Crisis In Far East Remains At Its Peak

French Ambassador Breaks Appointment With Jap Officials

LATE BULLETIN TOKYO, March 2 (Sunday) — French Ambassador Charles Arsene Henry went into belated conference today with Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka, but announcement of a decision in the crisis revolving about Japan's mediation between French Indo-China and Thailand was considered unlikely for some time.

TOKYO, March 2 (Sunday)—(AP)—The failure of the French ambassador to keep a scheduled appointment with the Japanese foreign minister prolonged today the crisis in Japan's mediation between French Indo-China and Thailand, made more acute by an expired ultimatum.

Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka waited at his residence for six hours, from 4 until 10 p. m., last night, for Ambassador Charles Arsene Henry to keep an appointment which authoritative quarters had hinted might end in acceptance of Japan's final terms.

But the conference did not occur, and observers said they believed this development indicated a French hope of postponing a showdown.

It was presumed Ambassador Henry had received last-minute instructions from the government at Vichy which at least postponed his anticipated talk with Matsuoka.

Consequently Japan still was not officially informed of Vichy's final decision despite authoritative hints, widely displayed in the press, that the French had agreed to the basic terms of Japan's compromise proposal, made in an ultimatum which expired at midnight Friday, Tokyo time.

Observers believed the Japanese were hesitant to resort to the "forceful action" which they had hinted would be applied, so long as a peaceful settlement appeared at all possible.

Two Business Indices Gain, Another Drops

Two business indices went on a rampage during February while another sank to a five year low.

Both new passenger car registrations and postal receipts were up sharply, the latter setting a new all-time record for the month here. The February car total was second highest on record.

Car sales jumped up to 108 for the short month, exceeding by far the 79 for the same month a year ago and approaching the 115 registrations for January. It was only five under the record set in 1935.

Postal receipts smashed the 1938 February record by amounting to $5,885.08, more than $500 over the $5,390.08 for February of 1940 and compared favorably with the $5,735.50 for January.

But the building story was a horse of a different hue. The construction total sagged early to $7,610, half the $12,345 for the same month last year and off sharply from the meagre $13,861 in January. During the month there were five residential permits, but four were for $100 or less. Largest item was a permit for one $3,500 home.

REVIEWING THE BIG SPRING WEEK

BY JOE PICKLE

Least the people around Moore remain unhappy, we hasten to say that there was some wrong done out on that next good will dinner. It's to be held at Moore on March 18 instead of Garner.

It comes to us that representatives from the Music club, possibly the Kiwanis club and others may proposition the city dads soon on the possibility of replacing the auditorium's grand piano, which has developed a juke box rattle, with an instrument artists can play without shivering. The Kiwanis club suffered a $50 tariff last week in getting a piano which would give Solis (with Rubinoff) solace.

Related congratulations go to L. S. McDowell on the occasion of his 90th birthday Thursday. Looks like we all missed a good bet in not throwing a major celebration to show that fine gentleman how we appreciate his kind.

Big Spring is fortunate in having Al Greebl named to the directorate of the Cosden Petroleum Corp. Doubtless, Greebl is a good, but the corporation of the fourth Glascock livestock show Wednesday. To show how this good will business pays dividends, a merchant told us Saturday a Garden City man had bought a suit, explaining that he had made up his mind to buy it in the town where most interest was demonstrated in the show.

As a practical lesson in telling the truth, the case of two youths here last week will do. At first they had a yarn about being kidnaped. It sounded good, but when separated for questioning, their imaginations ran in different channels. Finally, they threw in the sponge.

Comes a letter from Earl Brownrigg, county trapper. "I got the wolf that was killing sheep over at Race Miller's and W. D. Christian's place," he penned. "He had killed about $100 worth of sheep in the last two weeks."

Suit Against City Asks For $20,153

The City of Big Spring was made defendant today in a $20,153 damage suit brought by Joe E. Ward, Wichita Falls consulting engineer.

Ward alleged breach of contract on the part of the city in connection with the major PWA waterworks improvement program undertaken here in 1939.

The engineer, who at one time had threatened to enjoin the project, estimated he was due $24,153 in fees, but that he had received one payment and did not have to be out costs which reduced his claimed damages to the amount cited in his petition.

Ward was engaged by the city in 1935 to make a survey of the city's water system with the view of working up data for supplemental wells and possibly a surface supply, and to prepare engineering data for submission of a WPA project application.

For his work the city paid him $2,000. Later the application moved into the doldrums when governmental appropriations were curtailed sharply for a time as private business gains were registered.

When the waterworks expansion program did materialize here, another engineering firm was retained to prepare, submit and follow up on a project. Ward claimed this was the same program he had planned.

Previously he had notified officials he considered himself city engineer on the job. Officials, however, contended that the project was not the one Ward had mapped and his contract had thus been terminated.

Greek 'Quake Puts 19,000 Out Of Homes

ATHENS, Greece, March 2 (Sunday) (AP)—More than 19,000 persons were said to be homeless today in Larisa as a result of a violent earthquake which shook northern Greece yesterday.

Reports from the earthquake zone said Larisa was wrecked, buildings tumbling down as the earth moved.

The prefect at Larisa in an appeal for help telegraphed authorities in Athens that nearly two-thirds of the city's population of 30,000 were driven into the streets.

Casualties, he said, were not yet determined but other sources said the violence of the shock indicated they would be heavy. The people were abed when the temblor came.

Troop detachments tore at wreckage to rescue the imprisoned. Many of the city's streets were filled with debris. Telephones and telegraph buildings were among those damaged.

The public minister of assistance was dispatched to Larisa. The epicenter of the shocks was at the town of El Assona, where there was much damage. The quakes also were felt in Karditsa and Trikala, but there the damage appeared negligible and no casualties were reported.

Road Requests Get Little Encouragement

AUSTIN, March 1 (AP) — With military roads holding first draw on the state's highway funds, delegations seeking road improvements got little encouragement from the state highway commission at the monthly hearing today.

Representatives from four counties appeared with requests, and each heard in reply "shortage of funds," but were assured all applications would receive full consideration.

Nazi Drive To East Reaches Black Sea

SOFIA, Bulgaria, March 1 (AP) — Germany occupied Bulgaria today—the eleventh sovereign state she has overrun since 1938.

The coming of Adolf Hitler's legions in gray-green battle dress by plane, armored car and truck raised grave questions as to the future of Greece in her war with Italy, of Turkey's future under alliance with Britain and of Britain's attitude toward Bulgaria.

The military occupation extended to even the heart of Sofia almost before the ink of Bulgaria's signature was dry upon a protocol of the German-Italian-Japanese military pact. Premier Bogdan Philoff signed with Hitler as a witness, at Vienna this afternoon.

British May Declare War On Bulgars And Bomb Vital Communication Lines

Official Bulgarian quarters admitted that Varna, strategic port on the Black sea, was occupied by the Germans.

The British minister to Sofia, George William Rendel, obtained an early evening audience with King Boris and members of the legation expected him to notify the monarch that German occupation of Bulgaria left Britain no choice but to break relations.

Rendel said recently that Britain probably would declare war on Bulgaria and bomb her communications if naval occupation was permitted. The British legation hastened preparations to depart, awaiting only London's orders.

The occupation of Bulgaria must have started at dawn today—hours before the Vienna signing ceremony. Bulgarians mutely watched German armored cars roll into their capital even before many had learned that the pact had been signed. Information on troop movement outside Sofia was scant, but presumably the Germans crossed the Danube on their pontoon bridges. Six hundred thousand Germans are said to have been concentrated in Rumania.

The vanguard of the German mechanized forces reached Sofia this afternoon only two hours after the Vienna pact signing. As their gray column filed into the traffic-cleared streets, fleets of warplanes—fighting craft and troop-carrying transport—poured low overhead. Steel-helmeted troops sat like ninjas in the gray, lumbering road cars.

They were in full battle dress. Beside them they carried rifles, gas masks and packs. Up the main streets they came and the advance unit parked close to the German legation.

Implications Of Act Are Many; Six Major Possibilities Stand Out

The implications of Germany's occupation of Bulgaria were a tangle, but these possibilities stand out:

1.—That Hitler's legions might shove on across Bulgaria into eastern Greece, attacking the flank of the Greek armies now engaged with Italy in Albania. The Germans may do this right away or wait a while.

