London Tells Of 'Big News' In Prospect

LONDON, Jan. 26 (AP)—A report that Joseph Stalin was fully informed on recent Allied consultations, implying that he did not attend them, appeared today in the London Press, which anticipated an announcement about the talks within the next 24 hours.

Presumably because of censorship restrictions on premature disclosure of the strategy negotiations, all morning newspapers which mentioned the subject attributed their reports to United States sources, not British. Typical headlines were: Daily Mirror: America expects 'most dramatic statement ever' to be made soon.

The "Londoner's diary" in the Evening Standard said the question of who will be Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's commander-in-chief in Tunisia soon would be decided, and hinted: "It would not be surprising if Alexander (Gen. Sir Harold Alexander) and Montgomery were separated now."

Drive Out The Invaders, Stalin Tells His Armies

Victories Are Outlined In Order Of Day

Battle Lines Pushed Forward In Ukraine And Caucasus

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, Jan. 26 (AP)—Urged on by an order of the day in which Premier Stalin for the first time signed himself supreme commander of the Red army, Russia's fighting forces pushed their battle lines ahead in the Ukraine and the Caucasus today and battled against growing German resistance in the lower Don approaches to Rostov.

"Forward for the routing of the German invaders and their expulsion over the boundaries of our motherland," was the premier's rallying cry. It was recalled that his words "not a step backward" rang out over the defenses of Stalingrad in its darkest hour last fall, and from that time on the defenders of the battered city braced and held.

The premier's praise of his troops, commanders and workers was contained in an order of the day, broadcast by the Moscow radio at a time when Russia's armies were forging ahead on every foot from Leningrad to the Caucasus.

Stalin declared that the Red army had driven forward 245 miles in two months of their second winter offensive, routing 102 enemy divisions and capturing 200,000 prisoners.

"Our troops have won an important victory," he said, and he added: "The offensive of our troops continues."

It may be hard to realize outside the Soviet Union what effect a pronouncement of Stalin has. It sweeps over this vast country by radio and newspapers and spreads through cities by word of mouth.

His order of the day follows special and regular communiques which reported the recapture of all of Voronezh from the Germans who had held a western section of the city since the summer of 1942, and which announced new gains in the Caucasus and the drive southwest of Voronezh toward the German base of Khar'kov.

British Still 6 Miles From Tunis Border

LeClere's Army With Allies After 1500 Mile March

LONDON, Jan. 26 (AP)—Pressing relentlessly westward from Tripoli in pursuit of Marshal Rommel's forces, a vanguard of the British Eighth army has occupied the small coastal town of Zaia about 30 miles west of Tripoli, while a Fighting French column from the African interior has reached Tripoli to join the approaching battle for Tunisia.

British spokesmen emphasized that the occupation of Zaia placed the advanced elements of Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's pursuing army still over 60 miles from the Tunisian frontier, toward which Rommel's troops were racing under fierce aerial harassment.

Marseille Is Under State Of Siege

LONDON, Jan. 26 (AP)—Vichy authorities have proclaimed a state of siege in Marseille, the Vichy radio reported today, after dispatches from Switzerland told of angry Frenchmen fortifying their homes in the old port district of the city and firing on German soldiers ordered to evacuate the district.

The German news agency DNB said in dispatches to Madrid and Lisbon that 40,000 persons had been arrested in the city. The Vichy radio, which placed the number of arrested at 6,000, was making an obvious effort to minimize difficulties in the old and historical city of Marseille, second largest in France.

Sterilizing In The Home

By WILDA CAMERY, R.N., Community Service Society of New York

Clean means two very different things as used in the home and in the hospital. This winter with many illnesses usually treated in the hospital being cared for at home, home nurses are keenly aware of the difference. The dishes in your cupboard, the linen on your shelves are clean—hygienically and aesthetically clean. But they are not necessarily "sterile clean"—they are not germ free.

All of you who have had babies in your home are familiar with this sort of sterile cleanliness. You've prepared formula, boiling not only the bottles and the milk solution but also every utensil and pan used.

This same careful sterile technique can be applied to preparing equipment and supplies for such needs as home deliveries and the dressing of wounds.

