Returning Optimism

There is no question but that America today holds more optimism than at any time since the depression began. People at least are beginning to believe that the end of their troubles is, if not actually at hand, at least in plain sight. The administration is acting with speed and determination, and the people are giving it a support such as few administrations have ever hoped to receive.

Dancers And Queen's Court Appear To Best Advantage In Woodland Setting

The committee had selected an attractive site for the platform with the trees of the park forming a woodland setting for the queen, but the majority of the onlookers refused to stand in front of the stage and let the sun shine in their faces and so lost the effect of the setting. Others sat in the cars and couldn't see at all.

Card Olympic Keeps Players Four Hours

The performers were somewhat handicapped by appearing on a strange stage and under conditions entirely different from those of the rehearsal; but most of them were able to overlook these small matters and did as lithe Gerry Stahn did—skipped over the joinings of the planks and tried to pretend they weren't there.

El Paso To Hold Rodeo As Juarez Has Celebration

By DORIS WEAVER
JUAREZ—Belief that the rodeo to be staged May 4-7, in connection with the Fiesta de la Revolution in Juarez, Chihuahua, will attract a greater number of cowboys and girls to the border city than any rodeo held in El Paso previously is held by W. R. McKay, general manager of the Rodeo committee.

McKay, who promoted and managed the rodeo and ranchmen's reunion produced in El Paso in 1928 and 1929 by the old El Paso Commercial Club, has been promoting the Fort Stockton rodeos for the past six years.

Internationally known cowboys will compete with Mexico's famous charros in Juarez in May. Bob Crosby, the world's all-time holder of the Roosevelt trophy, Everett Bowman, world's champion calf roping, and Pete Knight, Canada's all northwestern champion all have signified their intention of taking part in the events. Others to be here include Elgin Bennett, champion bulldozer of the world; Harry Knight, Allen Hojler, Elmer Jones, Charles Jones, John Bowman, Jake McClure, Bill Lusk, John Jordan. Cowgirls expected include Ruth Benson, Prescott, Arizona;

Ruth Reach, Rene Shelton, and Fox Hastings, all of Fort Worth. Judges are L. C. Lacey of Fort Worth, member of the Texas Live-stock Sanitary Board; Sheriff Louis Robertson of Pecos; Capt. Jeff Vaughn of the Texas Rangers, stationed at Marfa; Prosser Martin of Del Rio; Oscar Schaubert of Van Horn, ex rodeo star; and Curtis McElroy of Toyah, ranchman.

Wild steers from Sousa, Chih., country will be used in the riding and roping events. Arrangements have been made to have the noted fleet-footed Brahma calves for the roping. The string of famous McCarty bucking horses from Womont has been contracted for. These horses are used in the major rodeo events of the country, including the ones at Madison Square Garden, Cheyenne, Fort Worth, and Pendleton, Oregon.

Prize money includes a purse of $500 for the bronc riding contest; with ones of $600 each for the steer and calf roping. A purse of $300 is hung up for the steer riding contest.

A parade, starting in El Paso and ending at the park in Juarez, will be held on the opening day of the rodeo. Cowboys, cowgirls and charros, all in typical dress, will be in line. A feature of the event will be a free barbecue May 6, at the rodeo grounds. Beef, beans, and son-of-a-gun stew, will be served from the chuck wagon "on deck."

Many old timers have stated their intention of being present at the reunion while it is to be held in connection with the rodeo. NEGLECT OF COMMON CONSTIPATION IS A SERIOUS MATTER

Prevent This Condition With Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

The first question your doctor asks is whether you are constipated or not. He knows that this condition may cause headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sleeplessness. It is often the starting point of serious diseases.

You can prevent and relieve common constipation so easily. Just eat a delicious cereal once a day. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regular habits. ALL-BRAN is also a rich source of blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that found in leafy vegetables. Within the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the intestinal wastes.

Isn't this "cereal way" safer and far more pleasant than taking patent medicines—so often harmful? Two tablespoonsful of ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. With each meal in serious cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Enjoy ALL-BRAN as a cereal, or use in cooking. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

What have you learned today in the New University?

Talk with almost any woman and you will find her amazingly informed on vitamins, balanced diets, refrigeration, household sanitation, labor saving, family hygiene, table and home decoration. Watch her during her day and you will find her employing this new knowledge for the improvement of living.

Talk with almost any man and you'll find him technically informed about motor-cars and adding machines, aeroplanes and radios, telephones and oil burners—materials, designs, uses, processes in a dozen fields.

