FLORIDA ESCAPES HURRICANE DAMAGE

Crew of Sunken Submarine Alive; Danger From Pressure Grows

BAD WEATHER HALTS DIVING EARLY TODAY

Air Supply Line Is Attached to Stricken Vessel

STEEL CABLE ALSO FASTENED

High Waves and Wind Add to Rescue Worries

ROME, Aug. 7.—(P)—Rescue workers laboring all night to bring aid to the crew of the Italian submarine F-14 sunk in the Adriatic early yesterday morning, have succeeded in attaching a pipe to the crippled vessel in order to supply air to the 31 imprisoned men.

Official announcement was made that the crew of the F-14 was composed of two officers and 29 men.

Divers who went down to inspect the F-14, which sank after a collision with a destroyer during maneuvers, also were able to tie a steel cable to the hull.

Work of attaching the air pipe and cable was accomplished with great difficulty because of unfavorable weather conditions.

The crew of the ship was known to be still alive today and they were maintaining communication with the rescuers by means of a submarine telephone.

The position of the F-14 was definitely determined today and the naval vessel Aquila was anchored nearby.

Inspection by divers who went down this morning showed the submarine had been struck by the destroyer near the stern.

DEATH PENALTY GIVEN ROBBERS IN KANSAS CITY

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 7.—(P)—A verdict of guilty, with assessment of the death penalty was returned today by the jury in the case of Tony Mangiaracina, charged with first degree murder in connection with the robbing of the Home Trust company here and the slaying of "Happy" Smith, traffic officer, June 14.

Briggs Suggests Ways to Impress Legion Visitors

George W. Briggs, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, in an interview with the Pampa Daily News this morning made the following statement regarding the American Legion convention to be held here Friday and Saturday.

"Because of the fact that a large number of visitors will be present at the American Legion convention Saturday and Sunday, it has been suggested that all citizens, especially the business men, make every effort to put the city in attractive shape.

Decorations not only in front of the stores but windows and stores dressed for the occasion would add much to the attractiveness of the city.

"There will be many people here who have not visited the city in many years and who still think of it as a small town. Also, there will be delegates who think of Pampa as a wild oil town. Let us decorate and clean up even the residences and welcome our first convention."

BRIDES IN KNICKERS? Pastor Won't Perform Ceremony for Girl Unless She Puts a Dress on DURANT, Okla., Aug. 7.—If a bride wants to get married in knickers instead of the traditional bridal costume, that's nobody's business but hers.

So thinks Mrs. Teresa Hudson of Durant, anyway.

Mrs. Hudson not long ago was Miss Teresa Jones. She and Jack Hudson about to be married, were planning on a honeymoon camping trip to Texas, and when they went to the minister the bride was arrayed in trim knickers.

But the minister, the Rev. A. A. McReynolds, a Baptist, was horrified.

"A woman must dress like a woman if she wants me to perform a marriage ceremony for her," he announced. "Breeches are all right for men and inhabitants of tourist parks, but when it comes to the solemn and important ceremony of marriage a woman should appear in the habiliments of her own sex."

"The couple's pleas were vain. 'If you will go and put on a dress, I will perform the ceremony,' he told Miss Jones.

But Miss Jones wouldn't. Instead she and Hudson sought out H. M. Young, Durant's 69-year-old justice of the peace, who performed the ceremony without demur, remarking that he "would have married them if they had been dressed in bathing suits."

Mr. and Mrs. Hudson got back from their honeymoon the other day. The bride is still a little bit vexed over the minister's attitude.

"Hasn't a girl a right to choose her own wedding garb?" she asked. "Hasn't she the right to wear knickers if she wants to? I don't see why a girl shouldn't follow the trend of modern times and throw off the shackles of convention. Brides who follow the old custom and dress up in elaborate costumes are usually all worn out by parties and dressmakers before the ceremony ever happens."

And Hudson adds: "It suited me, and if I was satisfied I don't see why it should have made any difference to the minister."

The case attracted a good deal of attention in this part of the country, and newspapers sought the views of other pastors. One well-known minister, the Rev. Burris A. Jenkins of Linwood Boulevard Church of Kansas City, expressed unqualified approval of knickers as a wedding garb. He predicted a life of happiness for Mr. and Mrs. Hudson because "of their ability to be sensible."

Fair Association May Buy Site of Baseball Park

A tentative agreement has been made with the White Deer Land company whereby the Pampa Fair association and the Pampa School board will purchase 3 acres of land from that company to be used as a fair grounds and athletic field. The land is situated on the Miami road about a mile from the center of the city and includes the present location of the Grays baseball park.

The fair committee plans to call a mass meeting of the citizens of Pampa and this part of the county Friday night at the Chamber of Commerce rooms to discuss with them plans for the holding of the fair this fall.

Farmers in the territory will receive special invitation to attend the meeting and express their views regarding the holding of the rejuvenated Pampa fair.

