OLD PHILLIPS WELL SUDDENLY BECOMES BIG GUSHER

SCHOOL DISTRICT TAX RATE REMAINS SAME

VALUATIONS IN AREA INCREASE SUBSTANTIALLY

Fifteen-Million Total Provides Ample Funds

GYM CHAIRS ARE PURCHASED

New Ward Buildings to Be Ready in November

Based upon property valuations of about $15,000,000, the tax rate for the Pampa Independent School district was fixed by the board of education at $1.10 for each $100 in property last night. The rate includes 75 cents for maintenance of the school system and 35 cents for the interest and sinking fund.

Pampa's district, already of seventh rank in the whole state from the standpoint of wealth per scholastic, has valuations totaling $1,500,000 more than last year, but the enrollment has increased by 200 pupils or more to bring the grand total to above 2,000.

The board took final action to close the deal by which the south ten acres of the new football park was purchased at $200 an acre from the White Deer Land company. The Pampa Fair association bought 20 acres, which the schools also use as a football park.

Approval of the work of Mrs. M. P. Downs, nurse for the Public Welfare association, was given, and the board voted to contribute to her salary, beginning with October. Mrs. Downs has been working with the schools for several months in connection with her community nursing and charity work. The trustees learned that the East Ward school will be ready to occupy about November 10, the West Ward school building by November 25 and the gymnasium-auditorium by December 1. Fifty dozen all-steel chairs were purchased for the gym, along with general supplies for other buildings. Painting of the Kingsmill school was ordered. An allowance was set aside for the purchase of music for the high school organizations, such as glee clubs and orchestra.

With seventy teachers, several janitors, and truck drivers, the school system now has a monthly payroll approximating $10,000, according to Joe M. Smith, business manager of the district.

SWAB BRINGS UNUSUAL FLOW EARLY TODAY

Hundred Barrels an Hour Maintained Steadily

NO. 2 MYSON IS SENSATIONAL

Was Brought in As Small Producer in April

A sensational development in the Bowers-McGee pool of the South Pampa field was reported by the Phillips Petroleum company this morning, when a small well was swabbed in for more than 100 barrels an hour.

The well, the Phillips Petroleum company's No. 2 Myson in the northeast corner of the west half of the northwest quarter of section 37, block E-2, H. and G. N. Survey, came back yesterday for 100 barrels an hour. The well was originally brought in April 13 of this year for about fifteen barrels a day. It was bottomed in granite wash at 3,004 feet.

Cleaning out began Wednesday and yesterday afternoon the well was placed on the swab. After a few barrels had been taken from the well, it began to flow at the rate of better than 100 barrels an hour. This morning the well was continuing to flow at that rate.

This well is south of production in Section 38 the discovery section of the south pool. It is a diagonal offset to one of the Delaney and Others wells which ceased to produce after being brought in as a gusher.

The bringing in of this well will probably cause a flurry of activity in that south field area.

Frank Berry, superintendent of this district with headquarters in Borger, was a visitor here today, and saw his company's unusual well.

Orchestra Is Featured in Lions Club Program

White Deer Visitors Here for Ladies' Night.

More than one hundred persons, including local Lions and Ladies, White Deer Lions and ladies, and the Central high school orchestra, were present at the regular Ladies' Night program of the Pampa Lions club last night.

Selections by the orchestra, which is directed by Leon Thomas A. Fannell, were much enjoyed, and speakers praised the progress the organization is making. The numbers played include: "Alumni March," Wallesey; "Tender Tio's," Renard; "Gilding Swans," Grant; "Bachelor Girls," Zennecic.

The newly organized Lions quartet, composed of Lions Fannell, Fisher, Hinkle, and McMillen, sang two selections. A feature of the evening was the "Cub" quartet's maneuvers. Lions Brabham, Stuekey, Studer, and Curry attempted musical efforts of a humorous character.

White Deer Lions were called upon for short talks. These visitors included Mr. and Mrs. Carl Herod, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Dacus, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Castleberry, Odie Dean, and Lillie Thrill.

New Ruling on Eligibility Will Affect Many Men

AUSTIN, Oct. 26.—(P)—Dozens of high school football teams in the state were believed to have been affected by the ruling of the executive committee of the Intercollegiate League in the case of Truxton Shaw, Athens high school star, whose eligibility had been questioned by Marshall high.

The league ruled that Shaw was ineligible to participate in championship games this season, as he already had had four years of sports. Shaw played basketball for three consecutive years ending early in 1926, was out of school during the 1926-27 term and played both football and basketball during last term.

FENTRESS NIGHT WATCHMAN TIED UP BY BURGLAR—POST OFFICE SAFE TAKEN

Five Stores Looted of Money and Much Merchandise, but Attempt to Rob Bank Fails

TWO SUSPECTS ARRESTED TODAY HAVE LARGE AMOUNT OF GOODS

Wholesale Methods Used in Daring Raid on Small Place—Men Seen With Small Sedan

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 26.—(P)—Three men, arrested at Seguin in connection with the looting early today of five stores and the post office at Fentress, were brought to San Antonio shortly before noon by Sheriff A. W. Saegert of Guadalupe county. They were photographed and fingerprinted and will be taken back to Seguin to answer two burglary charges before being delivered to authorities of Caldwell county.

