RED CROSS IS PREPARING TO CARRY RELIEF

Navy Orders Vessels to Stand by in Case of Need

WIND REACHES 150-MILE GALE

Houses Demolished and Shipping Is Hit by Storm

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—(P)—The American Red Cross today ordered Henry M. Baker, national director of disaster relief, to Porto Rico to direct activities of the organization in the hurricane-swept island. Mr. Baker leaves today.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—(P)—The Navy department this afternoon ordered several of its ships to stand by ready for departure should a request come through for assistance to be sent to Porto Rico or other hurricane-ridden points.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—(P)—Islands of the West Indies were today hit by a devastating hurricane that caused steadily increasing destruction to property, damage to ships at sea, and death of an undetermined number of people.

Reports from the zone of destruction were incomplete, but they were enough to show the storm was of unusual fury.

Porto Rico was apparently the victim of the full fury of the tempest. The winds, veering madly in the usual style of these storms as the air currents rushed toward the moving vortex, reached 134 miles an hour. Then the wind gauge at San Juan broke, but the wind increased and some estimates placed its greatest rate as around 150 miles an hour. Eighty per cent of the houses around San Juan gave way.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 14.—(P)—Application of Floyd Jarrett, wanted in Colorado to face murder charges growing out of the killing of four persons in connection with the robbery of the First National bank of Lamar, for a writ of habeas corpus was denied today by the Criminal Court of Appeals.

The court ordered Jarrett, who is being held in jail at Ardmore, turned over to Colorado officials.

Practicing for the Presidency?

General Manuel Perez Trevino, whose candidacy for the provisional presidency of Mexico was among the first to be discussed by Mexican legislators, is pictured above in an unusual position for a presidential candidate—but is it so unusual in Mexico? He is governor of the state of Coahuila and has been regarded as one of the most likely successors to the assassinated Obregon.

9-Year-Old Pampa Boy Is Guest of Honor at Lions Club Luncheon

Billie Bonham, 9 years old, was guest of honor at the Lions club yesterday. He was happy, for he was among new-found friends.

One thing bothered the youngster—his walking. Through the interest of the Lions, his corns and adenoids were removed a few days ago, but the ill effects of the operations are fast disappearing.

Billie is the first child to receive the benefits of the Lions club child welfare program. He was found to have almost lost the vision of his right eye and to be in danger of going blind within a few years. Diseased tonsils and adenoids menaced his health, sight, and mental brightness. His mother was unable to give him the care he so greatly needed.

His tonsils and adenoids have been removed and glasses fitted to his eyes, and he is ready to take and hold his place in school. Drs. Odem and Hunter performed the operations at actual cost for the Lions club. The Lions committee in charge of work with blind crippled, and underprivileged children is composed of W. A. Bratton, chairman, Roy McMillen, Geo. W. Briggs, Ewing Lee, Roy Harris, and C. D. Hammett.

The Lions club, a service organization without great financial resources, is inviting the co-operation and monetary support of everyone interested in child welfare work. Several other children are to be treated and details of the welfare program may be learned from any member of the committee.

Thomas A. Pannell and E. Bad Clay were initiated into the club yesterday. Short talks were made by Lions Thomas and Hinkle of Pampa, "Bill Dollar" Mozart of Houston, and Lynn Boyd, president of the Rotary club, extended greetings from his organization. Lions and Rotarians are co-operating in connection with crippled children's work.

"Lead" Given Officers and Search for Carnes Is Shifted

WORLD TRIP IS LATE HINT

Girl Said Treasurer Asked Her to Go to Chicago

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 14.—(P)—Presidential mystifying trails were disclosed today in the nation wide search for Clinton S. Carnes, missing treasurer of the Southern Baptist home mission board, as a grand jury sought information from a man identified only as "A prominent Atlanta physician."

