Pampans feel high utility cost pinch

By KATE B. DICKSON Associate Publisher

Forced with a decision whether to pay his natural gas bill or his water bill because he didn't have enough money to pay both, a Pampa man told city employees this week to go ahead and turn his water off.

Finance Director John Horst related the unidentified man's story to a reporter Tuesday after talking with city employees in the water department office.

"He said he couldn't pay both," Horst said. "He said it was either pay his gas bill or his water bill ... so he chose gas. I that situation I'd do the same thing.

Monday made 38 cut offs for non payment, Horst said. "Usually we have 25, maybe 30 cutoffs in this cycle [three] so you can see it is up."

There are four billing cycles each month. Cycle three covers the south portion of town and it is the cycle that usually contains the highest number of cut offs.

High — and still climbing natural gas prices and electric costs are putting the pinch on Pampans and consumers nationwide. Natural gas is used in some electrical generating plants thus fueling that power cost rise. John Wagner, Energas operations supervisor for the Pampa guess to be honest, if I was in area, said customers should be aware that bills for January will be even higher than those in The water department on November and December.

January bills will reflect a natural gas cost of $1.04 or $1.05 per ccf (100 cubic feet). This compares to December's price of 69 cents per ccf and December 1999's cost of 39 cents per ccf.

John Wagner Energas operations supervisor

Energas passes on the cost of gas it buys from distributors and does not profit from the gas adjustment costs, Wagner said. January bills will reflect a cost of gas of $1.04 or $1.05 per ccf (100 cubic feet), the operations supervisor said. This compares to December's price of 69 cents per ccf and December 1999's cost of 39 cents per ccf.

Wagner said 35 Pampa customers were recently cut off for non-payment. He did not have figures immediately available upon which to draw comparisons.

He said users who are having trouble paying their bills should call the customer support center at 1-888-363-7427 to make payment arrangements.

"Right now we ask customers to pay at least one-half of the outstanding amount and set up a payment plan to pay the rest," Wagner said.

Energas does not cut off gas if the temperature is 32 degrees or lower but has the option to do so if the temperature is above freezing, he said.

"With the colder weather we've cut back on the shut off," Wagner said. "... But there comes a time when we will have to act."

As many as 7,000-to-10,000 calls daily are coming into the customer service center in Amarillo that serves five states, Wagner said. "Many of the callers want to know why the price is so high."

Replacement checks go out

EL PASO, (AP) Social Security checks for about 10,000 El Paso residents have been reissued after the original checks, which were due to arrive in residents' mailboxes last week, disappeared.

Alex Arce, a spokesman for the Security Social Administration, said they were conducting an investigation with the U.S. Postal Service to find out what happened to the original checks.

Donna Smith is getting an early start on preparing her income tax records ready for filing. Smith obtained an assortment of forms available at the Pampa Post Office. Lovett Library also has many Internal Revenue Service forms available.

Experts say 'organization' key to proper filing of income taxes

By NANCY YOUNG Managing Editor

Locate those receipts. Organizing records from 2000 for income tax returns is the top priority on many people's minds these days.

Taxpayers who qualify for a payment from the Internal Revenue Service are much more likely to get their taxes filed early, said local Certified Public Accountant Kenneth Cargill.

Cargill said taxpayers must wait until they receive all their W-2 forms from 2000 to file their income tax return with the IRS. He said federal law provides that employers have until Jan. 31 to place the W-2 forms in the mail to employees. He said some taxpayers who are employees of his clients have contacted his office to inquire when their W-2s will be ready.

"The earlier taxpayers get their taxes filed the quicker they will receive their money back," said Cargill. "Also the earlier they get their records. together, the less pressured they are to throw things together at the last minute.

He suggests that taxpayers look at last year's income tax return to make comparisons and be sure there are no changes in their returns.

Cargill said many who are having to pay additional taxes for 2000 do their taxes early, but often do not mail the return until the last day. "Many people just want to know ahead of time. what they are going to owe so they can plan," he said.

Local CPATewis Meers said taxpavers need to gather all their tax information before the return can be completed whether the taxpaver is doing his own return or taking it to a tax preparer. "Get it in early," Meers said.

He added that taxpayers who make estimated tax payments on a quarterly basis must fire their last quarterly report by Jan. 15 for 2000.

H&R Block Manager Pat Pierce said taxpayers filing returns electronically can have the IRS deposit their refunds directly into their bank accounts or receive a traditional paper check through the mail. Taxpayers also may apply for Police said two officers found the pit bulls attacking a golder retriever. They said they chased one of the pit bulls off, but the other they said, became aggressive toward them.

Authorities said the two officers fired three shots into the 50-pound temale dog, named Sierra, killing her. Officers said they shot the dog in the chest and abdomen.

Mann said Tuesday that Sierra had been shot three times in the side. He questioned whether the dog was charging the officers as reported.

