ALL COURTHOUSE CONTRACTS AWARDED

MOST MODERN JAIL PROVIDED IN THE PLANS

Pauly Co. of Dallas Gets Work at $17,980

COMFORT WILL BE APPARENT

Warrants for Construction Will Be Sold October 20

Having disposed of the courthouse contract to the local H. L. Case Construction company at $213,384, the county commissioners yesterday afternoon awarded the minor contracts and set October 20, at 2 p. m., as the time for selling warrants with which to build the structure.

The jail contract went to the Pauly Co. of Dallas, and the plumbing company of Nacona.

Bids on the jail structure were: Pauly Co. of Dallas as St. Louis $17,980; Southern Prison company of San Antonio, $18,000; Friez and Sons of Covington, Ky., $29,638.

Electrical bids were: Brown Electric company of Amarillo, $3,500; Pampa Electric company, $10,200; Triangle Electric company of Amarillo, $8,740; Hudgins Electric company of Amarillo, $8,723.30; American Appliance company of Amarillo, $9,418; Finkler Electric company of Amarillo, $8,350.

Plumbing and heating bids were: Nacona Plumbing company of Nacona, $18,500; Pierson and Cunningham of Amarillo, $18,200; Ragsdale Plumbing of Pampa, $19,915.

The bid for the jail quarters included the latest equipment and accessories. The jail quarters will be 35 feet wide and 45 feet long and will consist of four sleeping compartments, two day rooms, a hospital cell, bull pen and runaround.

There will be a sleeping compartment 7 by 11 holding 12 bunks for white male prisoners. Adjoining the cell will be a day room 9 by 16 where the prisoners will be fed. Separate from these rooms will be a juveniles' room, a woman's room, and a hospital room. On the other side of the jail quarters will be the negro cells and the bull pen for negro prisoners.

All doors will be controlled by lever devices operated from a central point. The corridors are so arranged that visitors can communicate with prisoners without entering the cells, the prisoners being near a consultation room connecting with each cell.

Adjoining the jail rooms will be a five-room modern apartment for the jailer and his family.

The heating system will be vacuum vapor from a steam boiler, gas heated. The lighting system will be of the highest order with fans, ventilators, and will include electric time recording stamps in the clerk's rooms.

The bids include the erection of sidewalks around the entire building.

The hearing in the county seat election appeal will be held at Amarillo October 10 at 10 o'clock. The above contracts are based, and are conditional upon a favorable Amarillo Civil Appeals Court decision, which would automatically dissolve the injunction restraining issuance of warrants.

SAM DILLARD VICTIM WHILE GOING TO JOB

Dies Instantly When Skellytown Special Hits Vehicle

BODY BROUGHT TO LOCAL FIRM

Accident Victim Was Badly Mangled in Crash

Sam Dillard, truck driver for the Roxana Petroleum company, was instantly killed about 7:30 o'clock this morning when his vehicle was struck by the Skellytown mixed special train out of Pampa at a crossing near the Roxana camp 3 miles west of here.

The White truck he was driving, with trailer, was demolished by the impact. Dillard, who lived in Pampa, was driving to his work and apparently did not see the train until too late to stop. His neck was pierced on the left side, his forehead was deeply gashed, and his body was cut and bruised in many places. The body was brought here and prepared for burial by the Malone Furniture and Undertaking company.

The accident victim was about 25 years old, and had with Mrs. Dillard come here from Oklahoma. He had been in the employ of the Roxana company for about six weeks.

PRISONERS OVERPOWER DEPUTY BUT ESCAPE IS THWARTED TODAY

An attempted jail-break was thwarted about 8:30 o'clock this morning through the quick thinking of Deputy Scott Rheudaill and the fast work of city officers and persons within hearing range.

The deputy opened the inner cell to place a negro inside and as he did so two white prisoners leaped at him. One held his pistol while the other grabbed his arm and covered him with it. Mr. Rheudaill's nearness to the outside door enabled him to dodge through it, however, when one of the men moved in front of the gun. He slammed the steel door and held it as he called for help. Martin McGarrity rushed across the street to his aid, it was stated, and Police Chief J. I. Downs went to a window and ordered all prisoners into the inner compartment. Mrs. Rheudaill carried her husband another pistol and the affair was soon over as the negro took the pistol; the prisoners had obtained and held it out through the door.

The prisoners implicated are held on charges of car theft and pick-pocketing, respectively. There are about a dozen men in jail now.

Chapman Well Is Big Producer From 2,864 Feet

In the most sensational development of recent weeks, Ray and Massey's Chapman No. 2 in Section 51, Block 25, is swabbing 75 barrels an hour after picking up the big pay last night.

The big flow is from 2,864 feet. Eight-inch casing was cemented at 2,700 feet. The well is 990 feet from the north line and 330 feet from the east line of the southwest quarter of section 51, and is in the high production trend about six miles southeast of LeFors.

Wheat Estimates Around City Are 1 1/2 Million Bushels

Although the latter part of the season was unsatisfactory for wheat crops, the output from the Pampa trade territory exceeded early estimates. A fairly accurate estimate of the wheat shipped from the four points in the Pampa trade territory is 1,342,000 bushels, as figured by elevator men.

