Three Men Badly Burned in Well Explosion at Sullivan Producer

ONE MAY DIE AS RESULT OF BODY INJURIES

Adam Brogdin and Two Sears Boys Are Victims

WELL IS STILL BURNING TODAY

Was Brought in Last September for 100 Barrels

Three oil workers were seriously burned late yesterday when the Navillus Oil company's No. 1 Sullivan, section 1, block 1, 3 miles east of LeFors, exploded and caught fire.

The injured men are Adam Brogdin, about 50, and two young men, Joe Sears and Cary Sears, who are brothers. All are burned about the face and limbs, and Joe Sears is so badly burned about the body that his recovery is problematical. He and Brogdin are said to be married.

The workmen were engaged in a fishing job when the explosion occurred. Ignition of gas and oil from the well presumably was from the gas engine used at the rig, but inasmuch as the men have been unable to talk and information comes only from oil workers on an adjoining lease, confirmation of the idea is impossible today.

The derrick was quickly consumed and the well, brought in last September for about 100 barrels and considerable gas, is still burning. Increasing gas pressure was reported early today when John L. Sullivan, owner of the well, is vacationing in Seattle, and steps to extinguish the blaze awaits telegraphic instructions from him.

The Malone ambulance brought the men to the McKean and Conner hospital last night for treatment. Owing to faulty instructions as to the location of the well, the ambulance made considerable extra distance before arriving at the lease.

Firecrackers Taboo City Manager Says

City Manager F. M. Gwin today made a statement that the city ordinance against shooting firecrackers and other explosives in the business streets of Pampa is to be enforced, and that officers are to arrest and collect fines from those found guilty of this offense. Firecrackers, toy torpedoes and other small explosives, thrown into the streets and sidewalks by small boys and some not so small, have been a source of real danger, as well as of great annoyance, to both pedestrians and motorists in the business section of the town for the past several days; and it was found necessary for the city management to take steps to stop the practice.

SMITH HEARS DEMONSTRATION

ALBANY, N. Y., June 28.—(P)—Governor Smith was up until well into the early hours this morning listening over the radio to the demonstration staged at the Democratic convention when his name was placed in nomination for the presidency, and he made no attempt to conceal his satisfaction.

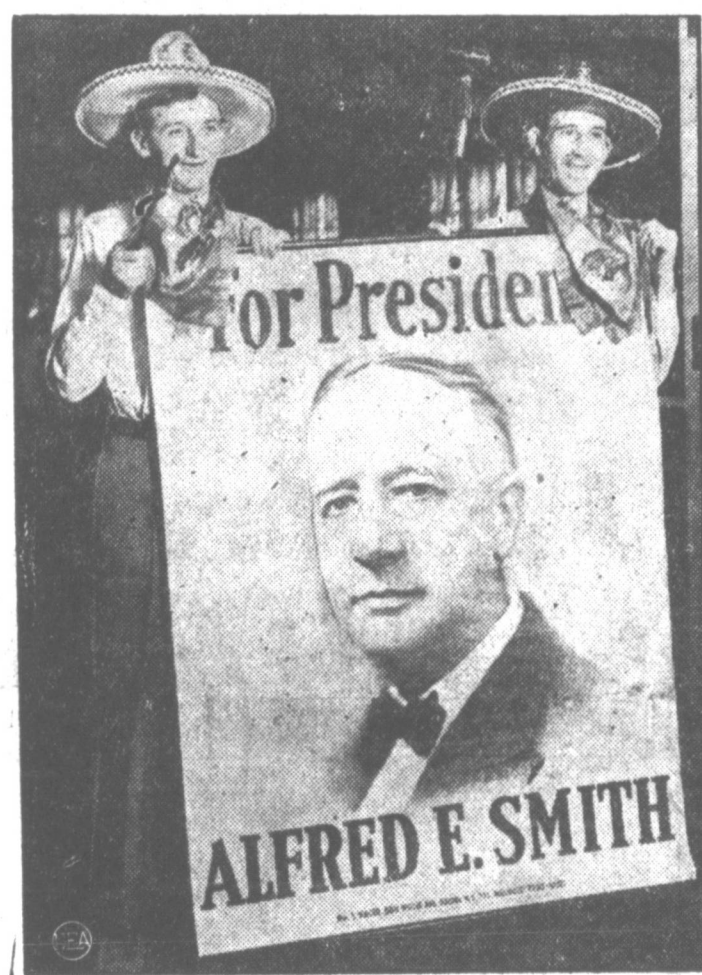

He tuned in as soon as the evening session began and did not miss a word or a shout or a blast of music.

DAMAGE SUIT TO REQUIRE ANOTHER DAY FOR FINISH

Out of a maze of conflicting testimony, the jury in the damage suit of Miss Della Todd against the City of Pampa will attempt to return a verdict in deliberations not likely to begin before tomorrow.

