General Nobile Radios Own Story of Disaster to Dirigible Italia

ACCUMULATED ICE ON SHIP IS CRASH CAUSE

Escape of Crew Is Miraculous—Injured Men Better

FROST BITES ARE SEVERE

Aviators Will Try to Drop Medicine From Planes

ROME, June 13.—(P)—General Umberto Nobile's own story of the wrecking of the dirigible Italia in the Arctic was received today by the Stefani news agency.

It was summarized as follows: "At 10:30 a. m. on May 25 while the Italia was flying normally at a height of 500 meters, suddenly the weight increased (apparently by snow and ice forming on the bag). The airship began a rapid plunge which it was impossible to halt and in two minutes it crashed upon the polar ice pack.

"The cabin and part of the upper bracing were torn away while the bag was carried by the wind in an easterly direction.

Escape Miraculous
"Among the debris on the ice all the occupants of the cabin were found miraculously to be alive. Scattered on the ice around them was almost all the material which formed the cabin.

"Only a minute after the plunge, Nobile and his companions cried passionately: 'Viva Italia!'

"On the evening of May 30 about 12 kilometers northeast of Foyone island, Captain A. Maritano and Captain Filippo Zappi and the Swedish scientist Dr. Finn Malmgren started with provisions for North Cape. They intended to cover 10 kilometers a day.

"There were left with Nobile, the Czechoslovak scientist Professor F. Dehounek, Lieutenant A. Vigliani, engineer Trotani, motor chief Natale Vecconio and Giuseppe Biagi, radio operator.

Plenty of Food
"The other members of the crew remained with the drifting dirigible. They will have food enough for three months and are supplied with complete equipment.

"In the group with General Nobile there are two injured. One of them is already convalescent. The other, suffering from a leg injured below the knee, will recover eventually."

General Nobile said the ice had broken up a little and open leads were showing between the floes. He gave his position last night as 80 degrees 38 minutes north, 26 degrees 55 minutes east.

Radio communication between the Italia's survivors and the base ship Citta di Milano, which was difficult last night, was good today.

KINGS BAY, Spitzbergen, June 13.—(P)—Captain Risler-Larsen and Lieutenant Luetzow Holm, Norwegian fliers, were ready to start today on a determined attempt to bring help to the stranded crew of the Italia no win desperate straits on drifting pack ice.

The sealer Hobby, after battering its way through open leads, was in open water today and the Norwegian fliers were planning to take off as soon as conditions were favorable in an effort to find the Italia's radio party, of which General Nobile is head, somewhere near Foyone Island off the coast of Northeast Land.

Two favorable circumstances were present today. A blizzard, which had been sweeping the Archipelago, spent

CUPID DISCOVERS MARATHON DANCE SPLENDID ALLY

Two Couples Became Engaged and Estranged Pair Reconciled

CHICAGO, June 13.—(P)—A marathon dance apparently is a good place not only to become engaged, but to reconcile matrimonial differences.

Frank and May Brown of South Sioux City, Neb., only married couple in the long distance dance which started here June 3 were estranged when they entered the contest, but when they dropped out after 244 hours of dancing, announced they had made up and that there would be no divorce.

The only other two couples still left on the floor said they had become engaged.

Amarillo Firm to Furnish Brick for Gray Courthouse

The Acme Brick company of Amarillo was awarded the contract to furnish brick for the new Gray county court house at a meeting of the county commissioners yesterday.

Mingie shades of gray, buff, and light brown were the colors selected to harmonize with the design of the four-story building specified by W. R. Kauffman, local architect.

Plans for the building as a whole are nearing completion. Mr. Kauffman said this morning. When completed it will be one of the most beautiful in design and convenient in arrangement of courthouses in this part of the country.

The structure will set on a granite base, and from the granite base there will be 16 feet of stone; from there to the top will be the brick in the light shades, the plans show. The windows and casings are all-steel.

On the first floor the plans call for general offices, making it convenient to the general public for ordinary transactions; and on the second floor the county court room will be located, with miscellaneous office space.

A miscellaneous district court room capable of seating 600 person and a gallery for 150 spectators is to be located in the center of the third floor. Jury rooms, consultation rooms, attorneys' office, and other conveniences are specified for this floor.

The jail will be on the fourth floor and an elevator leading from the sheriff's office on the first floor will be used to convey prisoners to their cells.

Santa Fe Given Right to Purchase Kell Railroads

Permission for the Santa Fe to purchase the Clinton and Oklahoma Western railroad of Texas and Oklahoma from Frank Kell was granted by the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington today, the Associated Press informed The News this afternoon.

This action is expected to cause immediate assembling of crews and letting of contracts for the Pampa to Cheyenne road, which is part of the Kell properties.

Frank Kell of Wichita Falls, who holds the I. C. C. permit for the railroad from Pampa to Cheyenne, Okla., was here this week in connection with the project.

A road bed one mile long has been thrown up ten miles east of the city, and Santa Fe engineers have made extensive surveys preparatory to taking over the work as soon as the Santa Fe is given the I. C. C. permit to assume the contracts by purchase. It is understood the Rock Island railroad is opposing this purchase, but the desired permit is expected momentarily.

