Crippled Children's Clinic Is Planned by Clubs

CIVIC GROUPS SPONSOR WORK IN LOCAL AREA

Orthopedic Physician to Be Brought Here in October

OFFERS SERVICE WITHOUT COST

Names of Unfortunate Youngsters Wished at Once

Good news for crippled children of this community came out of meetings this week of the Lions and Rotary club committees named to carry on this welfare work.

Plans for a clinic to be held here late in October or early in November have been approved by the general membership of the clubs. Dr. McBride of the Oklahoma City hospital for crippled children, Joe N. Hamilton, executive secretary of the Oklahoma Crippled Children's society and Miss Meadows Duncan, special nurse now working under the auspices of the Lions club of Borger and Amarillo, will offer their services free, with actual expenses of the clinic to be borne locally.

The purpose of the clinic is to bring all the crippled children of this vicinity together that Mr. McBride, one of the outstanding orthopedic physicians of the Southwest, may examine them and make a record of possible corrective measures. After the clinic is held, steps will be taken to enable every cripple to have the benefit of the orthopedic hospital. Many cripples from the Amarillo area have been sent to Oklahoma City, and remarkable improvements have been effected.

Lions and Rotary committees drafted plans Wednesday night in a joint session. Working cooperatively, these groups will supervise the clinic and follow-up activities. Dick Hughes of the Rotary club made an interesting report to the committees on the work of

Teachers College Fall Session to Open on Sept. 24

The Freshmen program provides careful attention to the making of programs and also strives to help the freshmen adjust himself to the new conditions to be met. Entertainments will be provided in order that the hundreds of new students may get acquainted with each other and with the faculty members.

Friday will be used for the registration of upper classes, and on Saturday classes will meet and the work of the quarter really begins. Former students who will be back for the regular session of 1928-29 are anticipating much pleasure in the many improvements that have been made during the summer in the physical plant.

Northcott was captured at Vernon, B. C., Wednesday and brought to Vancouver last night.

Prison officials declared if the youth carried out his threat to fight extradition it probably would be a month before he could be sent south, assuming that the California authorities were successful in the case.

Northcott admitted his identity. Mrs. Sarah Louise Northcott, mother of the youth, also charged with murder, admitted her identity in Calgary last night after insisting throughout the day she was Mrs. J. Black She was arrested Wednesday as she stepped off a train in the Alberta city. It is expected that she will be held in Calgary until extradition papers reach that city from the south.

McALESTER, Okla., Sept. 21.—(P)—Jose Alvarado, former special detective for Governor Henry S. Johnston, was dressed in at the state penitentiary today to begin serving a seven-year sentence for burglary of a store at Burbank, Osage county.

Governor Johnston refused further clemency to Alvarado, who had been at liberty on stays of execution since late in 1927. The governor a year ago refused to grant a Texas requisition for Alvarado, who was wanted on a charge of robbing a bank at Wilkerson, giving as his reason the fact that Alvarado already was under conviction in Oklahoma.

Slain Man Had Improper Relations With Killer's Wife

CORPUS CHRISTI, Sept. 21.—(P)—"Improper relations" between C. E. Young, Beeville filling station operator, and Mrs. Robert Lothringer, resulted in Young's being shot to death on a Corpus Christi hospital bed, Mrs. Young, the widow, testified yesterday at a habeas corpus hearing for Robert Lothringer, one of two men charged with the slaying, in district court at Sinton.

Young was killed several weeks ago as he lay recovering from an appendicitis operation. Lothringer and Ralph Whitenton, both Beeville barbers, are charged with the murder.

Lothringer was granted bail of $15,000. The state not having contended that Whitenton's case was non bailable, his bond was fixed at $7,500. Neither made bond.

Mrs. Young testified she had asked Lothringer if he intended killing her husband and the barber answered affirmatively. She pleaded with him, she related from the witness stand, to spare Young, but he answered: "I'm going to kill him the first time I lay eyes on him."

WOULD KEEP MOODY'S NAME FROM BALLOTS

Mrs. Wilmans Files Suit Alleging Returns Illegal

WANTS EXPENSE RETURNED TO HER

Says Election Bureau Is Directed Through Corporations

AUSTIN, Sept. 21.—(P)—A suit directed against Governor Dan Moody seeking to have his nominator in July for a place on the Democratic party ticket invalidated was filed here today by Mrs. Edith E. Wilmans in the 53rd district court.

The suit seeks an injunction against all county election officials to prevent them from destroying the July election ballots, demanding a recount of all ballots cast in the state, and asks $1,200 damages as Mrs. Wilmans' expense account for the race.

The petition alleges the returns of "The Election Bureau" were compiled, she charges, by employees and officials of telephone, street railway, and electric companies, and of Western Union, which she says is contrary to a law prohibiting corporations from participating in elections.

These returns, she charges, were adopted by the state Democratic committee as official.

Mr. Wilmans ran fourth in the recent primary, receiving 18,000 votes. The suit was filed by Mrs. Wilmans as co-plaintiff and attorney.

The case will not come up for trial before the January term of court, which will be some time after the general election in November, in which the election of Governor Moody for a second term is conceded.

Brown Talks on Foreign Travels at Lions Luncheon

Tales of his foreign travels, with bits of interesting advice on planning itineraries, were given the Lions club yesterday by M. K. Brown, who recently returned from an extended tour abroad.

President Ivy E. Duncan read a number of letters of interest. One from the Lions club at Bryan, asked that the local club join in an attempt to have the open season on doves coincide with that on quail. Opposition was expressed here, on the grounds that doves are scarce in this section during the quail season. The Fort Worth Lions club asked cooperation in an attempt to form an All-Texas Lions brass band for the next international convention.

Homer E. Minor of Plainview, himself a cripple, asked the address of a worthy cripple in this territory in order that the latter might be given a chair. A report on plans for holding a clinic here late in October for crippled children was made by the Lions committee doing that type of work, composed of W. A. Bratton, Roy McMillen, Geo. W. Briggs, Ewing Leech and Roy Harris. The assistance of teachers and physicians in collecting names of crippled children will be asked. Miss Medora Duncan, special nurse now assisting the Amarillo Lions club in crippled children's work, has promised to speak to the local club soon.

