Moody Answers Attack Upon Game and Fish Body

AUSTIN, July 25.—(P)—Three days of grace separate the aspiring political candidates from their fate Saturday at the hands of the sovereign electorate. Gov. Dan Moody is losing oratorical salves in the first of nine more speeches before the primary election, preparing to wind up a dizzy day's pace at Haskell.

Louis J. Wardlaw, one of the governor's opponents who prophesied victory for himself by a 100,000 majority at Houston, where he spoke Tuesday night, is to speak tonight at Dallas. Paths of two of United States Senator Earl B. Mayfield's opponents for re-election crossed Tuesday at Lockhart in a way, apparently quite interesting to the voters assembled. Alvin Owsley was making his speech when Congressman Tom Connally arrived. Connally walked in an adjacent office until Owsley finished and then pushed into the district court room. Owsley had told his audience a few minutes before that his opponents were "perfect strangers" to him. Shaking the hands of voters in opposite directions, neither candidate gave any sign of recognition.

Another candidate for Senator, Congressman Tom Blanton, is making a whirlwind wadup of his campaign speaking four times Tuesday and five Monday.

Senator Mayfield concentrated on the need of practical farm relief in a speech at Orange.

Attacks of Wardlaw on the state game, fish and oyster department and Governor Moody's hunting proclivities drew an extended reprieve from the governor at Brady.

Only the sportsmen are called upon to help support the game department through license fees, the governor said. He declared that he would go hunting whenever he gets the opportunity and admonished the crowd that "if you don't want a governor who does like to hunt and fish, don't vote for me."

1929 Studebakers Are Received

Three new 1929 Studebaker sedans two Commanders and one Dictator were received by the Thrift-Saunders company yesterday and are on display in the company show room. There is a slight change in the design of the hood and the sun visor but otherwise the standard lines of Studebaker cars remain. The chief feature of the new Studebaker is the ball bearing spring shaft, making it unnecessary to grease the spring shackles oftener than every 20,000 miles. The old style needed greasing after each time the car was washed. More of the new types will be received soon, the management announced this morning.

McMullen is now in the Hoover camp, it would seem from this picture taken by an NEA staff photographer at North Platte, Neb.

Mysterious Radio Station Is Found

QUEBEC, July 25.—(P)—The mystery of a powerful radio station which interfered with the reception of programs from licensed stations in the United States and Canada has been solved, but another mystery in connection with it today threatened international complications.

Investigators from the department of justice discovered the unlicensed radio station in a house in Sillery, a Quebec suburb, and also a large quantity of dynamite and a stock of rifles. The radio station, they said, was capable of communicating with European capitals.

Auguste Nelna, 64, and his son, Arsene, 21, were arrested and charged with illegal possession of explosives.

GASOLINE FIRE KILLS TWO AND HEAT TIES UP TRAINS

KINGMAN, Ariz., July 25.—(P)—Fire which broke out in the plant of the Union Oil company here, taking the lives of two men at the outset, raged unchecked in the huge petroleum store today, but fighters managed to keep it from spreading.

Both eastbound and westbound Santa Fe trains were being held up because the heat along the tracks was considered too intense to permit their passing the scene of the conflagration.

The blaze started yesterday when four men encountered trouble in changing valves on a large gasoline tank. The gasoline began to escape and flowed along the railroad tracks. Despite efforts of the four men to stop the flow, it continued and finally was ignited some distance from the tank.

Immediately the loose gasoline was turned into a blazing river. The fire quickly engulfed the four men, whose clothes were wet with gasoline. Harold Davis of Kingman and Charles H. Rogers of Los Angeles were burned so badly that they died.

Smith Is Content to Let Republicans Start Campaign

ALBANY, N. Y., July 25.—(P)—Governor Smith has decided to let his Republican opponents fire the first shot of the campaign.

His official notification has been set for the evening of Wednesday, August 22. Until then he intends to hold his drive for the presidency in abeyance.

The date for the formal launching of the Democratic nominee's campaign comes eleven days after the Hoover notification in California, and four days after the scheduled acceptance by Curtis of Kansas of the Republican vice-presidential nomination.

Although his plans call for an unusually late start of campaigning and gives his foes the jump, Smith is satisfied. It is the way he prefers to start the battle, and he is confident he will be able to square the count as soon as he sets forth his views on campaign issues.

Canada to Get 16,500 Persons From British Mining Districts—Project to Cost $3,000,000.