Latest leads in the hunt for the man whose disappearance led to the discovery of a $1,000,000 shortage in his church accounts, were furnished yesterday in Los Angeles by Miss Lela Griffin, film portage of Carnes. She told authorities it would be advisable to question an Atlanta physician whose full name she did not know.

Solicitor General John A. Boykin issued the subpoena here for the strength of her statement. Declining to identify the man further, Los Angeles dispatches had quoted Miss Griffin as saying the physician had accompanied her and Mrs. Louise Pope, formerly of Atlanta, to Boston and New York early in 1927.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 14.—(P)—The whereabouts of Clinton S. Carnes, missing treasurer of the Southern Baptist home mission board of Atlanta, Ga., today had ceased to worry police here.

Clasp of the only club that the cashier, whose accounts are said to be short more than $1,000,000, was hiding in Southern California brought an announcement last night that the police had dropped the hunt, at least temporarily.

It was after Mrs. Louise Pope, formerly of Atlanta, voluntarily appeared at the district attorney's office and offered to submit to questioning that police said they would not continue the hunt.

Companion of Girl Mrs. Pope is a companion of Sonia Nordie, who with another Atlanta girl came to Hollywood from Atlanta to seek to enter the films, on money advanced under a contract by Carnes.

Shortly after the conference, police obtained information from Miss Lela Griffin, another portage of Carnes, of a meeting Carnes sought with her in Chicago on August 15 the day of his disappearance but to which she had refused to consent. She explained Carnes frequently had talked of a round-the-world trip and said she was afraid he would attempt to force her to accompany him if she went to Chicago. She said she had not since heard from Carnes.

Hurricane Is Now Moving Toward Coast of Florida

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—(P)—Local officials of the French cable company at 11:30 a. m. today received a message from Cape Hatteras, N. C., saying the tropical hurricane was expected to strike that point in an hour and a half. The storm was reported as traveling northwestward.

The news was interpreted here as indicating the disturbance was bound to sweep the Bahamas Islands and cross the lanes usually used by Cuban-bound steamers.

If the storm holds to its course it would strike the Florida coast in the vicinity of Palm Beach.

Heavy Enrollment for Work in Home Economics Department at Central Demands Extra Teacher

With 104 students enrolled and enrollment not yet organized, and assistant teacher became necessary in the home economics department of Central high school. At a meeting of the board of education last night, Miss Jewell Wilkenson, A. B. with one year of her M. A. degree at the University of Colorado, was employed as assistant in the work of the department.

Pupils are continuing to enroll in all departments, with the first grader leading the way. There are 168 first grade students in the Lamar school alone. Enrollment at the high school has reached the 400 mark this morning.

High school athletic association members were appointed at last night's meeting of the board. Supt. R. C. Campbell as chairman will head the association. Joe M. Smith was appointed secretary-treasurer and Prof. R. B. Fisher, Coach Odus Mitchell, and C. P. Buckler as members of the executive committee. This organization will be in charge of the financial affairs of athletic activities, act as an advisory board and examine the eligibility of athletes.

The board decided that all students will be admitted to the football games for 25 cents. Drs. A. Cole and W. Purviance were appointed club physicians. The superintendent reported this morning that C. T. Hunkapiller, president of the School Board, had donated $150 worth of classics to the high school. The school has been in need of classics and other books and would appreciate the donation of books.

New chemistry, physics, biology, and vocational agricultural equipment has been purchased by the board to be here soon.

TWO AVIATORS COLLIDE MILE ABOVE EARTH

Gaynor Tostevin Falls to Death in Practice Maneuver

OTHER PILOT DROPS SAFELY

Accident Results When One Pilot Rises Too Quickly

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 14.—(P)—Crashing at terrific speed into a De Havilland airplane flown at an altitude of about 7,000 feet, near Castorville, west of here, Cadet Gaynor Tostevin, 23, of Racine, Wis., student flier in the pursuit section of the advancing flying school, Kelly Field, was killed today.