Bus From Pampa to Oklahoma City May Be Operated

AUSTIN, Aug. 7.—(P)—Applications of the Oklahoma City-Amarillo Bus company for permit to operate an interstate line between Pampa, Texas, and Oklahoma City, and of Charlie Plack for permit to run both an intra-state and interstate line from Vernon, Texas, to Clovis, N. M., were set today by the state railroad commission for hearing here August 18.

Plack's proposed line to New Mexico would run from Vernon through Crowell, Paducah, Matador, Floydada, Plainview, Oilton, Muleshoe, and Farwell.

A. A. Gordon of the Gordon Stores left yesterday on a business trip to Kansas City.

Local Issues Claiming Attention in Sooner Election

KANSAS ISSUE ON STATE LINES

Prohibition Question Is Before Missouri Voters

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 7.—(P)—Spurred on by a host of bitter local battles, Oklahoma voters were prepared to cast what political observers predicted would be a heavy vote in the statewide primary today.

Despite the fact that the two major parties will select their candidates for eight congressional posts, three places on the state Supreme Court bench and one position on the Criminal Court of Appeals, the struggle today centered around candidates for county offices, who will be selected in practically every county of the state, and the legislative race, where campaigns for both the Senate and the House have been decidedly hectic.

Many Candidates

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 7.—(P)—The gubernatorial and congressional contests, in which a large field of candidates seek their party's endorsement, held chief interest in the state's primary election today.

In the absence of a senatorial election, national issues were submerged in discussion of personalities and state issues by the candidates seeking nomination for all the elective state offices.

The six Republicans asking nomination to succeed Governor Ben S. Paul included three prominent state officials and two publishers. The candidates were D. A. N. Chase, lieutenant governor, Frank J. Ryan, secretary of state; John Hamilton, speaker of the House; Clyde M. Reed, Parsons publisher; Charles F. Scott, Topeka publisher; and Fred Voland, Topeka.

Heavy Vote Expected

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 7.—(P)—A heavier vote was expected in today's Missouri primary election, than in previous years because of interest in the wet and dry issues.

Chief among the nominations before the voters were those for United States senator, which brought out three Democratic and six Republican candidates. The gubernatorial race was entered by five Republicans and three Democrats.

In addition to the usual water events, there will be pyramiding, wall scaling, first aid, signalling, fire building, and water boiling. Field days always a big event in the Boy Scouts' life, and competition between the troops and towns is always keen.

The council soon will receive its charter, probably to be presented by representatives of a neighboring Oklahoma council.

Executive McIver will leave September 1 for Ithica, N. Y., where he will attend a week's conference of scout executives. This will be the fifth biennial session.

Scout officials here at the recent meeting included the following: Panhandle—J. Sid O'Keefe, council president, Roy M. Walker, and Executive McIver.

White Deer—Bob McCoy, council treasurer.

Pampa—T. E. Rose, Scott Barcus, Scout commissioner, and George Briggs.

In reporting on the recent summer camp, Mr. McIver particularly stressed his appreciation of the services of the Marland company and the Phillips Petroleum company of Borger. The Marland company furnished one hundred cots and mattresses and the Phillips company provided a truck for the use of the camp.

During the business sessions many interesting discussions and reports of progress of the different departments were given. The committee on help for the blind reported wonderful progress

Tentative Program for Legion Is Featured by Entertainment—40 and 4 Promenade Will Be Held Saturday

BUSINESS MEN ASKED TO HELP BOOST LEGION

Carson Loftus, secretary of the Pampa Business Men's association, today called upon members of the organization to decorate their places of business for the Legion convention of Saturday and Sunday.

His statement follows: "The merchants of Pampa are respectfully solicited to co-operate with the Legion to make the convention a real success. Ninety posts are expected to have delegates here from this division."

"The Oil Belt Decoration company of Breckenridge has the contract to do all the work, and the only expense of trouble for the merchants will be to pay about $5 each for this service. This company did the decorating for the national Democratic convention at Houston, and has other important contracts.

"Make the Legionnaires welcome and boost Pampa."

West Texas Legionnaires from posts in the 16th, 17th and 18th districts, composing the 5th division, are looking forward to their trip to Pampa to attend the convention here Saturday and Sunday. More than 200 delegates are expected. Plans are being completed for their entertainment by the local post, assisted by the Auxiliaries.

Comrade Haynie, of the Oil Belt Flag and Decorating company of Breckenridge, is here decorating store fronts for the convention. He is using new flags and bunting.

The program will include the following: Saturday Afternoon Registration at the Legion Home on West Foster avenue.

Sightseeing trips through the city and the oil field.

40 and 4 promenade to commence about 4:30 p. m.

Saturday Evening Continuation of the 40 and 4 promenade.

Special programs at the Rex and Crescent theatres.

