CHIMNEY PLANTS ARE CLOSED IN NEW SITDOWN

6,400 ARE AFFECTED WHILE 8,000 KEEP ON WORKING

FLINT, Mich., March 8 (AP)—A strike in the motor assembly division of the Chevrolet Motor Co. closed four plants this morning, affecting 6,400 men. Eight thousand men continued at work.

The company said the strike was confined to plant No. 4, where motors are assembled, but that plants Nos. 5, 8 and 9 were closed because their operations are dependent upon production in No. 4.

The grievance which caused today's strike apparently was the speeding up of assembly lines. A union spokesman said Saturday night that five employees, one of them a foreman, had been discharged because the foreman refused to obey a speed-up order.

A conference between representatives of the United Automobile Workers of America and Arnold Lenz, Flint area manager for Chevrolet, was arranged to discuss grievances which caused a brief strike Saturday night.

Between 400 and 600 men still were in plant No. 4 at 10 a. m. They had not barricaded the plant, the usual procedure in a sit-down strike, after the company announced no attempt would be made to eject them or to resume production pending the outcome of negotiations.

Harry Coen, assistant manufacturing manager, said the strike was a continuation of a dispute which started Saturday over the company's refusal to discharge or transfer a workman in plant No. 4 who was regarded by union members as a leader of non-union activities.

A company official said 35 union men "sat down" at their places when the non-union workers who were present they objected appeared for work this morning. He said non-union employees threatened to stop work if the man were discharged or transferred and that the plant was closed until the differences could be settled.

The dispute started Saturday and resulted in closing the plants Saturday night with an understanding that the men would return to work today pending negotiations. They had worked only an hour this morning when the strike was resumed.

NEW SECURITY RULES HERE ARE ANNOUNCED

Postmaster C. H. Walker today announced that no applications for numbers under the Social Security Act will be taken at the postoffice here excepting between the hours of 4 and 6 p. m.

During the past few weeks Postmaster Walker has been besieged with requests throughout the day time, and he has been complying with requests.

"People of this area have had since last November to get their application on file," Postmaster Walker said. "Several rush applicants when asked why they didn't have their number remarked that they didn't know they were going to get a job."

The postmaster reminds everyone that they should have a number regardless of whether they have a job or not. They can't be employed without a number and it doesn't cost anything to get one.

CAR CRASHES INTO AYER'S FACTORY HERE

RALPH WALKER BADLY INJURED; BUILDING IS DAMAGED

A second member of the Walker family came out second best in an accident yesterday morning when a car in which Ralph Walker was riding crashed into the Ayer & Son Mattress Company at 1222 South Barnes street. Walker was badly cut about the face and head and buried.

Less than a week ago his brother, Arnold Walker, was on route to a fire south of Pampa when the car in which he was riding overturned. He suffered many body bruises and gashes on his head and legs. The boys are sons of Mrs. Martha Walker.

Officers investigating the accident yesterday morning had not turned in a report up to noon today. Vernon Lewis, driver of the car, told officers he served to miss a car in front of him and saw he was about to strike an approaching maniche. He swung into the ditch to avoid an accident and his car jumped into the shallow bank and crashed into the building.

The car buried itself in a bed and spring and a bundle of cotton, leaving a gaping hole in the corner and side of the building. Walker was killed by the falling wreckage. Lewis escaped with only a few bruises.

HIGH-LIGHTS IN HISTORY OF BORGER TOLD

11TH BIRTHDAY BEING CELEBRATED BY OIL TOWN

EDITORS NOTE: In the following story, high-lights in the history of Borger, observing its 11th birthday today, are set forth. They carry the reader from the wild day 11 years ago when oil first was discovered down to the present in a city, firmly established as an integral link in the great Panhandle of Texas.

BORGER, March 8 — During the years 1926 and 1927, while a steady stream of people, some looking for adventure, others for a place to get rich quickly and then move on to another territory, and still others were visiting Borger to find its possibilities as a commercial center, there were many among the wanderers who came intending to make this their permanent home right from the beginning.

One by one the adventurers drifted onward. Many of the merchants found this such good territory that they have remained and are among our list of pioneers. Those looking over the field for businesses have settled down or have gone their way, leaving behind the people who were to make Borger one of the most outstanding communities in the southwest.

Gradually during those two years these people organized with one common purpose in mind—to make of this swarming beehive of people a civilized city with modern advantages of other cities.

The first incident of importance that occurred was in December, 1926, the burning of a block of shacks used as buildings in the block where the Rig Theater now stands. The buildings had to be rebuilt, and they were constructed of brick, the first brick buildings here, to stand for permanent.

On January 11 the first fire truck was brought to Borger for already the city saw the need of an efficient fire fighting squad. This one fire truck served the community until the arrival of the second on July 24, 1927. The fire department now occupies a well equipped quarters in the modern brick building which is the city hall.

The next incident of importance with the installation of a freight service for Borger, so that the products being manufactured could be shipped out to meet the rapid demand, and so that merchants would be able to supply their customers. This service was installed on October 16, 1926.

The city celebrated its first birthday on March 8, 1927, with a gala showing of fireworks and a parade by A. A. Meredith, district director at Amarillo.

Mr. Meredith said the resignation was effective Saturday and that L. O. Shropshire, of San Antonio, had been named as Mr. Holder's successor. Mr. Shropshire has been state field engineer for WPA and has been with the administration since its beginning. He formerly was connected with CWA and the Texas Relief commission.

Director Meredith stated that as a result of Mr. Holder's resignation other changes in the district WPA personnel probably will be made under reorganization set-up for District 16.

50-Year Wheeler Resident Recalls Pioneer Day Incidents At Mobeetie

Editor's Note: The following is one of a series of stories interesting pioneer personalities of this section, and describing life in the early days. This article written by Lulu Mae Farley, is based on an interview with M. V. Sanders of Wheeler, father of P. O. Sanders of Pampa. It will be published in three installments.

By LULU MAE FARLEY (Continued from Sunday)

"The spring roundup was the big occasion of the year. Cowboys from all the ranges gathered in one large round-up. In the morning we rounded up herds and then each outfit 'cut-out' his own cattle. We usually spent the afternoon in branding the calves. If any rancher couldn't be present for the work, his neighbors did his work for him. It was pretty hard work and we were always glad when the cook yelled 'Come and get it.' We gathered around the chuck wagon to get our plate of steaming food. We didn't have anything fancy to eat, but we had plenty of good grub. We didn't have much variety either. Beans, potatoes, and onions were the only vegetables we ever had. We had fresh beef and bacon, some kind of dried fruit, and 'sour dough' biscuits. After we had finished supper, we were usually glad to get out our bedding and prepare for the night. Sometimes we sat around the camp fires and told stories and sometimes a cowboy sang some songs. I remember working on one ranch where there was a cowpuncher who could sing well. He would sing as long as we made requests—we often kept him singing until after midnight. About the only musical instrument these singing cowboys had was a harmonica.

"We always told stories of things in the past. When we got a letter, which was seldom, we had to read them around the fire and discuss them with the rest of the boys. When a boy wrote a letter, especially to his girl, he always received plenty of help from the rest of the bunchers.

"After we had listened to songs and told stories and jokes around the fire we got ready for bed. We rolled up in our blankets and 'sog-gens' (comforts) and slept just anywhere. It wasn't very long, however, until we heard—'All hands out'—and we had to get up and to our work long before daylight.

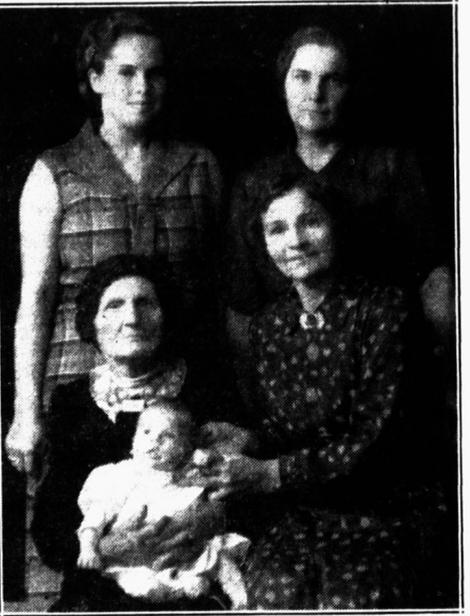

"The cattle were turned loose in the winter and allowed to 'drift.' Sometimes they drifted as far as a member working on one ranch where there was a cowpuncher who could sing well. He would sing as long as we made requests—we often kept him singing until after midnight. About the only musical instrument these singing cowboys had was a harmonica.

Five Generation Family Lived Here

Families in which members of five generations are living are not only unusual but scarce, and the above picture of a five-generation family was taken a short time before the death of Mrs. Marian Walstad, shown holding her great-great-grandson, aged six weeks. Sitting by Mrs. Walstad is Mrs. J. A. King, 64 years old. Standing are, left to right, Mrs. Eileen Johnston, and her mother, Mrs. Grace Bunting. Mrs. Walstad, Panhandle pioneer, died here last week, leaving more than 140 direct descendants, including 80 great-grandchildren.

Prosecutor Of Strikers Shot In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, March 8 (AP)—District Attorney Buren Fitts, wounded in the arm by a "novice gunman" last night, lay behind guarded hospital doors today while a huge manhunt spring into full cry for the assassin.

The 42-year-old Texas-born prosecutor was ambushed by a man in a black sedan, he said, as he drove the 200 yards from his ranch to his father's home along a country road in suburban Monrovia.

A bullet caromed off his left elbow and tore through the forearm muscles.

"The district attorney has withstood the shock of the injury excellently," announced Dr. Ellis Jones after performing an operation.