The trio gave their names as Joe Rivas, Jansales, VI.; Fred Thomas, Kansas City, and Santos Hernandez, Lufkin, Texas. Officers claim to have found in their possession nine pistols and guns, a quantity of postage stamps and clothing.

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 26.—(P)—Three armed men descended upon Fentress, small village ten miles west of Lockhart, just before daybreak today and plundered the town after they had tied up Will Lancaster, night watchman.

They looted five stores of thousands of dollars worth of merchandise and an undetermined amount of money, failed in an attempt to open the safe of the Fentress bank, but carried away the safe of the Fentress post office containing some money and all the records of the office.

The bank safe resisted their efforts with an acetylene torch, according to Sheriff Walter Ellison of Caldwell county, who told the story of the raid in a long distance telephone conversation with the San Antonio Light. They stole the torch from a blacksmith shop.

From the shops the bandits took guns, ammunition, and other loot. In every place they rifled cash registers. Night watchman Lancaster was at the gin office when the bandits struck. "Stick 'em up," the three told him as they covered him with guns. "We are going to tie you up, and you can get loose the best way you can."

Before trussing the watchman up to the office of the gin, the three took $2.40 from him.

The bandit trio was composed of two short men and a tall man. They were seen several times Thursday in Fentress, driving a small sedan. Late in the afternoon they bought sandwiches and disappeared until their raid, according to the sheriff.

New ways to cook, new and scientific knowledge of food values combined with modern equipment is rapidly placing the home-maker in her proper category—that of food technician.

To learn many of these basic facts of home economics as well as be taught by Mrs. Irlig is both the privilege and duty of every woman in Pampa.

"Food a Nation Builder" What a nation eats determines what a nation is. Food is the human sustainer. It has moulded the destiny of nations. It has made history. It may not appear to be a romantic subject but its total absence is tragedy. Well prepared it is blessing. Indifferently prepared it is the forerunner of much unhappiness.

Food being so vital to all human existence, and correctly cooked such a promoter of happiness everybody in Pampa will be present at all five classes of The News' cooking school to learn the many new ways to prepare appetite-teasing meals.

Mrs. Irlig will demonstrate the preparation of salads, the selection and cooking of meats, the latest discoveries in baking, broiling and frying. In fact every phase of the culinary art will be analyzed and demonstrated. It is all free and none can afford to miss these instructive and entertaining lectures demonstrated.

Use of Broiler To Be Stressed at News' School

Too few women know to what wonderful use the broiler found in every home range may be put. Most often, one of the first solid foods allowed by a dietitian to a convalescent who has been forced to a liquid diet is a small amount of broiled steak. This would certainly indicate the desirability of broiling many foods rather than sauteing or frying.

Mrs. Leona Rusk Irlig, the author of this interesting series of fact-finding lectures on the art of cooking under the auspices of Pampa Daily News at the Methodist church basement, starting Monday, Nov. 5, and continuing through Friday, each afternoon at 2:30 to 4:30.

It may interest many women to know that broiled banana is often fed to small children in hospitals because of the banana's food value and its easy digestibility when broiled," says Mrs. Irlig.

These are but two examples of many startling facts that will be brought out by Mrs. Irlig's demonstration lectures. Women readers of this paper are in line for the very latest discoveries in preparing foods for all purposes.

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic—Paul's Last Journey to Jerusalem. Scripture Lesson—Acts 20:17-21, 28-30; II Cor. 11:23.

Acts 20:17. And from Miletus he sent to Ephesus, and called to him the elders of the church.

18. And when they were come to him, he said unto them, Ye yourselves know, from the first day that I set foot in Asia, after what manner I was with you all the time.

19. Serving the Lord with all lowliness of mind, and with tears, and with trials which befell me by the plots of the Jews;

20. And I shrank not from declaring unto you anything that was profitable, and teaching you publicly, and from house to house.

21. Testifying both to Jews and to Greeks, repentance toward God, and faith toward our Lord Jesus Christ.

22. Take heed unto yourselves, and to all the flock, in which the Holy Spirit hath made you bishops, to feed the church of the Lord which he purchased with His own blood.

23. I know that after my departing grievous wolves shall enter in among you, not sparing the flock.

24. And from among your own selves shall men arise, speaking perverse things, to draw away the disciples after them.

25. Wherefore watch ye, remembering that by the space of three years I ceased not to admonish every one night and day with tears.

26. And now I command you, God, and to the word of His grace, which is able to build you up, and to give you the inheritance among all them that are sanctified.

27. I coveted no man's silver, or gold, or apparel.

28. Ye yourselves know that these hands ministered unto my necessities, and to them that were with me.

29. In all things I gave you an example, that so laboring ye might help the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, that He Himself said, It is more blessed to give than to receive.

30. And when he had thus spoken, he kneeled down and prayed with them all.

31. And all wept sore, and fell on Saul's neck and kissed him.

32. Sorrowing most of all for the word which he had spoken, that they should behold his face no more. And they brought him on his way unto the ship.

II. Cor. 11:23. Besides those things that are without, there is that which passeth upon me daily, anxiety for all the churches.

Time—A. D. 57.

Place—From Philippi to Troas, and thence to Miletus; then southward to Jerusalem, with stops at Tyre and Caesarea.