Legion dance at the Schneider hotel for Legionnaires and Auxiliary members.

Get-together at the Legion home.

Sunday Morning Program at the Rex theatre. Post Commander R. A. Webb, presiding.

Chief Speaker—Walter D. Hood, state commander, American Legion.

P. E. Forbes, rehabilitation committee member.

L. W. Hoskins, Grand Chief de Gare, 40 and 4.

L. B. Winans, Grand Correspondent, 40 and 4.

The public is invited.

Chicken dinner at the Fla-Mor auditorium following the morning meeting.

Sunday Afternoon Business session, Fla-Mor auditorium, Division Commander E. A. Simpson presiding.

Production Hikes As Southwest Totals Show An Increase

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 7.—(P)—With both Oklahoma and West Texas production on the increase, estimated average daily production of crude oil in the United States increased 4,850 barrels during the week ending August 4, the Oil and Gas Journal will say in its current issue.

The Seminole field, which has been listed among areas of decreasing production for several weeks, was among fields having an increase during the last week. Its increase was slight, however, being little more than 1,000 barrels. The St. Louis-Pearson, Allen and Burbank areas of Oklahoma also had slight increases.

West Texas production jumped more than 8,000 barrels, with the Yates field taking the lead. Yates' daily production during the preceding week, The Hendricks field had an increase of more than 3,000 barrels.

Other producing sections which had small increases included the North Central Texas, Kansas, Southwest Texas, Eastern and Rocky Mountain areas. California production slumped about 4,000 barrels.

Mrs. Tom Saxtin will leave tomorrow for Roy, N. M.

WIND CHANGES BEFORE 12 IN PALM BEACH

Fierce Blasts Are of Short Duration at Miami

OCEAN POUNDS WITH SEVERITY

Ships Seek Shelter on Lake—No Damage Reported

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 7.—(P)—Definite indication the tropical disturbance here recurved again to the north and away from the Florida mainland, was announced by the weather bureau here at 11 a. m. this morning following advice of a change in wind direction at Palm Beach.

About 11 o'clock the wind shifted suddenly there from the northeast into the north and ranged at a sixty-mile clip, only to die down to half that velocity a few minutes later.

Richard W. Gray, Miami observer, says the shift in wind direction and velocity may be accepted as a certain indication that a recurve to the north has set in.

Before 10 o'clock this morning strong northeast winds were reported at West Palm Beach and at Jupiter. The barometer was 29.75 and falling at the Palm Beaches, while Jupiter's reading two hours previously was 29.88 and falling rapidly. Miami's barometer had not fallen below 29.29 and the weather bureau said all danger of high winds had passed.

Only the presence of a high pressure area to the north prevented the disturbance from passing out to sea. Mr. Gray said this morning. Held in check by this area, it drifted slowly northward, toward the coast.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Aug. 7.—(P)—A violent wind storm that struck here early today had abated considerably at noon.

Skidmore Test in Big Gas Looks Like Good Well

Interest in Gray county oil wells is centering around the Get Oil company's No. 1 Skidmore in the southwest corner of the southwest quarter of section 164, block 3, about three miles west of here. Yesterday while drilling ahead at near 3,100 feet, after setting 6-inch casing, a flow of more than 3,000,000 cubic feet of gas was picked up.

This is the first well in the territory to pick up that amount of gas after setting the 6-inch casing and at that depth. The well is offsetting the Empire Gas and Fuel company's No. 2 Bender, in the same section, making about 20 barrels a day and cleaning out the drill deeper.

The Get well will probably be drilled in today and with the gas picked up yesterday is expected to flow natural and be a good producer.

The Danciger Oil and Gas company's No. 2 Morse in the northwest corner of the southwest quarter of section 2, block 26, in setting pipe at 2,460 feet after picking up 13,000,000 feet of gas. This location is in proven territory and will be drilled in this week.

The Danciger Oil and Gas company's No. 1 Shaw in the southeast corner of the southwest quarter of section 5, block 1, south of the LeFors petroleum company's 2,900 barrel well, is drilling ahead at 2,000 feet and preparing to strike the big gas.

NEUTRALITY TO BE RECOGNIZED LABOR POLICY

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 7.—(P)—Organized labor will adhere to a policy of strictly neutrality in the presidential fight, it was announced today by the executive committee of the American Federation of Labor at the close of its conference here.

Feeding Our Conceit

The egoistic bubble of assumed Nordic superiority has been pricked again, not this time, by the professional debunker Mr. Mencken of Baltimore, but by the Institute of Politics, sitting in solemn council at Williamstown, Mass.

In a state where the alienated English staged the tea party and other interesting Colonial events, this discussion has flatly denied the supremacy of the white race, and assigned a number of ringing arguments to support the assumption.