What has happened? It seems that people know more than they used to and that they use their new-found knowledge to their comfort and happiness. Perhaps this is the explanation: There is today a New University—the University of Advertising. Its doors never close, it is open to all and the fees of admission are the daily price of a newspaper. The subjects taught are ways to make life better and more enjoyable. Eminent authorities in the various fields work with skilled writers and illustrators to prepare the daily "lessons"—the advertisements. They are admirably printed and illustrated. They are studied and applied, as needed, by the youngsters and grown-ups of all ages.

What have you learned today in the New University? Study the advertisements. Useful knowledge is waiting there for you.

1,200 Rattlesnakes 'Necked' By Visitor Here To Provide Serum

Col. M. L. Crimmins, who Saturday appeared before the Texas Historical association, has since 1925 grabbed more than 1,200 rattlesnakes behind the head and squeezed all the venom from their fangs.

His business, indeed, but Col. Crimmins was doing it in the interest of science, creating antivenom serum to be used as treatment for snake bites.

As a result mortality from snake bites has been decreased from 15 per cent in 1925 to one-half of 1 per cent last year. Seven hundred and sixty-four cases reported by doctors from over a nation were considered as a basis for the figures.

Principal of bite treatments with antivenom was discovered more than 40 years ago, said the colonel. However, he said, 80 horses were killed while he and his associates were perfecting the serum.

"I get their venom by grabbing the head so they can't bite me," he related. "Then I place my thumb and fingers on the poison glands and squeeze. The venom drops off, the fangs into a glass vial, usually 10 or 12 drops from the snake. The venom is dried, then converted into serum. Rattlesnakes, copper heads and moccasins are used.

One snake is capable of six or eight fatal bites, he declared. However, "the snake with a full belly, or the one that has to bite through clothing is not nearly so poisonous as the leaner type."

In all of his experiments, the colonel has been bitten only twice. Each time he counteracted the bite with the serum. He has caught many of the snakes used himself.

"Suction method is the only first aid treatment for snake bite," he said. "Other things are useless and sometimes dangerous."

Four things, asserted Colonel Crimmins, should be done for snake bites. First, apply suction to the bite in an effort to remove the venom. Second, apply the antivenom serum. Third, resort to blood transfusions if necessary. Fourth, treat for shock.

The colonel chided the whiskey remedy and said kerosene had no effect despite common belief to the contrary. He is now residing at left Saturday evening with Mrs. Crimmins for New York.

At Austin

AUSTIN, (UP)—Next to the document declaring Texas' independence, which rests in a glass-encased niche in the corridor of the state capitol, Austin visitors show keenest interest in the battle flag of San Jacinto, capitol attendants say.

The flag is exhibited in a frame behind a protecting glass. It is not the Lone Star flag which later became the emblem of the Republic of Texas. It is a picture flag.

Upon it is the likeness of a woman with a Greek profile and flowing Grecian garments that reveal much of the torso. In her outstretched left hand is a sword.

Fastened to its hilt is a ribbon upon which appears the legend "Liberty or Death," which with "Remember the Alamo" was one of the battle shouts of the Texans.

Exhibition of the flag itself sets at rest much controversy over the Texans' flag at San Jacinto. H. A. McArdle, painter of the battle of San Jacinto hung in the state senate, reproduced the flag in that painting rather accurately from descriptions.

Before executing the battle picture he carried on extensive correspondence, gathered photographs of participants and data as to uniforms, arms and other equipments so the picture is marvelously accurate in detail.

His painting of the flag, however, shows the figure almost in full face, while on the flag itself it is in profile. McArdle also has the "Liberty or Death," appearing on the background of the flag instead of upon a ribbon attached to the sword.

Another capitol painting, depicting the appearance of General Santa Ana, Mexican leader, before Gen. Sam Houston after the battle, displays a white flag with a blue star in the center. That this flag was in the battle is disputed.

The flag now on display came assassinated Sunday by a revolutionary.

General Oscar Benavides assumed duties of the head of state. The new president received immediate support of the old ministry.

America Must Play As It Never Has Before In Opinion Of Three Experts In Trends Of Society

By VERNON A. McGEHEE
FORT WORTH, (UP)—America must play as it never had before. The nation's recovery from the depression and its adjustment to a changing economic order will take place on the play-ground as much as in steel mills, factories, or the offices of big business.

That is the opinion of three experts in social trends who have prescribed recreation as a mental tonic to allay feverish worry over the rent, insurance premiums, and mortgage payments.

Mrs. Mary K. Brown, field representative of the National Association of Community Chests, Washington, believes that most of the suffering nowadays is mental. Her district covers the southwest.

Posters picturing a ragged urban who looks hungrily into a baker's window may be the impetus for public contributions to chest funds. But only 20 per cent of such funds are expended for food to relieve the hungry, Mrs. Brown estimates. Most of the remainder is spent to relieve a more acute need—mental distress.