Wheat is luxuriant along the right-of-way, and more delay would permit harvesting and save payment of damage to the crops.

In Search for the Italia

J. S. Wynne Starts Two-Story Brick Building on Cuyler

Foundation work has begun on a new two-story brick building, 50 by 130 feet, to be owned by J. S. Wynne and located by the Clem building now under construction on north Cuyler St.

The space on the first floor will be used for a store and the second floor will be equipped for offices, Mr. Wynne stated.

W. R. Kauffman is the architect. The general contract will be let soon.

Human Fly Will Climb Hotel Today

Henry D. D. Roland noted "Human Fly" was to climb the new Schneider hotel at 2:30 p. m. today and will perform again at 7:30 p. m. it was announced today.

BRUTAL MURDER OF LAMAR BANKER REVEALED IN FINDING OF BULLET RIDDLED BODY IN HUT

Assistant Cashier Had Been Carried to Bad Lands of Western Kansas by Bandits

LIBERAL, Kansas, June 13.—(P)—Discovery of the body of a man in an abandoned shack near here left four desperadoes who recently robbed a bank at Lamar, Colo., credited with a fourth murder.

The body was identified as that of E. A. Kessinger, assistant cashier of the First National bank of Lamar. He was abducted by the robbers May 23, last, when they fled with a large amount of loot, after killing A. N. Parrish, president of the bank, and his son, John Parrish, the cashier.

Located in the bad lands of Western Kansas, the shack apparently had not been searched by hundreds of possemen who patrolled parts of four states for several days after the robbery. While there were suggestions that the body may have been placed in the hut recently, this theory generally was scouted.

A school girl member of a picnic party found the body yesterday. The man had been shot to death, apparently more than two weeks ago. A rusty pistol lay on the floor. Identification was made through a lodge card, a Masonic ring, and a hunting license belonging to Kessinger, however, authorities decided it would be necessary to summon relatives of the missing cashier before positive identity of the body could be announced.

Little hope was held that Kessinger's life would be spared, after the robbers summoned Doctor W. W. Wineberger of Dighton, Kansas from his home the night of May 24 and shot him to death. The physician presumably was called to administer to one of the four wounded by the two bank officials, killed when they resisted. The doctor's body was found in a gulley along with his automobile and medical equipment.

Although posses, aided by airplanes, searched parts of Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska, and Oklahoma they failed to locate the fugitives. The robbers obtained about $10,000 in cash and $75,000 in bonds.

TEXAS BATTLE OVER SEATING GROWS WARM

Contest Is Taken to Floor of General Convention

CREAGER MEN ARE SUSTAINED

Pollard's Opinion Scoffed at as Binding on Republicans

CONVENTION HALL, KANSAS CITY, June 13.—(P)—Twenty-two district delegates from Texas, hostile to Hoover, failed to gain permanent seats in the Republican convention today after a fight had been made from the floor to place them on the roll in the place of Hoover pledged delegates.

By L. R. DILBECK,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

KANSAS CITY, June 13.—(P)—Waged furiously and loudly through the credentials committee, the battle over seating of national committeeman R. B. Creager's convention-picked Texas Republican delegation moved Wednesday to floor of the national convention.

After arguments lasting past Tuesday midnight, the credentials committee voted 34 to 15 for seating the Creager delegation as recommended by the national executive committee. Congressmen Harry Wurzbach, contesting the seats in behalf of delegates elected by congressional districts, said the decision would be appealed to the convention.

May Change Rules
Wurzbach's final move carried with an unanswered challenge from former Senator Lenroot, Wisconsin, Creager's counsel, that the congressman demand a change in national rules providing now for selection of district delegates by state conventions. The Creager castled mainly on these rules.

With a booming voice and waving arms Congressman Albert H. Vestal of Indiana, appealed to the credentials committee to preserve what he held to be the old party custom of district elections of delegates and "not to crucify the party in the South by removing the districts incentive to vote."

He argued that since the Texas law does not prohibit election of delegates by congressional districts, this custom should be supported by the national convention as a Republican principle dating back to the historic Garfield precedent.

Uses Ridicule
"Did a Democratic state that never elected but one republican congressman Mr. Wurzbach, pass a law to tell the sovereign Republican party how to destroy itself in Texas? Vestal shouted. He ridiculed the idea that delegates "800 miles away" could go to a state convention and vote for national delegates to supplant Congressman Wurzbach in his own district.

He also scoffed at an opinion from attorney General Pollard of Texas to Euzenroth.

The throng which numbered perhaps between 1,500 and 2,000 were led to the very doors of the auditorium by Edgar D. Bush, formerly lieutenant-governor of Indiana, and now the Republican candidate for that office. The on-rolling column of protesters swarmed right up to the front door of the auditorium and were half way through the runway which bordered the hall proper when several squads of policemen rushed up and by strenuous methods forced them back outside the door.