Cadet Sheldon B. Yoder, observation student from Almont, Mich., pilot of the DeHavilland plane, scrambled out of the front cockpit, was blown into the rear cockpit by the rush of wind past the falling planes and then managed to jump and save his life with his parachute.

Misjudged Distance The collision occurred when Tostevin led a formation of three pursuit planes in simulated attack against observation planes. Yoder was flying the plane in the rear of the observation formation. The pursuit student were flying approximately 2,000 feet above the observation squadron when Tostevin nosed his ship downward to dive on the latter formation. With his ship traveling at high speed, he started to pull up but apparently misjudged his distance and pulled his ship directly under and into the landing gear of the DeHavilland.

Shocked By Impact Cadet Yoder was shocked and covered with oil from the damaged motors. He climbed out of the cockpit to jump clear of the ships, which stuck together, and started down in a spin, but toppled over head foremost into the rear cockpit. Despite the difficulty he had in jumping, other pilots who circled the falling planes estimated the ships had not fallen more than 100 feet before his parachute opened.

The two ships continued to the earth locked together and did not burn, according to reports from Kelly field. The body of Tostevin was found about 200 yards from the wreckage, and Yoder landed approximately the same distance from where the ships fell.

See the Game

If competitive athletics is worth anything, the games are worthy of the attention of the community in which they are held.

Competitive play puts a problem squarely before every participant—that is, to defeat his opponent across the line by fair but strenuous methods.

Tomorrow the Harvesters, many of whom are young and more or less inexperienced, will play one of their hardest games.

Back the Harvesters. Make it possible for as many employees to see the game as possible.

For Law Enforcement

Vernon seems to have a remarkable situation in her city government. Press dispatches indicate that the city commission found it advisable to oust a faithful but aging police chief.

Moreover, enforcement is always partial. Statutes on sanitation, vice, traffic, and the like are ironclad in phrasing but where it a city of 10,000 that rigidly enforces these statutes?

WASHINGTON—A young man in Maryland recently sent the department of mammalogy at the National Museum a strange bone formation.

As a matter of fact, it was the pelvis of an ordinary horse. The acetabuli had been mistaken for ears, the obturator foramen for eyes, and so on.

Perfectly natural mistake for anyone who didn't know what a horse looked like with its flesh off, but the mammalogy experts, who know all these things are let in for a great many explanations.

The museum, of course, is America's greatest boneyard. But it specializes on bones out of the ordinary, and the trouble is that bone finders are forever finding bones which appear to be extraordinary, but are really very ordinary indeed.

One man, for instance, forwarded the skeleton of a dog, minus legs and with the skull peculiarly bent. What species of fish, he demanded was this?

Broken skulls are more likely to perplex bone finders than anything else. Skulls of sheep also often become mysterious.

Further inquiry developed that he had found the hoof of a horse nearby and was convinced that the relics came from the same animal.

The museum has more than once received a complete dog skeleton from a finder who hadn't the slightest idea what it was.

TWINKLES

Personally, we have faced the milk without stuttering, but we shudder to think of sending our grammar down through the ages via the new talkies.

Modern woman is petitioning for the right to vote for president. Voting is a he-man proposition down there.

Modern customs are not faultless, but at least daughter no longer has to run all the kids to bed at 9 o'clock so she can have the parlor the rest of the evening.

That slogan, "As Maine Goes so Goes the Nation" is clever enough to have been written by a Chamber of Commerce secretary.

Never believe all that people say when they first come to town—they may change their tone as they leave.

This is an age when some people actually get offended if accused of having serious thought.

We'd wager that some of those Democratic bolters who got bloody noses were never prouder of the fact even as kids.

New Buick Sets Two New Records in Its Production

FLINT, Mich., Sept. 13.—Setting two new records since the announcement of the Silver Anniversary Buick car July 28, the Buick Motor company today announced the shipment of 45,315 of the new models prior to August 31 and ordered a production schedule of 1,330 cars daily during the month of September.