By boiling for five minutes, if the container and water used are already sterile. Remember if the solution is to remain sterile it must stay in the original pan or be poured into a previously sterilized bottle that has a sterile cover.

Kitchenware and bottles that have been washed with soap suds and hot water are sterile after 20 minutes boiling. If knives and scissors must be made sterile, care for them separately, by putting them into sterile boiling water and boiling for only five minutes.

Rubber goods are also boiled briefly. For example, nipples after being washed with soap and water are left in sterile boiling water for only one minute.

Bandage materials such as linen, muslin, cotton, gauze and tape may be sterilized by wrapping firmly in packages of either cloth or heavy paper, and putting them into a warm oven. Leave in the oven until the paper is brown on the outside. For emergency needs, a bit of clean fresh linen such as a handkerchief or towel may be made fairly safe by ironing thoroughly with a very hot iron.

For home use, sterilize materials in only small amounts as they do not remain sterile long and are not safe for use after two weeks. A good general rule is, "When in doubt, re-sterilize."

Few Tires Needed For Schoolboys' Sports Program

AUSTIN, Jan. 26. (UP)—The largest high school competitive sports program in the nation—50,000 boys—can continue with just 23 sets of tires, R. J. Kidd, athletic director of the Texas interscholastic league, said today.

As things stand, he added, the athletic program in this state will be practically abandoned except for the larger schools.

Moreover, the director of an organization that has trained more than a half-million boys in competitive sports, wants to know why truck loads of beer can be hauled over the state yet a school bus that transports an athletic team to give it the physical training the army wants it to have is forbidden new tires.

He announced that a study by the league will show "we can continue our entire high school athletic program on approximately 23 sets of tires for the year."

Over its 23-year history, the organization has averaged 25,000 competitions in all its sports. Last year there were 50,000 in a strenuous, rugged, competitive program.

At the present time a school administrators' committee is seeking a solution to the transportation problem with state and national officials.

Plastic Golf Ball Developed

NEW YORK, Jan. 26. (UP)—Science is preparing a plastic ball for the rubber-studded golfer.

The newly developed pellet already has been put through exhaustive laboratory and field tests and has proven itself 90 per cent as efficient as the present rubber, core-wound ball.

And there's nothing in the rule book which prohibits the new ball's use except the law of supply. It probably won't be manufactured for general distribution until after the war.

Joseph Day, executive secretary of the United States Golf association, said today that a ball was legal on the golf course as long as it didn't exceed 1.62 ounces in weight, 1.68 inches in diameter and didn't travel faster than 280 feet a second when tested on the USGA machine.

Nowhere in the rule book is the ball's composition outlined or defined. After all, the early golf balls were made of packer feathers.

Manufacturers feel that if the plastic ball proves popular it can be sold for as little as 15 cents.

GUARDHOUSE WAS WAITING

CAMP CAMPBELL, Cal. (UP)—To get back into the Army, Pvt. John Greathouse, AWOL for five and one-half years, headed straight for the guardhouse. During Greathouse's long leave, he acquired a wife and two children and traveled around the world. But when his conscience caught up with him, he reported directly to the guardhouse and was welcomed back.

TRIPOLI, Jan. 26. (Delayed)—Seeing people liberated from virtual bondage and watching their emotional outbursts from the most graphic impressions we have of the occupation of Tripoli.

Only a few hours ago British troops and advance units of the royal air force rolled into this city and the official surrender to General Sir Bernard L. Montgomery was the last chapter in the fall of Mussolini's African empire.

Touring the city, we visited Tripoli's ancient ghetto where some 10,000 Jews were crowded into a labyrinth of houses and cellars resembling a rabbit warren.

We walked through an arched gate guarded by military police and as soon as the people recognized us as Americans the emotional outburst was almost riotous.

Some threw themselves at our feet, offering gifts of not only wine and tobacco but money as well.

Men threw their arms about necks and kissed our cheeks. Women kissed our hands. Children clung to our legs and kissed our dusty shoes.

They showed us photographs of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill with cries: "Viva America! Viva Italia!"

A husky young fellow suddenly took us by the arms and shoved us through the crowd into a courtyard and down a flight of dark steps into a room where a white-robed patriarch sat at a bare table.