Commerce Secretary's Cohorts Are In Complete Control—Seat Creager's Texans

BY BYRON PRICE
Associated Press Staff Writer

CONVENTION HALL, Kansas City, June 13 (AP)—In a session like a play with the leading characters left out, but which none the less provided one more visible proof of the complete control of the Hoover cohorts over the party organization, the Republican National Convention today installed its permanent officers, settled a fiery delegate contest from Texas, and then recessed until 7:30 o'clock tonight.

The missing star of the convention cast—The farm relief issue—hovered meantime in the wings. While a platform sub-committee wrestled unavailingly for an agreement on a farm plank a group of shouting, demonstrating farmers paraded outside convention hall and one attempted to bring the issue before the convention.

self was promptly smothered by party officials. By tonight a report from the platform makers is hoped for, and only on farm relief but possibly also here is a promise of a floor fight not on the prohibition plank.

The first and only roll call thus far in the big quadrennial session of the Republicans, thought by some to provide a fairly accurate index to the strength Herbert Hoover will command for the presidency on the first ballot tomorrow, had or its immediate issue the seating of a group of Hoover delegates from Texas, whose credentials were challenged by a rival political faction in the state. The Hooverites won out and the delegation was seated 676-1-2 to 395-1-2, with Secretary Mellon casting all of Pennsylvania's 79 in the Hoover column.

KANSAS CITY, June 13.—(P)—A throng of farmers, protesting the nomination of Herbert Hoover and gathering numbers as it proceeded, stormed the Republican convention hall today and were prevented from carrying their cries to the delegation only by the threatening clubs of policemen.

Frustrated in their initial endeavor to storm the interior of the convention hall, the farmers shouting "we

Continuance Is Asked in City of Pampa Civil Suit

Judge Newton P. Willis is in charge of the 84th district court here today, and now is considering a request for continuance of the case of Della Todd against the City of Pampa. The plaintiff's attorneys are opposing the motion.

Miss Todd seeks $35,000 damages for alleged personal injuries received in an automobile accident here last year. The car struck a ditch and she was hurt. Her sister, Mickey Todd was killed. In a previous trial, Miss Todd was granted damages of $1,800, but attorneys for both sides joined in a motion for a new trial, which was granted.

Judge Willis called the docket today and began to set cases. Actively at work, the grand jury already has returned eighteen bills of indictment.

Borger Is Granted Free Mail Delivery

BORGER, June 13.—(Special)—Free mail carrier service has been granted by the federal postal department to Borger effective August 1. Postmaster Harry Rothchild has been informed.

Free mail and motorized parcel post delivery service has been granted for zones lying south of North Tenth street, old Dixon street, and one block on street each side of Main street south to Grand street in Isom.

Two carriers will be employed, with one truck driver, who will pick up and deliver first class mail and parcel post matter twice daily in the approved zone.

After the streets and houses had been properly marked under the new designation, Postmaster Rothchild informed the postal department at Fort Worth that the city was ready for inspection.

Cliff Brasley, candidate for district attorney in Judge W. R. Ewing's court, is here in the interest of his campaign.

PANHANDLE SETTLEMENT

Operations, discussed at a meeting of the Panhandle Development Association this week, took form definitely enough to be considered by the various communities of this region.

Briefly, the decisions were these:

- 1. Employment of a man to prepare and exhibit three composite exhibits in Kansas, Nebraska, and Iowa.
2. Home-demonstration agents will prepare portions of the exhibit bearing upon their work.
3. Publicity will include newspaper display advertising in the towns where exhibits are shown...

It will be noted from the above outline that county agents and county home demonstration agents would have to do much of the work.

Work for Clubs

Members of the Business and Professional Women's club of Sweetwater have taken an admirable step—that of starting a scholarship and loan fund.

Too many organizations limit their efforts to themselves. The best work comes through helping others, and in this activity there is apt to be the minimum amount of jealousies and friction.

The Naughty Oyster

The oyster has long typified helplessness. "Dumb as an oyster," one of the effective similes, is an old saying.

Now the oyster has turned. He is actually defying mankind, and the scientific section of the race, too.

Singing oysters off Hatteras and other coastal points are interfering with radio-tests. Underwater radio is getting to be important.

It may be the spirit of spring, or just indignation at radio broadcasts. Anyhow, the naval radio men would like to know what inspires the bivalves and how they may be quieted.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER

KANSAS CITY—One can hear anything here. The trouble is a fellow has a heck of a time knowing who and what to believe.

If it weren't for fear of being called before the Senate campaign expenses committee, your correspondent might pass along some of these weird convention-eye reports that are going the rounds.

He might be able to dig up, without much trouble, a story to the effect that the virtuous Herbert Hoover didn't bid high enough for Republican delegates in the south.

By all the rules of smart politics as played in the south in bygone days, it was then up to some anti-Hoover warner to follow in Holland's footsteps and sow the acreage all over again with bigger and better seeds.

But this is a highly moral age and no one would ever suppose that such undercover tactics were being employed today—except politicians and cynical newspapermen.

loting. In any event, please remember that you can't prove anything by me.

"The leaders of the farmer organizations are for Dawes," says a leader in the "farm revolt". "They know what he has done in Washington to help the McNary-Haugen bill through Congress.