Fitts, still under the effects of an anesthetic, gave a brief statement as he was wheeled from the surgery. He was turning out of his driveway into a public avenue, he said, when he suddenly saw the sedan parked back of a clump of bushes.

The car was dark but inside he could see the shadowy forms of "three or four men."

"I knew I was in for trouble," he continued. "The sedan car moved alongside mine—the runningboards almost touching. A man leaned out of the sedan. There was a spurt of fire. A shot! My windshield was shattered and my left arm, which had been resting on the sill of the left front door, dropped helplessly at my side."

"I am certain two shots were fired. As the black sedan roared away, I got my car in gear and drove to the home of my parents."

Only one bullet was found. Marshaling his case investigators, Sheriff Eugene Biscuzzi declared the shooting "unquestionably the work of amateurs. No expert machine-gunner or hardened gangster would have bungled the job. The only reason Fitts wasn't killed was because a novice gunman was appointed to 'get' him."

The militant prosecutor, whose eight years in office have seen him convict some of the west's most notorious criminals, staggered up to his parents' house and called: "Mother! I'm shot!"

Relations said Fitts' first concern was for Mary Lou, his adopted 10-year-old daughter, who has been guarded for several months since threats were made against the district attorney.

"Don't let them get Mary Lou!" he was quoted as saying.

Guards at the Fitts family were increased last week following the sit-down strike at the Douglas Aircraft factory. Fitts obtained the indictment of 343 sit-downers on charges of conspiracy to trespass and yesterday conferred with police on reported molestation of Douglas workers.

His office announced scores of threatening messages had reached him after the indictments were voted at his request.

MOVEMENT IS WORST SINCE 1906 DISASTER

STOCK TUMBLES FROM SHELVES IN STORES OF BAY CITY

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8 (AP)—Residents of the San Francisco bay region were shaken from sleep by an earthquake at 2:32 a. m. today, which knocked articles from shelves and walls in Eastbay cities.

Officers at the Albany police station and the sheriff's office in Martinez declared the movement was the sharpest they had felt since the 1906 disaster.

The quake started an Albany burglar alarm ringing and a radio station broadcast that a bank had been blown up.

Bottles on liquor store shelves were shaken to the floor and broken in an Albany store.

The shock was less severe in San Francisco, though the telephone company reported hundreds of calls by alarmed residents. Telephone exchanges were so badly swamped it sometimes took 15 minutes to complete a call.

An attendant at the office of Dr. Perry Byerly, seismologist of the University of California, said the seismograph at Berkeley indicated the quake center was "within 20, probably 15 miles."

He said that the fact the movement appeared more severe on the Eastbay side, would seem to indicate it was caused by a slipping of what is known as the Hayward fault.

He described the quake as of "moderate" intensity.

Toll collectors on the San Francisco-Oakland bridge reported a marked pick-up in traffic shortly after the shock. They said motorists indicated they were in a hurry to leave the city.

Street lights were put out of commission in some Eastbay sections.

One resident of Richmond reported he was shaken out of his chair. The earthquake, which lasted not more than two or three seconds, came with a rolling motion in San Francisco and jolting shocks in the Eastbay.

A check by Oakland police indicated that principal damage was in stores, where stock was tumbled from shelves.

MATTSON MURDER MAY BE UNSOLVED CRIME

TACOMA, Wash., March 8 (AP)—The kidnap-murder of 10-year-old Charles Mattson appeared today headed toward a permanent listing among America's great unsolved crimes.

The nation's ace manhunters, stymied completely, apparently had only the hope that the killer may yet make a revealing mistake.

Of the hundreds of suspects arrested since the Tacoma boy's body was found 56 days ago, not one has been definitely connected with the crime.

The federal bureau of investigation still had some of its best agents assigned to the case headed by Inspector Earl Connelly.

To identify the criminal, officers have only the descriptions of three youngsters, William and Muriel Mattson and Virginia Chatfield. From these descriptions, they have pieced together a composite drawing; but the children have been unable to point to any picture among the hundreds of rogues' gallery portraits shown them as resembling the man who snatched Charles from his home last Dec. 27.

QUANAH HUSBAND HELD IN DOUBLE SHOOTING

QUANAH, March 8 (AP)—W. J. Johnson was held in the Hardeman county jail here today on a charge of murder with no bond set in connection with the Sunday slaying of Jim Reed while Mrs. Johnson lay near death in a Quannah hospital.

Witnesses said Johnson, who had been estranged from his wife for several months, shot Reed and Mrs. Johnson as they sat in a car outside a Quannah residence about 3 o'clock Sunday morning. The two shooting victims had just left a party.

Reed died instantly from a bullet through the heart. Hospital attendants held no hope for the recovery of Mrs. Johnson, shot through the abdomen.

McLEAN, March 8.—The annual dinner honoring the husbands of members of the Pioneer Study club was given in the basement of the Methodist church Thursday evening. The St. Patrick's day theme was carried out.

Amateur Night a Success.

A large crowd enjoyed the amateur program sponsored by the Ward School Parent-Teacher association Friday evening at the high school auditorium. Nineteen numbers were heard. Judges were teachers from Alameda schools.

The first prize of $3 was won by section 1 of the seventh grade. The stunt, according to the judges, was given first because of its originality. Over the loud speaker was heard a voice saying that the class had perfected a machine to pick up scenes and conversations at all times of the world and as proof, Queen Elizabeth, represented by Mary Ellen Gething, was shown accepting the proffer of the cape of Sir Walter Raleigh, who was portrayed by Wm. Mills, to keep from getting her feet muddy. Then the scene was switched to the present time and to the town of Sanger where the Mallow-Murdoch wedding was enacted—exactly the hour that was being performed. Members of the wedding party were Mattie Lee Wilson, Paul Bond, L. L. Smith, Naomi Hancock, Delmer Dorey.

Second place went to R. L. Floyd and Jesse Dean Cobb, representing the junior class. These young members of the All-American band won with an instrumental duet. Third place went to Joan Campbell, fifth grade, who tap danced, wearing skates.

Other numbers of unusual interest were a bubble dance by Thurman Adkins, a number by Wayland Floyd, and a "vocal" made from a cigar box, a broom handle, and one string; a cowboy scene by the senior class; a chorus by the pep squad members; "A Secret" by the Boy Scouts; a rope dance by Bobby Campbell and Gwendolyn Cooke, a duet by the two McClellan boys, the selling of Manhattan island by members of the 'B2 class; "Mother, O Mother" by Evonne Floyd and Thelma Jean Dabman; a negro skit by Opal Thacker and Lois Bradstreet; the wedding of Mr. Homer Economics and Miss Aggie Culture by the home economics girls; a girls' chorus by the sophomore class; a burlesque trombone solo by Jesse J. Cobb; a piano solo by Shirley Glass, readings by Vada Appling and Dorothy Sitter, and music by "the McLean Swinger."

Word comes from Mrs. Pete Fulbright, at the bedside of her sister, Mrs. E. O. Dennis, who last week was bitten by a black widow spider, that Mrs. Dennis is considered out of danger now.

Mrs. W. L. Campbell, who has been seriously ill in a Pampa hospital is much improved, according to reports.

Wilson Boyd was elected last week as chairman of the McLean chapter of the Red Cross to serve for the following year. Other officers are S. A. Cousins, vice president; Lee Wilson, secretary; Clifford Allison, treasurer; Reed Landers, roll call chairman; Jesse Cobb, assistant.

FAMILY'S FOOD IS SUBJECT OF CLUB PROGRAM

H. D. Groups Study Production and Preparation

Early gardens to provide fresh vegetables for the family may be grown by use of a cold-frame, Mrs. Julia E. Kelley, county agent, told Kingsmill Home Demonstration club when it met recently in the home of Mrs. E. R. Sunkel with Mrs. S. E. Elkins as hostess.

She told how to treat cloth with paraffine and gasoline to cover a cold-frame, and named many vegetables that can be started in such a small plot. Use of varied vegetables helps in planning meals for family health, she added.

"Don't kill your family with the food you give them. It is bad to make this mistake in ignorance, worse to know and make the same mistake," she said. A chart showing food needed each day by a healthy person was displayed, and members were asked to note new discoveries in food values and be broad-minded enough to change opinions and make new uses of foods.

Refreshments were served to 13 members and two guests, Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Bass Clay.

EMERGENCY FOOD SHELVES PLANNED.

Every home needs an emergency shelf well filled with food so that balanced meals may be prepared in a jiffy when unexpected guests arrive, members of Bell Home Demonstration club agreed in a round-table discussion Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Clyde King.

Just a few cans of food may be invaluable in times of emergency, they recalled, and the farm woman who cans her own foods in season has an opportunity to prepare just what she needs for hurried meals.

Refreshments were served in St. Patrick motif to six members and a guest, Mrs. Schultz. Afterward some time was spent hemming dish towels for the hostess.

In the business session plans were made to sponsor a pie supper soon. Refreshments were served in St. Patrick motif to six members and a guest, Mrs. Schultz. Afterward some time was spent hemming dish towels for the hostess.

Mrs. FDR Visits Son at Cowtown

PORT WORTH, March 8 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt faced a strenuous day here today after a night's rest at the home of her son, Elliott, near Fort Worth.

The first lady was driven here by her son and his wife from Huntsville where she made her first Texas lecture yesterday. Speaking at Sam Houston State Teachers' college, Mrs. Roosevelt made a plea for youth. She urged that older people, especially parents, help youth in every stage of life.

She was introduced by Mrs. Percy V. Pennycocker, a graduate of the school's first class. Asked how she was able to do so many things, Mrs. Roosevelt replied: "Learn to keep well, choose your interests and have the will and a plan to do it."

Two lectures, an informal luncheon and a reception and a press conference were on her schedule today.