The estimate of the grain shipped from the stations in the trade territory follows: Pampa 800,000 bushels; Hoover 250,000 bushels, Kingmill 180,000 bushels, and Godman 112,000 bushels.

According to elevator men of the territory, considerable wheat is being held in granaries, the farmers hoping that the price of wheat will take a jump. With what is being held, the territory total should reach the 1 1/2 million mark.

The price of wheat this week has stayed around the 97-cent mark, with little indication of an increase at the present time. At one time last week the price went to $1.02, but remained there only one day dropping to 95 cents. There is very little wheat moving from local elevators and very little in storage at them.

Although the latter part of the season was wet and the grain was over-ripe before being cut, the average test of that brought to local elevator was 58 and the grade was No. 2. At the opening of the harvesting season the wheat brought to Pampa tested as high as 63. Late wheat was as low as 51, due to weather conditions both during growth and after ripening.

ROBINSON ON WAY TO TEXAS

Senator Seems Strong Despite Active Campaign

ROBINSON SPECIAL CAR, EN ROUTE TO AMARILLO, Oct. 5.—(AP)—After more than 10,000 miles of campaigning, Senator Joe Robinson turned his face toward Texas today, in which state, more than a month ago, he opened his drive to the vice-presidency in a labor day speech at Dallas.

The return to the Lone Star state for an address at Amarillo this afternoon found the Democratic nominee a far different campaigner than when he started. No longer does he write out all of the speeches to be delivered. Lengthy, prepared manuscripts have been placed on the taboo list, and the vigor that has marked his more than 25 years in congress, he now goes after his audience.

Gestures, little used when the campaign started, punctuated most of his salient declarations. A voice, which in long years of public life never has caused trouble, has been tested thoroughly and found able to bear the strain of day-after-day speaking. Now, in speech after speech, he frequently thunders out with a volume that needs no amplifiers to carry his words through open doorways to crowds which in many cities have overflowed into the streets.

Today's speech at Amarillo was arranged after it had been found that the senator would have a stop of several hours there on his way to Clovis, N. M., where he is scheduled to arrive tonight at 8:15, mountain time, or 15 minutes ahead of the hour set for his address.

Yankees Robust, But Cards Not a Bit Downcast

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, Oct. 5. The Yankees, after falling upon the unsuspecting Cardinals in the opening game with every appearance of being in robust health, apparently were ready to disregard their doctors' advice and attempt to make it two straight today over the National league champions.

They trotted out today to warm up for the second game of the series with skies overcast, carrying a threat of rain, and the bleachers conspicuous by the amount of empty space in sight at noon, an hour and a half before game time.

George Pipgras, right hander who has shared the main burden with Waite Hoyt for the Yankees this season, was the selection of Manager Huggins. Manager McKenchie of the Cardinals had stated old Pete Alexander for the pitching task in an effort to square the series.

The big part wasn't tilted yesterday and there seemed likely to be more vacant space today, to judge from the fact that less than 5,000 bleachers were assembled at a time when three of four times that many were on hand for the opening game.

The small early gathering got its customary thrill, however, when Babe Ruth, in his first turn in batting drill, fired three long shots into the right field bleachers. The Babe was swinging with his old abandon.

The assurance that a right-hander would face the Yankees swayed their lineup, with Cedric Durst in center field and Gene Robertson at third base, in place of Dugan.

Earl Combs, regular center fielder, was well enough on the road to recovery from his injured right wrist, however, to take a turn at bat, wallop two or three balls vigorously and go out for fielding practice.

The Cardinals didn't put in an appearance on the field until after noon but they didn't act or look a bit downcast over their initial defeat.

The sun broke through the haze as the Cardinals came out to go through the preliminary paces and the band struck up a snappy tune.

Alexander, in bright Cardinal red jacket and ill fitting cap, as usual, posed for the cameramen with his youthful rival, Pipgras.

They Must Live, But—

Itinerant peddlars, salesmen, and sundry kinds of promoters must earn a living—or get one unearned—somehow, and we would not wish them to starve to death. But they could live in one place and help to build their communities if they wished.

The salesman who sidles up to your desk with a kit of socks, shirts, cutlery, perfumes, or what-not does not pay taxes, he does not give to local charity, he does not help support the Chamber of Commerce, the churches, the American Legion, or the other organizations.

Trading at home is a vital question in Pampa. If you do not believe this statement, investigate the inroads of traveling solicitors and watch the parcel post volume.

Zepplins Coming. Graf Zeppelin is coming, probably to start Sunday. Only one Zep now, but this one will be the forerunner of hundreds, perhaps thousands, within a few decades.

Zepplins will seek to demonstrate the seaworthiness of the huge ship for commercial travel. Its stability and endurance afford a security not felt even in the "Spirit of St. Louis" with the great Lindbergh at the "stick".

Eighty-two people rode Graf Zeppelin in some of the recent test flights. Some ship, that it went over England, and the spectacle seems to have annoyed the Rhineland Commission of the allied nations, since a protest went up.

But the peaceful ship has the calm power and comfort of a liner resting on the bosom of the calmest ocean.