LONDON, July 25.—(P)—The British government is to send more than 16,500 persons to Canada from the British mining districts at a cost of $3,000,000. The purpose is to relieve unemployment. Plans were announced in the House of Commons by Winston Churchill, chancellor of the Exchequer, after a labor motion to censure the government for its attitude on the unemployment question had been defeated.

Ramsay MacDonald, former premier, in moving the vote to censure said that more than a million and a quarter persons were without jobs. He charged that the government had been ineffective in dealing with the problem.

Premier Baldwin in reply said a severe depression existed in the staple industry, coal, and in the shipbuilding and cotton industries. He confessed that his original diagnosis that unemployment was due to a general upsetting of credit after the world war had been proved only partially correct.

This reply was characterized by Philip Snowden, labor, as "an abject confession of hopelessness and failure." After the House had defeated the motion of censure by a vote of 331 to 151, various projects for relieving the situation were announced.

Movement of men in search of work to other parts of the empire would be facilitated, the government announced.

Sale of Liquor Supports Crime Rings in Cities

SEATTLE, July 25.—(P)—Enforcement or repeal of the Eighteenth amendment was held to be one of the requirements for effectively combating crime in the United States in a report of the criminology and criminal law section of the American Bar association, delivered before the national organization here last night.

The report stressed that the immense profits from the manufacture and distribution of liquor under prohibition have evolved a new type of professional criminal in many cities and that criminal organizations have forfeited themselves behind this new illicit wealth.

The criminology report, prepared by Arthur V. Lashley, director of the Illinois and Missouri crime surveys, has yet to be acted upon by the convention proper. Approval of its findings and recommendations will be sought of the convention by Justin Miller, dean of the law school of the University of Southern California and chairman of the criminal law section.

Among Lashley's recommendations were: Permanent confinement of habitual offenders.

Enforcement or repeal of the prohibition amendment and laws.

Organization of bureaus of criminal statistics and identification to provide more adequate means of determining habitual offenders.

"The bootlegger, the rum runner, the gangster, the hijacker, the bribe giver and the bribe taker and all other products of non-enforcement must be suppressed if orderly government under the law is to be restored," Lashley said.

TUNNEY WILL FLY TO HIS BIG FIGHT. He probably thinks the chances of losing his life that way are as remote as his fears that he will lose the battle.

Those who flirt with the law of averages must take the consequences, and this law applies to most everything we do.

Picking the Men It is a favorite method in politics to label all of one's opponents as bad apples and throw them out of the barrel.

It is possible, however, to point out men who have stood the test and will not be easily damaged in the minds of the public.

It is difficult to defend both the rights of the State and the land owner. The present land commissioner is trying to do this conscientiously, and is courageously backing the men who bought lands in good faith.

Tenure in office is a very debatable question. Under democratic government, elections come frequently enough to weaken the system.

Nationally, the frequent elections tend to bring about sluggish business and diplomacy. State affairs slow down as public officials take the streets and trains to defend their positions.

If the salaries of officials are placed too high, competition for the positions increases the difficulty; if placed too low the right calibre of men will not be attracted.

Some elected officials hold their places with honor for many years. Seemingly, it should be possible for other good men or women to do likewise.

It is likely that an unusually large number of state officials will be re-elected. Where experiences and dependability are valuable, they should be recognized.

WASHINGTON—The electoral college system, as pointed out by Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska, is one of the most serious barriers in the face of a new third party or any independent candidate.

Numerous organizations and thousands of individuals had urged Norris to head another ticket. Norris had no objection to fighting a losing fight; he has done that often.

Norris wants a constitutional amendment abolishing the electoral college and allowing election of presidents by direct popular vote. He admits that there is no strong sentiment for that, but insists that there would be if the people realized how thoroughly hog-tied they were by the existing system.

"We ought to make it easy for a man to run for the presidency instead of making it especially hard," says Norris.

The Nebraska senator estimates that it would require several hundred thousand dollars merely to get the names of his electors on the ballot. Even then, only one or two states—Nebraska is one—would permit the name of the candidate to appear.

Naturally, the old parties which now operate the political machinery have no interest in seeing the ballots cluttered up any more than they are.

Furthermore, their politicians correctly argue, whenever a protest candidate comes along, either in one of the old parties like Bryan, or on a new ticket, they can easily grab any popular idea he may prove to have and force him to look for a new one.

