On Free Speech

The Revolutionary fathers who wrote liberty of thought, speech, and the press into the United States constitution had in mind the rights of minorities.

In other words, freedom of thought and utterance does not mean simply freedom to say approved things, but those disapproved as well.

With many of the fanatical ideas of the day liberty loving people are bitterly opposed, yet they will fight for the right of these ideas to be given voice.

Take the word of a far-seeing Legion commander, Col. Wm. E. Easterwood, Jr., of Dallas, head of one of the biggest posts.

"I resent the denial of free speech," he said in expressing the opinion that Dallas had broken the constitutional guarantee which is substantially as follows:

"Congress shall make no law... abridging the freedom of speech or press or the right of the people peaceably to assemble in order to petition the government for redress of grievances."

And over at Little Rock, Ark., a Missionary Baptist Fundamentalist pastor, the Rev. Ben M. Bogard, defended in his pulpit Sunday the right of Charles Smith, New York atheist, to express his views in public.

"Rev. Bogard scored the city for arresting and fining Smith $25 for expressing 'his opinion of the Bible', and the congregation immediately adopted a resolution condemning city authorities and upholding their pastor..."

History is full of examples which show how persecution of radical sects, or suppression of them, adds fuel to their cause and produces the tenacity of martyrdom.

The "Home Run"

We extend an editorial salute to L. D. and Mollie Shaw, editors of the Higgins News since October 19, 1905.

"Twenty-three years at the bat and still on the base ready to make another home run." That's typical of the Shaws—never to complete many sentences without mention of home.

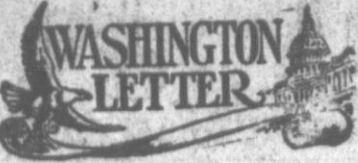

First the oldtime stiek and a case of type sufficed, but now the "string" is from the modern typesetting machine. Still, but let the Shaws tell it: "... then we set our string pretty much as we do today, except we mentioned people who are now resting in the silent city of the dead—new names having replaced the old ones with the passing of the years."

There is no substitute for interest in folks, no rival of metropolitan mold for the hometown daily or weekly, no competition with the men and women whose labors for their communities are not merely commercial, but—whether approving or constructively criticizing—are basically labors of love.

Again, to quote the Shaws: "And thus the tissues of life have been woven and week after week we have told our little story of the history of the people as they have come and gone; births, deaths, marriages, social and political happenings; joy and sorrow; all combined to make a record of the things that were in the little home town and vicinity."

It was a part of the life of those about us, little homely things that might have seemed commonplace to others but of importance to the people who went hurrying by in the big world about them.

This fast age, looking back, might see many "news breaks" that the Shaws overlooked, but they had in mind the heart-breaks, and in the psychology of their little com-

WASHINGTON — Straw votes and betting odds. Unless he likes to believe what the politicians say—and that is always embarrassing because straw fellows differ so—the common ordinary everyday garden variety of voter has to depend on such weather vanes as those when he seeks to look beyond election day.

Hoover is the favorite in the betting odds and he is generally running ahead in the more extensive straw votes. Are these facts aligned with a somewhat common belief among non-partisan observers that Hoover is reasonably sure to be elected? They are. Do they spell certain defeat for Smith? They don't.

If there were any infallible method of determining the result of a presidential election well in advance there would be a falling off of enthusiasm as the Republican and Democratic terrors approached the finale.

Governor Smith, especially, is credited with the belief that the result can be determined in the fortnight before election. And as if to admit that he might possibly be right, the Hoover strategists have also reserved their greatest broadsides for the closing days.

Both parties wait almost until election eve to throw their most important wads of money into the precincts; the only difference this year is that the Democrats, as well as the Republicans, appear to have all they need.

How accurate are the betting odds, judging from past records? Well, as a general thing the Wall Street betting commissioners have managed to name the winner. But the odds generally change during the campaign. Sometimes they just get bigger and sometimes they shorten.

Cleveland was the favorite over Harrison in 1888, but in 1884 and 1892 the Wall Street favorite won. Bryan was a slight favorite in the summer community they felt the "streamer stories" in terms of human sympathy, measured in which they have a journalistic record of which they may be proud.

1896, but the odds shifted to McKinley in early fall.