A special Lions committee to work for the relief of children with defective eyesight was named. This committee is composed of R. A. Thompson, chairman, T. A. Fannell, and E. Bass Clay.

Visitors at the meeting yesterday were Mack Graham, H. A. McDonald, C. R. McLynn, and M. K. Brown of Pampa, Theo. Y. Pickett of Dallas, B. H. Harrison of Amarillo and Mr. Le Mans, "Mystery Man" of the Webber circuit.

South Oil Field Road to Get First Attention --With Grading North

First paving in Gray county's 41-mile project will be let by contract October 22, when the county commissioners will open bids for approximately five miles of hard-surfacing south from Pampa on the oil field road. Grading and drainage of this portion of the paving program was completed several weeks ago.

The commissioners, in session yesterday, also asked for bids on grading and drainage for Highway 33 north from Pampa to the Roberts county line. This road strip, involved in the controversy respecting the division engineer's proposal to re-route Highway 33 directly east from this city, will be graded and drained under a permit from the state highway commission, which telegraphed its assent this week. If the route to Miami is changed, it is proposed to hard-surface this road as the election contemplated, as a non-aid project such as is the south oil field road. The two projects are in a combination bid.

The Miami road will have an 80-foot right-of-way with an 18-foot crown, similar to the oil field highway, and will be about 6 miles long.

The state-aid project on Highway 33 from Pampa is the Carson county line awaits only engineering specifications and their approval by the state department. The grading and drainage contract likely will be let at the next meeting of the county commissioners. The paving contract will probably be let by the highway commission at a later date.

A contract for the grading and drainage of the oil field road west of Pampa, toward Borger, was let by the commissioners several weeks ago. State Engineer Gibb Ollheist is expected here soon to discuss the routing of Highways 33 and 33-A, which, under a plan advanced by the division engineer, would be combined for a considerable distance east of here, missing Miami by 5 miles. This plan is opposed by both Miami and Pampa citizens.

Visiting Minister Will Fill Pulpit Here Next Sunday

The Rev. G. D. Robinson of Lubbock, field secretary of the Amarillo presbytery of the Presbyterian church, will occupy the local pulpit Sunday morning and evening.

Rev. Robinson, accompanied by the Rev. W. M. Baker, formerly of Pampa but now of Waxahachie, is here today. He will preach at 11 and 8 o'clock. The local church has been without a pastor for some time, but it is expected that a minister will be obtained in the near future.

Mystery Man Is Coming Tomorrow

"Le Mont," mystery man, will give a free program at the Culberson-Smalling Chevrolet agency tomorrow at 4 o'clock.

Following a magic show, Le Mont will give driving demonstrations blindfolded. Press reports from other cities of Texas say that large crowds are seeing his performances everywhere.

MRS. FANNELL WILL PLAY IN ENSEMBLE

Mrs. Martha Fannell, local teacher of piano and organ, will take part in an eight-piano ensemble program at Amarillo Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Fannell, member of the faculty of the local branch of the Amarillo College of Music, which is affiliated with the public school system, and fifteen other teachers of the Amarillo institution will be presented by Emil F. Meyers.

Big Pumper Is Worth Cost in Preventing Crisis

Approximately 600,000 gallons of water was pumped from the city wells and the Santa Fe wells into the city storage tanks yesterday. City Manager F. M. Gwin announced this morning. The city wells were pumping approximately 350,000 gallons a day, while the American LaFrance pumper was placed at the Santa Fe wells and with idle pumping placed about 210,000 gallons in the city mains.

The near crisis in the water situation was passed yesterday afternoon after the Santa Fe had given the city permission to pump water from its wells here. The large fire truck was placed at the wells at noon yesterday and pumped water into a nearby fire hydrant until midnight. Pumping was resumed this morning at 8 o'clock, but will be at intervals today, as the reserve supply has been built up to nearly normal.

"This does not mean that watering of lawns and washing of water can be resumed," the city manager announced today, "as something may happen at any minute and our supply would be cut off. The parts for the pump on well No. 6 should arrive here tomorrow and by Monday the situation should be relieved," he continued.

Water from the city wells is being used to fill reserve tanks in case of fire, while the water from the Santa Fe wells is being used in the city lines for domestic use.

In case of fire, the Ford chemical truck and the Reo pumper are at the fire hall in charge of an assistant driver and driver George Latus is with the American LaFrance ready for instant call in case of a fire.

"Discussion was rife when the city spent the money for the large truck, more than its price yesterday, and today and averted a near calamity," Mr. Gwin said this morning.

Sheriff's Wife Frustrates Plot

FRANKLIN, Sept. 21.—(P)—The daring of a sheriff's wife who ran to the aid of her husband and grabbed with one of the five men who attempted to escape the Robertson county jail here yesterday resulted in perhaps fatal wounds to the prisoner.

The four who fled the jail were recaptured, one a man with two artificial feet, near here where the other three in the Cury lake region where state prison bloodhounds and a Franklin posse trailed them.

Sheriff W. W. Sandifer was attacked as he opened a cell door preparatory to removing prisoners' dishes. Unarmed and outnumbered, he shouted for help.

The wife heard. Swiftly she came in to the jail, "socked" and seized C. H. Brown, one of the insurgents, and held him until Sandifer could free himself and with the aid of a wife, subdue Brown, who is believed, near death.

NEARLY KANSAS FROST

TOPEKA, Kas., Sept. 21.—(P)—Kansas last night was saved from frost by a narrow margin, the weather bureau reported this morning. Temperatures were generally below 50 degrees, with the mercury hitting the freezing point at Goodland in the western part of the state.

And Some Snow

LEAD, S. D., Sept. 21.—(P)—Snow fell yesterday, enough to cover the ground lightly. The temperature got as low as the freezing point, but rose during the day. It was the first snowfall of the season here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Archer and family are moving to Pampa this week to make their home. They formerly lived on a farm near here.

Hedging for Profits

Manipulations of the grain markets are ordinarily considered too technical for the consideration of farmers, but the Kansas City Star (Weekly) recently told how fifty Kansas and Oklahoma farmers hedged successfully to gain 42 5/8 cents per bushel on their wheat.