Probably most of the testimony will be concluded this afternoon or at the impending night session, but at present time it appeared doubtful that any argument would be heard today. A night session Wednesday was dismissed on account of it being prayer meeting day, and rebuttal testimony was resumed today.

Yesterday afternoon the jurors heard Dr. A. Cole and Dr. W. Purviance concerning the extent of Miss Todd's injuries after the automobile accident. Ernest Medkief and T. J. Lomax concerning the repairing of the car involved, and Deputy R. W. Walker of Wilbarger county regarding his knowledge of the plaintiff and a reported prior accident in which she was hurt in 1926.

Today much recapitulation was taking place. Witnesses included Ruth Hill, C. J. Human, Lewis Cox, Dr. W. R. Monroe, and Mr. Conner, a drilling contractor. The main contentions were the depth of the ditch which is alleged to have caused the accident, the appearance of the car after the accident, and the physical condition of Miss Todd before and since the injuries were sustained.

Testimony concerning the depth of the ditch ranges from 4 inches to 2 feet. Physicians vary in their estimates of the extent of the girl's injuries following the accident. The defense is attacking the credibility of the plaintiff, and at noon today, when court adjourned until 1:40 p. m., Miss Todd had just completed another period on the stand, in which she was asked questions in relation to her testimony at the previous trial.

Despite Judge Willis' emphatic insistence upon uninterrupted sessions, many delays have arisen due to inability to have witnesses present.

GRAY COUNTY BOASTS 3,102 SCHOLASTICS

County Superintendent in Prospect for Next Term

JOHN B. HESSEY SEEKS OFFICE

Central High School Now Has 33 Units of Affiliation

Creation of the office of county superintendent will be mandatory upon the county commissioners if the annual report for Gray county, submitted about a week ago, is approved by the state department of education.

After checking the scholastic rolls of each district for illegalities and duplications, County Judge T. M. Wolfe submitted a list of 3,102 pupils for the entire county. These are distributed as follows:

Pampa Independent district, 1,852. Alanreed, 141. Rural, 537. McLean, 536.

The LeFors Independent district, recently created out of the LeFors and Sand creek areas, is planning a $100,000 building and is awaiting approval of the project before employing all the teachers who will be needed.

John B. Hessey is the sole candidate for the prospective office of county superintendent. He has lived in Gray county 21 years, six of which have been spent in teaching rural schools. He started efforts to consolidate the Grandview district, which last year completed a $6,500 brick and tile plant. He was superintendent of the school.

Mr. Hessey has been of material assistance to Judge Wolfe in handling the records of the rural schools, and if he takes office he plans to spend two weeks in the state department of education familiarizing himself more thoroughly with the duties of county superintendent.

Central high school has a total of 33 affiliated credits. One credit was granted in vocational agriculture last February, and to this has been added half a unit in short hand, a unit in chemistry, and half a unit in commercial law. In other words, three additional credits have been granted this year.

The school, furthermore, was granted All-Southern affiliation, one of the outstanding achievements any system can attain.

Rev. Todd Begins Report on Recent Rotary Convention

Pampa Rotarians yesterday heard the first of a series of interesting talks by the Rev. James Todd, Jr., on the recent international convention at Minneapolis, which he attended.

Lynn Boyd presided at the luncheon. A budget committee composed of J. M. Dodson, L. N. McCullough and J. E. Murfee was appointed.

Next week's luncheon will be held on July 3, instead of on July 4, as it would regularly come.

Visiting Rotarians included C. H. McClean of Wichita Falls, Fred E. DeCoster of Amarillo, and David M. Warren and Tal Jonz.

FLIER GOING GOOD

HORTA, Island of Fayal, Azores, June 28.—(P)—Captain Frank T. Courney, British aviator, who hopped off from Lisbon this morning for this place enroute to the United States, sent a wireless message to the Associated Press this afternoon reading: "Still going strong, expect arrive about 4 o'clock."

Smith and Robinson Slated as Ticket For 1928 Democracy--First Ballot Will Likely Be Tonight--Party Split Hinted

HOUSTON, June 28.—(AP)—Threats of a bolt of the party if Al Smith is nominated were wildly cheered at a mass meeting of "dry" delegates to the Democratic convention held in the Baptist church here today on the eve of the impending row over a dry plank in the party's platform. Speakers included Cone Johnson of Texas. Johnson told the mass meeting of several hundred persons that he was tempted to bolt the Democratic party "I have been in 50 years".

HOUSTON, June 28.—(AP)—A prohibition plank declaring for enforcement of the eighteenth amendment was approved today by the Democratic convention's resolutions sub-committee in winding up the drafting of the platform upon which the party will seek a grant of power in November.

The declaration, which has been the subject of bitter controversy for days, is exactly as was drafted by Senator Key Pittman, of Nevada, chairman of the committee, and is understood to have the full endorsement of Gov. Alfred E. Smith.

Besides declaring for enforcement of the Eighteenth amendment, the plank sharply assails the Republican administration for what is described as a failure to enforce the dry laws and also for placing "political hirelings" in enforcement positions, thus making of prohibition a political football.