Dr. Hugo Eckener is the builder. It may be recalled that he also constructed the "Los Angeles" which is only 40 per cent as large.

We are at the beginning of the Air Age. Uncle Sam is building two zepplins of 125-man capacity. All steel construction is being tried.

Improved motors using oil instead of gasoline, and the use of helium instead of hydrogen will give our ships greater safety and excellence.

The airship is coming to the front. Much of our travel is going to take the air route, where no paving is necessary but airports are as vital as railroad stations.

TWINKLES. Isn't it wonderful how hunches grow after the game is won.

If the movies keep on, they will eventually enable us to see ourselves (and hear too) as others see us.

The main reason others see us differently is that their viewpoint is different. Love, which brings the others to our viewpoint, is blind to that extent.

WHIRLWIND BY ELEANOR EARLY

THIS HAS HAPPENED SYBIL THORNE, Boston society girl, has brought suit for divorce against RICHARD EUSTIS, whom she married secretly, and with whom she lived only a few weeks.

Various people from New Haven were to be called, and Richard's record, obtained from the probation officer, would show that he had been in court charged with drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

Mr. Peterson had unearthed abundant evidence of various indiscretions, all admissible as bearing on the charge on which Sybil pinned her plea for divorce.

It was the day before the opening of the trial. Valerie, horrified at the prospect of facing Richard in court, had begged to stay at home with Teddy.

PLEA for divorce had been entered on grounds of gross and confirmed habits of intoxication. Mabel Moore was to testify regarding the acquaintance in Havana that began on Sybil's wedding night.

Baptist W. M. U. Holds Two Important Meetings This Week

The Baptist Women's Missionary Union held an all-day meeting at the church Wednesday and gave special programs in observance of the week of prayer for state missions. A topic for each day of the week was discussed, each relating to home mission work.

Mrs. T. B. Solomon conducted the meeting and talked on the main program topic, Let Us Pray. Her talk was followed by a round-table discussion Mrs. D. H. Truhitte talked on Our Work in Texas. Our Ruby Anniversary was the subject of an interesting discussion by Mrs. T. H. Barnard. Mrs. W. D. Henry and Mrs. C. S. Barrett gave talks on the importance of Christian education. The Power of the Printed Page was discussed by Mrs. S. L. Anderson.

A buffet luncheon and a brief social period were enjoyable features of the meeting. Chairmen of the various young people's departments sponsored by the W. M. U. met yesterday and made final plans for organization of the auxiliary units. Mrs. J. I. Gregory of Miami, associational chairman of young people's work, addressed the leader on methods and made valuable suggestions for carrying on the work. The following leaders, recently appointed by the W. M. U., were present. Mrs. E. C. Barrett, leader of the Girls' Auxiliary; Mrs. J. P. Wehrung, leader of the Young Women's Auxiliary; Aaron Meek, leader of Royal Ambassadors, an organization for the younger boys of the church; Mrs. T. H. Barnard, president of the W. M. U.; and Mrs. S. L. Anderson.

The organization meeting for the departments will be held Tuesday, when leaders and prospective members gather at the church.

Musical Program for A. A. U. W. Luncheon Announced by Leader

Two numbers by talented musicians of the city will be features of the luncheon program of the A. A. U. W. branch and College club to be held at 12 o'clock tomorrow at the Methodist church. It was announced today Miss Lora Harrell, head of the violir department of the local branch of the Amarillo College of Music, will play. A piano selection will be given by Miss Madeline Turpley. An address by Dr. Nan L. Gilkerson of Amarillo is to be the main number of the program.

Old Alex Will Pitch Unless It's Cloudy and Dark

BY BRIAN BELL

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—(P)—The St. Louis Cardinals today found themselves just where they were at this stage of the world's series two years ago and although the Red Birds have a new manager now, the tactics adopted will be the same as in 1926. Grizzled old Grover Cleveland Alexander has been summoned to do something about it.

With the Cardinals standing a game behind in 1928 as they were in 1926, the McKeechle mind worked in the same way the Hornsby baseball brain functioned—send Old Pete in there to wave his magic wand of perfect control at the hard hitting Yankees.

Nomination of the ancient Alexander was made by Manager McKeechle after he had seen his National league champions turned back in the first test, and it was subject to revision only in case a weather bureau forecast of cloudy, followed by showers, should put out. If the day should be dark with poor visibility from the home plate Jaes Haines was ready to display his fastball with a hop on it and a knuckle ball, hard to see on a clear day, leaving Alex to open at St. Louis Sunday rain or shine.

Manager Huggins threatened to cross the advance calculations which named George Pipras as his choice for the second game by sending Tom Achary, the rejuvenated lefthander, who can throw slow balls as slow as the slowest.

The Yankees found themselves off to a good start in the series because Waite Hoyt pitched unbeatible ball and the Yankee crimples threw aside their craft chess long enough to manufacture runs from extra base hits. Wee Willie Sherdel allowed the American leaguers only four safeties in his seven innings of duty in the first game but three of them were doubles and the other home run, accounting for three runs. Three singles came along later at the expense of Sylvester Johnson to make the Yankee total four, but Wee Willie had left the scene then.