2.—That Turkey, if convinced that Germany intended to push on to the Mediterranean shores of Greece, might counter by attacking the Germans and Bulgarians in Bulgaria. The Turks and the British have newly affirmed their mutual aid alliance by announcing complete accord on Balkan problems.

3.—That British might wait for no further show of Nazi intentions but quickly turn the RAF loose on strategic objectives in Bulgaria, at the same time pressing Greece to admit large British land forces to oppose the Nazis.

4.—That Greece, seeing how the military cards are stacked, might resist British overtures for continuing the fight and quickly make the best possible peace with Germany's partner, Italy, even before the Germans moved.

5.—That Germany planned to go no further toward Greece through Bulgaria than the frontier, using the occupation as a feint for a drive through Yugoslavia, avenue for more direct aid to Italian forces in Albania, or for an assault through Bulgaria on Turkey's Dardanelles.

6.—That the whole Balkan play might be a feint to pull down Britain's guard from defense of the British Isles against invasion.

German Influence In Balkan States Increased Greatly By Latest Coup

Bulgaria showed concern over Turkey's intentions now that the Nazis had been let in. The country approached general mobilization. Troops newly called from cities to the colors left Sofia in large groups—bound for the Turkish frontier. Thousands of peasant soldiers trudged along with them.

The occupation at least was another sharp development of Germany's "drang nach Osten"—march to the east—its immeasurably strengthened Germany's hand in the teetering Balkans.

Thus at long last Bulgaria joined the procession of states overrun by Germany since the Anschluss of Austria, March 13, 1938.

Those which precede her are, in chronological order, Austria, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Denmark, Norway, the Netherlands, Belgium, Luxembourg, France, and Rumania. Hungary, although not occupied, has provided railroads for Nazi armies moving into Rumania, whence they entered Bulgaria. Still other territories to go under Nazi control since the Austrian Anschluss include Memel, Britain's Channel Islands and the free city of Danzig.

More Air School Students Sought

An appeal to some 41 former students of previous classes was sounded Saturday to enter the fourth CAA ground school aviation class now in progress here.

The class has been through one week of work, but other students may enter still, said Dr. P. W. Malone, chairman of the chamber of commerce aviation committee. More students are need to bring the competitors to 50, required number to insure 10 flight scholarships.

Students in former classes may enter without examination fees or tuition. If they have tests they will be out no expense and stand a good chance of landing in the upper bracket, he said. Classes are held on Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 7:30 p. m. in the high school basement. Tests for the course have started.

Welding Classes To Start Monday

Classes in welding, operated as part of the national defense training program, will start Monday at 7 p. m. in the high school basement, school officials said Saturday.

U. W. Hagemann, dean, and S. R. Lassiter, Texas Pacific, will serve as instructors in the course, offered to experienced men as a "refresher." Some 50 adults have enrolled.

Twenty-two out-of-school youths were due to organize a similar class during the week. Already 48 NYA boys are taking welding instruction, getting down to practical application with new torch outlets complete. A "ham" radio class for NYA lads has been going on with Melvin Boatman as instructor.

In Annual Membership Meeting—Electric Co-op Members Convene

Annual membership meeting of the Cap Rock Electric Co-Operative was held Saturday with approximately 300 subscribers to the system in attendance. The all-day affair was featured by an electrical appliance show.

The party opened at 10 a. m. with a range demonstration by Kathryn Harris, REA representative of the Washington, D. C. office.

During the business session, which got underway in the fore part of the afternoon, it was pointed out that the Co-Op had on hand $144,000 when building of the system started and completed the entire setup with $42,000 yet untouched and $1,500 in the local office.

Directors elected were Jim McCreless, route 1, Stanton; C. F. Gray, Stanton; Glenn Cantrell, Route 1, Big Spring; Mrs. Lee Castle, Knott; Miss Sarah Phillips, route 1, Big Spring; Mrs. W. L. Clemens, Star route, Stanton;

Riggs Shepperd, route 1, Stanton; H. W. Deavenport, Lenorah; and Reece Adams, route 1, Ackerly, being named on the board.

Seven dealers in electrical appliances were on hand with their wares to give prospective customers a line on adaptability of various machines to rural needs. The list of demonstrators included Carl Biron, Montgomery Ward, D. and H. electric appliances, Taylor's electrical appliances, Gibson's, Sherrada, and Collins' Drugs.

Romance Of The South Has Beauties Of Technicolor

Fred M'Murray, Madeleine Carroll In 'Virginia'

Paramount's long heralded Technicolor production of "Virginia," the modern romance of the South which co-stars Madeleine Carroll and Fred MacMurray, is the featured attraction for today and Monday at the Ritz theatre. Hollywood is calling "Virginia" the production made by that "successful star-director-writer combinations."

"Virginia" is the third picture co-starring Madeleine Carroll and Fred MacMurray, their two previous screen successes together having been "Cafe Society" and "Honeymoon in Bali." The success of the latter picture was also in a large measure due to the appearance in it of lovable little Carolyn Lee, the baby star. This time five-year-old Miss Lee does some more picture stealing from Miss Carroll and Mr. MacMurray, but everybody seems quite pleased about the larceny.

To make the "one big happy family" idea complete, "Virginia" was directed by Edward H. Griffith, who piloted the two previous Carroll-MacMurray films. And the author of all three screen plays is Virginia Van Upp, one of Hollywood's foremost scenarists. "Virginia" tells the story of a Southern girl who has been away so long from the ancestral home in Virginia that she's forgotten what Southern tradition means. Returning broke, to sell the old place, she falls in love with a Virginian who brings her to a realization of her Southern heritage.

The supporting cast of "Virginia" includes Stirling Hayden, six-foot-five newcomer who is expected by Paramount to win stardom in a very short time, Marie Wilson, Tom Rutherford, Paul Hurst and Helen Broderick.

Jane Withers Starred In Lyric Film

Has Buddy Rogers As Featured Player In Comedy Romance

Thrills, fun, dances, song, romance—all that and more are packed into "Golden Hoofs," Jane Withers' newest and best starring film for 30th Century-Fox which plays today and Monday at the Lyric theatre.

More grownup, lovable, and romantic, but just as full of ginger as ever, Jane is supported by a brilliant featured cast headed by none other than handsome Charles (Buddy) Rogers, who celebrates his return to the screen after leading a top-notch jazz band for seven years. Others seen in fine roles include Katharine Aldrich, George Irving and Buddy Pepper.

As the picture opens Jane, a 15-year-old trainer of trotting horses on the Yankee Stock Farm, learns that the new owner of the farm, Charles (Buddy) Rogers, plans to get rid of all the prize trotters to make room for his racing stock.

But when Rogers does show up at the farm, he turns out to be such a likeable and handsome fellow that Jane falls head-over-heels in love with him. However, heartaches brew when Jane finds he just feels like a big brother to her.

A gay highlight of the film is the "Box Social" sequence which provides Jane a chance to sing a delightful new song hit, "Consider Yourself In Love" and do a clever dance routine with Buddy Pepper, a talented young newcomer.

Faced at a fast clip by Director Lynn Shores, there's never a dull moment throughout "Golden Hoofs." Jane's at her best and the whole cast turns in convincing performances. Walter Morosco and Ralph Dietrich were associate producers. The screen play by Ben Grauman Kohn was based on an original story by Roy Chansior and Thomas Langan.

'Land Of Liberty' Story Of America

In "Land of Liberty," spectacular cavalcade of thrills, opening Tuesday on the Ritz screen, stars shine like those in the firmament, more than 139 of Hollywood's great appearing in various thrill scenes of the production. Spencer Tracy, Margaret Sullivan, Bette Davis, John and Lionel Barrymore, Wallace Beery, Claudette Colbert, Gary Cooper, Irene Dunne, George Brent, Henry Fonda, Joel McCrea, Fredric March, Robert Montgomery, Anna Neagle, George Raft, James Stewart, Randolph Scott, Lewis Stone and Loretta Young are but a few of the big names appearing in important roles.

Composed of shots from 112 feature pictures and short subjects, besides countless cuttings from newsreels and stock material, the film describes events in American history from the time the first white man landed on the shores of North America to the present moment.