The sub-committee, which will report the platform to the entire committee later in the day, with a view to having it go before the convention this afternoon, adopted a farm plank embodying the views of the farm organizations, but with a definite endorsement of the equalization fee and the McNary-Haugen bill omitted.

Plans Not Detailed. Several plans for relief are suggested and the party would be pledged to enact legislation to correct what are declared to be the faults in distribution and the taking care of the surplus farm crops. It was explained that this might be done through the operation of the equalization fee or by other means.

Several wet and dry proposals were submitted to the sub-committee but they were eliminated one by one until there remained only the original plank as drawn by Senator Pittman and other leaders last week and a similar one offered by a senator, Carter Glass Virginia, a dry leader. After an agreement as to precise language the committee finally approved the Pittman draft.

Gov. Dan Moody, of Texas, presented the prohibition declaration adopted by the Texas state convention and endorsing the Eighteenth amendment but this was rejected along with proposals for the modification of the prohibition laws so as to permit the states to decide whether they would be wet or dry.

Moody Is Silent. The Texas governor would make no statement after the sub-committee wound up its work at 6:30 a. m. Today after meeting continuously since 9 o'clock last night, he told his colleagues on the committee that he might take the fight to the floor. However, the consensus among the twelve platform builders appeared to be that there would be no prohibition fight in the convention.

Joseph Daniels, North Carolina publisher and former Naval secretary, who also has been demanding a vigorous enforcement plank, was not a member of the sub-committee. He will have opportunity to restate his views when the sub-committee reports to the full committee which still has to endorse the party declaration.

Chairman Pittman was of the opinion that it would not require more than an hour for the entire committee to pass upon the platform and he expected the convention to hold a special session in mid-afternoon to receive and approve the committee report.

By BYRON PRICE Associated Press Staff Writer. SAM HOUSTON HALL, Houston, June 28.—(AP)—While its last real disagreement—over prohibition—was adjusting itself in committee, the Democratic national convention spent the waiting hours today paying tribute to the little coterie of favorite son candidates whose supporters still are refusing to board the Smith band wagon.

In hours of stump speaking and hurrahing, one after another of the already-beaten minor candidates were placed formally in nomination, and some of them were given militant and colorful demonstrations of loyalty by their home state delegations. The convention likewise heard another batch of seconding speeches for Smith, whose name was presented last night.

The Missourians who want "Jim" Reed in the White House put on a twenty-minute demonstration when he was put in nomination. With the help of the convention bands and enough cowbells to supply a sizeable dairy herd, they kept the convention hall vibrating as they paraded about the wide aisles shouting the praises of their man.

At 12:37 p. m., the convention recessed until 3 o'clock.

By BYRON PRICE Associated Press Staff Writer. SAM HOUSTON HALL, Houston, June 28.—(P)—With the prohibition tangle straightening itself out in committee, the Democratic national convention neared its end today with scarcely a threat of trouble left on its horizon.

By early afternoon tomorrow, at the latest, the convention managers expected to adjourn finally and go home, after having put before the country a ticket composed of Smith of New York and Robinson of Arkansas, and a platform promising, among other things, strict enforcement of the dry laws and a comprehensive program of farm relief.

Day of Speeches. Today's opening session was given to a continuation of the long interlude of nominating speeches begun last night. It was the tentative plan to adopt the platform during the afternoon, and to cast tonight the one ballot now considered certain to result in the nomination of Smith. An overnight adjournment is expected before the selection of Smith's running mate and the final windup.

Their whole performance today had been a distinct bit of anti-climax. There still was a lingering possibility of a floor fight over the platform, but most of the leaders were confident none would develop. The oratorical part of the day's program, consisting of putting the names of a half dozen favorite sons formally in nomination was a somewhat tedious formality in the sweltering heat of a big convention hall. Everybody conceded that the men for whom speeches made had no real chance of nomination, but delegates and convention officers were willing to let them have their glory and joined in.

The old adage describing the hearings of the path of the pacemaker has been driven home to Houston policemen by the list of democratic delegates. One policeman who aided in quieting the disturbance about the North Carolina and Alabama standards yesterday rubbed his head gingerly last night and hoped for a peaceful session.

"Somebody cracked me in the head with his fist in the fight today," he explained.

SIDELINE TALK AT HOUSTON

(By The Associated Press)

"Mrs. Cornelius from New Jersey has lost $48 from under her hat," astonished Democrats heard Senator Robinson read in stentorian tones from a pencilled slip of paper just after former Governor Nellie Taylor Ross had taken her seat.

"While holding the banner shortly after Mr. Franklin Roosevelt's address," he continued to read, "the hat was knocked off, with $48, one $20 bill, four $5 bills and eight ones' cement," he continued rapping for order.

"In view of the nature of the amount, I think I might add that Mr. Franklin Roosevelt had nothing to do with it."

