Chairman Ross Sterling Outlines $300,000,000 Road Bond Issue

CITY PROPERTY VALUATIONS NOW TOTAL $5,564,000.00

EQUALIZING IS COMPLETED BY LOCAL BOARD

MUCH GROWTH IS INDICATED

Tax Levies Will Not Include Operating Expense

Pampa city valuations total $5,564,000.

This figure has been released by the board of equalization, which has just completed its work. Hearings were held to make adjustments with property owners, but few complaints were made to the board.

Last year's total was $4,259,000. This leaves a net increase of $1,305,000, indicating a substantial growth of a few cities in Texas of this size have enjoyed during the last twelve months. Valuations were increased by the board in view of the large number of business buildings and dwellings that have been listed for the first time. It is not considered that the hike is especially great. The board has felt members say, that it is better to adjust the values according to the present market scales than to make it necessary to raise the tax rate.

The city commission at an early meeting will take the budget being prepared by City Manager F. M. Gwin and fix the tax levies for interest and sinking funds on warrant and bond issues. No tax levy will be necessary for operating expenses, since the city is more than paying its way from this standpoint, the city manager reveals.

One new item to be included next year will be the Board of City Development plan, to be tax supported in accordance with the provisions of the new city charter.

James Young of Kaufman Will Be Brought to City

Former Congressman James Young of Kaufman will speak here on the evening of October 18 at the P. M. Auditorium in behalf of Democratic national ticket. It was announced today by officers of the Smith club.

Mr. Young is chairman of the State Democratic campaign committee. He was in Congress sixteen years before he voluntarily retired. He is a life-long prohibitionist, it was stated here. His speech will be a dignified discussion of the issues of the campaign.

Miss Virginia Faulkner, county Democratic chairman, will preside. Chas. C. Cook will introduce the speaker.

Royalty Sales in Gray County Total More Than 21,000 in LeFors Areas

Royalty sale transactions amounting to $21,000 have just been completed in Gray county. Both transactions were in the LeFors area.

Ben Gralapp, a former resident of Pampa now residing in Winfield, Kan., sold to B. W. Adams and H. C. Prince of Oklahoma City one-third royalty in and under the northeast quarter of the northeast quarter, and the southeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section 3, block 26, H. and G. N. survey, for $15,000.

The lease is situated ten miles southeast of LeFors in the small producing area. There are several producing and drilling wells in the section.

Early Rain Threat Here Subsides as Old Sol Breaks Through Clouds—Northwest Has Real Touch of Winter, and Indian Summer in Missouri Valley Is Routed.

Having initiated newcomers into the ways of Panhandle wind and dust Weather Man gave slight indications today of mixing in some rain and low temperatures. A shower of rain from overcast skies delayed sunrise, but Old Sol broke through heavy, drifting clouds before 9 o'clock. Football fans anxiously scanned the heavens, and were encouraged in the hopeful expectation that "it wouldn't rain." Always cautious, Weather Man forecast "probable light rains." He divulged that it was snowing to the northward, which ordinarily means cool weather—duck weather, in fact—and rains in this section.

DENVER, Oct. 12.—(P)—A winter storm which swept into the Rock Mountain region from Canadian prairies moved eastward today, bringing promise of lower temperatures and rain or snow throughout the Missouri valley, where balmy Indian summer weather has prevailed for weeks.

A mercury drop was recorded in the populated sections of Colorado, and rain which fell in Denver and other towns last night was expected to turn to snow today and spread into northern New Mexico.

BRIGGS TO TALK ON SUNDAY TO PRESBYTERIANS

There will be no preaching service following Sunday school at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning but in the evening at 7:30 o'clock George Briggs will speak.

One of the subjects to be discussed after the evening service will be the prospective call of a minister, which may be decided at the congregational meeting.

Boys Need Aid in Project Work at Central School

C. L. Davis, state supervisor of vocational agriculture, was in Pampa Wednesday and Thursday to confer with J. L. Lester, vocational agriculture teacher in Central high school, to make recommendations, and to inspect the department.

He expressed gratification at the status of the work here and described as almost perfect. He deplored, however, the lack of "major projects" in the text-book work of the department the work being done by boys in the agriculture classes. The major projects consist of caring for two pigs, feeding and caring for two cows, or caring for one hundred chickens. Many of the students lack the money necessary for a start in any one of these lines. Mr. Davis learned that the co-operation of service clubs of the city, is being obtained in securing loans for these projects.

Mr. Davis is spending ten weeks in this section of the state and is visiting all schools where Smith-Hughes work is being carried on. He will make his official report on the local department in about ten days. Superintendent R. C. Campbell said.