The hardest work involved in getting another candidate on the ballot consists of lining up electors and getting them on the ballot in each state by petition or other method prescribed by law.

Tunney Ends His Training in Good State of Mind

By WILLIAM H. KING
Associated Press Sports Writer

SPECULATOR, N. Y., July 25.—(AP)—For three months Gene Tunney has toiled through a most rigorous training season and now, thanks to his own efforts alone, he is physically and mentally perfect for the fray with his rugged New Zealand challenger tomorrow night.

Though Tunney has fought but once since 1926, when he wrested his title from Jack Dempsey to Tom Heeney's 14 bouts in the same space of time, he will enter the ring better boxer of the two. He has probably gained a fistic science during his long lay off, for he has always been a close student of his trade.

Tunney claims he has never been stronger, that he is punching harder, and he has confidently predicted that he will defeat Heeney, probably by a knockout.

During his training siege, during which he has never appeared outside of the ring in anything but a sweater, shabby linen trousers and an old pair of shoes, scarcely noble raiment for the ruler of fistiana, Tunney has been developing a powerful right hand body punch, a blow which Heeney has always had great trouble fending.

He has never been savage with his capable sparring partners, Harold Mays and Billy Vidabek, the Bayonne, N. J., heavyweights, but during his numerous proved, that he has acquired a right hand punch packing knockout force.

He completed his ring practice yesterday by going two rounds with each of these boys. He worked so fast against them that they appeared clumsy and awkward.

"I am ready," Tunney said when he left the ring. "Heeney is a rugged foe but I have complete confidence in my own ability. I am better than I was for Jack Dempsey last year."

Tunney's only companion today was Orrin Nobles, Seattle artist who has been sharing the champion's lake side cabin for several weeks. Noble will remain with Tunney until tomorrow morning when Tunney takes off from Lake Pleasant in a dual motorized Sikorsky amphibian on a flight to New York, where he will weigh in at the Madison Square Garden at 2 p.m.

Though most of Tunney's admirers and thousands of his well wishers have pleaded with him to try a more commonplace means of traveling, he has remained obstinate.

The plane will be piloted by Bill Winston, Curtiss field aviator who first taught Col. Charles A. Lindbergh to fly. Charles Bob of New York, owner of the plane, will be a passenger.

Unlike most boxers, Tunney has not become ill-tempered and nervous with the end of his training. He calmly went through his training yesterday and last night patiently conversed with well wishers until 9 p.m., when he retired to his cabin.

Cardinals Leap Ahead in First of Eastern Games

BY HERBERT W. BARKER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Facing possibly the crucial test of the campaign, the St. Louis Cardinals have started their second eastern invasion with a victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers and stretched their lead over the field in the National League race to four and a half games.

Home runs decided the issue at Brooklyn Tuesday when the Cards nosed out a 2 to 1 victory over Uncle Robby's struggling Dodgers. Jess Petty was in fine form, but Jim Bottomley's 21st homer of the season and Chick Hafey's fifteenth sent Jess to the showers. Wee Willie Sherdel held the Robins helpless except in the fourth when a pass and two singles gave Brooklyn its only run.

The Reds moved to within a game of the idle Cubs by taking the Phils into camp, 5 to 1. Eppa Rixey holding the Quakers to six scattered hits.

Back on his home lot, John McGraw shook up the New York Giants' batting order and Larry Benson turned in a 6 to 3 victory over the onrushing Pirates of Pittsburgh. Joe Dawson, a pitcher well except for the sixth inning when the Giants scored five times, three runs riding home on Mel Ott's home run.

Jack Russell and the Boston Red Sox would have turned back the New York Yankees, American league champions, for the second day in a row, had their battle at Boston ended in the eighth inning. At the close of that frame Russell had outpitched Herb Pennock and the six were leading by 3 to 1. In the ninth, however, six hits, a sacrifice fly and a stolen base gave the Yanks four runs and the game, 5 to 3.

Heeney Believes He Will Win—But Doesn't Care

By CHARLES W. DUNKLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

FAIRHAVEN, N. J., July 25.—(AP)—A man without temperment—that is Tom Heeney, the rock ribbed, barrel-chested New Zealander who tomorrow night battles Gene Tunney for the world's heavyweight championship.

"Blime me, if I can get what you Americans call a kick out of it," Heeney says, "I guess I haven't got any of that temperment stuff in me. Meeting Tunney of course is a big chance for me—it may mean my financial independence, but I cannot get excited about it. It is just a sporting proposition. If I can't win I want to be a good loser."

