Officers Fear For Life Of 21-Year-Old White Woman

DALLAS (AP) — The body of Miss Katherine Prince, 21, kidnaped from an automobile Wednesday night by two negroes who shot her escort, Mace Carver, 27, was found in a cotton field southeast of Dallas Thursday.

Two negroes were arrested and jailed as citizens of Mesquite, near Dallas expressed great anger. The negroes confessed the crime.

DALLAS (AP) — Mace Carver, 27, ice plant employe, was shot and critically wounded and Miss Katherine Prince, 21, abducted by two negroes who surprised the couple as they sat in an automobile here Wednesday night.

Miss Prince has not been found and officers expressed the fear she might have been killed by assailants. Carver was found beside a road several miles from the place where the car was located.

FORT WORTH (AP)—An attempt was made Thursday to determine if Aaron Mosheik, mentioned in a Chicago dispatch in connection with a forgery plot, was the same Aaron Mosheik sentenced here for forgery last year.

Records show the man tried here was sentenced to seven years in Leavenworth penitentiary.

CHICAGO (AP)—A nation-wide check forging ring which authorities said had been traced to the Texas prison cell of Aaron Mosheik, alleged master forger, resulted in a hunt Thursday for twenty-five men. Their operations, authorities said, designed to net from three to five millions of dollars for the ring and were revealed following three arrests.

HUNTSVILLE (AP)—Texas prison records show no man by the name of Aaron Mosheik behind the bars, Manager Simmons said.

Public Roads Engineer Says His Office Speeds Work

Encouragement was accorded C. T. Watson, Big Spring Chamber of Commerce manager, and three state senators seeking relief from federal officials for farmers of this area affected by a prolonged drought.

With Senator Clint Small of Wellington, Ren G. O'Neal of Wichita Falls, and Arthur Duggan of Littlefield, Watson has been contacting prominent officials in Fort Worth and Dallas since Monday.

He returned last Thursday. Clifford E. Jones, regional director and Ike Ashburn, chairman of the public works committee for this region, assured the party that every possible consideration would be given public works projects in the drought stricken area.

C. E. Swain, federal representative of the bureau of good roads, said no road projects were being held up in his office.

"No project, properly prepared by the state highway department," he said, "is being held in our office longer than twenty-four hours. We are prepared to handle five million dollars worth of construction work out of our office within thirty days. If they come in faster than that, we can put on additional help."

The state director of agricultural and live stock loans, Thomas, promised he would send a man to this area to aid in the handling of loans. Local committee on this type of loan is composed of Ira L. Thurman, V. F. Roberts, E. G. Fyles, Ben Carpenter and Early Phillips.

In Dallas, Owen W. Sherrill, in charge of crop production loans, announced that he has been authorized to grant loans for seed wheat.

Watson asked that farmers in this section be given benefit of this ruling to allow them to get in winter pasturage where drought has prevented raising of a crop.

At the request of Sherrill, Watson composed a letter asking for a time extension on crop production loans to this section.

Ordinance To Govern Beer Sales Planned

Occupation Tax On Marble And Cigarette Machines To Be Levied

City Attorney Thomas J. Coffey has been instructed to write a city ordinance covering licensing of dispensers of beer, which will also include the occupation tax. The ordinance is to be considered at a special called meeting of the city commission to be held next week.

The ordinance will be patterned after the state statute, said E. V. Spence, city manager, who added the new city statute will be framed to cover an occupation tax on Marble-O, cigarettes, and vending machines.

J. E. Pickle and son, Jake, left Thursday for a brief business trip to Dallas.

Talks With Johnson, Presumably About Ford's Delay Toward NRA

Poughkeepsie, N. Y. (AP)—President Roosevelt set out to sea Thursday aboard the yacht of Vincent Astor for cruise to the capital.

Before leaving he talked with Hugh Johnson. Apparently the president talked about the delay of Henry Ford in lining up with the rest of the automobile industry under the Blue Eagle but nothing was said here.

Scout Troop No. 5 To Hold Council

Members of Boy Scout Troop No. 5 will stage an Indian Council fire program Friday evening south of town.

Jack Dabney, acting as chief, will lead his red men in a peace pact with the pale faces, troop committeemen.

Details of the program are in the hands of Charles Smith, John Stiff, Charles Ray Sikes, Dale Smith and Durwood Riggs.

After the hatchet is buried, the feast of parched corn will be in order. Then the "red men" will hold a dance of joy, followed by a plunge in a swimming pool.

Mrs. G. I. Phillips won the first city golf tournament for women Wednesday afternoon by beating Mrs. Sharon Hicks, medalist, 2 and 1 after making a startling comeback on the second nine holes.

The wet greens slowed the players down considerably. Mrs. Phillips departed from her customary low drives on the last nine and raised her shots to par three holes and take a birdie on number ten.

Mrs. Phillips will be awarded a trophy for winning the championship flight, while Mrs. Hicks will be given a golf bag for runner-up. She won one-half dozen Walter Hagon Sun sets today 7:15. Sun rises tomorrow 6:35.

Dollar And Up For Crude May Result

Five To Six Cents At Refinery, Wholesale, Is Mentioned

WASHINGTON (AP)—Base price between five and six cents per gallon for gasoline wholesale at the refinery was understood Thursday from authoritative sources to be planned by the administration as one of the first major steps toward stabilizing the oil industry under its trade code.

This would make the price of crude run from a dollar upward. The code empowers the president to fix a base price of gasoline for a test period not to exceed ninety days.