W. C. Upton and Horace Park will leave this evening to spend the weekend in Dallas.

The Rev. Joe Strotcher, educational director of the local Methodist church, has accepted the pastorate of the First Methodist church at Panhandle, where he will report for duty at once.

Rev. Strotcher, graduate of the theological department of Southern Methodist university, has been a highly valued addition to the religious and civic life of the community. He is well known for his talent as pianist and organist and as an Epworth League worker.

He will serve the Panhandle church until the conference meets to make the annual assignments to pastorate. His successor here has not yet been announced.

Banks Are Closed; Blame Is Assigned to One C. Columbus

Local banks are closed in observance of Columbus Day.

Columbus Day is set apart in honor of the man who discovered America. Although he never reached the American shore he is acclaimed the discoverer of the country. He with his sailors landed in the West Indies Oct. 12, 1492, and believing it to be the main land, went no farther.

Columbus and his ships, three in number, left Palos, Italy, August 3, 1492, setting a course westward into the unknown. When Columbus nearly discouraged, land was sighted and the landing was made the morning of October 12.

Columbus Day was first celebrated October 12, 1892, upon order of President William H. Harrison. The holiday has been observed every year from that time.

Delegates Wanted to Spearman Meeting

George W. Briggs, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, is anxious that a large delegation from Pampa attend the Trans-Canadian District convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to be held in Spearman next Tuesday. The Pampa delegation will leave from the Chamber of Commerce rooms at 8:30 Tuesday morning and return the same day.

Anyone wishing to make the trip is asked to notify Mr. Briggs of his intentions. Spearman had a large delegation at the convention held here last month and Mr. Briggs is anxious to return the visit.

SAYS PLAN IS ONE TO SPEED UP PROGRAM

Interest Would Begin As Bonds Were Actually Used

SCORES PRESENT STATE METHODS

Fifty Millions Would Be Refunded to Same Counties

DALLAS, Oct. 12.—(P)—The State of Texas is "hamstrung by its plan of financing its highway system and is powerless to meet the clamor for roads," Ross S. Sterling, chairman of the State Highway Commission, told the State Association of County Judges and Commissioners in convention here today.

Mr. Sterling renewed his proposal for a state bond issue of $300,000,000, to be retired in thirty years with proceeds of a gasoline tax of less than three cents a gallon.

"At the crawling rate at which we are providing highway revenues now under the illusory pay-as-you-go policy," he continued, "we will be thirty years or more getting out 20,000 miles of state system paved."

Today Texas has not a single trans-state highway linked up from end to end. We are compelled to do our work only in counties that can and will furnish their share of the cost. Our scheme of providing highway funds is as obsolete as the horse and buggy, whose passing made highways necessary."

The commission chairman, who has heard delegations from virtually every county in the state and personally has visited all out ten of the counties stressed the idea that roads should be built with bond proceeds so those who pay for them can use them while they pay.

He explained that his plan contemplates a ten-year road-building program at the same cost which would require thirty years time under the present plan. The counties would be reimbursed out of the $300,000,000 for the money they put into state roads—about $50,000,000—so they could use it on lateral roads, and the State would take over exclusive support of State roads.

Under the bond plan, $50,000,000 would be expended, the first year of the ten-year program; $40,000,000 the second year; $30,000,000 the third and $20,000,000 each additional year. None of the bonds would bear interest until sold. The cost would be only about $12 annually in gasoline taxes for each automobile now in Texas, minus the amount of increasing number of cars would pay in later years, Mr. Sterling said.

"About the nearest thing to an objection I have heard against the plan has been a rather vague demur that $300,000,000 is such a large amount of money," he went on. "I feel sure that an understanding of the situation will relieve any misgivings on that score. As I have said, strong ill-effects are not with strong medicine."

"The state road bond issue works fairly well from both ends. It affords this generation good roads and makes the next generation, which will enjoy them, pay its fair share of the cost. Settlers and homeseekers would be attracted to the state by good roads."

"The counties cannot receive fair consideration as long as present methods are in effect. The system must be changed. Not only should their property be relieved of levies for state highways and their tax resources left free for lateral road building, but each and every county should be rebated for expenditures it has made for the construction of state roads."

Mr. Sterling estimated that Texas could complete 10,000 or 11,000 miles of paved roads during the ten-year period tentatively proposed for the duration of the $300,000,000 program.

CRIPPLED CHILDREN'S CLINIC WILL BE HELD IN PAMPA NEXT NOVEMBER 12, NURSE ASSERTS

AD CARDS ARE READY FOR USE BY MERCHANTS

In connection with the work of the new Advertising committee, the Pampa Business Men's association has had cards printed for display in local stores and offices.