In other words, early in the year these farmers contracted to sell their crop at the current quotation on future deliveries, a figure they considered fair, and at the specified time that contract price was more than 42 cents above the spot market.

Herbert Hoover said the other day through his press conference spokesman, that "Whispering campaigns" were as old as politics. He might have added truthfully that such tactics, however virtuously the candidates and national chairmen might repudiate them, have not actually been scorned by the party organizations.

established place in legitimate trade which makes the market brisk during dull seasons of overproduction and in that way moves the crop when otherwise it would act more timely to the law of supply and demand.

Every wheat farmer has the right to hedge his crop when the price seems most advantageous to him, yet this direct manner of selling is not recommended for the novice, and gambling is not for the farmer often in a position to lose gracefully.

WASHINGTON—All is considered fair in politics, except by certain rare men who seldom get very far.

Both sides in a national campaign customarily and to an almost incredible degree act like a lot of dumb doras.

Consider the second point first. An experienced and practical politician just remarked to your correspondent that he had never seen so many "boners pulled" by both sides in a national campaign as in the last couple of months.

Of course, all the best bets aren't overlooked, but a lot of them are. Some day the present system of shooting wads of money, literature and oratory here and there and leaving the party's fate hazily to state committees of all degrees of efficiency, probably will be replaced by scientific national management.

Herbert Hoover said the other day through his press conference spokesman, that "Whispering campaigns" were as old as politics. He might have added truthfully that such tactics, however virtuously the candidates and national chairmen might repudiate them, have not actually been scorned by the party organizations.

Unquestionably there are many men in politics who would not themselves stoop to such methods and others who would not condone their use by less scrupulous men, but the corruption of so many political machines over the country is such common knowledge that it is idle to suggest that there are not many politicians in both parties who are glad to take unfair advantages just as often as they get the chance.

It ought to be pointed out that personal charges have been brought against both candidates and that, when made in the open, they have fallen rather flat.

Hoover had his baptism of mud during the pre-convention campaign. He was charged with shady business deals in China and Russia and imputations were made about his loyalty to his country.

The same thing may now be observed concerning the open charges and private whispers against Smith. These run all the way from public attacks like those of William Allen White and the Rev. John Roach Straton to the slanderous accusations of drunkenness and subservience to the Pope.

The candidates and the important national campaign managers, of course, do not go into personalities. But from there, on down the line, the ethical plane of the campaign sinks lower and lower.

All Over the World

NEW YORKER AT LARGE

NEW YORK—Every half hour the patrolman whose beat is the center of the Times Square walks around the concrete triangle at crossroads of the world and shoos away the gaudy dancers.

Now a gaudy dancer is no mere tramp, and he would resent the name of vagrant. From a distance of 30 feet he looks like one of the city's immediate dandies; a gentleman of leisure, perhaps, worried by the monotony of his clubs and halting here a moment to watch the bourgeois stream.

Under closer scrutiny he seems a little less the Brummel, but still a man who may have seen better days and who cherishes the sartorial niceties of his heyday; the actor, likely enough, of a once proud family, reduced to a seat on the Times Square curbstone in lieu of the leather chair he once occupied beside the window in the Union club.

Keeping Up Appearances

But come still closer and sit down beside him. Only then may you perceive that the winged collar he wears is anchored to a sleeveless dicky; that his cravat is stained and threadbare; that his cuffs are streaked by splatters from a moistened handkerchief; that the suit he wears is marked with a pattern of the bedsprings whereon he pressed it last night and that even the cane he holds so dapperly has a nail on the end wherewith to spear choice remnants of cigars.

The gaudy dancer is not indigenous to Times Square. His kind abounds on West Madison street in Chicago, or in the labor marts of Kansas City or San Francisco. Even in New York he is often loiterers on the Bowery or in Battery Park. But Times Square is his paradise, for there he may feel himself to the most truly a man of affairs and a true cosmopolitan. Of course he must rise from his curbstone seat and walk across the street and back when the policeman makes his rounds to chase away the loiterers, but this is a trivial annoyance, an exercise as inevitable as walking into the lobby between acts at the theater.

Literature in The Rough

Some day a chronicler will add to American prose a book of gaudy dancer's tales. For the gaudy dancer is a valuable story teller, and the yarns he spins are as far from the grotesque legends about Paul Bunyan as from the grim realities of Jim Tully's hobo narratives. But whoever records them must catch them on the fly, for seldom are they related twice.

Let a shot of nitro-glycerine break loose the rock in a deepening excavation off mid-broadway and the gaudy dancer is reminded of the day when he was carrying dynamite in a California gold mine. A rat, big as a porcupine, bumped his leg and caused the powder to slip from his shoulder. As it fell he leaped upward and grabbed a roof timber—for what gaudy dancer does not know that dynamite always spends its force in explosion downward? He saved himself, but the blast left beneath him a hole 50 feet deep. Not until hours later did workmen reach him to throw up the rope by which he descended to safety, his fingers numb and his arms weary from an eternity of clinging to the loist.

And that reminds another—but here comes the cop, swinging his nightstick and routing the vagabonds. They rise and move away as if by choice; but five minutes later they are back again.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

There was an appreciated increase in last Sunday's Bible classes. Plans are under way for taking care of the growth of this work. A part of our Sunday evening audience last Sunday was "lost, strayed or stolen" but we are expecting the "wanderers" to return.

Two large cartons of cookies were shipped to the orphans in the Tipton Orphan Home, Tipton, Okla. this week. These were contributed by the Ladies Bible class which meets each Thursday at 3 o'clock. Sheets, pillowcases, gowns, and quilts have also been contributed for this fall and winter use. What a delightful experience it would be to watch the hundreds of children enjoy those cookies! Should you happen in about that time, you would say to us, "Let me know the next time you get ready to send cookies, I want a hand in it."

Efforts are being put forth, and prayers are being offered that the Church of Christ in Pampa may be an approved church. Next Sunday morning the subject will be: "The Model Church." This will be followed Sunday evening by a sermon on "God's Perfect Man."