They told us that a few hours before the troops entered the city some leading Jewish merchants had been dragged from their shops and shot, but they expressed no surprise at this because, they said, it was the kind of thing that had been going on since the days when this city was the seat of Mediterranean piracy.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26. (UP)—The three New York baseball clubs, which can quarrel furiously over nothing at times, agree that they won't let any of their players train by themselves in warmer climates after the northern camps open.

"You know a ball player's idea of training," sports secretary Eddie Brennan of the Giants. "They work out a few minutes then go playing a round of golf. . . . We're going to urge them all to some road work before they report."

Ed Barrow of the Yanks. "We always do. . . . The Dodgers' Branch Rickey says he'd like to get five or six players together for preliminary work about March 1, so he could be sure how their conditioning is coming along."

CONTRARY OPINIONS

Babe Ruth's idea of northern training will "ruin" players and that the pitchers will only be good for a few innings at the start brought a series of sports along the baseball beat. . . . "What did he ever know about training?"

was the general reaction. . . . And you gotta admit the Babe never took his spring work too seriously. . . . Dixie Walker, for one, figures that players who live in the north all winter will be a lot healthier for staying there to train instead of moving to warmer climate and back again. . . . And folks who follow the local semi-pro clubs point out that the bushwicks, one of the fastest teams, never go south and begin playing early in March without any casualties.

Their pitchers work only three-inning stretches then but they show mid-season stuff.

KODAK'S GUEST STAR

Wilbur Jennings, Richmond (Va.) news leader "has anyone thought of holding the Kentucky Derby at the same time at Louisville this year? It seems quite appropriate in view of the ban on pleasure driving and single Church Hill Downs is some three miles from Louisville."

GENTLEMAN JOE

Although Joe Choyanski, who died Sunday, weighing only 170 pounds in his fighting days, he took on such big guys as Jim Corbett, 230-pound Jim Jeffries, salters Tom Sharkey and Jack Johnson and did all right. . . . And he claimed that in five fights with Corbett (including one with bare fists on a sand lot) he only was licked once. . . . In his book on Gentleman Jim, ring historian Nat Fleisher quotes Billy Delaney, trainer of Corbett and Jeffries, as saying the Choyanski-Corbett battle on a barge at Benicia, Calif., was the greatest fight he ever had seen.

"For cleverness, endurance and gameness displayed, I've never seen its equal," said Billy. . . . And Corbett called Joe "the salt of the earth, an all-around good fellow, gentleman, who was always on the level."

Hears From Son On Guadalcanal

Mrs. Julia McClure has received a letter from her grandson, W. P. Middleton, member of the Sea Bees written on Christmas day from Guadalcanal Islands.

The islands were inhabited only by natives until the Japs took it," Middleton wrote. "The natives are cannibals but friendly to us," he explained.

The heat and flies and mosquitos are the biggest worries, and "almost unbearable." The boys are camped in a cocoon grove and set up a post office Christmas day.

"The Marines have gone on to take another island," he wrote.

Week's Oil Output Shows Decrease

TULSA, Okla., Jan. 26. (UP)—Daily crude oil production in the United States decreased 30,675 barrels to 3,549,325, for the week ending January 23, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

California production was down 8,225 to 775,275; eastern fields, 2-100 to 91,000; Illinois, 6,850 to 228,400; Louisiana, 1,450 to 328,200; Michigan, 2,500 to 58,900; the Rocky Mountain states, 2,480 to 117,670; 8,800 to 1,350,900, and Oklahoma, 790 to 344,800.

Kansas production increased 6,800 to 307,500, and East Texas, 600 to 327,600.

Ninety-four per cent of the New Zealand population is of British origin; four per cent are native Maoris.

Most Service Stations On 72-Hr. Basis

Patriotic acceptance is the attitude of the local service station owners and managers who received their notices this weekend from the Office of War Information setting a time limit on the hours that motorists can drive into their favorite filling stations for gasoline.

Under the new edict, stations must elect to stay open 24 hours every day of the week or stay open not more than 72 hours a week and for not more than 12 hours a day.