Among the historical characters impersonated by the brilliant cast are Patrick Henry, George Washington, Alexander Hamilton, Dolly Madison, Andrew Jackson, Lincoln and his cabinet, General Custer and Theodore Roosevelt.

Contrasting solemnity with gaiety, seriousness with humor, the film unwinds as a never-ending source of entertainment.

"FIX IT"...

Any time we can be of service to you around your home or business, just give us a call. . . . Quite often minor repairs or adjustments are "put off" until finally nothing is done about it—just because it seemed like such a small thing at the time. "Too small a job to ask a man to do," we usually say.

This is just as much in our line of service as handling a new home from the ground up . . . and ask that you call on us for anything from repairing a door or screen, hanging garage doors so they'll close, patching roofs — to the biggest job you've got.

Defense Contract

Acting at the war department's request, the Coca-Cola Company yesterday accepted a contract, through a subsidiary, to build and manage an artillery powder bag loading plant in Alabama as a part of the national defense program.

The undertaking involving a total of $14,394,000, was given to the company for operation because of its announced "experience and reputation in production management." This sum is for building, equipping, operating and managing the plant. Of this total, $1,001,000 is for equipment.

The plant will occupy part of a 20,000-acre site at Childersburg, 40 miles southeast of Birmingham. It will load propelling charges for heavy artillery.

The subsidiary, known as the Brecon Loading Company, of Wilmington, Del., is wholly owned by the Coca-Cola Company and was specifically formed for the requested service.

W. N. Cochran, production manager of the company, will be vice president and general manager of the Brecon Loading Company. Officers and directors of the subsidiary company will be: A. A. Acklin, president; Harrison Jones, executive vice president, and De Sales Harrison, W. N. Cochran, all of Atlanta, and Jeff C. Weekley and George Adams, both of Wilmington, Delaware.

In its announcement the war department said the company would be engaged in "management services, training personnel and operation of an artillery and munitions bag loading plant" in conjunction with a smokeless powder plant at Childersburg, already announced, to be built by the Du Pont company at a cost of $47,997,000.

In accepting the commitment, Robert W. Woodruff, chairman of the company's directorate, said: "This job, undertaken at the invitation of the government, will start immediately and will have our best efforts."

"Undersecretary Patterson's statement covers the case. We took this contract at the request of the war department. We can do the job or we would not have taken it. The contract has been signed and the best efforts of the subsidiary company are at the disposal of the federal authorities."

Commenting on the day's development, Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson, in Washington said: "This is an example of the government policy to use in national defense the managerial ability of successful industrial organizations."

The Coca-Cola Company, it was learned from a source close to company officials, was ready all ways to co-operate with the government in any problem of national defense, but was surprised at being asked to assist in a bag-loading project of the munitions phase of defense. The company naturally had expected to be asked to do some job for the government in some field of work at least related to that done by the company. They suggested some such defense project.

The war department official said in reply: "We have gone into all that. Several companies have asked for this contract. We are requesting the Coca-Cola Company take it because we want a job of production, and our investigation has shown that no company in the country has a better record of production than the Coca-Cola Company. It is production we want and your management can supply it."

The Coca-Cola Company officials then agreed to the request by the defense commission and the war department and accepted the job.

The subsidiary company was formed. Executives of the Coca-Cola Company will be lent the new defense company. Any difference in salaries allowed by the defense contracts will be assumed by the Coca-Cola Company.

7 STATEMENTS OF IMPORTANCE to anyone choosing a car!

STATEMENT 1. In total inside length and in total seating width, this year's Ford bodies are the roomiest in their field.

STATEMENT 2. The soft and quiet ride of this Ford is not just an improved ride but a wholly new one. Frame, springs, ride stabilizer and wheelbase length are all new.

STATEMENT 3. Although all high-priced cars today have 8 cylinders or more, the only car offering this advantage to buyers of lowest-priced cars is the Ford V-8.

STATEMENT 4. The 1941 Ford took first place in its class for gas economy in this year's official Gilmore-Grand Canyon Economy Run—averaging 23.05 miles per gallon and 43.19 miles per hour.

STATEMENT 5. The Ford has hydraulic brakes larger than those of any other car near its price, giving fast, smooth stops with extra-long brake-lining wear.

STATEMENT 6. Windshield and rear window of the Ford are the largest in its field. This adds both to riding comfort and to driving safety.

STATEMENT 7. The Ford Motor Company has now built nearly 29 million cars, over 38 years, all under the same management. No other car is backed by such a record.

Jennings To Herd Tech Grid Flock

LUBBOCK, March 1 (AP)—Two silver veterans of big-time football—Morley Jennings and Dell Morgan—today were named the shepherds of Texas Tech's football flock.

The board of directors unanimously named Jennings, recently resigned head coach at Baylor University, and Morgan, recently resigned line coach of Rice Institute, as athletic director and head coach, respectively.

The new combination, a combination Tech secretly hopes will lay foundation for entrance into the Southwest conference, replaces Prier Willis Cawthon and Dutchy Smith, the Tech coaching team that resigned several weeks ago because, they said, of certain athletic policies.

Jennings will take over June 1 under a two-year contract. He will also serve as professor and head of the department of physical education. Morgan, who coached at Tech in 1935 and resigned to go to Auburn, received a three-year contract starting March 1. He expected to start spring drills within a few days.

The board also appointed George Berl Huffman assistant varsity football coach and varsity basketball mentor. Huffman resigned along with Cawthon and Smith, but the board rejected his resignation and gave him a promotion. His basketball team recently trimmed the National AAU champions, the Phillips Oilers. Huffman received a two-year contract.

Walker Nichols, guard on the 1935 Tech team and recently at Lubbock high school, was named freshman football and basketball coach and varsity track tutor on a two-year contract. G. C. Powell, former graduate manager, was named assistant to Jennings under a one-year contract.

Lewis (Doc) Spears, former Tech grid immortal, was named an instructor of physical education and trainer of the varsity teams. W. L. Stangel, chairman of the athletic council, said the group had been selected from a field of 141 applicants and expressed the belief "Tech's athletic future is most promising under these men."

Titleholding Porkers Get Nat'l Bids

DALLAS, March 1 (AP)—Popularly, and deservedly, rated the best basketball team in Southwest history, University of Arkansas has one more objective—a national title.

The tall mountaineers, rulers of the Southwest conference for the ninth time in 15 seasons and holders of the team scoring record for a single season, are torn between two national tournaments.

From Madison Square Garden in New York has come an invitation to compete in the invitational tournament. But the National Collegiate Athletic association also wants the Porkers.

Decision probably will be made by the school's athletic council Monday at Fayetteville, Ark. Coach Glen Bose, shy tutor of the six foot, four inch average five that has lost only two games—both to National AAU champions, the Phillips Oilers, said the council's decision would be final.

James St. Clair, representative of the western region of the N. C. A. A. has strongly indicated Arkansas would be invited to participate in the Kansas City Western eliminations March 21-22. The winner of that meeting between four picked teams of the west, will meet the eastern champions in Kansas City on March 29 for the national title.

Low Jenkins' Hands Injured

NEW YORK, March 1 (AP)—A possible reason for Low Jenkins' failure to show his usual punching deadliness in the early rounds against Lou Ambers' last night was discovered today when it was learned the lightweight champion had both his hands treated by Dr. Peter Mogull a few hours before the fight.

The physician disclosed today that the muscles inside the thumbs on both Jenkins' hands were severely bruised, and that "he was definitely in the ring under a handicap."

The Texan finally stopped Ambers in the seventh round.

Tiremen vs. Gassers, Chefs vs. Doughboys Make Up Card

Phillips' Tiremen and the Empire Gassers tee off at 7:30 Monday night to open the playoff series in the Major-City basketball league. Crystals' Chefs clash with Vaughn's Doughboys at 8:30 on the same evening to close out the first night of the loop's championship tournament.

Winners of Monday evening's show go on the boards Thursday night in an all-out attempt to cop the season's title, while the Monday night losers fight it out for the consolation spot.

Judging from present showings, the Tiremen and Bakers may meet in the grand finale, although a tough crew of Chefs are not to be discounted. Up to last week, when they dropped a hard-fought battle to Vaughn's, the Chefs were leading the pack in a decisive manner with the pre-season favorites, the Tiremen, following a close second.