The cards indicate to solicitors that the members of the association consider only advertising which has been passed upon by the Advertising committee. Carson Loftus, secretary of the organization, has the cards ready for members.

Hoover-Curtis Club Will Meet Here Tonight

Pampa will be "on the air" Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The Hoover-Curtis Radio club, of which the local club is a member, will broadcast from station K. F. Q. R. Fort Worth promptly at 4 o'clock. The club will use the activities of the local club as its talking point and will bring in a short history of the city and its growth.

The club plans to have several prominent speakers make addresses over radio on the work of its members.

The local Hoover-Curtis club will hold a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce rooms tonight at 8 o'clock. The main address of the evening will be delivered by Henry Schaffer of Skellytown. Several local men will make short talks at the meeting tonight.

Plans for future meetings and naming of prominent speakers to be brought here will be discussed.

Orchestra From Kansas City to Be at Festival

Ferry Wynn and his broadcasting orchestra from station K. O. C. W. will be brought here for the Fall Festival at great expense. This is one of the foremost groups of band entertainers in the South and will furnish the music for the Style and Vaudeville revue on Friday night.

Another feature set was secured today for the Friday night show at the fair grounds are McLeod and McLeod world's champion rope spinners. This is a big-time act and was recently with the Hagenbach-Wallace circus. They present many trick stunts, including spinning four ropes at one time, using ropes to fifty feet in length.

Art LaMan, who is producing a number of local acts and a chorus of local girls, says the chorus is going to be one of the best he has ever had "trained and will give a good idea of what they do on Broadway."

There will be a great many novel features at the Friday night performance, Oct. 19.

The standing in the "Queen of the Air" contest today was: Catherine Vincent, 7,100; Drusella Morgan, 6,820; Virginia Hawkins, 6,800; Viola Haggard, 6,200; Opal Gillispie, 5,800; Beulah Lane, 5,400; Etha Jones, 5,400; Harriet Fletcher, 5,470; Bernice Priest, 5,200; Adele Stone, 5,000.

Mrs. T. F. Smaling and Mrs. Georgia Dodson will spend the weekend in Dallas and attend the state fair.

Crippled children of this territory will be given the opportunity on November 12 to be examined by one of the leading orthopedic surgeons of the country. A clinic will be held here as a result of efforts by the Lions and Rotary clubs.

Miss Medora Duncan, now working with the Amarillo Lions club in that city, told the local club yesterday that she, Dr. McBride of Oklahoma City, and possibly another physician will be present on the day set. The names of all crippled children in this territory are desired, and they may be given to Mrs. M. P. Downs, nurse for the Public Welfare association. Miss Duncan spoke of the remarkable improvements being effected at Oklahoma City, and said that anyone seeing the work cannot but become intensely interested in it.

Short talks were made also by A. Marx, Hollywood actor, and C. L. Davis, supervisor of vocational agriculture from A. & M. college. City Manager F. M. Gwin made timely suggestions on Fire Prevention week the main point in his talk being, however, that the purpose of the observation is educational.

Plans numbers by Mrs. T. A. Fannell and vocal solos by Prof. Fannell were enjoyed.

Visitors of the day included C. L. Davis, College Station; A. Marx, Hollywood; Dick Marmon, Los Angeles; Miss Medora Duncan, Amarillo; and Mr. Fannell, Ben Reno, Supt. R. C. Campbell, Prof. J. L. Lester, and Mayor F. W. Osborne of Pampa.

Baptist Leader To Speak Sunday at Local Church

Dr. L. J. Mims of Dallas, theological representative of Southwestern Theological Seminary, Fort Worth, will speak at the First Baptist church at 11 o'clock Sunday morning. The pastor and members of the Baptist congregation in invite the public to hear Dr. Mims who is one of the prominent Baptist leaders of Texas.

Pampa Banks Have Swelled Deposits as Community Grows

With deposits of approximately $2,680,000, Pampa's two banks show healthy financial conditions and indicate the activity of this community.

Wheat, oil, and commercial business deposits have swelled the bank statements in recent months. Well secured loans of about $2,000,000 are indicated by the reports made as of the close of business October 3, when the comptroller of the currency called for statements.

French Submarine With 43 Men Is Sunk by Greek Cargo Boat Oct. 3

PARIS, Oct. 12.—(P)—The French submarine Ondine, overdue for the past three days, was sunk by a Greek ship off Oporto during the night of the third of October. She had aboard three officers and forty men.

The Ondine, which was 600 tons, left Cherbourg on an endurance trial run October 1. She was last heard from on October 3 by a Spanish wireless station. Her position was then given as off Cape Finisterre.

