WATER HAULER BADLY INJURED

Hutchinson Sheriff Goes to LeFors on Tip Early Today

BORGER, June 5.—(Special)—Charges of hijacking were filed against Jim Bennett and Clayton Pontz following their arrest by members of Sheriff Jim Ownbey's department in connection with the robbery and brutal assault of J. M. (Dad) Meyers last night at a horse corral in East Borger.

Meyers, 74 years old, a water hauler who supplies several Borger homes, was robbed of approximately $80 at 8 p. m., last night while feeding his horses. He said he was robbed by two unmasked men, one of whom struck him with a pistol. The injured man is in a local hospital, where four stitches were necessary to close a deep wound.

Tontz was arrested early last night during a search instituted by officers, and Bennett was found at 10 m at 10 o'clock today. Both are being held in jail pending the return of the sheriff and a deputy from LeFors, where they went on a tip that the suspected men had gone there. The time for a preliminary hearing has not been set.

Bennett had been out under a $3,500 bond in connection with the robbery and beating of Marshall Thomas, near Rattlesnake Inn, three months ago. He was indicted at the April term of district court, and is scheduled to go to trial in July.

Tontz received notoriety in connection with the killing and robbing in Amarillo of Leo J. Laley, druggist, and is under indictment here charged with a series of hijackings on the same night that Laley was killed.

USE OF "GOB" IN SHIP PAPER IS CONDEMNED

Admiral Wiley Says Word Is "Undignified and Unworthy"

SAN DIEGO, Calif., June 5.—(P)—Enlisted men of the U. S. Navy are not "gobs." The commander-in-chief of the U. S. fleet said so today.

Admiral H. A. Wiley in a letter to the fleet here condemned the use of the term as applied to Uncle Sam's sailors.

"The commander in chief of the United States fleet has noticed the use of the word 'gob' in ship's newspapers. The word is undignified and unworthy. Discontinue its use," the letter said.

Candidates to Be Plentiful at Picnic Given by Mobeetie

Many political aspirants of this section, especially those seeking district offices, will be seen and heard at the Mobeetie free barbecue and Oldtimers get-together picnic this week.

The main program will be on Thursday, instead of Friday as formerly announced. An evening pavilion dance will be held as the opener, on the evening of Wednesday, June 6. On Thursday, June 7, the program will start with a massed band concert, at the picnic grounds, west of Mobeetie, at 9:30 a. m. There will be speaking at 10 o'clock, followed by the genuine free barbecue at noon.

A negro baseball game will be played at 3 o'clock, and a band concert will be given at 4 p. m. Another pavilion dance will be given in the evening. In addition, there will be the usual picnic concessions and attractions.

Many people from Pampa are expected to attend the Mobeetie celebration. C. S. Wortman, local attorney and candidate for district attorney of the 31st district, will be one of the speakers. Farm bureau and women's club addresses also are in prospect.

Former Bishop Is Dead in Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Md., June 5.—(P)—Illness which interrupted his duties at the New York conference and later caused his collapse while delivering an address at the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church at Kansas City, brought about the death last night of Right, Rev. Luther Barton Wilson, retired resident bishop of the New York area, at his home here.

Bishop Wilson, who had served for many years as president of the Anti-Slavery league, had been subject to a heart ailment thought to have resulted from a fever contracted in Africa.

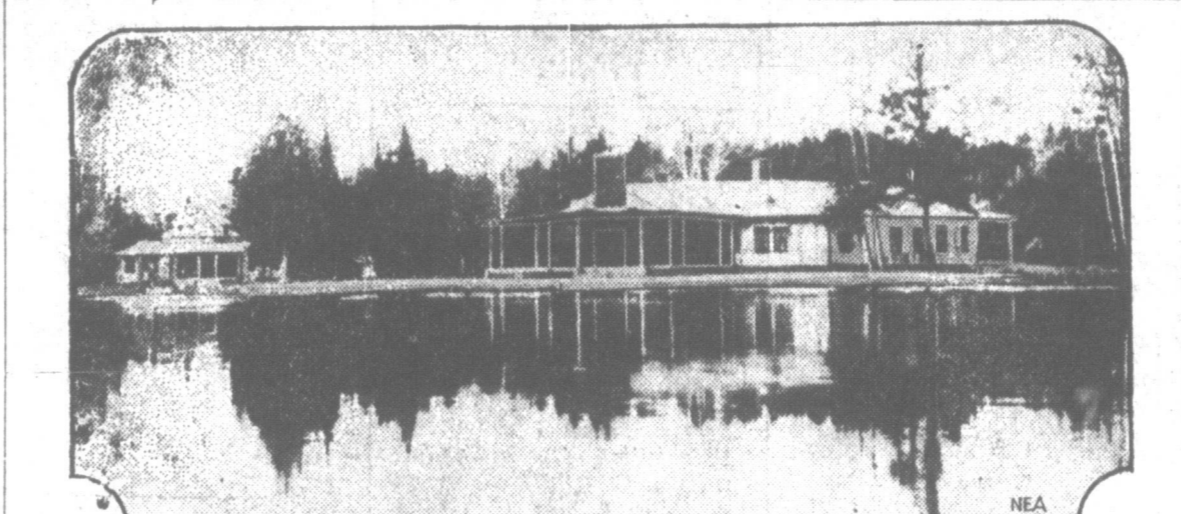

Born in Baltimore, Md., on Nov. 14, 1856, he was educated in the private schools of his native city and graduated at Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pa., with a degree of A. B. in 1875. He also received the degree of M. D. in 1877 and A. M. in 1878. In the latter year he entered the Baltimore Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church and was ordained a deacon in 1880 and an elder in 1882.

Dr. Wilson held pastorates at Hancock, Woodberry, Baltimore, Md., and Washington, D. C. He was presiding elder of the Washington district from 1894 to 1900 and of the West Baltimore district in 1903 and 1904. In the latter year, he was elected Bishop at the General Conference in Los Angeles, Calif., and was stationed in Chattanooga, Tenn.

His alma mater, the University of Maryland and Wesleyan University honored him with the degree of Doctor of Laws and Syracuse University bestowed upon him the degree of Doctor of Literature.