"But when you get out in the tall grass you find that the farmers themselves are overwhelmingly for Lowden. They don't know so much about Dawes and they regard Lowden as a farmer himself, with their interests at heart.

In the office of the House committee on agriculture, of which Congressman Gilbert N. Haugen of Iowa is chairman are photographs of Dawes and Coolidge. The photographer rather cunningly fashioned a halo around the Dawes head, a fact remarked by all observant visitors.

Dawes has a better chance of Republican nomination than many writers profess to believe and the pre-convention period brought a recrudescence of the Dawes talk among politicians which your correspondent first noted last summer.

"The east isn't sore at Dawes," explains a Massachusetts politician who is perhaps as close to Chairman William M. Butler as any of his lieutenants to get. "They know he would be satisfactory to their interests except perhaps on farm relief and they suppose he would work out something on that, if he were president, that wouldn't make anybody sore."

TWINKLES

Really, Mr. Coolidge is to be congratulated that the only ear he has to keep close to the ground is the one next to the fishing pole—tuning in for a nibble.

But the man Smith is tuning in, and he may get a thrill or two also.

June comes before the July primaries, and it might be a good campaign stunt if marrying justices would do the work for nothing as a vote getter.

Nebraska, where the corn flows, has struck oil—too many flows.

Law enforcement suggestion: Why not take some of these speed demons and make them drive some of the horses cooped up in the pound and needing exercise?

BARBS

Might as well abandon the safe and sane Fourth idea. Firecrackers can be legislated out of existence, but there seems to be no way of abolishing the honking motorist.

Miss Earhart has earned the nickname, "the Girl Lindy". Great chance for some newspaper to offer a prize for "the girl Levine".

There's a rumor that China is to have peace now that Chang Tso-lin has fled. That gives the country a Chinaman's chance.

If Lindbergh really wants to sink into obscurity, why doesn't he try to break into the "Letters to the Editor" columns?

Wilbur Glenn Voliva must be right, after all. It's vacation time, and if the world really isn't flat, it surely is badly bent.

Sometimes a politician who persists in sitting on the fence gets the gate.

Thieves entered several business buildings in Trenton, Mo., and took the fixtures. No public buildings were reported broken into, however, and the city officials are all safe.

Once upon a time there was a stenographer who asked her boss for an osculating fan.

The girls have taken to wearing fish-net stockings. What chance has a poor fish got?

According to the song writer, down in the cornfield is where "that mournful sound" came from. When last heard from the sound was reported traveling toward Kansas City.

Queen Marie is coming over again, according to a dispatch from Rumania. Any number of advertising writers in New York are said to be anxious to teach her majesty how to pick out cigarets blindfolded.

A Chicago beauty doctor says 90 per cent of our girls are not so beautiful after all, according to standards of pulchritude. We've never seen a copy of the regulations.

Some singers make pretty good salaries, but still issue a false note here and there.

CARD OF THANKS

Dear Friends: We take this method of expressing our sincere thanks for the many kind deeds, thoughts and acts that you extended us during the illness and death of our dearest little Truitt Millard. Although words fail us as we try to tell you just how we appreciate what you have done, only those who have had the experience know that words can not do it. Truitt Millard was taken sick May 30 with intestinal flu. He seemed to realize his condition. He begged to go home and asked for his sister, Willie Bob's hair to be cut so they would be ready to go home. He fought his battle through and told mother he was all right and he had crossed the muddy water when he was still in his mother's arms. Nothing pleased him any more than for Daddy and Mother to teach him about Jesus. He loved his Sunday School and teacher and had many friends, especially girl friends. Especially do we thank Dr. Hunter for his kind and earnest attention, also Rev. Truitt for his consoling words. May God's richest blessings rest upon each and every one of you in our earnest prayer.

SAN ANGELO, June 13.—(AP)—Heavy rain beat crops into the ground in this section last night. Farmers were busy today checking the damage. At Verbot, east of here, approximately six inches of rain fell during the night. The rain was general over a 200-mile area.

1500,000 Fish Await Presidential Hook At Wisconsin Lodge

Trout are reared in private hatcheries at the Cedar Island, Wis., lodge where President Coolidge will vacation this summer. Some estimates put the number of trout on the estate as high as 150,000. Here is one spot in the Brule river in which the president, shown in his fishing togs, will cast his line this summer.

If President Coolidge should remark on a particular day this summer that he would like to catch a brook trout weighing about three pounds, his Cedar Island host would have little difficulty filling the tumbling Brule river that flows past the Lodge with just that weight fish.

They count their fish on the Pierce estate by the thousands, and they are privately raised. Estimates of the number of trout here range as high as 150,000. E. M. Lambert, superintendent of the Pierce hatcheries, doesn't know himself just how many there are.

There are thousands in the dozen or so pools adjoining the private hatchery. There are other thousands back in the several private lakes on the estate, cared for and guarded by specially trained men. Others are being hatched daily.

Separated according to weight and size they are a sight to open any sportsman's eyes. They are fed with a liver preparation and so carefully kept that the workmen hesitate to keep one out of the water even long enough to have its picture taken.