This enormous increase in production—the greatest in the history of the company's 25 years of motor car manufacture—has been made necessary by the nation-wide demand for the new models, according to C. W. Churchill, general sales manager.

The clamor throughout the nation for the Silver Anniversary Buick, which we, who have seen its development, know is the outstanding automobile of the present era, has taxed to the utmost the facilities of our mile and a half long factory, Churchill declared. "However, we have been able to step up production to the present peak and we can promise that within thirty days the largest number of orders that ever have been received by the company within a similar period will be filled."

Working night and day shifts, railroads here have been able to handle the gigantic increase in traffic which the demand for the new cars has caused, and officials of the rail line have pledged fullest co-operation in continuing to handle the factory's output, according to Churchill.

Steel Delay Is Halting Progress on Two Ward Schools

Work on the two ward school buildings continues to be held up by the non-arrival of steel work. The east ward building is window sill high and the west ward nearly that far toward completion. The buildings are 80 feet wide by 135 feet long and will comprise eight class rooms, an office, and two rest rooms.

Workmen are pouring concrete for the floor of the gymnasium which when completed will be 21 feet wide and 112 feet long. The cement floor will be covered by white rock maple flooring for playing purposes.

The gymnasium will be used for an auditorium and will have a large stage at one end. It is hoped to have the building completed by the end of October in plenty of time for early training for the basketball season.

Coach Mitchell is expected to be one of the best basketball coaches in Texas, and with good material in the local school should have a team of championship calibre.

Gulf's That Well Being Cleaned Out

The Gulf Production company's No. 1 That 250 feet north and east of the most northerly southwest corner of the 100-acre tract. A Zweig survey, was shot with 120 quarts yesterday from 2,432 to 2,787 feet and is being cleaned out today. The well is bottomed in a hard granite wash formation at 2,787 feet.

The well has slight showing of oil at higher depths but failed to flow. The well is flowing about 150,000 feet of gas from total depth, with about 60,000,000 feet cased off at higher depths.

Another shot may be used later if no flow is encountered after this hole has been cleaned out.

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic: Paul Writes to His Friends in Corinth.
Scripture Lesson: First Corinthians, 1:10-13; 3:5-11, 21-23.

1. Cor. 1:10. Now I beseech you, brethren, through the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye all speak the same thing, and that there be no division among you; but that ye be perfected together in the same mind and in the same judgment.

11. For it hath signified unto me concerning you, my brethren by them that are of the household of Chloe, that there are contentions among you. 12. Now this I mean, that each one of you saith, I am of Paul; and I of Apollos; and I of Cephas; and I of Christ.

13. Is Christ divided? Was Paul crucified for you? or were ye baptized in the name of Paul?

1. Cor. 3:5. What then is Apollos and what is Paul? Ministers through whom ye believed; and each as the Lord gave to him.

6. I planted, Apollos watered; but God gave the increase.

7. So the neither is he that planteth anything, neither he that watereth; but God that giveth the increase.

8. Now he that planteth and he that watereth are one; but each shall receive his own reward according to his own labor.

9. For we are God's fellow-workers; ye are God's husbandry, God's building.

10. According to the grace of God which was given unto me, as a wise master builder I laid a foundation; and another buildeth thereon. But let each man take heed how he buildeth thereon.

11. For other foundation can no man lay than that which is laid, which is Jesus Christ.

21. Wherefore let no one glory in men. For all things are yours;

22. Whether Paul, or Apollos, or Cephas, or the world, or life, or death, or things that come; all are yours;

23. And ye are Christ's; and Christ is God's.

Time—Paul wrote his first letter to the Corinthians near the end of his stay of nearly three years in Ephesus, A. D. 53-56.

Place—The Epistle was written in Ephesus, the chief city of Asia Minor.

Golden Text: Behold, how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity!—Ps. 133:1.

Corinth Paul paid short visits to Ephesus and Jerusalem, and then returned to Antioch, whence after a while he set out on his third missionary journey. A long sojourn at Ephesus falls within this third journey; and from Ephesus he wrote this epistle; probably, in the year 57.