Golden Text—Remember, the words of the Lord Jesus, that He Himself said, It is more blessed to give than to receive—Acts 20:33.

Introduction

Leaving Ephesus after the riot of the silversmiths, Paul travelled north to Troas, where he expected to meet Titus bringing news from the trouble in Corinth which gave the apostles so much anxiety. But Titus did not meet him there, and, unable to endure the suspense, Paul went on to Macedonia. There Titus found him and brought him good news that the Corinthians were repentant and were again zealous for his leadership. Overjoyed, Paul sent them Second Corinthians, himself remaining in Macedonia to complete the collection from those churches for the Jerusalem poor. Then he went to Corinth, where he spent three months gathering the relief fund and arranging for a little company to go Jerusalem with the fund, that he himself might be freed from all possible suspicion.

During the three months spent in Corinth, the winter of 57 and 58, the apostle wrote two of his most important Epistles, Romans and Galatians. And the fact that they were written about the same time and under similar circumstances accounts in a large measure for the similarity of their contents. The doctrine of justification by faith rather than by the law of Moses in the central truths in both of them.

Paul at Troas. Paul sailed from Neapolis, the port of Philippi, in the spring, after the passover. At Troas, the city made famous by Homer, Paul and his party remained for seven days. At least three of them, Paul and Luke and Timothy, had been there together before, and the place was of profound interest to the three as the scene of Paul's vision of the "Man from Macedonia" which was the beginning of Christianity in Europe, and therefore of Christianity in America.

On the first day of the week, our Sunday, a communion service was held in Troas by the delegates and the Christians of the city. The New Testament contains no command to observe Sunday in the place of Saturday, the Jewish Sabbath, but in such passages as this we note the gradual transference of public worship from the seventh day to the day when Christ rose from the dead and when the Holy Spirit came down at Pentecost. Paul before this had appointed Sunday as the day for the collection of offerings (I Cor. 16:2).

The Elders of Ephesus. For some unknown reason, while Luke and some of Paul's other companions took ship for Assos in Mysia opposite the famous island of Lesbos, Paul made the journey to Assos (twenty miles) by land, perhaps wishing to see some in the way. Rejoining the company at Assos, Paul sailed to Mitylene, the capital of Lesbos, and thence along the coast, anchoring at night. The famous islands of Chios and Samos were on their way.

Paul did not take time to visit Ephesus, much as he longed to do so, for he was hastening to reach Jerusalem by Pentecost, the day doubly sacred to a Christian Jew, and he knew that he would be delayed by many greetings and questions if he went to so large a Christian center as Ephesus, a place where he had spent more than three years. Therefore he passed

Bleak Prospect for Many Golfers in Winter Events

BY BRIAN BELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—(P)—Golf professionals willing to take a chance, and most of them are, are oiling their spiked shoes and polishing their niblicks for the winter hunt for glory and prize-money in a score of tournaments. The pros are about to set out on a winding trail, leading West and then South, to shoot for the big prize waiting for those fortunate enough to be in the money.

The first of the winter tournaments is the Oklahoma City open November 2-4, with the Oregon open on its heels and a dozen worth while events to follow in California. When the crack golfers have made new records for courses or themselves on the Pacific coast they will adjourn to Florida with side excursions into Arkansas and Texas on the way South.

After Florida comes Pittsburgh and that time the personnel of the Ryder cup team will have been decided and members of this all-star group will set their faces toward England to defend the trophy emblematic of the professional championship of the two countries. While the team is abroad the British open will be staged with all the invading pros trying their luck in this blue ribbon event.

Walter Hagen, the British champion of course, play a defending role and Johnny Farrell, the open champion of the United States, will be there as will Leo Diegel, F. G. A., champion.

These three stars and many of their fellows have a busy year ahead of them for soon after they return from their foreign ventures the leading pros and amateurs will congregate at the Winged Foot club, Mamaroneck, N. Y., to make an assault on Farrell's title.

The pros must start on their winter trek with well filled pocket books for there is no assurance that even the best of them will have their wallets filled with prize money. Railway fare and hotel bills go on whether the player win, lose, or draw and strokes are tallied into terms of dollars at every turn. One shot may mean the difference between $1,500 and $800 and another between $400 or nothing.

Dave Spotted, a picturesque pro, lined up the situation in a Southern tournament, once when he came in with a 72-hole score of 300.

"Will it be in the money?" he asked observers at the eighteenth green. He was assured that the best judgment of the assembled experts was that it would.

"Think it'll be car fare?" was his next question.

The audience did some figuring after consulting the score board and ventured an opinion that his score would get him just about the amount he spent to get the tournament from his club, and back again.

"Fair enough," said Dave. "That's better than nothing and there's always another one where you may get more. An even break would be better but I guess I'll have to pay the hotel bill and caddy fee and hope for better luck next time."

Another pro at a "big money" tournament had so little faith in his score that as he gave his caddy $20 after his last round, he told the bag carrier: "I hope that's enough. It's more than I'll get for playing."

Charles Clark of Wichita Falls was a business visitor in this city yesterday.

Obituary

John Turner Benton was born in Izard county, Ark., July 23, 1846. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Benton long time residents of that county. He grew to manhood at the home of his parents there.