The townfolk assert that when it is known in advance that the fish are to be "used" they are kept on light rations for a few days, so that they will be more attracted to the bait.

It may be pointed out when the presidential fishing season gets under way that the trout placed in the back lakes are left to their own devices and become "wild". Or the president may leave the Pierce estate and do his fishing on other parts of the Brule river or neighboring streams and lakes.

The Brule is a straggling erratic little river that twists and turns its way through northwestern Wisconsin, and it is known as one of the best trout streams in the country.

It rises in springs a few miles northeast of Lake St. Croix and flows in a general northerly direction toward Lake Superior. In places it looks like a puddle, but in others it becomes a rushing, noisy stream, pushing its way over rapids and falls.

The Brule reaches its height of beauty at the Pierce estate, where it has been converted into three separate streams, some of them forming small and beautiful lakes. It is navigable only by canoes.

Texas Pitchers Shut Out First Division Clubs

(By The Associated Press.)
In an era of heavy hitting, two Texas league pitchers claim to have what it takes to stop the batsmen. They are Hubbell of Beaumont and Earnabe of Waco, both of whom recorded shutouts Tuesday against first division clubs.
Hubbell led the Exporters to a 7 to 0 victory over Houston while Earnabe helped the Cubs administer an 8 to 0 whitewash to San Antonio. Both were given great support in hitting and fielding but it was their hurling that turned the trick.
Fort Worth and Wichita Falls split a doubleheader, the Cats taking the first game, 5 to 4, and the Spudders the second, 8 to 6. An early lead and an eighth-inning punch that scored one run gave the Panthers the first tilt, while a last-inning rally that netted six runs brought victory to the Spudders in the aftermath.
Good pitching by Thompson helped Shreveport defeat Dallas, 3 to 1. Thompson yielded nine safeties, the same number the Sports gathered, but he scattered them skillfully. Wilson had a perfect day with four hits in four times at bat, and O'Brien hit a homer.

Varner to Meet Sid Young Here Thursday Night

What is considered by boxing fans and match maker to be the best fighting card ever arranged in Pampa will be fought at the Pla-Mor auditorium Thursday night. Two 10-round bouts, one between Walter Varner, 154-pound fistic artist and the Pride of Roxana, who will meet Sid Young, Tulsa, Ok., weighing 153 pounds and in good fighting trim, and one between Jack Doss of Fort Worth and Roy Fisher, Comar, Okla. will be offered.
Varner is making a great record as a clever boxer, and has several notable scalps hanging to his belt among which are Duke Trammel and Chuck Burns. He fought Clyde Hull and Tommie Irvin to a draw. Varner is in the "B" condition that he has ever attained in his fighting career, and to see him in daily workouts at the Pla-Mor is the only proof one needs to verify that fact. He is fast, clever, a hard hitter, and keeps his mind on his business.
Young is taking daily workouts at the Pla-Mor this week, and is showing up splendidly. If anything can be figured from dope, Young has a slight edge on Varner. Having won a decision over Fred Whittington who fought two draws with Varner, Young seems to be able to take care of himself in what is predicted to be a tough go. However, Varner has trained hard the past few weeks, and likely this will change up the figures considerably.

Fight fans of Pampa are already familiar with clever, all-round fighter, Jack Doss. He fought Kid Granite to a draw a week ago, at which time he made considerable use of his wicked left. Doss is fast and will be hard to handle.
Facing Doss, is a shifty, hard-hitting fighter, Roy Fisher, who promises to make it a different go for Doss from going to gong. Like the other fighters, Fisher is fast whipping into pink of condition by taking daily workouts at the Pla-Mor.
In the special 6-round event, Jack Morrison of Borger will meet Kid Roberts of Amarillo. These two fighters fought one of the best bouts ever witnessed in Pampa two weeks ago. It was a draw. The winner of this go will meet Ace Hartman of Hutchinson, Kan., in the near future in the local ring.
A good curtain raiser is promised between O. D., the local newsboy, and Kid Simmons.

High in Batting

One of the hardest-hitting first-year regulars in baseball this season is Walter Benton, St. Louis Cardinals' outfielder shown here. He has been maintaining a .350 clip since the first of the season and looks like he will go on at that pace for the rest of the year. He's a product of the University of Illinois.