"All this happened just before I got home from work," Mann said. (See DOGS, Page 2)

Hundreds sign petition to keep Homeland store

By DEE DEE LARAMORE Staff Writer

A grassroots effort to keep the Pampa Homeland grocery store from closing has netted hundreds of signatures on petitions circulating throughout the city, in addition to support from local officials.

Homeland Holding Corporation officials announced plans to close the north Pampa store located in the Pampa Mall by the end of January. The 45 employees whose positions are attected by the closure will be ottered jobs elsewhere within the company, officials said.

Shocked by the news that her tavorite grocery store will close, Pampan Zip Swaney spearheaded a move by local citizens to get Homeland officials to reconsider closing the longtime Pampa business.

Swaney commented previously. "This way nobody can say we'd laid down and did nothing about it.

She was joined in her crusade by Kent Olson last week. Olson suggested starting a petition drive to show Homeland officials how important the store was to the community. Soon petitions to save Homeland were circulating throughout the city.

"Right at this time I have three stacks (of petitions) with 846 names," Olson said today. "Not bad since Friday afternoon, huh? It we had two or three weeks, I think we might have had a couple of thousand (names)."

Three elderly sisters found dead in farmhouse

WEISHAMPLE, Pa. (AP) - Three elderly sisters were found dead in their rural farmhouse, huddled together around a coal stove in the kitchen. The stove appeared to be blocked, and the women may have died of carbon monoxide poisoning, deputy coroner Joseph Yackera said.

The sisters were found Tuesday after a neighbor arrived to shovel their driveway and found their newspapers had been piling up for five or six days, police said.

"At this point, we can't say for sure whether or not it was carbon monoxide, or exposure to the extreme temperatures," state police Cpl. Chris Blugis said.

It was 22 degrees in the house when police arrived, he said. The only heat sources they found were the stove and a small space heater.

The sisters, who apparently never married, were identified as Ida Knorr, 82, and sisters Sally, 78, and Mildred, 73.

FOOTBALL

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (AP) - Bill Parcells resigned as director of football operations of the New York Jets, saying he's not ready for the long-term commitment needed to turn the team around.

The 59-year-old Parcells coached the Jets from 1997-99, and turned a loser into a playoff contender. In his three seasons as coach, the Jets were 29-19 and in 1998 made the AFC title game. SAN DIEGO (AP) — Norv Turner, fired last month as coach of the Washington Redskins, was hired as offensive coordinator of the punchless San Diego Chargers.

Turner replaces Geep Chryst, who was fired after two years on the job under coach Mike Riley.

Turner's Redskins teams were 49-59-1 in six-plus seasons, and made the playoffs only once, in 1999.

DETROIT (AP) - Lowell Perry, a star football player at Michigan in the 1950s who became the first black assistant coach in the NFL after World War II, has died at 66.

After college Perry played for the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1956, a hip injury ending his career. The next year he was hired as a receivers coach for the Steelers.

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) -Former NFL linebacker and TV commentator Matt Millen was hired as president and chief executive officer of the Detroit Lions.

The 42-year-old Millen has been an NFL analyst for Fox Sports since 1994 and worked for CBS the two previous years.

The former Penn State standout was an NFL linebacker from 1980-91 with the Raiders, the San Francisco 49ers and the Washington Redskins. He went to the Super Bowl four times.

Can New York Giants outscore Minnesota Vikings?

NEW YORK (AP) - If the rest of the New York Giants are thinking like Tiki Barber, they might be in trouble.

Or maybe his confident air is just what they need for Sunday's NFC championship game against the high-powered Minnesota Vikings.

"This is a Minnesota team that can score, and we know that," Barber said. "We're going to have to match them."

Match them? That would be impressive, considering the Vikings (12-5) scored 69 more points than the Giants (13-4). And that Minnesota brings Pro Bowl receivers Randy Moss and Cris Carter the most dangerous duo in the league - and NFC rushing leader Robert Smith.

But why shouldn't the Giants be optimistic? They've won six straight, taking home-field advantage away from the Vikings for this game. Minnesota isn't built for cold-weather games in a windy stadium, which usually is the setting for the Meadowlands in January.

"We've got a big game coming against a very good team," defen-sive end Michael Strahan said. "It's a team that is very explosive, with more big-time players than anyone else. We've got our work cut out for us.

Especially if they get into a shootout. The Giants have an improved offense compared to recent years - quarterback Kerry Collins has been steady, Barber has been a revelation as a runner and receiver, the rebuilt line has been far better than anyone predicted and wideouts Ike Hilliard and Amani Toomer can break big plays. But a 30-27 score doesn't suit them.

"Each team is different," Giants coach Jim Fassel said. "You have to play it a little differently. This is a team that can put a lot of points up real quick. So as we go through this week, I'll be thinking of a lot of things and how we'll deal with that, and how it will all come together in the game plan."

