valuable from the standpoint of fruit raising.

Reid stated that 180 prospects, representing 13 states, made the trip.

FLYING BOATS READY TO TRY NOBILE RESCUE

Norwegian Aviators Fail to Sight Men But Are Seen

ATTENTION NOW IS ON AMUNDSEN Not Single Clue Is Reported on Missing Plane

ROME, June 22.—(P)—Majors Maddalena and Penzo, Italian aviators, made a reconnaissance over the Noble party off Northeast Land today, refound the six stranded men and dropped additional supplies for them.

(Copyright, 1928, by the Associated Press.)

KINGS BAY, Spitzbergen, June 22.—(P)—While a heavy fog which had settled upon Spitzbergen this morning was slowly lifting during the day, the Italian fliers at Kings Bay were planning to seize the first opportunity to take off in two flying boats to bring further aid to General Nobile and to seek for the missing expedition of Roald Amundsen.

Now that more than 600 pounds of provisions and supplies have been dropped to General Nobile and his five stranded companions near Foyne Island, off North East Land thus insuring their safety for the present, the attention of the rescue expeditions here has been turned sharply toward the missing Amundsen group.

The radio operator of the Nobile base ship, Citta di Milano, has been busy trying to find some trace of the huge French plane in which Amundsen and five companions took off from Norway Monday night, but thus far the search has been fruitless.

The Citta di Milano has communicated with the icebreaker Malignin which is near South Cape in a rough sea slowly making her way northward in an effort to break through to Nobile. Neither of these ships however, had anything to report concerning Amundsen.

The Malignin is laying her course for Cape Leigh Smith and it is hoped will be able to reach the stranded Nobile group.

Lieutenant Luetzow Holm and Captain Riiser-Larsen, the Norwegian fliers who have made numerous air reconnaissances over the Nobile party again flew to the vicinity, but were however, wireless that they had been unable to see the men. The party, sighted the pilots.

Nash Opening Is Interesting to Many

A program of readings, vocal selections, and orchestra music was given beginning at 7 o'clock.

High and Low Are Visited Today By Amelia Earhart

LONDON, June 22.—(P)—Miss Amelia Earhart, who halted her social work temporarily to fly the Atlantic, returned to it this morning. Visiting Toynebee hall, one of the largest settlement houses in London, she exclaimed: "There is no place like home."

After enjoying London society for a few days the Boston girl went to the other extreme and spent several hours among the lowliest in the city.

Miss Earhart went to the slums in the east end of London after laying a wreath on the cenotaph in memory of Great Britain's warrior dead, Wilmer Stultz and Louis Gordon, who flew with her in the Friendship, assisted her in placing the wreath, which was inscribed with the names of the fliers.

At Toynebee Hall, Miss Earhart was received by hundreds of wildly cheering youngsters, many of them waving American flags.

Boy Scouts and girl Scouts formed a long row of honor down which Miss Earhart walked to the main door of the building.

From Toynebee Hall the Earhart party went to the statue of Nurse Edith Cavell near Lechester Square, where the American girl placed a wreath. This was the tribute of one nurse to another since Miss Earhart was a nurse in a Toronto hospital during the war.

This afternoon Miss Earhart and Mrs. Frederick Guest, sponsor of the flight, went to Ascot for luncheon and the races.

Meanwhile Stultz and Gordon were resting today.

CRITICISM OF THE ATTITUDE of most business men, which frankly is to make money, is frequently heard from those not so closely allied to sales and profit margins.

It happens that the service idea in American business has become so tangible as to be almost synonymous with good will. Service is another way of saying that one is ready and anxious to help another save; i. e., to make money by keeping it.

Big profits are reported in many phases of the commercial activity, yet when analyzed they do not appear exorbitant. Take care of taxes, benevolence, wear, replacement, modernization, and new equipment, together with better salaries, compensation insurance, and other expenses, and the profits are apt to exist chiefly on paper in many instances.

