STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—James E. Nugent, a Kerrville attorney and a veteran of 18 years of service as a state representative, was appointed last week to the Texas Railroad Commission.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe, whose home county is in Nugent's district, said Nugent will resign from the legislature and take the new $45,200-a-year position Jan. 2. Nugent expressed confidence the senate will confirm his appointment.

Nugent said he will seek election in 1980 to the final two years of the term which Jon Newton relinquished when he resigned over two weeks ago.

Newton said he resigned because his wife inherited property on which natural gas is being produced. Newton said he wanted to avoid any appearance of a conflict of interest.

Nugent said he will put his financial holdings in a blind trust, and probably will sell much of his oil-related holdings. Included are stock in Southern Union Gas Co. and Exxon, gas royalty in South Texas that earns $8 per year and royalty in Gregg County with $75 to $100 a month.

"Any of these financial holdings which present any semblance of a conflict of interest will be placed in a blind trust or sold as my lawyers advise me," the 56-year-old Nugent said.

The appointment makes Briscoe the first governor since the commission was formed in 1891 to appoint all three members. Other members are Chairman Mack Wallace and John Poerner.

Courts Speak

Texas Supreme Court held the judiciary cannot force bank examiners to open confidential examination data.

The Court of Criminal Appeals turned down millionaire Cullen Davis' request for bail on murder-for-hire charges.

A Dallas conviction for cocaine possession case was sent back for retrial because a judge didn't explain circumstantial evidence to the jury.

The Court of Criminal Appeals upheld the capital murder conviction of Jesse Villarreal in the shooting death of a Corpus Christi convenience store employee.

The same court reversed a seven year sentence given a Belton man for burglary of a pickup truck, holding the state didn't prove the truck belonged to the person who complained.

Spending Soars

Campaign spending soared to new heights this year.

Governor-elect Bill Clements apparently set a national record for 1978 with $7.2 million in outlays, $4.5 million of which was borrowed.

Attorney General John Hill spent about $3.3 million in his losing general election and successful Democratic primary races.

Attorney General-elect Mark White spent $1.5 million, including $270,000 in loans. Republican candidate for attorney general, Jim Baker, reported spending $1.44 million, with contributions only about $40,000 short of the outlay.

AG Opinions

Telephone solicitors for resort developers would be held by courts as subject to licensing under the Real Estate License Act, Attorney General John Hill said in a recent opinion.

In other opinions, Hill concluded:

An internal audit of the University of Texas Humanities Research Center is subject to public disclosure, except for specific recommendations.

The Department of Community Affairs can spend state funds to help construct a Raymondville sewer lift system serving a farm labor camp.

A recommendation to the governor for an appointment is not excepted per se from public disclosure.

The Texas Department of Community Affairs has authority to administer the Housing Assistance Payments Program established by the Federal Housing and Community Development Act of 1974.

An institution of higher education may not promulgate a rule defining employment on a fulltime basis to mean "employment for one half or more of the standard workload."

A local tax collector is not prohibited from imposing a requirement that applicants for agricultural use designation of their property furnish relevant portions of federal income tax returns.

New Appointments

Gov. Briscoe appointed Lyndon Olson Jr. of Waco to the State Board of Insurance. Olson, 31, will be chairman.

Briscoe also named Mark S. Ward of Huntsville, Walker County Criminal District attorney, Mrs. Billie Veach of Burnet to the State Rural Medical Education Board and Sidney M. Wieser of

Make The Most Of Winter Pasture

Producers with winter pastures established and growing have a valuable livestock feed commodity. Winter pastures such as small grain, ryegrass and legumes provide excellent quality forage. Such forage can be economical compared to other alternative feeding programs if close attention is given to management and use of such pastures, points out Spencer Tanksley, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The key point is to avoid putting livestock on pastures too quickly. A temptation is to begin grazing when growth starts. However, allow plants to make 6 to 8 inches on initial growth before beginning grazing. This enables them to establish a good root system so that they can recover more rapidly when grazed and can better withstand periods of dry weather and cold temperatures. Good initial plant growth is especially important this season as many pastures were established late due to dry weather, notes Tanksley. Less favorable growing conditions of shorter days and cooler temperatures have resulted in slow root development and growth of such late pastures.

To get the most benefit from winter pastures, it is best to divide them with temporary or permanent fences to graze them on a rotational basis, advises the County Agent. As one area is grazed down, rotate cattle to another pasture. Topdress the grazed area with nitrogen fertilizer and graze it again when plant recovery and growth is sufficient. Since a new crop must be produced after each grazing, more fertilizer is required than if a small grain is grown for only a grain crop.