Most of the station managers were of the opinion that they would choose the 72 hour a week schedule as it more or less corresponded with hours they have been observing.

One station which has observed a 24 hour a day service will continue to keep on the 'round the clock basis but didn't much like the idea of having to serve A, B and C card holders only at certain hours. Ordinary drivers may not obtain service at any hour of the day or night in stations remaining open 24 hours a day.

These stations must select any 12 hour period for the A, B and C card holders while the remaining 12 hours are only for holders of T-cards.

Another station manager, whose storage business is a large one, said his station would go on the 72 hour a week schedule but keep someone around to let the storage cars in and out. "That will be hard on us," he claimed, "but guess it's the best way to do."

Another patriotic manager claimed, "if this will help win the war, we'll open and close when the OWI says," and another heaved a sigh and said, "after we get used to the idea, it'll be all right."

But the happiest service station owner was the man who chuckled, "I'm out of the gasoline business now, thank the Lord, you'll have to ask somebody else what they think of this new government wrinkle."

A's Have 20 In Service

CHICAGO, Jan. 26. (UP)—The Chicago White Sox, who have proudly held the No. 1 spot in the American league service list with 19 players in the armed forces, have had to surrender that position to the Philadelphia Athletics.

A revised service list today showed the Athletics with 20 men working under Uncle Sam's colors. The Sox, however, have the honor of being the only American league club with a player in the marines.

New Schedule On Tire Inspection

Periodic tire inspection of passenger automobiles will follow a schedule such as listed below following an amendment recently made which went into effect January 14.

A cards, inspected by March 31, and every six months thereafter, with 90 days minimum time between inspections. February 28th, and every three months thereafter, with 45 days minimum time between inspections.

The staggered schedule of inspections was adopted in order to avoid any overlapping of the inspection periods. The new schedule will relieve the inspection load placed on the official tire inspectors and permit the vehicle owner to comply more conveniently with inspection requirements.

PRINCE ALBERT THE NATIONAL JOY SMOKE

"So you want your head blown off?"

AN AP man, W. A. M. Goode, climbed aboard Admiral Sampson's flagship, The New York, off Key West on April 20, 1898 and was greeted gruffly by the Admiral:

"So you want to come aboard and get your head blown off? It's foolish!"

It was the first time a reporter ever had been allowed aboard a warship in action and it had taken presidential approval, over the navy's protests, to arrange it.

Such daring and resourcefulness set new journalistic records during the Spanish-American war—and before. As early as 1896, in fact, the AP assigned F. J. Hilgert to Havana where the natives were seemingly waging a hopeless fight for independence from Spain. For two years Hilgert worked in secrecy, and in danger, smuggling out his graphic reports since General Weyler had forbade all newspaper work under threat of the firing squad.

With Hilgert's dramatic flash, "The Maine has been blown up," AP was ready. It assembled a trained war staff and assigned a flotilla of dispatch boats that made newspaper history. Correspondents aboard the dispatch boats were under fire and frequently mistaken for the enemy.

Today AP men are making newspaper history again in the same tradition—AP men with the Mediterranean fleet, AP men in the Atlantic, in the Pacific, AP men wherever there's duty—and danger.

Editorial - - Comforts The Test Of Civilization?

Dear me, these war sacrifices are getting terrific, aren't they? No more ready-made bread, and not a bread knife in the house. You'd have a hard time convincing people that nobody ever heard of ready-made bread only half a dozen years ago.

We Americans have grown so accustomed to having everything done for us that many of us have become helpless. When the automobile first came in a motorist had to be a pretty good mechanic if he expected to reach his destination. He had to patch tires all along the route—a messy and tiring job. He had to stop at every other windmill and fill up the radiator. He had to look all over town to find enough gasoline to get where he was going. The car-buretor was forever getting out of whack and one good hand look at the engine would kill it dead.

Today, many a motorist buys a new car and never sees under the hood from the day of purchase to the day of trade-in on a new model. That is, it was that way before the war came along; it will be slightly different hereafter with

Capital Comment— Street-Cars Having Their Day Again In Washington

By GEORGE STIMPSON
Herald Washington Correspondent

Washington has become mighty street-car conscious all of a sudden.