DR. ECKENER IS VEERING SOUTH OF HIS COURSE

But Swings Toward the Azores to Learn of Weather

MANY VESSELS SIGHT AIRSHIP

Passengers Are Reported to Be Suffering From Airsickness

BERLIN, Oct. 12.—(P)—Latest news from Horta indicates that Dr. Hugo Eckener, instead of going directly to Bermuda, is heading sharply for the Azores which he expects to reach early this evening.

Aeronautic circles, which had received direct advices from Dr. Eckener at noon that he would head for Bermuda, concluded that this reported change of plans was prompted by the hope that the commander of the giant air liner might be able to reach American weather stations from the Azores and that he could then determine what course he would follow from that point.

(By The Associated Press.) Far out over the Atlantic, the dirigible Graf Zeppelin was west of the Island of Madeira this afternoon and headed for the United States over a southerly course that probably will carry her past Bermuda. Thirty and a half hours out of Friedrichshafen, the huge air liner passed over Funchal on the Island of Madeira with a good 3,000 miles to travel before hitting the American coast. At 10:30 a. m., Eastern Standard time the steamship Euclid reported the Graf Zeppelin about 60 miles west of Madeira. After passing Gibraltar this morning, the big ship which had planned to head for the Azores, began to swing southward to avoid strong head winds and Dr. Eckener notified the Zeppelin station at Friedrichshafen that he planned to strike Lakehurst, N. J., by way of Bermuda.

The wireless station at St. Michael's was in communication with the Graf Zeppelin and from messages picked up it was learned the passengers were exceedingly airsick.

At least five ships reported sighting the Zeppelin at various points between Gibraltar and just beyond Madeira, where the steamship Euclid made the latest report.

In view of the long southern detour made by the air liner it was not thought that she would reach Lakehurst before Monday morning.

Mrs. W. W. Daugherty and son, John, of Dumas returned home yesterday after a visit of several days with Mrs. Daugherty's sisters, Mrs. S. D. Park and Mrs. H. F. Branhart, and her brother, Horace McBee.

Mr. and Mrs. John Williams arrived today to visit Mrs. Williams' parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Archer, and Mr. Williams' parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Williams.

The Ondine was due at Bizerta, seaport on Tunis, on October 9. When she did not arrive the French Naval authorities began a search for her in the hope that she might have met with some accident which made it impossible for her to give her position.

The French Ministry of Marine informed the Associated Press that a Greek cargo boat which recently docked at Rotterdam reported having sunk the submarine.

WASHINGTON — Nearly two years after the last great flood began to wreak its havoc in the Mississippi valley, work on the nation's big flood control project will actually begin.

The army engineers expect that by January or February they can begin erecting the side levees on the Bonnet Carre spillway above New Orleans. This will be the first major operation in the project.

Contrary to a widespread impression, Congress did not appropriate $325,000,000 for the flood control project.

The army engineers obtained a total appropriation of $24,000,000 for immediate work on the Mississippi and are expending it on measures regarding as immediately necessary and not on the main project. They have been spending $10,000,000 a year on flood work and $14,000,000 was added for emergency and repair work.

Hence, the work in progress since Congress adjourned was designed to take care of urgent necessities. The necessary operations were divided into three main classes: levee construction, bank revetment and dredging.

When the 1927 flood hit the valley not all the levees had been completed up to the standard set by Congress in 1914.

Their new big project, adopted by Congress subject to any alterations by the advisory board and now virtually endorsed en toto by that board in its recent report, additionally provides for a spillway above New Orleans and three floodways along the river.

It will take about ten years to complete the project and meanwhile the total cost is a matter of argument, as it cannot be accurately determined until the job is well under way.

Varner Defeats Willis But Fails to Get Knockout

Putting up one of the best bouts of his career, Walter Varner, 154 pound of Pampa and Roxana, won a decision over Ray Willis, 152 pounds, of Fort Hill, Okla., in the main event at the Pla-Mor auditorium last night. Willis, former welterweight champion of Oklahoma, met his match when he stepped into the ring with a Varner.

The local product led from the opening gong, but failed to pack the punch that would have knocked Willis out of the count. Using a left to the body with a right cross to the head, Varner worked in systematic style on the Oklahoma boy. Willis was down twice during the ten-round bout but was up before a count.

Varner had the shift, trigger action that featured his bouts last year. He was in and out before Willis could connect with a haymaker. Although beaten, Willis put up one of the best scraps seen here since Varner and Freddie Whittington met last year.

Sammy Baker, scheduled to meet Rusky Cahill, failed to appear, and Frankie Farrell filled the gap. Although on the losing end of the bout, Farrell gave Cahill the hardest battle he has been in for some time. Farrell's snaky left was connecting repeatedly. Cahill was using his right and had Farrell worried throughout the match.