WASHINGTON—in a prompt endeavor to remedy the problems of the petroleum industry, Secretary Ickes late Wednesday summoned the committee designated to deal with its troubles to meet with him Thursday.

His call for the meeting came less than an hour after President Roosevelt had announced the members of the committee at Hyde Park, N. Y.

Price Regulation Ickes, chosen by the chief executive as oil administrator under the trade code that will govern the $12,000,000,000 business after Saturday, immediately set interior department agencies to work on proposed revisions of the plan.

Although no official word was given on what he and his advisors have in mind, it was intimated one rewording in immediate prospect would provide a method of regulating oil prices to protect costs and the consumer against excessive prices.

Advocates of controlling oil prices from the possibility of the world to the filling station have been heavily in the majority on the committee appointed by Mr. Roosevelt at Hyde Park, with 13 of its 15 members identified with the faction demanding this move.

C. E. Arnot, president of the Socony-Vacuum corporation of New York, was the only one definitely committed against price fixing. The other member was Donald Richberg, labor counsel of the NRA, one of the three government representatives.

Moffett On Board James A. Moffett, former vice president of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, was the chief federal spokesman on the committee. For weeks he has been advising Ickes and the administration in formulating the oil code and preparing to administer it.

Administration officials made clear in private comment that the major task of administration in the field would be left up to regional committees.

On these, it said, many small factions not granted membership on the national planning and coordinating committee would be assured adequate representation. Members of the national committee, it was explained, were chosen because they had been outstanding figures in the industry for years, and had dealt with the broad, national problems besetting the oil field.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS: The National

Whirligig

Written by a group of the best informed newspapermen of Washington and New York. Opinions expressed are those of the writers and should not be interpreted as reflecting the editorial policy of this newspaper.

WASHINGTON By George Durno

Outlook—Washington, New York and points south, north and west are full of experts who make up the ruled charts showing the zig-zag progress of national business progress.

Each sticher of industrial out-curve and in-drops has his own eyes and mind. If the other fellow doesn't produce a corresponding semigraph recording it's obvious he graduated from the insane asylum.

With this introduction we present the findings and forecasts of a man who establishes future trends for one of the nation's biggest corporations.

Just prior to last November's presidential election, our own personal zig-zagger correctly called the turn on conditions generally clear through last May. If he's wrong this time his corporation will lose a lot of money and he'll lose his job.

To begin with he thinks, and is so advising his company, that it will have to swim along with President Roosevelt and NRA regard less of the financial sacrifice. If everybody doesn't do likewise, he predicts, the bottom drops out.

Primarily this advice is based on a conviction the world is going through the greatest economic upheaval it has experienced in 200 years or more. The founding of the Bank of England was the last comparable period of readjustment.

Dips—The business curves furnished our particular corporation start back in 1800. Came the War of 1812 and the Civil War. Each conflict, through necessary inflation, raised a mountain peak on the chart and a 50-year intervals formed a valley at normal level.

But with the World War the wayering black line made an altitude record into the stratosphere. It returned slowly to a point well above the base line in 1921 and then moved horizontally across the sheet until 1929 when the Great Depression struck.

Instead of performing the 50-year function of history and cooling along on bedrock before upturning again, our line plunged steadily down to nether regions never before explored and in 1932 was as far below the base-line as the mountains of inflation had registered previously on the other side.

Home Town Talk by Beddy

Let us hope that the county commissioners will never let this county go without a Farm Agent again. It is plain that a majority of taxpayers want his services. A great portion of them, including the farming people, always have wanted his services, and felt all during the time the county was without an agent that it was wasteful economy.

Fact is, there are many things the county can go without better and with less loss than the agent. Under existing laws, and through no fault of the county officials themselves, people get less for their tax money out of county government, considering the sums necessary to operate it, than they get from any other link of government in this county.

When there is an opportunity of spending a little county money for something that is highly beneficial to the people the expenditure ought to be made.

Let us hope that eventually the County Home Rule amendment which Texans adopted last Saturday at the polls may be extended to counties of less population than the 62,000 limit placed in the original amendment resolution. More money could be saved and greater efficiency put into government elimination of duplications between city and county, by reducing the number of salaried officials of the county, by merging the tax-collecting and tax-spending agencies of city and county, by consolidating the law enforcement agencies of county and city, and by numerous other ways than could be saved the people in any other way.

Take a county like Howard. In 1930 with 22,000 population nearly 14,000 resided within the limits of the city of Big Spring. The proportion still is virtually the same. The county's budget for 1934 provides expenditures totaling $125,000, the city's budget for 1933-34 provides expenditures totaling $159,000.

Farm and ranch land in this county is on the tax rolls at an average of about $2.50 per acre. It represents about 15 per cent of the total valuations of the county. The remainder is paid on city property and oil properties.

Key Men Missing From Last Year's Edition Of Aggie Football Squad

COLLEGE STATION—A little more experience, perhaps, but very little strengthening of personnel, will distinguish the 1933 Texas Aggie football team from its 1932 edition.

Fortunately for Aggies, though, Coach Bell's statement is not as broad as it might appear to be, and at least three factors seem to indicate better football days for the Aggies.

On the other hand, the Aggies probably will not benefit to any appreciable extent by the new conference rule which will allow junior college graduates to become eligible immediately for two years of varsity play.