In 1912, Bishop Wilson was chosen President of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He had also served for a number of years as secretary of the Board of Bishops. In 1917 and 1918 he was in the service of the Young Men's Christian Association and also a United States chaplain in France.

Here Is the Summer White House

A bungalow in the heart of Wisconsin's lake and timber region near Brule, Wis., about 30 miles from Superior, has been chosen by President Coolidge as the summer White House. The eight-room bungalow where the Coolidges will live is pictured at the left, the larger building on the right being the main lodge and dining hall. In the foreground is the Brule river. The estate is known as Cedar Island Lodge, and is the property of the heirs of the late Henry Clay Pierce, oil magnate.

CHICAGO GIRL IS BEAUTY QUEEN

SUVA ADMIRES BRAVE FLIERS

SUVA FIJI Islands, June 6.—(P)—Having successfully traversed approximately 5,538 miles of ocean between Oakland, Cal., Hawaii and Guva, the fliers of the monoplane Southern Cross today start preparations for the next 1,700-mile hop to Brisbane, enroute to Sydney, Australia.

They had a long rest last night to make up for the more than 33 wakeful, tempestuous, anxiety fraught hours that were passed during their flight from Kauai, an island of the Hawaiian group, to Suva.

There were many things to be done; checking of the gasoline supply remaining in the fuel tanks of the Southern Cross; locating of a site from which the refueled plane can take off safely for its flight over the sea toward Australia; examination of the three motors that labored faithfully through miles and storms, and a study weather charts and maps to decide the time and course of the shortest but perhaps the most hazardous leg of the unprecedented flight.

Files Much Admired
Captain Charles Kingsford-Smith Australian pilot; Charles Ulm Australian co-pilot; Harry W. Yon, former sea skipper and navigator, and James Warner, radio operator, were regarded as quite important personages in Suva today. They were objects of admiration by all, from the bush-haired native Fijians to the white inhabitants. The four men who flew in from the sea yesterday afternoon in the strange powerful blue and silver bird of cloth, wood and steel, were centers of attraction wherever they went.

One of the most important problems before the fliers was to select a take-off point. Albert Park, where the Southern Cross landed yesterday afternoon, was barely large enough to accommodate the plane on its arrival. Unweighed by a large store of gasoline the pilots missed running into the side of the inclosure by but twenty yards and then only by making a sharp left turn up onto a rise in the ground.

Taking off with 900 gallons of gasoline and oil, the amount estimated required for the flight to Australia, will require a straight, lengthy runway heading into the wind. Kingsford-Smith intimated that he intended looking over a stretch of beach near the side, a sandy, level bit of ground that might accommodate the plane during low tide.

Merale Is Excellent
As for the past—the fliers were unanimous in agreeing that each other

Airplane Journey to GALVESTON Put Color in Cheeks

GALVESTON, June 5.—(P)—The United States today has a new beauty queen in the person of Miss Ella van Hueson of Chicago, who was selected as the most beautiful of 32 girls entered from various cities and states of the nation in the third annual International Pageant of Pulchritude here.

Miss van Hueson, entered as "Miss Chicago" was crowned "Beauty Queen of the Universe" after seven judges had studied entries for nearly an hour last night.

The Chicago miss is to compete tonight with beauties from ten foreign countries for the title "Beauty Queen of the Universe." With the title goes a cash award of $2,000. Prizes also are awarded to girls who finish in the second to ninth places inclusive.

Miss Van Hueson, a brunette, is five feet six and one half inches tall and weighs 120 pounds.

CHICAGO, June 5.—(P)—Some of the bloom in the cheeks of Miss Ella van Hueson, who became "Miss United States" at the Galveston Pageant of Pulchritude is attributed by her airplane rides.

In letters to friends here Miss van Houston said she was delighted to find upon arrival at Galveston that the journey there by airplane from Chicago had added greatly to her color.

The air trip was arranged for Miss van Houston, who never before had been in a plane, by Major Reed Landis, head of the Chicago air commission.

C. of C. Members to Wear the Official Buttons at Mobeetie

All members of the Chamber of Commerce organization who plan to attend the Mobeetie celebration June 6, 7, are requested by Secretary George Briggs to wear the Chamber of Commerce button at that time. Those having no buttons may get them at the Chamber of Commerce office, Briggs said.

It is important that as many members attended the celebration as possible, the secretary explained, in order to further the cause of good will among the neighboring towns and communities of Pampa.

NINETEEN MEXICAN REBELS ARE KILLED IN BATTLE

MEXICO CITY, June 5.—(P)—Colonel Crisoforo Ramos reported to the war department today that nineteen insurgents had been slain in a battle with federal forces at El Salvador, state of Jalisco. One was captured and executed.

One federal soldier was killed and three wounded. The insurgents were dispersed.

RODEO YET TO BE COMPLETED

Legion Program Will Be Resumed Tomorrow

Definite announcement by Lon Blansett, manager of the American Legion rodeo, that the rodeo programs will be finished tomorrow, was made this morning.

At 9 o'clock Wednesday morning, the program that was rained out Saturday night will be completed, and all fans who were forced to leave on account of rain are requested to be at the rodeo grounds to see the remainder of the performance free of charge.

The final program will begin promptly at 1 o'clock, Blansett stated. The winner in all events will be determined at the afternoon program.

Practically all the contestants have remained in Pampa during the rainy season waiting patiently for the finals. Since the roads are in bad condition making it disagreeable if not impossible for a large number of out-of-town visitors to see the finals, Blansett hopes to have a good attendance of Pampa citizens.

Chamber Directors Will Have Dinner Meeting This Evening

A luncheon meeting of the Board of Directors will be held at the Schmeider hotel at 7:30 o'clock this evening. Visitors from McLean are expected. George Briggs, manager of the Chamber of Commerce said, and good roads for Gray, and surrounding counties likely will be discussed.

Lindbergh Spends Night on Farm

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 5.—(P)—Unreported since 1 p. m. yesterday when he left Fort Worth. Col. Charles Lindbergh landed at Lambert-St. Louis field at 10:30 a. m., today, a half hour after the start of Washington University commencement exercises at which the degree of master of science was awarded "in absentia" to the famous flier.

CICERO, Ill., June 5.—(P)—Another of those Cicero visitors who equip themselves with firearms to combat any gunmen who may try to get fresh has come to grief.