An important consideration in using winter pastures profitably is to limit grazing in accordance to the nutrient needs of the cattle, emphasizes Tanksley. One cannot afford to over-feed and waste such

Short Snorts

The State Department of Highways and Public Transportation opened bids last week on 1,150 miles of pavement surface in seven districts.

State Comptroller Bob Bullock announced a crack-down on bogus export schemes used to avoid state sales tax payments along the Texas-Mexico border.

Fifty were named to an inaugural committee planning January 16 inauguration ceremonies for Clements and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby here. Another Austin inaugural committee was also named.

LoVaca Gathering Company asked more leeway from the Railroad Commission to make emergency sales of surplus gas on the interstate market.

Dallas is making a strong effort to get the 1980 Republican National Convention.

Attorney General John Hill announced at a Democratic conference in Memphis he intends to have a leading role in helping President Carter in Texas in 1980.

State Rep. T. H. McDonald of Mesquite, 77, collapsed in his capitol office and died in a hospital emergency room.

TSTI Gives Job Projection

Texas State Technical Institutes Research Division in Waco reports that ten thousand new jobs are forecast for the Amarillo area by 1985. Wholesale and retail trades will absorb 36 percent of the new positions, 600 of which will be in transportation equipment. Automotive positions will provide 400 new positions and services .. 3,100. One out of every four workers hired will be clerical ... approximately 1180 per year ... more than any other type of worker. Secretaries, bookkeepers and cashiers are in demand in the largest numbers.

Crafts and Kindred workers will be increasing by 1,650 ... especially in areas of aircraft and auto mechanics, carpenters and pipefitters. The TSTI Amarillo Campus offers vocational and technical training in most occupational areas listed above.

The field of engineering and science technicians is expected to increase by 200 positions. Medical workers will increase by 400 persons to 2100.

Although Texas employment figures by late summer were down 0.8 percent, TSTI's research division says that an increase of 4.2 percent in employment was reflected since August of 1977. These trends were similar to those in the Southwestern states as a whole.

The month's decrease in the Southwest was felt primarily in the retail trade sector of the service producing industries, along with state and local governments and general services. Transportation and public utilities employment advanced.

A decrease in contract construction and transportation equipment caused a decline in goods-producing industries, although manufacturing and mining stayed the same and electric and electronic equipment and printing and publishing increased.

Average hourly earning of manufacturing workers in the Southwest during the late summer period was $5.81 compared to $6.13 in the U.S. as a whole.

Accent On Health

Texas Department of Health
Frans L. Duff, M.D., Commissioner

The following information is brought to you by the Texas Department of Health:

QUESTION: What is food poisoning?

ANSWER: Food poisoning is a general term, not in itself, but often used to designate any type of disease or illness caused by taking into the body contaminated or adulterated food and drink. It often is referred to mistakenly as ptomaine poisoning.

QUESTION: What causes food poisoning?

ANSWER: There are three general causes. First, there are poisonous foods such as some varieties of mushrooms and certain shellfish. Secondly, there are poisonous substances which may be accidentally introduced into food: for example, rodent and insect poisons or poisonous spray residues on fruits and vegetables. But the most common type of food poisoning is that caused by bacteria which grow and multiply in food. For example, staphylococcus and botulinus organisms, or salmonella germs.

QUESTION: Where are the bacteria found that cause food poisoning and how are they transmitted?

ANSWER: Major reservoirs, or places where bacteria such as salmonella germs live, are in the intestines of humans, birds and animals—including rats, mice, dogs and cats—and are sometimes "carried" by a healthy person. Bacteria are hitchhikers. They ride on flies and insects; on utensils and in water, food and milk; on dust particles; on man and rodents and in their bodily discharges such as saliva and body wastes.

QUESTION: What can be done to prevent food poisoning?

ANSWER: Complete fly, rodent and roach control are deterrents. Soap and hot water also are enemies of bacteria. All utensils used in cooking should 50th WEDDING ANNIVERSARY...The children and grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. F.D. Clayton of Earth will honor the couple on their 50th Wedding Anniversary on January 7 at 2 p.m. in the couple's home at 823 E. Highway 70. Clayton and the former Emily Hawkins were married January 5, 1929 in Earth. They have been residents of Earth since their marriage. Hawkins retired from farming and ranching a year ago. The couple's children are Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Lowery and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Clayton, all of Earth; Mr. and Mrs. Buck Kenworthy of Dimmitt and Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Clayton of Wright Patterson Air Force Base in Dayton, Ohio. They have nine grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

be washed carefully, and washing your hands thoroughly after visiting the toilet will help. Sufficiently high temperatures kill germs, and sufficiently low ones retard or stop their growth altogether. Bacteria thrive at temperatures ranging from 45 to 140 degrees Fahrenheit—from cool to warm. So keeping food just barely cool or warm doesn't help. Keep it below 45 degrees or above 140 degrees.