All evening services will begin at 7:30. All other services remain as they have been. Bible School, 9:45; Morning sermon 10:45. Communion following sermon.

We will appreciate all appreciations of our humble efforts to be of service to the community for eternal good.
C. C. MERRITT, Minister.

Guiding Your Child

BY MRS. AGNES LYNNE

There are some people who always seem to expect the worst.

There is the man who fails to take advantage of a business opening for fear of losing the security of his present job. There is the woman who has never learned to swim and who won't go out in a canoe because she is sure she would never get back alive. These people find that life is hard and that good things always seem to pass them by.

Many factors have gone into the making of such personalities, but the most common cause of ever present fearfulness is found in the atmosphere of danger with which some children are impressed every day of their lives.

From morning till night they are warned: "Don't run down that hill; you will fall and hurt yourself." "Better not touch that knife; you will cut your finger." You mustn't handle that money; there may be dreadful disease germs on it." To the susceptible child it must appear that everything he wants to do will hurt him or make him sick.

Of course children must be taught proper caution with regard to such things as crossing the street, handling matches and knives, or playing near the edge of deep water. But the number of dangerous situations to which a child is exposed should be reduced to a minimum, so that he will have to hear the "don't" of caution as little as possible.

Objects which are dangerous for small children should be kept out of sight and out of reach. Health precautions should be enforced without drawing the child's attention to them. Children must be allowed to take small risks. For the child who is inhibited by a feeling of danger on all sides is prevented from acquiring the very skill and assurance that he will need in time of physical peril.

HARVESTERS HOLD BULLDOGS TO 13-6 SCORE THURSDAY

Locals Outplay Visitors Half of Rough Encounter

The Pampa Harvesters covered themselves with glory yesterday although defeated 13 to 6 by the Clarendon Bulldogs. The Bulldogs got two touchdowns, one in the opening quarter and the final one in the second quarter. The Pampa touchdown came in the second period when Troy Stalls, Harvester left tackle, broke through and picked a loose ball out of the air to carry it 10 yards over the line.

The game was without a doubt the roughest in the history of high school football here. The Clarendon eleven resorted to everything from boxing to kicking. Lead by Captain Parker in the rough tactics, the Bulldogs were penalized 115 yards for slugging, kicking and clipping from behind. The penalties ranged from five to twenty-five yards. Parks and Beville were the other men on the Clarendon eleven who drew penalties.

Mullen Is Star
Bob Mullen, Harvester left guard played the most sensational game of his career and was the most valuable man on the eleven. Troy Stalls again proved his worth, holding like a veteran and time after time breaking through to throw the ball carrier for a loss. Saulsbury, at end, played his usual steady game.

In the backfield, Maness and Roberts were the stars, both offensively and defensively. Maness was tackling hard and his catching was sensational. Walstad, Chastain, and Tracy also played nice games. Lard, Saltzman and Jones were reserved for the game Monday morning in Amarillo with the Texoma.

Clarendon won the toss and elected to kick with the wind. Pampa defending east goal. Naylor booted, Walstad made 24 yards before being downed. Maness made 5 yards on the first play but was thrown for a 12-yard loss on the next play. Walstad's punt was blocked. Wilder, right end for Clarendon, taking the ball over for a touchdown. The kick for point went wild.

Harvester Line Holds
Pampa made two first downs before losing the ball after Walstad had made 22 yards on receiving. Roberts and Maness were carrying the ball through on off-tackle plays. The Harvester line held for three downs and Clarendon kicked. The Harvesters again made two first downs before having to punt. Roberts and Walstad carried the ball the distance, assisted by a completed 10-yard forward pass. Walstad to Saulsbury.

The ball was on Clarendon's 22 yard line at the quarter. The Harvester line was holding perfectly and Clarendon had to punt. On the first down, Walstad went through tackle for 10 yards to be followed by Maness for a like distance. Clarendon's line held and Walstad lost 14 yards when Parks broke through. Walstad booted, but Clarendon was penalized 15 yards and Pampa given the ball when Parker slugged Mullen, who had to leave the game. Irwin went in for Mullen.

Stalls Goes Over
Walstad punted, but Clarendon was offside and the ball was brought back and Clarendon penalized 5 yards. Walstad again booted, Blanton received on his own 10-yard line but fumbled. Troy Stalls, Harvester left tackle, came in fast and took the ball out of the air and made the 10 yards for the only Harvester touchdown. Stalls dragged Blanton the 10 yards across the line Blanton having grabbed Stalls around the waist when he took the ball.

Walstad failed to make the extra point. Clarendon argued the touchdown on the grounds that Stalls took the ball from a Bulldog, instead of out of the air.

Pampa lost their only yardage for roughing when Stalls objected to being kicked. Clarendon started a march up the field which the Harvesters failed to stop, Blanton taking the final 6 yards for a touchdown. Blanton kicked the extra point.

Harvesters Gain Most
Clarendon kicked off and the ball was on the Pampa 30-yard line at half time with the score 13 to 6. Pampa made 6 first downs in the first half to 3 by Clarendon. The Pampa boys outplayed the Bulldogs in every department in the first half but were battered sore at the whistle.

Following the kick-off, the Bulldogs started a determined march up the field with Arnold doing most of the ball carrying. Three first downs were made on the drive, which halted on the Pampa 10-yard line when a forward pass was grounded behind the Pampa line. Pampa getting the ball.

On a fake punt, Maness made 20 yards through the line and with Clarendon penalized 15 yards for slugging, the ball was out of the Pampa danger zone. Roberts took the ball for a 22-yard run around right end, but the Clarendon line held and Walstad had to boot.

Chastain went in for Jones, who had started the quarter. Clarendon made a first down and booted. The ball was on Pampa's 40-yard line at the three-quarter mark.

Some Long Gains
Maness, Roberts and Chastain carried the ball 32 yards through the line to be followed by Walstad, who reeled off 30 yards around right end, to place the ball on the Clarendon 8-yard line. Roberts failed to gain. Pampa was penalized 5 yards. Three plunges through the line netted 8 yards and Clarendon was penalized half the distance of the goal for roughing after the whistle. Pampa failed to make a first down and the ball went over on Clarendon's 2 yard line.