During the civil war he served the Confederacy under General Price, commander of the Arkansans.

On December 31, 1868 he was married to Margaret Ann Riggs. To this marriage were born the following children: Charles who passed away November 9, 1883; Eunice Banta who passed away April 1, 1880; Thomas who died March 10, 1894; and Mrs. Janie Winifred Ledbetter, Mrs. Margaret Elizabeth Saunders, Mrs. Ethel Eller, Mrs. Gladys Darby, Will Bert, George, and Joe, who survive him.

In 1891, Mr. and Mrs. Benton took up their residence on the frontier of Texas, engaging in active outdoor pursuits and cattle and sheep raising. In 1894 they moved to Oklahoma territory and engaged in stock raising. They returned to Texas and located in the Panhandle in 1904, living south of Miami in Gray county.

Mr. Benton had much experience among the ranchers in that territory and great strides were made in developing the community.

In 1922 he moved with his family to the home ranch five miles east of here, where he has since resided. His health failed him a few years ago, but he continued active until last Friday, when he was taken to his bed. He paid his last visit to Pampa a week ago Tuesday.

He continued to take an interest in military affairs and a few years ago attended the Confederate Veterans reunion in Little Rock, Ark. He also attended the last convention of the association in Birmingham, Ala., two years ago.

A studious Biblical scholar, Mr. Benton took an active part in religious affairs. He became a Christadelphian in Williamson county more than 50 years ago.

Besides his wife and children he leaves to mourn his loss two brothers R. D. and J. M. Benton, and the following grand-children: Lee Benton, John Benton, Homer Benton, Mabel Benton, Gaston Benton, Vernell Benton, Cleo Benton, Burrell Ledbetter, Vesta Ledbetter and Maurice Saunders and Erdine Benton. He is also survived by one great grandson, Marcell Owens.

Mr. Benton died at his home east of here Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock. Services were conducted at the home and the cemetery by the Rev. Jas. Todd, Jr., pastor of the First Christian church, Wednesday afternoon.

In honor of his services to his country, a military escort from Kelsey Crossman post No. 334 attended the services at the cemetery and fired a salute over the grave.

Angry Negro Uses Oil of Mustard on Foe in Revenge

BEAUMONT, Oct. 26.—(AP)—A unique weapon of revenge employed by an angry negro, drove Solomon to the hospital for emergency treatment.

The negro seized Solomon's belt and emptied a bottle of oil mustard into the trousers fastened to the belt. Solomon was in the trousers at the time, but he assured hospital attendants, he stayed no longer than was absolutely necessary. It was some time before an antidote which gave complete relief was found.

CHURCHES

CHURCH OF CHRIST

Glad tidings of good things is God's power to draw men and women unto Christ for salvation. The "glad tidings of good things" is commonly called the "gospel" when God announced unto the lost world that He had sent His Son Jesus Christ into the world as a Saviour of the world.

He was announcing the greatest message that the world had ever been privileged to hear. If men realized their lostness and if they had any terror of hell they would look upon this message from God as good news indeed. With gladness men should receive "the Son of Righteousness who arose with healing in his wings, to fill the world with life divine and lift our souls to God." "He was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities; the chastisement of our peace is upon him; and with his stripes we are healed. All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way; and Jehovah hath laid on him the iniquity of us all."

Paul says, "I am determined to know nothing among you save Jesus Christ and him crucified." This he says is "the gospel of God, for it is the power of God unto salvation unto every one that believeth it."

We invite every one to our meetings next Sunday. Morning sermon is finished by 11:30. The evening services begin at 7:30. Bible classes begin their work at 9:45. We appreciate very much the splendid work and the increased interest and attendance. "Come to us and we will do the good."

C. C. Merritt, Minister.

A HOOVER-CURTIS COLUMN

WHAT OF IMMIGRATION?

What would be the effect of amending the immigration law to suit the fancy of Al Smith?

In 1921 Congress passed the present immigration law permitting 3 per cent of the numbers from any one nation to come into the United States each year. In 1924 it was lowered to 2 per cent.

The platform adopted at Houston demanded that there should be no change in our immigration laws unless to make it harder for undesirable immigrants to come into our country.

Governor Smith says:

"I am opposed to the principal restriction based upon the figures of immigrant population contained in a census thirty-eight years old."

In 1890 82.7 per cent of our immigrants came from Great Britain, Ireland and Germany, and 11 per cent from Russia, Poland and Italy. From that time until the present law went into effect, immigrants from Russia, Poland and Italy increased in number while those from Great Britain, Ireland and Germany decreased, and in 1920 the percentages stood: Great Britain, Ireland and Germany, slightly under 35 per cent; Russia, Poland and Italy, slightly over 36 per cent. In 1905, the last figures available from the Encyclopedia Britannica, the count stood: Russia, Poland and Italy 47 per cent; Great Britain, Ireland and Germany, 46 per cent. The immigrant from Great Britain, Ireland or Germany goes into the less crowded interior of our country and soon becomes a good citizen, while those from the other countries named flock to their crowded foreign districts in the large cities, principally New York, and retain their hatred of government and suspicion of constituted authority engendered in the countries from which they came. From this class are recruited many of our gangsters, grammers, racketeers and run runners. Tammany welcomes these lower class immigrants, herds and votes them as the occasion demands.