Profits there must be. Independence, prosperity, service—these are primary requirements for success. Profits make them possible. Exorbitant profits are being made, it is true, and often in impersonalized fashion guided by persons who profit less than the stockholders.

For World Peace

From the American viewpoint, the test of success of a civic club is whether the club turns back into the community in which it exists the maximum of community service and responsibility.

From a European standpoint, civic clubs have a different aspect on their mission. "The advancement of international peace is the hope of European Rotarians," said Dr. Edouard Willems of Brussels, Belgium, at the Rotary International convention just closed.

Civic clubs can and are spreading the gospel of tolerance for the peoples of other nations. The ultimate effect of this work in Europe can easily be imagined when it is remembered that national ambitions and economic conditions there have fostered racial and territorial hatreds for centuries. The capacity for sustained club fellowship, however, does not exist in many of the countries which need it most.

Jugoslavia, which hitherto has prohibited foreign ownership of property along the border, is being pressed hard by Mussolini to permit Italians to get titles to land within 25 miles of the border.

The spirit of brotherhood as advanced by the international civic clubs will not permeate the Balkans for many years, but it is finding a ready reception in a score of other countries.

Make Farming a Business

(Sherman Democrat)

The men who have succeeded in farming have done so because they were good business men. When it is considered that there is a lot to farming besides plowing and sowing and reaping, one realizes that a successful farmer must be a man of more than ordinary ability.

Take every other class of business, and a little investigation will reveal the fact that the men thus engaged are organized and associated together, not only for the common good of all, but looking to the individual success of each member of the organization. In this manner much unfair competition is kept out.

Farmers thus organized would be in a position to demand as much respect and action at the hands of public servants as does any other class, not overlooking the strong manufacturing interests that so far have been favored by the government against all others.

A latter indication comes in an announcement from the University of California, which will give most of its summer session over to the American Institute of Cooperation, and five courses of cooperative farming will be taught, including cooperative marketing, cooperative business analysis, conference on methods and problems of cooperating, economic and legal phases of cooperative organizations among farmers.

Much Disapproval Shown as Walker Is Given Decision

CHICAGO, June 22.—(AP)—The bulldog is still champion but he has the marks and bruises of a terrific combat with the wildcat to show that he came out of the fray far from unscathed. After ten slashing, sloshing rounds that finished in a torrential downpour of rain last night at Comiskey park, Mickey Walker, the bulldog, was declared the victor on points over Ace Hudkins, the Nebraska wildcat, but it will be some time before the echoes of protest and dissent from that verdict die down.

Walker retained his world's middle-weight crown on a two to one decision. The two judges, Harry Carroll and Edward Klein, gave their ballots to the titleholder but the referee, Eddie Purdy, cast his vote for the challenger. In the soaked and sodden press row, a clear majority credited Hudkins with being the winner, chiefly on his tireless two-fisted aggressiveness. Most of the experts gave Ace a margin in six of the ten rounds while many credited the blond wildcat with as many as seven, to offset, in a consensus, the few who figured Walker was justly the winner.

But if there was dissent from the decision around the ringside it was mild by comparison with the outburst that came from the dripping crowd, some 25,000 to 30,000 spectators who sat doggedly through the downpour, fascinated by the dripping, bloody, ceaseless battle between the bulldog and the wildcat. The roar of bores and hisses grew, instead of diminishing. Hundreds swarmed about the ring to shout and shake their fists. Thousands, more prudent even if also vehement, went back to the shelter of the ball park's stands to vent their vocal wrath. It was one of the wildest demonstrations of disapproval any championship fight has witnessed in recent years, lasting 15 minutes in full volume and a half hour in more sporadic form.

To most of those huddled around the ringside, as the rain beat down in torrents through the last three rounds, it appeared clear that the blond Hudkins, ripping into his foe with relentless rushes, deserved to win with a whirlwind rally in the last five rounds that offset Walker's big splurge in the third, fourth and fifth rounds. Walker, with a series of vicious, well-directed clouts to the chin and head, had Hudkins groggy and reeling backward and apparently on the verge of a knockout in the fourth round, the most spectacular moment of the fight. Mickey had victory in his grasp here but could not put Hudkins down or even prevent him from finishing this round.