QUESTION: Do you have any specific tips for good safety around the kitchen?

ANSWER: Yes. Your home cutting board could be a source of sickness unless you wash it properly with hot water after cutting up raw meat and poultry. Germs can build up in the cracks and even contaminate the meat after it is cooked and placed back on the board. Other foods also can be contaminated by a dirty cutting board. Also, refrigerate masses of food such as potato salad, turkey stuffing and ground meat in shallow pans so the entire mass will cool quickly.

Today's authority on food poisoning is Robert L. Henna, Director, Food and Drug Division, Texas Department of Health, 1100 W. 49th St., Austin, TX 78756.

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa:
I hear so many women complaining about their husbands wanting to stay home all of the time. Because a man wants to come home at night and rest after a hard day's work, they seem to think it is awful.

I just want to say that a husband like that would suit me fine and that if some of these complaining women had a husband like mine who wants to be going somewhere all the time, they would get mighty tired of it.

No matter how strenuous the day has been, or if we are half-sick, he wants to go out every night.

If I persuade him to stay home, he looks so restless and jittery that it gets me all upset.
M.P.—Delaware

Answer:
Isn't it funny how hard it is to please people? Some women weep because their husbands never take them anywhere and here is one who is bemoaning the fact that her husband wants to be going somewhere all the time. I wonder why these women didn't find out something about their husbands' tastes before they were married? If the women who like to run around had married the men who like the same thing, and vice versa, everything would have been just lovely.

Congeniality is one of the greatest factors towards making a success of married life. We all desire companionship and if we dance, play golf, play bridge, or swim, it is much nicer to do so with our own husband or wife than with someone else.

However, if we have married a person whose likes and desires are not ours, it would be a good idea to compromise. The husband will perhaps agree to stay home half the time if his wife will go with him the other half and be agreeable and enthusiastic about it when she does go.

The stay-at-home husband can be persuaded, no doubt, to go somewhere one or two nights of the week if his wife will let him rest in peace by his beloved television the rest of the time.

Let set until firm.

IN the scramble for ratings among the new fall shows, ABC has come out best among the three commercial networks.

NBC drew huge audiences telecasting the World Series and in addition to three sportscasters in the press box old timer Curt Gowdy was included in the team.

OWDY, who did the NBC baseball telecasts intelligently for years, never developed much of a smile and it sometimes seems as if his face will crack if he does.

RECIPE

By Sarah Ann Sheridan
An old tradition of the South is that "Hopping John" eaten on New Year's Day will bring good luck. It's made of cow peas and rice, and on the first day of the year.

Hopping John

- 1 c raw cow peas (dried field peas)
- 4 c water
- 2 T salt
- 1 c raw rice
- 4 slices bacon
- 1 medium onion, chopped.

Boil peas in salted water until tender. Add peas and 1 cup of pea liquid to rice, add crisp bacon and drippings, and onion, which were cooked together. Put in rice steamer or double-boiler and cook for 1 hour or until rice is thoroughly done.

Turkey Puff

- 1 1/2 c diced cooked turkey
- 1/2 c turkey stuffing
- 1 c condensed cream of mushroom soup
- 1 8 oz. can cut green beans, drained
- 4 eggs separated
- 1 c French-fried onion rings

Mix soup and 1/2 cup water and put in 2-quart casserole. Arrange turkey, stuffing and beans in layers on soup. Beat egg yolks until thick and fold in whites. Put the egg mixture over the ingredients in casserole and bake in slow oven 300 degrees about 40 minutes. Sprinkle with onion rings and bake an additional 5 minutes. Serves 6.

Gwen Jones. The members sang the TOPS song and recited their pledge.
Roll call was given by the weight recorder, Mrs. Waylon Harris with 17 members weighing in.
The weekly queen was Mrs. Owen Jones.

mind to attend the Jan. 4 weigh in. The monthly queen and six month queen will be celebrated.
TOPS is still selling pecans. They are $3.75 per package and can be purchased from any member.
The meeting was dismissed with the Goodnight song.

The Speaker Reports

by Bill Clayton

AUSTIN--The Legislative Budget Board has completed its work in preparation for the upcoming session. A budget has been approved which significantly improves many aspects of state government while staying within revenue limits.

The budget recommendations were designed primarily to deal with inflation. The rate of inflation has continued to grow over the last biennium creating automatic cost increases. In addition to this factor, the Board approved budget increases primarily in public education. The need to properly fund all levels of education was strongly felt by a majority of the Board.

