NOBILE PARTY WELCOMED TO ITALY WARMLY

ROME, Aug. 1.—(P)—With the cheers of their countrymen ringing in their ears, General Umberto Nobile and five other survivors of the Italia were in Italy today while the nation rejoiced over their having been snatched from death in the Arctic. Women wept and threw flowers in the path of the survivors when they reached Rome in the special car which had brought them from Narvik, Norway. Two of the rescued men did not return to Italy, Captain Alberto Mariani being left behind in a hospital in Narvik recovering from the amputation of his foot and Professor F. Behounek returning to his native Czechoslovakia. General Nobile and his companions were received almost with royal honors by Prince Ludovico Pentasiani, governor of Rome, and other high officials in the room of the railway station reserved for the king and his family. When they came out on the street the crowd went wild and broke through the lines of police and carabinieri. Scores of women embraced the explorers. The automobiles bearing them were able to proceed only at the speed of a slow walk toward the men's quarters.

Moody's Total Is Near 400,000 Mark, Doubling Wardlaw's

DALLAS, Aug. 1.—(P)—Returns of last Saturday's primary compiled by the Texas Election Bureau today from 281 out of 283 counties in the state, including 153 complete, saw Governor Dan Moody only a few votes short of the 400,000 mark. His total of 399,962 was almost double that of his closest rival, Louis Wardlaw, with 225,268.

Bell Company to Extend Pipeline to LeFors District

Because of increased drilling activities in the LeFors area, the Bell Oil and Gas company will extend its pipe line from the Bowers-McGee pool to LeFors, a distance of seven miles. At the present time, the company is recovering oil from the Danciger Oil and Refining company, the Gibson Oil company, and the Operators Oil company. A large loading rack, a mile east of here, handles the supply from the field, which is loaded into tank cars and shipped out to Chicago and points east. The extension line to the LeFors area will be 6- and 8-inch.

The committee's announcement said the chairman "after studying the needs and requirements of the various bureaus of the Republican organization has concluded that the legitimate expenditures of the campaign will be about $4,000,000."

BUILDERS OF PAMPA

The progress and development of any city is the result of the energy and effort of the business men and firms who make it up. The businesses listed on this page are permanent institutions and have contributed in many ways to the upbuilding of Pampa.

This page will appear in the Daily News once each week and will contain something new and interesting each day. A study of its stories will give a new knowledge of the reasons for the individual successes.

John T. Glover is Pampa's Leading Builder

HAS COMPLETED SEVERAL OF THE BEST BRICK BUSINESS BUILDINGS AND RESIDENCES HERE

AVERAGE OF SIXTY OR MORE MEN KEPT ON HIS PAYROLL AT ALL TIMES

John T. Glover, building contractor, came to Pampa about one year ago and during this time has built some of the largest and best business buildings and residences in the city. Mr. Glover has been contracting in Missouri, Oklahoma and Texas for the past twenty years.

He is now building in Pampa the Woolworth building, Wynne building, Baptist church and two residences. Others that have been completed are: Baptist Sunday School Annex, Radford Grocery building, Via apartments, Pampa Daily News building, new Rose building, Southwestern Bell Telephone Exchange, J. M. Dodson residence and the E. L. Powell residence. Several other smaller buildings and residences have been built by him here.

Other cities where he has operated in Texas are Amarillo and Greenville. An average of sixty men are on his Pampa payroll all of the time. The new Woolworth building, now under construction, will be rushed to completion as soon as possible and the Wynne building adjoining it on the South will be completed the latter part of October. The Baptist Church is probably completed before the first of the year.

TWINKLES
 Despite the trend of the times, Jack Dempsey, as scout for Tex Rickard, probably won't invade any Shakespearean classes looking for material.

Al Smith uses bad English, or at least slangy English, and so stands to lose a portion of the heavyweight vote.

Hoover may get the high-brow vote, but unfortunately for him a lot of the high-brows carry the personal liberty idea into the wet stage.

Just when baseball begins to claim our attention, football comes along and its good to watch the Harvesters gathering in the leather. And its too bad Canyon graduated to Class A—we might have evened things this year, as Coach Mitchell did with his Slaton squad last season.

As we understood it, the city commission decided to hire a motorcycle cop just as soon as the streets were smooth enough for him to ride over them.

Railroads have lead the way in safety movements, yet lately there has been an epidemic of bad wrecks. There seems to be no way of preventing flurries of accidents. Often the harder the effort the poorer the result. Many American this and that weeks have illustrated the need of them by reverse action.

One reason some persons can always improve on your illustrations is that their imagination is better.

Think what a story the man didn't bring back who was pulled over a cliff by a big fish and drowned.

Borger is Go-Getter
 The neighboring city of Borger got tired of waiting for action from official sources and a group of citizens took the bit in their teeth and went after free mail and parcels post delivery. They got action. The service is being inaugurated today.
 Borger had the demand, but could not meet the requirements of the government. She secured governmental concessions within a given zone, put in all the sidewalks possible at the time, numbered the houses, re-named and marked the streets, and saw her application approved. Now she will have two deliveries of first class mail each day and will enjoy motorized parcels post delivery as well.
 Pampa is in a better condition to obtain this service than Borger was a few weeks ago. Pampa needed action. The street and house designation question is the oldest hanging fire in Pampa civic circles. Eventually something will be done—some plan worked out: Why not burn a little midnight oil and do it now?
 A city of this size needs the attributes of a city. New-comers are unable to understand the lack of free mail delivery. Visitors from other towns, many of them smaller than Pampa, boast of their superior conveniences. This should not be. Pampa has the possibilities of offering the mail delivery men a convenient layout of territory and easily covered routes. Let's do it.