Tammany on Immigration

From the foregoing it is seen that Tammany Congressmen were thoroughly consistent when, in 1921, they cast 15 of the 33 votes against the immigration law. In 1924 they cast 20 of the 72 votes against reducing the quota from 3 per cent to 2 per cent. Now Al, true to the hand that took him up, is trying to foist him on the people of the United States, wants to change the census on which immigration is based so that the number of undesirable immigrants will be greatly increased, and the more desirable will be decreased. You remember, of course, that Mussolini has decreed that only the less desirable shall be allowed to emigrate from Italy.

What Does Hoover Say?

Herbert Hoover stands squarely for keeping the present restrictions on immigration; for protecting the workers who are now in this country from the deluge of cheap foreign labor that would flood this country if Al Smith had his way.

Granite Given Slight Edge in Slugging Bout

The main event of the slug-fest at the Pla-Mor last night ended up in Kid Granite (13) or Pampa winning over Cyclone Hall (14) of Childress by a narrow margin, in a fight that was hammer and tongs from start to finish. The fight was not particularly spectacular from the standpoint of the fans on account of the boys being so evenly matched, but by the time the fight was over both fighters knew that they had been in a battle. The semi-windup, featuring, Rusty

Cahill and Speedy Snow, came to a sudden conclusion during the second round when the local carrot-top walked right into the middle of a nasty right that landed on his solar region for the long count—his only knock-out of the evening. Prior to fatal blow the fight belonged to anybody with a probable shade in favor of Cahill.

Kid Hall, 112, brother of Cyclone, fought a four-round draw with O. D. the Pampa newsboy. As a boxer he was not within shooting distance of the local boy, but what he lacked in this respect he made up in size and reach in spite of which O. D. got him back on his heels repeatedly.

The first preliminary was a scheduled three-round bout between J. L. Watson and Kid Stalcup, "the Fighting Newsboy", which Watson conceded at the end of the second round. "Kid" Speck won the second bout by a shade over Vic Wade, and in the third, Maurice Simpson took three straight rounds from Andy Gump.

God's grace in Jesus Christ. He has a ed th stool of his trade of donations from the Ephesians Christians. Paul insists that the elders, likewise, must not be covetous. Also, they must avoid every semblance of dishonesty in handling the church funds.

Sunday School Lesson...
by Ephesus and sailed to Miletus, an important city about twenty-five miles south of Ephesus, and from there sent a swift messenger to Ephesus for the elders of the church.

This address possesses unusual interest. It is the only specimen in the Acts of a sermon addressed to a church. We have had three sermons of St. Paul: To the Jews of Antioch and to the Gentiles at Athens and at Lystra. We shall have three speeches: to the Jews of Jerusalem, to Felix, the Roman governor, to Agrippa and the world at large. Here in the center, stands St. Paul's charge to the church. The three sermons present the gospel aggressively; the three speeches present it apologetically; the charge combines both aspects, together with the third element of personal affection.—R. B. Rackham. Paul wishes to add to his farewell admonitions by reminding the elders of all that he had been to the church in Ephesus.

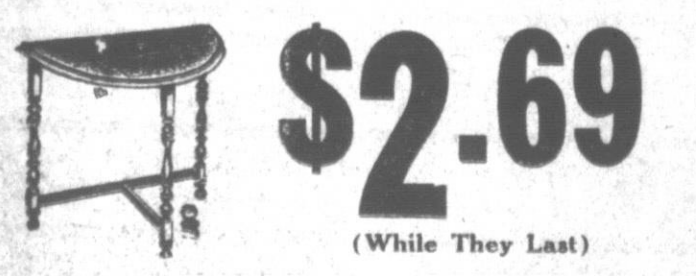

"Testifying both to Jews and to Greeks repentance toward God," John the Baptist, Jesus Himself, St. Peter and St. Paul—all began their preaching by calling on men to repent of their sins. Jews and Greeks, men and women of all nations and of all stations, learned and ignorant, humble and powerful—every hearer needed first of all to turn from his sins and seek to live a pure and godly life. "Quit your meanness" was Sam Jones' most emphatic exhortation. It is the beginning of the Christian life. "And faith toward our Lord Jesus Christ." Repentance is only half of the true preacher's message, and the least important half; for it does no good to turn permanently from our sins. No one in his own strength can lift himself from the mire.

Paul is turned toward Jerusalem by a compelling force, though he knows that there, as in every city he has visited, bonds and afflictions await him. But he faces the perilous future with the glorious courage. He does not hold his life dear, if only he can do the work for which he has been commissioned, preaching the good news of contain some of the most representa-

Chevrolet Coach, 1928 . . $736.50

Purchased From Culberson-Smalling Chevrolet Motor Company

SURELY you would accept a car worth $1,550, for instance, in exchange for your spare moments between now and Saturday, December 15. Or a car worth $778 or $736.50. What are you going to do with your idle moments between now and December 15.

You can invest them in The Pampa Daily News big automobile and prize campaign; and, with a little energy and effort, receive a handsome reward. The great campaign, which is beginning to attract attention all over Gray county, is just starting, just beginning, just commencing. Already several ambitious men and women in Pampa, have started to gather votes. But the number who are actually turning them in is small indeed, and is away out of proportion to the splendid value of the prize list. Yet the three big cars will be given away on December 15. Votes will win them—votes alone. Those who secure the highest totals will drive away in their own machines on December 15.