McKinley was a 4 to 1 favorite in 1900, Roosevelt 5 to 1 in 1904 and Taft 8 to 1 in 1908. In these cases the favorite betters were cautious at first and lengthened the odds subsequently; the failure of the odds against Smith to lengthen appreciably may indicate a feeling of greater uncertainty.

It may be worth noting that the 1880 election bets were 3 to 1 on Garfield, as they now are on Hoover, but that Garfield's popular majority over Hancock was only 10,000 votes.

Summing up, it may be suggested that betting odds are one of the best political barometers we have, but that they are by no means infallible, especially in abnormal years. Representing the judgment of men who are willing to risk hard cash on their judgment, they are more reliable than the irresponsible claims of professional politicians.

Twinkles

Our prisoners don't like our jail and they threaten not to come back. But if they persist on leaving our bed and board too quickly, we'll have to constrain them to come back, as it were.

This department has a big waste basket, and the surest way to hit it is to send in material that is not original. A Public Forum is maintained for those who wish to write something original for it and sign their names.

An exchange wonders if they have stadium sections in California reserved for the ex-husbands of movie stars. Yes, and how about press agents, divorce lawyers, etc. etc?

A Paris cafe is built in the branches of a tree. It ought to appeal to the Darwinians in that wicked city.

Hurray, one of these demon bicyclists has been charged with reckless riding. The pace set by our long suffering Western Union boys will not result in such a charge, however.

If we get any more prisoners, and the new courthouse and jail are not rushed along pretty soon, our officers are going to have to start a prison farm. But even, then, what use would prisoners be on a wheat farm?

What! Again?

Do You Want An Automobile? Why Not Let the News Make You a Gift of One Enter the Big Subscription Contest to Win TODAY!

CAPITAL PRIZE

Silver Anniversary Buick . . . $1,550

Purchased From and on Display at Pampa Buick Motor Co., Inc.

Do YOU want a big, brand new, high powered chugging motor car, fully equipped with bumpers, spare tire and tire cover, motor-meter, and all the other trimmings—all for your VERY OWN? A car, for instance, that won't cost you a single cent—yet will be yours to keep forever? How would one of those pictured on this page strike you?

Well, dear reader, YOU can have any car pictured here, and it won't cost you a single cent. All you have to do is become a contestant in the Pampa Daily News big $5,000 Subscription Voting Contest, just starting, and work a little between now and December 15. The "work" is really play. It consists of getting votes.

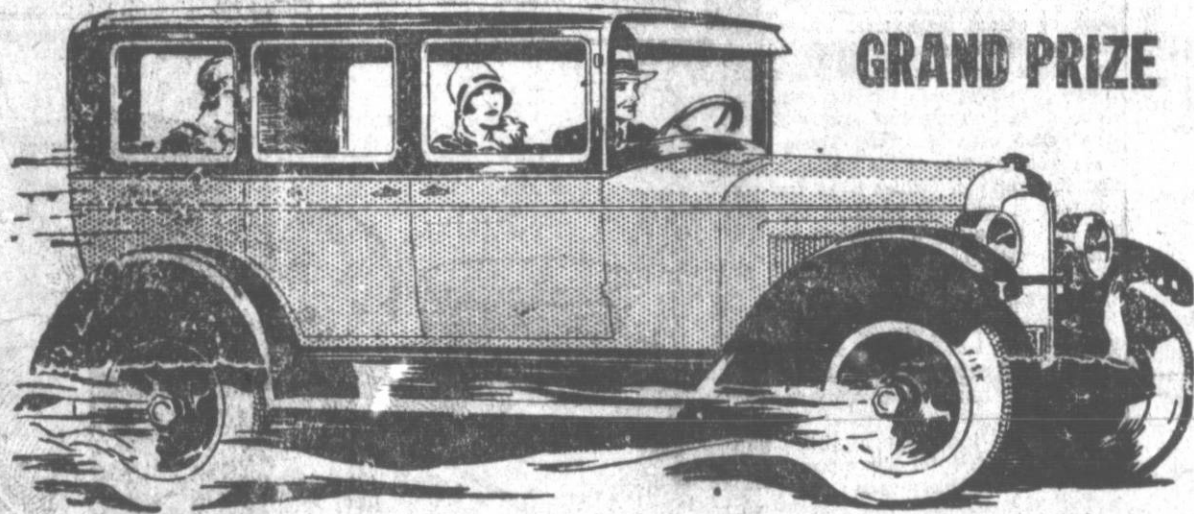

You obtain them (1) By entering the campaign. (2) By clipping out the free vote coupons from yours and anybody else's paper and depositing them in the ballot box at the News office. (3) By securing new and renewal subscriptions to the Daily News. Could anything be easier, or simpler?