Giants' Lead Is Preserved

Lefty O'Doul's Homer And Single Send Across Winning Runs

NEW YORK—The New York Giants kept their six-game lead intact Wednesday as Lefty O'Doul followed up a home run blast with a ninth inning single to drive in the run that defeated the St. Louis Cardinals, 5-4, in the league leaders' final game before invading Boston Thursday for the first of a six-game series to be played in four days.

O'Doul's final inning blow, hit with the bases loaded, sent Joe Moore across the plate with the deciding tally but it was Lefty's home run smash, following Bill Terry's circuit drive in the fourth inning, that kept the Giants in the thick of the battle.

The Humble Oil & Refining Company and its 10,000 employes subscribe without reservation to the NRA Code for the Oil Industry; we know that the principle behind your recovery program is not an experiment but a proved success.

The NRA Code for the Oil Industry lays down the broad principles of a "square deal" between employer and employe. The Humble Oil and Refining Company and its employes have recognized the soundness of these principles for many years, and insofar as it was practical for one company alone to do so, the Humble Company has put them into effect.

In 1932 the Humble Company completed a progressive adoption of the five-day week, making it operative in all departments. Under this plan...

By GORDON E. SHEARER

AUSTIN (UP)—Dan Moody, once known as the "boy governor" but an even abner with thinning hair, has no desire to hold another public office.

"I've seen too many political ghosts," said Moody recently when the prospect of becoming a candidate was broached.

"I quit when I was still young enough to get out and make a living. I have seen too many men give all their youth to public office. For a time it seems that they can get anything they want. But the time comes when they lose and, seemingly, are forgotten."

"Go to any political convention. You will find the corridors plentifully lined with men who once were prominent officeholders."

Former Governor Pat M. Neff is another who quit public office in time to give unspent energies to a new vocation. He accepted the presidency of Baylor University.

Former Governor Will Hobby, ended his public life early enough to return actively to the publishing business, banking and insurance.

Former Governor James E. Ferguson, at 63, seems to have reversed the program. He is expected to seek re-entry to public office. Recently, he edits the Forum, runs his beauty parlor, and dairs, practices law and advises his wife, Governor Miriam A. Ferguson.

Former Governor Ross S. Sterling, his once many-figure fortune wrecked by the depression, is said to be waiting favorable opportunity to re-enter the oil business in which he amassed wealth before.

Former Governor O. B. Colquitt after leaving public life to go into an active oil business returned to an appointive office when President Hoover made him member of a labor mediation board. Recently he visited Austin. He is oldest of the living former governors of Texas.

Governor Ferguson gives ear to her politically astute husband before appointments are announced. Therefore it will be no surprise if the new member of the State Board of Control comes from near the state capital. It probably will be some one not mentioned so far.

Many Deaths, Millions In Property Loss Toll Of Storm

Striking with hurricane forced the worst storm in years pounded the eastern seaboard killing at least a dozen people on land and sea and inflicting property damage running into many millions of dollars. Above picture taken at Atlantic City, N. J., shows a street near the beach battered to pieces by mountainous seas.

Other havoc wrought along the New Jersey coast is shown in above picture taken at Long Branch. Scores of summer homes and coastal buildings were destroyed by high water pushed inland by the raging gale. The fury of the storm was felt from Virginia to Massachusetts. (Associated Press Photos) the only one of the three men on the board not from Central Texas. Claude Teer, chairman, is from Granger, Williamson county. John Wallace is from Teague, Freestone county. Pool came from El Paso. The late R. B. Walthall, who was on the board before Pool, came from East Texas. Dr. H. H. Harrington, who antedated Walthall, was from the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Lee Satterwhite of Odessa, former speaker of the house of representatives, might be named. He has not been politically aligned with the Fergusons, but "Governor Jim" knows how to make friends of opponents. Satterwhite is not only from West Texas; he has been from the Panhandle and from East Texas. Satterwhite would accept the post. His appointment would probably clear the way for Roy Tennant of Temple, to make the race for state railroad commissioner in 1934. Tennant was appointed on the board of control by Mrs. Ferguson when she was the governor before. Tennant and Satterwhite both ran for railroad commissioner last summer in different races.

Both laid a foundation upon which to run again next year, when one commissioner is to be chosen.

Governor Ferguson should become a keen watcher of horse race results. She will have an entry named for her, "Lady Governor," owned by Jo Ed Winfree, Jr., of Houston, will make her first race at the Arlington Downs October meet. Winfree is son of Col. J. E. Winfree of the governor's staff.

A group of high-rearier oil attorneys gathered here on August 21 for a pipe line rate hearing looked sheepish when some one recalled their plea made in District Judge J. D. Moore's suit to set the state's anti-trust suit against oil companies for trial in Austin during the hot weather.

Texas auto license plates for 1934 are the last ones that will form a background for Hollywood girls seeking free publicity. In recent years the Texas plates have been made in Los Angeles. The plates were photographed with the girls as background or foreground and widely used. The background for the 1935 plates will be the "Big House" inside the walls at Huntsville. Manufacture there has been ordered.

The 1934 plates were ordered before the prison plate plant was approved by the legislature. The passenger car plates will have black figures and letters on orange. Above will be reversed for trucks.

Formerly different colors were used. It was discovered that in making the more than a million and a quarter plates, it is cheaper if one color combination is used.

Jig-saw puzzles are out of date in Austin. The latest puzzle is whether a contract has been let for the W. J. McDonald astronomical observatory, joint project of the University of Texas and the University of Chicago, in the Davis mountains. Announcement came from Chicago the contract was let and work under way on the "big reflector type telescope. The University of Texas reports the contract not yet let.