WHAT TO DO FIRST

(1) Fill out the "Nomination Blank" and bring or mail it to the Contest Manager, Pampa Daily News Office. Then you will be given a contestant's receipt book and full instructions which will enable you to start right out after subscription votes. (2) Start saving the free vote coupons. There is one in each issue of the News, and each one has a voting value of 10 votes. (3) Tell all your friends that you are out to win one of the big prize cars. Ask your friends to subscribe through you. Each subscription, either new or renewal counts thousands of votes. (4) Turn in your FIRST subscription, using First Subscription Coupon below and receive a start of more than 12,000 votes.

Votes come with subscription and with free coupons which are printed in The News every day. All you have to do is gather them.

Right now is the best time to begin. Send it in. It starts you with 2,000 votes. Fill out the Nomination Blank below and the first subscription you turn in counts 10,000 EXTRA.

It makes no difference where you live. In this great campaign, your opportunity to win is exactly the same, no matter whether you live in Pampa or any of the outside towns. Half the district prizes must be won by outside candidates—half MUST be won by those in Pampa. The cars are GRAND PRIZES. Under this plan, candidates residing outside the city do not work against those in Pampa except for the Buick.

Five thousand dollars worth of brand new, spick and span automobiles, sparkling diamond rings, beautiful watches, all to be given away in just a few weeks, in the great automobile and prize campaign. The most lavish prize distribution ever made in Gray county. Everyone of the handsome prizes is a beauty, well worth the time and effort that will be required to win it. The offer is open to everybody. It costs nothing to enter the campaign, nor will it cost anything later. The prizes are FREE—return reward for honest effort.

The plan is a competitive one. It is a simple matter to obtain votes—your friends will be glad to help you. Votes come in free coupons which are printed every day in The News, and with new and renewal subscriptions. The tremendous popularity of The News will be reflected in the ease with which candidates will obtain subscriptions and votes.

To enter it is only necessary to fill out the Nomination Blank in the lower right hand corner, and bring or mail it to the Campaign Manager. A post card will bring full details by return mail. The News will cooperate with everyone who enters. Any assistance the Campaign Manager can give will be gladly rendered.

Just a few short weeks, and the ambitious ones will be skimming around in their own motor cars—cars they won through effort—not luck, not chance, but EFFORT. The rich experience one will gain in the campaign in coming into contact with the people will be worth itself, many times the intrinsic value of the prize won!

YOU can be one of the winners. Decide now to investigate this wonderful offer. The telephone is 666. Just ask for the Campaign Manager. Or, better still, call at the campaign office in The News building. Now, right at the BEGINNING of the campaign is the time to start.

Don't forget the luck the early bird had when he went looking for worms. Be an early bird!

On Selling Warrants

Gray county's courthouse warrants were sold to the Brown-Crummer company at par value and accrued interest, the interest rate being 5 1/2 per cent.

Par is not a good price for Gray county paper, even at 5 1/2 per cent, under normal conditions. One of the county commissioners told The News that had the sale of the warrants not been clouded by the pending election contest decision in the Amarillo court, a premium could have been obtained.

The explanation of the commissioners appears, on the face, acceptable. But under ordinary conditions, The News holds that public officials should drive the sharpest bargains possible. We owe the Brown-Crummer people nothing. They have resold local bonds at handsome profits. If there is anything to be gained in a transaction, the people should get the breaks.

Using the Gym

Take another look at Central high school's new gymnasium. Very pretty, isn't it? There is going to be much pleasure in escaping the sportive breezes and seeing basket ball games in comfort. We already have our request in for a well located press seat.

The delicate thing about a gymnasium is its floor. The floor which is neglected soon becomes rough, full of splinters, and dangerous to play the fast game of basketball upon.

But this will mean close supervision. Many towns or organizations will wish to have basketball teams, and community use of the gym would be fine, but—the irresponsibility of the town smart-alec, if Pampa has her share of these animals, will make stringent regulations necessary.

In the use of the new gym, let's apply the accepted rules of gymnasium practice. Otherwise, abuse of the facilities will mar the building for school purposes.

Vote (Reprinted from The Huddle, published by National Americanization Committee, American Legion).

Ten years ago this country faced an emergency—was in the midst of a war. Every good citizen put forth his utmost effort for the success of the United States and the cause it fought for. The men of The American Legion went forth to battle and they were victorious because they had the backing of the people back home.

Today there is within every political party a minority who seek control—professional politicians whose very livelihood comes from trading in the votes of a few people. These few controlled votes are a minor part of the electorate. Not until every good citizen casts his vote will the choice of all the people be known. Only such full expression can give us a truly representative government.

The American Legion believes that the right to citizenship has not been established unless a citizen votes. The franchise to all men and women has been paid for in hardship—even in the lifeblood of our forefathers. Yet how few people exercise the right?

The American Legion is non-sectarian; it is made up of men who served in the Great War regardless of belief. The primary purpose of the organization is to be of service to community, State and nation. Members of the Legion was organized that they might continue to give the same service in time of peace as they gave in war.