Clarendon kicked out of danger. Pampa forward passed but the ball was intercepted by Naylor who got clean away for a touchdown which failed to count when Clarendon was penalized 25 yards for clipping from behind.

Near the Goal
Clarendon lost the ball on downs and Pampa started a passing game, but an intercepted pass on the Clarendon 43 yard line killed the locals hopes. With Blanton, Darnell, and L. Naylor carrying the ball, Clarendon drove the battered Harvesters down the field for

Gilmore Comes From Big Time to Meet Varner

Walter Varner, fast stepping local boy, will meet Eddie Gilmore of Chicago in the main event of the opening boxing card of the season at the Pla-Mor auditorium Monday night. Gilmore comes fresh from the big circuit and will make his first appearance in the Southwest when he meets Varner here.

The local boy is in the best of condition for his coming battle and will make the big fellow step. Although Gilmore has met such boys as Jack Britton, Clyde Hall, and other contenders for the welterweight crown he holds no terrors for Varner who has seen battle in the big circuit.

The semi-final, an eight-round battle, will see Frankie Farrell and Jack Morrison clash. These boys have met before and are bitter rivals, Farrell has been fighting in Oklahoma the last two months and is in excellent condition for his battle with the Forger Bulldog.

Kid Nicholson of Borger will step six rounds with Kid Roberts of Amarillo in one of the preliminary events. The youngsters will take the ring to open the card promptly at 8:30 p. m.

Athletics Move Up to Within a Game of Yankees

BY HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

There's not much to choose between the two major league pennant races but the fact remains that most of the drama is being enacted in the American league.

The St. Louis Cardinals have made the two major league pennant races more of a cut-and-dried proposition by the simple process of matching anything their closest competitors may or may not achieve.

But in the American league, Miller Huggins' champion New York Yankees have given their supporters more alternate moments of ecstatic joy and dismal gloom than is good for the constitution, even of a leather-lunged Bronx fan.

The Bronx was in deep mourning today, for the Yankees, losing a 12-inning battle to the Chicago White Sox yesterday saw the Philadelphia Athletics creep to within one game of the lead again.

Meanwhile the National league remained unchanged as the Cardinals and the Giants tangled in a double-bill and emerged with one victory apiece as home runs flew thick and fast at the Polo Grounds.

Pitchers got little of the glory at the Polo Grounds. George Harper, who once patrolled right field for McGraw, took things in his own hands in the first game, crashing out three home runs, and the Cardinals coasted to an 8 to 5 victory.

Wes Willie Sherdel was the result of two more home runs—one by Andy Cohen and the other by Frank Hogan.

The boys calmed down a bit in the second game until the eighth inning when the Giants, fighting to overcome a two-run lead, called into old "Pete" Alexander for five runs, four of them on Hogan's second home run of the day—a mammoth drive into the left field bleachers. That left the score 1 to 4 and there it remained.

In the other National league game, Pittsburgh trounced the Phillies 6 to 4, while the Cincinnati Reds were splitting even in two games with the Boston Braves. The Reds won the first but went down in the nightcap, 9 to 5.

Faber was the master of the situation at Chicago where the Yankee ship struck a reef and went down with all hands aboard. The veteran spitballer held the champions to eight hits in 12 innings and walked off with a 4 to 3 decision.

Before the Yankees finally had gone down at Chicago, the Athletics, thanks to Jack Quinn, had turned back Detroit, 6 to 1.

The St. Louis Browns clinched third place in the standings by defeating the Boston Red Sox, 5 to 2.

Delaney's Comeback Is Not Impressive

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Jack Delaney, once the colorful "Tiger of the North" has come back—but not as far as he had intended. Returning to the ring at Ebbets Field last night for the first fight since he was knocked out by Jack Sharkey last April Delaney scored an unimpressive technical knockout over Nando Tassi of Italy in eleven rounds.

Both fighters came into the ring over the light heavyweight limit, Delaney weighing 181 pounds and Tassi 178.

Thugs Athletic

High Salaried Amateurs
Considering the strong opinions he always has expressed on the amateur question and the action he took in quitting the Olympic committee because Charley Paddock was allowed to go to Amsterdam with the Olympic team, it is quite surprising to read a recent quotation from George W. Wightman, president of the Boston A. A. and former president of the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

In discussing the futility of trying to promote or encourage professional tennis in this country, he was quoted as saying: "A good amateur tennis player can make from $15,000 to $20,000 a year. The best a professional can command is about $5,000 a year."

Wightman is the husband of the former Hazel Hotchkiss, one of the most brilliant players of her time. A syndicate some time ago made her a very nice offer to write on tennis subjects, but her husband refused to permit her to accept, although she would have been within the strictest definition of an amateur in so doing.

BUILDERS OF A GREATER SOUTHWEST

Federated Women's Clubs

The claims of the Southwest to the affectionate devotion of its home people have been developed largely through the efforts of its women, working in clubs and organizations, to make their own communities centers of education, art, music and healthful pastimes which add color and pleasure to life. The lure of wealth takes men into many lands, but only where the women have followed to develop the country for gentler usage do communities thrive and gain the sacred name of "Home".

A great variety of aims is behind the individual clubs which make up the Federated Women's Clubs. But in all of them is a striving for improvement. The schools, theaters, playgrounds, health centers, libraries and charitable organizations are in many instances left to the care and supervision of women's organizations. They have sponsored community art centers, little theaters, music festivals and sound educational programs for the spreading of knowledge concerning the health and social problems of children and the home. To women's clubs, wherever they are gathered for the betterment of community life, we offer our praise and acknowledge a debt of gratitude.

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic—The Christian Basis of Total Abstinence.

Scripture Lesson—1 Cor. 8:1-13.

1. Now concerning things sacrificed to idols; We know that we all have knowledge. Knowledge puffeth up, but love edifieth.

2. If any man that he knoweth anything, he knoweth not yet as he ought to know.

3. But if any man loveth God, the same is known by him.

4. Concerning therefore the eating of things sacrificed to idols, we know that no idol is anything in the world, and that there is no God but one.