With the population of the national capital metropolitan area about twice what it was three years ago, the street cars and buses were already severely over-taxed; but when OPA taboos all pleasure driving, the local transportation situation became downright serious over night. During the first ten days the bus was in effect, street-car and bus passenger traffic jumped up between seven and fifteen percent.

Back in the palmy days of the automobile many predicted that the street car would soon be only a museum piece. Street cars can't go to stick to the rails, they can't go any place except where the rails go—a fatal limitation, so the smart guys said. But Washington is one city in which street cars never did go out of business. There was a reason for this. The men who were responsible for all the recent new buildings in the capital apparently forgot all about the invention of the automobile. They placed the buildings so close together that there was no space left for parking-lots. The resulting traffic congestion in downtown Washington, shortage of parking places on the streets, kept the cars going here even in depression days, at the very time when automobiles were driving them out of many larger cities. It was a case of shortsightedness proving a blessing.

Some street car tracks in Washington, unfortunately, were pulled up, but not many. Electric cars in the capital operate on the third rail principle, no overhead live wires. This means that the traction company can take no chances with heavy snow; the snow plows must get busy the moment it begins to snow. Some of the cars in Washington were in service, although when I came here twenty-one years ago; others are new, up-to-date, modern cars, with all sorts of gadgets, self-opening doors, one-conductor affairs, smooth, fast, almost noiseless. The old cars, noisy, rickety, clumsy, were constructed to be operated by a motorman and a conductor; the more modern ones are constructed to be run by one man, who acts as both motor-man and conductor.

The regular charges for riding is ten cents. The coin slots take dime, nickel or pennies; if you don't have ten cents in change the motor-man or conductor makes the change for you. This is quite a nuisance when the passengers are packed in like sardines and it

Hollywood Sights And Sounds— Martha Has About Talked Herself Into Old Age

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD — We want you to know today Miss Martha O'Driscoll, a sweetheart of a girl who nearly fibbed herself into premature old age.

Martha is blonde, blue-eyed, and bears a nice resemblance to Martha O'Driscoll and to other blondes in pictures. That makes her practically unique. She's cheery, wholesome as freshly churned butter, and attractive. She's also 20, but—

"Some people don't believe it," she says. "I tell them I'll be 21 in a couple of months, and they look at me and I can see them figuring in their heads and thinking 'Hi-m-m, she was 18 back in 1935...'"

Martha's story goes back to that summer vacation in Hollywood—in 1935—when she decided to crash pictures. It wasn't a new idea. She'd had it all her life, which was then in its 13th year. When the family left Tulsa, Okla., for Phoenix, Ariz., Martha had taken up dancing. So here she was in Hollywood, and she read an ad for dancers at Metro. She went out, to the 1942 bill, they will involve 1942 incomes and can be passed before the first quarter due-date March 15. If they are incorporated in the 1943 tax bill, it's unlikely that they will become effective before March 15, probably not before the June 15 payment is due.

The figure most often referred to at the moment is 15 per cent. More than that might result in a greater readjustment payment due at the end of the year. More, in some instances, could possibly result in the Treasury's having to pay out small sums to compensate for overpayments.

Washington Daybook— Whatever The Tax Plan, You Won't Pay Any Less

By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON — As the new Congress settles down to work, the income tax pay-as-you-go hand-wagon is becoming heavily freighted and Capitol Hill observers are giving heavy odds that something will be done about it before the first 1942 payment becomes due March 15.

This would mean dropping entirely the 1942 tax and collection at the source of a certain percentage of the income. At the end of the year, an adjustment would be made equalizing the tax on all earnings.

Don't get the idea that you will pay any less to Uncle Sam. The Treasury's collections will be just as much in 1943 as if you were paying on your 1942 tax, perhaps more (since incomes are steadily mounting). But it would equalize the tax on a month-to-month basis, spread it over the year, and provide relief for the man whose income suddenly collapses due to inability to work or loss of job.

PACIFIC PATROL

BY ELEANOR ATTERBURY

Chapter 21
The Meadow Lark Sings

It was nearly dusk when Standing Bear came to life, crawling across the left floor noiselessly until he lay prone, his head thrust into the narrow corner where the slanting roof met the walls and there was a chink about the size of a man's hand.