Standing upon this platform, The American Legion urges every good citizen to familiarize himself with the candidates for the several public offices to be voted for, and with the issues involved. With this information well in mind you will be able to vote intelligently.

The right of franchise is America's greatest gift to her citizens. Why lose it by default? Go to the polls and VOTE!

Navy Day

October 27, anniversary of the birth of Theodore Roosevelt, is set aside as Navy Day by the Navy League of the United States.

Roosevelt gave the modern American navy its first upward push. He is a sort of patron saint of the navy, and it is fitting that his name should be linked with observance of Navy Day.

The day is set aside as an occasion of public discussion of the history, needs and aims of the American navy including the merchant marine.

The American people should think about their first line of defense. The pity is that they devote only one day a year to contemplation of the navy. But one day is better than none.

The disaster Washington disarmament conference left the American navy in a bad way. We junked some of our finest ships, and while we have since sought to rectify that blunder we still have a long way to go.

The United States is in little or no danger of invasion by a foreign foe. Our wars must be navy wars. But for our navy and British's our effort in France would have been impossible. If our navy had been properly developed, we would not have had to depend largely on Great Britain to transport our men and supplies overseas.

In case of a single-handed war in which the United States would have to transport its men and supplies across the ocean in its own ships, we would be sorely handicapped. Development of a merchant marine is no less important than a battle fleet. American bottoms carry only 30 per cent of our annual exports. Other nations are taking the cargo-carrying business away from us steadily—Abilene News.

MOMMY POP Quick Work By Cowan

I was sweeping the hall when I heard a knock on the new neighbor's door. I peeked out just in time to see the new neighbor's wife bring a dust mop down on the head of the toughest looking rough-neck I ever saw.

Yes, he did! Then she screamed, 'DOUBLE CROSSER!' and chased him down the stairs whaling him with the mop.

The neighbors came pouring out into the hall as the tough stood on the landing shaking his fist and calling her husband a cheap cheat—adding that if anything went wrong with the job in the park it was her husband's fault.

I smelt a rat when the new neighbor insisted that I stand by the bench. I consented. Then grabbing him, I whirled him around to where I was standing. Just then a big bruiser jumped from behind the bench and, in the dark, mistook the new neighbor for me and they carted him home in an ambulance.

Honestly, Pop, I'm so glad you didn't do it!

Right Slinger
 1928 By NEA Service Inc. RUTH DEWEY GROVES AUTHOR OF "WHEN A GIRL LOVES LOVE FOR TWO"

THIS HAS HAPPENED

JERRY HAY decides that love is a delusion and makes no her mind to marry for money. She works in a store and decides herself petty injuries to save for a vacation at Atlantic City. But her money is stolen the night before her departure, and she is stranded by the loss. Nothing remains but to conspire with her room-mate, MYRTLE, on the north shore of Long Island.

But their conspiracy is wrecked the first evening when the airplane owned by young BERTIE CARSTAIRS, who was taking a flying lesson, crashes into it. The others escape, but Jerry is picked up unconscious from a blow on the head.

She comes to in the arms of DAN HARVEY, the pilot. Then Alcester Carstairs, Dan's doctor, and promises Myrtle to make good the damage to her car. Jerry is not seriously injured, but the doctor asks her to see him next day. Alcester drives her to his office and afterwards takes her to an inn for dinner. In a moment when Jerry refuses a drink, and introduces her to the hostess, LEONINE LEHAUPY.

Jerry feels that Leonine is jealous of her, although she is cordial and invites them to one of her parties. Alcester asks Jerry to come to the party and back to camp that evening and when she refuses he laughs and invites her to come the next night.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER IX

DAN HARVEY was driving in at the gateway!

Jerry stood on the porch steps and waited until he brought his car to a smooth stop a few feet away from her.

How differently from Alcester he drove. There was no grinding of brakes, no sliding of wheels or rattling of motor, she remembered, Dan Harvey was a flyer—a mechanic possibly. A man who knew the workings of a motor as well as a surgeon knew the human body. A motor would mean more to Dan than to Alcester.

He removed his hat and got slowly out of the car. Jerry had an impression that he was being deliberate in his motions. She barely smiled at him. Why had he come back here? His plane was gone.

If Dan noticed her inopportune attitude he gave no sign of it.

"Knew your friend was going to town tonight," he said placidly. "Thought I'd run in and give the place the once over. Picnickers drop in here occasionally."

"At night?" Jerry asked scornfully.

"Especially on moonlight nights"—he looked upward—"like this. It's an out-of-the-way place—fine for swimming in abbreviated suits."

"It's nice of you to take so much interest in us," Jerry thanked him. "But you see everything is all right."

DAN ignored the hint. Jerry thought he had a nerve when he came over and sat down on the steps uninvited.

"Mind if I sit a while?" he said, pulling out his pipe and a tobacco pouch.

"I'm not afraid to be alone," Jerry assured him hastily. Then, conscious that her remark was a rebuff, she amended it—"for a little while," she said.

"Except Miss Crane back soon?" Dan inquired, still retaining his disinterested tone.

Jerry decided to be frank.

"I'm going sailing with Mr. Carstairs," she said abruptly.

