Ike Ready To Step Up Drive For Republican Nomination

ABILENE, Kan. (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower headed for New York today, prepared to step up his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination with another round of conferences and personal interviews.

The sessions in Abilene, Sen. Frank Carlson (R-Kan.) said, caused "national sentiment to shift toward Ike."

Carlson, a leader in the Eisenhower campaign, said the events in Abilene won over to the general some delegates who previously had been supporting Sen. Robert A. Taft, one of the leading contenders for the GOP nomination.

Seven MIG-15s Downed By UN In Korea War

Ground Action Is Light As Air War Is Heavy Again

By MILO FARNETI
SEOUL, Korea, (AP)—U. S. Sabre pilots shot down seven Russian-built MIG-15s and damaged two today as the Red jets swooped on Allied fighter-bombers blasting North Korean rail lines near Manchuria, the Air Force announced.

The MIG kills were the first reported since Saturday. Five were shot down and two damaged in a noon battle between a screening force of 36 Sabres and a flight of 16 Communist jets. One other MIG was knocked down in a separate fight at about the same time between 28 Sabres and 12 MIGs.

U. S. Fifth Air Force said its planes to date have destroyed 316 MIGs, probably destroyed 58 and damaged 507 in the Korean war. Allied losses in today's fighting, if any, will be announced in a weekly summary.

In pre-dawn darkness today, United Nations B-26 bomber pilots destroyed two locomotives and destroyed six box cars in attacks on trains on the line running through Kangyae, in mountainous Central North Korea just south of the Yalu River boundary with Manchuria.

Senators Put Off Mixing In Dispute

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Peace talks to end the five-day-old steel strike took on a hopeful air today as three-man negotiating teams for union and industry resumed intensive bargaining talks at the White House.

A dramatic Senate floor statement by Democratic Leader McFarland, (Ariz.) last night that the strike of 650,000 CIO Steelworkers might be settled over the week end persuaded the Senate to put off until Monday all legislation dealing with the dispute.

John R. Steelman, assistant to President Truman who is riding herd on the union-management talks, acknowledged he had talked with McFarland and said the two sides got down to "real bargaining."

HCJC Board Checks Prexy Applications

Howard County Junior College trustees sifted through a list of 23 applications for the post of college president Thursday night. They hope to take definite action toward naming an administrative head for the college at a subsequent meeting, probably within the next three or four weeks.

Their work Thursday night consisted chiefly of a detailed survey of qualifications and recommendations of the various candidates.

At the same time the board discussed some of the qualifications which members feel should be given top consideration when a president is named.

It was generally agreed that the board would favor a president with some background in junior college work, preferably in the administrative field, or else a person with a Doctor's degree with extensive study in junior college education.

Eisenhower Appears To Be In Conservatives' Camp

By JACK BELL
ABILENE, Kan., (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's plunge into the turbulent pool of politics produced the well-defined impression today he is in the conservative camp of Republicans.

There isn't any concise definition of conservatism but the five-star general talked at a hometown news conference here yesterday like a man the average Southern Democrat could go along with on many issues.

This was particularly true of the handling of the candidate for the Republican presidential nomination given the explosive civil rights issues. He said, in effect, that no one can legislate civil rights, adding that the states should decide whether to establish their own Fair Employment Practices Commission.

Douglas MacArthur, who has been supporting Taft openly. Eisenhower said if he was elected he would consult MacArthur on Far Eastern policies.

When he couldn't comment directly on whether he would support Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) for re-election, Eisenhower seemed to side with those who have criticized McCarthy's methods in his Communist-in-government charges.

Eisenhower said Communist influences could be uprooted in the government "without besmirching the reputation of any innocent man or condemning by loose association or anything else."

The general, at ease throughout his 45-minute questioning by reporters, indicated clearly that he has made up his mind reluctantly that he must fight for the GOP nomination to get it.

US Asks Survey On Censorship Over The World

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States has told the United Nations it should quit trying to write a treaty on freedom of information and instead make an impartial, annual survey of censorship in the world.

Walter Kotschnig, deputy U.S. representative to the U.N. Economic and Social Council, said yesterday that the harder the U.N. tried to set up a treaty guaranteeing freedom of the press, the more restrictions appeared.

The U.N. has been trying to write such a treaty for years, but it has never been able to reconcile the views of countries such as the U.S. and Britain, where freedom of information is traditional, with those of nations where the press is restricted.

Some U.S. publishers have expressed strong opposition to any treaty governing information because they feared American guarantees of freedom might be infringed to appease the views of other countries.

Kotschnig, who spoke to the Social Committee of the Economic and Social Council and to a news conference, suggested that instead of working on a treaty the council should appoint an impartial official to report annually on freedom of information.

TEXAS BRANDS

By JOHN M. HENDRIX
The T. Diamond brand was originated by W. J. Slaughter about 1845 and was used in Caldwell, Atascosa, LaSalle, Medina, Frio, Uvalde, and Zavala Counties. It reached its greatest importance between 1865 and 1906.

After Mr. Slaughter's death the brand was continued by his wife until her death in 1925, when it was given by Mrs. W. A. Roberts and her son Byron L. Roberts. From the time that it was first in use through the '20's, it had considerable importance in the counties named above.

Army Concerned As Tank Program Hit

By ELTON C. FAY
Associated Press Military Affairs Reporter
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army is expressing concern over the impact of the steel strike on its tank production program.

During the last two months, a spokesman said today in answer to questions, the "production picture has improved greatly."

But, he said, the steel strike "will have an adverse effect on tank production, an effect which will become progressively worse the longer the strike lasts."

Tank building represents one of the military's major needs for steel. To make one of the new T-41 light tanks which weighs 28 tons, together with spare parts, a total of 68,800 pounds of steel must be on hand; a medium tank of about 48 tons needs 118,000 pounds.

The Army declined to disclose the total amount of light, medium and heavy tanks for the current production program.

However, in recent testimony before a congressional committee Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff, remarked that if Congress went through with a planned cut in the military budget for the next fiscal year starting July 1 the Army would have to "eliminate over 3,000 medium tanks" from its program.

School Board Checks Budget In Order To Get Pay Schedule

Trustees did some preliminary projection on budget expenditures for the balance of the fiscal year at the meeting Thursday evening as a prelude to sending out teacher contracts.

The board is anxious to have its financial picture crystallized, said Marvin Miller, president, in order to be able to tell Big Spring teachers what the pay schedule will be.

SEIZE 42 RINGLEADERS Troopers Break Up L.A. Prison Strike

BATON ROUGE, La., June 6 (AP)—State troopers broke up a sit-down strike of 200 Negro convicts at Louisiana's state penitentiary today firing three gas shells into their camp barracks and seizing 42 ringleaders.

Col. Francis Grevenberg, state police superintendent, said troopers raided him from the prison at Angola, about 70 miles northwest of here, the other convicts involved had surrendered and returned to their farm work.

The situation is back to normal," Grevenberg said, three and a half hours after the prisoners rebelled at 6:30 a.m. (CST).

The 42 ringleaders were placed in a separate building. State police headquarters rounded up available troopers, armed them with riot weapons and sent them to the 18,000-acre prison farm system 70 miles northwest of here.

Supt. Bazer reported 35 ringleaders were responsible for the action. The disturbance was at Camp "T". Angola has a system of several prison camps in isolated country. Bazer radioed state police that the prisoners demanded:

1. Better food.
2. Better bathing and toilet facilities.
3. More frequent change of prison garments.

The Louisiana legislature now has under consideration bills that would provide more than $2 million for improvements at Angola.

Grain Shortage Trial Declared To Be Mistrial

LUBBOCK, June 6 (AP)—The grain shortage trial of O. L. Shannon was declared a mistrial last night after the jury, deadlocked for more than seven hours at 7 to 5 for acquittal, said they couldn't agree.

A faint smile flickered over the face of the Sudan grain dealer and warehouseman when U. S. Judge Joseph B. Dooley announced the mistrial. Friends crowded around him.

Shannon, charged with converting government-owned grain to his own use, will be subject to retrial. The government charged Shannon's company was 30 million pounds short when an audit was taken last August.

Shannon, 48, testified he shipped some grain to the Commodity Credit Corporation, but it was rejected as unfit. He said he then sold the consignment.

Carrying his estimate beyond that point, Collins asserted this in turn would mean that no spare modern tanks could be supplied to any overseas troops, including those in combat in Korea, and that there would be almost an 80 per cent shortage in requirements for newly developed tanks for Army forces in the United States.

Postal Pay Bill, Wetback Control Funds Approved

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress whipped an appropriation bill through both houses yesterday and President Truman signed it, putting meaning back into the pay days of half a million postal workers.