All of a sudden it came to her why! Meadow lark! At this altitude! Singing after dark! Her father. That was the signal her father had always used to call Standing Bear.

It came again. That clear, fluted whistle that was a perfect imitation of a full-throated meadow-lark.

Mary felt her heart hammering, could hardly find breath to tell Dan what was happening.

"Now, if we could only think of some way to help. Otherwise they'll hold their fire on our account," he worried reasonably.

Mary nodded. Look, I've an idea. Suppose I pretend that I give in — bargain with them for my own neck by offering to force Standing Bear to guide them.

"It just might work," he said. "I hope leading into his voice. 'I could handle the 'Captain', I think. Could you do it?'"

The ruse worked amazingly. Mary felt danger like a yawning cavern; right at her feet when she first faced the battery of cold stares from her captors and made her wild suggestion.

"What about the young Lieutenant up there?" one of them demanded, erratically.

She shrugged — a magnificent piece of camouflage. "That's not my worry."

For several minutes she wasn't sure it would stick. Then finally one of them said, "You're a smart girl. You know what will happen if you double-cross us, don't you?"

She smiled then, sure that success was just within her reach. "Of course. You fellows are too smart for that, though."

"Get the Indian," came the command finally.

From there, the scheme went off as if it had been rehearsed. Old Standing Bear shrewdly remained the stupid, stoic Indian they took him for.

"He knows these mountains—every inch of them," Mary assured them, her ears strained for the moment when Dan would drop from the trap door onto the shoulders of the Captain standing guard below.

"Indians always know everything," she chattered on, feigning great friendliness now. Then, when she heard the muffled grunt, thud in the next room, she suggested brightly, "Give a war-whoop for them, Standing Bear!"

Instantly, the Indian opened his mouth, clapped his hand against it while he howled blood-curdlingly. Any tussle in the next room went unnoticed.

"Now caw like a crow, Standing Bear," she suggested, listening with her heart for the sounds outside. "Now be a meadow lark."

It all happened so fast after that she couldn't remember the details. There was no shooting. Dan merely flung open the door, gun in hand—the Captain's gun she learned later—told them they were under arrest. Behind him came her father, the officers from Headquarters and Porter Lloyd.

The German "Major" cursed violently, snarled at Mary as the officer slipped on the handcuffs. "You will pay for this!"

"Not now she won't," Dan grinned happily when the criminals were herded out of the cabin, started down the trail single file under the surveillance of armed guards.

"Mary whatever possessed you to come up here?" Porter demanded almost crossly. "You've given us a terrible fright."

"But—it all ends well, doesn't it?" she asked quietly. "We got a job done that certainly needed doing."

"Well—yes, of course," Porter actually smiled now. "At least I won't have to worry about my gasoline any more."

Dan swung an arm around Mary's shoulder. "Anything you want to say to Mary you can say to me, too, Lloyd. I'd suggest it be congratulations and best wishes. We're being married tomorrow—in Reno."

"Married!" he gasped. "Tomorrow!"

"Tomorrow?" Mary echoed in a small voice.

Turning, Dan swept her into his arms. "Yes, darling, tomorrow. I have ten days left on this so-called furlough I've been enjoying. I can't think of any nice way to spend it. Can you?"

Mary smiled, turned her face up to him. "I can't think of anything lovelier."

C. Of C. Looks Forward To Part In Post-War Planning

Contributing every possible bit toward the war effort remained the chief objective of the Big Spring chamber of commerce following its annual membership banquet Monday evening, but leaders of the organization looked forward to a weather eye toward planning for post-war days.

Willard Sullivan, who assumed his duties as president of the organization, succeeding Ben LeFever, declared that our "whole idea is to do what we can to win and shorten this war." The chamber's list of objectives had contribution to the war in first place but listed as a climactic objective the establishment of a "master planning committee to study conditions and make recommendations... on post-war industries and activities."

The Rev. P. D. O'Brien, speaker for the evening, trained his fire on the achievement of reforms when the war is won. He declared that the present generation held the connecting link in civilization's contract with the dead past and the unborn future and called for "a restless spirit of dissatisfaction" to achieve needed changes.