FILM DIRECTOR ACTS AS CUPID

SAYS PRINCIPALS MUST LIKE EACH OTHER TO GET OVER

HOLLYWOOD, March 8 (AP)—A romantic team can't be very convincing unless the party of the first part likes the party of the second part pretty well, and vice versa, in the opinion of W. S. "One-Take" Van Dyke.

Van Dyke film director, is one of Hollywood's hardest-working cupids —for purely professional reasons, of course.

"In matching a romantic team," Van Dyke said today, "it's necessary to have people who work smoothly together, who really like one another and attract one another."

A motion picture audience can rightly suspect, says Van Dyke, that when screen lovers get a reputation for the whole-hearted and effective manner in which they go into clinches there is something to it, after all.

Not love, necessarily—not affection that has the slightest impression on their off-screen relationships. The screen lover may be a happy husband and a good father; the other half of the team a devoted wife.

But you can assume, said Van Dyke, that the two get along quite well if they don't, the audience detects it, and no amount of histrionics can completely conceal the friction.

Some of the teams he is credited with creating include those of Joan Crawford-Clark Gable, William Powell-Myrna Loy and Jeanette MacDonald-Nelson Eddy.

A more recent combination is that of Jean Harlow and Robert Taylor. At the moment he is acting as the John Alden for Spencer Tracy and Gladys George.

Telephone Company Reports Earnings

ST. LOUIS, March 8 (AP)—The Southwestern Bell Telephone company reported to its stockholders today that last year, for the first time since 1931, it had earned enough to cover common stock dividends paid after meeting all expenses, interest and preferred stock dividends.

Gross operating revenues for 1936, the company said in its annual report, amounted to $80,224,973, while total operating expenses were $50,811,318. After making provision for $8,735,580 for taxes and taking into account miscellaneous items of income and expense, net earnings available for interest and dividends were $20,645,375.

Discussing business condition in the territory served by the company—the Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas and a small portion of Illinois adjacent to St. Louis—the report said:

"Despite last summer's drought, the year 1936 was favorable on the general business activity, beginning 1936 at the highest level in four years, continued the upward movement noticeable since early in 1933, and ended the year at a level comparable to that at the close of 1930.

Beware The Cough From a common cold That Hangs On

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Creomulsion not only contains the soothing elements common to many remedies; such as, Syrup of White Pine Compound with Tar, fluid extract of Licorice Root, fluid extract of Wild Cherry and Menthol, but also has fluid extract of Ipecac for its powerful phlegm loosening effect, fluid extract of Cascara for its mild laxative effect and, most important of all, Beechwood Creosote is perfectly blended with all of these to reach the source of the trouble from the inside. Creomulsion can be taken frequently and continuously by adults and children with remarkable results.

Thousands of doctors use Creomulsion in their own families as well as in their practice knowing how Creomulsion aids nature to soothe the inflamed membranes and heal the irritated tissues where the germ-laden phlegm is loosened and expelled. Druggists also know the effectiveness of Beechwood Creosote and they rank Creomulsion top for coughs because you get a real dose of Creosote in Creomulsion, emulsified so that it is palatable, digestible and potent for going to the very seat of the trouble.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs, chest colds and bronchial irritations and especially those stubborn ones that start with a common cold and hang on for dreadful days and nights thereafter. QUAIL MISSING IN OKLAHOMA FIELD TRIALS

DEER AND SKUNK ARE FOUND BUT NO BIRDS

FORT SILL, Okla., March 8 (AP)—It isn't known whether the 20 bird dogs or the 67 deer were more surprised today as the sixteenth annual running of the Oklahoma amateur field trials went into its second day—but the quail definitely were not.

For the day's score when 20 of the ranking dogs of Oklahoma, Texas, Missouri and some from Arkansas sniffed over a section of this 60,000-acre federal reservation was:

- Quail 0.
- Deer 67.
- Rabbits 46.
- And one skunk.

Dry weather was blamed for the lack of birds by Lee Kneedler, Byers, Okla., veteran dog fancier.

"The quail are here," he said. "But we don't know where to look for them. In dry weather, they desert their usual places and it's hard telling where a covey is likely to be."

It wasn't any trick for the dogs to find the deer. Officers at the army post located on the reservation said there were about 200 deer roaming the place. They are protected and quite tame.

The 20 dogs worked were entered in the all age stake. About 70 dogs are here for the trials which continue through Wednesday.

Beating down through the brush, the dogs invariably brought out a deer.

One dog, however, did not come empty-handed. Spunky Creek Delphi, owned by Mrs. Nina Billingslea of Catoosa, Okla., came upon a skunk, and much to the consternation of handlers and judges, bagged it.

"Anyhow," said Mrs. Billingslea, "he ran a good race. He got more than anybody else."

ADOBE WALLS SCOUTS

Troop 4

Troop 4 held their regular weekly meeting in the scout room in the basement of the First Christian church Wednesday night, March 3. The first fifteen minutes was used as an informal period. Some of the boys played games, some studied their manuals and some discussed their problems with the scoutmaster.

When the meeting was called to order Bryan Edwards, leader of the "Flying Eagle Patrol" led in repeating the Scout Oath, following which the roll was called. There were twenty-three scouts present and two new applicants for joining the troop.

The next order of the evening was general business. After some discussion the boys voted unanimously to hold a covered dish luncheon in the banquet room of the First Christian church Wednesday night, March 10. In appreciation of the scout room furnished by the sponsors of this troop and the courtesy shown, the troop at their meetings of meetings there the Scouts again voted unanimously to invite all members of the church and their families or any church to bring a dish and enjoy the evening. The parents of boys that belong to troop 4 and the troop committee are especially not to miss this meeting.

Chris Martin, Jr., is chairman of the program committee and we feel sure he will have a worthwhile entertainment prepared. Aside from the entertainment feature, there will be the presentation of the charter to the troop. This part of the program will be in charge of Scout Executive Fred Roberts. There will also be an investiture ceremony for some of the boys that have recently passed their tenderfoot tests.

The business discussed was that of going on a hike Saturday, March 6. After some discussion it was decided to go out to an old Indian camp ground and look for relics. Fifteen minutes was then allotted to the playing of games.

At the close of this game period the patrols gathered in their respective meeting places. A new patrol was organized with Hugh Anderson as patrol leader and James Liles assistant patrol leader. This patrol was named the Silver Fox. Patrol Leader Hugh Anderson asked this patrol to meet at a given time.

After the work in the patrol meetings was ended the scouts were all called into general assembly again and dismissed by repeating the Scoutmaster's Benediction led by Leonard Dull, patrol leader of the Hawk Patrol.

Those attending the covered dish luncheon are asked to have their dishes at the church by six thirty.

The following Scouts were present: Hugh Anderson, Wiley Bunting, Truman Cooper, Burl Graham, David Graham, Bobby Hight, Billy Rice, Roy Russell, Frank Shotwell, Leonard Dull, Bryan Edwards, Clinton Stone, Billy Waters, James Liles, Floyd Ferguson, Jo Bob Zimmerman, L. D. Kidd, Leslie Burge, Richard Dotson, Linder Phillips, Hugs Monroe and the two applicants, Emory Palmer and Maurice Heflin.

The Rev. John Mullen came in for a few minutes about the time the boys were dismissed and asked the boys present if any of them would volunteer to act as den chiefs in connection with the Cubs sponsored by the church. He took the names of several boys.

The Saturday Hike had to be called off on account of the strange atmospheric condition.

Troop 14 held their troop meeting at Sam Houston school bandroom. After a short game the meeting was opened with the Scout oath and then troop problems were taken up. Jack Hessey was appointed to select a staff for the forthcoming troop picnic. Several candidates were named and were given a short resume of the troop's activities. Bobby Anderson passed his tenderfoot test in the past week and was introduced as a new member. Several advancements were discussed and plans will be made for the next meeting.

Baldwin Stribling was found to be the winner of the last month's intra troop contest.

Present were: Jack Hessey, Herbert Maynard, Senior Patrol Leaders from the Flying Eagle Patrol; L. C. French, Ma-ben Hill, Bobby Anderson, Mark Bratton from the Wolf Patrol; Neil McCullough, John Garman, Jake Garman from the Coyote Patrol; Baldwin Stribling, Billy Winchester, Jack Smith, Wayne Roby, and

Troop 17

By Junior Barnett, Scribe

Last Friday night, Troop 17 held their weekly meeting. Before very many had arrived, Mr. Boyle, our Scoutmaster, promised us a hike on Saturday. At a little after 7 o'clock, Mr. Boyle turned the meeting over to the scribe. The meeting was called to order with the Scout oath. In the business session, we decided to organize a baseball club with our Scouts and Scouters team.

The only men on the team will be the pitcher and first baseman (and they are in from Troop 3). We next decided to take a hike over by LeFors on Saturday. Each was directed to bring his own food and meet at the troop house at 9 o'clock.

Boys present were Jack Brown, Jim Brown, Junior Barnett, Vaughn Darnell, Charles Stephens, Len, on Hall, Bobby Bisset, Raymond Phillips, Mr. Boyle and Gene Lyles, assistant.

TROOP 21

Troop 21 sponsored by the V. F. W. met at Legion hall Thursday night, March 4, at 7:00.

The meeting was opened by repeating the Scout oath. Four new boys joined the troop. John Clinton Karlin, Gilbert Morse, Bill Price, and Raymond Hollingshead. John Cox served in from Troop 3.

The Scouts up for second class studied the Semaphore code. A short drill was held and several games were played. Plans were made to go on a short hike Sunday, March 14. Those present were Committee: Road Runner—Jack Smith, Jack Baker, Billy Mounts, Case By for Max Brewer, Jimmy Shofner, Bert Isbell.