Connie Retires Earnshaw For Rest Of Season

PHILADELPHIA—Big George Earnshaw and the Philadelphia Athletics have come to the parting of the ways—at least, for 1933.

Pitching hero of the 1930 world series and one-time ace right-hander of the A's hurling staff, Earnshaw has hung up his glove and spikes, disclosing Wednesday that Manager Connie Mack had retired him for the remainder of this season.

The action climaxed the rift between Earnshaw and the veteran manager which had its inception last winter when news dispatches reported that the hurler picked the New York Yankees to repeat in the American league race this season "in a walk."

Earnshaw had been sent home twice from the road during the campaign this year, once from Detroit with the order to "get in condition" the second time from New York with a fine and suspension. Earnshaw would say nothing today concerning the possibility that he may be through with the game for good.

Boxing And Wrestling Referees Are Listed By Commissioner Flynn

AUSTIN (UP)—Sports Commissioner Jack Flynn announced the names of 54 boxing and wrestling referees whose applications have been approved.

Each was warned that failure to enforce the state's regulations of the two sports, effective Sept. 1, will result in cancellation of permit. Among the authorized referees were:

- Amarillo—L. J. Smith, Henry M. Reed, Harry Myers, Garford Wilkinson, Herman Fuhrer, Zane E. Smith, and W. E. Corzell. Austin—Patt Watts. Beaumont—Cullen Red, Dr. J. R. Venza, Jack Reynolds. Corpus Christi—Andrew Womack.

- Dallas—W. O. Winfree, Henry Ezor, I. L. (Ted) Hinton, Jeff Crooner, Mike Parrish. El Paso—W. Chas. Moss, Saul O. Paredez, Kernal Shea. Fort Worth—Sully Montgomery, Eddie Lewis. Galveston—Edward Burns, Geo. H. Defferer, F. H. Schuize, John Edw. Musick.

- Houston—Louis J. Seibert, Robert L. Rawls, Tony Melina, A. E. Baxter, Art G. Ellis, J. A. Davlin, A. E. (Wildcat) Ewing, Numa J. Galmiche, Fred E. Lutz, Joseph F. Muhl, Jimmy Delmar, Sam L. Corbin, Vic Leone.

San Angelo Busy Planning For The Annual Tourney

SAN ANGELO—San Angelo Country Club officials are busy making arrangements for what they expect to be the club's biggest annual invitation tournament here Sept. 13 to 17 inclusive.

The annual M. L. Metz cup match between a San Angelo team selected by John Martson and an all-West Texas team picked by Bob Scott of Colorado is slated for the opening day. San Angelo is the defending champion.

Qualifying round for the tournament proper will be Thursday, Sept. 14. The play will be divided into as many flights of 32 as the qualifying list will permit. Match play begins Friday, Sept. 15, with the championship final slated for the following Sunday.

Thousands Of Under-Paid Teachers Returning To Classrooms As Pay Of Others Rises Through NRA Activity

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP)—Thousands of Southwestern teachers will return to classrooms next month to face slashed salaries, uncertain paydays and diminution of employment in their profession while other workers sing praises of the Blue Eagle.

Employment generally is increasing, average earnings are rising and working hours are being shortened. But not for teachers in Texas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska; a United Press survey showed.

Tax-ridden school districts, municipalities and states in many instances this year will pay the lowest salaries and employ fewer teachers than at any time since the world war. They don't have the money to do otherwise.

Those affected range from the little one-room country school that is being abandoned to the college professor whose courses are being eliminated for economy's sake. And those who retained their positions, in most cases, took salary cuts for the second or third consecutive year.

The teachers are looking with hopeful eyes toward Washington and the NRA. But school boards and state officials, with empty treasuries and bonded debts are wondering if NRA administrator Hugh Johnson can conjure teachers' salaries out of the air.

NRA officials advised the American Council on Education that it had not yet formulated a policy in regard to participation of educational institutions in the recovery program.

Missouri and Nebraska educators are organizing to see that their states include schools in benefits accruing from relief programs and returning national property. Oklahoma and Southwestern states plan to do likewise.

Instances of rural teachers receiving as little as $25 a month, of college professors reduced to $150 a month, are on record. The budgets of state universities and colleges have been reduced 30 per cent in many cases.

Grade and high school teachers in most cities will work for from 15 to 25 per cent less than salaries two years ago.

Last year, in Oklahoma and some other states, teachers' salary warrants were discounted 5 to 10 per cent by banks which cashed them, as the warrants were non-payable and had to be held for tax collections.

The average of rural teachers' salaries in Nebraska for the school year 1933-34 is $467.40, the state department of education estimated. City and village teachers will average $546. These compare to $782 and $1,238 two years ago. A thousand less teachers will be employed in the state.

The University of Kansas at Lawrence and the University of Wichita have reduced teaching staffs and salaries. Governor W. H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray, of Oklahoma, wielding arbitrary power conferred upon him by the last legislature, abolished whole departments in state schools and all salaries were drastically cut.

Teachers in the University of Texas and other state school receive a 25 per cent salary reduction September 1. Most Texas grade school teachers are being in salaries due to shortage of school funds and all work for salaries far below 1931 levels. Texas private colleges are in the same predicament as the state schools.

Public school teachers in Dallas face salary reduction of from 6 to 16 per cent, depending on the amount they draw. El Paso teachers were cut 5 per cent and in that city, 134 fewer were employed than last year. Other Texas cities reported similar conditions.