Bombardment in Major Leagues Is Unusually Heavy

(By The Associated Press.)
Subjected to one of the heaviest cannonadings of the current season, major league moundsmen cautiously peered from their hideouts Wednesday to see whether the bombardment was over.
Eight big league battles saw 31 pitchers pounded for 163 hits on which 108 runs were scored. Sixty of the hits were for extra bases—33 doubles, 11 triples and 16 home runs.
National league batsmen were the most active as the following table shows:
National 6 games 69 runs 102 hits 19 doubles 4 triples 8 homers, 16 pitchers.
American 4 games 39 runs, 81 hits 14 doubles, 7 triples 8 home runs 15 pitchers.
Only six pitchers went the route, Ed Kremer, Larry Benton, Jim Elliott, Ed Morris, Sad Sam Jones, and Owen Carroll.
The heaviest shelling of the day was in Philadelphia sector of the National league. Here the Pittsburgh Pirates cracked out 25 hits to beat the Phils, 15 to 4. Kremer, a sad disappointment this season, returned to form and gave the Quakers only five safeties, two of them, however, home runs.
Behind Benton's strong pitching, the New York Giants batted out 16 hits to crush the league-leading Cincinnati Reds, 10 to 1. Allowing but six safeties, Benton registered his 10th victory on 12 games, all of them complete games. Horace Ford chalked up the Reds' 82nd double play of the season in the fifth inning and then made two errors on one play, his first miscue in 26 games. He had handled 137 consecutive chances without a miss.
The St. Louis Cardinals moved to within one game of the Reds by taking over the Braves at Boston, 9 to 6 in a wild game that saw 28 safe hits made, 18 of them by the winners. Jim Bottomley hit his 10th and 11th homers and Rogers Hornsby hit his 12th. Shut out for five innings by Charley Root, the Brooklyn Dodgers suddenly came to life and battered out a 13 to 1 decision over the Chicago Cubs. Del Bissonette drove in five runs with his 12th home run of the year, two doubles and a single. Elliott held the Cubs to seven safeties.
In the American league the Yankees home-ran their way to a 15 to 7 triumph over the Chicago White Sox. Babe Ruth hit his 23rd homer; Lou Gehrig hit his 14 and 15th and there were contributions of one each from Pat Collins and Earle Combs.
Pitchers came into their own in the other three games. Ed Morris, big Red Sox rookie right hander, beat the St. Louis Browns, 5 to 2, allowing seven scattered hits. The Washington Senators made it three in a row over the Cleveland Indians, 3 to 2, behind Jones' good pitching. Jimmy Fox's single in the eighth scored Cochran with the run that enabled the Philadelphia Athletics to beat Detroit, 3 to 2.

World's Champion Car Levels Mountain Grades

Over the top of Uniontown Hill at 60 miles an hour! That's the spectacular performance of a strictly stock model Studebaker Commander Sedan, sweeping aside decisively the best previous record of 51 miles an hour.
And that is not all! As further clinching assurance of The Commander's unmatched mountain climbing ability, it later swept up the heart-breaking, tortuous grade and over the top at 31 miles an hour, with 14 persons swarming upon its running boards (a total of 2296 pounds).
Automobile editors of Pittsburgh newspapers were passengers in The Commander and certified the exact speeds attained. Pittsburgh police certified the accuracy of the speedometer. Mayor L. S. Crawford of Uniontown and scores of spectators observed the tests before dawn on May 26th.

"A Ball of Fire"
—that's what one owner calls his Commander. "A 'hill bound'—knocks the 'I' out of altitude," writes another. "If my Commander had claws it could climb trees," declares a third. When this World's Champion car can be bought for $1495 f. o. b. factory, why be content with less?
Studebaker engineering genius, quality materials, precision manufacture and rigid inspections, permit you to drive your Commander or any other Studebaker-built car 40 miles an hour the day you buy it, and at top speed hour after hour later on. You need change motor oil but once in 2,500 miles.

"I wish I'd Known"

THERE'S always a new experience ahead—something you haven't done before and which calls for a decision. You become engaged—and immediately you are called upon to decide on the purchase of many, many things you never bought before.

You marry—and furniture, draperies, silverware, china, talking machines, oil-burners, gas-stoves, automobiles claim your dollars and call for your choice.

A baby comes—and again you face a new experience in purchasing clothes and powders and blankets; in buying a crib, baby-carriage, foods, toys.

Next—what school? For the years pass incredibly fast. Once more, a new decision.

Every room in your house requires a choice. Every meal served in your dining-room results from your having decided on what to serve. Every day confronts you with a multitude of possibilities from which you must select those which make life happier and better, and make the dollars go farther.

How on earth are you going to make those decisions? How can you know what you want and what you don't want? How can you buy to such advantage that you'll seldom, if ever, have occasion to use that futile phrase, "I wish I'd bought something else"?

gene Nolte, state chairman, construing the law as the Creager faction sees it. "God pity the time," the impassioned Indiana orator commiserated "when the Republican party takes the opinion of a Democratic attorney general in a ruling practically disenfranchising a majority of the party men in the districts."

Texas Laws Indefinite
He admitted under questions of members of committee that Texas laws made no specific provision for election of delegates by districts.

"No state has the right," he said however, "to pass a law telling the party how to elect delegates. It would be like passing a law telling a Methodist conference how it should proceed with election of officers."

The vote by which Wurzbach lost was on a motion to substitute the names of the delegate and alternate elected in the first district for the convention elected delegates enrolled by the national executive committee. This was after a move to substitute the Wurzbach delegates at large for the Creager quartette was lost.

Given ten minutes to argue the cases of the remaining 17 districts, Wurzbach took the floor, mild mannered and gracious in tone in contrast to the vehement expostulations of Vestal and Lenroot.

"To say that the law strictly binds the party in Texas would be to put the power of dictation in an unfriendly legislature," Wurzbach said.