Harry Munier of Indianapolis was wounded in the arm yesterday when his loaded shotgun fell to the floor of his automobile. He said he carried the weapon for protection while passing through "Scarface" Capone's home town.

Paving Work to Begin at Once on Ballard Street

The 27-block paving program which was to have begun today on Ballard street is temporarily delayed on account of rain, stated C. A. Stuckey, vice-president of the Stuckey Construction company.

All the machinery except a large cement mixer is on the ground and ready for work, Stuckey said, and it is possible that the machinery now in use on the road paving job between Panhandle and Borger will be brought here as soon as that work is completed, making two units in use here in order to complete the program as soon as possible.

The entire 27 blocks will be of the vitrolithic type of paving and will be finished by a vitrolithic machine. This machine, Stuckey said, taps the rock into the concrete, forces out the air pockets, and leaves a smooth surface. "Vitrolithic paving has proved highly satisfactory in other cities," Stuckey said. "It is smoother, easier to clean, and has a low maintenance cost."

It is possible to lay vitrolithic paving much faster than other kinds of paving, he explained, and the job here will be completed more quickly than the previous one, in proportion to the size of the program.

NEW COUNCIL MEMBERS ARE BUSY TODAY

Pampa's Quota Is Set at $2,700—$150 Per Scholastic

WORKERS HAVE BREAKFAST HERE

Enthusiastic Races Toward Goals Reported to Barcus

Simultaneously in the member towns of the Buffalo Wallow council, adult associate membership drives opened today. Reports on progress in other towns indicate that an enthusiastic race to reach quotas is in progress.

Each of the member towns, which include Canadian, Miami, Pampa, White Deer, Panhandle, Phillips, and Borger, bases its quota upon the agreed method of $1.50 per scholastic. This gives Pampa a quota of $2,700, according to Scott Barcus, council chairman.

Members of the local committee had a breakfast meeting today to draw up final plans for the drive, which will be largely completed by nightfall. Teams started out with membership cards and at noon reported very encouraging responses, with memberships of from $5 to $100 being taken out. Without argument, the committees went about their canvassing.

In the other towns the drives were well started. Phillips was practically through by noon, and Canadian made the boast that her quota would be more than subscribed today. Scouting has been on a sound basis in Canadian for years. The Methodist and Presbyterian-Legion troops in Pampa have been chartered, and two other troops will be given this status within a short time. A summer camp for the entire new council is being planned.

Those who attended the Boy Scout breakfast today included the Rev. Tom Brabham, Tom Rose, O. W. Ferguson, George Briggs, Scott Barcus, James Todd, Jr., D. H. Truitt, B. W. Rose, R. B. Fisher, C. P. Buckler, J. M. Dodson, Olin E. Hinkle, I. E. Duncan, and the Rev. W. L. Evans. Local Chairman Tom Brabham presided and Council Chairman Barcus explained the membership drive.

Smith Strength Is Cause of Colquitt's Withdrawal of Name

DALLAS, June 5.—(P)—Former Gov. O. B. Colquitt has withdrawn from the race for the Democratic nomination for United States senator because of the "probable nomination of Gov. Al E. Smith for president," he said in a letter made public here today.

His explanation of his startling unexpected maneuver was made in fifty-seven words addressed to D. W. Wilcox, chairman of the state Democratic committee at Georgetown. It bore yesterday's date. It follows: "In view of the probable nomination of Governor Al E. Smith for president by the National Democratic convention and that I have said repeatedly that I could not and would not support him, I have decided not to ask for a place on the ticket in the Democratic primaries as a candidate for the United States Senate."

According to bus drivers of the Safety First line, all roads leading into Pampa are passable but rough.

Two days of sunshine with a little wind will permit dragging, it was said, which would put the roads in good condition again.

Used Car Issue to Be Complete

Sunday's Daily News will carry the most complete list of used cars ever published in Pampa. Cars will be listed from the cheap $100 car to the almost new $1,000 limousine. Watch for further announcements.

American Woman Is Backing Flight of Amelia Earhart

LONDON, June 5.—(P)—Mrs. Frederick Guest, the former Amy Phillips of Pittsburgh and the wife of Frederick Guest, secretary of state for air from 1921 to 1922, today was revealed as the backer of the flight of the monoplane Friendship from America to England. She will fly to Southampton to greet Miss Amelia Earhart and her companions on this year's first trans-Atlantic airplane flight to Europe.

"We hope the flight will serve as a link of continued friendship between America and England," Mrs. Guest said. "I originally planned to have the Friendship land in the Thames opposite the historic house of parliament, but the air ministry advised that Southampton would be safer."

NEW YORK, June 5.—(P)—A race between two American women for the honor of being the first to fly the North Atlantic was in prospect today.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing, or reputation of any individual, firm, concern, or corporation that may appear in the columns of the Pampa Daily News will be gladly corrected when called to the attention of the editor.

ONE WHO READS extensively recently asked why newspapers do not insist more upon movements to rear boys right instead of harping on judicial procedure, criticizing prison methods, and deploring the amount of sympathy wasted on hardened criminals.

It is true, of course, that much space is given to both news and discussion of crime problems and social ramifications of the umoral. The sick, whether physically or morally unsound, get more attention than the well.

But there is a very definite tendency toward prevention, and we believe newspapers are as friendly toward it as any other agency—and have less to gain by so doing, directly.

Preventing crime must be an exact science, which means that criminal tendencies must be thoroughly analyzed. Editorial pages of the nation are presenting from time to time the deduction of criminologists.

The public does not take quickly to new ideas, especially where judicial procedure is concerned. The old idea of punishment to fit the crime cannot be downed.

And of prevention—that is largely a matter of rearing boys rightly from the age of 10 to 18. In that formative period most of the habits are drilled and the ideas crystallized or broken down.

Tear down respect for parental authority and law, chivalry toward women, patriotism toward the state, during the early years, and all the skill and training acquired is apt to be applied to criminal pursuits.

It is said that most reformatories have youths without common school education, but that penitentiaries have young men of high school training.

Boys need more than book learning. They require means of expressing their natural enthusiasm and of working off energies which are perhaps more pointed toward mischief than anything else.