As the Smith parade wended its way about the convention hall, the North Carolina delegation, out of the demonstration by a vote of 24 to 7, seemed a trifle bored in its front-row position. But not for long. The delegates were suddenly shocked to see a North Carolina standard pass. They looked at their state marker, right side up and handed with care at the end of the row and wondered some more. Then they remembered that there was a standard attached to the alternates section in the rear. W. F. Brooks of Smithville set out in pursuit and soon returned bringing the truant standard with him. It developed that Bradford Duncan of Tucson, Arizona, had spiked the unguarded far heel emblem as he passed with his delegation and introduced it into the party.

Two sons of Thomas Farrell, chairman of the Pennsylvania delegation, surprised their parents by appearing unannounced at the convention. Mr. and Mrs. Farrell-of-Wilkesbarre were greeted by Joseph, 15, and Mick, 13. The two boys had attended the New York convention four years ago and wanted to see another. After their parents and associates together left for Houston they took their savings and followed. They are regular attendants at all sessions.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing, or reputation of any individual, firm, concern, or corporation that may appear in the columns of the Pampa Daily News will be gladly corrected when called to the attention of the editor.

What ever blame exists, it is largely of omission, for there is little complaint about the methods in so far as they extend.

It is true that usual difficulties have presented themselves. The old means and methods are not sufficient. It is not a question of doing the best one can according to old standards, but of rising to the occasion to meet the new needs.

The Pampa Independent school district had similar needs—and met them. The city had giant problems—and largely solved them.

True, there are county dividing lines which hinder efficient work. But the means which increased valuations have placed in the hands of the commissioners give them the same tools that the other public bodies have at their disposal.

Within the Pampa district are valuations which make up a huge part of the county total. We believe that this district lacks the machinery to which it is entitled, and in the interest of equitable distribution of county money and credit, we express the hope that the commissioners will make necessary purchases at once.

The will of the people is not being carried out. There seems to be too much caution, too much false economy out of tune with the wishes of the people who pay the taxes—and the oil men who use the roads.

We believe Gray county needs a county agent. No revival of interest in poultry raising and dairying is going to be carried out as it should without this service.

Pampa's special road district has money available for paying and the project for which no state aid is available could be rushed along if speed in all departments were insisted upon.

It is unfortunate that something similar to the city manager plan is not available to counties or road districts. In the absence of this privilege, the people must insist upon the part of those who hold public office.

While we read a lot these days of reckless driving there is one prevalent form of recklessness which is responsible for a very heavy toll of human life.

Which we read and hear refer to the reckless pedestrians—a condition is growing so rapidly that it is very motorist lives and of what day.

How many times have you had to turn sharply to the right side or the wrong side in order to avert striking some careless individual who shuffles out into the path of traffic without looking where he is going—sometimes looking back and talking to someone on the sidewalk?

How many times do we jam the brakes and pray while the car comes to a stop a bare inch from somebody who walks aimlessly or jauntily out from parked cars his eyes fixed on some silk stocking or else stargazing—with mind as far from danger as his gaze? There is no question, but we have one hundred percent too much reckless driving, but it is just as true that we need to cry aloud against the carelessness of hundreds of pedestrians who jeopardize their own lives and those of others by their heedless rambling across our streets and highways.

CAPITOL News

By RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON—June 28—The Democrats treat their women better than the Republicans.

There are now something like 150 women delegates sitting in the Democratic national convention at Houston this year and about 260 women alternates. As was the case at Kansas City, there are fewer women seated than in 1924, a reduction from about 500 to 400 among some 2,000 delegates and alternates.

The Republicans had less than half as many feminine delegates and a few less alternates.

Many of the ladies will split their votes with men, so that their actual voting power will be somewhere around 100 votes.

For some reason or other, the women at the Democratic conventions are considerably more independent than their Republican sisters.

An excellent example of Democratic feminine independence is the case of Mrs. Emily Newell Blair. Mrs. Blair was national committee woman from Missouri and for several years vice chairman of the national committee.

When Senator Reed wanted the Missouri delegation it would only have been smart politics for Mrs. Blair to chime right in. Instead of that, Mrs. Blair, a good Wilson Democrat, led the fight to prevent his endorsement. Mrs. Blair of course, was eliminated from active leadership in Missouri politics as soon as the Reed faction gained ascendancy at the state convention. She will be succeeded as committee woman by Mrs. C. B. Farris, a Reed supporter and wife of a federal judge. Reed's other foes joined with his friends to endorse him and save their skins.

The nominee will select Mrs. Blair's successor as vice chairman, but she will be active at her headquarters here during the convention. She is regarded as the politically best informed woman among Democrats and retires after a brilliant administration of her position.

Nearly all the leading women's organizations will have representatives before the platform committee to urge their various pet programs. The platform, of course, will be dictated by the politicians, with such concessions as seem expedient.