About half the money in the bill was for Postoffice work done in May. The postal employees did not get their usual checks June 1 because the Postoffice had run out salary funds.

The $971,342,641 appropriated yesterday contained funds to meet the postal payroll, it also provided funds for controlling illegal immigration from Mexico.

Postmaster General Donaldson immediately authorized postmasters to resume salary payments.

10 Boys Missing From Gatesville

FORT WORTH, June 6 (AP)—An official of the Texas Youth Development Council said yesterday the excessive number of runaways from the state training school for boys at Gatesville probably was the result of a change in the school's administration.

Ten of the 32 boys who escaped from the school were still at large last night. John H. Winters, executive secretary of the council, said:

"There always will be some boys who will run away, but 14 at a time is out of the ordinary. There's always a mix-up."

M. B. Kindrick has been acting superintendent of the school since May 1, when S. L. Bellamy resigned.

Tornadoes Strike North Texas Area

Base were damaged. Insurance adjusters reported no major damage within the city. The storm struck Laredo about 1:30 a.m. Friday.

High winds and heavy rains whipped over Gonzales, in East Texas, Thursday night. An inch of rain fell in 15 minutes followed by another inch in less than an hour.

The black, twisting tornadoes ripped apart barns and outhouses Thursday.

No tornado injuries were reported. Lightning killed George Hembree, 50, as he sat on a tractor near Greenville.

Grayson County, in North Texas, was hit hard Thursday by tornadoes, accompanied by heavy rain.

The Dallas weather bureau said several tornadoes hit in Grayson but only a few were big enough to reach the ground.

Rockport's telephone and utility lines were snapped.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said the tornado condition was caused by a wide area of low barometric pressure over the eastern and central part of Texas. It was accompanied by a cool front.

Things Brighter At Texas Postal Meet

SAN ANTONIO, June 6 (AP)—The convention of Texas postal clerks took on a brighter aspect yesterday after looking for a while like it would be a pretty sour affair.

The opening session was delayed because only 48 of an expected 130 showed up. A five-day delay in their pay checks was blamed for the low attendance. By mid-afternoon about 70 were on hand.

Then came the cheery news that the President had signed a bill for funds to meet the overdue payment of their salaries.

The squall line ranged from Western Louisiana south to the Gulf. Friday morning's low reported temperature was 54 degrees at Dalt, Galveston had 77, the warmest pre-dawn reading. Thursday afternoon Presidio was the hottest spot in the state and nation with 107 degrees.

The storm that hit Laredo had steady winds of 45 to 60 miles an hour with gusts to 78. Signs, billboard, big trees, and fences were blown over. Some buildings under construction at Laredo Air Force

E. D. Manning, mechanical superintendent of the Journal of Commerce, commented "this is good paper."

It was the first time he had worked with bagasse paper and he said it was "stronger than (standard wood pulp) newspaper."

The readability is good, Manning said, and it makes a bright page that stands out.

An independent New York engineering firm estimated bagasse paper can be made under the De la Rosa process at a cost of $65.92 a ton, based on production in a mill of 215 tons daily capacity.

This figure is admittedly conservative. De la Rosa has estimated he can produce bagasse paper for $55.92 a ton.

The current price of wood pulp newspaper to the consumer is $120 a ton, New York basis.

JESUS TAUGHT THAT ONE WHO IS FAITHFUL IN SMALL MATTERS WILL ALSO BE FAITHFUL IN GREAT ONES

Scripture—Ezekiel 20:15; Luke 16:1-13; 19:1-10, 45-46.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
CONSIDERING the great increase in crime in our modern world and in our own beloved country, it seems that the Ten Commandments, as given to the people of Israel by Moses in olden times, have particular significance today.

The fundamental law of Moses was "Thou shalt not steal." That is a definite statement which applies alike to petty thieving, to men and women in public office who pilfer from the taxpayers by falsifying their accounts to enrich themselves, and to those who openly rob banks, pass worthless checks, burglarize homes, or snatch purses from unprotected women or men.

The ingenuity displayed by dishonest persons who scheme to live by robbing others could, if put to good uses, instead of evil, enrich the world.

The parable that Jesus told of the dishonest steward while he was in Perea, is a little puzzling in its ending, but Jesus clarifies it trust the true riches? "And if ye have not been faithful in that which is another man's, who shall give you that which is your own?"

The next verse is not included in our lesson, but it seems so applicable to its moral: "No servant can serve two masters... ye cannot serve God and mammon."

Another rich man was the publican, Zacchaeus, who lived in Jericho. As Jesus was passing through, you will remember, Zacchaeus, being a man of small stature, climbed a tree the better to see Him. Jesus called him to come down, and told him He was planning to stay at his home that night.

Zacchaeus, thrilled at this news, climbed down swiftly and told the Master, "Behold, Lord, half of my goods I give to the poor; and if I have taken any thing from any man by false accusation, I restore him fourfold."

Looking at this man who had acquired riches in the service of Rome by collecting taxes from

MEMORY VERSE

"Thou shalt not steal."—Ezekiel 20:15.

by His after remarks.

A rich man found that his trusted steward had been cheating him. Calling the man to him, he asked for an accounting, and dismissed the man from his service.

Apparently not at all sorry for his dishonesty, the man pondered about his jobless situation, and conceived a smart trick to further cheat his master and to give himself a means of living easily. He was too used to good living to dig, he reasoned, and too proud to beg. These were his excuses.

"So he called every one of his lord's debtors unto him, and said unto the first, How much owest thou unto my lord?"

"And he said, An hundred measures of oil. And he said unto him, Take thy bill, and sit down quickly, and write fifty."

To another he made much the same proposition and both agreed. The lord knew about this tricky dealing and actually commended his one-time steward for his sharp practice. He thought he had acted wisely.

From then on Jesus draws a lesson from this parable. "He that is faithful in that which is least is faithful also in much; and he that is unjust in the least is unjust in much."

"If therefore ye have not been faithful in the unrighteous mammon, who will commit to your his countrymen—possibly wrongfully on some occasions, Jesus told him, "This day is salvation come to this house, forasmuch as he also is a son of Abraham."

"For the son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost."

Training in honesty in the home sets the pattern for a boy or girl's after life as a good or bad citizen. If parents excuse, or are even pleased, when a child comes back from the store with more change than he should have because of some mistake on the part of the clerk who waited on him; if it is thought "cute" to manage to get by the driver without paying the fare when riding on public transportation, it sets a pattern that may eventually land the child in prison for larger crimes.

Jesus' righteous anger at the people who were buying, selling, doubtless cheating at times, in the court of the temple is part of our lesson. Driving them from the place, Jesus said sternly, "It is written, My house is the house of prayer, but ye have made it a den of thieves."

Honesty is not only "the best policy," but, practiced in our daily lives in even the smallest of our transactions, it is one way in which we can help to make our beautiful world a better place in which to live.

THE HOURS OF YOUTH

Time once loomed larger in your life than it does now. An hour once seemed "a real long time." That was when you were very young.

Today when you "spend" an hour either profitably or wastefully you are parting with only a tiny fraction of your life. But, then, you were investing or squandering a large portion of your most important asset.

On this obvious truth rests the vital importance of childhood religious training. Faith and moral character grow most rapidly in the formative early years. And the beliefs and habits acquired in those "big" hours of our childhood are not easily crowded out by the multiplicity of worldly concerns which overflow our later days and years.

Every hour you devote to the religious training of your child, going to Church with him, reading Bible stories to him, sending him to Vacation Church School, helping him to live and work and play by the best code, will strengthen your own character—and mold his!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship, strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Magic Show Tonight At Auditorium

The "now you see it, now you don't" art of Zolo, master magician, will be on display at the city auditorium tonight at 8:30.

A two-hour show of mystery and magic will be presented under auspices of the local National Guard company.

Zolo and his company present "20th Century Phantasies," and theatre goers are promised an adventure into the "impossible."

The magician uses the sophisticated trickery which employs sleight of hand at close distances, but he also offers some spectacular large illusions that leave his audience perplexed. He uses a ton of equipment in the magic presentation.

Some of the high spots of the show are "Where Do the Ducks Go?" "The dancing Handkerchief," "The Girl Without a Middle," "The Girl Burned Alive," "The Drum of the Nile," and the beautifully mysterious "Fantasy in Flowers."

Artistry and skill are combined to hold forth interesting entertainment.

A Bible Thought For Today—

But Solomon failed to use it in ordering his own life. Had Solomon paid more attention to morals rather than seeking power, his kingdom would not have been divided under his son. "God gave Solomon wisdom and understanding." — 1 Kings 4:29.