Dan did not look at her. She felt that her disclosure had gone flat. And it irritated her. Watching him hold a match to his pipe and puff away at it calmly, she asked herself why she should care that he didn't seem to mind what she had said. No answer came to her. Her irritation grew.

stead there'd be an imported chef in a model cooking laboratory, a safe—Jerry thought it was pronounced "ralley"—and...

BUT there she paused. She had been thinking in the abstract—as she had been accustomed to be—before she met Alcester Carstairs. Now all her thoughts of wealth must be associated with him. The force of this realization disturbed Jerry. It was different, thinking about a marrying for money when a rich young man was giving you a grand rush.

It seemed more like the way Myrtle had pictured it—old-fashioned. Jerry did not understand the influence of the personal element that had entered into it. She knew merely that she couldn't give her mind wholeheartedly to setting her cap for Alcester Carstairs.

But she must, she reminded herself, be at the beach to go sailing with him. He ought to be along any minute now. She turned her foot hurriedly into Myrtle's shoe, tied the laces and held tightly to see herself in a small mirror while she powdered her nose.

Dan looked up as she returned to the porch.

"There's The Sprite coming around the point," he said importantly. "How are you going to get out to her—the dingy?"

"What is a dingy?" Jerry asked impulsively.

"It's a bigger boat's tender," he explained.

"Thanks," Jerry returned, not fully enlightened.

"Walk down to the water with you," Dan suggested.

Jerry hesitated. Alcester would see him from The Sprite and even if he could not recognize him he'd find out who he was. She'd have to explain a man's presence on the beach unless she wanted Alcester to assume that she'd been entertaining someone he knew nothing about.

JERRY didn't like the idea of Alcester thinking that anyone could treat her casually—drop in late in the evening, for instance. Dan's excuse for intruding had been plausible enough but she wondered, uneasily, if Alcester would suspect that she had asked him to stay. She disliked to seem so free in walking acquaintance. A man never blamed a girl much for breaking a few conventions with him—it was her behavior with other men that mattered.

Jerry hadn't any concern about Alcester's respect for her, but she felt certain that he would consider her common if he suspected that she was the cause of Dan Harvey's presence at the Rolling Stone Inn and his unexpected visit to the camp.

Of course she didn't know that she was the cause. His coming to the inn might have been a coincidence, and the explanation he gave might be the reason why he came here tonight, she reflected.

But would Alcester believe it? Dan could not have been blind to her irresolution, yet he moved to walk down the path with her.

"Please," Jerry said suddenly, "I'd rather you didn't."

Dan stopped in his tracks.

"All right," he agreed.

But something in his voice warned her that all was not right. "I'll stay and guard the camp until you return, unless your friend gets here first," he said. "You can tell Alcester that. He might worry when it comes time to send you ashore."

NEW YORKER AT LARGE

BY G. D. SEYMOUR
NEW YORK—One need not scan the following leaves in Central Park nor peer through October's haze at patches of red gold foliage across the Hudson to know that Indian summer has come to New York.

If sidewalk odors stifle the tang of autumn that is in the air, there are other more tangible signs to remind the city-dweller that fall is here.

Fashioned undergarments appear on the carts of curbstone merchants in Livingston street. The teamsters west of Fifth Avenue in the upper Forties close their backward gardens and bring the tables and benches inside. The Battery's lawn and the sward at the foot of Manhattan bridge are abandoned at night by the flossam to which they have been bed-chamber all summer.

Chrysanthemums splash with vivid yellow the windows of Lexington avenue florist shops. The cry of "cash of cloes" echoes louder in Washington Heights, whose discarded apparel will have been reeled soon, with much haggling, on the sidewalk marts back of Park Row. The pattern of the chalk lines on the turf of the Polo Grounds changes from the square of the baseball diamond to the rectangle of the gridiron.

Formal dress and chaste fur wraps become the order of the evening again at the theater. Purveyors of roasted chestnuts emerge along Tenth Avenue and press toward Broadway. Hot female paraphernalia replaces lemonade buckets in the carts of lunch vendors in the garment-making sections. Excursion ships to Sandy Hook and up the Hudson return from their last trips with thinly-populated decks and lie to drydock. The last of the summer vacationers in Europe swarm across town in taxis from the piers of docking ocean liners. It is October.

First Aid To Industry

A perfumer, launching his product in the United States, wants to put it into a distinctive bottle, of American make and design, but just as exquisite as the containers fashioned in France. A publisher wants to couch a new edition of classic works between covers that will be artistic as well as attractive. A furniture builder, sure of the stability of his product, wants approval of its correctness of design.

For all of these the Art Alliance of America is a clearing house. New York artists allied with it are invited to submit designs for everything from silks to chandeliers, the best to receive awards posted by the manufacturer. It passes on everything from textiles to kitchen tables from an artistic standpoint, injecting beauty into the products of the factory.

Currently most of the designs, whether for lamp shades or linoleum, are in the modern idiom, with straight lines and unusual angles. The modernistic movement in industrial art is still in its experimental stage, but its foremost students assert that it is steadily getting away from the bizarre and the Alliance is sure the trend will have a permanent influence upon all forms of American decorative art.

AUSTIN, Oct. 24.—(P)—With an increase of 48.6 per cent in enrollment, the journalism department at the University of Texas begins its fifteenth year with the brightest outlook in its history, according to Jaul J.