A considerable number of widely known women are delegates. Indiana paid a neat tribute to widows of three of her distinguished Democratic sons by placing them on the at-large slate. They are Mrs. Thomas R. Marshall, widow of the vice president under Wilson; Mrs. Samuel Ralston, widow of the late Senator and Mrs. John W. Kern, whose husband was one of Bryan's running mates and a great progressive fighter.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson is expected to attend the convention, but not as a delegate. It has been reported that Mrs. Wilson favors the Smith candidacy, possibly because Reed is Smith's principal opponent.

Among the anti-Smith women is Mrs. William R. Pattangall, national committee woman from Maine. But Mrs. Pattangall is not a delegate. She had the courage to oppose Smith, and met with defeat similar to Mrs. Blair's.

One hears, by the way, that quite a few Democratic women avoided posts as delegates in order to avoid the expected wet-and-dry fight.

Teams Far From Home for Games Over July Fourth

BY WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN
(Associated Press Writer)

Inter-sectional games now will occupy major league teams until the half-way mark is passed in the pennant races on July fourth.

The Yankees Wednesday clubbed the Athletics at Shire Park, 7 to 4. The Giants did the same thing to the Phillies at the Polo Grounds, 11 to 5, and the Red Sox won two from the Senators in Boston. The scores were 4 to 1 and 11 to 4.

Young Henry Johnson plugged to the forefront as an elephant snapper in clash which saw Robert Moses' Grove wilt under heavy cannonading by the Yankees' artillery corps.

This latest victory gave the Yankees the longest lead they have had this season—eleven games.

The Cardinals, who have just won 21 out of 27 games on their longest road trip of the season, dropped in the Three-eye league Wednesday as the Giants cut an insignificant half-yard off the St. Louis lead at the Polo Grounds. The Red Birds have persistently shown an inclination to turn the next National league derby into no-contest, as the Yankees have turned what the American league once called a "face" as a result.

The men of McGraw hope to make up much ground against their western rivals in a long run of games through July 4 with the weaker east. Their victory over the Phillies was four in a row, but when the Phoolish Phils act as they did yesterday Giant fans may well fear the next inter-sectional brush.

The Phillies knocked out Vic Aldridge in the eighth, scored four runs and took a lead of 8 to 7. The combined strategy of Roger Bresnahan and John McGraw was necessary to pinch-hit and pinch-run the Giants into four in their own half for an 11 to 8 victory.

Helen Wills Is Winner but Junior Coen Is Beaten

WIMBLEDON, England, June 28—(P)—Helen Wills, defending her Wimbledon championship, successfully met her second test of the 1928 tournament today, eliminating Miss V. Galloway of England, in easy fashion, 6-0, 6-0.

Miss Elizabeth Ryan of California defeated Miss J. Galloway, of England, 6-4, 8-4.

WIMBLEDON, England, June 28—(P)—Wilbur Coen, of Kansas City, member of the American Davis cup team, was eliminated in the men's singles of the British tennis championships today by H. W. Austin, brilliant young English star, in a hard-fought five-set match.

Coen put up a gallant battle against his English rival but went down by scores of 6-4, 3-6, 6-4, 3-6, 6-1. The youthful American squared the match in the fourth set but could not match Austin's closing drive in the fifth and deciding set.

OLYMPIC HOPES

D. ABBOTT

David Abbott, captain of the championship Illinois track squad this year, is in a bad spot. He's a natural two-miler, but he will have to go for longer distances if he wants to make the Olympic jaunt to Amsterdam this year. Abbott crashed through with new records for his favorite event in the Big Ten meet as well as the national intercollegiate this year. He was first in the conference meet with the time of 9:23 7-10 and he ran first in the intercollegiate in 9:28 8-10. He is training now for the final trials at Boston in July, and Illinois officials are confident that he will make the squad. They say he's good enough to go in the 5000-meter race, the event he'll try for.

Texas Teams to Plug Weak Spots for Second Half

(By The Associated Press)

Since Houston has tucked away first-place honors for the first half of the Texas league season, other clubs are giving much attention towards strengthening weak places in order that a different story of the second half pennant chase can be told.

One such club is Dallas, which, accustomed for several years to a place in the first division and very often for a real chance at the pennant, has devoted much of its time this year to keeping out of the cellar. Manager Ellison trotted out a couple of new hurlers in the Steer's game with Waco Wednesday, but his white elephants lost, 5 to 8.

Ray Pierce and Leo Bartholomew, recently from Mobile and Pittsburgh, respectively, were the new Steer men. Pierce was touched in the sixth for four runs and made a hasty exit, but Bartholomew, who relieved Geary in the seventh, allowed but one run and finished the game.

Houston lost in eleven innings to Wichita Falls largely as a result of Hallahan's balk. With the score tied at 4-all, two men fanned and Turgeon singled. When Hallahan failed to go through with a motion towards first base, Turgeon went to second, and scored on Fitzgerald's single.

San Antonio defeated Shreveport, 7 to 6, in a game featured by the great relief hurling of Andy Messenger and the vicious slugging of the Bears' who rapped out seventeen safeties including several for extra bases.