Heeney might just as well be a horse shoer or the plumber that he used to be instead of the challenger for the world's heavyweight title as far as appearances go. He is as common as an old shoe with no attempt at high hatness, no desire to be out of the ordinary. He walks around the camp in a rumpled pair of old blue trousers, a pair of comfortable oxfords ruffled at the heel, coatless and hatless and with a shirt open at the neck. He is always mixing with everybody, chatting about any question that comes up.

He is ever ready to do anything asked of him, although at times the doing is inconvenient. One cannot help liking him. His blue Irish eyes look straight into yours and flashes of true Irish wit.

He has made a host of friends since he first hit America fifteen months ago and battled his way through to a shot at the championship on sheer merit. He has not earned the title of "hard rock from down under" for nothing.

Heeney was ordered to go into seclusion today. If he had his way about it, he would sit out in the shade of the live pine tree out in the yard, or better still sit in the back room of any old time saloon and knock over a few beers.

With Tunney going to the battle grounds in an airplane, Heeney will go to the scene by boat. He has accepted the offer of Chris Schmidt, a resident of Rumson, a nearby village, to make the trip. They intend to leave Seabright during the morning, arriving in New York just in time to weigh in. Heeney expects to scale 198 pounds, but may go into the ring weighing two pounds heavier. He weighed 202 pounds before his final workout yesterday but 198 afterwards.

CAL'S FISHING IMPROVES

SUPERIOR, Wis., July 25.—(AP)—Breaking into new fishing grounds, President Coolidge has proved his worth as an angler in the open waters of Wisconsin lakes.

With Mrs. Coolidge, his guide and secret service men as his only audience, the chief executive abandoned the Bruie river late yesterday and in an expedition which lasted till after sunset traveled 20 miles in quest of bass on Island Lake.

Porsaking his regular dinner hour and breaking all precedent, Mr. Coolidge stayed on the water till darkness counseled return to Cedar Island Lodge but not before he could boast of a catch of ten bass.

Olympic Team's Appetite Worries Chef of Liner

AMSTERDAM, Holland, July 25.—(AP)—American mothers who have trouble keeping healthy youngsters from being hungry will sympathize with Chief Steward Charles Heidorn of the President Roosevelt, who is responsible for the feeding of nearly 300 American Olympic girls and youths on the liner which is moored snugly in an inlet of the Zuider Zee here.

Heidorn provides real American meals for the athletes from the United States. He was faced with the major crisis of his career yesterday—one that any mother knows—when the President Roosevelt experienced an ice cream famine. A chewing gum crisis occurred only a few days out of New York but didn't prove nearly as serious as the present one.

Heidorn spent a frantic day finding a new source of supply and he finally contracted with an Amsterdam caterer to meet the Roosevelt's ice cream needs if it takes a ton daily.

"I've been at sea for twenty-five years and never have seen such appetites," declared the chief steward as he tallied up 640 portions of ice cream and 580 steaks served at one dinner.

"There is only the team aboard. Figure it out for yourself. Some of our fellows certainly are repeaters."

Texas League Leaders Halted in Tuesday Games

The swift pace of three leaders, Houston, Wichita Falls, and Dallas, in the fight for the Texas league pennant was checked Tuesday when they met defeat in games variously featured by good pitching and timely hitting. The Buffs and the Spudders remained in a deadlock for first place while the Steers followed at a distance of two games. San Antonio, in fourth place, drew to within a half game of Dallas by defeating Wichita Falls, 5 to 4.

Laying down a barrage of base hits in early frames, the Bears acquired a four-run lead by the end of the fifth round, and apparently faced easy sailing until the Spudders started slugging fireworks on their own account. The Spudders picked up runs in the sixth and seventh frames, and in the eighth tied the count with a smashing two-run rally. Leslie Cox, former University of Texas hurler, was rushed to the breach and checked the rampaging Wichitans, while the Bears scored the winning run when Nason doubled, moved to third on a fielder's choice, and raced home on a sacrifice fly.

Estrada pitched Shreveport to a 7 to 3 victory over Houston, entering the game in the second frame after Dickerman had developed wildness and holding the Buffs scoreless for the rest of the contest.

An eighth-inning drive that netted five runs enabled Beaumont to defeat Dallas, 8 to 4. The Exporters took the lead by scoring three runs in the first and second innings, but were passed when the Steers counted four times in the fourth and fifth.