His big opportunity gone, Walker never thereafter was able to beat back Hudkins' wild rushes or prevent the ace from boring in, burying his bloody head in Walker's shoulder and whaling away with both fists. Hudkins forced the fight throughout the last five rounds.

For unadulterated savagery, continual and slashing action, the bout has had few parallels. Walker was cut in the nose in the first round and over the left eye in the second. Ace started to bleed in the third from Walker's ripping hooks. By the end of the fight both were crimson, grotesque figures in the downpour as they slipped and punched, splashed and slugged around on canvas that sagged and held several inches of water.

McLarnin Wins Over McGraw in Two Minutes Plus

NEW YORK, June 22.—(AP)—Smiling Jimmy McLarnin, who enthroned himself in the hearts of New York fight fans in his first eastern appearance by a crashing one round knockout of Sid Terris, Manhattan's own ghost of the Ghetto, has come back to his throne. After a month spent in the shade cast by the terrific drugging he received at the hands of the lightweight weight champion, Sammy Mandell, Jimmy made a success of his comeback last night by stopping Phil McGraw after only two minutes, 45 seconds of the first round.

Tackling in McGraw one of the toughest battlers in his class, one whose jaw had never been found vulnerable in over a hundred fights, Jimmy landed three times with his good right mauler, and each time scored a clean knockdown. After the fourth time the Detroit florist went to the canvas. Referee Jack Dorman led McLarnin to a neutral corner in token of a technical knockout.

Before a dozen seconds of the bout had passed Jimmy feinted and slipped over a terrific wallop that sent McGraw through the ropes. The Detroit battler fought back gamely with nothing but the boxer's instinct to keep him going, but the battle had ended with that one punch. Three times McGraw stumbled to his feet after going down. The fourth time when the referee intervened it was doubtful whether he could have risen.

KILLED BY GOLF BALL

OGDEN, Utah, June 22.—(AP)—Nathan Taylor, nine-year-old son of Horace H. Taylor was almost instantly killed when struck by a golf ball here yesterday. The ball, driven by K. K. Steiensen, Salt Lake attorney, had traveled but 15 feet when it struck and broke the lad's neck.

Babe Mourns as Homer Is Lost in Sudden Rain Storm

BY WILLIAM CHIPMAN
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Babe Ruth seems to have run the scale in baseball experiences now that after fifteen years, he finally has watched a home run vanish from the records in a rain-storm. He poked his twenty-sixth in among the steers as pengers in right field at the Yankee stadium Thursday, but it was washed from the books when the second half of the third inning when a Yankee-Athletic double header was halted by rain.

The blow put the Babe, for the moment at least, fourteen games, twelve days and four home runs ahead of the mad pace he struck last year when he hit sixty.

Young Henry Johnson, Yankee recruit, gave the Athletics their second 1928 shut-out in the first game, 4 to 0, and enabled the Yankees to lengthen their lead to nine and one-half games.

In the second game the Mackmen were leading, 3 to 2, and had men on second and third with one out when the drizzle became a torrent. Joining Ruth on the mourners' bench was A. Simmons, who lost two doubles.

Guerrilla warfare along the rest of the American League front saw the Red Sox turn the tables on the Senators, 8 to 2, while Cleveland was dividing another double-header with the lowly White Sox on the Indian reservation. The Indians won the first, 4 to 2, and the White Sox the second 4 to 3, with an amazing three-run rally in the ninth.

Chicago's even break coupled with Detroit's double reverse in St. Louis sent the Tigers to within half a game of last place. The Browns won, 8 to 3, as Schang, Blue, and Betencourt hit home runs.

The torrid National League race, which showed signs of disintegrating under the incessant pounding of the Cardinals, netted a slight gain for the runner-up Reds. The Rhinelanders nosed out the Pirates, 5 to 4, as McKee's flying clout were submitting to an even break in Chicago. The day's campaigning left the Reds three and one-half games to the rear of the Cardinals.