The Sunday schools and churches, with their preachers, fail to control many of their regular attendants for the reason that they provide nothing positive outside of the buildings.

Scouting gives boys that opportunity to translate energy into worthwhile habits and chances to do good turns. With the proper adult leadership, the movement can fill one of the greatest needs of modern civilization. Boys are considerable trouble, we heard a thoughtful old gentleman remark, and we would try to do without them were it not for the fact that we must have them to make men out of.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington — Senator J. Boomboom McWhorter will have his convention headquarters in one of the homiest, coziest hotel bedrooms in all Kansas City.

Its attraction, he hopes, will be irresistible when the party plotters decide that it's finally time to nominate somebody. Senator McWhorter, as most people know, is a candidate.

Hence, in the McWhorter bedroom headquarters, there will be electric fans, two or three seductive divans, cerise draperies, overstuffed morris chairs, a few baskets of roses and possibly a lovely cigarette girl in flowing robes.

Plenty of cigars, of course. Good cigars, too. Five-cent cigars may be good enough for ordinary delegates, but not for the type of heavy politicians the senator hopes to lure into his web on that fateful night.

Senator McWhorter watches his cigars closely since that recent occasion when an enemy substituted a box of explosive perfectos on him just as he was about to receive a delegation of postmasters from his home state.

On each wall will be large pictures of the senator himself, with banners urging "McWhorter for President." McWhorter is a modest man, but the little group of powerful men he expects to entertain will realize that this is his headquarters and that no special attempt is being made to persuade them or anything like that.

"Of course there may be some slight difficulty in drawing the meeting of the best minds into the McWhorter bedroom, but the McWhorter board of strategy expects to have an active little group at work which will be weaving around and exclaiming to people every few moments:

"Migosh, have you seen the McWhorter bedroom?" And after two or three hundred ballots have been taken, everybody will know all about

BARBS (By N.E.A. Service Inc.)

A New Jersey boy wrote to Washington, asking "if the French ambassador at Washington was murdered by the English ambassador, which country would have jurisdiction?" Chief Justice Taft seems to have been the only one able to answer. He wrote to the boy advising him to pay more attention to his school work.

A Detroit policeman, raiding a wild party, was knocked out by a ukulele. Maybe that's the wellknown blunt instrument the cub reporters talk about.

A boy wrecked a Reading railroad train in an experiment to see if the wheels would flatten a railroad spike. Such a talent for science should be rewarded.

California has a new series of public school text books in which the matter is handled in newspaper style. We suppose the first reader is not without the headline: TOT BARES CAT'S ATTACK ON RAT.

NOT EASY, UNEASY

Pampa Daily News: A New York man said he became a burglar because the trade looked so easy in newspaper stories. The manufacture of Ford automobiles also looks easy in newspaper stories.

The New York burglar appears to have told the whole truth. Getting a living by stealing or robbery does look easy, in print. It looks easy just to think about. But there is a hard time coming for all who undertake it.

The trouble is not in planning and executing a burglary or hold-up, but in making a clean getaway. That has become practically impossible. Fast cars may, and often do, outdistance pursuers. But after the tumult and excitement die, the police everywhere are looking with their ten thousand eyes for the culprits. Sooner or later they find the guilty. Capture is usually not immediate, but inevitable. Death or prison await the bad man. He can not take his choice between the two, but one or the other is his portion. He may dodge and elude for a time, but the day of reckoning comes. It is a good place here to say that desperate men with long prison sentences ahead of them it and the president-makers will know just where to come.

too often manage to escape their guards. This is especially true of those who are worked and housed on farms, under guard. No criminal with a long term marked against him should be put to any employment outside the penitentiary walls. Friends outside, with the proceeds of a lucky robbery, can find for him the means to procure a successful ruse or dash for liberty. The Texas prison system has lost some bad men, men who have kept on being bad after incarceration and escape. No man convicted of robbery with firearms should be set to any task outside the penitentiary inclosure. Carelessness in the keeping of convicts means expense in recapturing them, and great loss in terms of subsequent robberies staged by them.—State Press in Dallas News.

Arkansas Fields Help Boost Oil Total of Nation

TULSA, June 5.—(AP)—With Arkansas fields setting the pace, average daily production of crude oil in the United States increased 17,575 barrels during the week ending June 2, the Oil and Gas Journal will say in its current issue.

Arkansas production of light crude oil increased more than 12,000 barrels during the week, the production jumping from 34,065 barrels during the week ending May 26 to 46,395 barrels last week. This is the second successive week the Arkansas production has increased. Arkansas production of heavy crude dropped off about 200 barrels.

California production also increased for the period, gaining 4,500 barrels in light crude and 1,500 barrels in heavy crude.

The Rocky Mountain area showed a gain of more than 9,000 barrels. The Gulf coast fields increased about 2,000 barrels in heavy crude production, and the West Texas area gained about 1,700 barrels of daily production during the week.

Oklahoma production declined from 60,480 barrels on May 26 to 59,600 during the last week. The Seminoe area led in the slump, production in that great field dropping 7,000 barrels. The majority of the other fields showed small declines.

Dean of Women Defends Youth in Federation Talk

SAN ANTONIO, June 5.—(AP)—Modern youth was defended here today by Miss Laura Kuykendall, dean of women, Southwestern university, Georgetown, who told the biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's clubs that the phrase "applesauce" of the younger generation's triumphant rejection of the hokum which once fabled his parents.

"Our youth of today is less credulous, less crudely suggestible, keener to detect insincerity and hokum than formerly. Their minds go straight to the bottom of things. Youth is too keen to be misled by the things that misled the older generations. The old hokum of conventionalism does not appeal to them, but they are susceptible to modern hokum, and that is a serious matter."

Mrs. Kuykendall found nothing to criticize in youth of today, but was optimistic as to its future. "Eighty per cent of our girls are underweight," she said. "They are slightly anaemic, the majority of obstetrical cases today are pathological and we would do well to study this problem with all seriousness. It is really an occasion for alarm to be told by physicians that a normal birth is rare."

and our modern girls are more temperate on that point. However, statistics has done much for our boys and the greater hygiene of bobbed hair and short skirts for our girls has helped. We should keep these things.