The Fort Worth-Beaumont game was postponed on account of rain.

Varner Is Matched With Walker for Monday's Event

After four months matchmaking by local promoters, Walter Varner and battling Mickey Walker have been matched for the main event of a big boxing card at the Pla-Mor auditorium next Tuesday evening. These two boys have enviable records and are out to prove certain claims.

Walter Varner, 158 pounds, of Roxana, is well known here, having been seen in action several times against Fred Whittington and other good boys. He is as clever a boxer as has ever stepped in the local ring and fans predict a hard evening for Walker, who is a slugger with a sleep punch in both hands.

The Pampa boy will also enter the ring at 158 pounds and will be dynamite all through the battle. He never knows when he is beaten, as he has yet to be, and has hopes of landing one of his haymakers on Varner's chin.

As a semi-final Jack Morrison, 130 pounds, of Borger is scheduled in a ten-round battle with Tabby Levine, 150 pounds, the Pampa boy. This, without a doubt, will be the fastest bout on the card as both boys are greased lightning in the ring and hard hitters. Morrison has been beating all-comers, although he is only a youngster.

Levine is a veteran at the game having fought in Wichita Falls and Chicago. He has not had a bout in some time but has been training hard and is ready for the speedy Borgerite.

Another fast bout should be the Art Villaton-Black Cloud Goldie six-round event. Villaton the Borger Mexican, has been a consistent winner in the territory during the past few months and has become a favorite of Pampa fans. Goldie, local negro, is one of the cleverest boys here and will give the Mexican the hardest battle he has experienced in some time.

The preliminary will bring together O. D. the fighting newsboy, who is scheduled in a four-round bout with Kid Turner. The newsboy has been out of the ring for some time, having no worthy challenger, but Turner seems to be ready for the youngster.

The card will commence at 8:30 o'clock.

The Doctor Was Puzzled

By O. B. KEELER

Of all the curious anecdotes of golf tournaments I have heard—and some of them are no less than weird—the oddest, I believe, was told me lately at the women's southern championship at the Country Club Birmingham, Ala., by Dr. A. B. Harris, formerly president of that estimable club and familiarly known all over Dixie as "Buck" Harris.

Dr. Harris is a capable and powerful golfer, six feet and two inches in height and a formidable adversary when he takes his clubs in hand. The story was of a big invitation tourney many years ago at a resort course which need not be named here.

It seems that Dr. Harris had won the medal round with a very good '71 and was drawn for the first match with another visiting player whose qualifying score was 76. Dr. Harris thus anticipated a good hard match, and he was astonished to see his opponent miss his first tee-shot deplorably, miss up his second and third and finally hole out carefully with a nine against Dr. Harris' par 4.

"When he did the same thing, with at least as big a score, at the second," said Harris, "I began to feel queer. 'What's the idea?' I asked myself. 'Is he stringing me along and will he cut loose in a hole or two and demolish me?'"

Not at the third, certainly—the opponent was just as extraordinary there, in addition to which finding his ball well bunkered, he proceeded, quite without concealment, to lay down his club, get down on all-fours and carefully scrape the sand away from around the ball, leaving it on a neat little pedestal.

"I didn't say anything," said Dr. Harris. "I simply was dumbfounded."

Dr. A. B. (BUCK) HARRIS

After getting the ball well teed up, he then took three strokes to get out of the bunker, and, I think, a 12 on the hole.

Still wondering about the idea, and when his opponent would break loose with something to justify that qualifying score of 76, Dr. Harris went on shooting tight golf, though, as he admitted, most uneasy in his mind. He simply could not figure the thing out.

"When I had won the first five holes, however," he said, "I thought to myself, 'Go ahead, my friend; if you can annihilate me now you're welcome to it!'"

But the queer game went on to the turn, and Dr. Harris was nine up—dormie 9—and he won the tenth hole, the same as the rest, and walked up to shake hands.

"What's the matter?" asked his late opponent. Dr. Harris told him the match was over, 10-8, there being fewer holes left to play than he, the opponent was down. But he wanted to argue the question and said he wasn't accustomed to stopping before a round was completed.

"The nearest I could ever come to figuring it out," said Dr. Harris, "was that he was a beginner, a tourist with a lot of money, that he wanted to play in the tournament and in the first flight and that he had employed somebody to qualify for him and then disappear. Of course I said nothing about it and saw no more of this odd opponent. But I never felt so queer in my life as when this man with a score of 76 posted in the medal round, was shooting holes in 9 and 12 and 15 and playing out every hole carefully."

Women Have Big Part in Seconding Smith Nomination

By MARTHA DALRYMPLE
Associated Press Writer

HOUSTON, June 28.—The lull in feminine oratory that marked the opening sessions of the Democratic convention has been followed by the proverbial storm, women walking away with the honors in seconding the nomination of Governor Smith.