The Cards' best was one run and three hits. Jim Bottomley personally carrying the lone card counter around by virtue of a lusty home run. Waite Hoyt buried the team that beat him in the closing game of the 1926 world's series and showed that this is another day by permitting only Bottomley to get past first base. Only six Cardinals were able to boast of a speaking acquaintance with Lou Gehrig at first base. Three hits including Bottomley's terrific smash, and three passes opened the door to first base but for all but Bottomley it was immediately closed.

The big Cardinal first sacker scored his team's only run, made two-thirds of its hits and drew one-third of its passes Hoyt issued. Hoyt showed a fast ball that grew faster as the game went along and although his control was a bit shaky at the eighth when he issued his third pass, he got Douthitt in a hole and struck him out when the outfielder helped him by being so far from the plate on the third strike that he could have reached it had he been so inclined.

Series Slants

(By The Associated Press.)
Despite forecasts of unfavorable weather for the second game of the world's series today, Samuel Thomason and Francis Chapman, who hitchhiked from Dover, N. H., to New York, took the first two places in the $1 line outside the Yankee stadium at 1 o'clock this morning. At that hour, a man who called himself "Kid Hoffman, of Philadelphia," held the fort at the $3 booths all by himself.

On the short end of 5 to 3 odds before the series opened, the Yankees this morning were quoted at 10 to 7 to win.

Walter Johnson, who has done a bit of pitching in his time, was at the first game. "They look like the same old Yankees," he said after Meusel's home run.

Babe Ruth expressed a world of melancholy pity for the sad condition of Brick Owens' eyes when he was called out on strikes. "Oh how could you, Mr. Owens?" the Babe's whole attitude seemed to say, actually the Babe said not a word. He has argued with umpires before.

Nick Altrock spent most of the afternoon whispering funny stories into the left ear of the one-time Massachusetts mauler, now a Thespian.

Boy Wonder Is Making Records In World Series

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—(P)—The boy wonder of Flatbush is maturing into a right-handed pitcher who seems to have designs upon the world series pitching records of such masters as Matthews, Bender, and Penneck. In turning back the St. Louis Cardinal with three safe hits and one earned run in the 1928 opener, Waite Hoyt increased his six-year string of five victories and only three defeats.

The Yankee ace thus matched in victories Penneck, who has lost none and the immortal Matty, who divided ten. He now needs only one more triumph to equal the record figure of Chief Bender, who won six and lost four in a long and honorable career from 1905 through 314.

The one-time "Brooklyn Schoolboy" now has an earned-run average of just 1.73 for 88 innings of pitching in nine games over a six-year span. No pitcher in so many games saw Matty with 1.02 has a better earned-run mark. Penneck crowds Hoyt with 1.00 in seven engagements, one of which was hurried fourteen years ago for the Athletics.

Hoyt has pitched five complete games, given 19 passes, fanned 38, and allowed 63 hits and 22 runs, 13 earned.

Scouts Eye Boy

CHICAGO (P)—Pitcher Nick Manuoso, 16-year-old strikeout wizard of the Chicago sandlots, has worked in the presence of major league scouts in recent games.

The Ivory hunters were attracted by Nick's record of having fanned 51 batters in three successive games.

Nick pitched his team to the boys' championship of Illinois last year.

Harvesters Will Use New Plays Against Electra

The Pampa Harvesters, high school football team are in Elk tra today to meet the fast Electra Tigers, class A football squad. Coach Odus Mitchell and his assistant, A. M. Fox, accompanied by eighteen members of the squad, left here yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock by motor.

A few changes have been in the line-up for today's battle. In the backfield, Lard will replace Maness as safety man. In the line, Bob Kahl will be shifted to right end and Willis put in the center position. Kahl will continue to be used as roving center on the defensive, with Willis at end.

The change has been made to complete the aerial attack of the Harvesters, Kahl being the best receiver on the squad. Coach Saalsbury will be used in the game for a short time. He has been out for the last two weeks with a nose fracture received in practice when he collided with Carson. Several new plays will be used today, the coaches intimated before they left.

Those making the trip to Electra were: Coach Odus Mitchell, Assistant Coach A. M. Fox, Captain Bob Kahl, Mullen, Barnard, Seitz, Stalls, Saalsbury, Ayres, Mason, Irwin, Walstad, Roberts, Tracy, Lard, Chastain, Saltzman, Jones, Carson and Willis.

Included among those accompanying the team were Gordon Saalsbury, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kahl and Harry Hoare of the Daily News staff.

"Musketeers and Sea Hawks," to Defy the Air

WASHINGTON (AP)—The D'Artagnans of the air have their leader but they are carrying on just the same; grinning at death, tumbling, sporting, and darting in a manner that strikes fear into the hearts of earth walkers.

The Three Musketeers of fiction swaggered their daring way into the hearts of the world with ready rapiers at their sides. Their modern prototypes pilot the fastest of military aircraft, with an abandoned fearlessness that dwarfs earthbound deeds.

Two groups of pilots in the United States air forces have adopted the tenets of the romantic characters of Dumas. They live together, eat together and court death together—one for all, all for one.