Just a little effort for a few weeks and you will be richer by the amount of the prize you win. There are fifteen big prizes altogether. Three of them are automobiles—the others diamonds, rings and valuable Bulova watches. ALTHOUGH THE CAMPAIGN HAS BEEN ANNOUNCED FOR MORE THAN A WEEK THERE ARE NOT AS MANY PEOPLE GETTING VOTES AS THERE ARE PRIZES TO BE GIVEN!

Right NOW is the time to enter and get busy. It costs nothing to enter—to compete—to win. All you have to do is clip out and bring or mail one of the "Nomination Blanks" (see lower right hand corner). When you turn this in you have 2,000. Then see one of your friends about his subscription. If he will subscribe for a year, you get 5,000 regular votes on the subscription itself, and 10,000 extra for turning it in NOW (see "first subscription coupon, lower LEFT hand corner). That's a start of 17,000, and after that they come according to the schedule below.

There is an automobile waiting for YOU in this contest if you will stir yourself a little bit and come after it.

RIGHT NOW IS THE TIME TO JUMP IN!

How Votes Are Secured

Votes cannot be purchased and they cannot be transferred. Once issued to the credit of a contestant they must stay issued. This rule is imperative. There are just two ways to obtain votes. The other is by securing new and renewal prepaid subscriptions to this newspaper. The coupons must be deposited in the ballot box in the campaign office before the expiration date printed on them. All subscriptions must be paid in advance before votes are issued on them.

From October 15 to November 17 inclusive, every $30 in subscriptions turned in will count 100,000 extra votes.

Mighty Teams to Vie for Honors Next Saturday

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(P)—Unless the Army-Yale game at New Haven next Saturday is a stalemate it will be a Waterloo. Two mighty teams, contenders for mythical championships honors, meet.

Yale has romped through Maine, Georgia, and Brown, and, at the moment at least, it appears, can very well end the season undefeated provided the Army juggernaut can be conquered. After Army the Yale schedule calls for battles with Dartmouth, Maryland, Princeton, and Harvard. No soft spots there, it must be admitted, but it does seem as though Army is the biggest hurdle to be cleared.

Army has swept Boston university, Southern Methodists, Providence, and Harvard into defeat. After Yale it must battle DePaul, Notre Dame, Carleton, Nebraska, and Stanford.

Dartmouth, another leading candidate at present, on next Saturday tackles Harvard, which has time this week to learn that fumbles are costly. They were the deciding factor in the Harvard-Army game.

Six of the Atlantic seaboard's undefeated and the undefeated eleven will enter Saturday's battles with a prayer. Carnegie Tech meets Pittsburgh and hopes to win although realizing that the Panther, beaten by West Virginia, is a dangerous foe at any time. New York university must defend its clean record against Colgate, which has lost only in an inter-sectional combat with Vanderbilt. Cornell meets her first major test against a Princeton eleven tied by Virginia but not yet defeated. Williams' streak may end before Columbia's attack although the Lions will be badly crippled by Hank Kump out of the game the rest of the season. Tufts, boasting an undefeated record for a season and a half, battles Tuss McLaughry's Brown Bears and Duquesne may fear for its victor string against Geneva.

Pennsylvania has little fear of Navy and Georgetown players are not reported to be losing any sleep over the approaching inter-sectional battle with Duke. The rest of the unbeaten and untied array—Temple, Villanova, Haverford, and Boston college—are to be pitted against opposition the "dope" favors them to defeat.

Syracuse, whose record is marred only by an inter-sectional one-point defeat by Nebraska, meets Penn state, La Fayette, tied by Bucknell but not defeated, plays the strong mountaineers of West Virginia. Marquette comes East to try conclusions with Holy Cross again. Washington and Jefferson, beaten by Duquesne and trounced by Carnegie Tech, figures as a distant underdog against Fordham. A "Little Three" clash between Wesleyan and Amherst and the Bucknell-Gettysburg duel round out the day's principal attractions.