Phillips' holds the circuits lead with a card of 8 1-2 games won and 1-2 lost. This half-count tally came as a result of a game with Vaughn's being stopped by the time limit. The Chefs' eight up, and two down record puts them in runner-up position.

Vaughn's marked up 8 1-2 wins and 2 1-2 losses for its share of the proceedings, the Gassers split the season with a 5 and 5 count. Citrus' Service came through with four on the good side and six on the dropped list, and Ward's quietest tucked up a blank for their side of winners row.

Phillips' Harlan led the individual scoring parade with a 106 count for the season, while the Chefs' Fisher nipped at his heels with a 100 point card. Other high scorers and their marks are Huevel of Phillips, 77; Thomas of Phillips, 64; Vaughn's McCright, 64; Vaughn's West, 63; Gassers' Hull, 62; Gartman of Citrus' Service, 44; Ward's Cherry, 38; Vaughn's Morgan, 34.

School Census Starts Soon

Annual count of noses for scholastic purposes is due to get underway in Howard county this week.

Both city and county schools had received census supplies Saturday and were preparing to begin the scholastic enumeration.

At the county superintendent's office distribution of 18 sets of supplies to common school districts was launched and city school authorities made arrangements at a meeting Thursday afternoon to start the census here Monday.

The law provides for the census to be started and completed during the month of March. School administrators urged patrons to cooperate in making the county an accurate one.

All children may be enumerated unless they were born on or before Sept. 1, 1923, or after Sept. 1, 1935.

W. C. Blankenship, city superintendent, pleaded for cooperation in getting full information on scholastics as well as to have all scholastics enumerated.

He suggested that there should be no hesitancy on the part of parents or guardians in giving information on handicaps suffered by some children, for data will be turned over to the state unit for vocational rehabilitation, thus affording special training.

Subcommittee To Offer New Tax Bill Soon

AUSTIN, March 1 (AP)—A big moment for the 47th legislature—the birth of what might ultimately grow into a new tax law—was not far distant today.

Members of a sub-committee of the house revenue and taxation committee who have been burning midnight electricity to sketch rough outlines of a revenue-raising plan said they probably would report early next week.

The whole committee was expected to lose little time surveying work of the sub-group and possibly might make its recommendations to the house also next week.

Although the sub-committee was tight-lipped on details, spokesmen admitted an omnibus bill was being drafted, and hinted at still other proposals.

Interest in legislative activity next week focused also on the house state affairs committee which scheduled public hearings on the controversial bill to create an appointive commission of three members to supervise the oil and gas industries, now a function of the railroad commission. Proponents were to be heard Monday afternoon and opponents Wednesday afternoon.

A third committee drawing more than ordinary attention was the senate penitentiary which had set for public hearing Monday a resolution by Senator Clem Fain of Livingston proposing an inquiry into financial reports and certain conditions in the state prison system.

Negotiations In Harvester Strike Slated

By The Associated Press

Strikers and the International Harvester company management agreed yesterday (Saturday) to meet with Secretary Perkins in Washington Monday in an endeavor to settle a dispute holding up several million dollars worth of defense contracts.

Four plants of the company are involved in strikes, called by the CIO and department severals organizing committees. The labor department estimated that 13,000 men are idle. Workers walked out of the huge McCormick plant at Chicago on Friday. There are strikes also at another Chicago plant and at Richmond, Ind., and Rock Falls, Ill. The union demands include recognition as collective bargaining agent for the employees and wage adjustments.

Another strike of direct interest to the government was settled during the day. CIO union employees of the Troy, N. Y., plant of Cluett, Peabody and Company, holding a $228,000 contract for army shirts, approved a new contract and voted to go back to work Monday. The new contract provides for wage increases. Strikers at company plants in Atlanta, Ga., and Leominster, Mass., were to meet later to consider acceptance of the contract for their locals.

The government, meanwhile, pressed its efforts at both Washington and Milwaukee to bring an end to the strike at the Allis-Chalmers company plant, where work on $45,000,000 worth of defense contracts has been held up for six weeks. That strike was predicted and sending another to a hospital with critical injuries.

The dead were Theodore Smart, 32, cattle farmer; his 16-year-old bride of three days; Billie Johnson, 6, and Montgomery Johnson, 4. Smart's mother, Mrs. W. I. Smart, 70, was reported at the point of death in a Vinita hospital.

Jodie Tate and Tink Riviere, co-owners of the Big Spring baseball club, announced that they had reached a working agreement with the Brooklyn Dodgers organization as they prepared to leave Saturday for the pre-season conclave of West Texas-New Mexico league members' owners and managers at Berger on Sunday.

As yet plans are still in the tentative stage but the two local men and Andy High, Brooklyn's representative, stated that they would supplement the verbal agreement with a written one within a couple of weeks.

According to the setup as agreed upon, Brooklyn will make available to the Big Spring club a list of players, with the understanding that Brooklyn will have the right to move these lads along the organization's ladder at the end of the season if they show chances of being capable of mixing in upper-bracket company.

Larry McPhail's Dodgers have agreed to bolster the local club's financial status and furnish a competent supply of young ballers. In other words the Brooklyn organization will pay Tate and Riviere for the right to select the outstanding performers sent here, but will not do so until the season is closed.

"It means a great deal to us so far as money is concerned and will also make it possible for us to give the Big Spring fans a hustling ball club," Tate pointed out Friday. "Instead of taking a chance on picking up good boys who've assured of getting men who have been passed on by Brooklyn scouts," he added.

High has been in Big Spring for several days getting an estimate of the degree to which Big Spring might be a good risk for Brooklyn money. He stated that he was well satisfied with conditions.

"This working agreement must work for Brooklyn as well as Jodie and Tink," High explained, "and you can bet we're anxious to get our money's worth."

Most of the players who are to come to Big Spring as part of the deal have been scouted and lined up by Brooklyn on the West Coast. On March 15, a training camp at Santa Barbara, California, will get underway.

Either Tate or Riviere are slated to go to the coast around April 1 to make their pick and will have their choices back in the Big Spring camp soon after that. There is a possibility that ten or fifteen boys will be put on the Big Spring roster as a part of the Brooklyn-Big Spring trade. Some of them have seen a bit of diamond experience but all are new boys who are just hitting the trail toward major league competition.

The number in the West Coast training camp will be cut down considerably and the local club will figure only on those boys who have come through the culling operation with flying colors.

The league meeting at Berger has been called for a two-fold purpose—first, to have every crew in the loop post its $600 guarantee.

District Eight Baptists Meet In Colorado City This Week

Attendance Of 400 Sought At Annual Event

COLORADO CITY, March 1 (AP)—With an attendance goal of 400, the annual convention of Baptists in district eight which includes three associations, will be held at First Baptist church in Colorado City Tuesday and Wednesday.

Associations covered by the district are the Lamesa, the Big Spring, and the Mitchell-Scurry. There are approximately 84 churches in the three associations. General theme of the convention will be "Enlargement." Rev. J. J. Gentry of Lamesa will deliver the convention sermon shortly after the opening session on Tuesday morning.

G. S. Hopkins of Dallas, state Sunday school leader, will preside at Sunday school conferences and deliver a Sunday school address Tuesday morning.

W. M. U. and Brotherhood meetings will be held Friday afternoon. Mrs. J. M. White of Midland, district W. M. U. president, will have charge of the former, and H. L. Wren of Snyder will preside at the latter. At the women's meeting the associational reports will be given as follows: Lamesa, Mrs. J. W. Middleton of Ackerly; Big Spring, Mrs. H. D. Bruce of Midland; Mitchell-Scurry, Mrs. A. L. Whipple of Colorado City. All three are associational presidents.

Principal address at the men's Brotherhood meeting will be given by Judge E. S. Cummings of Abilene.

Rev. R. E. Dunham of Big Spring, district Sunday school president, will preside at the Tuesday evening meeting. Principal speaker will be J. D. Riddle of Abilene.

Wednesday sessions will be over by mid-afternoon, with Rev. E. F. Cole of Lamesa delivering the final inspirational address.

Rev. A. E. Travis, district B. T. U. head, is pastor of the host church. Rev. Ira Harrison of Snyder is chairman of the program committee.