Ike Didn't Sweep The Field, But He Didn't Loose Friends, Either

Dwight Eisenhower, late a general of the Army and now a private individual offering for the Republican nomination as President, came out sparring in his Abilene, Kans., homecoming speech.

To those who expected something potent and withering, the address proved about as tough as a bowl full of clabber. To those who expected him to make a mild entry into the political arena pending opportunity to get his bearings, the address appeared to fill the bill.

One critic observed that Ike seemed to have taken a firm stand for "God, home and mother." This perhaps is a little severe, but it does point to besetting generalities in which most of the talk was couched carefully. Ike did do two things in the address, both to identify him with thoughts of a Republican standard bearer. One was to take up the charge of graft and corruption in government, and the other, which he said produced the first, the need for uprooting an administration too long entrenched. Practically all Republicans and a lot of other people would concur.

If this was his one-two punch, it was the only significant flurry landed. The other were light jabs against inflation (as if who isn't) against disunity; against mystery in foreign affairs. It would be easy to be too harsh in appraising the talk as largely innocuous. After all, Eisenhower has too much at stake to come out of his corner flailing wildly for a quick nomination knockout. He's entitled to do a little sparring to feel out the situation as well as the opposition. In dealing with a veteran of the political ring such as Bob Taft, he will be maneuvered into a corner soon enough. Then he will have to punch his way out or be clubbed down.

Meantime, it's well to note that while Mr. Eisenhower may not have gathered new supporters in by the millions in his opening address, he didn't make anybody mad either. And in politics, that's not exactly a liability.

In Periods Of Sustained Tension Someone Might Make A Mistake

In Look magazine Bertrand Russell, the English philosopher, expresses a thought that must be in the minds of millions of ordinary people.

"When there is a tense situation, as there is today, anybody making a mistake can bring a war on, and you can't hope that people will go on year after year not making a mistake," Lord Russell writes.

World tension waxes and wanes, but it shows no sign of subsiding. Just now it is building up to another climax in Korea and in Berlin. If any American can find any comfort in the fact that our own political front becomes more and more cautious, that the country is in the grip of a steel strike that deprives it hourly of warplanes, tanks and other defense items, he must be incurably optimistic.

The Russians in Berlin have been putting on the screws ever since it became apparent the West would sign a peace treaty with Western Germany. Since the actual signing the Communists have increased the tempo of their retaliatory activities almost daily.

The West is resisting as well as it can. Secretary of State Acheson warned Russia

Monday night that the United States intends to "maintain our full rights in Berlin." To back up this verbal warning with action, the British surrounded a radio station in their sector of West Berlin which the Russians had been using for years, in retaliation for Red seizure of similar little British islands in the Russian zone.

In Korea the truce efforts have all but broken down completely, and the problem of managing the Red POW compounds continues unabated.

Things cannot go on this way indefinitely. Sooner or later someone will "make a mistake," and the fat will be in the fire.

Our main hope for peace is to convince Russia that all our strength and determination will be exerted in maintaining it. The Russians are shrewd as well as ruthless. It is pretty hard to convince them that we mean business when we let our principal defense industry lie idle. It is hard to convince them when reasonable public figures disagree loudly over trivialities, and the whole country gives the impression that it is hopelessly and helplessly divided. It isn't, of course, but on other occasions the Kaiser, Der Fuehrer and Tojo thought it was, and struck.

Justice Hugo Black Once Was Opposed By The Steel Companies

(ED. NOTE—The brass ring, good for one free ride on the Washington Merry-Go-Round, today goes to Justice Hugo Black of the Supreme Court.)

WASHINGTON.—There were some strange paradoxes about the fact that Justice Hugo Black handed down the Supreme Court's historic majority opinion turning the steel mills back to private operation.

PARADOX NO. 1 and the strangest of all was the fact that the steel industry did its best to prevent Black from taking his seat on the Supreme Court when he was first appointed in 1937.

At that time, Frank Prince, a noted private detective, employed by Republic Steel, dug up Black's record as a former member of the Ku Klux Klan and turned it over to Ray Sprigle of the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette and other newspapers. Sprigle was awarded the Pulitzer Prize for the expose.

The reverberations which followed caused Black to be challenged regarding his fitness to sit on the bench, causing Chief Justice Hughes to withhold the customary note of congratulations and caused a storm of press criticism led by Scripps-Howard, plus others which now sing Black's praises.

The new Supreme Court justice was hounded by the press upon his return from Europe. The Alabama klansman, R. P. Day, who supplied the affidavits exposing Black, fell under a train and was killed the day after the expose. And various corporation lawyers planned to challenge Black's right to sit on their cases.

PARADOX NO. 2 is the fact that behind big business opposition to Black's appointment was his vigorous pro-labor record as a senator. Yet in contrast to his earlier record in the Senate, Black has now written an opinion generally criticized by labor.

As a senator from Alabama, a conservative, agricultural state, Hugo Black might well have been anti-labor. Instead, he look on one of the most courageous and thankless jobs in the Senate, the sponsorship of the wage-hour regulation bill. His colleague, the late Senator Bankhead was opposed, as were many Southern senators. Despite this, and despite threats to defeat him at the next election, Black pushed the wage-hour bill through the Senate.

It was one of the most outstanding personal triumphs of the New Deal legislative program. No wonder the steel industry and big business raised their hands in horror when they read of his appointment to the Supreme Court.

PARADOX NO. 3 is the editorial praise Black is receiving this week from some of the newspapers he once battled. As a member of the Senate, Black got to know the late Tom Walsh of Montana, who unearthed the Teapot Dome scandal. Following in his footsteps, Black jaunted a probe of Merchant Marine subsidies which saved the taxpayers millions and which General Accounting Watchdog Lindsay Warren would like to see duplicated today.

He also delved into airmail contracts with an expose that rocked the country. And in the course of it he subpoenaed the records of certain newspapers.

At this the sparks really flew. Black was denounced from stem to stern. He was called a demagogue, a dangerous radical, the most unscrupulous member of the Senate—all by some of the same editors who this week sang his praises.

The truth about Hugo Black is that he is a man of great courage, great human understanding, and of great determination to call the legal shots as he sees them no matter whose toes he steps on.

Justice Black has a long memory. And when he handed down his decision on Monday restoring the steel mills to Republic Steel and others, he did not forget the 1937 attempts by a detective for Republic Steel to smear his reputation and ruin him for life.

But Black does not have a vindictive memory. And when he wrote that opinion he was thinking of what he thought was the best course for his country, not for himself.

Although Black was not appointed to the court by Harry Truman, it happens that he has a high personal regard for most of the ideals toward which the President is striving. But in writing his opinion, he was thinking not of personalities nor of any one President, but of the future power of all Presidents.

Opposition to too much power long has been one of the guiding motives of Black's life. When he was elected prosecutor of Jefferson County, Alabama, as a young man, the first thing he did was to end the practice of collecting "petty fees" from those arrested for minor offenses.

Union, Steel Industry Not Far Apart When The Conferences Were Put Off

What this country needs is a Secretary of Face-Saving. Everybody concerned in the steel dispute—President Truman, Philip Murray, and the heads of the steel companies—have got elongated faces. Murray, backed by President Truman, has declared that nothing but the whole 26-cent-an-hour Wage Stabilization Board package is acceptable to him. So a face-saver must make it seem that Murray, if he takes less, gets more.

And the industry has declared it would not stomach the union shop, recommended by WSB, nor would it accept the WSB package without a substantial price increase. The $3-a-ton allowance under the Caphart formula was not enough. Here the face saver must make it seem that the industry, if it grants more, gives less.

The story now going around Washington is that all this face-saving would have been unnecessary if the Supreme Court hadn't intervened on Saturday, May 3. At the time, the story has it, the dispute was within a half-hour of settlement. Truman had representatives of the union and the industry at the White House. He told them they'd have to settle by Monday morning or else he would "fix terms and conditions of employment" which wouldn't be satisfactory to either side.

Confronted with that ultimatum, negotiators got down to cases. Then the Supreme Court stayed the government, and the heat was off. The major issues were:

1. Union Shop: Murray continued to insist that all workers—old and new—belong to the union. The industry balked, declaring compulsory membership undemocratic and un-American.
2. Wages, Length of Contract, and Retroactivity: As against the WSB recommendation of a 12 1/2-cent-an-hour wage increase retroactive to January 1, another 2 1/2 cents on July 1, and another 2 1/2 cents on January 1, 1953, the industry had proposed a straight 12 1/2-cent boost, retroactive only to March 1. This was on a one-year contract.
3. Sunday Pay: The industry had conceded all fringes recommended by WSB except time-and-a-quarter pay for Sunday work.