Sheriff Fred Blake had to turn in a two-hit game to win from St. Louis in the opener, and Charlie Root was altogether unable to cope with the Cardinal stampede in the nightcap, which went to the visitors, 4 to 1.

The Giants finally swung into action at Boston, after suffering five postponements in their first six scheduled appearances in the Hub. Fred Fitzsimmons hurled the clan McGraw to a handsome victory by 9 to 4 in the first brush, and the New Yorkers seemed headed for a sweep, with Benton scheduled to pitch the second game.

Benton ran into a very fine bit of box-work by Arthur Delaney, and the Giants had to be satisfied with a 3 to 1 defeat. The Giant ace snapped his streak of seven straight victories, but maintained intact his record of not having had to seek relief all season. Benton now has pitched 127 innings, or fourteen complete games. He has won eleven and lost three.

Batting Averages in Texas League Being Fattened

(By The Associated Press)
Texas league batsmen are seizing on the waning days of the season's first half to fatten their batting averages. There was considerable hitting Thursday in every game and in some there was little else in the way of sights for the spectators.

Houston collected 17 hits to set the pace for all the clubs and defeated Shreveport, 9 to 5, for the third straight time. The Buffs had to fight to win, however, for in the fourth the Sports got four runs and swept into the lead. In the sixth, the Buffs staged a five-run rally, and sewed things up by batting in two more runs in the eighth. Carleton held the Sports to four safeties and fanned seven.

The Wichita Falls Spudders and San Antonio Bears hammered each other's pitchers freely, but the former had the needed punch at the right time and won, 8 to 7.

As a result of Phillips' good pitching at intervals and his timely hitting, Beaumont defeated Dallas, 6 to 5. With the score tied at five and five, and Odum on base, Phillips doubled against the right field wall in the ninth inning.

One of the tightest games of the day was at Waco and was won by Fort Worth, 3 to 2. Barnabe and Burns pitched good ball and with better support might have held the scoring even lower.

Delayed Fights Will Be Offered Here Tonight

As a result of the rain, the double main fighting card which was to have been staged at the Pla-Mor last night was postponed until tonight. All the fighters have reported for the go and are in excellent condition.

Kid Granite and Jack Daugherty who are slated for a 10-round bout are impatiently awaiting for the gong. Both these boys are aggressive fighters, and are sure to give the fans their money's worth. Each has won a number of important victories recently and is anxious to continue the winning streak.

Another main event is a 10-round go on. The dope has it that these fights between "Rusty" Cahill and Art Villers are scheduled for a tough affair. Both are good fighters, and their style is just what the fight fans are looking for.

Aside from the double main event, Lloyd Moore and Roy Welch are slated for 6 rounds, and O. D. The Newsboy and Battling Simmons are to settle their dispute in 4 rounds. From the records of these four fighters, the preliminary fights are to be interesting.

Two other preliminaries, fighters unannounced, will be "pulled" for the entertainment of the crowd.

Gunn Wins to Go Into Finals of Golf Tourney

BROOK HOLLOW GOLF CLUB
Dallas, June 22.—(AP)—Watts Gunn of Atlanta, Ga., defeated Fred Lamprecht of New Orleans, former intercollegiate champion, 5 and 4, in the quarter finale of the Southern Amateur Golf championship today. The match ended with the young men conceding each other virtually impossible puts for a half on the fourteenth green. Gunn this afternoon will meet a Dallas man, L. N. Roberts, or Langan Connor in the 18-hole semi-finals.

The lineup for this afternoon's 18 hole semi-final was completed when Louis Jacoby, Dallas veteran downed the last Tennessean in the contest Charles Cawthorn of Memphis, two up.

Jacoby will face Carlton in the lower bracket while Gunn and Connor fight it out in the upper bracket. The finals tomorrow will be at 36 holes.