REV. WUNNEBURGER

The Mid-West Bible and Evangelistic conference will open here today at the Fundamental Baptist church and continue through Thursday.

Dr. Louis Entzinger, president of the Fundamental Baptist Bible institute, will speak at both services Sunday, and will speak again during the week.

Some of the other speakers on program will be the Rev. Wun-neburger of San Angelo, Rev. Griggs of Electra, Rev. Savage of Altus, Okla.

Several books of the Bible will be taught. The local church is making plans to care for many out of town visitors attending the services.

Stock Market Continues Quiet

NEW YORK, March 1 (AP)—It was just the start of another month for the stock market today and leading issues finished the week with mildly irregular price changes in dealings that were the slowest in six months.

Mail orders and specialties did fairly well while the buoyant utilities of the preceding session took a rest and steels, motors, aircrafts, coppers and rails were unable to recoup progress.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off .1 of a point but on the week retained an advance of .7. The net decline for February amounted to .6. Transfers of 141,190 shares were the smallest for any session since August 24 last year.

Winning Essay On Americanism Describes Union

True Americans are one for all and all for one, Verna Jo Stevens observed in her essay, "One Nation Indivisible," adjudged best of 26 submitted in a VFW auxiliary contest here.

Verna Jo received a $5 award and her essay has been entered in state competition where the stakes are $100.

"I am thankful that I am an American, that I may sleep in peace and look forward to a pleasant day to come," she wrote. "When I hear of how citizens are treated in other countries, my conscience hurts to the very depths because I have not given enough consideration to my own country."

"If some friend should ask me this question, 'Is it possible for our nation to be divided?' this would be my answer: 'Yes it is possible, but not probable because true Americans are one for all and all for one, and if we as American citizens work to keep this country 'one nation indivisible,' we cannot fail.'"

Increase In Navy Size Predicted

WASHINGTON, March 1 (AP)—A prediction that congress would be asked within a few days to increase the navy's strength to 200,000 men was made today by the army and navy register.

The service publication said that this increase from the present force of about 120,000 would suffice only for the remainder of this year. The navy already has estimated that 500,000 men will be required for the prospective two-ocean fleet, due to be completed in 1944 or 1946.

Big Bend Park Values Praised

ALPINE, March 1 (AP)—The Big Bend national park was pictured today by Dr. H. W. Morelock, president of Sul Ross State Teachers college, as a magnet to lure tourist dollars into Texas trade channels.

"Regardless of what forms taxes take the money with which to pay them must come from the trade channels of the state," Dr. Morelock, who is vice president of the Texas Big Bend Park association, said in an interview.

"Development of the Big Bend will bring tourist dollars to augment those attracted to Texas by its other resources, the agricultural and livestock industries," Dr. Morelock added.

Local Schools Profit By Complete Census

Few persons realize the importance of the scholastic census, which will be taken during the month of March. Taking of the school census is more than a formality. It is the means of determining just how much financial aid from the state the local schools receive.

Every dollar that Big Spring schools can get from the state helps a mighty lot. But the local district can collect only for those students duly registered in the scholastic census. For every student counted, the district will get $22.50. Therefore it behooves the citizen and parent to see that every school age child is counted. In seeing that every child is counted, the parent helps the school district without spending a cent himself.

Hollywood—Garbo Major War Casualty In Hollywood

Last of five articles on the effects of Europe's war on the American moving picture industry.

By ROBBINS COONS HOLLYWOOD—Spotlights on what war has done to Hollywood.

Taken from pictures by the struggle—Laurence Olivier and Vivien Leigh, returned to England; David Niven, Rodion Rakhovskiy (son of Russia), John Farrow, Richard Greene, on active duty with the British forces...

Most prominent potential selectees—James Stewart, Glamour gals are knitting like mad—"Bundles for Britain" mainly. (Said Kay Francis, holding up her handwork: "It's a sock. I never saw a sock so big, but I followed the directions they gave me—exactly!")

The national defense program has put a crimp in the former ease with which Hollywood obtained government cooperation on service pictures. Paramount built its own cantonment for "Caught in the Draft," also constructed its own military tank for the film...

Costume houses, short on new-style U. S. soldier suits although well supplied with A.E.F. garments, are catching up as fast as possible. One movie, "Rookies on Parade," had the alternative of delaying production or featuring a nudist army. It delayed.

Aside from the reception Garbo had as a comedienne in "Ni-nochka," the war apparently has scouted chances that she will resume some in the femme fatale roles she used to play. When there was a large foreign market, Garbo's roles were selected mainly for that market, and what domestic audiences thought did not carry the weight it does today.

Taking a tip from Walter Wanger's experiences trying to keep up with Hitler in his script for "Foreign Correspondent," Hollywood's new topical pictures are making no effort to include the last flaming headline. Successive Wanger scripts, placing the hero in up-to-the-minute war situations, were outmoded before shooting began as the Hitler conquest spread. The final version concentrated on pre-war intrigue, turned out to be ironically timely in its finish—a bombing of London filmed before wholesale bombing had begun.

The war has enhanced the Hollywood talent roster. Rene Clair and Jean Renoir, leading French directors who previously turned deaf ears to local offers, are both here. Alexander Korda, London producer, has established producing facilities here also.

War has not cramped the studios in their building programs. Major lots have expended thousands of dollars on new sound stages or other facilities in recent months, and the increases go on...

European background shots, used in "process" scenes, are now limited to those in stock when the war began. The war curtails the constant replenishing—and in London, particularly, some pre-war scenes will never be the same...

Rise in Greek prestige since the Italian campaign is reflected in a note from the Breen office to a movie-maker—to the effect that the Greek character in the film in question must be treated with more respect...

Argentina has the greatest railroad mileage of any South American country.

Daybook—Information Office Helps Folks Around

By JACK STINNETT WASHINGTON—In government City, where any visitor is likely to hang himself in a tangle of red tape, credit Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones and one of his assistants, Norman Baxter, a former Washington newspaper man, with clearing out one of the most formidable red-tape jungles for visiting business men.

Officially, it's known as the service and information office. It's housed in a room that opens off the department of commerce main lobby. It doesn't look like much. Its staff consists of four men, a couple of secretaries and a kindly, middle-aged woman, who is a human directory of names and numbers and probably could beat the local telephone book at its own game.

At commerce, the service and information office generally is referred to as "Baxter's baby." It was from him that I got the facts of the case. Nobody knows exactly, but it is estimated that there are somewhere around 1,000 "salesmen" a day in Washington, trying to peddle their wares to Uncle Sam.

These generally aren't salesmen at all but heads of companies, vice-presidents, etc., of firms that would like government contracts for everything from toothpicks to zeppelins.

On the other side of the fence are about 800 major purchasers and thousands of inspectors, consumers, supervisors, etc., who have to be convinced before a government contract can be signed.

Are you beginning to see the picture? Even before national defense, it was utter confusion daily, but with vastly increased buying in recent months, Washington has become a veritable clutter of barriers, business men—battered, not because they can't put over a deal, but because they can't even find the person to whom they can make their sales talk.

A few months ago, a letter came across Baxter's desk, in which a bedeviled business man listed 12 persons on whom he had called and he still hadn't located the man he was supposed to see. That was the day of the birth of the service and information office.

Now, a business man can call at the department of commerce, check into the office and within a few minutes have a complete list of government officials he has to see. One amusing thing is that the very completeness of this list has caused almost as much consternation in some cases as the pick-and-hunt system did before.

For example, there was a fellow in the other day who wanted to sell the government some lawnmowers. While he sat and chatted about the low estate of the lawn-mower business (it seems that mass production of "cheap lawn-mowers" was wrecking the old masters) a secretary ran out a list. The list contained 16 names. The lawn-mower tycoon was flabbergasted.

"Do you have to see all these people?" he asked.

"Well, you do if you want to cover the field," the S. & I. man answered. "You see, there are 16 people in the government who buy lawn-mowers."

Manhattan—From Dogs To Cats To Fleas Goes Pet Man

By GEORGE TUCKER NEW YORK—There used to be a little Frenchman named Herbert (pronounced A-bare) who had a pet shop on Park Avenue and who was a sort of veterinarian on the side, though he admittedly didn't know much about it and finally gave up his practice and devoted his time exclusively to selling dogs.