Three of the gayly-clad sex broke loose the floodgates last night. Nellie Taylor Ross, one-time governor of Wyoming, was the first woman to appear before the speaker's table and microphones. Her strong voice, amplified many times by the machines in front of her, was heard to the very last row of the hall, but the appearance she made had to be relayed back by word of mouth.

In a white lace sleeveless frock, she presented the perfect picture of proper summer costume. A large pink malle that swooped becomingly over her eyes shaded her from the glare of the photographers' lights, much to the picture makers' disgust and to her delight.

Her eulogies of the New York governor were cut short by the shouts from the floor of "time's up." With a gracious bow to Chairman Robinson she relinquished her place.

Mrs. Emma Guffey Miller, resplendent in black lace evening dress under which gleamed a pink satin slip, launched into her subject, Smith's nomination, in a business-like manner.

Her draped shoulders waved an accompaniment to her forceful words and the black lace floated about her arms in strange contrast to the deep voice that was booming over the hall.

Mrs. Stella Hamlin, newly elected national committeewoman from Louisiana, upheld the honor of her sex and gave the women the last word. Her second to Smith's nomination concluded the evening's performance and she retired from the platform amid congratulations that boasted no small part of relief that the long session was at an end.

Interest was centered in Mrs. Hamlin's first public appearance in view of the fact that she is considered a possible successor to Mrs. Emily Newell Blair, retiring committeewoman from Missouri, as vice-chairman of the national committee.

She wore a heavy, coffee-colored lace gown and a small tan braid hat of the cloche variety. Lace seemed to be the keynote of the evening's fashions, for everywhere curious eyes turned to see the gowns of the famous they saw lace in some shape or form.

Mrs. Smith, whose self-imposed seclusion in Houston was shattered when hundreds of yelling and singing Smith supporters besieged her box after the nominating speech, wore an all-over blue lace dress, with a large straw hat to match.

Mrs. Wilson, who graciously relinquished the spotlight for the evening to the wife of the leading presidential candidate, also appeared in lace, a gown of black chiffon inset with heavy lace. Her hat, an enormous one of cerise velvet with the crown's edge heavily laden with matching roses, was the landmark of the platform. By her hat she was known.

The attitude in the Smith box during the nominating speech of Franklin D. Roosevelt and during the subsequent demonstration was curiously watched by a score of spectators.

Not once did Mrs. Smith evince any apparent interest in the declarations anent her husband's virtues. She sat stolidly in her front seat, smiled occasionally in faint appreciation of portions of the speech, once or twice moved her head, and nodded in affirmation when her sister-in-law, Mrs. John Glynn, grew excited over the proceedings.

Her son, young Arthur, who sat next to his youthful wife in the front row, was genuinely thrilled. He grew so excited once or twice that he nearly crashed into the electric fan that was playing from the box railing.

Life in Pen Given Boy of 13 Who Killed Pal

PINEVILLE, Ky., June 26.—Heath Greer, a robust 13-year-old boy who lives in the mountain region of Laurel Run, near here, must spend the rest of his life in prison in order that the majesty of the law of the state of Kentucky may be upheld.

Heath shot and killed a playmate, Luther Partin, during a quarrel. He was brought before Circuit Judge D. C. Jones, charged with first degree murder. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to life imprisonment.

"I don't remember what Luther and I quarreled about," the boy says. "I remember he hit me with a stick. I pulled out my gun and shot him."

He had found the gun in his father's house, he said, and wanted to carry it "because all the other boys had 'em—some of 'em littler than I am."

"I didn't know I shouldn't carry a pistol," he says. "All the boys here have 'em, and them as don't have pistols have bottles. I'm sorry I did it and I'll try to be a good boy at this reform place so maybe they'll give me a chance some day."

Heath must go to the state reformatory at Lexington to stay until he is 21; then he is to be transferred to the state penitentiary at Frankfort, to spend the rest of his life there.

Prominent citizens in Kentucky, shocked by the crime and the severe penalty, are talking of appealing to Gov. Flem D. Sampson for clemency. The Pineville Sun, in an editorial, declares that lax sentences dealt out by the courts for carrying concealed weapons are to blame, asserting that the mountain boys see their parents carrying guns and do not know that it is against the law.

Attorney General J. W. Cammuck holds that Heath should have been tried as a juvenile and given a punishment gauged to his years. Pardon Commissioner J. C. Bird predicts Governor Sampson will listen sympathetically to any appeal for clemency, while Robert Logan, former Louisville probation officer, indignantly calls the life sentence given the boy "merciless and archaic."

Meanwhile leading Pineville citizens, determined that boys living in the isolated Laurel Run district shall have a chance to imbibe American ideals, are trying to raise $2000 to establish a Boy Scout camp there, at which the boys may be taught wholesome sports and weaned away from gunting and quarrelling.

Harden Evans, chairman of the committee, reports that the appeal for funds has met with little response thus far.