The preliminaries were fast and furious, especially the three-round exhibition between Jerry Flaherty and Claude Ham. To judge by the way the two boys dug in, it was a real grudge fight. The boy with the Irish name came out on top.

O. D., the fighting newboy, was on hand to meet Neal Grubb of Borger, but Grubb refused to fight when O. D. weighed in two pounds over the 105 mark. The Pampa boy says he will make Grubb's weight and meet him in Borger next week.

Before the card opened two youngsters, Philly Lynn and Billie Lynn, cousins, stepped into the ring and gave the fans an exhibition of bare-knuckled fighting. The two youngsters, about four years old, fought like wildcats, one coming out with a bleeding nose and the other with a black eye.

Unique Tourney Is Arranged for Golfers of Club

Something new in golf competition will be started at the local golf club Sunday. A tournament, open to club members, will be held. The fifteen members making low medal scores will be presented with silver golf balls, each with the standing of the player on the ball.

Following the tournament, any member winning a ball may challenge the member with the number below him to a nine-hole match. If the holder of that ball loses the match he loses the silver ball to the winner. If the challenge does not play his opponent within a week from the challenge, he forfeits his challenge.

The club grounds are in excellent condition and some keenly competed matches are expected. The club has about 50 members.

S. M. U. Stars May Not Be Seen in Simmons Game

DALLAS, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Thirty-five Southern Methodist university Mustangs went through a light workout here today preparatory to leaving for Wichita Falls tomorrow to engage the Simmons university Cowboys, coached by Frank Bridges, former southwestern conference mentor.

Three of the Ponies who figured in the great grid battle last week with the Army may not be seen in action by the record football crowd indicated by advance ticket sales. International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic—Spiritual Gifts
Scripture Lesson—1. Cor. 12:4-7, 31; 13:1-8, 13.

1. Cor. 12:4. Now there are diversities of gifts, but the same Spirit.

5. And there are diversities of ministrations, but the same Lord.

6. And there are diversities of workings, but the same God, who worketh all things in all.

7. But to each one is given the manifestation of the Spirit to profit withal. 31. But desire earnestly the greater gifts. And moreover a most excellent way show I unto you.

1. Cor. 13:1. If I speak with the tongues of men and of angels, but have not love, I am become sounding brass, or a clanging cymbal.

2. And if I have the gift of prophecy, and know all mysteries and all knowledge; and if I have all faith, so as to remove mountains, but have not love, I am nothing.

3. And if I bestow all my goods to feed the poor, and if I give my body to be burned, but have not love, it profiteth me nothing.

4. Love suffereth long, and is kind; love envieth not; love vaunteth not itself; it is not puffed up.

5. Doth not behave itself unseemly, seeketh not its own, is not account of evil;

6. Rejoiceth not in unrighteousness, but rejoiceth with the truth;

7. Beareth all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things.

8. Love never faileth; but whether there be prophecies, they shall be done away; whether there be tongues, they shall cease; whether there be knowledge, it shall be done away.

13. But now abideth faith, hope, love, these three; and the greatest of these is love.

Time—Paul wrote his first letter to the Corinthians probably near the close of his nearly three years at Ephesus, A. D. 53-56.

Place—The letter was written at Ephesus, the chief city of Asia Minor. Golden Text—Now abideth faith, hope, love, these three; and the greatest of these is love.—1. Cor. 13:13

Introduction
"Gifts" in early Christian phraseology are Christian endowments ("extraordinary powers"). We use the word in the same sense when we say, for example, "He has a gift for languages, or for music—especially for Christian service." In Christianity nothing is ever given to us except for use! These New Testament "gifts" are imparted by the Holy Spirit, and belong, it would seem, though not strictly, to exceptional Christians.

Faith, hope, and love are not regarded as gifts in the narrower, technical sense; they are rather among the general gifts that every Christian should possess. We usually speak of them as graces, or personified, the Graces. Yet by contrast, at the end of chapter 12, Paul pushes them to the front, beyond all other particular and general endowments.

Various Gifts Mentioned
Cranell explains the various gifts mentioned as follows: "Wisdom is insight into religious truth; knowledge, grasp or religious fact; faith, power of trust, to move God; healings, miracles, miraculous power; prophecy, divinely given speech, or uttering revelations, sometimes, but not always, prospective; discerning of spirits, recognizing spiritual quality, whether of God, the speaker himself, or the devil; kinds of tongues, special understanding of such speech; apostles, teachers, helps, governments, special forms of leadership."