Wildcat—Buddy Wilson, Bennett Wray, Bobby Fraley, Howard Jensen, Glenn Roberts, Eugene Hayes, Junior Kurtz, W. L. and Coy Van-der-Wijk, Archie Brown, Ed Ter-rell, Richard Keuhl, Robert Fletcher, J. M. McCullough.

Dan Beard—Junior Green, senior patrol leader; Jack Crout, leader; Ray LeFors, assistant. Also present: Edward Wikins, Archie Brown, Ed Ter-rell, Richard Keuhl, Robert Fletcher, J. M. McCullough.

Flaming Arrow—List already given. The scoutmaster and the junior assistant, Roy Lee Jones, were present. Twelve members of the troop were absent.

TROOP 17 HIKE

By Junior Barnett, scribe

We started the day off right by playing catch with a small softball. We left about 9:30 Saturday and traveled to the place where we had decided to camp. We divided into groups of four to cook lunch, so we could look for Indian relics after eating.

We had one good time with only one for two groups. The boys had wood. We finally got our fire started and got to cooking a little bite to eat, but soon it began to rain, and we finally gave up and started home. Mr. Boyle, the Scoutmaster, felt sorry for us and bought each of us a series of "Roy Lee Bisset" all wet when he allowed Bobby Bisset into a mud puddle. The boots saved Bobby. Some of the boys also mistook sand for salt. Little Burney Brown got the stomach ache.

Committeemen present were E. E. Morse, troop treasurer, and J. D. Walker, official adviser. Thomas Clayton is our Scoutmaster and Jack Wilson, assistant.

Troop 23 meets at McCullough Memorial Methodist church located one-half mile east of Edmondson dry cleaners on Borger highway.

We have 14 registered Scouts, six committeemen, and about eight under age who are going to join when they are old enough.

TROOP 80

The regular weekly meeting of Boy Scout troop 80, sponsored by the First Methodist church was attended by 45 boys last Thursday night, the largest crowd that ever attended a troop meeting. A number of visitors were introduced. They were Wyndall La Casse, Dickie Day, J. M. McCullough, W. L. Vanderberg, Coy Vanderberg, L. B. McDonald, Walter Word, the latter a transfer from Higgins. Most of them plan to join the troop, and three paid their registration fees. La Casse and Day passed their Tenderfoot tests under Howard Jensen, Kecton Rhoades, Doyle Aulds, and Jack Crout. Word is ready to come up for his first class badge. The troop was exceedingly glad to have these new members and hopes the others will make themselves eligible to become members by promptly passing tests.

The new patrol, the Flaming Arrow, was formed with Aulds as leader and Word as assistant, and Omer Harrel as sergeant at arms.

The new patrol will comprise the following members: LaCasse, Aulds, Word, Harrel, Rhoades, Grover Lee Heiskell, Day, R. G. Candler. Most of these boys were members of Bill Coons' patrol; that is they were on the Road Runner patrol when their own broke up. Coons' and Archer's patrol now has the same membership it had when it started out and became what is still probably the top-notch patrol in the troop.

Coons and Archer were absent last night, and their presence was greatly missed by the troop. Also the boys from Phillips camp were present.

A new rule, passed by troop leaders, will result in automatically dropping about 10 boys off the troop if they are not in from Troop 3. Tenderfoot, second class and first class tests next court of honor. Their names were read. They have been in the troop several months now and have not passed any tests. Life and Star Scouts were informed that a board of review will be held in the city hall Monday, March 22. Second and first class Scouts will appear before the troop committee which will sit as a board of review, before they come up for advancement.

Members present by patrols: Road Runner—Jack Smith, Jack Baker, Billy Mounts, Case By for Max Brewer, Jimmy Shofner, Bert Isbell.

JAPS PROMISE TO GIVE CHINA EQUALITY DEAL

INTENTION OF TERRITORIAL AGGRESSION IS DENIED

TOKYO, March 8 (AP)—Japan disavowed an intention of territorial aggression in China today and pledged herself to a new policy built on a keystone of "equality" in dealing with her great continental neighbor.

Foreign Minister Naotake Sato launched Japan on the "new deal" for China to the cheers of a parliament stirred by his announcement. "Japan, he declared, must abandon her superiority complex in order ever to readjust her long-strained relations with China."

On that principle of "a fresh start on the basis of equality," he asserted he would build the policy of Japan's foreign office which he has just taken over.

Newspapers throughout the empire displayed Sato's speech under scare headlines as heralding a turning point in Sino-Japanese relations.

"Japan has no territorial ambitions in China," Sato stressed, labeling as "imaginary" any fear Japan intended to "go beyond the great wall and extend its influence to Central or south China."

"Japan respects Chinese interests and wishes to shake hands with them economically," he declared. "That is the only way Japan can expand there."

Sato, who resigned as ambassador to France to accept the foreign affairs post in the compromise cabinet of Senjuro Hayashi, indicated the new policy was dictated by economic necessity.

Aside from the fact that Japan's former policy of infiltration in China has not worked out, Sato said Japan's attitude had caused unsatisfactory relations with other world powers.

AGED MAN IS HELD AT LUBBOCK FOR SLAYING

LUBBOCK, March 8 (AP)—A poverty-stricken, 82-year-old man held here as a suspect in the slaying of two peace officers in Virginia in 1935 today waived extradition to that state for trial.

He was dressed in overalls and was washing dishes in a small restaurant for his lodging when arrested. Sheriff Tom Abel of Lubbock said the aged prisoner admitted when confronted by Virginia officers that he was Green Alva Brooks, charged in Jonesville, Va., with slaying Arch Redmond and Bob Bailey, Lee county deputies. A reward was posted for his arrest.

Previously the feeble prisoner, wearing a flowing white beard, maintained he was not the man indicted and that "family trouble" had been his only grief. Sheriff Abel said the out-of-state officers, including Sheriff R. F. Giles, identified him, however, as the mountaineer who fled into Kentucky after the deputies were slain with a high-powered rifle as they sought to arrest Brooks' son-in-law.

A letter from Sheriff James W. Ridings of Pineville, Ky., to Sheriff Abel several weeks ago asked that the man be detained since the name he was going under was used as an alias by Brooks.

Sheriff Abel said the Virginia officers had not decided the time of their departure of Virginia with their prisoner.

HER NAME IN LIGHTS

CHAPTER XI.

Daphne stared at the door for a full minute, her minute refusing to obey the command of her brain. She was afraid to open that door. The pounding in the silence of the early morning struck blows of apprehension into her.

At last she reached the door and jerked it open.

"Hi, here! You're a sound sleeper." It was Jennifer, a little less lovely in the gray light. The hem of her white satin gown was soiled. Her hands were blue where they clutched her evening wrap about her shivering shoulder. Her hair was in disarray but her manner was jaunty enough.

Daphne was unable to speak. Her fears turned to swift anger that bubbled up in her throat. Without speaking she turned and went into the bath, started the hot water in the tub. Then she stepped back to the living room and lighted the heater fire.

"Sit here," she said shortly and drew a chair up before the fire. Jennifer sank into it and waved her chiffon handkerchief airily above her head.

"Thank what I call service. You're a good sport." Daphne had knelt down to take off Jennifer's slippers.

"Thass. The word returned to her. She sat back on her heels.

"Jennifer," she asked gently, "have you been drinking?" Jennifer kicked off her slippers and sat up a bit straighter. Her head moved in a gesture Daphne knew too well but her voice was not as brave as she meant it to be. "What if I have? I'm of age and I know what I'm doing. Why don't you go to bed?"

"That's what I'm going to do. I don't trust myself to talk to you now. Your tub is ready. We'll discuss this tomorrow."

The mangle clock struck six. Twelve hours later it was striking when Daphne let herself into her living room. This was the hour she had dreaded all day, a day that Jennifer had stolen from her. This should have been a memorable day in her life. A day to savor her new-found happiness.

Instead it had been a day filled with heaviness and weariness. With the weight of her responsibility and the knowledge that it was unfair to her, she who was only a girl herself, should have to meet the problem that Jennifer had proved herself.

Oh, let me be wise and careful, she pleaded with herself. Don't let me alienate Jennifer. She's only a child and I must be father and mother to her. Show me the way to treat her.

She had expected to be greeted with sullenness, defiance. Perhaps Jennifer would not be there at all.

"Jennifer!" "Hello, darling, welcome home. I've a treat for you tonight. I'm making something you like for dinner." Jennifer was in the kitchen. Daphne caught her breath in sheer surprise while she took in the unexpectedness of fresh flowers in the bowl on the desk, the small table smartly set for two.

She took firm hold of herself. She was not to be wooed this way. But she took her cue from Jennifer and responded brightly to Jennifer's questions about the day until they had cleared away the dinner and sat, with their coffee, before the blazing hearth.

"Might as well make up your mind to it, Jennifer, the time has come to talk. I want to know where you were last night."

"You might as well make up your mind, you're going to hear some unpleasant things yourself, Daph. One of the things is that I'm not going to be treated like a child any more, however, I'll tell you where I was last night. I went on a party with George Blumenthal."

"Who in heaven's name is George Blumenthal and why did you lie to me about wanting to go out with Tuck?"

"George Blumenthal is a very charming, very rich young man that I met at a party somewhere. He . . . he knows a lot of people and he happened to call me up and ask me out after you had left." Daphne knew that Jennifer was lying.

"We went to someone's apartment and then we went to a club for a dance. I didn't really mean to stay late but we ran into some friends of his. And—oh, Daphne, you'll be glad to hear this—one of them is in the dress manufacturing business and gave me a card to come and see him about giving me a job as a model. I really meant to come home earlier but I knew you wouldn't even think about me when you were with Larry. I think Larry is simply divine. What did you do?"