Good pitching by Wachtel and Barnabe featured the game between Waco and Fort Worth, which the Cubs won 5 to 4. Each club got six hits.

Omaha Manager Tenders Resignation

OMAHA, July 25.—(AP)—Fred Luderus has resigned as manager of the Omaha western league baseball club and will leave Thursday night for his home in Three Lakes, Wis., he announced today.

Luderus gave as his reason his wife's illness and her inability to enjoy the Luderus summer resort at Three Lakes alone.

Marine Officer Believes Sandino About Whipped

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, July 25.—(AP)—Brigadier General Logan Geland, commanding American Marines, believes the rebel General Augusto Sandino is near the Honduras border with his field of operations small. He thinks that there is small likelihood that the insurgents will be able to cause further serious disturbance.

Threats that Sandino intends to conserve his forces until shortly before the national election on November 4 and stage an outbreak to nullify the election are not taken seriously in Marine quarters.

"Sometimes Sandino may cross into Honduras and then return to Nicaragua," General Geland said, "but the scope of his operations is confined to a comparatively small area."

"The Marines are as active as ever patrolling the northern area, and there is little chance that the rebels will be able to cause further serious disturbances. Patrols in both the East and West are tightening their grip."

At present there are nearly 6,000 marines in Nicaragua. These are distributed at fifty-four different posts. It is thought that this makes it practically impossible during the presidential election to practically impossible.

Soviet Rescue Ship to Continue Work

MOSCOW, July 25.—(AP)—The Soviet rescue commission today ordered the icebreaker Sedov, now in arctic waters, to explore the region around Franz Joseph Land and to push in a northwesterly direction in search of the missing Amundsen group and the six men of the Italia carried off in the dirigible's bag on May 25.

The Sedov is equipped with an airplane and particularly will explore the Cape Flora section, one of the southernmost points of Franz Joseph Land.

The icebreaker Malgin anchored today off Anchorage after returning from an unsuccessful search for the still missing man. Prof. Vize, head of the expedition, immediately left for Moscow to submit a report of the Malgin's work.

The public health of the State is a question not usually given much consideration. It is vital, however, to every citizen of Texas. Hospitals and Insane Asylums are being filled at a rate that is alarming to the medical profession. The increasing demand for housing facilities at the State hospitals for the insane is growing each year. We continue to build and provide a prison for these unfortunate people instead of equipping these institutions with sufficient funds and proper equipment with which to treat the insane and return them to normal life. It is estimated that 60 per cent of the patients committed to hospitals for the insane are curable. Yet most of them remain in these institutions until death, and at a great cost to the State. Our system is both inhuman and expensive. The institutions are doing the best they can with the means they have at hand, but they are all handicapped, and must reconcile themselves to the fact that they are operating prisons instead of hospitals so that they are simply confining, and not permitted to treat persons who are so unfortunate as to become mentally deranged.

Prohibition having been written in both the Constitution of the United States and the State of Texas is, in my opinion, a settled question. It was my

West Texan

SENATOR J. D. FARNELL

of Wichita Falls, candidate for Lieutenant Governor, submits the following for the consideration of the voters before they cast their vote in the July 28 primary:

"I am against any more laws." We are legislated and regulated to death. We may not be able to lower taxes but a halt must be called on a further increase.

The tax-payer is as much concerned about the economic expenditure of public money as he is the amount collected. The tax burden does not fall equally upon all persons and industries at the present time. For instance: More than twenty million dollars ($20,000,000) is collected each year on automobile license fees and the gasoline tax. Every man driving an automobile and buying gasoline, pays the tax, yet the law provides that this money can only be spent upon approximately 7 per cent of the highways of our State.

Before any of it can be spent in a county, they must vote bonds, and raise additional money for the construction of State highways. In other words, all the people are taxed to build a small percentage of the roads, and more than 70 per cent of the taxpayers receive no direct benefits from these roads. If a tax-payer happens to live on a designated highway or near one, well and good, but most of them are not fortunate enough to live upon these highways. The primary purpose of building hard surfaced roads was to enable the producer to transfer his products from the farm to the market.

However, our enthusiasm for "tourists and motor bus" roads has led us into a field of inter-county, and inter-state transportation. We are spending the money derived from both state and local sources, for the construction of main highways, and leaving the rural community in the mud.