College Athlete at 14

Besides the distinction of being the youngest student in Harvard University, R. B. Konikow, 14 years old, is winning athletic honors. He's trying out for coxswain of the freshman crew and here you see him giving orders to his oarsmen during a practice race.

Granite to Have Tough Opponent Thursday Night

Kid Granite, local welterweight, will make his fall debut here Thursday night when he meets Cyclone Hall, champion of Oklahoma, in the main ten-round bout at the Pla-Mor auditorium. It should be a rare battle.

The local youth has been keeping in the best of condition during the summer with bottles in Oklahoma and Kansas. He won a decision from Ler Avery in Wichita last night. Avery took the decision when the two boys met here last fall.

Hall is a wizard with the fists. He won a smashing decision from Duke Trammell two weeks ago and kayoed Rusty Cahill in the seventh round of a ten-round scrap last Monday night. He is the boy who will give Granite a tough battle.

The semi-final will bring together Rusty Cahill and Speedy Snow. Both boxers are well known here. This will be Snow's first battle here since he broke his hand last fall. Both boxer going.

are the type that fight from going to a four-round bout has been matched between O. D. the fighting newsboy and Kid Hall a brother of Cyclone Hall's. This should be one of the best scraps of the evening.

Preliminaries will precede the main events.

Which Will Manage the Cards?

The whisper goes that Bill McKechnie won't manage the St. Louis Cards next summer and that either Billy Southworth, left, or Pancho Snyder, right, will take his place. Although Owner Breadon denies such a move at this time, it may be announced during the winter. Both Southworth and Snyder managed minor league possessions of the Cards this summer and won pennants.

Game Today at Prime Harvesters for Hard Tilt

The Pampa Harvesters are tangled with the St. George's crew of Amarillo on the local field this afternoon preparing for their hard battle against Hinton, Okla., Friday afternoon. The Hinton eleven must be the best in their division as they took a lead from Eagle City, Okla., last Friday 101 to 6.

Coaches Mitchell and Fox will have their cohorts in the best of condition for the big battle Friday. It will be a non-conference game.

On the following Friday, the last conference game before the play-off will be played with Wheeler as the leg to have the game played here, in opposition. Coach Mitchell is endeavoring to get the Wheeler field in its poor condition and he is afraid of having his men injured.

The first play-off game will be with the winner of the Perryton-Follett division. The local squad had a hard time beating the Follett crew last season, but Perryton looks like the winner this year.

Bob Muller will be back in the game within another week. He has been out with a broken nose sustained in practice last Thursday night when he crashed with Bernard. Otherwise the Harvesters are in the best of condition for their hard battles.

Double-Headers in Football Unpopular

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—(P)—The Big Ten's experiment with football double-headers through the use of reserve or "B" teams so far has been discouraging, several athletic directors have reported.

Coaches and alumni, especially, have protested against the doubleheader plan, it is said, and suggestions have been made that the former system of inter-college freshman gridiron competition be substituted.

RICHMOND, Va.—(P)—The music of hound and horn and the drumming of steel shot throughout the thunders of a hunt will soon blend into a subtle symphony to soothe the souls of fox hunters of the South, East and Middle West gathered on Virginia soil this autumn.

From late October the fields and woods of the Old Dominion will echo the swelling symphony of the pack in pursuit of Reynard.

First to slip into the creek bottoms where the dew sprinkled air gives the notes of the pack a clear resonance is the most of the Virginia Fox Hunter's Association at Orange, to be followed shortly by the biggest fox hound trials in the United States, those of the National Fox Hunters Association. Featuring the program of the National is the Eighth Chase futurity for a purse of $1,000. A field of 149 registered fox hounds are eligible for the event, the richest hound stake of the century. The festivities occupy three days, climaxing with the all-age stake, open to all hounds registered or non-registered, in which trophies worth $3,000 are offered.

Bench shows with classes for derbies and all-age hounds are announced by each of the three associations. Horse shows are also on the program. In each meet the horses hold the board the opening day with the hounds being put down at dawn of the morning to the second day.