In interest and variety of subject in earnestness and in eloquence of language, First Corinthians is preeminent among Paul's letters. It is practical and hortatory, but it contains important doctrinal teachings; e. g., about the resurrection, mingled with its complaint and censure is a spirit of deep tenderness. One of its passages, the thirteenth chapter, is, next to the Lord's Prayer and the Twenty-third Psalm, the most familiar in the Bible.

Paul Urges Unity in the Church, V. 10

"Now I beseech you, brethren," After opening salutations, and his just and tactful praise of the Corinthian church, Paul enters at once on the main theme of his letter with the word "now." "Through the name of our Lord Jesus Christ." Ten times in the first ten verses of the Epistle Paul introduces the name of the Lord Jesus. It is as if he wanted to shame the Corinthians out of their disputings over the names of human leaders by reminding them over and over of the Name which all of them had taken upon themselves, the Name which is above every name, the Name which should be the bond of union among Christians, the tallman of their unbreakable brotherhood. "That ye all speak the same thing." Name the same leader, Jesus Christ. Talk of the same doctrines. Exalt the same faith.

Apollos, an Eloquent Man. Chap. 18: 24-28

Apollos had come to Corinth after Paul had been there, and people were enthusiastic over his eloquence. Some from Judea were sure that Peter was the greater preacher and leader. Some even made the name of Christ an occasion of further division. Now this mean (12), Paul said that you are organizing parties around persons and names. You are glorying in men. Those converted under Paul magnified his ministry; maybe Judaizers claimed Peter as their ideal; others loved to brag about finished rhetoric of the great pulpit orator, Apollos, and some set themselves against all the rest under the name of "Christians."

Christian Humility
The central thought of the remainder of chapter 1 and the whole of chapter 2 is that of humility, which was the grace that these Corinthian mischief makers most needed to cultivate. Paul declares that he was not to preach "in wisdom of words, lest the cross of Christ should be made void," but was to rely solely on the simple story of divine love. "Foolishness," his critics might say; but Paul answered, "The foolishness of God is wiser than men." And he went on to declare, "God chose the foolish things of the world, that he might put to shame them that are wise; and God chose the weak things of the world, that he might put to shame the things that are strong; that no flesh should glory before God. He that glorieth, let him glory in the Lord." The Christian worker is not to think of himself, and whether he is failing or succeeding; he is to forget himself in his work, and he is to think only of his divine Master. That of the secret of Christian happiness and Christian power.

Our Entire Dependence in God, V. 7

"So then neither is he that planteth anything, neither he that watereth; but God that giveth the increase." Nothing, nothing, nothing!—man is nothing. Only God counts. "You think you are something, a person of real importance. But, good friend, look yourself in the face, and unless your vanity has destroyed your sense of humor, I warrant you will smile. Swelled head; nose in the air; chest in front of you; several cubits added to your stature—what a sight for the gods! And all the time you are but a dingy clot of clay like me." Rev. Richard Roberts, D. D. "We are God's Fellow-Workers." V. 9. "For we are God's fellow-workers." This remarkable sentence exalts the human worker even more than the preceding sentences have regarded him as nothing. Though we are weak, foolish, and profitless servants of God; yet he has graciously made us his fellow-workers, and has given us tasks to perform for him that will not be accomplished unless we carry them out.

A priceless privilege, though undeserved. "Ye are God's husbandry, God's building." Paul here changes the metaphor, the new comparison, fitting better his purpose in what follows. The church, in a field on which the growth depends mainly on the forces of nature, the soil, the sun, and the rain. It is also a building, in the erection of which God uses human builders to carry out his plan. Christ the Only Safe Foundation.

It's no fun for the Clarence Saunders Store to select a few items and cut the price, but it's a lot of fun to take the whole store and cut the prices wide open, for then I hear the moans and groans of other stores that can't understand, and who say: "That nut is now on his last legs. Look at him give Groceries and Meats and Fruits and Vegetables away." Tell me for me that I'm on my last and first legs, too, for I never expect to have any more in this world.