I am aware of the fact that these roads are essential to the development of the State and would not discontinue constructing them, but we must stop taking all of the money a county is able to raise, for the purpose of building inter-county and inter-state roads.

I will favor the State maintaining and constructing its own system of roads. Leaving the money raised by the county to be used in constructing rural or lateral roads. If this is not done, it will be a hundred years before a county-wide system of roads can be built.

Much has been said about farm relief and financing the farm. In my opinion the best way to give farm relief is to give them good roads in every community and a stabilized market for their products. When this is done the farmer will finance himself, and the State and National Government will not be burdened with the so-called farm relief.

Good roads to the market and efficient schools will bring prosperity to any community. The question is not so much how high are our taxes to be but how will the money be spent, and what results will we get from it.

The public health of the State is a question not usually given much consideration. It is vital, however, to every citizen of Texas. Hospitals and Insane Asylums are being filled at a rate that is alarming to the medical profession. The increasing demand for housing facilities at the State hospitals for the insane is growing each year. We continue to build and provide a prison for these unfortunate people instead of equipping these institutions with sufficient funds and proper equipment with which to treat the insane and return them to normal life. It is estimated that 60 per cent of the patients committed to hospitals for the insane are curable. Yet most of them remain in these institutions until death, and at a great cost to the State. Our system is both inhuman and expensive. The institutions are doing the best they can with the means they have at hand, but they are all handicapped, and must reconcile themselves to the fact that they are operating prisons instead of hospitals so that they are simply confining, and not permitted to treat persons who are so unfortunate as to become mentally deranged.

Prohibition having been written in both the Constitution of the United States and the State of Texas is, in my opinion, a settled question. It was my privilege to cast a vote as a member of the Thirty-Sixth Legislature, in favor of the ratification of the Eighteenth Amendment. I also voted for the Dean Bill, which put into execution the prohibition amendment to the Constitution of Texas. Since voting for these measures I have never felt it necessary to apologize to any one for any action. I have no criticism to make of either the State or Federal law, but do regret that the Republican Party has shown so little regard for the Volstead Act and has made little or no effort to enforce it. At that we are better off, from a social and economical standpoint, than we were prior to the passage of these acts. Prohibition has come to stay and no party will be able to take us back to the days of open saloons.

It would be impossible for me to discuss in detail all the important issues that are before the people in this campaign. I desire to submit my candidacy upon the basis that my past record in public life entitles me to the consideration of the voters of the State.

I was born in Cook county and reared in Wise. Having moved, in my early manhood, to Vernon, in Wilbarger County, and remained there until I came here, in 1920.

I have never scratched a Democratic ticket, and expect to vote for every nominee in the party at the coming election in November.

I will not resort to mud-slinging and demagoguery in the campaign. I had rather lose the office than to defame the character of one of my opponents. I shall discuss their public record at length, but not one time during the campaign will I resort to the disreputable practice of trying to belittle or embarrass them in order that I might appeal to the prejudices of the sovereign voters of this State.

Walter Allen Is Heartily Endorsed by Home Paper

Walter Allen, attorney of Stinnet and formerly of Perryton and Canadian, authorizes the News to remind the voters of his candidacy for district attorney of the 31st district court.

In announcing his candidacy, the Ochiltree County Herald of Perryton where he was reared, had the following to say:

"Attorney Walter Allen of Stinnet formerly of Perryton and Canadian, is an announced candidate for the office of district attorney of the 31st district, Judge W. R. Ewing's court.

"Mr. Allen was reared in Ochiltree County, having moved from Canadian with his parents to Ochiltree when a boy. He is a son of the late Judge S. J. Allen and a member of a prominent pioneer family of Perryton. He is a brother and law partner of Jack Allen the firm maintaining law office at both Perryton and Stinnet.

"He is an ex-service man, having held the rank of Captain during the World War.

"He was educated in law at the University of Texas, where as a young man he worked his way through school. He has practiced law in this district 14 years, during which he has had cases in practically all, if not all of the nine counties of the district, knows the people of the district and their problems.

"Mr. Allen is in the prime of life and is thoroughly qualified, experienced and capable of handling the office and prosecuting major crimes with which district attorney has to deal.

"He is a man of family, rearing his family in the district. He has pioneered and helped develop the district and is a product of the district."

LOVE FOR TWO advertisement featuring Ruth Dewey Groves and a photograph of a couple.