The industry's offer had been made in New York when Wage Stabilization Board Chairman Nathan P. Feinsinger was serving as mediator. It came to 17.6 cents an hour compared with WSB's recommendations of 26 cents for a one and one-half year contract.

On a one-year contract, the company and the union were approximately this far apart:

- Wages—2 1/2 cents an hour. (Of this, only 1 1/4 cents would have been effective for the full year 1952.)
- Fringes—3 1/4 cents an hour. Retroactivity—Two months.

The union and the industry were even closer together three weeks later at the White House. Negotiators hadn't entirely disposed of wages and Sunday pay, but they felt that if they could settle the union shop, other things would fall into place. And they were talking union shop! That's still the hot-under-the-collar issue. General Motors, which once wouldn't budge on the union shop, may serve as a model. It has a modified union shop, which doesn't change the status of workers already employed. Employees, not members of the union, don't have to join. New employees do. But, if they don't want to remain in the union, after a one-year trial period, they can get out. That avoids the charge of compulsory unionism. Face-saving, incidentally, started Wednesday, when President Handymen John R. Steelman asked company and union representatives once again to the White House. Thus, neither side had to make the first overture. As for saving Truman's face, any settlement will do that. An agreement will save him from going to Congress for seizure legislation.

Ike 'Counter-Attacked' In Answering Press Queries

NEW YORK, June 6 (AP)—He didn't seem like the same man. Millions of Americans must have felt that way as they watched the startling contrast in Dwight D. Eisenhower's first two major television appearances as a political figure.

There was high drama between the two events and those who viewed them both will long remember them. One saw a retiring general at his best. The other saw Ike at his worst.

Everything conspired against Eisenhower in the delivery of his opening address, read from a prepared text in the rain to a drenched hometown Kansas throng. It was a visual dud, a picnic that failed to come off, a letdown after long months of planning.

Eisenhower fought hard, but this man who had led millions was now a one-man army on a sodden plain. The bad lighting made him look years older—and tired. The wind whipped thinning hairs across his balding top.

He spoke vigorously, squinting at his text through heavy G. I. glasses. But there were no verbal bombs in his speech. The applause was scattering, sometimes ill-timed.

Eisenhower glanced about uncertainly. He hunched deeper into his raincoat. He read grudgingly. The flags at his back hung limply. A local character wandered back and forth behind him, pausing now and then to say "Hi" and clap his hands.

What was wrong? Eisenhower's stubborn face had lost its famous grin. It wore instead the weary dignity of an infantryman on a long march. But there was no dignity in the situation around him. Rain had wrecked his opening battle.

When he ended an Eisenhower supporter, watching him via video in a Long Island home, turned off his set and said sadly:

"Oh, he's lost it, he's lost it. The weather ruined him. Eisenhower himself may have gone to bed figuring he had hardly cut down the distance between him and the presidency. But any good soldier is an all-weather campaigner.

The next day he made a major counterattack. In a well-lit local theater Eisenhower faced hundreds of newsmen and let them pitch questions at him by the dozens about his candidacy. He batted the answers back like table tennis balls.

Ike looked like Ike, he acted like the old, self-confident Ike. He looked trim and fit in a gray suit that fitted him as well as his uniform.

This was what he liked—thinking fast on his feet. He laughed gently, soon had the newsmen joining in, sometimes applauding his quick extemporaneous answers.

He was completely at ease. He shrugged, tugged at one ear, rocked back and forth on his feet, threw out his hands in forceful emphatic gestures.

"My passion is the public interest," he said at one point. He was never at a loss for words. He used "sky-hooting" to describe rising costs, said Americans were living "on a high plateau of tension."

At the close, asked "how do you like this routine?" he grinned, then said earnestly:

"When I put my hand to any plow, I know only one rule—to work as hard as you possibly can. . . . I don't want to lie to you and say I love all this. I do say that I am in it now with heart and soul. . . ."

In all in, the Eisenhower debut provided the political world with two lessons:

- (1) If a candidate wants to look well on television, he'd better get in out of the rain.
- Ike bounces back fast.

Dial Toll Service For Distant Calls Due To Save Phoner Time

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald.—Editor's Note.

The public may be several years ahead of engineers on the inter-city dial telephone program.

I, for one, have had the wrong impression about the possibility of lifting a receiver and dialing a friend in Dallas, May, or Atlanta or Los Angeles. I thought you could do it in places where they offer the long distance dial service.

That's the wrong idea, says John Moore, Big Spring manager for Southwestern Bell Telephone Company. The process is not quite that simple, though the toll dial service now offered in some places is a big improvement over the old system of customer - here-to-operator - here-to-operator-then - to recipient of the call.

The way you do it, says Moore, is dial your local operator, tell her the number you want in the distant city, and she completes your call simply by dialing the number in Dallas, Atlanta, LA, or wherever.

Big Spring will become a part of Southwestern Bell's toll dial system when the telephone expansion now under way is completed—a year or more in the future, officials announced this week. This type of long distance service has proved highly successful in other cities—Midland and Odessa in this area.

It affords long distance talkers with a considerable saving in time, not to mention the wear and tear on nerves and dislocations, occasioned by sweating out a call placed 15 minutes or an hour before. The wear and tear now is probably on operators who still are faced with the problem of locating an idle line between their station and the number they want to dial.

Misinformation on the technique of "dialing" a party in some other city probably is due publicly given a pilot project of Bell System.

The company actually has an experimental set-up in Englewood, N. J., where it is possible to dial, on any telephone, the desired party in other localities. Equipment involved in such an operation approaches the "electronic brain" category. Instruments automatically record the time of the call, its duration, point to which made, etc. Then the machines warm up and bill the patron for his freedom with the dials, including tax.

It probably won't be too long before such service is the accepted standard, but communications engineers have a few adjustments to make before ordering the super-dial systems for every telephone exchange in the country. While they tune up, Big Springers can look forward to dialing a number in the next block sometime next summer.

Taft-Ike Fight Dramatized By Clash In Two Sections Of U. S.

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J.—The great struggle between the Eisenhower and Taft forces is nowhere better dramatized than in the sharp sectional difference of attitude found today toward the two rival candidates.

If a national presidential primary were held, Eisenhower would come out ahead, judging by the Institute's polls among Republican voters.

But in the two sections which form the ballot stronghold of the Republican party, there is one of the sharpest splits of opinion ever found among Republicans in the pre-convention period of election years.

The two sections are the Middle Atlantic states (New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland and West Virginia) and the East Central states (Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan).

These two sections alone accounted for more than one-half of all the votes the Republicans got in the last presidential election, and they will send 450 delegates to the Republican convention in July.

When Institute interviewers asked Republican voters in the two areas what man they would like to see nominated, they found that:

- 1—Eisenhower leads Taft 5-to-3 in the Middle Atlantic states, but 5-to-1 in the East Central states. It's just the reverse—Taft runs ahead of Eisenhower by about the same 5-to-3 ratio.

Here are the figures:

"Here is a list of men who have been mentioned as possible presidential candidates this year for the Republican party. Which ONE would you like to see nominated as the Republican candidate for President?"

Together the two sections cast 11 1/2 million votes for the Republican party in 1948, out of approximately 22 million in the nation.

Among Republican voters throughout the nation the latest candidate standings, as reported earlier in the week, are:

Whereas Republicans in the Middle Atlantic and East Central areas take such opposite views of Taft and Eisenhower, voters in the two sections who classify give the nod to General Ike, as follows:

CAIRO, Ill. (AP)—The Rev. J. R. Williams read the silent 21-year-old's written story and was touched. He gave the youth food, clothing and shelter.

Later in church, the silent one sat sadly but brightened as $7 jingled into a special collection to send him on his way. One benefactor saw a knife sheathed under the youth's coat. Quiet investigation disclosed it had been purchased nearby by the youth who had asked for it out loud.

Further checking resulted in sending the now fast-talking one back to prison for parole violation.

Walking Twigs Really Insects

If you saw a small stick or twig suddenly stand up and walk away, you might wonder whether you still had your right mind.

That very thing may seem to happen before your very eyes one of these days. Perhaps such an event will take place this summer!

In that case you really will be seeing an insect doing the walking. In many parts of this continent, from Southern Canada, to the republic of Panama, there are walking sticks. They also exist in South America.

When fully grown, a walking stick has a long, thin body with a length of several inches. We are most likely to see those which are three or four inches long, but in the Torrid Zone there are walking sticks with bodies 10 or 11 inches in length! These insects also go under such names as stick insects and twig insects. They are better known, however, as walking sticks. Like other insects, a walking stick has six legs. One leg may be lost when it is bitten, or broken off in some other way. Then a new leg grows out in place of the old one.