His ancestors must have been circus ballyhoo artists, for he had a wonderful aptitude, and after he lost his shop he used to stand around in front of night clubs and hotels with puppies in his coat pockets and in his arms, giving eloquent oral appreciations of man's most faithful friend and enumerating their qualities.

If it happened that he was selling Scotties he would have a perfectly marvelous song and dance about the superior qualities of these animals as against setters, spaniels and Boston bulls. But if he happened to be selling bulldogs or bird dogs he had an equally glib sales talk in their favor. He used always to wind up comparing dogs against cats, which were "insolent, cold, vicious, ungrateful, and altogether fishy."

Well, Herbert finally dropped out of sight and I didn't see him again until one night about two years ago. To my surprise he had a basket of kittens on his arm, and his swears were fullbodied Angoras and which he was retailing for 45 per cent. "One of the discouraging things about life as we live it today," he told me, "is that people cannot, or will not, realize what incomparable companions cats are. They are the kings of the earth. They personify grace. They are not subservient as dogs. They do not grovel and lick your hands after you beat them, as dogs do. Cats have a pride and a loftiness of character that many of us would do well to copy. They are affectionate and clean. They are the world's finest pets."

"This is quite a change in you," I told him. "I thought you disliked cats."

"That was because I was ignorant and didn't know any better," he said. "But now I have come to realize what incomparable fellows these animals are. Dogs are all right, but they run to a line. They are all the same. But now you take cats—their personalities are as complex as people's. They have a sense of nobility that dogs do not possess. To me there is no comparison between the two."

That was two years ago. Walking through Sixth avenue the other afternoon, near 46th street, I heard a familiar voice and saw a great crowd of men jamming the doors of one of those innumerable "circus" halls that line the section of this somewhat bizarre neighborhood.

When I shoved my noggin through the door and caught a glimpse of a little fellow before a glass cage of insects I easily recognized our old friend of the puppies and the kittens. He was serving as the master of a flea circus and giving an eloquent account of himself. "Yes, sir," he said, "quite, on that score. Not at all like cats, which rip the rugs to shreds, or dogs which do nothing but lie around waiting for somebody to scratch their ears. No, sir, not at all like dogs or cats."

He'd take fleas every time. The crowd, I am bound to admit, was much impressed.

Oklahoma Crude Production Up

TULSA, Okla., March 1 (AP)—Oklahoma crude oil production increased 3,025 barrels a day during the past week to a total of 409,725 barrels daily, the Tulsa World reports.

Kansas production was down 4,580 barrels daily to 292,550 barrels.

ALONG CAME CINDERELLA

By VIVIEN GREY

Chapter Six SPENDING MONEY In the city Lovely stopped to shop before taking the subway down town.

Off the subway she stopped again in little shops, groceries and delicatessens along Seventh Avenue. Cold cuts, Cheese, Salad packed in a waxed container, Fancy buns. Cake. Gert was to have the day off. No cooking. And in summer they all loved such things. Lovely all but fell in the door of the apartment, so laden was she.

"Greetings," she called gaily. Gert came hurrying out of the kitchen. "Oh, Lovely, you know I'd give you anything I've got. 'I know.' Lovely interrupted. 'You'd give me your whole life and all its happiness but you're not going to. If you have to hand that gift over to Sunny someday that's different. But I'm not taking any such packages from my sister.' An impulsive arm around her she kissed Gert's plain face.

"You're so beautiful, Lovely, you'd ought to have everything!" Gert said. "But Ring's having a tough time too. You know they haven't let him in the union yet. Looks as if he'll stay just halper all his life because he can't raise the dough to make it in."

Defending Ring, Lovely thought. Selfish quarrelsome Ring. Well that was love. And it was like Gert. But Gert was back on the old thought. "Then what was it, Lovely?" she asked anxiously. "I know nobody's giving money away for nothing."

"You tell me darling," Lovely said lightly as she started putting things away. "I'm not good at guessing games. The nuns at the Home always said I was too pretty to be very bright!"

But things were pleasant in the flat that night. Ring sat down to a cold dinner of special tastiness, across from a wife who was cool and rested and somehow a little dressed up and prettier to look at than usual.

Lovely, looking at them, paused on the thought of what a difference a little money made. "I've got to have it," she thought. "I've got to have it! Enough to smooth things. To beautify things. She'd never realized before how much money did mean. She had to have it. And Joe, who was calling for her soon, would never have it. He was caught in the same rut Ring was in. Helper. Truckers' helper. Too many men in the union for the work there was. They were protecting themselves by making entrance requirements stiffer than ever. Joe would never get the money together for it.

Lovely was still thoughtful when Joe called for her. Ring invited him in and offered her beer. But there was a movie up the block Joe wanted to take Lovely to see.

"Stepping," Ring said in clumsy good humor. "If Lovely's willing," was Joe's.

the tiny ship diamond that still lay in the purse with the 90 cents meant they were engaged. Gert took such things seriously. "No, sweetie pie, not Joe." Then at Gert's sharply alarmed look: "It wasn't what you're thinking at all!"

Rio Grande Valley Citrus Industry Expands

In 20 Years Development—

By RICHARD WEST Associated Press Staff

From the Magic Valley of Texas this month "nuggets of gold" rolled to market—seedless grapefruit that will squirt into the eyes and trickles down the throats of an estimated 25,000,000 consumers in forty-five states.

In only twenty years valley citrus developed from a few scattered plantings by "dreamers" to a $100,000,000 industry. This season's 15,000,000-box crop will be shipped to every state except California, Arizona and Florida, and to six provinces in Canada.

Chicago alone took 2,000 cars last year; Detroit 700; St. Louis 600; Minneapolis 500, and Toronto, Canada 300.

Before war disrupted commerce on sea lanes Texas grapefruit juice was an appetizer in many Parisian sidewalk cafes. It was a breakfast drink in Denmark and Norway. England took thousands of boxes.

As recently as 1920 the Valley produced only 3,000 boxes. Grapefruit wasn't even an infant industry then. But ten years later production had mounted to 1,000,000 boxes. Now it is fifteen times that.

Only Florida—with an average of 15,000,000 to 16,000,000 boxes annually—surpasses Texas, but the Valley is closing up the difference because 60 per cent of its trees have not yet reached full maturity.

Grapefruit played a major roll in the Valley's phenomenal growth since 1900—forty times the rate growth for Texas as a whole.

Thirty-five years ago the region was a semi-arid wasteland of mesquite and cactus, a land where Mexicans pastured goats on heavy underbrush.

Today a little strip of fertility twenty-five miles wide and seventy-five miles long—stretching like a big garden from the Gulf parallel to the Rio Grande—has the most intensive agricultural production in the nation's leading agricultural state.

In palm-lined groves, almost majestic in their beauty, 8,000 orchardists meticulously cultivate 8,000,000 citrus trees.

Chemists and industrialists, working together, are combining to extend the citrus market, increase the demand.

Last season 7,000,000 boxes were canned into juice which was consumed the year round. Valley canners gave seasonal employment to 2,000 workers.

Waste citrus peel—long a problem around canneries—is now dehydrated, mixed with molasses, fed to cattle.

This same peel, mixed with molasses, forms metallic pectinate, a medicinal product good for intestinal disorders. A new $500,000 Valley plant soon will be turning out the product in big volumes.

Valley bakers tried a new experiment with success—mixing citrus juice with flour to form a high-vitamin-content bread.

Yet, despite its beauty, despite its amazing agricultural diversity, Valley chamber of commerce estimates that 5,000,000 persons in Texas' 8,000,000-plus population have never been to the region.

Juanita Jones, Adran Looney, Win Essay Contest On Trees

Cash Prizes Awarded By Daily Herald

Prize awards in The Herald's tree essay contest for high school and elementary students were announced today following a complete study of material submitted by teachers in the local system.

In the high school Juanita Jones submitted the winning essay, and Virginia Burns was awarded second place.

Adran Looney, fifth grade student at Central Ward was winner in the elementary school division, and Joe Fowler Brooks, T&E student, took second place. In each division the awards will be $2 for first place and $1 for second place. Checks will be furnished to school authorities Monday for delivery to winning students.