Missouri plans consolidation of hundreds of smaller districts dotted with one, and two-room schools, so fewer teachers can teach more children. Kansas City, Mo., reduced teachers' salaries 25 per cent. Kansas City, Kan., ordered a 15 per cent cut on top of a 10 per cent reduction, placing the neighbors' children on a parity.

The story is the same all over the southwest, with a few notable exceptions where wealthy school districts are able to pay good salaries with warrants which may be cashed immediately for full face value.

Proposed Reorganization Plan Of Howard Schools Topic Of Gentry Thesis

George H. Gentry, principal of Big Spring high school, who has just returned from Austin, where he was awarded the degree of Master of Arts did his major work in education and history.

His master's thesis on original research accepted by the officials of the graduate school of the University of Texas was "A Proposed Plan of Reorganization of the Public Schools of Howard County, Texas."

Miss Abbie Nell Rhyan, who has been head of the pioneer unit of Girl Scouts at a camp on Lake Pleasant near Kenosha, Wis., this summer, has returned home for a visit.

That's when a low-priced car begins to show the stuff it's made of! And that's when you'll really begin to appreciate what it means to own a Chevrolet: How much better off you are, for instance, with a Fisher body—a staunch, solid, wood-and-steel* body that's built rigid and tight, and stays that way. How much money you save with a SIX—that uses the least amount of gas and oil of any full-size car. How much more economical it is to have a cushion-balanced engine, free from wearing, tearing vibration. Yes—at 30,000 miles, a Chevrolet Six owner looks back with satisfaction—on many months of saving money. And looks forward with confidence—to many tens of thousands of care-free miles to come!

"What a sweet-running motor, Jack. Is that speedometer right: 30,000 miles?"

"Sure. That's nothing for a Chevrolet. It's good for that much mileage and plenty more."

CHAPTER 26

"HAVE YOU heard the latest report?" Foster asked, tiredly. "No—what is it?" Mary was alarmed. "Wellmade Products dropped two points."

Mary's buoyant spirit plunged down several points. That meant that Dick had lost six hundred dollars, which was her first concern. But she also realized that it probably spelled ruin for Ronald K. Foster & Co.

"Yes, you know what that means to me," he replied to her unspoken remark. "The firm goes to the wall unless I can raise three hundred thousand cash, quick. I know of only one man who probably has as much cash as that, and he is out of the city."

"You mean Mr. Frazier, and he is here. Mother said that he telephoned three times yesterday to talk to me."

Foster brightened somewhat. "Is that so? But, of course, the fact that he is here doesn't save us. I doubt whether he could be persuaded to invest that much more in a losing proposition."

"He has much more than that involved, hasn't he? Wouldn't it be wise for him to add the three hundred thousand to save what he has invested, already?"

"Of course. But few men can be made to see a thing like that. It looks too much like throwing good money after bad. There is only one chance that he could be persuaded to do it."

"And that is—"

"If you would talk with him." Mary laughed with confusion. "Oh, I doubt that. I think you could make him see it better than I could."

"Isn't it true, Mary, that Frazier is in love with you? I beg your pardon for asking—but as one of the family, and in this crisis—"

"Oh, yes, he has wanted me to marry him for several months—but I couldn't love him. Besides, I am engaged to Dick, now." She held out her hand with his ring, as evidence. Foster slumped, visibly. "I was just hoping that you might bribe him—that is, if you had any idea of considering him," his voice was hollow, beaten. "Lord, Mary, it isn't just myself I'm thinking about! You know that. But think of the reputation of this firm, and the people who have trusted their money to us for investment. Not only fortunes, but small savings that represent the whole life's efforts of some of them. The worst of it is—this can't go on. If we had the cash to tide us over, we could pull through. But one word of this outside—and we're lost."

"I know, I haven't dropped a word about conditions."

"I know you haven't. You're a woman in a thousand. It would never do to let Bonnie get a hint of this, you know. She wouldn't understand how serious it is."

"Of course not. No one shall know."

"Unless we crash. And we will, within the week, unless Frazier will help us. Mary, couldn't you manage to help me?"

If there was anything that Mary could not do, it was to refuse an appeal for help from anyone in trouble. That was why she was continually getting into trouble, herself. She thought rapidly—but her thoughts only revolved in circles and came back to the same place.

She knew very well that if she were not in love—and engaged to Dick—she could persuade Frazier to do anything for her. That was what Foster meant.

Finally, she said, "I'm sorry, Mr. Foster, but I don't see how I can help you, under the circumstances. Shall I call Mr. Frazier and let you talk to him?"

"No," he snapped. "It would do us no good. I know Frazier pretty well. He acts as if he is indifferent to losses, but he is shrewd. He never invests unless a thing looks ninety-nine per cent sure. After he goes in, he takes small losses with good grace; but that is because he knows he is on the safe side more than half the time. No, if you can't see fit to intercede for the scores of people whose lives and fortunes are at stake—"

he waved her away and resumed his nervous pacing. Mary felt like a martyr whose faith was being severely tried. It seemed as if she would have to surrender her own happiness to the cause of others. She turned away miserably, into her own office, feeling broken and imprisoned again. All the sense of joyous winged freedom and unshakable faith were gone from her. She wished that she could appeal to Dick. But Mary knew that she dared not. Even Dick could not be taken into her confidence. Besides, there was nothing he could do about it. He had no fortune to invest, and nothing to contribute to a tottering firm.

She sat down at her desk and began to open the mail, but she could not concentrate her thoughts enough to sort the letters into their customary groups. She could hear Foster pacing back and forth in his office. She shuddered. It was a terrible thing to watch a great man break and fall. She itemized the results in her mind.