 Congestion at the stamp and general delivery windows is likely to increase as the school term nears and oil activity increases. The best way to relieve much of this trouble is to lighten the burden on post office employees by inaugurating free mail delivery within the business and much of the residential zones.
 Why should Pampa not have what Plainview, Borger, Vernon, Sweetwater, and other small cities enjoy? Think it over.

CAPITOL News

WASHINGTON—Very soon now we will have the anniversary of Calvin Coolidge's famous statement: "I do not choose to run."
 There is some slight prospect that our posterity will celebrate "Do-Not-Choose-to-Run Day," in memory of the occasion when a president had a good chance to serve more than eight years and turned it down.
 If the election should go Democratic, there might be even some sentiment for a "I Have Not Day," in memory of Al Smith's concise reply when asked if he had changed his mind about modification of the prohibition laws.

On such an occasion as "Do-Not-Choose-to-Run Day" or "I Have Not Day" there ought to be simple and impressive ceremonies and perhaps it could be arranged to award a prize to the man in public life who had made the funniest or most remarkable public statement during the year.
 If such a prize were to be awarded this year there would be some hot competition. The purpose of this story, in fact, is to point out some of the astonishing public statements made since Coolidge got everybody guessing.
 Match, for instance, what George Alvany, titular boss of Tammany Hall, told the Senate committee investigating pre-convention campaign expenses.
 "Tammany," said Mr. Alvany, "does not take part in politics."
 Mr. Coolidge himself did very well when he told Congress in his last message that "Employment is plentiful." It is, of course, a little more plentiful now.
 No less than honorable mention must be reserved for Martin W. Littleton, Harry Sinclair's lawyer. It was the pudgy Mr. Littleton who referred to Senator Tom Walsh, saviour of the navy's oil reserves, as a "Meddlesome Mattie."

 Will Hays would be sure to get a few votes from the judges for his famous explanation of his original failure to admit Sinclair's heavy contributions to the Republican campaign chest.
 "Nobody asked me about bonds," said Mr. Hays piously.
 It was William J. Burns, the detective, who, when sentenced for alleged tampering with the Sinclair jury here, compared the unjustness of it with that of the crucifixion of Jesus Christ.
 The oil cases, in fact brought out a host of candidates for this little competition we're suggesting.
 Remember how Al Smith promised in a letter to Senator Nye to subject Nye to "public humiliation" Smith never explained how or when.
 At about the same time Senator Arthur Robinson of Indiana, a leader among a most notorious pack of politicians, attempted to link Sinclair and Smith, referring to them with the line: "Birds of a feather flock together". No senator was ever made to look quite so sick as the other senators proceeded to hang raspberries upon his ears.
 Charlie Hilles, the national committeeman from New York, gets into the parade somewhere with his assurance that national prosperity hung on Coolidge's decision to stand for renomination.

Ex-Senator Rice Means of Colorado might stand a chance with his famous explanation of American imperialism at the Pan American Union here.
 "They blew us up in Havana harbor," Means explained, "and we came down all over the world."
 Senator Charles Curtis might conceivably be counted in for his announcement before the Kansas City convention that Hoover's nomination would put the party on the defensive.
 And, last but hardly least, the famous admission of Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio that he had "id what was not true" to newspapermen so as to in ss it upon them.

Possibly the rest of the world is a little too cynical, but there are cynics everywhere. Hereabouts, for instance, it has been commonly understood that the secretary of state would have resigned long ago if he could have achieved a graceful and creditable exit, covered with some glory from a large task well done. Mr. Coolidge, one may be sure, is anxious to see his administration credited with one major success in its foreign relations before he steps out.
 The other nations involved understood that, after many months of mulling around with the idea, prompt action would be appreciated by this government — with election three months away. It wasn't necessary to explain why. But the rush came like a procession of last-minute income tax payers. And now preparations are being rushed for an elaborate signing party in Paris in August. The whole show reminds one of the drum-beating preliminaries to a prize fight.

But it's all quite harmless. Among the signatory nations, the smaller ones are hopeful that the treaty may make them a little safer from bigger nations and the large nations have carefully seen to it that they won't lose any of their powers and privileges as such.
 The right to war in self-defense remains and Kellogg has explained that the individual nation alone is competent to decide "whether circumstances require recourse to war in self-defense". All other signatory nations have the right to forget the treaty if one violates it; each, it can only be assumed, will have the right to decide for itself whether the warring nation has the excuse of self-defense or not. And to choose sides accordingly.
 Our government isn't tearing up the Monroe Doctrine and Britain has pointed out that its freedom of action is not to be prejudiced in "certain regions" unnamed. France makes its usual reservations.

BARBS
 (By N.E.A. Service Inc.)
 The Department of Agriculture comes to bat with the shocking declaration that sauerkraut is not a German invention, but is probably of Chinese origin. Maybe the department will be telling us yet that chop suey is really an Irish dish.
 Henry Ford gave one of his new models to a Michigan station agent for the telegraph key Edison used as a young man. We have an old picture of the Floradora sextet at home—maybe we'll decide a Ford is the best buy, after all.
 Among the contributions to the Republican campaign fund the other day were two fifty-cent pieces. People are beginning to take their politics too seriously.
 A headline in a Philadelphia newspaper says: "Lone Bandit Robs Woman of $1,000 in Downtown Hotel." What! One man!
 A Kentucky girl, powdering her nose, was shocked by lightning. If she is one of the modern flappers, the lightning made a unique record.
 Bolivia has banned bull fights as not being educational. Now that's one good reason!