"Good recreation is one of the greatest needs in the world today," declares Mrs. Florence Moore, Cleburne, for two years the only woman member on the state prison board. "We should have community centers such as we had during the world war, for after all proper recreation is as important in peace as in war."

Mrs. Moore does not view recreation as a crime preventive, "but it would help lessen crime," she declares.

"If ever there was a time when people needed to play, it is now," believes R. D. Evans, superintendent of the Recreation Department here.

Despite reduced budgets, he has mapped out a play program for Fort Worth typical of those planned throughout Texas as a antidote for the headaches produced by the temporary chaos in a changing business order.

Last season 1,444,028 persons, more than 10 times the population of Fort Worth, swarmed to the city's golf courses, play grounds, parks and swimming pools.

Evans anticipates a new record this season. The increase he attributes entirely to adults who seek relief from business or household worries.

This season's program will offer recreation on 16 playgrounds, 23 baseball diamonds, 23 tennis courts, eight lighted croquet courts, one archery range, one motorcycle speedway track, 10 volley ball courts, 20 horseshoe ranges, four swimming pools, two 18-hole golf courses in addition to boxing, wrestling, tap dancing and dramatics sponsored in the Recreation Hall.

That amount of equipment is necessary to meet the city's size of Fort Worth happy during current conditions, Evans believes.

Jailer Obliging Invites Prisoner To Walk From Cell

FORT WORTH, (UP)—County Jailer Tol Johnson is an obliging man.

It was visiting day at the county jail and a young man quietly said "yes, open the door, I want out." Johnson politely unlocked the jail door.

A few moments later telephones rang. "Watch out for Earl Howard Jackson. He's gotten away," came the alarm.

Jackson, 19, had slowed down to a walk two blocks away when the jailer laid a heavy hand on his shoulder. The prisoner was carried to court where he pleaded guilty to stealing a bicycle.

Judge Dave McGehee sentenced him to 30 days. "It might have been suspended if you hadn't made that break," said the judge.

"Well, the jailer asked me if I wanted out, and I did," replied the youth.

By WALTER LIPPMANN The Present Basis Of Peace.

A long with the importance economic developments of the past two months there have been far-reaching developments in the field of international politics. They have been precipitated by the Nazi revolution in Germany. The effects are sufficiently clear to make it evident that we are in a new period of the post-war diplomacy.

discussions of disarmament. The choice has become perfectly clear. The only kind of peace now possible in Europe is one which freezes the existing frontiers. The only alternative to such a peace is a general war. The kind of peace which until recently men looked forward to, under which there was gradual revision through conciliation and moral pressure, has ceased to have any practical meaning.

It follows that the military power of France, Poland and the Little Entente can not be reduced except in so far as Great Britain and the United States provide equivalent guarantees. This has always been the French thesis. It was probably a false thesis in the days when the German Republic was fighting for its existence, and it probably played a part in destroying it.

But when the victorious Nazis showed their hand, the MacDonald-Mussolini project collapsed completely. There was a revision of feeling throughout the world which has obliterated the sentiment for revision. That sentiment had come from the liberally-minded men and women in all countries, from the anti-militarists from those who vote and work for reforms which they hope will make the relations of men more just, will protect the weak, will heal the wounded and lift up those who have fallen.

Enforcement -Not Repeal

"A little cork fell in the path of a whale. Who lashed it down with its angry tail. But despite his blows, the cork quickly rose. And floated serenely before his nose." "Hold the cork. You may flap and splutter and frown. But never, never can keep me down." "For I am made of stuff that's buoyant enough. To float instead of drown." -The Citizen, New Zealand

SIMPLIFYING THE WET AND DRY QUESTION.

One of the methods used by the opponents of prohibition is to so present the question as to confuse the average citizen, and make it difficult for him to get a clear idea of the situation. The night school in the Evangelical Messenger of the way a dry succeeded in simplifying this question to the discomfiture of his wet antagonist. The wet of a certain community challenged a prominent friend of prohibition to debate with their representatives. The dry agreed, with the stipulation that he should be permitted to state the question to be discussed. The night school for the contest a great company was present. The opponents of prohibition had selected as their spokesman a well-known Chicago lawyer, who came with a bag filled with documents to be used in the debate. The speaker took their places on the platform, and when they were ready to proceed the dry debater was asked to state the question. He proposed as the subject for the debate, "Removed, That a sober man is better than a drunken man." The Chicago lawyer had spread his papers on the table, but he immediately began to gather them up and put them back into his bag, and started to leave the platform. His wet backers exclaimed, "What are you doing? Aren't you going to debate?" To which he retorted, "You can't debate that question. Any fool knows that a sober man is better than a drunken man."