"Most of the night I went crazy and the rest doesn't concern you. Look here, Jennifer, I am not going to be misled. Last night you were drinking. You came home looking dizzy and while we're on the subject, you might keep it in mind that my last application for admittance to the Old Ladies' Home was rejected on the grounds that I'm still too young. Memory still serves me well enough to know all about this type of party."

"There are a lot of things I had to learn in the unpleasant school of experience any single young girl learns in New York," Daphne went on, "and you're going to cut out this crowd of sophisticates."

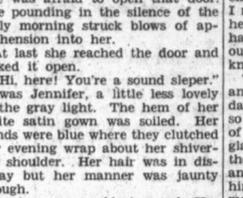

"I'm really surprised, Daphne, that your application was turned down. You've trotted out some of the most delectable old-fashioned ideas I've ever heard. Didn't you ever hear about pleasant cocktail parties? Didn't you know that some people do take a drink occasionally?"

Daphne had risen to her feet. Dark eyes blazed into ice blue eyes. "I've heard and learned more than you'll ever know, Jennifer, as long as I'm supporting you and responsible for you, you'll take orders from me. You're going back to school tomorrow and finish your course. You are not going out with men I haven't met. You're not going to take another drink. Is that plain?"

Jennifer studied the gloss on her fingernails coolly enough but her breath came faster and then she blazed:

DIONNE REUNION

It is pleasant news that the ill feeling of Oliva Dionne, father of the quintuplets, toward the government of Ontario, has changed to good will. He is quoted as saying the other day, "We appreciate the protection of the government. We couldn't get along without it."

The medical profession, as well as laymen outside the humble home where the five were born, knew that all along, the babies could hardly have been kept alive in the first place, and could not have reached normal physical development, without the financial aid of the government and its position as buffer between them and the throngs of curiosity seekers and exploiters.

The new attitude of tolerance and gratitude is partly induced by the approach of the time—planned from the beginning of government guardianship—when the quintuplets will become more nearly a part of the family life, playing with their brothers and sisters and getting more parental care.

Other peace-making factors may be the rise in family fortunes and also Papa Dionne's own experiences last summer with aggressive autograph seekers and souvenir hunters.

At any rate, sentimental folks far from the scene and with no responsibility in the matter no longer need to bemoan the sufferings of the Dionne parents in being separated from their daughters.

NOVEL BUSINESS

A feature article in one of the papers recently informs that Ted Peckham, 22, is opening a branch office of his service in Los Angeles for rendering social escorts to women.

Mr. Peckham reports that he already has offices in New York, London and Paris and that the business has been in operation only about a year and a half and he has almost completed a $100,000 trust fund for himself and his mother.

We have strange kinds of businesses, with our ever increasing scientific discoveries, adding wealth to society.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER WASHINGTON—In addition to the obvious effect of the action of the steel industry in boosting wages and cutting hours of its half million employees, this startling move may accomplish a lot of off-the-record business.

Obviously steel sought to escape labor troubles. Equally obvious was the intention of turning the current of public disapproval which has been running against big industry ever since the New Deal took its stand on the troubles of the little man.

EASING PRESSURE? But undecorately in Washington an effort was seen to lesson the pressure on congressmen for rebuilding the Supreme Court.

Mr. Roosevelt's captives in the effort to put through his court revision program have counted on pressure from the farmers and labor. Farm leaders were slow coming to the front with endorsements but John L. Lewis, C. I. O. chieftain, and William Green, president of the A. F. L., stumbled over each other in the rush with pledges of support.

Now steel has come forward with grants accomplishing much of labor's program without tinkering with the court.

Incidental but no doubt recognized by the steel industry is the effect increasing wages has upon sustaining prosperity. The $100,000,000 annually which is estimated to be the amount of the wage increase, otherwise would have been available for capital investments or spending in the stock market, either of which might well swell the boom without any sound contribution to prolonged prosperity.

MONROE DOCTRINE If you think the Monroe doctrine is dead, listen to the neutrality bill debate in the senate. In the bill is a section exempting Latin American republics from the automatic arms embargo if they should be at war with a non-American nation. This section provides, however, that where an American republic cooperates with a non-American nation (such as in the league sanctions) the embargo will apply.

Senator Bailey of North Carolina pointed out that two South American republics at war might each have an overseas ally to pour in supplies and arms. The United States, under its neutrality act, would be prohibited from sending munitions to either. The result, Bailey pointed out, might be that a foreign power might get a real foothold in America. "What then would be done?" Bailey asked.

"We could send our navy down there," replied Senator Pittman.

"You could not send that country any munitions. Cotton might be on the list and you could not send cotton," Bailey insisted.

"I know," said Pittman, "but we would not have to send anything to anybody in a case like that. We would declare that a condition of war existed."

All of which may be startling to Latin America who in recent months have been listening to "good neighbor" speeches.

ARMED TO THE TEETH

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Personal notes of a New Yorker's cuff: Fred Allen, the comic, wears a 10-gallon hat while lounging around home, the gift of the Governor of Texas. He is a member of the Texas Rangers but avers he has nothing but his apartment in which to range, so he has to wear the hat there.

The life of the average popular song is only a few months, but Johnny Green, the composer, has been receiving royalties on "Body and Soul" for eight years. Frank Black's apartment is littered with caricatures of himself. For all Ed Wynn's secret yen is to write a gossip column. He frequently startles his friends by sending them mimeographed copies of savory items which he has written.

There are left-handed baseball players and artists in abundance, but have you ever heard of a southpaw orchestra leader? The only one I ever heard of is Gordon Jenkins, a lad in his 20's, who directs the orchestra for "The Show Is On."

Hal Block is one of the youngest gag-men on Broadway. He writes most of Phil Baker's nonsense. A rarity in this town of odd accomplishments is Dr. Hirsch Margulies, who is a "Sunday" painter. Only on the Sabbath does he go in for portraits and landscapes. The other six days of the week find him covering the courts in his role of police reporter. Incidentally, he has a gallery in the Village known as just "Another Place."

Which reminds me of that photographer in Portland, Ore., whose name is Another Smith. Success note: Phil Baker was the first vaudeville headliner in history to earn $5,000 a week. I hate to tell this—but in case you're wondering how Milton Berle gets that way—look up his first name. It means "spleen."

Astrologists now offer this explanation for Gypsy Rose Lee: "She was born under the 2nd degree of Sagittarius," which denotes strong passions, strong will, aggressiveness. She has, they say, a land complex. She wants to amass a vast amount of property.

The other day an author was called to the telephone and the night clerk at his hotel informed him that a two-star telegram had just come in. "What does a two-star message mean?" "It's a death message," the clerk declared.

"Don't read it to me now," he said. "I'm working on an important article. If the news is really bad, it might upset me."

Completing his article, the writer looked up the various designations on telegrams. To his relief, he learned that a wire carrying two stars meant "rush." But it has nothing to do with death.

The clerk at that hotel ought to familiarize himself with those things. Such mistakes can cause heart failure.

MEET THE CHAMPION BABY TAMER. OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Leo Menten, secretary of the Oklahoma City health department, is a handy man to have around when there's an addition to the family.

Menten says he has at tongue-tip 65,000 names to supply when a father comes to his office to have a birth certificate filled out.

People You Know

Wild life—animals and birds—soon learn, cannily, where Death lurks and where it does not, said Judge Hoover yesterday on his ranch near Canadian. Birds can recognize a sanctuary as soon as they see it, and the judge who practices and advocates protection of wild life, told a story about a wild goose that used to stop at the ranch about 40 days each year and then fly on. The goose would arrive with a great fanfare of honking, and would get everybody out of the house as soon as she set down in the yard. The goose has not stopped in two years and the boys at the ranch are afraid something's happened to her. She would arrive each year on the same day, and almost at the same hour, just before breakfast. Wild life can live on that ranch without fear of guns or traps, and the great V's of ducks that rest for two or three days at a time on the lakes. What are teeming with fish become just as gentle and unafraid as the tame deer in the locust grove near the house.

How's Your Health?

Edited by DR. IAGO GALDSTON for the New York Academy of Medicine

PSYCHIATRY CAN HELP

The average person hesitates to consult a psychiatrist or even to turn to his own familiar family physician with his mental and emotional problems. Parents are equally hesitant to consult a mental hygienist about their children.

To do so seems to imply the acceptance of the stigma of incompetence, for themselves or their children. They seem to feel that in turning to others for psychiatric help they openly confess their inability to manage their own lives.

Who among us can manage his own life? Do we not turn to the mechanics for help in the care of our automobiles, our watches, our electrical appliances and other apparatus? Are we considered incompetent for that? Do we not draw upon our lawyer's special knowledge for legal matters?

For that matter, isn't all of life interdependent? Could any human being really manage his own life without the aid of others?

It can be argued clearly and convincingly that he who calls upon the psychiatrist for help in the solution of a difficult emotional and mental problem, shows a better capacity to "manage his life" than the expert handles along without expert help.

The subject is not, however, purely academic. It has some very serious and practical implications. Mental and emotional disorders, like those with which we are more intimately acquainted in the realm of physical disease may, if untreated, increase in severity.

Taken in hand early, treated adequately promptly, most psychological disturbances may be corrected. Allowed to go on unchecked, undiagnosed and untreated, they progress in severity and complexity, until when finally brought to treatment, they tax the resources of the therapist and can yield only middling results.

Few persons appreciate the services which their doctors can render them in this field. Even though untrained in the specialty of psychiatry, most physicians gather from their experience an insight into the common emotional and mental problems of the average persons. And, though most worried and harassed individuals believe their problems unique, the vast majority are commonplace.

"Talk it over with your doctor" is good counsel. If he can't help you, he can at least tell you where help is to be had.