Dr. McKean Made Santa Fe Surgeon For New Railroad

Dr. J. C. McKean has been appointed Santa Fe surgeon for the new Pampa-Cheyenne railroad and already has taken up his duties. Dr. McKean will have complete charge of this work on the new line, and will appoint associate physicians in each camp along the way and later in each town established. He will be given assistants here, with facilities for the work, and it is not improbable that a company sanitarium will later be placed here for this use. Dr. McKean came here more than a year ago as an industrial surgeon.

Held in Slaying

A bride of five months, Mrs. Hazel Glab was held by Los Angeles police after the slaying of her wealthy husband, John L. Glab, retired Chicago druggist. Glab had received a final decree of divorce from his former wife thirty days before he was married to the present Mrs. Glab, who was Hazel Hazel Belford.

Markets

CHICAGO, June 28.—(AP)—Further rains in the harvest region southwest caused wheat values here to average higher early today.

Opening 1-4c decline to 3-4c advance Chicago wheat held near the initial range. Corn and oats were relatively firm, with corn starting 1-4c off to 3-8c up, and later scoring some gain all around. Provisions tended downward.

FRENCH FLIER KILLED

PARIS, June 28.—(AP)—Alfred Fronval, France's most famous stunt pilot, was killed today at the Villa Coulay landing field when his plane crashed and burned.

S. D. Park went to Littlefield Thursday to attend to business matters.

Wife Asks Court to Prevent Woman's Seeing Husband

NEW YORK, June 28.—(AP)—The state supreme court had before it today a wife's request that a feminine acquaintance of her husband be prohibited from associating with him.

Mrs. Lalla M. G. Barr, wife of James Cummings Barr, steel manufacturer, and prominent socially in New York, Boston, and Washington, filed suit for an injunction against Mrs. Margaret C. Dana.

Mrs. Barr charges Mrs. Dana with exercising a "dominating influence" over her husband since the two first met in 1926. She alleges she has been injured by the acts of Mrs. Dana, particularly because of the notoriety and publicity that has resulted.

Mrs. Barr sued for a separation in Manchester, N. H., last March, the complaint being dismissed as faulty. Later she was awarded $140 a week alimony. Mr. Barr has a counter claim there for a divorce on the ground of cruelty. The Barrs were married at Bluefields, W. Va., in 1910, and both had been married and divorced before.

Mrs. Andy McNamara, accompanied by her aunt, Mrs. Anna Ennis of Oklahoma City, will leave Sunday morning to spend six weeks in Colorado.

Arthur Mahan made a business trip to Amarillo Wednesday.

Herbert Ruthford was a business visitor in Amarillo Wednesday.

Mrs. Paul Haslin and daughters, Paulanna and Anna Mae, returned to their home in Dallas Wednesday night, after a visit here in the home of Mrs. Haslin's sister, Mrs. E. S. Graves.

AL SMITH---

Robinson Rushes Along

The session began at 10:35 a. m. Senator Robinson, permanent chairman and leading candidate for the vice-presidency, apparently was anxious to get on with business. When he called for order only about half the delegates had arrived.

The chairman did not wait for order, but while the hall was rumbling with conversation presented the Rev. A. Frank Smith of the First Methodist church of Houston, who pronounced the invocation. The crowd stood and grew more silent.

Governor Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, his state's favorite son who withdrew a few days ago in favor of Smith, made the first speech of the day, seconding the nomination of the New Yorker. As he mounted the platform many delegates stood and cheered as two bands, joined in "Maryland, my Maryland."

"Fate decreed for Governor Smith beginnings which were humble," Mr. Ritchie said. "She moulded him in the fashion of a man, and he was destined to realize to their fullest and their richest degree the possibilities of America as the land of opportunity."

"Grover Cleveland said the whole art of government is simply applied common sense and common honesty with reason, justice and tolerance as hand maids."

Smith Proves Democracy

"Governor Smith possesses all those qualities. He is living proof that American Democracy can produce leaders simple and yet great. I believe that if every voter in the land could see him and hear him, and come under the spell of his personality, there would be few who would not vote for him. This will be no less true in the North and East and West, then in the South, where the spirit of Democracy has never wavered and whose sons and daughters have never faltered in their allegiance to the Democracy party."

Another seconding speech for Smith was made by former Mayor Andrew J. Peters of Boston who said the whole background of the New York Governor was truly "American."

"I deem it a duty to renew the faith of the pilgrims," he said. "I know no better way to renew that faith than to rejoice in the fact that American conditions can make possible such a career as that of Alfred E. Smith and to recognize that he represents in himself the best proof of American democracy, and the best promise for the future."

Minnesota Aroused

The Smith procession was continued with a seconding speech by Andrew Nelson, of Duluth, Minn., who said the people of Minnesota were determined that "the reign of graft and greed and privilege at Washington" should end.

The farmers of Minnesota spurned with contempt the meaningless farm relief plank of the Republican platform, he continued. "At Kansas City they were handed a stone. Here at Houston they shall receive the nourishing bread of economic fair play. With such a platform of principles and with governor Smith as our trusted leader, the result cannot be in doubt. Minnesota will be found in the Democratic column next November."