In addition to quality of education, other considerations were prevalent regarding funding for elementary and secondary schools. The need to stabilize or reduce the most onerous tax--the property tax--was recognized. In order to set the stage for dealing with this issue, the statewide local fund assignment level was set at the 1978-79 level for the next biennium. This dents can acquire gainful employment and contribute meaningfully to the economy and society of the State.

The medical schools received budget increases. Monetary boosts were provided to reduce student-faculty ratios and to adequately fund residency programs. With the needs of all communities for properly trained doctors, this program improvement was necessary.

All in all, I believe that the budget was thoughtfully considered and is reasonable. Tax relief can conceivably be provided locally as a result of the State picking up a greater tab in education by using broad-based tax sources rather than property taxes. Other areas of tax relief are also possible in view of these budget recommendations.

The Lonely Heart

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor,

Recently an article appeared in the Lubbock Avalanche Journal (Sunday, December 10, 1978.) the Reading read; Citizen Input Sought on Test Tube Idea.

The department of H.E.W. set out notices in August for citizens to testify before the Ethics Advisory Board. There were to be nine hearings across the United States.

Dallas was selected as the hearing site for this area.

The hearings were held Monday, December 11, 1978. The Pro - Family Forum Headquarters in Fort Worth knew nothing of the hearings till Sunday December 10, 1978. Yet notices were sent out in August. I feel it should be made public just who was notified of these hearings.

As usual it was not the grass-roots citizen. So it's no surprise that Bill Domell information specialist for the Ethics Advisory Board said: "every indication reveal that most witnesses were in favor of and accepted the fertilization process, but we begin to loose support when the matter of using human eggs for research."

These people who spoke for, quote, the "majority" say it's nothing to do with ethics or religion it is progress in science. Well I feel otherwise and am sure others feel the same way. It's time we quit being the silent-majority, speak for ourselves and stop letting a small radical group dictate our lives and the future of our children's lives.

By so small coincidence this same Ethics Advisory Board is in the process of reviewing a request for a 5 million dollar grant to the "Normal Lesbian Conference" to start their own sperm bank's and utilize the Test Tube Baby process. Again the same statement was made, "Morals or Ethics are not involved in this decision." Our tax money will be used for this grant so we should have our say.

I urge all concerned citizens, Write now, telling Mr. Califano how you feel on both issues.

Write to:
Mr. Joseph A. Califano, Jr.
Secretary H.E.W.
Washington, D.C.

Respectfully yours
Mrs. Kenneth McGehee

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

The year 1979 will see substantial changes in the internal workings of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., thanks to by-laws amendments recently adopted by unanimous vote of the organization's Board of Directors.

The Board has expressed its expectation that the changes will help to assure a continuation of a strong, effective organization keenly sensitive to the needs of its members.

The High Plains cotton producers and cotton-related businessmen who make up the PCG membership, according to the Executive Vice President Donald Johnson, will feel the first effects of the new by-laws as counties begin holding meetings to elect PCG Directors.

PCG has two directors from each of its 25 High Plains counties, one a cotton producer and the other an agribusinessman who may be, and often is, a cotton producer as well. Directors are elected on alternate years in individual county meetings. Most counties in 1979 will be electing producer directors.

Since 1956 when PCG was organized all producers and businessmen present at a county meeting could take part in the election process. All were eligible to vote and all were eligible for election as a director. But such will not be the case at election meetings to be held in early 1979.

Under the new by-laws only producers and businessmen who are current dues-paying PCG members will be eligible to vote or serve as directors.

Producer dues to PCG are 15 cents per bale, with collections made at participating gins. There is also an established dues schedule for gins, oil mills, compresses and banks. Other businessmen pay dues based on the size of their respective operations. Business dues are paid direct to the PCG office in Lubbock.

"By making dues payment a prerequisite to helping elect directors or serving as directors," Johnson explains, "the Board intends to assure that PCG policy and especially the disposition of PCG funds will be determined by the members who provide those funds."

Another result of the amended by-laws will be a change in the makeup and size of the Board's Executive Committee. Previously all PCG past presidents automatically became members of this committee. There was no limitation on their terms or on the number that might serve on the committee at any one time.

The new by-laws specify that only the two immediate past presidents shall automatically hold Executive Committee membership. PCG presidents are limited to two consecutive one-year terms, thus the new provision means each past president will serve on the committee only four years after retirement unless re-elected a director from his county and re-elected to the committee by the Board.

The remainder of the Executive Committee, as before, will be made up of the three current elected PCG officers (President, Vice President and Secretary-Treasurer) plus six others elected by and from the Board.