Tentative Line-Up Announced Today by Coach Mitchell

When the Pampa Harvesters meet the Quannah high school eleven at Ayres field tomorrow afternoon it will be the first test of their strength against an outside team. Coach Mitchell has had his boys scrimmaging for two weeks.

Who will start the game is not definitely known, as the coach has at least two men for each position on the team and each man will probably have a chance to get in the game. Quannah has a fast, hard hitting team, according to reports received here, and with a college coach hopes to go far in their conference. They have a heavy line and a backfield that should make holes in any line.

The Harvesters have been practicing for the last month and are in good physical condition. When they take the field tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock every man on the team should be able to last the entire game, but the coaches plan to change their line-up to give each man a chance.

With Walstad and Lard for the quarter position, both heady players and good broken field runners, Coach Mitchell may use each of them in tight places. In the backfield, Roberts and Chastain are fighting it out for the full back position, with honors even. The half-back positions are well filled with two veterans, Manges and Tracy, for the first place and John and Saltzman.

For the center position, Captain Bob Kohl is sure of the place, but has a worthy assistant in Greene, who is out for the position this year instead of the backfield, where he played last season.

At tackle, Stalls, the heaviest man on the team, is assured a place while Seitz will probably be a starter on the other tackle position. Carson and Irwin can take either a tackle or guard position when necessary.

At guard Mullins, last year's letter man, is almost assured a position, while Bernard or Irwin will take the other guard position.

The ends are well taken care of this season with the fast Sausbury at one side of the line and Willis, Ayres, and Robinson to pick the other outer position from.

Coach Odus Mitchell, last year with Stalon, and Assistant Coach A. M. Fox, a graduate of Oklahoma A. & M., are confident that they have the material for a fast team which needs much practice, however. The line is a little slow as yet but will improve. The backfield is even faster than last year and should carry the ball better, but is somewhat weak on taking punts.

The coaches are keeping their punters busy and believe they will be able to kick with the best this year. The punting ability last year was the weak spot on the team. Place kicking is also getting more attention this year, with five boys showing up nicely.

Citizens are urged to join the parade which will leave the high school promptly at 2:30 p. m. and will proceed to the football field by way of the business section of the city. The game is called for 3:30 o'clock.

The probable starting line-up for tomorrow: Walstad q. Roberts, fb, Manges rb, Tracy lb, Kohl c, Stalls lt, Mullins lg, Willis le, Seitz rt, Bernard rg, Sausbury te.

Mr. and Mrs. James Ensign of the Adams Hotel and Miss Mary Kay Martin, who have spent the past month in Los Angeles and other California cities, returned home Wednesday night.

National League Bunched Closer Than 1908 Group

BY WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Echoes of 1908 are heard along the baseball stretch as major league teams thunder on toward what now looks like the greatest dual finish since the memorable season of Merkle's failure to touch second. Detroit won Ben Johnson's pennant by half a game twenty years ago while the Cubs broke a tie in the standing with the Giants only by defeating the clan McGraw, 4 to 2, in a play-off the day after the regular season closed.

Hard campaigning in the next two weeks may loosen the 1928 races, but for the moment, John Heydler's three contenders are more closely bunched than were the Giants, the Cubs, and the Pirates at a corresponding stage of the 1908 struggle. The American League today has only two teams in the running against the four which battled twenty years ago, but the Yankees and the Athletics promise to make up in drama what they lack in numbers.

The National league situation became even more tense yesterday when Sheriff Fred Blake led the Cubs to a 6 to 1 triumph over the pace-setting Cardinals as the Giants swept a third straight doubleheader from under the nose of Rogers Hornsby at Boston. The clan McGraw's team took the opener behind Benton's fine pitching, 12 to 2, and then fought to the finish for the second, 7 to 6.