Walking sticks lay small round eggs which are left on the ground under leaves. These may hatch in a few months, or they may lie on the ground more than a year before hatching.

A young walking stick of the type most common in the North Temperate Zone has a green body. This matches green grass and green leaves. As summer goes on, the insect grows and its body changes color. At length it is brown or gray, keeping up with changes in plant coloring.

Walking sticks never bite people. They feed only on leaves and other plant material. One kind in southern Florida has wings, and the Torrid Zone has other kinds with the power of flight.

Odessa Oilers Here For Three Contests

Double Header Set Tonight

Fresh from a series win over the Midland Indians, the Big Spring Broncs head into a three-game set with the pace setting Odessa Oilers at Steer Park this evening.

The two teams get together in a double-bill this evening. There'll be two seven-inning contests, the first of which begins at 7 p.m. Odessa owes the Broncs two games. Two engagements in the Oilers' last stand were rained out, after the Broncs had won the first game behind the sterling one-hit elbowing of Bert Estrada. Young Charles Ratliff may get the call in one of the games tonight. Odessa seems more vulnerable to left-handed pitching, what with their power concentrated among wronghanders. Ratliff has been attending Texas Tech. He got in a game against Odessa but couldn't find the plate.

Chances are Estrada will toe the slab in one of the games, though there's a chance Aramis Arencibia will be in there. To entertain proceedings, Happy Frank McKeown, an armless operative who has been an inspiration to handicapped people the world over, will be on hand. McKeown, always in good humor, will entertain the folks between games. He does a variety of tricks, despite the fact that most of both arms are missing. McKeown is only recently recovered from a serious automobile accident and is back at the trade he loves best, entertaining sports crowds.

Texas City Out Of Loop Cellar

By The Associated Press
Texas City got out of last place in the Gulf Coast League Thursday night with a 9-8 triumph over Lake Charles.

Corpus Christi, which stayed in the depths until Tuesday, was off on a spree, winning its ninth of the last 14 games with a 10-0 seven-inning shutout of first place Laredo. Galveston copped its fifth straight by slamming Port Arthur 12-6 and Harlingen took over third place, besting Brownsville 7-2 and breaking up the tie between them.

Raiders Boast Top Athletic Mark In BC

LUBBOCK.—Texas Tech, on the basis of official Border Conference competition, had the most powerful all-around sports program in the league during the school year just closed.

By receiving eight points for a first place, seven for a second, etc., the Red Raiders barely edged the University of Arizona in the unofficial tabulations. Tech scored 32 points; Arizona, 31 1/2.

Texas Tech, in DeWitt Weaver's first full year as athletic director, scored a first in football, a second in golf, thirds in basketball and tennis and a fourth in track and field. Arizona took two championships—in tennis and track—but finished third in golf, fourth in football, and in a tie for fourth and fifth in basketball.

Hardin-Simmons University, third in the over-all compilations, with 26 points, gained the only other outright championship, in golf. West Texas State and New Mexico A&M shared the basketball title.

Other all-season scoring included Arizona State at Tempe, 23; Texas Western 19 1/2; New Mexico A&M, 18 1/2; West Texas State, 12 1/2; and Arizona State at Flagstaff, 2.

By sport, places won by each school follow:

Argentine Leads Ardmore Tourney

FIVE-UNDER-PAR 65

By WILBUR JOHNSON

ARDMORE, Okla., June 6 (AP)—A golfing pro from the Argentine led some of this nation's top linksmen into the second round today of the rich Ardmore Open tournament.

D'VICENZO

Roberto de Vincenzo, the hard-driving, accurate putting South American, stuffed $185 into his bill-just for posting a five under par 65 to take over the first place in yesterday's first round.

De Vincenzo racked up six birdies good for $60, and the day's lowest round which was good for another $100 and got $3 for each stroke he was under par for another $25. His effort also sent him off to a good start toward the luscious first prize purse of $5,400—the richest offered on the Professional Golfers Association 1952 Tournament schedule to date.

The wad of cash for the golfers was donated by Mr. and Mrs. Waco Turner, a golf-loving Ardmore couple who is sponsoring this tournament. The original first place money was $2,400, but the Turners upped the ante an additional $3,000 and added bonus awards for birdies, eagles and sub par rounds. The bonus awards alone cost them $1,825 yesterday. They said they wanted to place the Ardmore event at their beloved Dornick Hills Country club course on a higher plane.

The tough par 70 on this hilly layout withstood the challenge of most of the field of 132 players yesterday, but 11 were fortunate enough to better standard figures. Leaving the chase for De Vincenzo was Al Besselink, the young long hitting Chicagoan. Besselink shot a 67—a stroke ahead of Ralph Blomquist of Eagle Rock, Calif., Johnny Palmer of Badin, N. C., and Tommy Bolt of Durham, N. C. Six players still were in a good position to take over the lead after shooting 69s. E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, the veteran Arkansan, who took over the Dornick Hills pro job in March, was in this group, on the strength of a three under par 33 on the back nine. It was the best score on this tough stretch.

The back nine took the starch out of several top notchers after they managed to beat par on the first nine. Ed Oliver, the pudgy Ryder Cupper, was one of the unfortunates. He was out in 32 but needed 40 coming in. Earl Stewart Jr., Dallas, was in the same boat.

The others with a 69 card were Tony Penna, Cincinnati; Skee Riegel, Tulsa; Skip Alexander, St. Petersburg, Fla.; Dick Mayer, St. Petersburg; and Shelley Mayfield, Cedarhurst, N. Y.

Today's round will cut the field to the low sixty scorers for the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday.

Country's Best Athletes In Abilene This Weekend

ABILENE, June 6 (AP)—More than 300 athletes came to town today for the first annual National Intercollegiate Track and Field, Golf and Tennis Meet.

Golf and tennis started this morning, while track preliminaries, bringing competitors from 55 colleges into action, will be tonight. The North Texas State College team, three times national collegiate champions; Hardin-Simmons of Abilene and Western Illinois College are due to battle it out for the golf team title. Remo Crovetto of Western Illinois and Joe Conrad and Don January of North Texas State are expected to scrap for the individual title. Billy Maxwell of North Texas State, the national amateur champion, may not be here for the meet. He has been in England playing in the British amateur.

Sixteen schools have golf entries while 18 have entered tennis. Jim Flynn of the University of Portland and Butch Krikorian of San Jose State are considered the top contenders in tennis.

Track and field features the meet and there are some strong Olympic prospects in that division. Among them are Dick Heber of Arizona State of Tempe, who has pitched the javelin 235 feet this year, and Charles Holding of East Texas State, who has high jumped 6 feet 9 inches.

Texans are expected to dominate track and field with such stars as Holding; Ray Renfro of North Texas State, who has done 100 yards in 9.5, and Hayden Fields of Howard Payne, 20.7 in the 220-yard dash. North Texas State was considered the major contender for the team championship.

The meet lost one star by withdrawal. Earl Putman of Arizona State of Tempe, who has thrown the shot 52 feet 1/2 inch, chose to compete in an AAU meet at Dayton, O. Finals in track and field will be held tomorrow night. Golf and tennis will be finished tomorrow afternoon.

TEXARKANA, Tex., June 6 (AP)—The favorites were in the semifinals of the Texas Women's Golf Tournament today.

Pat Garner of Midland plays Mrs. Ruby Lee Harding of El Paso and Mrs. H. C. Riedel of Dallas meets Mrs. L. M. Keating of Houston. Mrs. Harding struggled 20 holes yesterday in eliminating Mrs. M.W. Morgan of Baytown. Mrs. Harding was five down through 10 holes but she won 11, 12 and 13, they halved 14 and Mrs. Harding won 16 to square the match. Mrs. Riedel beat Mrs. Harry Coffman of Houston 1 and 3, Mrs. Keating eliminated Mrs. Al Mortenson of Houston 4 and 2. Miss Garner turned back Mrs. Ned Stewart of Texarkana 7 and 6.

Frazier Blast Fells Sports

By The Associated Press
Oklahoma City won its fifth straight in the Texas League when Joe Frazier lofted a two-run fourth inning homer against Shreveport that gave the Indians a 3-0 victory Thursday night.

Floyd Wolrdridge homered Houston's only run in, Fort Worth winning the game 4-1. Beaufort rapped Tulsa 6-1. Thus Beaufort and first place Oklahoma City stayed one, two in the race separated only by two percentage points.

Sherman Awarded Semi-Pro Meet

WICHITA, Kan., June 6 (AP)—Sherman, Tex., today was awarded one of the sanctioned district championship baseball tournaments to qualify champions further in the program to determine the 1952 Texas state title for non-professional clubs, the national baseball congress announced.