Reduced to its simplest form, the question whether the United States shall be a sober or a drunken nation is the gist of the debate. Prohibition has been proven to be the best method ever tried to promote sobriety in a people. That it has not been entirely successful is due to the fact that the wet determined from the first that they would put every obstacle in its way. While no law can force a man to be sober, prohibition comes nearer than any other attempt to make it easy for him to remain sober. Prohibition makes the manufacture and sale of liquor illegal, clandestine and disreputable. Prohibition puts a premium on sobriety, and brands as an outlaw those who deal in illicit liquor and tempt others to drink it.

"Any fool knows a sober man is better than a drunken one," declared the wet debater and anyone with a modicum of common sense knows that a nation which has the courage and wisdom to encourage sobriety by putting a ban on the traffic in intoxicating beverages is a generation ahead of those countries that license and depend upon the revenue from such business. Chief Of Polk County's Alabama Indians Hopes For Oil Strike

LIVINGSTON, (UP)—Chief Sun-Kee, tall 72-year-old leader of Polk County's Alabama Indians, lives in hopes that oil development will bring good fortune to his impoverished tribe. Few Texans know that this little tribe is struggling for existence on a 4,300 acre reservation—17 miles east of here. For nearly 100 years they have been there, wrestling a hard living from the soil. Now, perhaps, their lot is to be made easier. Oil men have come and erected their tall derricks among the pines. Machinery disturbs a silence that once knew only the back of squirrels and cry of birds. For a time Chief Sun-Kee and his people knew nothing of the development because it was miles west of them and they seldom travel far from home. Now a derrick has been built on their land. "You think find oil there?" Sun-Kee asked an interviewer. He was told there was a "pretty good chance." "It is good if they find oil," he said. "My people need many things. Wagons. We have not enough and those we have are wearing out. It is hard times. I wish they find oil." There are 260 men, women and children in Chief Sun-Kee's tribe. About 90 per cent of them are descendants of a group of Alabama hunters who came to Texas from their Alabama homes in 1800. The other five per cent are members of the Couteauville tribe, who held the East Texas lands that the Alabamas decided to take after they found the deer, beaver and squirrels so plentiful there. Sam Houston was a friend of the Alabamas. When Santa Ana was pressing the Texans so hotly shortly before the battle of San Jacinto, Gen. Houston sent word to his Indian friends to leave their lands and flee to Louisiana, for safety. After Texas became a republic, Houston sent for the chief of the Alabamas. "This land is yours," he said, designating a strip of East Texas approximately where the reservation is today. "Take your people and move there. Hold it. Never let a white man live upon it." When the federal government set aside the Indian reservation in Oklahoma and the Alabamas refused to move. In time, the state of Texas granted them 1,290 acres and later the federal government gave them an additional 3,071 acres. They still live on the land.

Business Well Sustained During Bank Holiday Month In Southwest

DALLAS, (UP)—Despite interruptions caused by the banking holiday, business and industrial activity in the Eleventh Federal Reserve District was well sustained during March, according to the Monthly Business Review of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas, issued today. The review said that department store sales in March were 15 per cent larger than in the previous month, although they were 3 per cent under the corresponding month of last year. "All reporting lines of wholesale trade showed an increase in business between February and March, which was in part seasonal and in some lines the declines from a year ago were smaller than in the previous month," said the review. "A better feeling is in evidence throughout the trade," it continues, "and consumer buying is showing some improvement. Reports indicate business in both wholesale and retail channels held up well in the first half of April and in some instances closely approximated the volume of the same period last year." It is pointed out that banking operations gradually resumed a more normal proportion during the past month. The daily average of combined net demand and time deposits of Federal Reserve banks in the district for the month of March was $2,773,960, the report said. "This compares with 24,686,200 barrels in the previous month, and 28,069,300 barrel in the same month last year. Although a material part of the increase over February was ascribable to the three-day longer month, there was nevertheless a considerable rise of 78,800 barrels in the daily average output. . . . Of the 437 new wells completed during March, 285 were successful and had an initial flush output of 1,126,900 barrels."