Three, banded together in the navy, are known as the Sea Hawks. The army outfit is the Three Musketeers.

Death reaches into the cockpit of the leader of the army trio at the air races in Los Angeles, so the Musketeers are leaderless at present. Lieut. J. J. Williams was their guiding dare devil. The engine of his plane faltered while he traveled at a dizzy speed. Lieut. Cornelius was killed this week.

The other two, however, put grief behind them and followed Col. Charles A. Lindbergh into the sky for some of the most spectacular flying of the west.

Williams' death focused attention on the flying comrade and brought into public notice the deeds of the navy's fellowship as well as those of the army three.

The remaining Musketeer is Lieut. Irving A. Woodring.

The Sea Hawks are Lieut. D. W. Tomlinson of the world war era; Aaron F. Storrs III, and W. V. Davis, who navigated Art Gobbel's Dole prize winning plane to Honolulu.

The Sea Hawks have performed together many months, since they first earned the name of the "Blind Bats" for their correct but spectacular flying and their reckless air. They live together in the sky, on shore and aboard war vessels, being close friends and fellow graduates of the naval academy. Their name was changed to Sea Hawks because they are of the navy and fly Curtiss Hawk pursuit planes. Tomlinson is of Batavia and Storrs of Owego, New York, and Davis halls from Okaloosa, Iowa.

The Musketeers are of the 95th pursuit squadron of Rockwell Field, San Diego, Calif., and formerly were of the same flight in the First pursuit squadron at Selfridge Field, Mich., where they became hard and fast friends and where they were banded together. Williams home was in Salt Lake City, Woodring, of Enid, Okla., was an Oklahoma A. & M. college man, and the home of Cornelius is in Fort Smith, Ark.

To see either of the crack combat units going through their paces is to witness an awe-inspiring display of courage and skill.

They swoop down, like the swift hand of death they emulate, until it seems their planes are certain to crash, but within a short distance of the ground flatten out from a 300-mile an hour clip.

In close formation, with only a few feet between the racing and roaring crafts, they loop as one, fly upside down as a unit in weaving maneuvers that only the best of air experts would dare attempt alone.

All for one, and one for all, they voyage the skies in a flaming parade of cheerful bravery.

A NEW YORKER AT LARGE

NEW YORK—The Jew is represented in almost every field of musical achievement, but the men whom the Jews themselves place in the front rank of their musicians are seldom heard of outside the faith. They are the cantors in the synagogues.

New York has become, since the world war and the Russian revolution, the home of most of the famous cantors from European lands. In this city, where lives an eighth of the world's Hebrew population, the wealthiest congregations are to be found. Cantors of talent are drawn by the lucrative opportunities in New York synagogues. Half a dozen of them have made considerable fortunes here, and earn $15,000 to $20,000 a year in the synagogues, at weddings and at funerals.

Composers, Too
The cantor is, as his name implies, a chanter. He is not only a singer, he is a reader, who recites the prayers of the church with intonations.

Sometimes he uses the right minor melodies which have endured for centuries in the Hebrew places of worship. Sometimes he composes melodies of his own; in fact, the best cantors spend weeks before the high holidays each year arranging their tonal versions of the prayers.

At least one traditional Jewish religious melody is a part of the classic music of the world: "Kol Nedret," sung by oppressed Jews in the forests and caves of Spain before the time of Columbus.

When Jascha Heifetz was a boy in Vilna, Poland, he often heard in the synagogue one Cantor Herschman, already renowned there for his talent. Today Herschman is the most famous of New York cantors. He came from Poland half a dozen years ago and his services are constantly in demand in the finest synagogues of the city.

Cantors For Ten Days
At the holiday season from Rosh Hashonah to Yom Kippur, which those of Jewish faith are currently celebrating, many Jews of musical ability leave every-day tasks as storekeepers, salesmen, peddlers and mechanics to become cantors for ten days.

They must grow the beards of orthodoxy before they may preside at ceremonies marking the New Year and the Day of Atonement, and a stock of Jewish jokes is about the men who shave during the rest of the year, but let their beards grow long at holiday time so they may sing at special services. Some of them thus add hundreds of dollars to their yearly income.

In many of the reformed congregations the old customs and rites of Judaism have been altered or abandoned. Some admit women to the choirs, and give the rabbi a larger part in the holiday services than the orthodox churches, in which he exhibits his piety alone in an honored corner. But in all the congregations the cantor is still a highly honored figure, the man whose recitations in minor key echo the unchanging essence of the Hebrew faith.

Education Building Will Be Dedicated on Home-Coming Day

CANYON, Oct. 3.—The new $300,000 Education building of the West Texas State Teachers college has been completed and occupied by the training school, which includes children of all ages from the nursery school through the high school.

Professor F. E. Savage and Dean Jennie C. Ritchie are in charge of the two divisions of the training school.

The dedication and formal opening of the building will take place October 20 and 21, when Canyon will be visited by some of the most prominent school men of the United States. The occasion will also be the home coming game and thousands of ex-students and friends will throng the campus.

There are about 27,000 banks in the United States, a decrease of nearly 4,000 since 1921, due to consolidation, failures and other causes.