A wise and successful man who had built up an enviable name and business, would be a broken old man, a pauper. Bonnie would lose all that she had gained by a loveless marriage to him. She would leave him, probably, and again be dependent upon Mom and Mary—a much more difficult problem than before. She, Mary, would lose a good position at a time when few positions were to be had—good, bad or indifferent. Mom and the boys would suffer.

Frazier, himself, and a number of men like him, would lose fortunes; and how well they could meet serious losses, she could not surmise.

Then there remained that multitude of smaller customers, many of them unknown to her. The results and the sufferings to them—should Foster fail—were illimitable and unfathomable. The lives and happiness and comfort of hundreds might be contingent upon the firm's success or failure. To Mary, those unknown lives became a vast army of appealing souls. They reached out their hands to her, moaning and wailing with desolate voices.

Foster paced the floor. The clock chimed ten, the ticker and the translux responded with mocking punctiliousness. Mary could endure sitting at her desk no longer. She went into the customers' room, where there were already a dozen anxious-faced people. They sat quietly with the awful silence of tragedy.

There was almost no trading on the market. Foster's report was verified. Wellmade Products had dropped to forty-eight, after balancing at par for more than a week. Mary returned to her office, torn between duty and desire. She walked around the room. If

Foster failed, she would be leaving all this, soon. It was not so much that she thought of herself; but that change in her affairs was only symbolic of the hundreds of changes in other lives that the same tragedy would affect.

Finally, she opened the door into Foster's room. He looked up startled; and she knew that he had been holding his head in his hands, in his agony.

"Mr. Foster," she said quietly, "I do want to help in any way I can. If there is no other way—I'll try to convince Mr. Frazier that he should help you." It cost her a great effort to say that.

"It can't be done that way, Mary," his voice was hollow. "He must not know that it is I who need the money. He will have to be persuaded to invest the money for his own good. Can you think of any way to persuade him?"

How well she knew that there was one way by which she could manage. "I'll try. There must be some way. The one thing that reassures me is the fact that I shall be doing him a real favor in the end."

"Of course, you will," Foster made an effort to pull himself together. "Bless you, Mary." (TO BE CONTINUED)

Mother Of Local Woman, Grandmother Of 9, Gets Diploma

Mrs. J. D. Warren, Minnola, mother of Mrs. I. A. Fuller of this city, received her A. B. degree August 21 from East Texas State Teachers College in Commerce, just three days before her 96th birthday.

Principal of a ward school in Minnola where she and her husband have resided for the past seven years, Mrs. Warren earned her degree during the summer months. Her husband, for forty-nine years a teacher, retired two years ago because of faulty hearing.

Five of their six children were present to see Mrs. Warren receive her degree. Four of five daughters are married and there are nine grand children. An only son is also married but was unable to attend the exercises.

Mrs. Warren did her major work in English. She received her degree on the nineteenth birthday of her eldest grand child. Her youngest child is twenty-four.

Kansas City Store Cashier Robbed, 4 Employees Kidnaped

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Three men robbed the cashier at Klines Stores in the downtown section of an undetermined amount of money Wednesday, kidnaped four women employees, Mrs. Ollie Johnson, Mrs. Poe Fisher, Mrs. Leonard Daniels and Mrs. Lydia Steels and escaped in a sedan but were captured when they wrecked the car. Two blocks way police had fired at the bandits and asserted they struck one of the occupants. Those kidnaped were uninjured.

Oldest Free Circulation Newspaper In Jaid Basis

PARIS—The Dinner Horn, first and oldest free distribution newspaper in America has been replaced by the Paris Evening News, with paid circulation, according to A. G. Pat Mayne, president of the North Texas Publishing Co., publisher of the Paris Morning News.

The Dinner Horn has been published continuously for the past forty-five years as a free paper. It was purchased August 1, 1932, by the North Texas Publishing Co., and has been printed with semi-free circulation for one year. Walter E. Boyd was founder and was publisher up until the time it was purchased by the present owners.

The Paris Evening News will carry the full leased wire reports of the Associated Press and with standard newspaper features, will be printed afternoons except Saturdays and on Sunday. The Paris Morning News will be issued as in the past. There will be a week-day morning mail edition.

MOLEY QUILTS TO BECOME EDITOR

Raymond Moley, assistant secretary of state and head of the President's "brain trust," has resigned to become editor of a new national magazine to be published by Vincent Astor. Both Astor and Moley denied that the resignation was the result of a disagreement in the state department. Above are Moley (left), Astor (center) and W. Averell Harriman, who will be associated with them in the publication. (Associated Press Photo)

FILM CHORINE LARGER THIS YEAR

The selection of Geraldine Glasman, 17, as "Miss Philadelphia" was followed by a riot. Police arrested one woman and another was sent to a hospital. Two other girls who had won in previous competitions were disqualified because they were married. (Associated Press Photo)

Zita Bacq (left) of Denver, Colo., has been chosen as Hollywood's perfect film dancer for this year. She is slightly larger than the average girl cast for motion picture dance parts in the past. The trend for larger figures is due to the Mae West influence, according to Pearl Eaton (right), former "Follies" girl who is now a dance director. (Associated Press Photo)

WINS WESTERN OPEN CHAMPIONSHIP

HEIRESS AND PRINCE END ROMANCE IN FIVE DAYS

Janet Snowden, 19, heiress to oil millions, who eloped and married Prince Don Caravita, noted Italian sportsman, in New York after a whirlwind courtship, left her husband after a five-day honeymoon. Now she wants the marriage undone. Miss Snowden, daughter of Mrs. Walter Davidson of Newport and New York, called the marriage a "mistake" and said she would seek an annulment or, failing that, a divorce. (Associated Press Photo)

AT STOCKMEN'S MEETING

County Agent O. P. Griffin was in Midland Thursday where he attended a meeting of West Texas stockmen in the Schaefer hotel.