Garland D. Collett of Gainesville was name district commissioner to supervise the event, his appointment having previously been approved by Jerry Felle, N.B.C. Texas state commissioner.

The district tournament in Sherman is scheduled to start June 24. Congress President Ray Dumont announced.

Sixteen district tournaments are to be franchised throughout Texas to qualify champions into the two divisional state tournaments in Fredericksburg starting July 10, and at Texarkana starting July 26. The Texas champions will qualify into the 18th annual national tournament at Wichita, starting Aug. 15, with the winner representing the U. S. in the second annual inter-hemispheric series in Tokyo, starting Sept. 14, an all-expense paid $50,000 trip.

George Ford, University of New Hampshire basketball forward, wore jersey number 44 and connected for 44 per cent of his shots during the season.

Young Alvin King is filling the bill as shortstop for the Big Spring Giants this season. Only 16, he'll be in there when the locals go against Stamford here Sunday afternoon.

It Proves Hard To Please Fish On Coast Sometimes

AUSTIN.—Seems it's pretty hard to please the fish. One week the water is too muddy. The next week it is too clear. Anyway, that is the story that comes from the coast this week.

worthy again. The process is a simple one, which almost any energetic boy can do in a few hours time.

Coastal fishing has taken a big spurt this year, perhaps because so many good catches, particularly of trout and mackerel have been taken. Last week end it looked like at least half the fishermen in Texas were on the highways bound for the coast.

There's another one of those crazy fishing tackle sales on in Texas again where equipment that can't be bought wholesale from the manufacturer is being sold by retailers at below wholesale prices.

We were in a store in Austin this week when the dealer got in a short shipment of a good quality reel. Out of curiosity we checked his wholesale price. It was several cents more than we had seen this same reel sold for in both Houston and Waco less advertised glass rods for less than a week before.

One Houston dealer this week advertised glass rods for less than $2 each, which was less than it cost to produce the rod. And in all this fighting the fishermen are getting the best of the deal.

It's hard on the retailers, however, especially those who are buying from the same wholesale houses that own the price cutting stores.

BEATS CHARLES AGAIN

Walcott May Meet Marciano Or Matthews In Title Go

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A million dollar shot with either undefeated Rocky Marciano or Harry (Kid) Matthews appeared to be the next move ahead for fabulous Jersey Joe Walcott today as he celebrated his second straight victory over Ezzard Charles.

Midnight almost struck for the 38-year-old Cinderella man of the ring but he came on with a mild rally in the last round of a tame fight to win by the narrowest of margins in mammoth Municipal Stadium last night.

Old Jersey, making the first defense of the crown he knocked from Charles' brow last July, thought he won by a wide margin. He was happy about the whole thing, dull though it was.

"This ought to show them that I didn't win the first time by a lucky punch," said Walcott. "I hope this settles the matter."

While the once poverty-stricken Negro accepted congratulations from a mob of well wishers, Manager Felix Boicchio began casting lines to net a golden catch for his amazing oddities.

Promoter Jim Norris of the International Boxing Club offered Walcott the choice of either Marciano, the Brockton, Mass., belter, or Matthews, the sensational Seattle contender, for another championship show in September.

This seemed to indicate that the proposed Marciano - Matthews match for New York in July won't come off unless Walcott turns down a match right off with either.

Marciano and Matthews are tremendous attractions and both Norris and Boicchio believe that a bout with either would bring in over a million dollars, television included.

Boicchio, however, declined to commit himself immediately. "We'll fight anyone anywhere we can get the most money," he said.

"Up to now we haven't made a dime. Maybe now that the people are convinced that Walcott is a real champion and not just a lucky old man, we'll be able to make this thing pay off."

The wheel of fortune has turned all the way for Walcott now. The muscular campaigner, who came off the relief roles to make his amazing comeback, held on to his title by capturing the last round on the score cards of two officials.

It was back in 1947 that a losing last round cost Jersey Joe the title in his first fight with Joe Louis in Madison Square Garden.

Judges Buck McTernan and Pete Tomasco scored the 15th for Walcott. That meant the difference and a unanimous decision. McTernan, who refereed the Pittsburgh fight between the two, voted for Walcott, 8-7. Tomasco had Joe ahead, 7-4-2.

Charles the last round but voted for Walcott, 9 to 6. The Associated Press scorecard had Charles in front, 7-6-2.

Boxing writers were divided on the decision. An AP poll at ringside showed 21 critics had Charles ahead to 18 for Walcott. Two more had the fight even.

Charles said his weight 191½ pounds—heaviest of his career—was all right and didn't hurt him. He was five pounds lighter than Walcott.

There were no knockdowns in the bout and nothing close to one. Several times Walcott appeared to have jarred Ezzard and on a couple of occasions Charles seemed to have hurt the champion. But neither could follow up any advantage.

Charles, an 11-5 favorite, suffered a cut over his right eye which required three stitches and bruises around the other eye. Walcott bled slightly from the nose in the closing rounds.

Both Walcott and Charles said there would be no fifth fight between them.

The bout, broadcast and telecast coast to coast, attracted a crowd of 21,599 and a gross gate of $210,313. Another $175,000 was added by the television-radio money.

From the total, Charles and Walcott each netted about $92,000 on their 30-30 split.

Oilers And Tribe In Clash Today

The week's activity in Little League play will be wound up today in a game between the Oilers and the Indians at 5:30 p.m.

In games this week, the Gold Sox lost to the Oilers, 6-5, on Tuesday and the Indians trampled the Yankees, 11-7, Wednesday.

Jerry White of the Oilers and Julius Glickman wound up in a mound duel in the Tuesday battle. White gave the Sox only four hits.

George Peacock paced the Indians to victory, getting a triple and a double. Rickie Terry hit a three-run homer for the Tribe in the fourth to make the pitching job easier for Jimmy Marin.

Yanks Sail Along Behind Superlative Mound Work

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Yankees are collecting "double indemnity" on Johnny Sain, 33-year-old tobacco chewing righthander from Arkansas.

Sain was purchased for $50,000 from the Boston Braves last year as "pen and ink insurance." Old Johnny paid off, winning two games for the world champions.

The veteran curve ball artist didn't figure highly in Yankee plans this year. Many thought that Sain would draw his release before the season started but John has fooled them all.

Sain was pressed into action early when two members of the big three, Ed Lopat and Vic Raschi bogged down because of ailments. He has won five games, the same number he posted for the Braves in 13 decisions prior to his sale to the Yanks. Only Allie Reynolds has won more, six.

The old war horse, who broke into the majors with the Braves in 1942 under his current boss, Casey Stengel, pitched and helped bat the Yanks to a 6-4 triumph over the Chicago White Sox yesterday.

Sain's margin of victory would have been greater but he was no one to blame but himself for the close call. The new Yankee ac-committed two errors in the second inning that led to three unearned Chicago runs.

JOHNNY SAIN

The Yanks came right back with three in their half to tie the score and won out in the fifth with three more. Sain, who won a game early in the week with a pinch-hit single, drove home the first two runs.

Hank Bauer tripled home the third. Loose fielding by shortstop Chico Carrasquel figured in the rally. Carrasquel permitted a pop fly to drop for a hit, was slow in picking it up and later made a delayed throw to the plate after taking a relay from the outfield. Carrasquel accounted for three of Chicago's seven hits, pounding out a single, double and homer.

It was the Yanks' seventh straight over Chicago and it moved them to within 1 1/2 games of the front-running Cleveland Indians.

Early Wynn soft-balled the Indians to a 3-0 four-hit verdict over the Boston Red Sox who started the game in first place by three percentage points. Errors by Vern Stephens and George Kell handed the Indians four unearned runs and ruined a fine pitching job by Ellis Kinder.

The Detroit Tigers swamped the Athletics, 12-2, in a night game at Philadelphia. Home runs by Gerry Priddy and Walt Dropo featured the attack that permitted Marlin Stuart to coast to victory. The loss ended the A's five game winning streak and dropped them three games behind fourth place Washington. The Senators and St. Louis Browns were idle.

Brooklyn stretched its National League lead to three games, downing the last place Pittsburgh Pirates, 2-0, while the runner-up New York Giants dropped a 3-1 decision to the frisky Chicago Cubs.

Big Ben Wade limited the Pirates to five hits, walked five and fanned six in hurling his first major league shutout. The Dodgers collected only six hits but made the most of 15 walks in beating the Pirates for the eighth straight time. The Brooks broke a scoreless tie in the seventh, scoring once on two walks and two singles. Gil Hodges doubled home Jackie Robinson with the final run in the ninth.