The health department of Guanajuato, Mexico, has ordered arrested all medical practitioners who cannot show medical degrees from reputable universities.

CHURCHES

CHRISTIAN CHURCH

A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend the services of this church Sunday, if not a member of another church, especially strangers and visitors.

The Bible school opens promptly at 9:45 a. m. Every departmental superintendent is endeavoring to make his and her department A-1, and with the co-operation of parents and pupils this can be done. Preparations are being made in each department for a better program when the school opens in the new educational building in East Pampa. The promotion day program last Sunday morning afforded a splendid opportunity to know the type of work being done in this church school. The minister will be in the pulpit both morning and evening, 10:45 and 7:30 p. m. There is no book today as timely and more interesting than the Bible when it is read and studied properly. The sermons Sunday will deal with present day life and will be of interest to all.

Three young people's meetings at 6:30 afford the young folk another hour of fellowship, instruction, and training.

A hearty welcome awaits you at the Christian church.
JAMES TODD, Jr., Minister.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

Someone has said, "There are three trinities in the world: The trinity in unity above us, the Father, Son and Spirit—one God; the trinity within us, spirit, soul and body—one man; and the trinity beneath us, the world, the flesh and the devil." Next Sunday morning "The Trinity Beneath Us" will be discussed. Sunday evening "Victory Defeated" with basic text in Luke 11:29-36 will be discussed. The whole church invites you to these meetings and it stands as one man to give you a welcome.

The attendance in the Bible classes is still growing. This is as it should be. Why not add the number of your entire family to this list? There is a class for every one. Good teachers are at the head of these classes. It is your privilege to make the best of this opportunity.

If one member of the church is absent, there is one less at church than there should be. If all the members of the church of Christ in this city would attend the meetings next Sunday we would have perhaps one hundred and fifty present. But you are not all coming. Some of you have deposited your souls in the Devil's pawnshop. You think you will go after it when you get enough of the pleasure of the world. When the Prince of the other world will have done with you

You think your soul will be a welcome guest in your corrupted heart. When the mind of the flesh is thoroughly satisfied with lust and the desire for such things is entirely gone—then you will be ready to give the soul a chance and turn corruption for cleansing to the Lord. No, you will not be present next Sunday, nor yet, "when the roll is called up yonder."

Freshmen at Rice Have Stiff Rules to Follow Closely

HOUSTON, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Freshmen at Rice Institute must follow, to the punctuation mark, rules for behavior and conduct made for them by sophomores.

When 400 freshmen, the number allowed to enter the school this year, registered, they were handed green handbills bearing this introductory paragraph:

"The Sophomore class, out of the goodness of their hearts, in order to uplift you from the depths of your present state of ignorance due to extreme youth and inexperience, have drawn up these rules of conduct for your guidance."

Under these rules, the freshmen "must cultivate and maintain at all times an attitude of humility and respect toward upperclassmen." They must "keep on the gravel walks, learn all school songs and attend pep meetings." They must address upperclassmen as "mister" or "sir," and must trot to and from classes on Tuesdays and Saturdays; they must wait outside the commons at mealtime until the upperclassmen are seated.

Rice belt buckles, knickers and mustaches are taboo. They must wear freshmen caps every day except Sunday. Red suspenders, green windsties and no coats are arbitrary costumes for Friday.

There also are rigid rules for the girls. Each Friday they have been instructed to "keep your eyes straight ahead, never forgetting that maidenly modesty is your chief virtue." And on Fridays they must wear specially prescribed costumes, changing each week.

"Any deviation from strict adherence to these rules will necessitate a summons before the board of corrections," the handbill warned the freshmen.

ELECTION CHARGES FALSE

BROWNSVILLE, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Charges by Sid Hardin, defeated candidate for the Democratic congressional nomination, that 10,000 illegal votes were cast in the district and that his opponent, John N. Garner, spent $100,000 in his campaign were found to be without foundation by the Cameron county grand jury in its report yesterday.

HOOVER OUTLINES SPEECH

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover made ready today for the second of his flying campaign trips; this one to Elizabethton, Tenn., where tomorrow he will present his cause to the voters of the Democratic South although he will speak in a Republican stronghold.

Saloons at Monterey, Mexico, have been ordered closed from 11 p. m. Saturday to 6 a. m. Monday—unless their drinks have less than six percent alcohol.

TWELVE MEN ESCAPE IN KENTUCKY JAIL-BREAK

FRANKFORT, Ky., Oct. 5.—(AP)—Twelve prisoners, three of whom were held on federal charges, escaped from the Franklin county jail here at 4:30 a. m. by forcing open an iron-barred door, burrowing through a brick wall and sliding down a line of blankets which had been tied together.

The delivery occurred during the brief interval in which the warden Steven Toppas had left his office to go to his home, less than 50 yards away, to awake his son.

Sixty-eight other prisoners, a majority recently convicted in federal court had access to the same avenue of escape as their associates but remained in jail, and after the last man had slid down the blankets to safety, gave the alarm.

TEDDY, JR. SPEAKING

SOMERSET, Ky., Oct. 5.—(AP)—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt arrived here today, to resume his speaking campaign in support of Herbert Hoover, from Harriman, Tenn., where he told an audience last night that Hoover's election will bring relief to the American farmer.