NEW MAGNOLIA FUEL

The Magnolia Petroleum company announces today the addition of a new motor fuel to be known as Magnolia ANTI-KNOCK gasoline, to its line of products. According to E. P. ... general sales manager of the company, "It is the result of extensive research to produce a motor fuel which gives 'something extra' in addition to quiet power on the hills and in sand and mud."

"ANTI-KNOCK," Mr. Angus said, is a pure petroleum product. It takes out the knock without injury to any part of the motor or gas lines. He believes motorists will welcome this new gasoline, especially in cars that require high-compression fuels and those which are affected by excessive knock.

ANTI-KNOCK is available at Mag-

Aged Deputy Kills Bank Robber and Saves $35,000 Loot

PRESCOTT, Ariz., June 22.—(AP)—The pistol hand of 72-year-old Deputy Sheriff Jim Roberts, which, in early days kept law and order in Arizona mining camps or played its part in bloody range war, has not lost its dexterity.

Jim Roberts proved that yesterday when he shot and killed a holdup man fleeing from the robbery of the bank of Arizona at Clarksdale, near here, with the result that the other robber was captured and their $35,000 loot recovered.

Credit for the shot first was given to David Saunders, cashier. Later it was Roberts' pistol that found its mark in the head of William J. Forrester as he and Earl Nelson, alias Paul Hauffman, fled in a stolen automobile after the robbery. The car then ran wild and crashed and Nelson was captured a few minutes later.

TILDEN BEATS COEN

ESCAPED PRISONER CAUGHT

NEW ORLEANS, June 22.—(AP)—June 22.—(AP)—Jack Clements, 29, who escaped from the Huntsville, Texas, penitentiary several months ago while serving a life term for killing his wife, was captured here today and will be held for Texas authorities.

"All I have to say is that I would like to let my mother know they have me again," he said. His mother lives at Thibodaux, La.

His wife is said to have lived in Beaumont before her marriage. Clements escaped by filing his chains while he and several other convicts were in a truck. He bolted into the nearby woods and made his way to Thibodaux where he lived.

At 8 She Meets Her Mother and Dad After He Goes to Germany to Get Her

KANSAS CITY, June 18.—Little Anneliese Harlan, aged 8, has just made the acquaintance of her father and mother.

She had to wait seven years and cross the Atlantic ocean to do it. But she thinks it was worth it—and so do they.

In 1919 Percy Harlan, American doughboy, was stationed at Coblenz on the Rhine with the American army of occupation.

One day as doughboys will, he went A. W. O. L. and wandered into the village of Weiler. There was a carnival in progress, and at it Harlan met a beautiful young German fraulein. He fell in love, she fell in love, and they were married.

Harlan returned to duty and his wife moved to Coblenz to be near him. Time passed, eventually a baby girl was born.

Shortly afterward Harlan's unit was ordered back to the United States. The baby was ill and could not be moved, so Harlan went A. W. O. L. again. When the patrols picked him up he explained to his superior officers and was let off without punishment, although he was warned that stern measures would be taken if he did it again. Not long afterward another order came through ordering Harlan home. Again he pleaded with his superiors, but they told him he would have to go. He and his wife talked things over, and decided to go to America together, leaving their daughter with its aunt Mrs. Marie Salig. They would save money in America and send for the child later.

So Harlan and his wife came to Kansas City. Harlan got a job with an ice company and Mrs. Harlan went to work in a restaurant. They laid aside their money until they had just enough to pay the daughter's fare to the United States.

Then Harlan was hurt in an accident. Expensive hospital bills wiped out their savings and put them in debt. The reunion with their daughter had to be postponed.

At last, last winter, they again had the money. First they tried to arrange for the girl to come by herself, but they found it impracticable; so Harlan went to Germany to get her.

When he reached the German village he found that the townspeople were all gathered before Frau Salig's house to see Anneliese's rich American papa. When he tipped a porter two marks the populace concluded that he must be a millionaire. He stayed in the town a week, getting acquainted with his daughter. Then they started for America.

Anneliese was thrilled by the trip across the ocean, especially since her birthday came in the midst of it and the passengers staged a party for her. But she was happiest of all when they reached Kansas City recently and she met her mother.