Ed Miksts clouted a two-run two-out homer in the seventh to beat the Giants. The blow broke a 1-1 tie and gave Paul Minner the first victory of his career over the New Yorkers who had beaten him seven straight times. Lefty Dave Kosio was the loser.

In other National League games the Cincinnati Reds checked the Philadelphia Phillies, 5-3, and the Boston Braves smeared the Cards, 8-3, under the lights at St. Louis. The Reds piled up a 5-1 advantage in three innings to allow Harry Perkowski to breeze to his fifth triumph. Poor fielding by outfielder Johnny Wyrostek, a former Red, set up a pair of two-run rallies.

Lefty Warren Spahn had no trouble racking up his fifth straight victory. The Braves clouted Johnny Yuhas and Joe Preske for seven runs in the first inning. Sid Gordon featured the rally with a three-run homer.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Here it is the first week in June and no manager in the Longhorn League has yet lost his job.

Last year, at this hour, two of the straw bosses had taken employment elsewhere, with more destined to part company with their employers.

If the close race for first division berths continues, there's a chance every one could be in there at the finish. The clubs with thin talent will begin to fall away in the next few weeks, though.

Yep, here it is the week in June and Big Spring's Witty Quintana has already hit more home runs than he authored throughout the 1951 season.

He got his fifth against Odessa last Saturday night. Last season, he had but four, all told.

STASEY STORY, WITH AMENDED VERSION

Beatrice Stasey, wife of the Big Spring baseball manager, is looking for Jake Morgan. Jake's memory is somewhat rusty. So says Mrs. Stasey.

In a recent letter to this corner, Morgan gave a version of how Pat got his nickname. Morgan's story was that Stasey came here with a lad named Mike Sherrod and, since Pat's name wasn't known, the fellows started calling him Pat, influenced by the principals of folk lore, "Pat And Mike."

According to Beatrice, Jake was on the right track but got the story exactly opposite of the way it should have been. Stasey had his moniker when he arrived, but no one knew Sherrod's first name (which was Jesse), so his associates started calling him "Mike." Pat, according to his wife, has carried that name around since he was a moppet.

That Joe Tepsic, Brooklyn's $15,000 bonus ball player mentioned here before, has quit the game.

Tepsic is the young fellow who balked at being farmed out by the Bums a few years ago. He wound up playing with Harlingen last season. When Denver gave up on him this season and told him he was to be returned to Harlingen, Joe decided to hang up his spikes.

Eddie Stevens, who played a lot of baseball for the Big Spring WY-NM Club back in 1941, hit a grand slam home run for Toronto recently.

Within a day or two, the hurler who delivered up the gopher pitch to him, Dave Cyprus, was farmed out.

Serv Capatillo, who has been playing an infield spot for San Angelo, is the same lad who was with Del Rio when that city was in the Longhorn League back in 1947.

Capatillo and Bob Garza, the Angelo hurler, played ball together in Mexico last winter.

The outlook for professional baseball at Vernon continues poor.

The fans simply haven't warmed to the game, even with the arrival of hot weather. A $20,000 kitty raised by loyal townspeople may see the team through this year.

Manager Chet Fowler is doing a Grade-A job with the implements at hand but the club owners in the larger cities may have killed the goose that laid the golden egg when they upped the vet limit at a winter meeting. The cost of running a ball club is going up all the time and hiring higher priced players is no way to pay expenses.

Ben Hogan To Get His Dues In Monday Party At Dallas

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS, June 6 (AP)—Ben Hogan, the little king of golf, is going to get a post-due honor here Monday night. He's going to be enshrined in the Texas Sports Hall of Fame.

Voted into the hall by the Texas Sports Writers Association as an athlete who brought lasting fame and honor to Texas, Hogan will receive a plaque from the man who first gained a niche in the hall—Tris Speaker, the famed grey eagle of the major leagues.

Speaker was inducted last year as bigwig of sport in the nation crowded the banquet room. It was during the National Collegiate Athletic Association in Dallas.

Hogan will have many of the greats of sport in the audience here Monday night. It will be the week of the National Open Golf Tournament in Dallas when Hogan will seek to repeat with the championship.

Golfers Jack Burke, Jimmy Demaret, Cary Middlecoff, Lloyd Mangrum and Tommy Bolt; Band Leader Phil Harris and his wife, Actress Alice Faye; All-America football players Doak Walker and John Kimbrough; Coach Jimmy Phelan of the Dallas club in professional football, and many other notables will be guests at the dinner.

Hogan is the Texan who won about every championship golf has to offer; who recovered from critical injuries in a bus-car accident to win the National Open title twice, and who next week will be seeking to do what no other golfer ever did—win the National Open in four consecutive appearances in this world's series of the links.

Kiwanians Plan For Ball Game Against Rotary

Thursday's Kiwanis Club luncheon meeting in the Settles was devoted to plans for the Rotary-Kiwanis baseball game next Tuesday and ticket sales for the community party for Webb Air Force Base, which is set for June 20.

W. D. Berry, who is in charge of business affairs for the Kiwanis baseball team reported that a special sale of tickets would be conducted at Steer Park on Saturday night. At the same time, Field Manager Raymond Tollett said he was preparing his starting line-up which he will send against the Rotary aggregation Tuesday night. Tollett and Manley Cook, Rotary team manager, were due to confer on eligibility rules.

Lloyd Wooten, membership and projects secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, told club members about plans for the community party for Airmen and their families. While there Wooten sold 325 tickets to the event.

CURTIS CUPPERS OPEN PLAY IN SCOTLAND

MUIRFIELD, Scotland, June 6 (AP)—America's Curtis Cup golf team teed off today against its British rivals in the seventh revival of the women's international competition, one which the United States ladies never have lost.

"Our girls are all ready," said Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite of Fort Worth, Tex., the non-playing captain, as six of her young charges prepared for the two-ball foursome matches that launch the two-day competition.

The girls play three matches of 36 holes each today and six singles, again at 36 holes tomorrow. At the end of today's play, both captains will announce their selections for the singles.

The American girls, who are believed to be the youngest ever to take part in Curtis Cup play—their average age is 25—are favored by most observers to take the cup across the Atlantic.

MAXWELL DRAWS TOURNEY BYE

PARIS, June 6 (AP)—Six American golfers advanced through the first round of the French amateur golf championships today to join ten others who had drawn byes.

Most impressive victories were turned in by Bill Shields of Albany, N. Y., Joe Bernolfo of Salt Lake City and Jack Penrose of Miami Beach, Fla. Each won by a 5 and 4 margin.

Also advancing were Hobart Manley of Savannah, Ga.; Ed Lowery of San Francisco, and Ted Bassett of Mamaroneck, N. Y.

Among those who drew first round byes was Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., the American Amateur champion.

Taft Approves Compromise Of Contested Delegations

By JACK BELL.
INDIANAPOLIS, June 6 (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) said today he is willing to compromise "on a fair basis" contested delegations to the Republican national convention.

Taft, here to meet with delegates to be chosen for Indiana in meetings tonight and tomorrow, told a news conference he would like to avoid a fight before the credentials committee of the Chicago convention if compromises could be reached.

Several contests are in prospect, including those involving Texas' 38 delegates, Louisiana's 16, Mississippi's five and Georgia's 17, among others.

Taft was asked specifically about the fight in Texas, where Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge of Mass., campaign manager for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, contended the delegation has been "stolen" from the general by refusal of state organization leaders to seat Eisenhower delegates.

Observing that both sides contended they had elected delegations according to law, Taft said he believes the contest would be settled by the national convention on a basis of "fairness and justice."

Eisenhower adherents in Texas held their own rump state convention. He would not say, however, he regards an equal division of the disputed delegates as a fair compromise.

Taft indicated his forces intend to stand on the national convention platform and that contests can affect the status of delegates chosen at large and not delegates chosen in districts. This would narrow considerably the number involved. Taft sympathizers apparently control the machinery of the national convention. The Ohio senator declined to comment directly on statements made by Eisenhower at a homecoming news conference in Abilene, Kas. however, Taft said he was glad to note that Eisenhower had endorsed in principle a Feb. 6, 1950, statement of Republican policy which the Ohio senator had a major hand in shaping.

"I was pleased to note that General Eisenhower apparently approves the philosophy of our slogan of 'Liberty against Socialism' for the campaign," Taft said. "Sen. Lodge opposed adopting any such slogan."

Farm Bill Up In Senate Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—A farm bill carrying about $1,300,000,000 for the government's agricultural activities came up for probable Senate approval today.

Some efforts may be made to cut out a few million dollars but in the past these have failed. Committee reports to the Senate and House list new cash outlays of only 731 and 724 million dollars respectively, for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Actually, however, the bill carries almost double that amount. Biggest item under the regular activities and new cash section of the bill is more than 420 million for the production marketing administration.