COW BAGS FARMER WITH FIRST SHOT.

TALOGA, Okla. (AP)—Farmer Jonathan Koehn, 44, knows how he feels to be shot by a cow.

When Koehn went out to fence his wheat field recently he took his shotgun with him in case a rabbit should pop up. He laid down the gun and began stringing wire.

One of his cows came blundering along snatched on the gun. It went off. Thirty-five feet in front was Koehn. He will recover.

JAIL KEY USED 27 YEARS.

GALENA, Mo. (AP)—Sheriff I. H. Cain, who returned to office in January after a "vacation" of more than 20 years, again is using a key that he made for the jail door 24 years ago.

He filed the key out of the spindle of a buggy axle when one of the big keys to the jail was lost during his previous term. It was in use every day during the time he was out of office.

Talks to Parents

AIRING THE TODDLER By Brooke Peters Church

The probability of ailing the children recurs with terrible monotony. Every day the baby carriage must be hauled out and prepared as if for a journey, the toddler must be elaborately dressed and supplied with a toy, and the procession starts.

Just getting everyone ready takes half an hour. There are so many clothes to put on, and the carriage coverings are so elaborate and require so much adjusting.

But why should they be? The extra coverlet usually is not for warmth, but for looks. The baby's clothes are not all necessary; some are only for show. And the two-year-old's play is sadly hampered by the care which he must take of his best coat and hat.

It is surprising how much trouble some women will take, to impress their neighbors. Apparently their whole life is lived according to the standards of others. What does the opinion of Mrs. Pones next door really matter? She does not have to do the work of keeping the pink carriage cover and the frilled bonnet and the pale blue coat and hat clean. If she did, she would not have so much time to spend watching her neighbors.

The daily walk is not a parade nor a party. It should, as far as possible, be easy and pleasant for both mother and children. Clothes and carriage robes should be clean and whole and very practical. An extra layer, which does nothing to do with death.

The clerk at that hotel ought to familiarize himself with those things. Such mistakes can cause heart failure.

Q. Where was the Bible opened when President Roosevelt took the oath of office on Jan. 20? M. A.

A. It was opened to the thirteenth chapter of First Corinthians, which concludes: "And now abideth faith, hope, and charity, these three; but the greatest of these is charity." This same page of the Bible was chosen for President Roosevelt's first inauguration. This year the open Bible was protected from the driving rain by a sheet of cellophane.

Q. How do the Turks raise such large watermelons? B. A.

A. The seed are planted on the edge of a watercourse, in a narrow trench about three feet deep. The seed are planted in the bottom of the trench and as the seedlings grow, manure and soil are pressed about the plants so that they are grown with the surface of the ground. The roots extend to the permanent moisture which comes from the river water only a few feet away. This gives the plants plenty of water. The manure furnishes ample plant food. Under such conditions melons weighing 100 pounds or more are not uncommon. Some weighing as much as 150 pounds have been reported.

This, That and Everything

By JESS KELLEY

Courage is a virtue that every body needs in all places and at all times. Webster tells us that courage is "that quality of mind which enables one to encounter danger and difficulties with firmness or without fear."

When we begin to study this quality of mind and its relation to life, its need in present day affairs at once becomes conspicuous. Courage is that force that prompts our will to action and tends to arouse the latent forces of human personality.

But how can we acquire courage? By having a worthy objective in life. Espouse a righteous cause and it will add such dignity and confidence to life that one cannot keep from having courage. If a salesman represents a firm in which he has great confidence he can have courage so long as he feels that his firm produces a commodity that meets the need of a buying public. A patriot need not become discouraged though his beloved country become a cesspool of political corruption, for a true patriot never makes any group of political leaders his ideal. His Utopia are those fundamental principles of civic righteousness, and these principles will survive the decay of all human institutions.

So let us champion a worthy cause and espouse right principles even though their standard-bearers are few, and shall ever be justified in a courageous expectancy of ultimate results.

AROUND HOLLYWOOD

By ROBBINS COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Unreal parade: Wallace Smith, author-artist-scenarist who died recently, did some fine work but deserves to be remembered also as the spontaneous quipper of this classic cynicism, uttered when the flower of the world's athletes was in bloom in Los Angeles: "The Olympics? Just 2,000 young men in search of a rupture!"

The Hays office checks the still pictures as well as the moving ones for content, and is conscientious about it. The other day it returned a still of a Pretty Young Thing with the notation that the P. Y. T. was all right, but that a nude statue in the background would have to be retouched. The Greeks apparently were all wrong.

Powell on Wagon? And a new campaign is on, from the same headquarters, against the movie scores in which intocasts are consumed unnecessarily and promiscuously. If a cocktail is essential to the plot, it's all right . . . but a cocktail poured just to give an actor something to do with his hands gets the frown. . . . Charac-actors like the P. Y. T. was all right, but that a nude statue in the background would have to be retouched. The Greeks apparently were all wrong.

Basin and Range? Building the Basin and Range is to play "Lafayette"—taking the story from the time of the hero's farewell to Washington. . . . It's a bad idea to set your heart on a role, however. . . . I remember Ralph Bellamy once picked out a story he said he'd give his right arm to play. He was so keen about it he'd scarcely mention it for fear some company would discover it and cast somebody else. . . . Well, Victor McLaglen played it and the story was "The Informer."

I must ask Garbo, next time I dip in for tea, whether this pertinent item is true: that she turned down "The Garden of Allah" as a vehicle on the grounds that no man would leave her to return to a monastery. . . .

Harvesters And Exes Will Scrimmage Thursday At 4

Blockling, Tackling Will Feature Practice

Practice for Harvester football prospects this week will feature blocking and tackling with a scrimmage against the exes, now in school, on Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Fans will see the practice game.

Coach Odus Mitchell returned last night from Austin where he saw the state finals in the high school basketball race and also attended a great gathering of coaches, guests of Dana X. Bible of the University of Texas who conducted a short school of instruction.

Mrs. Mitchell, E. N. Denpard, assistant principal of the high school, Topsy Reynolds and Chester Hunkapillar accompanied the coach to Austin.

Following an interesting lecture, Coach Bible presented some of his Longhorns who were put through fundamentals, blocking, tackling, punting, passing, which ended with a game.

The coach missed a hard intersquad scrimmage Friday afternoon but he received glowing reports from Coaches J. C. Prejan and Bob Curry this morning.

Friday's battle was played with the boys having only four days of practice behind them. They had learned little about blocking or tackling and had only a few plays at their command. By Thursday the charges should be able to pull a few more plays, do a little better blocking and tackling, and generally show up more smoothly.

A week-end program will be started soon when boys who do not have a chance to make the Harvester squad will be put in a separate group under a coach.

More than 50 boys are still reporting for practice every afternoon. A few who started out dropped out from the scene because of lack of size, etc.

State Champions Come Back Home

AUSTIN, March 8 (AP)—Top state high school basketball honors rested today with a lanky cage quint from Carey, tiny Panhandle player.

Catfish Smith's Cardinals from Childress county humbled a highly touted Guber aggregation 26 to 18 in the final battle of this state tournament in the University of Texas gymnasium over the week-end.

Eight teams tangled for the coveted honor. In third place was Foley, technician of Fort Worth, which fared badly at the hands of Carey in the semi-finals but bested the Livingston Lions 43 to 27 in a consolation match.

Carey's phenomenal middle-of-the-court goaling and fast-breaking plays carried the Cardinals through competition with flying colors.

Thomas Jefferson of San Antonio, Harlingen, Dublin and Fort Stockton were eliminated in first round play.

LOS ANGELES, March 8 (AP)—The millionaire William Du Pont's string of race horses, headed by the great Rosemont, ran away with the biggest portion of purse money offered at the Santa Anita park 1936-37 meeting.

Rosemont's victory in the $100,000 added Santa Anita handicap, $7,500 San Antonio handicap, Fairy Hill's win in the $50,000 added Santa Anita derby, Supreme's win in the $1,000 maiden event enriched the Do Pont Foxchaser farm to the extent of $146,125.

The runner-up amount went to the C. S. Howard stable, of which Seabiscuit is the star. The winnings totaled $37,370.

Intercollegiate Track Meet Will Be Held This Week

NEW YORK, March 8 (AP)—The big-time stars who have filled the winter headlines with their indoor track performances have to play second-fiddle this week: the intercollegiate are coming to town.

The annual intercollegiate A. A. A. championship meet isn't the biggest of the season nor is it likely to produce many broken records, yet from the standpoint of keen competition it's about the most exciting meet of the year.

There are 463 athletes entered from 26 colleges. Some of them were good enough to make the Olympic team last year.

Four teams are considered in the running for the collegiate team title, won by Manhattan the last three years. The Japanese are given a chance for another triumph. Columbia, victor in Princeton's "polar bear" meet, is in the running for the first time in years. Dartmouth an Cornell also have good chances.

LONGBORG TO KANSAS

KANSAS CITY, March 8 (AP)—The Star said last night that "according to a source close to the athletic board, Arthur C. (Dutch) Longborg, basketball coach at Northwestern University, will be named athletic director at the University of Kansas when the board of regents meets in Topeka tomorrow."

Longborg was one of eight men who conferred today at Lawrence with the athletic board concerning the succession of Dr. E. C. (Phog) Allen in the reorganization of athletics at K. U.

SAN ROMANI APPEARS LIKELY SUCCESSOR OF CUNNINGHAM

BY WILLIAM WEEKES.

CHICAGO, March 8 (AP)—Little Archie San Romani appears a cinch to succeed Glenn Cunningham as king of the American mile runners.

The latest demonstration by the frail-appearing youngster from Kansas State Teachers college at Emporia, came Saturday night and was nothing less than a surprising triumph over Cunningham in the Bankers' Mile.