Now the three are together in their home here, vowing they will never again let an ocean get between them.

San Antonio Will Restore Historical Spanish Plaza

SAN ANTONIO, June 22.—(AP)—With little more than the old coat of arms over the doorway to begin with, the city of San Antonio is preparing to restore the old Spanish Governor's palace on Military plaza here as a public museum.

The old structure, once the most elegant house in town, has crumbled until the second story has disappeared altogether. Second hand stores and cheap clothing stores inhabit its dingy interior. The Castilian coat of arms and the date of the completion of the building, 1749, are the only marks on the ruin which distinguish it as a place of consequence.

Some of the most important decrees issued by Spain in America were announced at the palace. The Spaniard's love for its luxurious furnishings once gave the Alamo to the Texans. At that time the Spaniards were in the Alamo, but they surrendered when Col. Inlan trained his guns on the Governor's palace, rather than see the place destroyed. Later the bones of the heroes of the Alamo lay in state in the palace.

Col. Zebulon Pike, commissioned to examine the Louisiana purchase in 1807 lost his way and drifted far westward into Spanish territory before he was discovered. He was escorted back to the border and on the way stayed at the Governor's palace, noting the luxury of Gov. Cordino's court in his diary.

At that time the palace surrounded a cool patio. The front of the building was one-story high, but the other three sides were two stories. Its walls were four feet thick in places.

The building will be restored from old pictures with money voted in a recent bond election.

Tri-State Fair to Sponsor Barbecue at Harding's Ranch

AMARILLO, June 21.—Plans have been completed by the officials of the Amarillo Tri-State exposition for an All-State reunion and free barbecue at Harding's ranch near Amarillo on July 4. The affair, the first all-state reunion ever attempted in the Panhandle, is expected to attract 10,000 persons.

In addition to a free barbecue, airplane, horse races, old fiddlers contests and athletic events will be provided for the visitors. The only charge will be the usual 50 cents admission fee at the gate of the ranch, which has been a resort for many years.

A scenic drive covering nine miles of shade and water will be available for the crowds along with hundreds of acres of shady picnic spots. Special meetings are being arranged for persons born in every state in the union.

Mrs. F. P. Reid has returned from a few days' visit with her daughter, Mrs. S. P. Cox of Mobeetie. Her granddaughter, Mary Agnes Cox, returned with Mrs. Reid for a few days' visit here.

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

Quarterly Review

General Topic: Jesus the Saviour.
 Scripture Lesson: Zeph. 3:14-17.
 14. Sing, O daughter of Zion; shout, O Israel, be glad and rejoice with all the heart, O daughter of Jerusalem.

15. The Lord hath taken away thy judgments, he hath cast out thine enemy: the king of Israel, even the Lord, is in the midst of thee: thou shalt not see evil anymore.
 16. In that day it shall be said to Jerusalem, Fear not: and to Zion, let not thine hands be slack.
 17. The Lord thy God in midst of thee is mighty: he will save, he will rejoice over thee with joy; he will rest in his love, he will joy over thee with singing.

GOLDEN TEXT: Choose you this day whom ye will serve.—Joshua 24:15.
 The twelve lessons of this quarter are included, with respect to time, with a period of eight or nine months the closing months of our Lord's earthly ministry.

The first lesson tells of His going with His disciples to the extreme northern part of Palestine, to the town of Caesarea Philippi, and of Peter's bold confession: "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God." Soon afterward on the Mount of Transfiguration, he permitted His chosen three, Peter, James and John, to hear his voice from Heaven. "This is my beloved Son" and to see the heavenly visitors, Moses and Elijah, talking with Jesus about His approaching death at Jerusalem.