Of this more than 251 millions would be paid to farmers participating in the "conservation and use of agricultural land resources," commonly known as farm benefits payments.

Polio Doubled In Texas This Year
AUSTIN, June 6 (AP)—Polio has more than doubled in Texas so far this year, the State Department of Health reported today.

Incidence through May 31 this year was 578. Through June 2 last year it totaled 208 cases.

For the week ended May 31, however, incidence of polio was reported as normal with 33 new cases. There were 33 new cases for the corresponding week a year ago.

The State Health Department report released today did not show any cases from Lavaca County. Yesterday County Health Officer C. T. Buffner of Hallettsville said there was an outbreak of 26 cases with two deaths in Lavaca County.

Warm Day Is Seen Over Most Of U.S.
By The Associated Press
Another warm day was the outlook for most of the country today, duplicating yesterday's mid-summer weather.

It was hot and humid over wide areas of the country yesterday with temperatures in the 90s from Texas northward into North Dakota. They were above 100 in parts of Texas and the far Southwest.

Today's lowest readings were in the Northeastern states.

Showers and thunderstorms early today hit sections from the South Atlantic states westward to Oklahoma and Texas. Another wet belt extended over Montana and the Northwestern Plateau and Rocky Mountain areas.

Paris Newspaperman Makes Progress In Campaign To Get Better Seed For Farmers

By FRANKLIN REYNOLDS
A. G. Pat Mayse, publisher of the Paris News, a newspaper in the same group as the Big Spring Daily Herald, feels progress is being made in the campaign he initiated to assure Texas farmers and ranchers of being able to get cleaner grass and legume seed of greater fertility.

In opening his campaign, after carefully checking seed that was being sold in Texas, Mayse sent a letter to John C. White, state commissioner of agriculture, calling that official's attention to the fact that "our farmers are being cheated, and that millions of dollars are being spent for seeds that are not pure—that thousands of sacks of seed do not contain" the seed indicated by the "Texas Tested Seed Labels" which bear White's signature.

Mayse called White's attention to the fact that many farmers were buying "these seeds simply because of the confidence they had in that particular label and what it represented to them."

When the Paris newspaperman's letter was made public it aroused many seed dealers, as might have been anticipated, and as Mayse had anticipated. But he was ready. Right off he was able to cite the case of a farmer who bought a sack of seed with the label on it attesting that there were not more than 200 dodder seed to the pound (the legal limit), when in fact a test showed the seed contained 650 dodder seed to the pound, which was discovered after this farmer's Killelespie pastures were infested with it.

Mayse was able to produce another buyer of tall fescue seed who found his pasture was in two kinds of rye grass that constituted one-half of the grass. A test revealed there were also other unwanted seed in the same sack and that this fact was not disclosed by the agriculture commissioner's tag.

As soon as Commissioner White received the letter from Mayse, he got in his car and drove to Paris.

where he went over the situation. A question propounded by Mayse was: "What can Texas do about the big seed dealers who are making millions of dollars by creating in Texas a dumping ground for carry seeds? What rules and regulations do we now have, or need to have, to control firms or individuals who buy, clean and sort seeds and then sell them to innocent buyers who find later that they have been cheated and who have damaged their farm land by planting such seed?"

Mayse says those who are interested in the campaign against inferior and impure seeds are "just beginning to unover the rottenness and that the seed racket does not end with grasses and legumes, but that it goes into the seed potato field and the field of other seeds as well."

The publisher asked White for help, comments and suggestions, and asked the commissioner what help he needed to bring about an improvement in the situation.

They sat down and talked things over, and then White was introduced to and talked with a committee of Paris citizens who had become interested in the situation.

The result of the campaign initiated by Mayse and developed more fully by the Paris conference that followed appears to be that a new law will be introduced in the next Legislature to assure Texas farmers of cleaner seeds of higher germination.

The proposed statute will probably provide there must not be any dodder seed at all in other seed, and that vetch will be more completely in the new pure seed law. It will give inspectors from the Texas Department of Agriculture authority to inspect any warehouses owned or rented by any seed dealer in Texas. Under the present regulations, Mayse points out, it is easy to see that the dealer can be prepared at all times for an inspection at one place, but have other seed stored at other points. Mayse says he and his co-workers for better seed protection for the farmers are more interested in the fountainhead of the seed racket than in punishing a few small dealers, but that the farmers must, of course, be protected from all sources.

Mayse says the State Department must also have a larger staff of inspectors, and states that all farmers, dealers and others with whom he has talked are in favor of raising the price of required tag to raise the money to pay these additional inspectors. The Paris publisher also believes that other Southern states are being imposed upon by seed racketeers as much as Texas, because generally throughout the South the laws appear to be inadequate and because they are inadequate enforcement of them has been inefficient and ineffective.

He believes, too, that at this time the farmers and ranchers should sound out all candidates for legislative posts and find out if they will favor a more effective law with adequate enforcement provisions which will include the employment of enough inspectors to get the job done. Mayse says this department of the state government can very easily be made self-supporting through the sale of the tags which must be attached to each sack of seed.

"The people of Texas are really stirred up over this rotten seed situation," Mayse repeats, "and the legislature can count on 100 per cent co-operation from the farmers and ranchers if they will give us an adequate pure seed law with adequate enforcement facilities."

Taft Thinks Chances Are Better Since Ike's Speech

CINCINNATI (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio believes his chances for the Republican presidential nomination have been improved since Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's speech at Abilene, Kan., Wednesday.

The Ohio senator didn't elaborate but that was the answer he gave to a question put to him last night on a radio broadcast of "Reporters' Roundup."

The senator was questioned during the broadcast by Joseph Sigmaster, associate editor of the Cincinnati Times-Star; Joseph Garretson, Cincinnati Enquirer columnist; and Robert L. Riggs, political writer for the Louisville Courier-Journal.

Discussion of Gen. Eisenhower's speech also brought a statement from Taft that he had the impression the general favors repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act.

"The implication is that he favors the repeal of the act," Taft said. "That seems to be the necessary conclusion."

On the subject of the war in Korea, Sen. Taft said, "I would try to make peace even though it may be an unsatisfactory peace."

Declaring the Korean affair had been "mishandled," Taft said there is "great risk in resuming general war with the Chinese Communists."

The Ohio senator renewed his plea for a strong Air Force which he said was necessary to protect the nation. He said it was "perfectly ridiculous" to send ten billion dollars to aid Europe at the expense of strong Air Force.

Taft added that the United States would be open to air attack from Siberia or across the Arctic even though there was a "wall of men across Europe."

Taft was asked whether he felt the United States would be in "mortal danger" if Europe fell and his reply was:

"It would increase the threat to this country but I would be unwilling to admit the loss of Europe made this country unsafe. I think we still could defend this country."

Ridgway Back At Spot Of 'Chute Landing On D-Day

ON THE NORMANDY BEACHES, France (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway marks the eighth anniversary today of the World War II Normandy invasion with a return to the spot where he parachuted in the D-day spearhead.

Now Supreme Allied Commander in Europe, Ridgway led the 82nd Airborne Division in its leap behind Nazi lines, hours ahead of the invasion waves, to clear some of the way for Allied infantry and armor.

The general's visit — highlight of ceremonies marking the anniversary of the 1944 landings that began the final conquest of Europe from Hitler's army — includes stops along both Utah and Omaha beaches, where the bulk of the American forces came ashore. Ridgway also will visit Sainte Mere Eglise, the first town his airborne troops liberated in the pre-dawn hours of June 6, 1944. There the general will lay a wreath at milestone zero, the start of the "Liberty Highway" — route of victory through France and Germany.

At Omaha Beach he will inspect the Bayeux and St. Laurent military cemeteries. Here cliff-top graves of thousands of soldiers and officers still overlook rusted, half-sunken hulks of landing craft used in the invasion to form temporary jetties.

Ridgway will speak a ceremony on Utah Beach and will lay a wreath on the monument there which commemorates the landings.

A pilgrimage of D-day veterans from the "Fighting First" Division, now in Germany, also placed wreath on Omaha Beach at the time of the original H-hour — 6:30 a.m.

Representatives of other Allied nations joined in the observances. French Adm. Andre Lemmonier, Ridgway's naval deputy at SHAPE headquarters, accompanied him on the trip.

Britain's First Lord of the Admiralty, J. P. L. Thomas, and British naval officials came by destroyer to Arranches to meet Ridgway and take part in the memorial visit.

While the West paid tribute to the thousands who fell on the Normandy beaches in the cause of freedom, American commanders in Europe warned their troops that the free world again is in danger and the West's armies must be prepared to defend it.