Board, is quite a colorful person. His manager, seven other jobs besides being one of the big feathers in the Blue Eagle. He is a director of the Amalgamated Bank of New York and actually runs it. The second job is director of research for the Amalgamated Clothing Workers' and President Hillman's chief counsel on every question affecting the union. Then of course there is the professorship at Columbia University. In between Dr. Wolman runs a large investment trust which still leaves him enough time to take his job as Associated Editor of the New Republican seriously. His work as director of research for the National Bureau of Economic Research and as active director of the New School would keep the average man busy for several hours a day.

Boycotts

There ain't going to be any Blue Eagle boycotts in New York City if the local NRA committee has its way. Several of its most prominent members accepted the job of boycotting anything to non-Eagles it will be on the public's initiative.

Blat

Plity the poor New York landlords. They think the Blue Eagle is all claws.

Lament

The American Bankers' association recently received a letter from a small bank in Georgia reading about as follows: "Something just has to be done about this code business. If we sign up our janitor would get $14 per week. That's more than the resident gets. This just can't be."

Festival

Nazi Berlin headquarters has ordered the New York Nazis to stage a port festival on September 10th aboard the S. S. Resolute. In this way the sailors of the Resolute and the Reliance can get together on German soil.

Incident

The German Ministry for Propaganda and Public Enlightenment worked overtime to hush up the following incident. During a recent parade placards appeared in front of the reviewing stand reading: "Hitler, gib uns bald mehr, 'Sonst gehn wir alle wieder rot." Translated: "Hitler, give us soon more bread, 'Or we'll again turn Red."

Sunspots

Radio circles here are wondering what the effect will be of the end of the eleven-year sunspot cycle which influences transmission. Overseas broadcasters fear that long distance receiving will be so improved that American stations will jam them up, especially as the U. S. is planning to increase the power of its stations.

Orients

Financial wisecracks see a loss in our cotton and wheat loans to China. They say the security put up is revenue on which innumerable creditors have prior claims. As for help to China in her struggle with Japan, not a chance. To those who know the dice look so loaded that nothing can keep Japan from having her way.

OIL

Another immediate problem before the committee—and one on which conceded hangs the success of price regulation—is the control of production and allocation among the oil states of their share of the estimated national demand. Without full production control, officials said price regulation would be too hazardous.

Sloan

Three meetings in the South to consider a program for the control of next year's cotton crop were called Thursday by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace. Letters inviting producers, associations of producers, cooperatives, Members of Congress, state commissioners of agriculture, ginners, spinners, handlers, county committees who served in the recent acreage control campaign, agricultural extension workers, and others interested in the price and production of cotton were sent by Secretary Wallace today. The meetings will be held simultaneously on Tuesday, September 5, at Atlanta, Memphis, and Dallas.

In the 76th District Court Dorothy Yochem vs. R. L. Yochem, suit for divorce. Building Permit B. A. Reagan to build a screen sleeping porch at 2210 Runnels for Hugh Dubberly, cost $70.

People within Big Spring pay all of the $159,000 needed to operate their city government and pay its obligations. In the money they pay a major portion of the $125,000 in county taxes and feel the benefits of expenditure of that amount very, very little.

HOME TOWN

Double taxation is the most accurate description of the condition.

Salaries

Salaries of county officials as allowed under state law would bring down upon the head of city officials a yearly storm of wrath, criticism, of innuendo and even slander if as many men and women as the county must pay nice salaries were on the city payroll at those figures. This is in spite of the fact that people owning property in town pay a major portion of the cost of county government.

Another immediate problem before the committee—and one on which conceded hangs the success of price regulation—is the control of production and allocation among the oil states of their share of the estimated national demand. Without full production control, officials said price regulation would be too hazardous.

Production

Tentative tables on demand and production quotas have been prepared by the bureau of mines for the committee's consideration. These tables were understood to call for a daily production of between 2,100,000 and 2,300,000 barrels.

He was feeling much better Thursday.

Bible Classes To Feast This Evening

All members of the Baptist and Methodist Men's Bible Classes and their wives, sweethearts and friends are expected to be at the watermelon feast this evening at 6 o'clock at the City Park, when the Methodist, losers in the recent attendance contest, will entertain the Baptist winners. It was announced that in case rain should prevent holding the feast and program at the park it will be held at the Methodist church at the same time. Politicians being inclined to cover up exposures will likely decline any offers to join nudist colonies. Only too often the "prizes" in bathing beauty contests are won by fat old gentlemen with heavy bank rolls.

She doesn't know how you do it!