We come finally to the last week of Jesus' life, beginning with His triumphal entry into Jerusalem on Sunday before His crucifixion on the following Friday, being greeted as a king by the joyous multitude shouting with enthusiasm, "Hosanna to the Son of David." A few days later, after the base betrayal with the treacherous kiss of His own disciple, Judas, and after the mock trials before the Jewish Sanhedrin, before Herod and before Pilate, He is led away, a condemned captive, carrying His own cross through the streets of the same city to a place outside the walls, Mount Calvary—a name and place forever sacred—there to suffer the horrible death by crucifixion, dying for sinners, dying for you and for me, dying that "Whosoever believeth in Him might not perish, but have everlasting life." All this we have studied in order that we might know Him better, appreciate Him more thoroughly and serve Him more faithfully.

"Jesus Our Saviour."
 The topics and the golden text of the twelve lessons, together with a few suggestions in regard to each lesson, are as follows:

I. April 1, Jesus the Suffering Messiah. Mark 8:27-9:1; 9:32; 10:32-34. Golden Text: If any man would come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me. Mark 8:34.

The training of the Twelve. Who are they? Peter's affirmation. Son of man. What kind of a Messiah? The Suffering Servant. "Get thee behind me!"

II. April 8, The Resurrection. (Easter Lesson.) Mark 16:1-20. Golden Text: Because I live, ye shall live also.—John 14:19.

The Resurrection truth. The need of a Living Christ. Our experience of Christ's resurrection. The Empty tomb the sign.

III. April 15, Transfiguration and Service. Mark 9:2-29. Golden text:—

Cut-Out Suits Let Beneficial Sunshine Reach Little Bodies

Play suits, loose and porous like those above, are recommended by the government's home economics experts so that children can receive the most benefit from the sun's ultra violet rays.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Acti ve little bodies now may absorb beneficial sunshine while at play. Specially designed sun suits that leave plenty of skin exposed are recommended for children by the United States bureau of home economics.

The suits, the result of research by the division of textiles and clothing, under the direction of Miss Ruth O'Brien, are designed on the regulation romper plan.

They are made to provide varying degrees of exposure and to be used in sequence as the child's skin becomes accustomed to the sun and wind. Miss O'Brien advises mothers to use the sleeveless, low necked suit first, then the one with the armholes cut down to the waist and the back cut out. The last stage is the suit with loose trousers of wide-meshed material and shirt made of two narrow strips of gauzy net, whose threads will not interfere with the sun's rays.

"All common textile fibers stop most of the ultra violet rays," says Miss O'Brien. "So it is best to choose loosely woven fabrics for the sun suits, so that the rays can reach the body through the large spaces between the yarns."

"One of the most satisfactory suits that we have designed is made of cable net for the top and brown cotton suiting for the trousers, which are very short and very loose around the waist."

Old Schooner to Leave Houston Soon

TEXAS CITY, June 22.—(AP)—In days of old when young men went "down to the sea in ships", a four-masted schooner was commonplace. It was not even classed as a "windjammer" with other ships of romance which depended upon the erratic winds for their power.

But now, things have changed, and even a schooner with four masts is regarded with awe by the youngsters and hailed by old seafaring men as an emblem of the past.

Texas has such a ship. She is the Mable Gale of Houston, now here taking on cargo for a voyage to "who knows where?" And the Mable Gale, while not as young as she used to be, soon will sail away to "foreign shores" and old timers will watch her leave them behind as they wish for a chance to relieve the days of their youth.

The Mable Gale was built in Port Blakely, Wash., in 1902. With her four masts reaching 125 feet toward the heavens, she sailed the oceans of the globe for 26 years before she was bought by a Texas firm. During her lifetime she has touched at many chantays as they heave. Her captain, Owen D. Tibbets, as are all good sailing vessel captains, is well capable of bearing tradition. Although he was only 32 years old he has had 18 years at sea, having taken a post as cabin boy when he was 14. He has ten brothers, and all of them follow the sea.

Conditions Slow in Texas Farming

AUSTIN, June 22.—"Some improvement was noticed in the agricultural situation in Texas during May, but conditions are still somewhat irregular," said Bernard Nichols, editor of the Texas Business Review, published monthly by the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

"Crops have grown more slowly than was hoped for. Spring weather was dry, followed by rain and cool weather during May. As a result, there were poor stands in many sections of the state, and considerable replanting has been necessary."