"Youth is physically more fit today. This is especially true of our boys and I think it is true of our girls too, although the immediate fashions are not conducive to robust health."

"Youth today is pleasure bent. Youth rides motor cars to classes and dances until the wee small hours. It parks its motor on the roadside to get instead of courting on the front porch. Boys and girls are literally going hand in hand together, and this camaraderie has shocked middle age folk. That the morals of our youth have been questioned."

Coffee Blending Now Recognized as Art

"Throughout the United States, people are becoming more keenly conscious of the miracles of flavor wrought in foods by blending," one of America's foremost food experts wrote recently. "And in no blending process," he continues, "is their interest more manifest than in the delicate art of blending coffee."

When A Girl Loves

© 1928 by NEA Service by RUTH DEWEY GROVES

THIS MAN HAPPENED VIRGINIA BREWSTER, upon the sudden death of her father, came to live with a friend, CLARISSA DEAN, and her father, TED BREWSTER, NATHANIEL DANN, who was just now I thought, you must be about finished with your work for the day, so I came in to have tea with you.

"Do make us some tea, Niel," Chiri coaxed. "I'm so low I could crawl under a pancake."

CHAPTER XIX VIRGINIA'S things had arrived, she was told, and she asked to have them sent up immediately. It gave her welcome activity to unpack and make a list of the pictures and the few objects that she had in her suitcase. The trunks that should have been at the Deans' were not there, she learned. She called her former home on Park Avenue and directed the superintendent to send them to her new address. They contained nothing but clothing, very little of which she cared to wear now, so she was not impatient to receive them.

of a decidedly boyish cut, Nathaniel threw down his brush and knocked over a chair on his way to greet her when Virginia entered in response to his call to come in. "Will-o-the-wisp," he chided; "I've been trying all day to get you but I couldn't get a peep from anyone at the Deans. Aren't they letting you use the phones? I suspected something like that."

crushing against his, her firm young body tense. Nathaniel shoved her away and scolded angrily. "What an idiot you are!" Triumph blazed back at him from Chiri's gypsy eyes. She shook her hands off her shoulders and rubbed the places where his fingers had left red marks. "If you want to bruise me, do it with kisses," she said, with absolute seriousness. "Good lord!" Nathaniel groaned. "Do I have to murder you?"

there anything wrong, Virginia?" "Clarissa and I had a misunderstanding," she confessed reluctantly, hoping he wouldn't press her for all the details. "I knew that would happen! That girl's got a yen on herself," Nathaniel declared vehemently. "I've did it come about?" "Well, she seemed to think I might change my mind about marrying you," Virginia told him in the same accents she'd have used to say that babies are found in hollow logs.

Farm Revolt Is the Biggest Question G. O. P. Faces at Kansas City

Mid-West to Register Protest

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The western farmer have beaten their plowshares into question marks. And those are nearly all that stand between Herbert Hoover and the Republican presidential nomination, at Kansas City.

Politicians are asking if the party can afford to take a chance on a candidate whose attitude on farm relief is repugnant to the agricultural states.

How effectively the "farm revolt" will be made can only be guessed at this time; political opinion in Washington is widely divided. But these two things can be predicted with reasonable certainty:

1. The convention will not be dominated by the far leaders, although they are sure to make the most noise.
 2. The platform adopted will not endorse the McNary-Haugen bill or its vital equalization principle.
- The big question then to be decided is whether the farmers will lose both in their platform fight and their effort to scare the convention away from Hoover. The platform can't possibly be allowed to repudiate Coolidge's stinging veto message. But the farm leaders threaten to walk out on the convention if, on top of that, it nominates an anti-equalization man.

Claim Eastern Opposition

Now if Hoover's strength were solid outside the farm belt the convention probably would ride over the farmers rough-shod in both instances. The factor that worries the Hoover men and causes the farm leaders to predict eventually that the delegates won't dare nominate him is the opposition to Hoover which has persisted among important politicians in the powerful easterly states which always control conventions.

It is true that some of these states are divided, but the agricultural-industrial states of Illinois and Indiana are strongly against him. And Hoover hasn't a solid delegation in Ohio, New York, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, or Massachusetts. The balance of power probably will be held by Pennsylvania, New York and Connecticut, with Secretary Andrew Mellon of Pennsylvania holding virtually a whip-hand.

If a logical compromise candidacy had shaped up, the outlook would not be bright and pretty for Hoover. Clee President Daves offers the nearest approach to it, but he is for the McNary-Haugen plan. The leading possibilities are Lowden and Dawes on the farm belt side and Hoover, Coolidge and Hughes on the other side. Each of these candidates has the bitter opposition of the other faction.

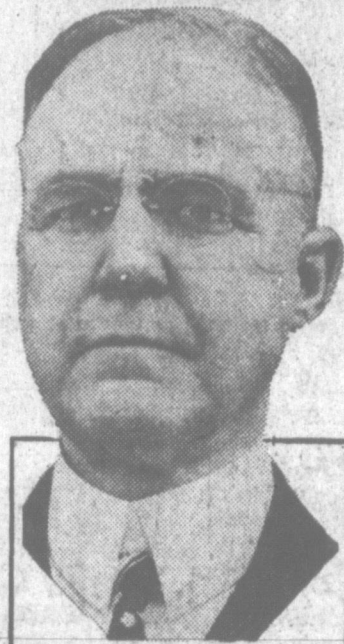

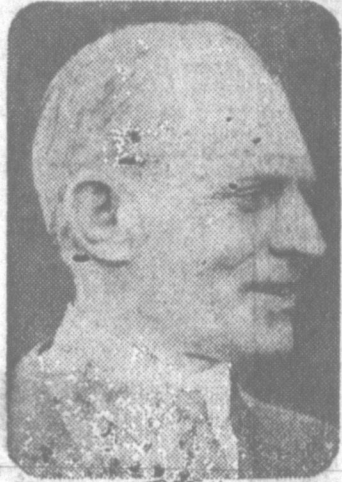

There is, of course, Senator Curtis of Kansas, but farm leaders are bitter against him since he voted to sustain the McNary-Haugen veto.

Kansas City will provide a wonderful show if the farm organization can raise 100,000 farmers to march there and how—or even half as many. That's what they threaten and no one can tell yet whether this great march of agriculture will become a stampede or a sad fizzle.