YOU feel a little embarrassed and sorry for her. She looks so admiring and helpless, so envious, and so—so—ineffective! Her clothes are always so bad, poor little thing. And she pays too much for them. Her home is furnished with all the wrong things. She seems to have a genius for wasting money. When she goes out to buy anything, soap or silverware, or lingerie or lamps, she's sure to turn up with something nobody ever heard of before and doesn't want to hear of again. She is that eager, but not very bright, little woman who, "my dear, doesn't ever read advertisements." Who doesn't know what to buy, or where to find it, or what to pay for it. Who doesn't know values and can't compare them. Who doesn't know that when a new style, or a new convenience, or a new anything arrives, one sees it first in the advertisements. One really gets a little vexed with her— But let's not waste too much time on her. It's about time for you, dear lady, to have your daffy look through the advertisements. To stand the test of advertising merchandise must be good

Rites Unite Miss Read And Mr. W. I. Byron

Ceremony Performed In Sweetwater; Couple To Live In Perryton

Miss Fannie Sue Read and William Irvin Byron of Mineral Wells, were united in marriage Wednesday afternoon at Sweetwater at 5 o'clock. The ceremony was performed at the home of Rev. J. H. Hamblen, pastor of the First Methodist Church of that city, formerly pastor of the First Methodist Church in Abilene, the city where the romance of this young couple had its beginning.

Original plans for the wedding were for the ceremony to be held in Big Spring, but illness in the bride's family and the demands of the groom's work made it expedient for them to change their plans and hurry on to Mineral Wells, home of the groom, at the earliest possible moment Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Byron and his sister, Mrs. Jack Williams of Mineral Wells, motored to the Read ranch near Coahoma Wednesday and the young couple took their departure from there.

Mrs. Williams was the bride's only attendant. The best man was Ernest Linkenhoger, of Sweetwater, 1922 captain of the Daniel Baker College football team, intimate friend of the groom.

Mrs. Byron wore a charming frock of leaf brown crepe and satin with full-topped sleeves. A brown sailor hat, brown shoes, and accessories completed her ensemble.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Noble Read, a prominent pioneer Howard County family. She was graduated from the Big Spring high school and attended Simmons University for two years. There she was a member of the Covgirls and "sweetheart" of the well-known Cowboy band.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Byron of Mineral Wells. He was one of the outstanding students of Simmons University during his four years there. He was a letterman in football for three years, and in basketball for one year. He was also a track and baseball player. He was a member of the Cowboy band and made the European trip with that famous band in 1930, also the winter trip to Los Angeles, in addition to other trips to places of interest.

The young couple spent Wednesday night at the home of the groom's parents, following a short visit in Abilene with college friends. They left Mineral Wells Thursday for Perryton where Mr. Byron will enter upon his work Monday as director of athletics and band work.

Mrs. L. S. McDowell Gives 3-Table Party

Mrs. L. S. McDowell entertained with a charming three table bridge party at her spacious home on South Scurry street Wednesday afternoon, inviting members of the former Social Hour Club and their daughters.

During the games Mrs. Frank Pool was the highest scorer. An unusually delicious salad plate was served to the following guests: Mmes. Frank Pool, Victor Mellinger, H. G. Whitney, H. W. Leeper, Tom Helton, E. H. Happell, Emil Fahrnkamp, John Calke and Misses Clara Pool, Agnes Currie and Miss Elizabeth Northington.

Committee For The Nation Holds Government Delay In Repairing Banking Structure Is Harmful

Unfreezing Of Deposits Will Do More For Recovery Than Public Works Program Report Declares

NEW YORK—"The government's delay in repairing the nation's banking structure has brought serious harm to individuals and communities, and has become a menace to national recovery," says the Committee for the Nation in a survey of the effects of frozen bank deposits.

The committee asks President Roosevelt to use his emergency powers immediately to raise the price level and restore value to frozen bank assets. It asserts that more purchasing power can be released by unfreezing bank deposits than through the Government's public works program.

Following are the steps urged upon the President:

1. Issue currency against frozen bank assets sufficient to pay a substantial part of frozen deposits amounting to about $7,500,000,000.
2. Reorganize and coordinate various Federal agencies dealing with bank reopenings, putting them all under one competent head.
3. Have the Federal Government carry for a reasonable time all frozen bank assets to which value will be restored by a rise in the price level.
4. Make immediate use of emergency powers to reduce the dollar to its normal purchasing power and raise the price level.

The Treasury Department's statements to the public, says the Committee, do not disclose the real seriousness of the frozen bank situation.

Latest figures available at the Treasury the second week in August showed 3,120 banks, with deposits of $2,498,000,000, closed or restricted as of June 28. Since then reopenings have proceeded at the rate of about 30 banks a week.

"The figures available at the Treasury," says the committee, "do not include the 5,000 banks, with deposits of about $5,000,000, closed during the depression but before March 5th. These 5,000 include the great number of large and important banks closed during January and February."

"The total of frozen deposits in commercial banks alone is around $7,500,000,000. The total of deposits in all commercial banks now operating without restrictions has been reduced to $31,750,000,000. Thus nearly 20 per cent of the deposit circulating medium of the country is frozen."

"Furthermore, to get a true perspective, we must take into consideration $7,500,000,000 of deposits under restriction in savings banks as of May 31, not included in the Treasury's totals."

"Release of this tremendous purchasing power is dependent upon Government action. Without prompt, decisive steps to raise the price level and thereby restore normal value to bank assets, depositors' and bank stockholders' money will be allowed to waste away."

"Bureaucratic control has made depositors, stockholders and bank management powerless to save themselves unnecessary losses. Although the salvaging of bank assets is wholly in the hands of the Government, today, after five months, no adequate machinery to cope with this problem exists. The problem exists. The problem is attacked piecemeal, and has been handled largely under the influence of the deflationary interests that have sought to control monetary policy."

"The closing of banks threw upon the Treasury Department such a burden as it had never faced. There was no adequate organization for handling this work. Let