Analyzing the Nordic assumption, the scholars failed to find any biological superiority. The seeming advantage of the white race over the Oriental, for instance, was attributed to the claim that the white man "got the start" on the yellow. As a matter of observation, it may be said that superiority of members of any race over certain of their fellows is quite as marked as the superiority of the average of the Nordic over the average of the Oriental. The capacity to learn has its footing in environment, and environment is not confined to races, although we have come to associate certain races with modes of living.

The interchange of students between universities of this country and the Orient has brought to light some interesting facts. Some of the keenest minds in Eastern universities are from China and Japan. The yellow men grasp truths of science and history quite as well as do average Americans. Actual competition with the foreign students taught the writer a respect for these visitors to our country he never thought he would possess. It is true that lack of familiarity with our customs, idioms, and every-day life is a handicap to the foreign students, but this factor ceases to be of much bother after the first year's residence. Unfortunately, we are prone to laugh at the foreign student who maintains vestiges—even good ones—of his native habits of living. And those students who become thoroughly Americanized jeopardize their influence at home. With our culture they assimilate knowledge of our vices, and having formed bad habits, they need our religion to combat them. In the native environment they would reject the vices, or many of them, with the same avidity they display in avoiding our customs.

Just as the "green country boy" without a background of culture, or without an efficient high school experience, is handicapped in competition with his sharply discerning city brothers, so is the foreign student in need of adjustment. Yet when that more or less primary adjustment is accomplished, the greater capacity for concentration, with a lack of interest in much of the froth of modern education, results in leveling of the scholastic capacity. Indeed, the honors of the senior year are often won by the green freshmen that were.

Many of the "green" races of this age will have accomplished this primary adjustment within the next few decades by reason of the communication and travel marvels lately invented. Just as the earnest lad of the streets may become the commercial baron of his city, the son of the headhunter the valetudinarian of his class, and the mountaineer's offspring governor of his state, so may the "green" races, "different" in skin texture, take a more prominent place among the peoples of the earth. The will to excel is the price of supremacy—a price the Nordic has thus far

CAPITOL News

WASHINGTON—Two picturesque personalities in Mexico leaped into the news soon after the assassination of President-elect Obregon.

They are Soto y Gama and Aurelia Manrique, leaders of the Agrarian party. These two have made continuous attacks on the Laborites, whom they charged with the real responsibility for Obregon's death through creation of an atmosphere of hostility to him which stirred up a fanatic to murder. Their sudden emergence may seem rather startling to most of us, but neither is a new figure in Mexico's political and social life.

Strangely enough, we know much less about the internal affairs of that country which borders on our own for nearly 1600 miles than we do about the affairs of nations across the Atlantic.

One of the two strongest men in Mexico's contemporary history has passed from the picture, leaving a somewhat confused struggle for power behind. The disappearance from power—either by death, as in the case of Obregon, or by passing from office, as in the case of President Calles—of one who has favors to bestow brings about new political alignments at once.

Seek Personal Gain If the disappearance comes by violence, under circumstances such as the Obregon murder, the politician naturally seeks personal advantage or gain for his cause by trying to guide the current of aroused public opinion in channels favorable to his interests. That sort of thing took place in our own country after the deaths of Presidents Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley at the hands of fanatics.

The two Agrarian leaders, Manrique and Soto y Gama, happen to be men of impeccable personal character, but they are intensely devoted to their cause. Manrique was a former governor of San Luis Potosi, one of the leading Mexican states, in the early days of the Calles administration. Soto y Gama has led the Agrarian group in the Mexican Congress.

During the great revolution Soto y Gama was a leader of the Agrarian forces of Morelos and chief adviser of the famous Zapata brothers, who dominated the Agrarians of that state. These Agrarians were the real "irreconcilables" of the revolution and refused to give fealty to any of the chiefs whom the revolution brought into power. "The land for the people" was their battle cry. Even after the death of the Zapatistas the peasants of Morelos refused to yield until a division of the lands was begun. Up to that time 32 great land-owning families had owned nearly every acre of the soil.

An Ardent Reformer Soto y Gama was a lawyer, deeply interested in public affairs. He is said to have lived during the revolution period continuously in the saddle, with a Bible in one pocket of his blouse and a book on economics in the other. Although of a distinct religious bent he has nevertheless been as active an opponent of clerical domination as of the great land owners.

Aurelia Manrique is the younger of the two. His passion for social justice was aroused during the Madero movement.

The story of his governorship of San Luis Potosi is remarkable. Almost an ascetic in his personal habits, he determined to create the ideal state of which he had dreamed for years. It didn't work. Pulque is the curse of peasants in the Mexican highlands. Manrique determined to stamp out the habit centuries overnight. He instituted prohibition in San Luis Potosi.

At the same time he began a campaign against political corruption—which is as bad in Mexico as in our country, if not worse—and attempted to put in a system almost Draconian. He found the state treasury bankrupt. His first move was to reduce his own salary from 50 pesos a day to 15. Then he asked the members of the state legislature to do the same with their salaries.

