Citizens line up for Lotto Texas

Largest state jackpot to date — $85 million

By NANCY YOUNG
 Managing Editor

Lottery fever has struck Pampa! And it's worth $85 million big ones.
 With the Lotto jackpot at the highest amount in the history of the Texas lottery system, local businesses are reporting brisk sales of lottery tickets.
 Statewide, 19,000 tickets a minute were being sold.
 Dreams of winning the lottery are dancing in people's minds, and they are willing to gamble in hopes of winning a large amount of money. Paying off bills, quitting jobs, travel and helping families are high on the list of people wanting to win the jackpot drawing tonight.
 Allsup's #96, at Cuyler and Alcock, had sold 2,618 tickets for the $77 million jackpot by 9 a.m. today, said Manager Shirley Hoskins, store manager. She said the store sold 764 tickets on Tuesday.

 Ruby Kellison, area manager, was working at the local convenience store today and said, "We're providing double coverage because of so many people buying tickets."
 "We'll break the records today because of the way their coming in," she said.
 When the jackpot was over $50 million on Saturday, the store sold 1,116 tickets.
 Tickets are being sold in larger increments than usual, reported Hoskins. She said one group of employees from an area business purchased 250 tickets.

 One Pampa resident, Cheryl Robichaux, bought 20 tickets Wednesday morning at the convenience store in hopes of winning the record jackpot.
 Donna Jones of Taylor's on N. Cuyler reported she had sold 472 tickets between 6 a.m. and 9 a.m. today.
 "We were really busy last night, and it will be even busier as today goes along," said Jones. Working at the local convenience store over four years, she has seen some large Lotto jackpots but this is the largest.
 "Usually when we have a large jackpot, the machines break down around 3 or 4 in the afternoon," said Jones. "There are so many buying tickets at that time across the state." She suggests people buy their tickets earlier on big jackpot days.

 When the jackpot was over $50 million on Saturday, the store sold 1,116 tickets.
 Leslie Smith at Hiway Package Party Shop said their sales are definitely up. "They are double of what they usually are," she said.
 At Albertson's the sales of lottery tickets haven't been that unusual, said Pat Eastham. "We haven't sold that many more than usual, but I expect the sales to really be busy this evening," she said. "The evening is when we usually get busy."

 Mary Bennett of Allsup's #84, on Highway 152, said her store has sold 132 tickets since 6 a.m. today. She said the sales have been very busy since Friday, as the Saturday drawing was $54 million.
 Bennett said the largest number of tickets she has sold to an individual was 75 tickets.
 Lottery tickets are sold until shortly before the 10 p.m. drawing tonight.

Five JP hopefuls undergo interviews

By NANCY YOUNG
 Managing Editor

Gray County Commissioners interviewed five of eight applicants who are seeking to become a Justice of the Peace when Judge Bob Muns retires at the end of the month leaving an unexpired term.
 Muns recently submitted his resignation to the commissioners court, effective the last day of March, 2001. He will be retiring.
 Applicants interviewed on Tuesday were Lee Cornelison, Joe Martinez, Margie Prestidge, Billy Morris and Gene Gee.
 County Judge Richard Peet said three additional applicants sent letters notifying them of the interviews did not appear Tuesday. He said additional contact will be attempted with them in the event they didn't receive the first letter or had some type of emergency.
 Eunice Moreno, Lucio Moreno and Neal Sparks are the applicants who didn't show. Peet said the commissioners court will conduct any additional interviews on March 15.

He said the commissioners court will individually rank the applicants in order of preference.
 Peet also said the commissioners held a work session Tuesday regarding the office locations following the courthouse restoration. He said no decisions were made by the commissioners court.
 The judge said most of the officeholders were in the meeting to discuss their individual office needs with the architect. He said projections for each department were also discussed.
 Peet said the work session is continuing today as the architect visits each courthouse office to work with them on any office arrangements or changes.

 Cheryl Robichaux purchased 20 tickets for the $85 million Lotto Texas drawing at Allsup's #96 in hopes of being the big winner tonight. Store Manager Shirley Hoskins and Area Manager Ruby Kellison have been busy today selling a record number of tickets in the record drawing.

Pedestrian injured in hit, run mishap

Pampa police today are searching for the driver of a white pickup that struck and injured a man on Varnon Drive early this morning, then left the scene.

 Details were sketchy at press time, but according to a report by Officer Billy DeWitt, Ellison suffered "incapacitating injuries" when he was struck by an unknown white pickup backing from a driveway in the 1100 block of Varnon Drive.

Teen Leadership class dropped; few qualified

By DEE DEE LARAMORE
 Staff Writer

Pampa Middle School (PMS) educators recommend replacing the Teen Leadership program with a home economics elective course, saying the leadership class has not had the hoped for effect on the school or students.
 "We do not see a change in students or schools as a result of Teen Leadership," PMS Principal Jim Powers reported to Pampa Independent School District board members at a recent meeting.
 "I began to see that about a year and a half ago," he said, adding, "I hated to give up."
 Teen Leadership, an elective class designed to instill high morals and build leadership skills in students, had been offered to selected PMS eighth graders for the past four years.
 Powers said one of the problems with the Teen Leadership program was the limited number of students who qualified to take the course. Many students who needed an elective did not qualify for Teen Leadership because they did not fit course guidelines.