Diversities of Gifts
In the church life of today the Spirit likewise apportions certain ministries to certain individuals: "To one is given through spirit" to preach; to another, as a trustee, to look after the church property; to another, as treasurer, to care for the finances; to another, to teach a Sunday school class; to another, as president of woman's guild, to direct the women of the church in certain special lines of service; to another, to manage the affairs at home and abroad of the denominational missionary societies; to another, to make Christian reading matter; and so on. But all these activities are important, and necessary, that the church may successfully function and the kingdom come in the world.

A. Hymn of Love.
"The Magna Charta of the ideal church," this thirteenth chapter of First Corinthians has been called. "Its rhetorical beauty has won for it universal admiration from men of all faiths and views. It is one of the priceless gems of the world's literature. Paul was evidently deeply stirred when he composed it, thoroughly under the influence of the Spirit. That important church at Corinth, which he had begotten in great travail, must not be wrecked by hateful dissension. So deeply moved is he that his language is rhythmical—like Jesus' prayer" in John 17—and not improperly do we term the passage of hymn of love. As it has sung itself down the Christian centuries it has everywhere made life sweeter, and love dearer. To most Christians it is, next to the Lord's Prayer, the Ten Commandments and the Twenty-third Psalm, the most familiar portion of the Scripture."

Love the Greatest Gift
"And if I have the gift of prophecy," Power to foretell the future, power to speak forth mighty religious truths—the greatest intellectual power vouchsafed to men, that of an Isaiah or a Phillips Brooks. "And all mysteries and all knowledge." This is not a gift separate from that of prophecy, but is the basis and source of it in its two aspects—vision of the unseen future, insight into the fundamental verities of God and man. "And if I have all faith, so as to remove mountains." Paul knew of our Lord's saying that even the least amount of faith, faith as small as a mustard seed, would suffice to move a mountain and pitch it into the sea (Matt. 17:20; 21:21). Such faith Paul himself had exercised in working miracles in Ephesus, where he was when he wrote this letter. "But have not love, I am nothing." Love alone allies a man with God and gives divine significance to what he says and does.

"And if I give my body to be burned, but have not love, it profiteth me nothing." If gifts are made to the poor, or a man suffers martyrdom, and there is no love back of the acts, they are prompted by the desire to get some selfish profit, such as men's applause; but, Paul declares, no real profit is gained. The ends of ambition may be attained, but how transitory and hollow they are!

"Now Abideth Faith"
"Abideth" is singular though it has three subjects, because Paul would have us regard the three as a unit, just as the Holy Trinity is a unit, hope and love both proceeding out of faith.

Faith abides, though in the life of perfect vision, because the heart of faith is trust, and we shall trust God through all eternity. Hope abides, through we shall have attained far more than we ever dared to hope for, because eternity will be an ever-expanding blessedness, and we shall know that richer joys are always ahead of us. And love abides, because love is the very atmosphere and essence of heaven, for heaven is God, and God is love. Love is the greatest because it is likest God; it interprets God, it makes us like God; it is the end of redemption, and is therefore most beautiful and most peaceful; it is greatest in influence, it secures obedience, it is the source of knowledge; and, finally, love is the greatest, because it embraces and harmonizes the rest, it is love that gives faith and hope their very life.

Gift of Tongues
Paul makes it very plain that as compared with prophesying, he values lightly the gift of tongues. Whatever may have been the exact nature of that ecstatic form of utterance, Paul knew that it required interpreting, and held that without interpretation it could not move the conscience of unbelievers, and win them to Jesus Christ. He would rather speak five words with his understanding, so that he might instruct others, than ten thousand words in a "tongue" (verse 19).

Paul's words have been applied to church music. "However good the music, a musical service is in itself a matter of indifference to God. It is valueless—unless it attunes the souls of the worshippers to a deeper and more spiritual expression of their innermost aspirations." Music just for a show or merely for amuseous pleasure, pulpit oratory that is merely to tickle the ears of the audience, Sunday school teaching that gets no deeper than the fact of history, or Bible criticism—such things come under Paul's strictures regarding "tongues."

Things Done Decently
The conclusion of the chapter discusses proper order in the church at Corinth. Let the Christians take turns speaking, and not several speak at once. Let the women there in Corinth where so many women are shameless, take especial care to be modest and retiring. In short, "let all things be done decently and in order." The church of God should imitate the beautiful system and orderliness of God—whispering, giggling and all irreverence—these are unworthy of Christians, a profanation of the sacred edifice and of divine worship. The church is to be a home for God's people, but it is not to suffer from the familiarity which breeds contempt. Let all pastors, teachers, and parents see to it.