MORNING
I like to 'wake in early morn'
When beauty reigns serene;
The flowers, lifting dewy heads,
In brightest array are seen.

In the distance one can hear
The song of birds and bees,
An thru my window now I see
The delicate beauty of locust trees.

Now the sunlight creeps down the roof
Of the house across the way,
Time to arise and around me see
All the beauty of another day.

Mrs. W. S. Clausing Honored With Party Monday Afternoon

As a farewell courtesy to Mrs. W. S. Clausing, popular matron who will leave shortly to make her home in Tulsa, Okla., Mrs. H. W. Jones and Mrs. Roger McConnell gave a party of pretty appointments at the Johns home Monday afternoon. Six tables were arranged for bridge, with tallies, score cards, and table markers in the chosen colors of pink and pastel orange. These colors were repeated in the dainty refreshments served at the tea hour.

A shower of handkerchiefs, gifts from the hostesses and guests, were presented to the honoree at the conclusion of five hands of bridge. Mrs. Clausing's score was high and Mrs. William Lang's second high. Mrs. C. S. Boston drew top cut, while Mrs. L. M. Williams drew law. Exquisite favors were awarded.

The guest list for this delightful affair included the following names: Mrs. Clausing, honoree, Mrs. I. E. Duncan, Mrs. A. S. Clark, Mrs. R. A. Webb, Mrs. William Lang, Mrs. F. M. Culbertson, Mrs. I. B. Hughey, Mrs. A. B. Zahn, Mrs. Andrew McNamara, Mrs. Jesse Stalla, Mrs. W. M. Murphy, Mrs. W. A. Doerr, Mrs. Joe M. Smith, Mrs. C. S. Boston, Mrs. E. Guber, Mrs. Woods, Mrs. Joseph Lutz, Mrs. J. W. Mrs. McSkimming Presents Music Pupils in Recital

Twelve piano pupils, who comprise the summer class taught by Mrs. F. P. McSkimming, were presented in recital at the Presbyterian church Monday evening, before a well filled house. A very pleasing program was given, and the performance of the young students reflected credit to themselves and their teacher.

Selections were given by: Mildred and Viola Haggard, Cecile Stanley, Luella Saunders, Lorene Kleth, Ann Sweatman, Onita Frashier, Thomas Sweatman, Dorothy Dodd, Christine Cook, Dorothy Mullen, and Dwight Price.

Two readings by Mrs. Raymond Harsh lent variety to the program.

Mrs. Albert Boudreau and little daughter, Betty Sue, of Oklahoma City are visiting in the home of Mrs. L. H. Sullins.

W. T. Hayter left Sunday to accompany his father to a hospital in Dallas. The elder Mr. Hayter makes his home in Megargle.

Modes of the Moment

PARIS (AP)—A dress which spells coyness on summer evenings is made by Premet of pale flesh chiffon embroidered in a fine black thread. The blouse and skirt have lace motifs which graduate in color from black and grey to flesh. The cape collar is cut in a deep point in the back.

Miss Lora Selber of Miami shopped in Pampa yesterday.

C. L. Dial of Miami was a business visitor in this city Monday.

Wayland Graves, who is associated with the Humble Oil company, returned Sunday night from a vacation trip to points in South Texas. He was away two weeks.

Almous Lynn of Clarendon is visiting in the home of his brother, Fred Lynn.

Mr. and Mrs. John Studer and Mr. and Mrs. Wade Duncan left yesterday for Las Vegas, N. M., on a vacation trip.

CANT IDENTIFY BODY

All efforts to identify the body of the man, known to some as George Hart and W. M. Barker to others, have proved unsuccessful and the body is still at the Malone Funeral home here. He died at a cottage camp Friday night from an after attack of influenza. He was practically unknown here.

If the body is not claimed by tomorrow it will be buried in Potter's field.

T. E. Vaughn left Saturday to assist in a revival meeting at the First Baptist church of Plainview.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Pope and daughter, Miss Claudine, and Miss Elizabeth Corson returned Sunday from a delightful visit at the J. A. Yankees Trimmed Again as Western Hospitality Wanes

By HERBERT W. BARKER, Associated Press Sports Writer

Recipients of western hospitality for more than two years Miller Huggins' Yankees are discovering they have worn out their welcome beyond the Alleghenies.

The Yanks swept everything before them last year in the West taking 32 of the 44 games played in Detroit, Cleveland, Chicago, and St. Louis. In 1928 they took 25 of 47 games from the same teams, Cleveland being the only club to break better than even. They're paying for that hospitality now.

When Willie Kamm socked a triple in the 13th inning at Chicago yesterday scoring Bib Falk with the run that enabled the White Sox to trim the Yankees, 5 to 4, it marked the champion's tenth reverse in 15 starts since they invaded the west for the second time on July 23.