He gave a capacity crowd of 8,000 its biggest foot racing thrill since Joe Ray's day.

The time, 4 minutes, 21 seconds was far from spectacular, but it was excellent for the tour over a slow, new dirt track in the international amphitheater.

After Blaine Rideout of the North

Texas Teachers had a set a crazy pace for nearly four laps, San Romani, Cunningham and slender Gene Venzke moved out in a body. A lap later San Romani started pouring it on, with Cunningham and Venzke still at his heels.

Cunningham opened up at the start of the final lap and had moved up to the other Kansan's shoulder with a half lap to go. He got no farther for San Romani let out another peg, and finished two yards in front, with Venzke about five yards back of Cunningham and Rideout far in the rear.

Don Lash and his Indiana teammates, Tommy Deckard and Jimmy Smith, finished in that order in the two-mile, with the other Rideout twin, Wayne, a not-very-threatening fourth.

ANNUAL AMERICAN BOWLING CONGRESS OPENS WEDNESDAY

Training Camp News

(By The Associated Press)

CLEARWATER, Fla. — Burleigh Grimes of the Brooklyn Dodgers figures one of his problems solved after seeing rookie Lavagetto in action around second base.

"He showed us a couple of double plays as good as any Brooklyn has made in years," Grimes said after yesterday's practice tilt. "If he makes the grade, and I can't see why he shouldn't, Lavagetto will fill Brooklyn's problem at that bag for a long time."

NEW YORK, March 8 (AP)—New Yorkers who think of bowling only in connection with the Bowling Green subway station and of an alley as a queer name for a little side street, get a chance to see how big the sport has become when the thirty-seventh annual American Bowling Congress tournament comes to town Wednesday.

Although the A. B. C. originated here in 1895, the big tournament never has been held here. And somehow the game usually is associated with that little fenced-in plot of grass down near the Battery and with memories of Rip Van Winkle and the little men playing nine-pins high in the Catskills.

The fans the curious who turn out during the 56 days of the tournament, which opens at the 212th Aanti-Aricraft Army at 8:30 Wednesday night, can see how far the game has progressed from such beginnings.

After Mayor F. H. LaGuardia rolls the first ball down the alley, pins will be crashing from nine in the morning to two the next morning daily until May 4. There will be 28 alleys in action; approximately 22,000 bowlers competing in three divisions and the spectator attendance is expected to go far above the record of 55,494 established at Syracuse two years ago.

The official entry list shows 4,106 five-man teams, 5,881 doubles combinations and 11,773 singles bowlers—a record in every division. Entry fees total $217,350 and the contestants will get $145,000 in prize money.

HAVANA—It seems to be up to Lou Crozza and Mickey Haslin to decide which will play third base for the Giants this year.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—The only thing Red Wolfe of the Yankees seems to know about the broken finger that caused the Yankee manager some worry this spring is that it's healed. "I don't know when it happened," he said. "I thought it was a sprain and kept on playing and hurt it again in the last game of the world series. It's still swollen but feels all right now."

PASADENA—Infielders and outfielders began showing up at the White Sox spring camp today.

KANSAS CITY — The Chicago Cubs, en route to Catalina Island where they are due in time for a workout Wednesday, picked up catcher Hal Sueme, pitcher Wes Flowers, and infielder Linus Frey here today.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla.—A wide open battle for the center field berth looms in the Cardinal camp, with rookie Don Padgett and ex-Dodger French Bordagaray out to get Terry Moore's assignment.

LAKELAND, Fla.—Early on the job, Al Simmons apparently is going to make the Detroit Tiger outfielding corps refrain from regarding him as an old timer.

ORLANDO, Fla.—The expected arrival today of Buck Newsom, fireball pitcher, will complete the Washington Nationals' training camp roster.

TAMPA, Fla.—Jack Rotchrock, veteran rookie getting his second tryout with the Cincinnati Reds, showed up in training camp today

MEXICO CITY—The Philadelphia Athletics fell into the tourist class today, excused from practice by Manager Connie Mack.

NEW ORLEANS — Sammy Hale, who after two seasons at third is being shifted to second base, dispelled today any doubts about how he regarded the change.

"I was tickled to death when I heard that Steve O'Neal wanted me to play second," the Cleveland Indians infielder said. "They hit 'em past your ear too fast at third."

SAN ANTONIO—Three hours of hard work with "no time out" was Rogers Hornsby's order for the opening practice for the St. Louis Browns today.

HAILEAH RACES END.

MIAMI, Fla., March 8 (AP)—The bangtails started the final 24-day lap of Florida's turf season at Tropical park today, the racing scene shifting from swanky Haileah park. Haileah's 46-day meeting ended in record style Saturday when the filly Columbian won the Widener challenge cup and $52,000 for Owner W. J. (Buddy) Hirsch, equaling the track record of 2:01 4/5 for the mile and a quarter.

STAR CAGERS IN SOUTHWEST ARE SELECTED

ALL-CONFERENCE TEAM IS CHOSEN BY A. P.

DALLAS, March 8 (AP)—Both reasons for Southern Methodist's amazing pennant drive — Sophomores Bill Dewell and J. D. Norton had one leg today on a possible three-year stretch on the Associated Press' All-Southwest conference basketball five.

Veterans bowed out right and left to make more room for the first year pair on an official team selected by the seven coaches. It included two Arkansas goalers and a Rice Institute standout.

Norton shared the forward posts with Dewell of Arkansas. Dewell breezed in at center and Jack Robbins, Arkansas' grid idol, and Willis Orr, Rice, were stationed at the guards.

Offensive strength dominated the selection, all but Orr finishing in the first dozen high scorers of the circuit. Lockard, with his fine average of 13.2 points per game over the 12-game schedule, led the league while Norton, with 126 points, landed the runner-up spot. Dewell's 96 points placed him fourth and Robbins, with 72 markers, was the second highest scoring guard.

Norton, who with Dewell, scored two-thirds of the points that brought the Methodists in a winner, was the year's sensation. Known to be quite a basket shark in his home village of Purdon, he came to S. M. U. unheralded and in his first year of varsity competition set a conference record for consecutive free throws at 18.

Lockard's goaling pulled them out of mid-season slump and landed them in second place. He roped 66 field goals and 27 foul line tosses for a 159 point total.

Best ball "hustler" in the circuit was Dewell, an untiring worker around the enemy backboard and a crack shot himself.

Ordinarily Rice's best center, Orr was shifted to a guard when Dewell's six votes cinched that spot for him.

Robbins, Arkansas' "running" and offensive guard, who clung to enemy forwards like a wet lisle bathing suit, also found time to average six points per game.

He barely beat out Henry Clifton, Texas' great guard, who went to the second team with Benjamin (Jelly) Sorelle of Baylor as his running mate there. Capt. Ed Lee of Texas A. and M., and Bill Blanton, Southern Methodist's steady forward, who was the third reason S. M. U. won its first title, earned the forward spots and Willis White, Baylor's rangy scoring shark who finished with 94 tallies, was placed at center.

MOBEETIE GIRLS ARE BEATEN BY UNION HILL

TULIA, Mar. 8.—Playing without their ace forward, R. Tubbs, and with V. Tubbs closely guarded, the Mobeetie Hornets fell before a hard shooting Union Hill team 40 to 36, here Saturday night for the championship of districts 1 and 2, girls division.

The battle was a case of too much Raymond of Union Hill. The sharpshooter rimmed the basket for 25 points to lead Dysart of Mobeetie, transferred from guard, who had 17 points.

It was not until the reign of Henry IV that English became the native tongue of the Kings of England. French and Latin were the languages used at court until the 14th century.

Plainview Beats Allison In Finals Of AAU Tourney

PLAINVIEW, Mar. 6 — Allison's mighty Rangettes from the upper Panhandle gave the championship hopes of the Plainview sextet a scare Saturday night by holding the present state champions to a 33 to 30 score in the finals of the A. A. U. tournament here.

O. Jones and Ruby Gunter, Allison's ace forwards, kept their team in the running all the way but Walker of Plainview was able to stage a brilliant comeback in the final two minutes of play to give her team the victory.

The pace in the final game was terrific. Never more than four points separated the teams and the lead changed several times during the gruelling exhibition.

Gunter of Allison won the free throw contest, sinking 42 of her 50 shots to tie her record set last year.

Allison placed three players on the all tournament team with Plainview also getting three places. The team:

Walker, Plainview; Oleta Jones, Allison; and Ruby Gunter, Allison, forwards. Marjorie Malster, Plainview, Ruth Richard, Allison, and Nell Carroll, Plainview, guards.

MARLAND DEFENDS HIS PAROONS AND PAROLES

OKLAHOMA CITY, Mar. 8 (AP)

—Governor Marland said he would like to turn a thousand convicts out of Oklahoma's reformatory and penitentiary tonight to assure "decent, humane and sanitary care" of the remainder of the prisoners, if the warden and pardon and parole board would recommend that many paroles.

"I see comment in the papers that I have signed about 1,000 paroles," Marland said. "I wish the warden and pardon and parole board could send me a thousand more names today. I'd stay here all night to sign them."

"Prisoners have been sleeping in hallways and unsanitary conditions prevail because of overcrowded conditions. This state had not prepared itself to house in a humane fashion the thousands in the penitentiary. We need to take 1,000 out in order to take care of those who remain, decently and humanely."

"The last legislature did not appropriate enough to feed them properly. There are about 1,000 first timers who have obtained about as much good out of the penitentiary as we can give them."

EDUCATORS NAMED

AUSTIN, March 6 (AP) — Governor Allred Saturday named D. F. Youngblood of San Antonio and Dr. J. C. Blair of Kerens to the state board of education. They succeeded J. O. Guleck of Amarillo and F. L. Henderson of Bryan, respectively.