Judges were impressed by quality of the essays, particularly in the elementary division where the competition was as close as the entries were numerous. Out of the top 10 there were no more than 15 points between the winner and 10th place.

Miss Jones observed that a tree "should be cherished. It has beautiful foliage and benefits us in a multitude of practical ways, providing shade, clothing, shelter and food. We never lose the feeling that they are the noblest of the plant world." Miss Burns' essay dealt with a more technical study of trees in general.

"Try to think what a barren place the earth would be without trees," wrote Adran Looney. "Our city would be far from beautiful without its trees and shrubs. It is our duty as school children to do all we can to care for the trees we have and to encourage the planting of more trees."

Joe Fowler Brooks had an original suggestion. "I think," he wrote, "it would be grand for girls and boys to have a 'tree club.' We could pledge ourselves to plant a tree each year and we could help our chamber of commerce and civic clubs by taking care of the trees we already have."

Building Operations Gain Momentum At Local Airport

Building operations on the Big Spring airport terminal house are gaining headway after a shut down of several days duration because of inclement weather.

Workers have completed basement excavation for the field administration building and are now engaged in erecting forms and shoring in preparation for running concrete. None of the ground-level construction has started yet, although building piling holes have been dug by NTA crews.

A few minor changes in plans have been made but the general design as originally drawn are being followed. Carrying out the southwestern theme, the building is to be a one story, low-lying structure of bitudobe, a material composed chiefly of adobe mud and asphalt. According to existing plans, the Mexican motif will be further carried out with an adobe wall around the building and an inclosed patio.

One of the American Airlines officials said the Big Spring airport would stand a better chance of being remembered by plane passengers because of its unusual design instead of becoming just another stop as is the case at the small airports when a conventional square terminal is erected.

Friday morning, cross-section studies of the field runways were being completed by Norcliffe Meyer of the city engineering staff. From these cross-sections engineers will be able to determine the grade and amount of material to be added to the runways in order to allow the airport to handle the heaviest army and navy bombers. Increased traffic necessitates a widening of runways, a work that is slated to get underway in a short time.

Texas Gains 72 Producing Wells

AUSTIN, March 1 (AP) — Texas now has 95,660 producing oil wells, a gain of 72 in the past week, the state railroad commission reported today.

The commission estimated that actual Texas production this week averaged 1,304,479 barrels a day, or 22,921 below the bureau of mines recommendation for March.

Texans Asked To Eat More Meat

AUSTIN, March 1 (AP) — While people of war torn Europe faced food rationing, Texans in contrast today were urged to eat more and more.

Proclaiming the week of March 3-8 as "Eat-More Meat" week, Governor W. Lee O'Daniel cited the state's "boundless resources and unlimited products" in asking citizens to join in the observance.

Commenting that Texas leads the nation in production of cattle, sheep and goats, the governor said the campaign was to stimulate interest and create the greatest possible home market for the industry.

petroleum paragraphs

By MADELINE CRIMMINS

This is a sort of experiment—a column devoted to employees of Coeden Petroleum corporation. It may not be such a noble experiment—prohibition was and look what happened to it—but at least it's an experiment. We hope you like it.

Congratulations have been in order for R. W. "Stormy" Thompson and Neal Bumgarner who were recently married.

James Underwood has gone to work for the credit department. Robert "Pepper" Martin has just been promoted from office boy to sample man in the laboratory, taking the place of Edwin Hallmark, who was called to the army. Leonard Morgan is another Coeden employe who has deserted civilian garb for khaki.

Bill on the subject of the draft, T. A. Harris has passed his physical and W. E. Pate and J. B. Allen are scheduled for them.

L. B. "Zeks" Waldrep returned to the office Friday, after being home sick week Tuesday.

June Sheppard started the CAA ground school course Friday night.

Mrs. A. V. Karcher, wife of the secretary-treasurer, is expected to return to Big Spring today or the early part of the week. She has been in Wichita Falls, where she underwent an operation.

It's from shoes to gasoline for W. D. "Scotty" Scott, who went to work in the bulk plant Saturday.

Mrs. J. Y. Starkey, Jr., known out here as Vera Louise Whitton, spent last weekend in El Paso with Mr. Starkey.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Terrel and their young son, Tommy, have been the guests of Mrs. Opal Bates, recipient and telephone operator, this past week. Mrs. Terrel is the sister of Mrs. Bates.

Mrs. Velva Glass, June Sheppard, Bob Ward, and Lee Harris, office employes, went into Fort Worth this weekend.

Leap Year Child Has No Birthday But Has Party

A birthday party was given for Jan Arthur Saturday morning in the home of her parents with guests her fellow students at the arar school, Jan, who is a leap year child, merely was a year older.

It will be three more years before she has an honest-to-goodness birthday anniversary.

The children had been to KBST where they had presented a program of the rhythm band. They were dressed in their blue and red and gold band uniforms.

The tables were decorated in the patriotic colors and centered with drums. Miniature gold bugles and drums were favors that were drawn out of the drums by ribbons.

Balloons of the patriotic colors were in the room and the birthday cake was also decorated and topped with the honoree's name and five candles.

The group sang "Happy Birthday" and cake and Dixie cups were served to Billie Manell, Freddie Sue Moore, Mary and Frances Brady, Eddie Murphy, Betty Huneycutt, Sandra Swartz, Linda French, Patsy Maddux, Nancy and Carol Winslow, Roxanne Brennan.

Jimmy Hicks, Mary Jane Rowe, Thelma and Sonny Tucker, Eleanor Jo Laker, Annette Deats, Betty Ann Walters, Jerry Scott, Beverly and Sandra Trappell, Elouise Carroll, J. Van Arthur, the honoree, Mrs. Art Winslow, Mrs. Walter Deats, Mrs. E. O. Hicks, Mrs. Amelia Farrar and Betty Farrar.

Miss 'Laneous' Notes

By MARY WHALEY

Some words are so expressive that they don't need an adjective hung before them. But some words are so weak-kneed that you have to use a couple of adjectives to get over what you mean.

Words like happy for instance. That is sort of a winky-washy word that needs another word like "very" or the prefix "un" to make it stand up by itself.

And take a word like sweet, which we wish nobody ever would, that is such a light-weight word that it needs a little helper like "so" to keep it from falling of its own weight.

But take words like gloom. It stands out by itself without aid of anything and there is no doubt as to what it means. Or, a word like sprightly. That even sounds like what it means.

But of all the words that sound as they mean, and look like they mean, there is no word like "weary." It doesn't mean tired and it doesn't mean sleepy. It means only what it says—weary.

It doesn't need another little word to make it stand up by itself. And all the other words that are synonymous are only shadowy carbon copies.

Why this word is so impressive to us, isn't hard to explain because that's just the way we feel today—wary.

Repeat License Numbers By Chance, Not Design

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. — Mathematically-minded persons who like to figure odds have a real problem to consider in the case of Robert Borst.

Borst received a 1941 license plate with exactly the same letter and number combination he received in 1940. He merely stood in line, drew two other sets of plates for relatives, and then was handed plate number WF-11-41 from the hands of a clerk who was a stranger.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

The Commissioners' Court of Howard County will receive sealed bids until the 17th day of March, A.D. 1941, at ten o'clock a. m., on the following equipment:

1—Heavy Duty Auto Patrol
There is to be traded in on said purchase the following used equipment:

1—International TD 40 tractor
1—Adams Fresno
All bids must be accompanied by bond or certified check in the amount of five per cent of the bid.

The Court reserves the right to reject any and all bids. Given under my hand and seal of office this 1st day of March, A. D. 1941.

Moore P-T. A. Plans Banquet

MOORE, Mar. 1 (Sp1)—Plans for the chamber of commerce goodwill dinner which will be held March 18 were made by the Moore P-T. A. Friday afternoon.

These attending were Mrs. Dick King, Mrs. Lottie Holland, Mrs. Lester Newton, Mrs. G. J. Hammack, Sr., Mrs. J. M. Thomas, Mrs. M. E. Broughton, Mrs. Henry Long, Mrs. Jack Daniels, Mrs. J. C. Groff, Arsh Phillips and Anna Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Troy Posey and children, Delois, Margiere, Mary Helen, Arthur, Charles and Patsy Ann, were called to the bedside of her father, J. W. Burchett of Bowie.