These he listed as 1) "a better economic system with better distribution of goods not only in the U. S. but throughout the world; 2) a better social order which eliminates castes and recognizes equality; 3) an order which pays vastly more attention to protection of the health of the individual; 4) a better religious order under which conviction and tolerance walk hand in hand; 5) an attitude of responsibility which will preclude more war.

"The way," he concluded, "is to build a better citizenship and the way to build a better citizenship is through strong homes, virile schools and dynamic churches."

Ira Thurman, retiring vice-president, presided over the meeting and was a pinch-hitter for LeFever, who was prevented from attending due to illness. He introduced new officers, including Vice-President R. R. McEwen and Treasurer T. S. Currie, and new directors, including Col. Sam L. Ellis, commandant, and other officers from the Big Spring Bombardier School; Walter Whipkey, president, Jack Helton, manager of the Colorado City chamber of commerce; Charles W. Roberts, Andrews county judge; Lieut. Jesse Gardner, who spoke briefly on behalf of a WAAC recruiting campaign; Lieut. Raymond Deas of the West Texas district recruiting headquarters at Lubbock, and others.

Shine Phillips sketched a hurried picture of early-day Big Spring when he came here in 1898. He mentioned famous characters such as "Broken-nose George," "Nigger Charlie," and "Hong Tong," the Chinese laundryman, the "old white sow," and others. Things were placid until the early 1900's when "B. Reagan and Fox Stripling had to organize a chamber of commerce," he said, and added facetiously, "and ever since things have been going to hell."

Thurman lauded Manager Jimmie Greene as "one of the best in West Texas," and praised the efforts of LeFever during the past year, as did Sullivan subsequently. Greene expressed regrets on behalf of LeFever and recognized the office force, Mrs. Margaret Kling and Mrs. Inez Malone.

Clarinda Mary Sanders, Kathleen Underwood and Wanda McQuain accompanied by Mrs. Anne Gibson Houser, sang two numbers as did Corp. Joe Kling, with Mrs. Houser at the piano, to furnish entertainment which provoked long applause.

Approximately 275 persons attended the affair.

Church Maps Debt Lifting Campaign

"East Fourth Debt Free in 1943—Count On Me!" has been adopted by the congregation of the E. Fourth Baptist church as the slogan in preparing for a debt lifting campaign which begins Sunday when Homecoming Day will be observed.

A chart has been placed in the church auditorium illustrating sections of the building free of debt, and the remaining one-fifth to be paid for during the campaign, when the church will purchase a Fairchild PT-19 plane with the $9,000 in bonds to be bought this year.

The pastor, the Rev. R. E. Durham, stated that the bonds would be sold in $18.75 denominations, and that during the year 480 bonds would be sold.

Scheduled to take part in Homecoming activities are the Rev. S. E. Hughes, E. Fourth minister when the church roll totaled 65 members; A. E. Lightfoot former assistant pastor; John R. Hutto who was principal of the Kate Morrison School; Mrs. S. H. Morrison, one of 11 charter members, who will give a history of the church; and Mrs. Ben Carpenter of Stanton, former young people's director.

A full day program has been announced for Sunday and will feature patriotic musical presentations.

The message was delivered at a ceremony at city hall by Maj. Gen. Russell F. Hartle, temporary commander of U. S. forces in the European theater in the absence of Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

"One year ago the first great convoy of American troops to cross the Atlantic in this war was landed in Northern Ireland," the president's message said.

"Things have changed greatly in these twelve months.

"We no longer think of defense. That is past.

"From now on and henceforth we think of attack—determined, unrelenting, smashing attack.

"Our troops and those of the United Kingdom, Canada and the other dominions of our Allies have chafed at inaction.

"They will get action.

"The road to Berlin is long and hard, but it is very sure."

Conservation Area To Be Discussed

A group meeting of farmers and ranchers operating in south of Elbow has been set for Thursday at 2 p. m. for the purpose of discussing the possibility of another priority area.