Sunday School Lesson--

high privileges of the gospel which he has been describing, walk worthy of them: let them be meek and lowly as Christ was; let them be loving and patient with their brethren; let them "keep the unity of the Spirit in bond of peace." In harmony with the purpose of the Epistle Paul emphasizes this unity of Christians: using the famous phrase, "One Lord, one faith, one baptism." Then, after insisting on the oneness of all Christians, the apostle speaks of the diversity of abilities and tasks which makes that unity effective.

"And he gave some to be apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers." He refers to Christ, who, through the Holy Spirit, bestows spiritual gifts upon His disciples. Apostles are those who are sent forth by Christ, His immediate representatives and messengers. Prophets are those who speak forth the truth of God, sometimes the present duties of men. Evangelists are those who proclaim the good news (evangel) of salvation and urge men to accept it. Pastors are shepherds, those who lead the flock of Christ and care for their needs. Teachers are those who give instruction in truths. There is need for all these types of Christian workers in the church today.

Guiding Your Child

BY MRS. AGNES LYNNE

The most disappointed parents in the world are those who insist that their children do the things they themselves wanted to do when they were young, and who try to fit them into the careers they themselves missed.

Ironically enough, such children are likely to grow up as unfulfilled in their dearest wishes as were their mothers and fathers before them.

The other day, a little boy sat beating time with his heels against the porch step while the band played a rousing march. His mother looked down at him approvingly and said: "Yes, dear, as soon as you are four years old you shall have a piano and take music lessons." She explained that she had always wanted to be a musician herself and that she intended to begin her child's training as soon as possible.

So at four, this little boy is destined to sit daily at the piano practicing exercises that are to make a musician of him. Let us hope he actually possesses that talent which his mother feels lies buried in her. For unless he is really gifted he will grow to hate the march to which he once beat time so joyously. Music will mean to him only those endless dim hours in a dim room when he wanted to about and play in the sun.

This mother would be wiser to let her boy discover for himself that he wanted to take music lessons. Parents like other people interpret signs to their liking. It is quite possible that although a child may enjoy a brass band, music lessons would be a dreary waste of time, and that far from aspiring to be a musician he may find

COMPENSATION FOR MATERNITY ADVOCATED BY ENGLISH WOMAN

WASHINGTON—(AP)—If maternity is the all-important thing in woman's life, as many men contend, Mrs. Helen Archdale of Great Britain wants to know why they aren't willing to pay for it.

Mrs. Archdale, in Washington on a world tour in the interests of feminism, believe in divorcing sentimentality from sex. She wants equality for men and women in everything.

"Women should be compensated for bearing children, if it's such an important thing in the world's affairs," she says. "A mother who has to earn her living should be paid by the state for the time she has to remain away from her work or the firm for which she works should be compelled by law to compensate her for the enforced vacation."

As to equality in sharing the burden of war, she is equally firm. "Certainly firm."

"Certainly women should shoulder arms along with men," she asserts. "Why should men be selected for cannon fodder any more than women?"

Mrs. Archdale came to Washington as a guest of the National Woman's Party. She attended the republican convention at Kansas City and her comment was: "Most amazing!"

"I could not tell who were Republicans and who were Democrats, who were important and who were not," she recalls. "They were all mixed together in a most confusing jumble. I could make nothing of it, so I did not go to Houston."

Mrs. Archdale is international secretary of the Six Point group of Great Britain. The Viscountess Rhonda is chairman of the executive committee. The object of the organization is to work for reforms to give men and women equal opportunities politically, economically and socially.

Ada Lee Love of Mobeetle scored highest for the garden girls and Grace Stauffer of Paken scored highest for the poultry girls. She had an excellent coop of Rhode Island Red chickens.

Miss Margie Lyon, home demonstration agent from Papanburg, judged the fair, both the women and girls listened to her criticisms and will profit much by the things they learned.

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General topic—Paul in Ephesus.
Scripture lesson: Acts, 19:8-10, 18-20; Eph. 4:11-16.

Acts 19:8. And he entered into the synagogue, and spake boldly for the space of the months, reasoning, and persuading as to the things concerning the kingdom of God.

9. But when some were hardened and disobedient, speaking evil of the Way, before the multitude, he departed from them, and separated the disciples reasoning daily in the school of Tyrannus.

10. And this continued for the space of two years; so that all they dwelt in Asia heard the word of the Lord both Jews and Greeks.

11. Many also of them that had believed came, confessing, and declaring their deeds.

12. And not a few of them that practiced magical arts brought their books together and burned them in the sight of all; and they counted the price of them, and found it fifty thousand pieces of silver.

13. So mighty grew the word of the Lord and prevailed.

Eph. 4:11. And he gave them some to be apostles; and some, prophets; and some evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers;

12. For the perfecting of the saints unto the work of ministering, unto the building up of the Body of Christ.

13. Till we all attain unto the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a fullgrown man, unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ;

14. That we may be no longer children, tossed to and fro and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of man, in craftiness, after the wiles of error;

15. But speaking truth in love, may grow up in all things into him, who is the head, even Christ;

16. From whom all the body fitly framed and knit together through that which is the joint suppleness, according to the working in due measure of each several part, maketh the increase of the body unto the building up of itself in love.