5. For though there be that are called gods, whether in heaven or on earth; as there are gods many, and lords many;

6. Yet to us there is one God, the Father, of whom are all things, and we unto him; and one Lord, Jesus Christ, through whom all are things, and we through him.

7. Howbeit there is not in all men that knowledge; but some, being used until now to the idol, eat of a thing sacrificed to an idol; and their conscience being weak is defiled.

8. But food will not commend us to God; neither, if we eat, are we the better; nor, if we eat, are we the better.

9. But take heed lest by any means the liberty of yours become a stumbling block to the weak.

10. For if a man see thee who hast knowledge sitting at meat in an idol's temple, will not his conscience, if he is weak, be emboldened to eat things sacrificed to idols?

11. For through thy knowledge he that is weak perisheth, the brother for whose sake Christ died.

12. And thus, sinning against the brethren, and wounding their conscience when it is weak, ye sin against Christ.

13. Wherefore, if meat causeth my brother to stumble.

Time—Paul's First Epistle to the Corinthians was written near the end of his three years in Ephesus, A. D. 53-56.

Place Text—Let no man seek his own, but each his neighbor's good.—1 Cor. 10:24.

Introduction With chapter 8 Paul enters a new division of his letter, dealing with various disorders in the Corinthian church. The first is the burning question of whether a Christian should eat meat that had been offered as a sacrifice to some idol, and then, in market as part of the priest's prerogative, or consumed by the person offering the sacrifice with his family and his friends, the fat only being burned on the altar. This question, which seems at first sight to have no practical relation with us of today, is in its essence precisely the question that many a Christian faces with reference to total abstinence, and for that reason is chosen as the text of our temperance lesson.

Christian Liberty, v. 7 Personal liberty is the inherent right of every member of a true democracy. Life, liberty, and pursuit of happiness should be more than a slogan in a Christian nation. There is a point beyond which one's life means a liability for society, one's liberty becomes license, and one's pursuit of happiness brings sorrow and distress to other lives. Beyond a certain point in the other direction one's life becomes so restrained and limited that it ceases to be an integral character and exists as a mere man clamors for his rights. There have been times when men had to declare "bills of rights" in order to preserve life. Much of the progress of the human race is due to these fearless pioneers. Other great spirits, not unconscious of their rights, but more concerned about their duties, have quietly led mankind to higher levels of living and service. The true followers of Jesus is profoundly concerned about his duties as well as his rights.

Personal Liberty is the inherent right of every member of a true democracy. Life, liberty, and pursuit of happiness should be more than a slogan in a Christian nation. There is a point beyond which one's life means a liability for society, one's liberty becomes license, and one's pursuit of happiness brings sorrow and distress to other lives. Beyond a certain point in the other direction one's life becomes so restrained and limited that it ceases to be an integral character and exists as a mere man clamors for his rights. There have been times when men had to declare "bills of rights" in order to preserve life. Much of the progress of the human race is due to these fearless pioneers. Other great spirits, not unconscious of their rights, but more concerned about their duties, have quietly led mankind to higher levels of living and service. The true followers of Jesus is profoundly concerned about his duties as well as his rights.

Consider Your Weaker Brother

"Now," says the apostle, "I will tell you what I will do; this is my position. I can eat this meat; it is nothing to me that the meat has been offered by some heathen priest to a heathen idol; I do not care for that for one moment; but there is a man just there, who says he would be hurt in his soul if I took it. I say, 'Very well, I will not take it.'" Many a man says, "I could take this wine, I should know exactly when to give over, it would do me no harm. I could take it with a good conscience; but if I did it, there is a poor soul that could not even inhale the odor of the wine without the appetite fired as from hell. I say, 'Very well, I throw it on the ground, I will not touch it for your sake.'" That argument can never be overturned; and if there be a man who never does anything for other man's sake let him not name the man of Christ.—Joseph Parker.

Problem of Other Man Paul has set forth the principle of Christian liberty based on Christian knowledge. He realized that an idol was nothing, and that knowledge left him free, so far as he himself was concerned, to eat meat that had been offered to idols. Thus a man to whom alcohol offers no temptation, who has a strong will and whose passions are under strict control, feels free, so far as he is himself concerned, to indulge in intoxicating liquors. But another principal comes in, which modifies and restricts this "personal liberty," and which Paul proceeds to declare.

Christian Responsibility The things which Christians do and refuse to do have much influence with other people, and enter largely into their estimate of the Bible and the churches and Christians and the gospel. This must have great weight in our decisions, for we are our brother's keeper, and we are not willing to be the occasion of harm to anybody. Still, we must have something more than sentiment and policy to help in our decisions as to conduct. So in this lesson Paul is giving to the Corinthians the Christian principles, which apply in their problems and also in those which come to us.

Peril of the Saloon The dangers of idolatry against which Paul was warning the Christians of Corinth were quite parallel to those of the saloon. Both make their appeal to the senses. Heathen temples were houses of ill fame, and such houses go hand in hand with saloons. Both the saloon and the heathen temple gain much of their power from their social aspects, and would soon lose their influence if their devotees were compelled to go one by one, with no banquets or "treating." The heathen temple and the saloon are alike in fostering a large and powerful class whose personal interests are involved in the perpetuating of an evil institution. This influential class of "wets" is still at work, spending vast sums of money in the attempt to fool the American people on the plea of "personal liberty," to make them think that prohibition is a failure and persuade them to allow in some form the diabolical traffic in intoxicants.

Our country is not yet free from the threat of the saloon.

"Regulate Whiskey Traffic!"

"Talk about regulating a drinking saloon! You might as well try to regulate a polecat in a Maryland swamp or a Georgia forest. There is just one way to regulate the liquor traffic, you must regulate it as you would regulate a rattlesnake—smash its head forever more with national constitutional prohibition, and then leave not one camouflaged beer saloon on the American Continent as an open door for

Upshaw. The Christian's Problems The problem is this: how is the Christian's liberty to do what his reason tells him will not do any harm to himself to be reconciled with the weakness of the other man who would be harmed if the Christian should exercise his liberty? "But take heed lest by any means this liberty of yours become a stumbling block to the weak." "The 'stumblingblock' is an obstacle thrown in the way of 'the weak' over which they may stumble into a moral fall, not having the strength either to overcome their scruples or to disregard an example contrary to their conscience."