Farm Leaders Ready

There is some talk of a protest against election of Senator Fess of Ohio as keynoter, due to his anti-farm relief record and his failure to be elected a delegate, but it is probable that the first battle will be fought in the platform committee over the party's agricultural plank. There we will find Frank W. Murphy of Minnesota, his state's delegate on the resolutions committee and chairman of the legislative committee of the corn belt committee. Murphy is an orator of ability, and fireworks are reasonably certain, as he will have able supporters.

Of course it's just possible that huge delegations of dirt farmers, as their leaders hope, will pile into the convention hall and turn the place into a bedlam. But it's hard to imagine a Republican convention thus beset.

The farm leaders, however, hope to block Hoover's nomination in any event. It's difficult to determine just who will loom up as their commander-in-chief but the convention delegates will include numerous known and recognized leaders of farm bodies from Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Montana.

Among these outstanding insurgents will be Governor Adam McMullen of Nebraska, who said the west would vote for a wet farm relief Democrat over an unsatisfactory dry Republican and then polled more primary votes than any other delegate; President Earl C. Smith of the Illinois Agricultural Association; Murphy, as aforementioned; President Hearst of the Iowa Farm Bureau; Mark Woods of Nebraska; State Senator J. O. Shaffe of Iowa and President W. L. Stockton of the Montana Farm Bureau.

If the farmers are completely turned down at Kansas City, there will be considerable third party sentiment among their leaders. That it would materialize is doubtful. That would depend considerably on the attitude of Lowden, who now has his last chance at the presidency and would have nothing to lose but his party regularity, he now holds.

FOUR NICARAGUAN OUTLAWS SURRENDER TO MARINES

MANAGUA, NICARAGUA, June 5.—(P)—Four more outlaws from the Concordia and Colon district near Estel have voluntarily surrendered themselves to Lieutenant Colonel Benjamin S. Berry, commander of the American Marines in Jinotega.

The men were members of the band led by Santa Maria Sevilla, who gave himself up with 20 of his followers at Jinotega last Wednesday.

The four had held back apparently with the intention of waiting to see what terms the Nicaraguan government would grant their companions. As soon as they were satisfied that the promise of amnesty was made in good faith they came in from the mountains.

The bout will be a ten-round no decision affair and Malone's only chance to take the title is through a "knock-out" or foul.

Jesse Jones Lauded at Luncheon Today in San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, June 4.—Special—Jesse H. Jones of Houston was greeted today by San Antonio as great builder and a great leader at the Chamber of Commerce monthly luncheon. His services to the nation, the state and his own city were touched upon in glowing terms by the speakers who preceded him.

Conservative and lucid, his brief speech contained praise for San Antonio, and unspoken faith in the Democratic party, and a vision of a time to come when there would be no political sectional lines. Mr. Jones also praised San Antonio, both the city of today, and the historically wealthy settlement of the past.

"It has not been my privilege to see as much of San Antonio as I should like, but historically, I regard it the most sacred spot in Texas, and certainly it is our most beautiful city," he said.

"It also seems obvious that you are to have a sustained growth during the next 20 years, and if you will put your faith in your city and make your investments in improving it you will certainly make no mistake. There is a direct return and reward from helping to up build your city and we stand ready to do it, for we are convinced that no sunder investments can be made.

"You have honored me by this occasion and I am deeply appreciative and would be much happier if I did not have to speak. There is no excuse because I have had plenty of notice. But convention preparation matters are taking more hours than there are in the day."

"I believe that holding a national political convention in Texas will go a long way toward wiping out sectional lines politically in our national affairs. There should be no east, and no west, no north and no south in national politics.

"We have a two party government and those two parties should be divided as evenly as possible through the nation so that they could easily be held strictly to account for good conduct in office and for chastisement and repudiation when they betray the people, regardless of which party it is.

"Texas is as important to the nation as any other state or section and indeed we are an important world factor.

"The world must have our great cotton crop to help clothe its people. It needs our live stock and food products to help feed them, and without our oils and minerals, present-day transportation would be greatly affected.

"And so we in Texas should be national minded and world minded fully equal to the people of any other state or part of the country.

"With Texas stalwart position in the Democratic party, it has great influence in Democratic councils. This year we are especially favored by the first Democratic convention ever to be held in the far South or Southwest, and while I have had some mention about the political honors by the national party, and especially the endorsement by the Democratic convention at Beaumont at the choice of Texas Democracy for the presidency, a compliment that I appreciate to the greatest possible extent, yet my greatest concern is that we provide every facility for holding the convention and extend the most hospitable reception to our visitors with the bounds of possibility.

"Those of us extending the invitation to the national committee promised Southern hospitality and proper facilities and that is what we must furnish. We may differ as to platform and candidates with many who came to the convention officially and otherwise, but that will not excuse us for extending anything less than the most courteous treatment and best hospitality that we know.

Carlin to Meet Parelli in Match Here on Thursday

Thursday night at the Pla-Mor, Joe Parelli, ex-welterweight champ, meets Carlin, the Swedish champion in a main event, best two out of three match. Carlin is unable to get here for his match with Kopecky last Thursday night, but the management promises his appearance and a good show Thursday night.

On the same card, Kopecky will wrestle the Mystery Man best two out of three. Three weeks ago, the Mystery Man took the first fall from the Bohemian, losing the last two after being kicked in the stomach. He should make a much better showing Thursday night.

Joe Parelli took two straight falls from the Mystery Man last Thursday night in a rough and tumble match that looked as though it belonged to anybody until the final. He is a finished wrestler that should give Carlin an interesting evening. Carlin is a veteran in the game, and has a reputation for being able to stand plenty of rough usage without showing much wear and tear. He has wrestled some of the best boys in the Southwest and has been very successful up to date. The two seem to be well matched and should furnish a colorful bout from the standpoint of the spectators.