Among those who have signified interest in such a program are Joyce and Bernard Fisher, Harry Lester, L. I. Stewart, Ross Hill, the Pettys and the Longs. Dudley Mann, Soil Conservation Service head for the Big Spring office, said that the meeting would be held on the ground at the Long place if weather permits so that case points may be demonstrated.

Wall Street

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—A wide assortment of stock market favorites in the industrial category today continued to register new tops for more than a year in the liveliest dealings of 1943 but profit taking on the drive restrained many leaders.

The pace was fast from the start, with large blocks of low-priced shifters, most of which got nowhere in particular, helping put volume for the full proceedings at around 100,000 shares.

In front the greater part of the time were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, American Telephone, Western Union, American Tobacco "B," Du Pont, Douglas Aircraft, North American, Consolidated Edison and Public Service of N. J.

Loiters included Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Chrysler, Standard Oil (N.J.), Boeing, Glenn Martin, Anacosta.

WAAC Unit To Be At Texas School

Under the direction of the adjutant general, 600 WAAC enrollees are to begin training on February 12 at the school, located at Nacogdoches in East Texas, said Patton.

Here and There

Only routine business is in prospect for the regular semi-monthly city commission meeting this evening. There may be more discussion of plans for enlarging the sewage system.

Bill Flowers, son of Mrs. Hattie Flowers, and brother of Mrs. George White, has received his commission as a lieutenant in the army air forces. He is due to be stationed at Tampa, Fla., as a pilot. Bill is a former Big Spring high school and Tulane University grid star.

After about 40 years, J. H. Greene has received a note from a man who confessed taking a pair of gloves while working in a store for Greene at Colorado City. He had snatched a pair of gloves valued at about 60 cents, and it had been on his conscience ever since. He wanted to pay the debt and get it off his mind.

What promised to be a car fire Monday evening fizzled out. It was only a blanket in the seat and was extinguished before police could arrive to check the report.

Billy Ray Vaughn, former Herald carrier boy and son of Mrs. Ada Vaughn, has been promoted to a second class seaman, his mother was notified Monday. Vaughn is stationed with the navy in San Diego, Calif.

One speeder paid $14 fine in justice court Tuesday morning for failing to observe the 35-mile an hour speed limit.

All jurors who received notices Monday to report for jury service in February are expected to report Monday, February 1st, Denver Dunn, deputy sheriff, said Tuesday. The date of jury service was accidentally left off of the notices, Dunn said.

Sullivan Back From Rent Conference

Charles Sullivan, attorney-examiner for the local Rent Control office, returned Monday from Dallas where he attended a meeting of area rent attorneys and directors over Saturday and Sunday.

Speakers from Washington included Robert W. Wales, assistant general counsel, Eugene Swigart, acting head of southern section, Harry Jones, Washington enforcement attorney, Tyrell Krusz, regional information officer, and Tom Tippet, director of field operations, as well as others.

Sullivan said the meeting was very informational and helpful. Discussions centered on procedure and problems of rent control offices.

The local office, having completed registration and mailed out all registration blanks to landlords and tenants, is now receiving complaints and requests for adjustment.

Sullivan said that the majority of the complaints from tenants are in regard to landlords misrepresenting the freeze date rent rate. Sullivan requested that if tenants have not yet received a copy of the landlord's registration that they contact the rent control office.

Burnett Heads Teacher Assn.

County teachers selected N. Y. Burnett of Garner as president of the local unit of Texas State Teachers association when approximately 35 persons gathered at the courthouse Monday night.

Other officers selected included H. F. Malone of Midway, first vice-president; Anna Smith, Moore, second vice-president; Mrs. Louise R. Hair, Centerpoint, treasurer; and Mrs. Loy Acuff, secretary.

Teachers also named George M. Boswell of Coahoma and Walker Bailey, county superintendent, as delegates to represent them at the district meeting to be held sometime in March.

The group voted to organize an interscholastic league and elected H. F. Malone as director general. Other directors include Mrs. George M. Boswell, Coahoma, declaration; D. L. Townsend, Coahoma, athletics; Mrs. Burnett, Garner, spelling; Mrs. Ethel R. Bird, Coahoma, choral singing; Louise Holden, Midway, story telling; Mary Knox, Garner, Number sense.