Fortunately enough for Miller Huggins, the Philadelphia Athletics, for some unknown reason, took it into their head to lose to Detroit, 8 to 5.

Clouting by Kress and Manush was the high spot in the St. Louis Browns' triumph over the Boston Red Sox, 9 to 4. Manush and Kress each collected a triple, double and single in four times at the plate.

Cleveland and Washington divided a double bill, the Indians taking the first game, 7 to 4, and the Senators the second, 11 to 2. Pitchers dominated in each game.

Rain or wet grounds put a quietus on the National league champions for the day except at Philadelphia where Shotton's Phils surprised everybody, including themselves, by shellacking the Chicago Cubs in both ends of a twin-bill, 8 to 7, and 5 to 1.

California Crew Now Beats Italy

SLOTEN, Holland, Aug. 7—(AP)—The University of California eight-oared crew added Italy to its list of beaten opponents in the Olympic rowing regatta by defeating the Italians today in a quarter final round race.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 7—(AP)—Stephan Holata, lightweight from the United States, won his elimination bout in the Olympic tests from Tommy Potoch, Czechoslovakia, on a foul in the third round.

LAWYER PAYS FINE AFTER POLITICAL ROW

HOUSTON, Aug. 7—(AP)—Weaver Moore, attorney, had paid a $10 fine in corporation court here today on a charge of simple assault on Alvin S. Moody, anti-Smith leader, as a result of a difference in the county Democratic convention here Saturday.

Houston Buffs Menaced by Bold Spudder Showing

Big sticks in over-the-fence performances settled the issue in two Texas league baseball games yesterday. In a third good, tight pitching won and the fourth was left tied at the end of the 12th, when darkness set in.

Tom Jenkins, with the Wichita Falls Spudders, beat out the San Antonio Bears, 4 to 1, by a lusty home run in the first inning. The bases were loaded.

At Shreveport, Selph did a similar trick in the ninth, enabling the Houston Buffs to edge out on the Sports, 9 to 8.

Keeping the Fort Worth Cats from becoming frolicky, Barnabe pitched Waco to a 4 to 0 victory. He never donated the Cats anything: in the pinches he held tightly.

The Dallas Steers, apparently rejuvenated by a new manager and exasperated at losing so many in a row, rallied around to hold Beaumont to a 14 to 14 tie and darkness called the marathon off in the 12th inning.

Wichita Falls, by winning, became a growing menace to the leadership of the proud Buffs.

All teams play at the same stands today.

Farrell Defeats Knight But Not With Knockout

Frankie Farrell last night played the Gene Tunney stunt on Kid Knight, when he let him stay to the end of the last round as he was about out on his feet. The margin of the defeat was not as great as the report sounds. The boy from Bonney's Cafe plasted Farrell with enough to make him know he had been in a fight.

If trained, Knight would make one of the nicest little 132-pounders in the game. He is fast and packs a sleep punch, but fails to land it often and to a vital spot. He hammered Farrell around the ring at times, but the local flash just wasn't where the sleep punch started for.

Farrell showed up nicely in the event and with a little more training would be ready to step back into the ring again.

Three bouts of two-minute duration were well received.

Mokey Press, local newsboy, skater and wrestler, was the winner in both the pie-eating contest and the watermelon-eating contest. He seemed to be a master at both jobs but was closely pursued in both races.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Malone and family left yesterday for a fishing trip to Red River, N. M.

Olympic Dope

(By The Associated Press)

Today's program:
 Swimming, rowing, boxing, fencing, cycling, gymnastics.

Yesterday's features:
 Rowing competition reached quarter-finals with American representatives still in five of the seven regatta divisions.

Martha Norelius, United States, captured women's 400 meter free style championship and broke world's record; meter free style event; Americans advanced in breast stroke and springboard diving trials; Hungary whites-washed United States in water polo, 5 to 0.

John Hopkins Lacrosse team was defeated by Great Britain, 7 goals to 6. Germany scored first team championship in Greco-Roman wrestling.

Lieut. George C. Calnan and Dr. Allen B. Milner, United States, advanced in individual fencing championship competition.

FORT WORTH TO SEND MULES TO ALGIERS FIRM

FORT WORTH, Aug. 7—(AP)—Texas mules are wanted in the French protectorate of Algiers, according to a formal request for information of mule prices and shipping costs received by the Association of Commerce, Fort Worth is the largest mule market in the United States, the association found in investigating prices.

The investigation also disclosed the demand for mules has fallen off, being attributed to the use of trucks and tractors. However, last year's sales here amounted to more than $400,000.

Prices quoted to the Algerian's ranged from $0 for a mule 13-14 hands high and weighing from 600 to 750 pounds, to $150 for mules 15-16 hands high and weighing 1,100 to 1,300 pounds, all prices being F. O. B. Fort Worth.