New Test In Ector Starts Goes To Puerto Rico

Waggoner Western-Harrison 1-A Addis South Of Discovery

Waggoner Western Corp., L. C. Harrison No. 1 A. Addis estate, a quarter mile south of Harrison and others' No. 1 Addis, discovery well four miles west of Odessa, Ector county, was spudded in Sunday. The test is in the northwest corner of the southwest 40 acres of the northwest quarter of section 35, block 43, T&P railway company survey. Stanolind Oil and Gas company's No. 1 Elliott F. Cowden, second producer in Ector county's third oil pool which opened last fall by L. C. Harrison and others' No. 1 F. A. Addis estate, was standing with acid in the hole Sunday. The acid was run Friday with the object of stimulating production, which has been disappointing, averaging only a little more than 40 barrels daily on the swab. The acid was scheduled to be pumped out Monday. No. 1 Cowden is 330 feet from the south line and 1,230 feet from the west line of section 35, block 43, township 4 south, T&P Ry. Co. survey, and is north of the Harrison well in section 35, block 45, township 2 south, T&P Ry. Co. survey. No. 1 Addis developed an oil spray at 4,000 feet and was completed at 4,000 feet, flowing 250 barrels in 24 hours, choked. The Stanolind well cored fine showing oil and occasional gas at intervals below 3,794 feet, its best core being taken between 3,918 and 3,935 feet. Total depth is 4,042 feet. If the acid bath fails to increase production, it is probable that the well will be shot. Fred Turner and others' No. 1 A. Addis, 1,650 feet from the north line and 2,300 feet from the east line of section 35, block 43, township 2 south, T&P Ry. Co. survey, was fishing for tools at 825 feet in redrock, in mid-week. A. W. Cherry, and others' No. 1 Johnson, 1,350 feet from the south line and 600 feet from the east line of section 41, block 43, township 1 south, T&P Ry. Co. survey, was running 3 1/4 inch casing at 1,330 feet in redrock, having disposed of two joints of collapsed 10-inch pipe. Landreth-Texas No. 1 O. B. Holt in northern Ector county, 660 feet from the east line of section 16, block 43, township 1 north, T&P Ry. Co. survey, was drilling plug at 1,495 feet, where 8 1/4 inch casing was cemented. Total depth was 1,840 feet in suit and redrock. The test topped the anhydrite at 1,710 feet, 1,380 feet above sea level, and topped the salt at 1,770 feet, 1,355 feet above sea level, 98 feet lower on the top of the anhydrite and 103 feet lower on the salt top than Landreth No. 1 Holt, a producer some mile to the east in section 15, block 43, township 1 north, T&P Ry. Co. survey. Landreth No. 1 Holt was completed in March at 4,350 feet, flowing 100 barrels daily through tubing.

The only thing to do is to change the subject at once. Every player should have three (one for each side) interesting topics on the tip of his tongue for just such an emergency. When opposing pitcher is in a tough spot and you are at bat—the correct and generous thing to do is to swing wildly (Blondy Ryan of the Giants is a good model to follow) and make no attempt to hit. When an umpire calls you out on a play you beat by a mile—without saying a word arise and stalk off to your dugout, carrying yourself after the manner of a dowager buying a dozen bananas. The next day is correct to send the umpire (1) a bottle of eyewash, (2) a time bomb, (3) Edwards standard work "Braille in ten easy lessons."

When you are sold to the Boston Red Sox—carry identification cards at all times so your nearest relative may be notified at once.

Heavier Tourist Traffic Predicted As Road To Mexico City Completed

Four Howard Oil Tests Progress

HOUSTON—An endless line of tourists' motor cars, bringing sightseers from all over North America to the historic and recreational spots of Texas and Old Mexico, will spur the Southwest's recovery from depression once the upturn is definitely here, experts of two nations have just predicted here. From below the Rio Grande, in the first automobile to traverse the picturesque nearly-finished national highway from Laredo to Mexico City, came Gilberto Misquitz of the Mexican Department of Communications and Public Works, accompanied by an official party. Jubilant over the vast project, first modern road to the Mexican capital, the emissaries predicted that it will draw hordes of tourist through Texas to the fifteenth-century atmosphere below the border. L. A. Snavely, chairman of the Texas World Fair Commission, likewise forecast huge rewards for Texas business from the growing tourist traffic. "The tourist industry has been practically ignored here except for the chamber of commerce," he said, "while other states, many of which have far less tourist attractions than Texas, have gone after visitors, with tremendous returns." Judge W. O. Huggins, president of the Texas Good Roads Association, while agreeing with the visitors concerning the possibilities in tourist trade, voiced a warning that this rosy future never will arrive unless the state's road program is continued. "The highway department recently reported 76 bad stretch detours on 39 principal state roads," he said. "Some of these are detours around construction, but a great many others are part of the 45% of the state road system which is not yet hard-surfaced. They are samples of the work we must do if we are to get in a position to take advantage of the future. Roads are the best known tourist bait. It is our good fortune that the building of them furnished a maximum of jobs for idle hands."