WHIRLWIND

by ELEANOR EARLY

Copyright 1928 by NEA Service Inc.

THIS HAS HAPPENED
SYBIL THORN, Boston society girl, was engaged at 19 to a young soldier, JOHN LAWRENCE, who went to France and never returned. Sybil mourned him for months but, when a young man gave himself up to romance and indifference in a vain attempt to forget.

Years later she contracted a wretched marriage, of which a beautiful child was born. When her son was a year old, Sybil brought suit for divorce. On the day of which her case was to be opened, her husband vanished while enroute from his home in New Haven to collect in Boston.

Sybil incurred her family's wrath and the displeasure of her friends by celebrating his death with a theater party. Shortly afterwards she gave up her son to a friend, MABEL, her dearest friend. The real estate agent calls for them at Mabel's flat. When he opens the door Sybil shrieks "John!" He recognizes her, and falls fainting at her feet.

Sybil and Mabel revive him—and he tells her the story of his strange disappearance. John Lawrence came back from the dead!

When he had finished the tragic and terrible story of his life and death, she looked at him as if he were a stranger. "You were a brave man," she said. "I have never seen you since."

"Do you love me, Sybil?" he asked her.

"Oh, certainly," Sybil had said. "I love you—more than anything else."

"I never loved you," she said. "I never loved you."

"I never loved you," she said. "I never loved you."

NEW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XLIII
"It was a girl in Paris," John said at last. "She used that same stuff. Girl at Maxim's. Something about her reminded me of somebody. But I didn't know what it was—or who it was. She drove me almost crazy. I used to sit and watch her—and listen to her. One night—she was a cocotte you see, Sybil—and this night she asked me to buy her a drink. I stood there, staring like a fool—and all of a sudden I got giddy. I didn't know what it was. . . . God, Sybil—don't you see—that girl had on verbenas too!"

John passed his hand over his forehead.

"I can smell her now. Verbenas. . . . That's what it was."

"Poor darling," Sybil took his thin cheeks between her palms and drew his head down, put her lips to his hair. "She reminded you of me, I suppose, only you couldn't know."

"An odor," he said brokenly. "Like bread from the past."

"And it didn't bring back anything," she asked. "You used to kiss my hair, John—remember? Remember that big psycho I wore? When I had it cut, I put it all away, and kept it in memory of you and your kisses on it. I remember I had some perfume in a little green atomizer with pink roses on it—Tad gave it to me one Christmas. And I always squirted it on my hair when I was going to meet you because you told me once I had the sweetest hair in the world. That thrilled me awfully. . . . Tell me about Tad, John. You didn't associate with any particular thing about her?"

"I knew there was something," he repeated, "but I couldn't quite lay hold of it. I sort of thought it was about Tad. She kind of puttered them. You know the way some girls do, when they talk."

"I used to wonder if those white hands of hers held the secret of all I'd forgotten. . . . I don't remember of having been conscious of any scent about her. But now it all comes back. I can close my eyes, and see her sitting there."

Mrs. Jim White is Hostess to White Deer Art Club

Members of the White Deer Art club were guests yesterday of Mrs. Jim White, who entertained with a table of "42" and included a few Pampa friends in her guest list. The following from White Deer were present: Mrs. T. L. Coffey, Mrs. Vera Crumpacker, Mrs. Otho Baran, Mrs. Harry Edensborough, Mrs. J. G. Freeman, Mrs. E. H. Grimes, Mrs. W. H. Harlan, Mrs. Robert McCoy, Mrs. J. W. Stubblefield, Mrs. J. C. Jackson, Mrs. ... and Mrs. ... Other guests included: Mrs. Lloyd Bennett, Mrs. P. C. Ledrick, Mrs. F. L. The Halloween motif was featured in appointments for the game and in the house decorations. The predominant color combination of black and yellow was repeated in the refreshment course that was enjoyed at the tea hour. Mrs. Elliott and Mrs. Jackson contributed to the afternoon's entertainment by singing duets. Mrs. Elliott also played two lovely piano solos.

Charming favors were presented at the close of several interesting games. Mrs. Grimes received high score award, while Mrs. Ted White was commended for low. Top cut was made by Mrs. Bennett, and low cut was made by Mrs. McCoy.

The White Deer Art club is a social organization. The members meet regularly to sew, play "42", or give informal programs. Mrs. White, who formerly lived in White Deer, still maintains her membership and attends the meetings.

Baker School P. T. A. Reorganized Thursday

The Baker School Parent-Teachers association was re-organized for work in a meeting at the school building yesterday afternoon. Twenty-five mothers and teachers were present at this first meeting, and great interest was shown in the projects for the year.