Judge and Mrs. J. L. Bain of Clarendon visited their daughter, Mrs. Carl Boston, and Mr. Boston and their son, Gordon Bain Sunday.

Miss Minnie Lee Meek of Esther's Beauty Salon will spend several weeks in Amarillo. She left Saturday evening.

United States Has Champs for Water Competition

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 7—(AP)—Americans who do their daily dozen with the aid of water and lots of it are having their Olympic innings now.

Track and field events held the stage during the first eight days of the Olympic games, almost excluding other branches of sport from anything more than a sort of "among-those-present" mention.

Now the spotlight has shifted from dryland to the swimmers and the oarsmen. Buffeted about considerably in the track and field championships, the United States is hoping for a little calm sailing on the water.

Swimming competition has reached the stage where the United States can begin counting its Olympic championships. The total so far, is exactly one. It was made possible by the great sprinting ability of Martha Norelius, of the Women's Swimming Association of New York, who won the 400-meter free style swim for women yesterday in world's record time.

Sweden took the other final yesterday, Arne Borg, splashing to victory in the 1500-meter free style event for men. And what is more his time of 19:51 4-5 bettered the listed world's and Olympic records.

In water polo, the United States outswam a crack Hungarian team but there's more to water polo than getting through the water. It's necessary to score goals. The Hungarians, European champions, proved quite adept at this, scoring five times while representatives of the Stars and Stripes failed to score one.

Fight Results

(By The Associated Press)

GLASCO, Scotland—Frankie Moody, Welsh, knocked out Tommy Milligan, European middleweight champion (1).

NEW YORK—Joe Glick, Brooklyn, knocked out Jose Garcia, Mexico (1).

WILMINGTON, N. C.—W. L. (Young) Strubling, Macon, Ga., knocked out Jack Rayn, Philadelphia (2).

AKRON, O.—Fritz Nebo, Key West, Fla., defeated Dixie La Hood, Battle, Mont. (10).

Johnny Hanlon, Akron, beat Tommy Thompson, North Carolina (6).

Tommy Milton, New York, defeated Andy Tomasky, McKeesport, Pa. (10).

Women's Events Retained by Olympic Committee Today

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 7—(AP)—The International Amateur Athletic Federation, after a spirited debate, today voted 16 to 6 to retain women's track and field events in the Olympic program.

By a vote of 14 to 8 it rejected a full list of ten events asked by the women.

SLOTEN, Holland, Aug. 7—(AP)—Ken Myers, American, singles sculling entry in the Olympics, defeated the Swiss entry, Candevan, in the quarter final today.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

BERTIE LOU WARD married ROD BRYER, who had previously been engaged to LILA HARRIS. The latter confided her secret to her friends that she was Rod's first love, and continues to make life miserable for the bride until she meets a rich Mr. LOREES and marries him. Then she asks Bertie Lou to forgive the past.

Trying to keep up socially with wealthy friends plunges the Bryers in debt and Rod becomes depressed. Lila seizes her chance to persuade him to accept a higher salary from Loree.

Shortly after, she asks Rod to put some jewels in the safe during her husband's absence. The jewels disappear, and Rod wants to notify the police, but Lila insists that they keep the matter secret, pointing out that suspicion against him might spoil his career. Bertie Lou finds out that she has been seeing Lila secretly and is heartbroken.

She is called home to her sick mother, and has to catch a train without seeing Rod. The separation, added to Lila's plotting, causes a coldness to spring up between them.

Bertie Lou returns on the eve of their first anniversary to find Rod apparently indifferent. Each expects the other to make advances. Rod goes to the Lorees without her, and Bertie Lou goes out with MARCO PALMER, a restaurant. Coming home, Marco kisses her unexpectedly at the door and Rod sees it. He offers Bertie Lou a divorce, and she counters with the same offer to him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXI

"I'm glad you're awake," Rod remarked as Bertie Lou looked inquiringly at him from her sat pillows. He came over and sat at the foot of the bed to talk to her.

Rod was struck by Bertie Lou's haggard appearance. "Better go easy on the night life," he said. "You look like the devil."

"Is that all you came in here to tell me?" Bertie Lou flamed. She was angry with herself for having fallen down so soon on the role of biased indifference she wanted to assume.

"No, but I don't think it's out of order to warn you," Rod replied. "You will need your strength for housework after this. We won't be able to keep a maid."

Bertie Lou's delicate eyebrows came together in a quick frown. Rod had never explained why she suddenly cut her allowance in half. And now she was not to have a maid.

"You don't expect me to take care of this apartment alone, do you?" she asked, more as a leading question than as meant to draw out further information than because she felt unequal to doing the work if necessary.

"No, I don't," Rod assured her. "But we won't be here after the first. I'd have subtle the place before this if I'd found a tenant. But most people who can afford an apartment like this leave town for the summer," he added explanatorily.

Bertie Lou's brow cleared. "Are you taking a country place?" she asked.