This turn of events hauled the Giants up to within one and one-half games of the Cardinals, with the Cubs only half a game further down the list in third place. The American league situation remained unchanged, with both of the leaders idle and the Yankees on top by a margin of one and one-half games.

The Giants continued their hard hitting at Boston, getting sixteen safe drives in the opener and fifteen in the nightcap. Leslie Adams and Travis Jackson punched out homers early in the first clash, making Benton's road all the more easy to his twenty-fourth victory and his twenty-sixth complete.

Feature Baseball Game of Season to Be Sunday

Even though the football season has opened, baseball is not a thing of the past, as the feature game of the season will be played at the Grays park Sunday afternoon at 3:15, when the Pampa Grays, winners of the Amarillo baseball tournament this year, meet the Fort Worth Cats on a barnstorming trip through this territory.

The Cats, five times winners of the Texas league pennant and three time winners of the Dixie series, finished in the first division this year, but not high enough for the play-off. The original line-up used by the Panthers all season will be the Grays.

Manager Ed Goyer of the local nine has a fast team lined up for the game and hopes to pull a win. The team will be out remembering their win over the Amarillo Texans last season and will be fighting to keep their record clear.

Feature Baseball Game of Season to Be Sunday

The game will be called promptly at 3:15 so that the Cats may leave on time for their next stop.

Who will pitch for the Grays has not been decided, but it will likely be Ketchum or French with the probability that Lefty Ward will get the assignment. Several of the most valuable players in the Amarillo tournament will be in the local line-up and will include Seitz, local boy. Close, best first baseman in the tournament, Ketchum, local boy, most valuable player in the tournament, and Gibson and Johnson, two of the stars.

J. M. Dodson and Carl McLynn are attending to business in Amarillo today.

A. B. Doucette will leave today for his home in Beaumont, after spending two and a half months here in the home of his son, A. H. Doucette.

HOUSTON, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Deadlocked in their battle for the Texas League championship the Houston and Wichita Falls baseball teams relaxed for a day of rest, upon their arrival today from Wichita Falls, where the home team evaded the series yesterday at 1-1 with a 10 to 4 triumph.

Young Corbett Better Than Baker

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—(AP)—For the much threatened welterweight crown of Baltimore Joe Dundee there is a new contender in the latest sensation from the Pacific coast, Young Corbett, the third Corbett, heralded as the young Lechmar who would come riding from the West to give the eastern 147-pounders a lesson in punching, fought his way to a decision over Sammy Baker, former Mitchel field soldier, at Madison Square Garden last night.

Bobby Played Under Par All Day Yesterday

NEWTON, Mass., Sept. 14.—(AP)—At the semi-final stage today, the list of national amateur golf championship survivors was made of two champions and two would like to be Bobby Jones, reigning monarch of amateur golf in the United States, who has won all the championships he has tried for except the British amateur, and Phil Perkins, holder of the British amateur cup, were the champions. George Vogt and Phillips finally have their titles to win.

Sunday School Lesson

"For other foundation can no man lay than that which is laid, which is Jesus Christ." This is why every worker on the building must take heed, for he may be building on the wrong foundation. Some workers today are building on worldly philosophy; others are building on personal popularity; still others are building on ambition, or organization, or money. Every edifice erected on such foundations is sure to tumble.

WHIRLWIND by ELEANOR EARLY

THIS HAS HAPPENED SYBIL THORNE, Boston society girl, considers a whirlwind romance by marrying on shipboard in Havana Harbor, a man she has known just five days, RICHARD EUSTIS, dangerous and fascinating.

"Val, you're a little crab." Tad pinched her cheek good-naturedly.

When it came he poured himself a generous drink. "God knows I need it," he muttered. And shortly he had another. When Sybil came back he was nibbling nuts to hide his breath. Mabel joined them in the afternoon. She had met a salesman from home, selling paper novelties, bon-bons and confetti and streamers.