As a first contribution to the school, the Association voted to purchase a dozen baseballs and bats for the children of the school. Ways and means of raising funds for other necessary equipment were discussed.

The president, Mrs. W. A. Gray, urged each member to take a correspondence course offered by the state department of education in Parent-Teacher work.

Officers of the Baker School association are: President, Mrs. W. A. Gray; vice-president, J. A. Meek; treasurer, Mrs. J. H. Blythe; and corresponding secretary, Mrs. Kentling. Mrs. King is chairman of the program committee. Mrs. Chapman heads the finance committee. The Association meets at 7:30 o'clock on the second Friday in each month.

London Bridge Club is Entertained by Mrs. H. H. Hicks

Mrs. H. H. Hicks was hostess yesterday afternoon to the London Bridge club. Her guests were the following: Mrs. E. W. Johns, Mrs. R. G. Hughes, Mrs. John Studer, Mrs. Marjorie Howard, Mrs. W. T. Fraser, Mrs. W. E. Coffey, Mrs. J. D. Sugg, and Mrs. Porter Malone. High score was made by Mrs. Johns, who received a pretty favor. Low score favor was presented to Mrs. Malone. Mrs. Sugg and Mrs. Fraser were fortunate in the table cut. A salad course was served.

Teddy the Talking Horse

Midgets of mirth and melody, direct from Berlin, form one of the big attractions with Lachman-Carsen Shows which will exhibit at the Pampa Fall Festival. Those little midgets sing, dance, and play instruments, box and wrestle with one another just like grown people. They ride around in the carriage that was built by P. T. Barnum's Circus for Tom Thumb in 1849. Hitched to this carriage they have the smallest horse in the world—it stands not quite three feet high and weighs 103 pounds. The Midget show is one of the amusing attractions for little folks who visit the Pampa Fall Festival.

Screen Life in Hollywood

By WADE WERNER
HOLLYWOOD, Calif.—One cannot blame the screen star who keeps her marriage a secret as long as possible. It is the obvious way to postpone the inevitable, and great interest was shown in the projects for the year.

Even before the rumors begin, the world seems leagued against the newly weds. Florence Vidor, for instance, manages to become the bride of Jascha Heifetz so quietly that no one suspected they were married until they were off on their honeymoon. But meanwhile the scenarioists at the studio had been busy, and before the actress and her noted violinist husband returned to the workaday world all was in readiness for Miss Vidor's first after-the-wedding vehicle—a picture entitled "Divorce-Bound".

The Vanishing Lift
Somehow there doesn't seem to be as much face-lifting news in the screen colony as there was a year or two ago. Dr. Rea Proctor McGee, who probably has worked on as many screen faces as any plastic surgeon in the country, says it's because women whose fortunes literally depend on their faces do not wait until such a drastic operation as face-lifting is necessary. They have learned to attack each wrinkle individually, as soon as it appears. The result is a series of comparatively trifling surgical corrections, stretched over a period of years.

Another thing one doesn't hear about so much as in former years is the hi-jacking of motion picture sets. Like the cuckoo, which lays its eggs in another bird's nest, a certain type of fly-by-night producer used to save nine-tenths of the cost of a picture by shooting his scenes on sets informally "borrowed" from the producer.

who paid money to have them built. One of the largest studios here once was victimized royally by hi-jackers. By bribing the night watchman and several other employes the pirates used each night for several weeks the sets built and "dressed" at great expense for the studio's big feature production. They even used the arc-lights and broods and electric current. In the end they had for a few hundred dollars what should have cost them around $100,000 to produce.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

The unabated interest in the meetings is not due to any special talent of the preacher. It is due to the fact that the simple Gospel is being heard in the spirit of Jesus Christ and many are taking a deep interest in it. Of this we are very thankful and look with hope into the future.

Next Sunday morning the sermon will be based on "The Parable of the Barren Fig-Tree." Why did Jesus curse the tree? Was it His great hunger that threw Him into a fit of anger when he found no fruit on that tree? Come and hear the symbolic meaning of this parable.

It is common these days to hear people make references to some undenominational church; or to see some undenominational work. There stands the great "Moody Bible Institute" in the city of Chicago. There is a similar institute in the city of Los Angeles. The work of these educational institutions in many respects over shadows the work of denominational institutions. There is the "Sunday School Times" a weekly journal that stands in a class by itself for the outstanding work it is doing. It classes itself as an undenominational journal. It is common to hear preachers assert that they are glad denominational walls are crumbling. Great efforts are being made to do away with denominations by the process of unity.

Witness the great union of several leading denominations in Canada. Next Sunday evening the subject will be "Undenominational Christianity." You are invited to these services.