Time—Paul wrote his letter to the Ephesians probably during his first Roman imprisonment of two years, A. D. 61, 62.

Place—Rome, where Paul, though a prisoner, was living in his own hired house.

Golden text—We are his workmanship, created in Christ Jesus for good works which God afore prepared that we should walk in them—Eph. 2:10.

Introduction

The lesson of the third quarter brought Paul back to Antioch, at the close of his second missionary journey. The period of his career that is spoken of as the third missionary journey begins in Acts, 18, with verse 25. The church at Antioch had become large and strong enough so that it could get along without him. The call of the world sounded loud in Paul's ears; so after a few months of rest—if he ever rested—he is off again on another missionary campaign.

He passes through Galatia and Phrygia, visitin gand strengthening the churches in these regions, to Ephesus. This was another strategic point in the gospel's advance—like Antioch, Corinth, and Rome. It was capital of the province of Asia and the metropolis of Asia Minor. Many important highways brought thither inland trade and by sea it was in close touch with all the Mediterranean ports, Corinth especially. Paul reached Ephesus probably in the early summer of 54 and remained there about three years. From Acts we gain only an imperfect idea of the large results of this Ephesian mission. Demetrius confesses (19:26) that not alone in the city, "but almost throughout all Asia, this Paul hath persuaded and turned away much people." The seven churches addressed in Revelations—representative churches—were all in the Ephesus district.

Paul's Work in Ephesus

The Jews of Ephesus seem to have been friendlier to Paul's message than other Jewish communities. For three months he had the freedom of the synagogue. When there was a change of sentiment he transferred his work to the lecture hall, or school room, of Tyrannus, who was evidently a convert. In the morning, when the school was in session, Paul would be working at his trade (20:34,35) from eleven to four he preached and taught. He made long evangelistic tours: out into the province (v. 10). He also did much pastoral work (20:31). The large accomplishments of these years are significantly summed up in verse 20. The Roman author Pliny, writing a generation later, tells that all that part of the world had become a hot-bed of Christianity.

Paul and the Exorcists

During this ministry in Ephesus the Holy Spirit was so powerfully with Paul that he worked many miracles and even his garments—his handkerchiefs or the workman's apron which he used while making tents—had efficacy in healing diseases and driving out demons.

There were in Ephesus certain strolling Jews who pretended to cure diseases by means of incantations and magical formulae, and when they learned of Paul's success in miraculous healing they used in their incantations the name of "the Jesus whom Paul preaches." Among these were the seven sons of a certain Jewish chief named Sceva; but when they sought to expel an evil spirit by using the sacred name of the Son of God the demon answered, "I know Jesus and know Paul, but who are you?" So the demoniac attacked the seven Jews, tore their clothes to shreds, tore their flesh also, and drove them out of the house wounded and naked.

This startling event became known all over the city. It aroused in all a salutary fear of the Lord Jesus, while his disciples rejoiced in having so mighty a Saviour.

Burning of Heathen Books

"Brought their books together and burned them in the sight of all." The tense of the Greek verb implies continuous action, and presents a vivid picture of the penitents throwing book after book on the blazing pile. We are reminded of the similar scene in Florence, Italy, when, under the powerful preaching of Saviour, the "baneful of vanities" took place in 1497. A great heap of frivolous books and pictures and wearing apparel and the like was consumed. A merchant of Venice offered to buy the pile for 22,000 gold florins before the torch was applied, but the authorities rejected his offer in indignantly and added his portrait to the bonfire. "And they counted the price of them, and found it fifty thousand pieces of silver." Fifty thousand and denarii, and as the denarius was the day's wage of an ordinary laborer, the value was about equal to $100,000 today.

Paul and the Shrines

"Paul was in daily peril of his life. He had held his ground at Ephesus longer than at Corinth. But finally a condition arose that drove him away. The story does not differ greatly in principle from the greed of the masters of the poor girl in Philippi and the jealousy of the rabbis in Thessalonica. Demetrius carried on a "god factory" in Ephesus. He claimed to manufacture the best type of silver shrines of Diana on the market. The preaching of Paul had not only had a bad effect on evil books; it had run down the demand for wares of the house of Demetrius. His craft and Paul were in direct opposition. Paul had touched the roots of invested capital. Luke has drawn the picture with a master's hand. Demetrius gathered together all the craftsmen of the company and laid before them the danger to their pockets and their piety, and in order (Acts 19:27). Their shout took up the appeal to the dignity of Diana as a matter of course. The rest took care of itself. The scene in the vast theatre is that of the typical mob. Paul was bent on facing these "wild beasts," but he was restrained by the disciples and the Asiarchs. After two hours the town clerk quieted the crowd and demanded that Demetrius take his complaint against Paul to the courts of the proconsul.

Letter to the Ephesians

In the first three chapters of this Epistle Paul had dealt with the principles of the Christian life; in the fourth chapter he comes to their application. He sums up his exhortation at the outset; let all Christians, called into the