Christian Self Denial "Wherefore, if meat causeth my brother to stumble, I will eat no flesh forever more." This means far more than merely giving up meat as a part of his diet—as self denial today means much more than giving up chewing-gum, movies, dances, a new hat, or a new radio. It means that the one making the self-denial is conscious of his deep obligation to Jesus. He can fulfill this obligation only as he makes the high principles of Jesus regnant in his daily life, and as he conducts himself in a way helpful, and not detrimental, to his associates. This is the ideal of self-denial. This is the fountain from which spring such noble statements of high resolve as Paul's, "I will eat no flesh forevermore that I cause not my brother to stumble."

Colonel French Has Plan For Selling Livestock

STANFORD, Sept. 21.—(Special)—Copies of a letter by President A. M. Bourland and Manager Homer D. Wade of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce have been mailed from headquarters to all unit directors, and secretaries of chambers of commerce telling of the plan of the Fort Worth Stockyards company to co-operate with their local organizations, bankers and others in the matter of placing more hogs in West Texas.

Several years ago twenty carloads of gilts and feeders were shipped into this part of the state in a very successful campaign to supply the farms with more and better stock.

Col. C. C. French, industrial agent for the Fort Worth Stockyards co. is head of the project this year and is eager to give advice and information to those interested in placing more hogs in West Texas where they are needed.

As the price of hogs has been good this year and the prospects are that the price will not only be maintained but will likely increase in the future, the co-operation of local chambers of commerce will be of great benefit to their communities.

Information about the plan can be secured from Mr. French at the Stockyards company or by writing Manager Wade at the WTCC headquarters at Stanford.

Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Curtis of Houston were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Walker yesterday. They were en route home from Colorado.

Mrs. M. A. Fenney left this morning for a visit with relatives in Ft. Smith, Ark. When she returns in two weeks, she will be accompanied by her parents, who will make an extended visit here.

Miss Anna Esta Goerner is to spend the week-end in Clarendon.

Mrs. T. W. Brabham's class of the Methodist Sunday school will sell dressed frivers tomorrow at one dollar each. Orders should be placed today with Mrs. Brabham, telephone No. 132. Deliveries will be made tomorrow.

Miss Kathleen Besty will visit at her home in Amarillo during the week-end. She is a teacher in the Pampa schools.

HIGGINS.—Van Stewart and Charles Myers, of Perryton, were in the city in the interest of the Boy Scout movement, and, more particularly, with the object of organizing a troop of Scouts at this point.

Mr. Stewart is editor of the Ochiltree County Herald, and Mr. Myers is Scout executive, from headquarters at Dallas. Both these gentlemen are very enthusiastic on the Scout movement and desirous of extending it to every town in this portion of the country, fully believing that much good will result, and everybody will be benefited, the boys in particular.

That the Boy Scout movement has been of inestimable good in the world is well known to every man who has paid the slightest attention to it. And that such an organization, with the backing of every good man in the community will be of benefit to everybody concerned goes without saying. It has done a great work for the boys in other localities, and there is no reason in the world why it should not be equally beneficial in Higgins.

It would be well for every citizen in this community to give this matter due consideration. It would be well for the men and women in Higgins and vicinity to forget themselves, and their particular pleasures and provide the means of making better boys and better girls—better men and better women for the days that are to come.

This is a vital matter. Ladies and gentlemen, one of the most vital matters that confront the men and women of today.

—Higgins News.

SNYDER.—At the regular meeting of the Snyder City Council Monday night, with vice-mayor Earl Brown in the chair, and Aldermen Bradbury Thompson, Wilhelm, Casstevens and Stinson present, they were told that Snyder building permits for the month of August had been $21,725, an increase over July, bringing the total permits for the year to the high total of $218,965.00.

Total rendition for taxes in Snyder was given at $2,368,598.

Water and sewer rent collected amounted to $1,828.60, with four drunks paying fines of $42.80.

A new light and power franchise proposition was presented to the council by Glenn Sample. The matter was deferred to a recess session when all aldermen and the mayor would be present.

Weeds will be cut in all parts of the town, according to a decision of the body.

The logging committee of the Panhandle-Rio Grande Highway association, composed of Chairman J. H. Greene of Colorado; L. T. Gilmore and T. L. Colvin of Turkey; W. S. Patrick of Spur; M. G. Evans of Snyder, have gone over the entire route to Del Rio and find much of the road bed in excellent condition.

A small strip from Snyder to Claremont and across Edwards County if worked on would put the highway in good condition for travel. Towns along the route have given promise of full co-operation and expect to have these stretches in first class condition soon.

Beginning at Turkey, the logging party traveled to Spur, Claremont, Snyder, Colorado, Sterling City, San Angelo, Sonora and Del Rio. They then went north from Turkey, logging the road as far as Pampa, and returned to the P.-R. G. Highway convention at Memphis Thursday where they heard further discussions as to the proper route to be taken.

The committee is confident there is a definite need for this highway as it will save from 50 to 100 miles to Southern Texas and make direct connections with Highways 1, 18, 7, 83 and 101 and many cross-country routes.

Next District Convention to Be in Lampasas Soon

STANFORD, Sept. 17.—The next district convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will be the Heart of Texas meeting in Lampasas on September 24. Three persons, including Governor Dan Moody, have accepted the invitation to speak. The two others are O. B. Martin, in charge of the Extension work at A. & M. college, and president A. M. Bourland of the regional organization.

Mayor H. V. Campbell, of Lampasas will deliver the address of welcome and Rev. A. C. Donath, pastor of the Baptist church will say the invocation at the convention.

The morning session will be held in the Baptist church, and the afternoon session at the Le Roy theatre building.

President A. M. Bourland and Manager Homer D. Wade will attend the convention and visit member towns of the regional organization on their way to and from the meeting as they did from the Panhandle-North Plains District convention recently held in Pampa.