"Most prices were downward in May. Wheat, oats, corn, and rye dropped sharply, and cotton fell one cent a pound. Truck garden produce was also quoted at lower prices, due largely to seasonal influences."

Leaning Tower Now Tip-Top

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pisa's top tipped tower is in tip-top shape. Such was the conclusion of experts called by Pisa to examine the state of its Leaning Tower. Pisa became worried when it was discovered that the 750 year old list in the famous tower had increased one-third of an inch in the last nine years.

The commission installed a modern pump to draw off the waters of a spring beneath the foundation and assured Pisans that their tower was good for another century. It is a serious matter to Pisa, as the National Geographic Society sees it. The Leaning Tower beckons visitors. If it falls the lucrative tourist trade may collapse with it.

Mark Twain climbed the 293 steps to the bell tower and the exertion prompted him to point out that the Leaning Tower is "the height of four ordinary three story buildings and is a very considerable altitude for a tower of uniform thickness to aspire to, even when it stands upright."

"To look down into the tower from the top is like looking into a tilted well", Twain wrote. "A rope that

Seasonal Decline Noted in Vegetables

AUSTIN, June 22.—Due to the usual seasonal decline, fruit and vegetable shipments in Texas during May were smaller than in April, according to Bervard Nichols, assistant in charge of index numbers in the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas. Loadings during May totaled 5,409 cars, as compared to 6,726 cars in April, but a gain of nearly 2,500 cars shown over shippings of May, 1927, when only 4,006 cars were loaded, he pointed out.

"Prices are generally downward, as is to be expected at this time of year," he said. "Texas products are now in competition with produce from other parts of the United States and supplies are liberal. The potato market during May was especially weak."

KILLED BY GOLF BALL

ODGEN, Utah, June 22.—(AP)—Nathan Taylor, nine-year-old son of Horace H. Taylor was almost instantly killed when struck by a golf ball here yesterday. The ball, driven by K. K. Steffensen, Salt Lake attorney, had travelled but 15 feet when it struck and broke the lad's neck.

STREET CONVERSATION

"Say Jack, who tailored that suit for you?"
"This is a hand-me-down. Do you like it?"
"That's a perfect fit. Where did you get it and how much did it cost?"
"It's a $45 suit but I got it for $32.50 at Kees & Thomas." ADV.

Pisa's Tower's tip to fame; will it stand or fall?

hangs from the center of the top touches the wall before it reaches bottom. To crawl on your breast to the verge on the lower side and try to stretch your neck out far enough to see the base of the tower makes your flesh creep and convinces you for a single moment, in spite of all your philosophy, that the building is falling. You handle yourself very carefully under the impression that if it is not falling your trifling weight will start it unless you are particular not to "bear down" on it."

The perilous point to which Mark Twain crawled probably was the very same place that Galileo sought in order to perform an experiment which caused as much controversy in the scientific world of his day as the Einstein theory has in ours, the society says.

Galileo dropped a big, heavy ball and a light ball. They both hit the marble pavement below at the same instant. Up to that time everybody had followed Aristotle in thinking that a heavy object fell faster than a light one. Continuing his experiments, Galileo also discovered the law of the speed of falling objects, and watching a lamp swinging in the cathedral next door to the Leaning Tower he discovered, while still in his early twenties, the law of the pendulum.

One hundred years ago the tower leaned 15 feet in 179 feet. Today it leans more than 16 feet. Stand a yard stick on end, incline it three and a quarter inches from the perpendicular and the yard stick will lean at the same angle as the famous tower.

Although the Leaning Tower stands near church buildings, it is an example of municipal vanity. In 1173, when the tower was started, Italian cities had the campanile building "bug". The campanile overlooking St. Mark's in Venice was a product of the same craze. Pisa's campanile, built on soft soil, began to lean when it had risen 35 feet, so it took three architects and 300 years to complete it.