AND so the days passed—until Sybil had been away two weeks. Mrs. Thorne, at the dinner table at home, was reading a letter the day's mail had brought. First time she had perused it in solitude. But now Tad was home, and she must read it aloud. Valerie was there, too.

"You're just horrid to me, Tad Thorne." "That's right—Tad on the sweeps! Never mind dessert for me, Mother." Tad threw down his napkin, and lunged out of the room.

her tapoca cream, apathetically, and sighing deeply, wiped her eyes after the habit of years. SYBIL, at the moment, was helping Richard to their suite. "No thank you," she told a courteous clerk, "I can manage quite nicely."

"What a romantic morning!" Sybil sighed. "Oh, but you don't know. It was quite thrilling. You see they dug up the graves every once in a while, when the survivors of the dead get behind on the rent. It's dreadfully gruesome. You don't buy grave lots in Havana like we do at home. You rent them. Then if you don't pay the rent, the dead tenants are dispossessed."

(To Be Continued) "What is it Sybil writes? Read her letter in the next chapter."

CHRISTIAN CHURCH

The vacation days are over and those who are not members of the church or attend regularly are invited to attend the service of this congregation.

The minister endeavors to come to the pulpit well prepared, with two timely sermons each Sunday, and he begins a series of lectures on Wednesday evening, Sept. 19, at 8 o'clock on the first part of the Book of Revelations, dealing with the seven churches of Asia. There is a growing interest in the book of Revelation and these Wednesday evening lectures will be helpful.

The Bible school meets at 9:45 Sunday mornings with a full departmental school throughout for every member of the family. The morning service begins at 10:45 and the evening service at 8 p. m., until October 1, when the hour will be 7:30 p. m.

A hearty welcome awaits you at the Christian church.

JAMES TODD, Jr., Minister.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

Bible study, 9:45.

Preaching services, 10:45.

Communion, 11:45.

Evening Sermon, 7:30.

Midweek Meetings:

Wednesday evening, 7:30.

Next Sunday's subject for the sermons are: "Going Visiting," and "Being the Invisible." Last Sunday the sermons were on: "How I May Know I am a Christian," and "How Other May Know I am a Christian." These brought a fine response. Sunday night's audience was the best with the exception of the Sunday during our revival. Every indication is that the congregation will keep on growing in interest and attendance as it has been the past three months.

Next Sunday morning's subject will be a practical application of one of the vital issues of the Christian life and we hope for 100 per cent presence of the membership. These subjects have been proving to be of equal interest also to those who are not members. We welcome all to all of our services. We have no meetings where any one is excluded. The increased interest created by our short revival points the way to greater things and all are hopeful of building up a splendid congregation in a reasonable length of time. This young congregation invites you to its waiting welcome.

C. C. MERRITT, Minister.

The Houston Cotton Exchange, which once met expenses by renting its one room to opera companies, now is housed in the building above. Capt. "Billy" Christian (inset), at 90 an active cotton factor, is the only living charter member. Growth of the exchange has been linked with expansion of shipping from the man-created seaport.

BY CLARENCE M. WRIGHT (Associated Press Correspondent)

HOUSTON, Texas (AP)—The Houston Cotton Exchange, which half a century ago posted Liverpool quotations often a month old on a small board in a dingy room, now occupies a 10-story building in which prices appear on seven panels as transactions are made in markets throughout the world. The growth of the Exchange has been connected closely with the development of Houston as a seaport.

The Exchange does actual trading only in "spot" cotton but prices on "futures" at other exchanges are posted during trading hours and "hedging" operations to protect "spot" traders are conducted through brokers representing ware houses, which execute orders in the "futures" market. Trading in "spot" cotton, however, has an important influence on "futures" in other markets, a heavy demand in a slack season invariably causing a rise.

In 1884, about 10 years after it was founded, the Exchange made expenses by renting its one room for opera performances. The net receipt of cotton that year were only 193,688 bales and the gross shipments 521,908 bales.