"We're moving back where we were before we got high and carried in here," Rod informed her shortly.

Bertie Lou could not repress an ejaculation of surprise. "Have you

The climax was reached for Texas on the last day, when it was announced that Julian Hire of Fort Worth had been elected third vice-president and that Texas had regained her place as leader in Lionism over California, having about twenty-five more clubs this year than California.

Louisville, Ky., having been chosen as the convention city for 1929, Lions paid respect to the men of the "tall corn" state and went on their way.

lost your position?" she added, thinking that matters might have come to a crisis with him and Lila.

"No, I haven't, but I'm going to save some money if it's the last thing I do," Rod said decisively. "You can go and look at the apartment I've taken—it's smaller than the one we had—and see how much of this furniture we'll need. But I wish you would send back the things that aren't paid for."

"You've had all spring and most of the summer to pay for them!" Bertie Lou cried. "I'd like to know what you've done with your money. You certainly haven't given yourself writer's cramp sending checks to me!"

ROD felt tempted to tell her then and there why he was putting half of his salary aside. The reasons Lila had given him for withholding news of the theft of the necklace and bracelets from Bertie Lou seemed to have lost their importance. But others had taken their place. Bertie Lou might rebel against his paying the amount of insurance Lila had carried on them.

That thought in his mind showed clearly Lila's subtle influence. At one time he had banked as strongly on Bertie Lou's desire to do the right thing, even if it appeared quixotic, as on his own willingness to meet his obligations. But now he was not sure.

She had been extravagant, heedless of his wish for a home of their own, and finally she had cooled his love by her neglect of him while she was away.

Had Rod asked himself why she had been neglectful he must have admitted that she hardly would have been so without a reason. It had come so suddenly, her coolness. But when it first became apparent to him that she had changed he was too perplexed about it to judge intelligently.

Now he had no desire to examine her motives. She had, with or without reason, ceased to love him. Rod was thankful for it, now. It saved him from a life of hypocrisy to keep her happy. But along with the departure of their love had fled much of Rod's faith in Bertie Lou's good qualities.

No, he concluded, he'd better not tell her about the theft if he wanted to save his money for Lila without having a lot of trouble over it.

"I've told you I'm saving," he said quietly, "but not to pay for gimcracks from Park Avenue decorators."

Bertie Lou regarded him through narrowed eyelids. She saw that he was firmly set in what he intended to do. But she would not give in meekly.

"I won't send back a thing," she said stubbornly. "If we're going back to live in that hole I'll take some decent furniture."

Rod stood up. "Do as you please," he said, "but you'll have to pay for it out of your household money."

was the first time he'd seen any evidence that Bertie Lou was living her life in a way that included orchids. But it did not mean that these were the first.

Rod and Bertie Lou never questioned each other. Rod often came in and went to bed without knowing whether Bertie Lou was home. Her door was always closed. Both knew, vaguely, and with forebodings of disaster, that the arrangement would not continue indefinitely.

THEIR marriage was a farce, a hollow mockery. Each was waiting for the other to make the overture toward a separation. Bertie Lou expected any day to learn that Lila had left Cyrus. Then would come her own divorce. For she would not seek to hold Rod.

Rod thought Bertie Lou would tell him some day that she wanted her freedom. He did not expect her to live up to this manner. For one thing she was too attractive to waste her life. . . . and she loved nice things. It was inevitable that she should meet, among Marco Palmer's wealthy friends, a man who would want to give them to her.

The thought of Bertie Lou married to another man was not as agreeable to Rod as it should have been in view of his own infatuation with Lila. He called himself a dog in the manger over it, and set himself to make it plainer than ever to Bertie Lou that she need not consider him an obstacle in any way. It was his method of paying himself off for feeling as he did.

Bertie Lou understood him to be leading up to a frayed request for complete freedom. This was at dinner, following the evening she had called Marco. Until that moment she had hoped against hope that the inevitable hour might be long postponed.

She told Rod, quietly enough, that whenever she wanted to leave him she would do so. He would, she hoped, have no hesitancy about doing the same.

It was ghastly. Two beautiful young lives bound together with tender ties, calmly placed on a basis that was equivalent to a day-to-day endurance test.

Bertie Lou could not stand it. She threw herself into a very orgy of dissipation—dissipation of time, of beauty and of health. Sleep became practically a stranger to her, and she discovered nerves that she had not known she possessed.

Rod rarely found her at home now—rarely saw her. There were no more meals in the apartment. Bertie Lou once offered to cut her household allowance, but Rod grimly refused. He was eating in cheap restaurants and caterers.

Bertie Lou applied the money he refused on the debts he was paying off. He protested when he learned of it but she would not talk about it.

The strain of their artificial relations began wearing on Rod. He came home one day to dress himself of Lila's dinner, and saw with a mixture of relief and consternation that Bertie Lou was packing her suitcase.