FLIERS---

member of the crew contributed services toward the success of the flight thus far. During a reception in the Grand Pacific hotel shortly after the plane landed the mayor of Suva lauded Captain Kingsford-Smith, pilot of the expedition. The Captain parried the compliment by saying that had it not been for his two American friends Lyon and Warner, he could not have accomplished the trip successfully. Then Warner spoke up by saying that during the crew's anxiety during the severe rain, thunder and lightning storm of Sunday night when the plane was midway between the Hawaiian and Fiji islands, it was fully realized that "Smithy" was the only man that could have brought them safely through. Warner referred to Kingsford-Smith's maneuvering of the control so that the huge plane dodged and wove through the storm clouds up from an altitude of 800 feet to nearly 8,000 feet, seemingly "flying in circles" at times in the effort to miss the full fury of the tropical blasts.

Navigator Praised Kingsford-Smith referred to Lyon who, as navigator of the plane, "shot that star he could find through the black clouds to chart the plane's course to the tiny dot of land. On Lyon's shoulders lay the responsibility of getting there or trying in the attempt. Deviations from the course meant wasted gasoline and the plane left Suva early Sunday morning with a bare 200-mile gasoline safety margin. The fliers did not try to conceal the fact that the storm had them worried. Kingsford-Smith declared that he hoped he "would never have to fly through such weather again in a thousand years. The course between Suva and Australia, although a comparatively short leg of the trans-Pacific flight, is considered by many here as being particularly dangerous at this time of the year. Short, violent storms peculiar to the south seas are known to sweep the seas during the summer months when cool air currents swinging north clash with tropical currents and the results are nights, swirling gales. Their hopes were based on the success of the two longest trans-oceanic flights ever made by man. The second leg of the hop from Kauai, Hawaii, to Suva, was the longest seaplane flight ever made over ocean wastes, and was considered all the more remarkable in that the monoplane carried a crew of four men. Other long distance ocean flights with the exception of commander Richard E. Byrd's trans-Atlantic flight, usually carried one or two men.

Turning Back Mademoiselle Thion

Mlle. Thion was defeated 3-1, rather handily, by Miss Collett in the recent British Ladies Championship.

The defeat of Mlle. Simone Thion de la Chaume—I really think Mademoiselle's correct name is Thion and the rest of it is the town or locality in which her family grew up—serves to point a moral and perhaps adorn a tale. Mlle. Thion was defeated 3-1, rather handily, by Miss Glenna Collett in the opening round of the recent British ladies' championship. They were regarded as the principal luminaries of the field, and the unkind fate that often attends pairings when no qualifying round is played and the names are drawn out of the hat—naturally free at the moment of brains—thus removing a considerable measure of interest from the tournament on the first morning. It will be recalled, too, that in 1921 when Alexa Stirling, our American champion since 1916, went to play in the British championship, she and the greatest British player of that era, Miss Cecile Leitch, were paired in the first round, and that was all Alexa played in the competition. Aside from questions of qualifying and of drawings, however, we have the little Mademoiselle at the moment as providing a distinct spill and something of a disappointment to our British cousins who write about golf and who are, one and all, selecting her, after she won the British title last year, to go over to the United States and capture the ladies' championship. "You have no one in the states," they assured us confidently, "who compares with her. We've seen you, Alexa and your Glenna. They are good undoubtedly. But the French girl is great. Lucky for her, of course, that Miss Wethered was not in our field this year. But she beat the rest of them easily and she'll beat your best players just as easily." Indeed, Charlie Macfarlane, the little Scot who writes golf for the London Evening Mail, advised Mrs. Keller and me strongly to go back home and bet all we had on Mlle. Thion at Cherry Valley.

We went back home and in the course of events we went to Cherry Valley to see the championship. But we were not convinced that 18 years should carry any preponderance of money in a field that contained Mrs. Fraser and Glenna and Maureen Orcutt and Virginia Van Wie and several others, not to mention Mrs. Miriam Burn Horn, who eventually won that tournament. In a word, we did not wager anything. And Mlle. Thion was in difficulties in the qualifying round, going out in 45, and was retired in round by Mrs. Fraser, who defeated her 3-2 after defeating Glenna Collett. Now Miss Collett also has taken the measure of the French star in a major fixture. And I cannot help wondering, perhaps with a trace of smugness, what Charlie Macfarlane and Frank Carruthers and Fred Pignon and several other glib British writers think of the question they put to us at St. Andrews in July of 1927. "Why don't you develop some women players comparable to your men players?" they inquired. "They are doing pretty well, I fancy."

Hornsby Helps to Hold Reds While Giants Gain Step

(By The Associated Press) The New York Giants owe a vote of thanks to their former team-mate Roger Hornsby, who is hitting the ball at a 418 clip for the Boston Braves. The "Rajah," let go by the Giants for the "good" of the club, personally accounted for the runs that puled the Braves to a 5 to 3 verdict over the Cincinnati Reds at the Hub yesterday in one of the two major games that rain did not prevent. The Reds' defeat allowed the idle Giants to creep a bit closer to Hendrick's crew, out in front in the National league race and determined to stay there.

With the score tied and George Siskler on base in the ninth, Hornsby drove the ball into the center field bleachers, a terrific drive that decided the issue then and there. A few minutes before, Dressen's homer had tied the score. Eppa Rixey, elongated Cincinnati hurler, tried his best to keep his team in the running with the first four-base blow of the game in the seventh. Hornsby Ford grabbed two assists at short-stop for the Reds, running his consecutive chances accepted without an error to 101.

Six runs in the first three innings were enough to carry the Athletics to victory over the White Sox, 6 to 3, at Chicago. Ty Cobb came out of a bad batting slump and drove in three runs with a single and triple in the first and second innings. Rube Walberg pitched effectively for the Mask-men until the ninth when he walked two men and then allowed three hits that were good for two runs. Kamm's home run in the second accounted for the third tally.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Mahan are enjoying an extended trip through North Carolina. They will be gone a month. Arlie Speer of Amarillo, connected with the City Drug Stores, Inc., is making his home in Pampa.

Bufs Step Ahead of Fort Worth Cats Thru Another Win

(By The Associated Press) The fast-traveling Houston Buffs were deeply entrenched in first place in the Texas league percentage column today as a result of their smashing 8 to 3 victory over the Dallas Steers and Fort Worth's 5 to 7 loss to San Antonio yesterday.

The victory was Houston's fifth straight and gave the Buffs a record of seven wins and one tie in their last eight games. It boosted Houston's lead over the Panthers in second place, to three and one half games. All the Buff runs came in the seventh inning when Glenn Darrough went to pieces before an avalanche of bunts and hits. Until that frame Darrough had pitched creditable ball and looked good enough to turn in a shut-out.