He was voted down again 32 to 15. The hearing was in the huge, richly furnished shrine temple. Mrs. Mahle Walker Witherbrandt, assistant United States attorney general presided with a firm and pre-emptory gavel.

itself and the weather conditions at Spitzbergen were improved. There was a strong wind, but it was not so cold as yesterday and there was no snow. The sun was shining, thus bringing some comfort to the sorely stricken men of the Italia now waiting almost three weeks for help.

Drift Toward Land
The second favorable condition was that the Nobile party had drifted at least a mile and a quarter to the west, bringing them closer to their would be rescuers by that margin and carrying them further from the danger of being swept out to the open sea between the eastern tip of Northeast Land and Franz Josef land.

The radio operator of the stranded crew, Giuseppe Biagi, told the operator of the Citta di Milano the drift of the ice in a conversation last evening.

has been in Northern waters with The Hobby for the past week, arrived back at Kings Bay this morning and immediately began taking on gasoline, provisions and dog teams for a quick run back to northern Spitzbergen.

In addition to the dog teams, the Braganza loaded on two sledges, supplies of rifles and 2,000 rounds of ammunition so that seals and reindeer can be hunted both for its crew and the castaway men.

Need Three Days
The Braganza will take search parties to North Cape, on Northeast Land, from where they can go east over Rips Bay, Dover Bay, then out to Rip Island and finally to Foyne Island near which the Nobile men are. Should the water open, a light rowboat will be used to cross the leads. Such a trip should take about three days.

At the same time that the search parties seek to make their way to Foyne Island on land, Captain Riiser-Larsen and Lieutenant Holm will make air reconnaissances in order to find the stranded men and to drop them food, clothing and medicine of which they are in great want.

The first efforts will be to find the radio party and then the others. After bringing the radio party to shore, the searchers will establish a little camp of quickly constructed snow huts.

Members of the Nobile party face a desperate situation. Their fuel and food is running low, despite careful rationing. Their hands and feet are frostbitten and they need medicine to treat the frost bites.

BY BYRON PRICE
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

CONVENTION HALL, Kansas City, June 13.—(AP)—A sleepy-eyed Republican convention, showing plainly the wear and tear of overnight worries about farm relief, prohibition and delegate contests, assembled today in convention hall, hoping to get on some how with its decisions but uncertain whether much could be done until late in the day.

The biggest of the party troubles, contentions about farm relief, still was holding the platform committee in session after an all night dispute, while a group of farm demonstrators marching about the environs of the convention hall shouting against Hoover further harried the nerves of tired delegates and convention officers. There was a prospect that the platform might not be ready for convention consideration until late in the day. The credentials committee, however, in session through the night hearing the pleas of contesting delegations, was ready to report and after that and other formalities had been completed, the tentative plan was to recess until tonight.

Slow to Gather
In keeping with the sleepy atmosphere of the whole convention picture the delegates were unusually slow in coming into the big convention arena.

When Senator George Moses, the permanent chairman, reached the platform less than half hour before the time set for convening he surveyed an almost empty convention floor.

At quarter past ten, fifteen minutes before the gavel was to fall, the convention band, hidden away against the rafters, unable to see anything or hear much but their own music, cut loose with a rollicking air that sounded rather out of harmony with the drab and weary monotone of conversation among the delegates far down below.

Ten-thirty, the hour set for convening, came and went without a sign of action. At that hour not half of the delegates were in their places and the spectators galleries were not a quarter filled. Senator Moses, after vainly trying to summon one of the three messengers theoretically assigned to his service, had climbed down into the delegate arena and disappeared up a side aisle. The temporary chairman, Senator Fess of Ohio, who was to preside at the beginning of the session only, was in his place on the platform thumping over some notes on the opening formalities and talking with other party leaders.

It was ten thirty-seven when Senator Fess finally detached himself from the group of leaders who had gathered about him and began to hammer for order.

Hoarse from trying to make himself heard throughout the big hall in the delivery of his keynote speech yesterday, he repeatedly besought the delegates in husky tones to take their seats and quiet down. They paid very little attention at first but under the repeated rapping of the gavel they slowly came to some semblance of order.

At this time the thousands of seats reserved for spectators still were more than half empty. The late comers were pouring in increasing numbers, adding to the confusion and noise.

Without waiting for any real quiet in the hall, Senator Fess, with one last despairing whack of his big wooden hammer introduced the Right Rev. Thomas F. Lillis of the Roman Catholic diocese of Kansas City, who offered the opening prayer while the delegates stood and became silent and a sputtering klieg light threw the bishop and the chairman's platform into blinding relief.

Farmers Arrive
While the prayer was being offered, the farm demonstrators after a morning pep meeting showed up outside the convention hall.

The invocation ended with the Lord's Prayer, repeated in unison by the standing delegates and spectators. At the "amen," conversation again broke all bounds of the floor and in the galleries, and the declaim continued while Senator Fess took a minute to correct a misstep he made yesterday, when, in attempting to deliver his keynote speech from memory, he forgot to mention the name of Theodore Roosevelt in his roll-call of the achievements of the Republican presidents. As he repeated the praise he had intended to give to Roosevelt, the convention rose and applauded for a half minute, the first real show of spirit in the day's proceedings.