THIS HAS HAPPENED BERTIE LOU WARD married ROD BRYER, who had previously been engaged to LILA MARSH. They spent an ideal honeymoon and the only shadow on the bride's happiness is Lila's persistence in brooding to their friends that she was Rod's first love.

CHAPTER XX "HERE couldn't be any place for my thoughts in your head," Rod replied quizzically and hardly with a smile.

"You don't want a drink, do you?" she asked, in a negative-inviting tone. Rod shook his head.

"Come in here, then," she said, and turned toward the drawing room door, her hand still on his arm. She had left the door open, but now she closed it behind them.

"There was a friendly fire and an incredibly comfortable looking sofa before it. Lila led Rod over to it and pushed him down upon the cream and gold satin cushions.

"Here," she offered cigarettes in an ivory box. A golden lamp revealed that Rod's hand shook slightly when he held a lighted taper to the tobacco.

"Losing sleep," Lila commented aloud. "Up too much," Rod acknowledged. "Do you really think that wealth makes a person free of all worry?" she asked suddenly.

she said, a bit impatiently. "I know you must be having a hard time, Rod. And it's so utterly unnecessary, too, because Cyrus will give you a good job any time you want it."

ROD frowned. Bertie Lou had spoken of the same thing not long ago as a future possibility. He'd flatly told her that was one thing he wasn't going to do.

"Let's get back to the show," he said, putting the glass down on a smoking stand. Lila pressed a hand on his chest to keep him from rising.

"You see," she flbed at him. "Bertie Lou is a better friend. I'm sorry, because I thought you were so happy with her that you couldn't hold the past against me."

"I don't," Rod said shortly. "No offense, Lila, since you're so happy with Cy, but I owe you a lot for giving me the gate."

"A flicker, too brief to betray its meaning, came to Lila's eyes and was gone. "Then why, if I'm mean-fingered to you, should you refuse a position from Cy?" she asked.

Rod squirmed. She saw that and laughed at him. "Don't be foolish, Rod. You have a right to be happy. Heaven knows you and Bertie Lou are like two suckers doves. But you can't enjoy life without any money, not here in New York and with the friends you've got."

"Rod groaned. "I'm always telling Bertie Lou we don't belong with you and Cy and the rest of 'em." "And Bertie Lou has too much sense to listen to you. No, Rod, you're double crossing yourself somewhere. I could understand how you'd feel about it if you were still in love with me. But you say you're not. And you know that the lack of money is turning you into a joyless old foggy and yet you won't accept your chance to give Bertie Lou the things all women want."

"It's a shame the way the poor kid slaves in that apartment. Just for your pride. If you love her so much I should think you'd be glad to sacrifice a little of it—though I can't see how you'd have to do that just by taking a position with Cy—to make—really happy."

"Did Bertie Lou ever tell you how I had to get down on my knees and beg her to accept me as a friend?" she asked quietly.

"You see I'm already wed. Old Ab couldn't do a thing for me."

LILA did not answer him at once. Bertie Lou and another girl were opening the door. Lila saw them in the mirror over the mantelpiece.

"Men can make money," she said, motioning over her shoulder for the new arrivals to join them on the sofa.

"The other girl turned back to the library but Bertie Lou remained. The opportunity for prolonged conversation among them had already passed, however, for guests were now arriving rapidly and Lila had to give up her place beside Rod.

Later in the evening she found another chance for a talk with him. A well-known Broadway entertainer was giving imitations of famous stars and everyone was crowded into the drawing room. Lila and Rod stood near the door.

Presently, under cover of the stir at the end of a particularly clever and mirth-provoking sketch, she drew him into the hall. "I must give an order to Wilkins," she said. "Come with me, will you?"

Rod was in no mood for comedy. He did not mind leaving the drawing room. Lila led him into the library. "Wait here a minute," she told him. "I'd better go out to the pantry. Look around. You may find a cup of punch left."

Rod went over to a chair by a window that someone had opened. LILA was back in a few minutes. "How would you like some

"All right, I'm tired too," Bertie Lou agreed. Rod told her nothing that night of Lila's talk with him. He was swayed by it, tempted. After all, if he earned the salary . . . he was a whiz at figures . . . what had his old puppy love for Lila to do with it? Bertie Lou was the one person to be considered now. And Lila was a brick to want to help him. What a surprise she'd turned out to be all around. A regular fellow.

She'd have been still more of a surprise if he could have seen her at that moment. (To Be Continued)