San Antonio pulled a nine-inning rally that netted five runs and defeated Fort Worth after the Cats apparently had the contest on ice. They collected nineteen hits and plastered his first defeat in nine starts on Paul Wachtel, the veteran saliva hurler.

Manager Jake Alz announced he would protest the game because Manager Frank Gibson inserted himself in the lineup twice in the ninth inning batting for Cox and running for Orimes. The Wichita Falls Spudlers dropped their second straight to the Waco Cubs 3 to 0 when the found Ace Elliott's puzze and the Spudlers found the offerings of Kiefer to their liking. The Beaumont-Shreveport contest was postponed on account of rain.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Mahan are enjoying an extended trip through North Carolina. They will be gone a month. Arlie Speer of Amarillo, connected with the City Drug Stores, Inc., is making his home in Pampa.

Boxing Card Is Postponed as Page Fails to Arrive

Due to the non-arrival of Walter Page, the fights at the Pampa Athletic arena were called off last night, the fans receiving tickets for a full card to show Wednesday night. Page started in his car, broke down, and then missed train connections. He then engaged an aeroplane to bring him the rest of the way, but had not arrived at 10 o'clock when the management called off the rest of the program.

The first event of the evening was a three-round go between Clovis Green and Curtis Simpson, two boys from Jack Doss' boxing class that he is conducting at the Pla-Mor, resulting in a decision for Green, the next was between Lloyd Simpson and Kid Parker, also of Jack's stable of young fighters. Parker won a close fight. Black Cloud Gledie of Pampa, and Speedy Ed of Clarendon furnished the laugh of the evening, together with a substitute referee, putting on one of the best shows that fans in the local arena have seen in quite a long time. The newspaper decision is in favor of the referee.

Wednesday night, Varner will meet Page at 150 pounds, in a ten-round battle. Art Villion, the hard-hitting boy from Mexico City will attempt to take the measure of Billy Springfield, and Jack Morrison meets Kid Roberts of Amarillo in a six-round event. In addition to these bouts, there will be a couple of fast preliminaries.

The Altar Society of the Catholic church will meet at the Holy Soul church Wednesday afternoon. All members are urged to attend.

The Young Ladies' Circle of the Christian Church will meet Wednesday evening in the home of Mrs. Billie Taylor. Try a Daily News Want Ad.

Another Entry In Coming Terrapin Race

It begins to look like a real terrapin race. Another aspirant to first place has answered the challenge of Perry Hodge an assays that his "Dixie Flash" is too fast for any ordinary terrapin.

The person taking up the challenge is Jim King, well shooter for the Barton Torpedo company and candidate for sheriff of Gray county.

King's acceptance brings the total number in the race to three. James Wheeler of White Deer having decided to enter "Betty Lou" yesterday.

Others are expected to enter the running before the contest is held at the Pla-Mor June 12.

A dinner will be given Thursday evening at the Schneider Hotel at 8 o'clock by the members of the Eastern Star. All members of the Eastern Star are invited.

The hangar was barred to visitors yesterday as T. Harold Kinkade, Wright motor expert, looked over the Columbia's motors. Work was knocked off last night, however, and it was said that more time would be required before the plane could be ready for an ocean flight.

Organized Women Plan To Take Active Part In Year's Campaigns

Vice chairmen of their parties' national committees, Mrs. Alvin T. Hert (left) and Mrs. Emily Newell Blair will marshal the republican and democratic women, respectively in the 1928 presidential campaign.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The feminine finger will be in the political pie this year if the interest evinced by national women's organizations is any criterion of woman's way with the franchise, eight years after she acquired it.

A survey has revealed that organizations which do not function politically have prepared elaborate programs of citizenship education, in an effort to awaken their members to the need of intelligent voting.

Through its department of American citizenship the General Federation of Women's Clubs sent out an appeal to club women all over the country not only to accept places as delegates to the national party conventions, but to seek such appointments.

Mrs. William R. Alvord, Detroit, chairman of the department, has sent a questionnaire to state chairmen to learn in advance the approximate number of votes that will be cast by club women in the coming state and national elections.

The National League of Women Voters has adopted a program for educating women to the rights and duties of enfranchisement. The program suggests political topics for study in state groups. Issues that will play a prominent part in the forthcoming presidential election will be discussed.

C. Le Bostillier of East Orange, N. J., would be in the pilot's seat if and when a take-off was made. Miss Boll had announced after her flight to Havana with Levine and Wilmer Stultz, pilot of the Friendship, that the latter would pilot her on an ocean flight.

TREPASSEY, N. F., June 5.—(AP)—The Fokker monoplane Friendship, in which Miss Amelia Earhart of Boston and her two male companions hope to cross the Atlantic, was buffeted by strong northwest winds here today, which made plans for completion of fuelling impossible.

Seven more tanks of gasoline remained to be poured into the plane's reservoirs. The fliers announced the take off, which last night seemed likely upon completion of the fuelling operation, had been postponed. Aside from the wind the weather was clear and fine.

In intimation that the Friendship might fly beyond England was given by Miss Earhart, pilot Wilmer Stultz and mechanic Louis Gordon in conversation here this morning. They said that their plans for a landing place on the other side of the Atlantic were indefinite. Their purpose, they added, was to fly until their fuel was exhausted and then descend, and they hoped to make a longer flight than any of their predecessors over this route.

Clad in brown knickers and high laced boots, Miss Earhart appeared to be in high spirits on the eve of her great adventure.

Every precaution was taken to make the flight as safe as possible. The plane has three motors, any two of which will keep it in flight; it has been given extensive tests lasting over a period of seven weeks as to fuel consumption, lifting capacity and air speed; it is equipped with pontoons and carries two radio sets. An emergency one can be operated even if the plane is forced down, and the motors are silenced.

HOOVER WINS AGAIN KANSAS CITY, June 5.—(AP)—The Hoover forces continued to hold a whip hand in the Republican national committee today, seating as the four convention delegates at large from Louisiana, a slate sponsored by Enlie Kuntz, National committeeman, and an avowed supporter of the commerce secretary.