NATION STILL DOTTED WITH SCORES OF SIT-DOWNS

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—American Federation of Labor and Committee for Industrial Organization draw battle lines for unionization drives.

AKRON, O.—Representatives of the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. and the United Rubber Workers of America strive for settlement of dispute involving 10,000 workers.

NEWARK, N. J.—C. I. O. organizer says union will seek contract with Crucible Steel company employing 7,000.

CHICAGO — Cab strikers form union; dispute in fourth day.

DETROIT — United Automobile Workers of America and General Motors Corp. hope for final agreement on minimum wage issue today.

(By The Associated Press)

Opposing forces in the battle for control of organized labor gathered in Washington today to intensify unionization campaigns.

Their deliberations presaged a widening in the bitter rift between the American Federation of Labor and the committee for industrial organization.

Enrollment of some 1,250,000 workers of the far-flung textile industry under the C. I. O. banner was regarded the next goal of John L. Lewis' group, whose leaders already claim approximately 2,000,000 members in several industries.

Elsewhere in the capital President William Green of the A. F. of L. and 50 seasoned organizers mapped plans for enlisting the support of workers in the agricultural, oil and cement industries and fighting the C. I. O. all along the line.

Officials of the United Textile workers, who claim approximately 750,000 members, considered the possibility of the sit-down strike as a weapon in any impending drive in southern cotton mills and in the woolen and worsted industry. Lewis and his aides were expected to study tomorrow the textile campaign and projected unionization of all workers in the oil industry.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, March 8 (AP)—Despite heavy buying in futures, the stock market today, following a boost in the domestic copper price of 1 1/2 cents a pound to 16 1/2 cents, the best level since 1930, late general selling unsettled the list.

Previously rail utility, oil and specialty leaders achieved popularity, many reaching new highs for the recovery move.

Major steels, motors and an assortment of other recent top-notchers struggled unsuccessfully to over come profit selling and declines were plentiful at the close.

ALFALFA BILL 'AGIN' RIVER FISHING PLAN

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 8 (AP)—Former Governor William H. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray, in a letter to Speaker J. T. Daniel of the house, warned today Oklahoma "may be made the sucker" on an agreement with Texas on fishing, boating and hunting rights on Red river.

Murray urged that nothing be included in any law passed by the state legislature to endanger this state's rights to the river to its south bank.

The former governor's letter stated: "Permit me to submit the following communication or petition thru you to the House of Representatives. Observing in the press of some sort of settlement with Texas over fishing in Red river without a license is the excuse for doing so.

"Under the old Spanish maps and the French owned Louisiana territory, the boundary was the 'first break in the bank' on the right bank as the south side of Red river. That is in approaching the river from the south the declivity was and is the boundary; so that it is often 100 feet or more between the boundary and the water's edge.

"At the Denison bridge it is nearly 200 feet beyond the butt of the land so that the bridge is wholly in Oklahoma. That is why I ordered Governor Sterling's barricade torn down as it had been constructed on Oklahoma soil.

"The point I want to make is: If the Oklahoma legislature passes an act receding the boundary at the water edge, may in the future prove more embarrassing and loss of state's interest. Suppose an oil well should be drilled between the water and the 'first declivity'?

"Oklahoma would have a lawsuit and probably lose the revenue—moreover no dam or power can be constructed from Ringold eastward without being on Oklahoma soil and I suspect that it is the fish knowing ones in Austin want to catch.

"They learned more after I opened the bridge on July 16, 1932, than they knew before. The Texas people believe the center of the river the boundary—not one of 100,000 but were sure the 'boundary is the river' when it is but near the river."

FIRE EXTINGUISHED.

BIG SPRING, March 8 (AP)—Fire at the Howard county refinery here which raged 17 hours had been extinguished today after causing damage estimated between $5,000 to $6,000. The blaze consumed more than 20,000 gallons of gasoline and destroyed two 500-barrel storage tanks. The refinery plant was threatened as winds whipped up the flames. Spontaneous combustion was given as the cause of the blaze, a tank containing a small amount of gasoline exploding about 10 a. m. Sunday.

NO. 1 — (Continued From Page 1)

ago when Borger marked its first birthday.

At 11 o'clock on the morning of March 8, 1927, 50,000 people thronged the streets of Borger in a salute to the infant city and the salute has become an established custom of every year.

Borger's first birthday parade marched down the streets on that eventful day with J. Gordon Burch at its head, jauntily swinging a baton made of a pound sledge, as drum major for the first time in the city.

Flags flying in the ever-present wind and bunting hung from every building greeted the spectators gathered from over the county.

Besides the parade there was a banquet in the evening with a prize fight later. The arena seats collapsed at this fight as the result of such an unexpected crowd. No one was injured.

As another feature of that day ten years ago a rodeo was held with many cowboys and ropers from over the west attending.

"Everyone has read about the Winchester and six-shooters that the cowboys carried. They all carried them for the protection of their herd against wolves rather than for shooting each other. The fire-arms were very necessary parts of a cowboy's equipment.

"I remember the last beef raid by Indians in this section. In 1889 a group of Indians came in where the town of McLean now is and killed four beef cattle belonging to Nick Eaton. W. K. Frazier, the range boss, and J. P. Sutton had started out to look for some horses when a boy came running up to report the Indian depredation. France ordered Sutton to ride to Ft. Elliott at Mobeetie and report the stones of a community, were laid for Borger.

From that time on there came social activities and improvements in the already established organizations and businesses. The Lions club, one of the first civic clubs in Borger, was presented its charter on July 8th, and on July 17th, the order of Boy Scouts of America was organized here.

On July 12 streets were numbered

Indian raid. Sutton said he would go if he could ride a certain horse. The horse was very fast; so permission was granted. He placed his watch on the saddle so he could time himself. He had a big watch, something like this," Mr. Sanders smiled as he took from his pocket a huge open-faced watch in a silver case. "He kept his watch on the saddle all the way, and it took him exactly thirty minutes to make the 18 miles to the Fort. He reported to the commander in charge and some scouts were dispatched to the scene. The Indian scouts went and got the Indians and were only a bit over a mile from the fort on their way back when the soldiers were ready to start. The Indians were kept at the fort for a while with another group of Indians and were later returned to the reservation. The government paid for the steers that the Indians killed.

THRIVES IN TROUBLE

WASHINGTON, March 8 (AP)—W. Shuman Burns, treasurer of the Burns detective agency, said at a Senate inquiry today that his firm thrives on labor trouble "just like a doctor profits from sickness."

Asserting "we get business wherever we can," he testified before the Le Follette civil liberties committee that furnishing labor spies and factory guards was "the most lucrative part" of his business.

FISHING DANGER SEEN

WASHINGTON, March 8 (AP)—Senator Schwellenbach (D-Wash) pictured in the Senate today a "threatened invasion" of North Pacific fishing grounds by Japanese, British and Norwegian ships. "This problem contains potentialities which may more seriously threaten the peace of the United States than any other on the immediate horizon," he said.

Mr. Alfred Gilliland was taken to her parent's home at Llano by ambulance yesterday. Friends learned this morning that she stood the trip well.

Mr. N. D. Steele is ill of flu, and will be unable to conduct her classes at the Vincent dance studio for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Boxwell of Amarillo visited friends here yesterday.

WAVE TOSSES GIANT LINER LIKE FEATHER

70 PERSONS INJURED ON ROUGHEST CROSSING

GENEVA, Italy, March 8 (AP)—American passengers on the storm-pounded luxury liner Rex told in graphic detail today how a monstrous wave sent the 51,062-ton liner reeling off Gibraltar, killing two persons and injuring scores.

They described the wild scene in the state lounge salon last Thursday when dozens of first class passengers, gathered to watch a motion picture, were pitched into a screaming, struggling mass. Some reports said at least two Americans were hurt during the crossing, described as one of the roughest ever made in a modern liner.

Joseph James Crowley of Washington, D. C., suffered a broken thigh during the storm and was taken to the Ruch hospital at Naples.

Scores of passengers were injured when the huge wave, described as "a mountain of water," broke over the vessel last Thursday. The list of injured for the crossing totaled more than 70.

A first class passenger of Italian nationality and a member of the crew died later from injuries.

The audience was swept across the floor of the salon in a litter of chairs and overturned furniture.

"The Italian passenger suffered an abdominal rupture and died two days later.

The seaman, who was fatally injured, was thrown against a stanchion and his back broken. Three American doctors among the passengers contributed their skill to the fruitless attempt to save the sailor's life.

Passengers said the entire crossing was so rough that it was impossible most of the time to remain in the cabins with safety.

Meals could not be served in the dining salons, they said, and sandwiches were passed out to passengers as they clung to the handrails of the public rooms.

The Rex docked yesterday after a nine day crossing from New York.

Two Americans were reported taken to a hospital at Naples when the Rex docked there Saturday before proceeding to her home port here.

One of the Americans, neither of whose names was reported, was said to have suffered a broken arm.

COMMISSIONERS MEET

County commissioners in session this morning began studying the monthly list of bills. The stack was large and it took all morning to clear them away.

Business was to come before the meeting this afternoon. Judge Sherman White was in the chair with all commissioners present.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stapleton and little daughter, Martha Jo, accompanied by Miss Knight and Mr. Wood, all of Oklahoma City, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Duenkel.

Humming right along

All over the country, you hear more people mention the refreshing mildness and the pleasing taste and aroma of Chesterfield cigarettes.

You hear somebody compliment Chesterfields at a party. Another time, the grocer tells you it's a darn good cigarette. Or you see a group of men on a street corner, most of 'em smoking Chesterfields.

Because they have what smokers like, Chesterfields are bumming right along...