This community was saddened by the death of Mrs. Forrest Mott, who passed away early Friday morning in a Big Spring hospital. Mrs. Mott had been gravely ill for two months. Besides her husband, son and mother-in-law, she leaves a host of friends in this community.

Mrs. E. M. Newton is suffering from a case of mumps this week. Mrs. W. H. Ward returned Saturday evening from Snyder where she has been visiting for the past two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Powell of this community have moved to O'Donnell to make their home. Charlie Sullivan is being absent from school with a neck injury.

Soldiers Stop For Drink And Park Time-Bomb

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND—

A large army lorry wheeled into the courtyard of a hotel and pulled up.

"Just in time for a drink," commented one of the two soldier occupants as they got out and went into the bar.

The landlord noticed that they belonged to the Royal Engineers, and then glanced at the lorry in the courtyard. Suddenly he froze.

The lorry carried an unexploded 1,000-pound time-bomb.

Doc Cauble Sells Eight Young Bulls

I. B. "Doc" Cauble sold eight of his yearling bulls to Tom Good in a trade completed Friday. Sale price was not disclosed, but Cauble has averaged $200 on his yearling bull crop this season. Within the past 30 days he has sold 35 of his two year bulls. Kelly Phillips, Separ, N. M., bought 17 of the sire, Mr. Wright, Alice, father of Mrs. E. V. Spence of Big Spring, bought eight, and L. R. Stringer of Wichita Falls bought 10 for his ranch at Broome. Cauble is encouraged over range prospects for this season, declaring that continued light rains have left his pastures in the best shape since 1932. This year he has been an active participant in sales, picking off a few choice animals to fit into his program of producing line-bred Anxiety 4th animals. He consigned three bulls and five cows to the Strubling sale, getting more than $1,000 for two bulls. To show what he thought of the animals he offered the buyer $50 for service this spring on a number of his dams.

reheat when current was cut temporarily for testing. Another told how she was making ice cream when current was stopped for an inspection. "It made good milk shake," she said. Incidentally, many of those on the line got the first power bill in their lives last month. Baseball fans will be interested in the announcement that Jodie Tate and Tink Riviere have effected a working agreement with Brooklyn for the season. This will put them in a better financial position and open the way for getting a supply of promising young players. Signs are shaping up which indicate some early action on the CAA-WPA airport project, which amounts to $740,000. CAA has asked for a statement on land ownership, indicating it is ready to give the high sign to go ahead as soon as this is forthcoming. Now pending in the legislature is an enabling act which will validate the city $25,000 airport bond issue. It is necessary to permit the city to float the issue for a part of more than 640 acres.

Stanton Boy To Show Calf In Amarillo

STANTON, March 1 (Sp)—Billy Sadler, whose calf, Dickie, won the fifth annual Martin county livestock show championship here in February, planned to leave today for the Amarillo Exposition and Fat Stock show opening March 3. Billy also plans to enter two other calves in the show. Tom Estes and Elmer Anderson, Martin 4-H club boys, planned to take five calves each to the Amarillo show. The Sadler brothers, Billy and Russell, will exhibit six of their baby beeves at the Fort Worth exposition which starts March 7. Both are experienced feeders and showmen, having won the grand championship at El Paso, Amarillo, Big Spring, reserve at San Angelo and top honors at Fort Worth in the past.

reply. "Say boy take it from me that girl's not willing. She's eager! One eager dame!"

Sometimes Ring's crude humor annoyed Lovely. But she ignored it. Her mind was occupied with other things. Ring hadn't offered Joe beer for weeks, in fact hardly spoke to him when he called, she recalled. That was what money did. It smoothed things so.

Emily

At an estate on Heeslan Hill, north of Croton, a party was in progress. Cocktails were being passed. Scotch was being poured. Laughter echoed musically on the August night air. The scent of costly perfumes vied with the fragrance of petunias in the shadowy garden. The Hudson River far below was a silver ribbon between two black velvet banks. Occasionally a boat looking like a gaudy toy with its myriad lights moved silently over the silver. Cars on the Albany Post Road were like fireflies regimented into an orderly procession. Now and then the whistle of a train came pleasantly muted.

It was a perfect night. And to all appearances a perfect party. Paula Dane's parties were always an achievement in gaiety. But for two people at least profound and ominous forces were working under the bright surface of the scene.

Emily Perry, pretty in an undisturbed way, and Roger Cosgrave had been caught up in a little chattering gossiping group, whose glasses clinked often and whose laughter was suggestively frequent and free.

"She's a gal with no presence but golly what a trail she leaves!" someone commented through his daughter. "Flaming if you ask me!"

"Don't be hard on Marl, boys and girls! She may be just an unhappy widow but she's eager!" "Sugar puss go pawn that pout you're wearing for a face!"

Roger had listened to their light banter a thousand times before and been amused by it. Tonight it jarred. It seemed to destroy or at least interrupt a train of thought and he was impatient at the interruption.

Emily peered through the shadows at him. She slipped her hand through his arm.

"Come on," she said softly. It was a pleasantly cultivated voice in which he had to imagine emotion ever reaching any noticeable pitch. Controlled. Elegant. "I want to look at the river."

Bullitt Gets Answer From Aid Bill Foes

WASHINGTON, March 1 (AP)—Foes of the least-land bill insisted in the senate today that despite restrictive provisions President Roosevelt could "give" any portion of the navy to the British, and, moreover, could consolidate the American and British fleets.

With these statements, they coupled an attack on William C. Bullitt, former ambassador to France, for, they said, making propaganda speeches in this country, and for asserting in a recent address that the opponents of the bill were suffering from "political dementia praecox."

Wheeler took the floor at the outset of the session to continue a long prepared speech he began yesterday. Several senators, Lucas (D-Ill), Tunnell (D-Del), and Smathers (D-NJ), also had prepared speeches.

Administration leaders, concerned over the continued lengthy speech-making, talked among themselves, meanwhile, of longer sessions next week in an effort to speed a final vote.

Less than half the senate seats were occupied, but the galleries were jammed.

Methodist Hold Emergency Crusade

Two Methodist churches of Big Spring—the First church and Wesley Memorial—will participate today in the Methodist Emergency Million crusade in a nation-wide attempt to raise funds for three war-caused appeals.

Today plates will be passed in 43,194 Methodist congregations to raise $250,000 for religious and social wellbeing of young men in army camps; $250,000 for assisting the mother church in England; and $500,000 to continue and supplement Methodist overseas relief, said the Rev. J. O. Haynes, First Methodist pastor.

Membership of the committee is composed of representatives from eight soil areas of the county and includes Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Hacker, M. L. Hamlin, Mrs. C. B. Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Prather, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Petty, L. N. Powell, J. F. Winans, Mr. and Mrs. O. D. O'Daniel.

Marriages Rush Justice Of Peace

Walter Grice, justice of peace, started off like a lion with March here Saturday. He handled four misdemeanor cases in short order and then officiated at three weddings. He solemnized wedding vows for Oliver Vaughn, Jr., Stanton, and Eunice Hillger, Garden City, and for W. M. Calhoun, Buffalo Gap, and Elizabeth Mosley, Atlanta, during the day and then for Marion Newton and Chloe Stuteville Saturday evening. Newton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Newton and Mrs. Newton the daughter of B. Stuteville. Pauline Schubert accompanied the couple.

Southwest Business Gains Continue, Review Shows

DALLAS, March 1 (AP)—Continued improvement in Texas and southwestern business conditions was indicated in the federal reserve bank's business review issued here today.

Steadily soaring retail and wholesale sales and a favorable outlook for agriculture and livestock were reflected in the review for the seventh district covering Texas, southeast Oklahoma, southern half of New Mexico, northern half of Louisiana and southeast Arizona.

The bank's index for department store sales rose from 116 per cent of the 1923-25 average in December to 126 per cent in January. Dollar value of sales in January was 14 per cent greater than a year earlier.

During the first half of February, the review disclosed, merchandise distribution at reporting department stores was one-fifth greater than in the corresponding 1940 period.

Intermittent rains delayed farm work in the southwest during January, but added precipitation gave farmers and ranchmen a good "subsoil" moisture supply—a favorable factor for wheat and small grain growers.