However it comes together, the Giants have history on their side. The surprise team of the NFL's final four, they are an underdog at home for Sunday's game, But when the Giants get this close to a conference title, they close the deal.

In 1986, the Giants were 14-2, easily the league's best mark. They won their final nine regular-season games, finished 8-0 at home, had a dominating defense and solid, ball-control offense.

And they went unchallenged in the NFC playoffs, routing the 49ers and Redskins before winning the Super Bowl 39-20 over Denver.

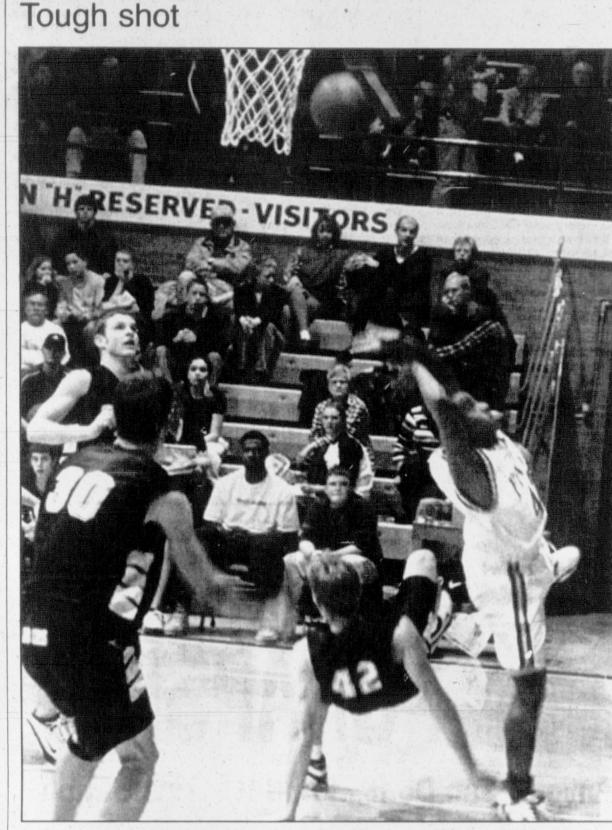

Four years later, with a similar team, they went 13-3, but were an underdog at San Francisco in the NFC title game. The Giants won 15-13 on five field goals by Matt Bahr, then upset Buffalo 20-19 in the Super Bowl.

Not a bad resume: two shots at the big game, two trips to the big game, two Super Bowl championships.

"I've spoken to the players about not focusing on the Super Bowl," Fassel said. "Obviously, there are four teams left, and everyone has got to be answering the same questions: 'What about the Super Bowl?' Timeout.

"We are focusing on the title game of the NFC. ... We have got to take care of this one and not stub our toe."

Gary Alexander makes a tough shot for the home team but Randall defeated Pampa handily 68-38 in play here last night.

ATLANTA (AP) — Despite a disappointing junior season, Georgia quarterback Quincy Carter announced he will give up his final year with the Bulldogs to enter the NFL draft.

Carter, who missed five games with shoulder and thumb injuries this season, completed less than 50 percent of his passes (91-of-183) for 1,250 yards, with only six touchdowns and 10 interceptions.

CLEMSON, S.C. (AP) -All-American linebacker Keith Adams will skip his senior year with Clemson to enter the NFL draft, where he is expected to be taken in the first round.

The 5-foot-11, 220-pound Adams holds 11 records at Clemson, including 186 tackles and 16 sacks in 1999. Adams said he expected his performance at pre-draft workouts and combines would improve his standing in the draft.

BASEBALL

CLEVELAND (AP) - Juan Gonzalez agreed to a $10 million, one-year contract with the Cleveland Indians, giving the club a right fielder and power hitter to replace Manny Ramirez.

Gonzalez last year rejected an eight-year extension from the Tigers worth about $143 million. Distracted by persistent trade rumors and bothered by nagging injuries, he batted .289 with 22 homers and 67 RBIs - a career low and less than half of his average for the previous four years.

PITTSBURGH (AP) -Backup catcher Keith Osik and the Pittsburgh Pirates agreed to a $1.2 million, twoyear contract.

Osik, 32, appeared in 46 games last season and set career highs with four homers and 22 RBIs. He has the longest tenure of any Pirates player after being selected in the 24th round of the 1990 draft.

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) lainighausen agreed to a $3.3 million, oneyear contract with the Oakland Athletics.

Stars goldtender returns to ice

DALLAS (AP) — Goaltender Ed Belfour was welcomed back to the Dallas Stars, his suspension lifted after a morning meeting with team officials.

Belfour met with coach Ken Hitchcock, general manager Bob Gainey and assistant GM Doug Armstrong in Atlanta, where the Stars play the Thrashers on Wednesday night.

Hitchcock's decision to use Turco on Saturday in Boston triggered a blowup in which Belfour refused to practice, then left the team and flew back to Dallas.