Mr. Wade explains that two conventions are being held in September because no meetings were held during the vacation period. After this, the usual schedule of one each month will be followed.

WHIRLWIND

COPYRIGHT, 1928 BY NEA SERVICE INC. BY ELEANOR EARLY

THIS HAS HAPPENED
SYBIL THORNE, bride of two weeks, leaves her husband on their honeymoon. She is returning from Havana with MABEL BLAKE, a Boston social worker, with whom she took the voyage on which she met RICHARD EUSTIS, who wooed and won her in five days. On their wedding night Richard becomes intoxicated and remains in that condition the greater part of the time. Sybil, disgusted with him, leaves him, returning to Boston with Mabel who, meantime, has become engaged to JACK MOORE, an American whom she met in Havana.

Craig pressed her arm lovingly, "I thought Sybil looked wonderfully well," he said loyally.

CHAPTER XXV
SYBIL leaned comfortably back in her deck chair.

"Mother wasn't very well you know, and they packed me off to boarding school about as soon as I could walk. Dad had plenty of money then.

"From the beginning I was a square peg in a round hole. It was a little girl at convent school doesn't conform to the standard pattern of propriety, she fits about as well as a little skunk at a garden party. Nobody had much use for me, except the Mother Superior—and she didn't see me often enough to count.

"So I grew up into a rebellious, discontented child—the product of my environment. All an accident, you see. If Mother had been well, I could have lived at home. Association with Tad and my father would have made a different girl of me.

"Then Daddy died. And Tad married the wrong girl. And—oh, my dear, of course, there's no use talking, but . . . Mabel patted her hand comfortingly.

"There, dear. Don't get yourself all excited. . . . It's not. But Mab, what chance have you anyhow? Creatures of circumstances. Buffeted around—"

"Aren't you people at the Cape?" "We closed the place yesterday," explained her mother. "Val wasn't enjoying herself at all. She thought she'd be happier in town."

"In town! This weather!" "Well, Fall's almost here, you know, Sybil. Here it is September, already."

"They had dinner together at the Touraine. Valerio was late, as usual. She was very dazzling as she came flying in. American beauty was the vogue just then and Val's ensemble was unquestionably stunning. The color heightened her glowing cheeks, and the bit of mole about her high collar was most becoming."

"Hello, everybody. Sorry I'm late. Win Wingate was at Barb's tea—and he's a perfect howl. I simply couldn't get away. Why, Sib, what's the matter? You look like a wreck. Guess Havana's fast life got you, darling. Too many cocktails make crooks' feet."

"Sybil could have choked her. 'I'm all right,' she said evenly. 'Thanks for your solicitude.' Craig pressed her arm lovingly. 'I thought Sybil looked wonderfully well,' he lied loyally."

"SHE felt his eyes on her all through dinner, searching, anxious—so kind and good. And she thought, irrelevantly, of other eyes—mad blue eyes, that devoured her body and soul. And she wondered, as she toyed with her salad and smiled across at Craig, what had happened to Richard."

"Sybil and Mabel," he announced, "sailed this afternoon."

Richard looked at him blankly. "Sailed?" he repeated stupidly. "Yes—sailed! . . . And you've lost one damn fine little wife."

"You don't mean Sybil's really gone?" "That's exactly what I mean. And, what's more," glibbed Jack, "she never wants to see you again."

"The devil she doesn't!" Richard sprang angrily to his feet. "You keep out of this, Moore," he threatened. "Sybil's my wife."

"More's the pity," taunted Jack. "We'll take care of our own affairs," countered Richard furiously. "And I'll thank you to mind your own business."

Jack smiled maddeningly. "Don't thank me," he begged politely. "Because you know—really, Eustis—I've already got my finger in the pie."

Nonchalantly he fingered the offending card of Isabella Petite. "I wonder," he speculated idly—"how do you get that way, Eustis?"

He flipped the soiled pasteboard contemptuously. "Isabella Petite," he read. "Amistad and Cognac. Una triquetra. Aha! . . . Grounds for divorce if I'm not mistaken, my friend. I think, if you don't mind, I'll keep the co-respondent's name and address. They might come in handy."

"Sybil's got sense enough not to go to court with any such flimsy evidence. Do you suppose there's a judge who would believe—Do you suppose—after taking one look at Sybil—any jury's going to believe I deserted her—to go chasing a little half-breed?"

"Well—I don't know," Jack was blandly indifferent. "Anyhow I guess drunkenness is grounds for divorce in Massachusetts. And with Mabel and me to testify against you, Sybil won't have much trouble getting rid of you."

"But—good God, Moore—don't you know I'm crazy about Sybil!" "Yeah!" Moore had an annoying drawl. "Well, she ain't crazy about you."

Outside the room, Moore squared his shoulders and drew a deep breath. Downstairs he scribbled a radiogram: "Don't worry. All's well." And Mabel, when she received it, smiled. "The darling fool," she murmured. "He doesn't know what he's talking about."

FOR weeks Sybil waited fearfully for word from her husband. Every time the telephone rang she feared a message. She watched for the postman as she had watched once, years ago, when every day brought a letter from John Lawrence. Nervously she sorted the mail, looking always for the foreign stamp that would mean Richard was still in Havana.

Away from the glamour of his presence, Sybil put Richard calmly down as an adventurer and a philanthropist.

"I don't care that for him!" she would say, and snap her fingers derisively in the lonely darkness of her bedroom.

But then, when sleep would not come, she would put her hands wildly to her head to still the maddening beat in her temples. And, by and by, she would lie quietly on her back, with her arms stretched along her fevered body.

"O Love! O Fire! Once he drew With one long kiss my whole soul through My lips, as sunlight drinketh dew."

"I hate him! I hate him!" she sobbed, and her heart was full of loathing. Weeks passed, and there had been no word. Once, as she glanced apprehensively through the day's mail, she remembered that she would not know Richard's handwriting if she should see it. "I never even had a love letter from him!" she reflected bitterly. The ear rings he had given her she had left on her dressing table at the Seville. They had been his only gift. The little sapphire circlet she had worn as a wedding ring had mysteriously disappeared, and Sybil regarded its loss as a good omen.