While the band played the farm relief bloc from the Northwest made its first bid for a hearing in the convention hall. P. D. Norton of the North Dakota delegation, trying to make himself heard above the music, shouted a parliamentary inquiry where it would be in order to have someone address the convention.

"It would not," said Senator Fess.

KANSAS CITY, June 13.—(AP)—Vice-presidential booms have popped up at the Republican convention like mushrooms after a rain since Herbert Hoover accumulated his apparently winning lead in the presidential race and leaders were busy today looking over the crop.

In the center of the field and standing a little higher than the host of other candidates was Vice-President Dawes with Secretary Mellon and Senator Borah giving impetus to a boom already underway with public declarations for the incumbent.

So many were the candidates and delegates in husky tones to take their seats and quiet down. They paid very little attention at first but under the repeated rapping of the gavel they slowly came to some semblance of order.

Middle West Important
Every vice presidential condition today hinged on the Hoover candidacy and the field of contestants ranged from the Eastern coast to the Rocky Mountains. It was consensus that the Hoover running mate should come from the Middle West where the agricultural problem is demanding attention of the party chieftains.

However, no word was forthcoming from Mr. Hoover or from the Hoover camp. Lieutenants were emphasized that the commerce secretary would not commit himself on a vice president candidate at least before he was definitely nominated and perhaps not even then.

No definite word appeared to have been received from Mr. Dawes as to his availability, but there were plenty of rumors to the effect either that he would accept, or would not discuss it which was taken as "silence gives consent."

Some Possibilities
Here is a list of the candidates in the field, either by their consent or by activity of friends: Senator Curtis of Kansas; Watson of Indiana; Moses of Hampshire; Fess of Ohio; Nye of North Dakota; Edge of New Jersey and Deneen of Illinois; Representatives Tilson of Connecticut and Fish of New York; Everett Sanders, secretary to President Coolidge; Hanford MacNicer of Iowa; Sam R. McKelvie, former Governor of Nebraska; General John J. Pershing; Governor Fisher of Pennsylvania; Governor Fuller of Massachusetts; Henry J. Allen, former governor of Kansas; Governor Baker of Missouri; Henry W. Anderson of Virginia; William J. Donagan of New York; Theodore Roosevelt, Jr.; John MacKenzie, former representative from Illinois, and Louis Emmerson, candidate for governor of Illinois.

But no list could be complete. During the night every hour seemed to bring forth a new candidate. In addition to the various state delegations putting forth candidates there were several organizations announcing their choices.

Need Farm Man
Friends of Secretary Hoover were among those who are anxiously looking over the situation. There is no doubt but they want a man if possible from the middle west and a personality who will appeal to the farm element which has voiced noisy protest against Mr. Hoover.

A good campaigner also is regarded as a winning factor to the Hoover group. It is not anticipated that the secretary will make an active campaign, probably pursuing the course of president Coolidge in 1924 and of Warren Harding in 1920 of making few trips over the country.

Likewise, a good administration man is desired by the Hooverites and the McNary-Haugen bill again enters the picture. A candidate aligned definitely one way or the other on this is not regarded to their liking. Vice-President Dawes has been regarded as favorable to the McNary-Haugen bill or at least to its controversial equalization fee provision, but he has never been called upon to vote on it or to make known his views.

Carranza Honored After Arrival at Nation's Capitol

WASHINGTON, June 13.—(AP)—A nonstop flight from New York City to Mexico City will be attempted by Captain Emilio Carranza, Mexican army aviator, as soon as he completes a visit to New York, he announced here today.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—(AP)—With its anxieties for the safety of Captain Emilio Carranza quieted and its preliminary reception out of the way, Washington turned today to a round of entertainment for the Mexican good-will aviator who returned his country's compliments for the visit of Colonel Lindbergh to Mexico City in December.

Sophisticated by its long contact with noted fliers, the capital nevertheless, had a joyous welcome for the dapper 22-year-old pilot from the sister republic to the south who fought his way through fog and storm and made a forced landing in North Carolina, 320 miles away, under perilous circumstances.

"WHAT OF IT? ... What if the Dunlop team is 45,000 strong? What does that mean to me and my car?"

More VALUE in the tires you buy ... that's what the immensity of Dunlop means to you.

Dunlop engineers have continually blazed the trail in tire inventions. They have pioneered in practically every major tire improvement, including the drop-center rim as used on the new Fords. Eighteen world records confirm Dunlop's engineering skill.

Combine 40 years' experience with 45,000 craftsmen and you have the world's greatest tire knowledge. Combine this knowledge with the finest materials ... what do you get? Extra VALUE, as evidenced by the fact that 26 million Dunlops are now in use.

Those millions of motorists, and those 45,000 Dunlop workers—they all know from experience that it will pay you to put Dunlops on your car.

"DUNLOP CITY"
Throughout the world, the productive Dunlop Properties cover so vast an area that—if combined into one place—they would form a "Dunlop City" of over 100,000 acres.