 "I've asked Dr. (Dawson) Orr to phase Teen Leadership out over the next year," Powers said.
 The school principal also recommended that two teachers who teach Teen Leadership at the middle school not be re-certified to teach the class.
 "One needs to be re-certified this year and the other has one year left," he said. "I recommend that the teacher who has a year left (of certification) teach the class one more year then end it."
 Powers and other middle school staff members hope to fill the gap left by ending the Teen Leadership course with other elective classes that would fit with students' interests.
 "We've looked at a number of courses of interest to middle school students," Powers told board

Census, redistricting worries West Texans

By PAM EASTON
 Associated Press Writer

BORGER, Texas (AP) — Residents here don't need census figures to tell them their population is dwindling. After all, more people die each year in this small oil town of about 16,000 than are born.
 But they and thousands of West Texans do want to know how it will affect their voice in government.
 Official Census 2000 figures to be released this month are expected to show that the towns and cities of this region are stagnant or shrinking. The Legislature will use those numbers to draw new congressional and legislative districts.
 Meanwhile, most of the rest of Texas is growing to the point that it has become the nation's second-most populous state and will gain two congressional seats.
 Neither is expected to go to West Texas.
 "More people are living in the urban and suburban areas," U.S. Rep. Mac

"If you have conservative Republicans who think that the government should spend less money for welfare programs, it is going to make life much more difficult for the counties that are highly rural. They are going to have to tighten their belts. And if they have low property tax rates, they are going to have to raise them."

ed, that it is hard to pick up the people," Borger Mayor Pro Tem Mervyn Barnett said. "We are very concerned about how we are going to keep both of our representatives. A lot of the help that they give us would be very difficult to get with our representatives spread out more than they already are."
 Twenty rural hospitals, including Golden Plains Community Hospital in Borger, have banded together to counteract the anticipated weakening voice. Their leaders believe a collective voice for health-care funding will better attract the attention of their thinly stretched representatives.
 "A loss of representation for any of us out here is a loss that is threatening," said Norman Lambert, CEO of Golden Plains. "We don't really realize how much it is threatening us yet. When it's gone, we'll know. But before it's gone, we won't."

Texas round up ...

Mom looks forward to seeing execution

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Her two young daughters horribly murdered, Linda Purnhagen sees the execution of one of the men convicted of their deaths as the end of only a chapter in her family's life.

"It's not a type of closure by any means," Purnhagen said as state officials prepared to administer lethal injection Wednesday night to a former used car salesman condemned for raping and fatally slashing her daughter, Grace, 16, almost 11 years ago in Montgomery County. A younger daughter, Tiffany, 9, also was strangled at the same time.

Dennis Dowthitt, 55, would be the fifth convicted killer executed this year in Texas, where a record 40 executions were carried out last year.

"I am looking forward to it," said Purnhagen, who was to look through a death chamber window at Dowthitt strapped to a gurney only a few feet away. "It just makes sure he's no longer on the earth to do this to anybody else. It will be one less idiot. I've never seen anybody die. ... But it's not going to hurt my feelings at all."

Motel manager arrested for allegedly smuggling illegal immigrants

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — A closed adult nightclub with a secret entrance served as a safe house for smugglers in this West Texas city, according to federal agents who found 34 illegal immigrants and detained a motel manager.

U.S. Border Patrol agents arrested Jose Guadalupe Barrios-Torres, the manager of Motel Plus who allegedly met the smuggled immigrants outside the motel, led them through the motel's locked gates and into the back of the adjacent Naked Harem, an operating nightclub.

The immigrants, once inside the nightclub, would squeeze through a secret door, hidden behind a row of lockers, which connected to the closed Cosmopolitan Club.

"They would go through the back of the motel, into the Naked Harem and into a secret entrance into the other adult entertainment club," Doug Mosier, spokesman for the Border Patrol, said.

Agents said the secret door was only about one foot wide and four feet high.

River crests, floods homes

LIBERTY, Texas (AP) — Dozens of homes were swamped as the Trinity River, swollen by recent heavy rains, crested above flood stage.

Liberty County sheriff's officers have urged voluntary evacuations since the waters first began rising, but before boats were needed to reach many of the houses in about 22 riverfront subdivisions.

Flood waters on Tuesday submerged access roads to a dozen of the riverside subdivisions and flooded about 50 homes. Not everyone was leaving the waterlogged residences.

"We've had about a 30 percent compliance rate, but the rest plan to just ride it out in their houses," Trinity River Authority spokesman Spencer Karr told the Houston Chronicle in Wednesday's editions.

At Trinity River Lake Estates, Mason Lake Estates and Dayton Lakes subdivision, law enforcement officers were posted at the entrances to the flooded roads for protection, said Liberty County sheriff's Chief Deputy Ken DeFoor.

Crew heard bang prior to crash

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — The crew of a Navy helicopter that crashed in August heard a loud bang and attempted to fly back as the aircraft fell apart, according to a Navy investigation.

The investigation, completed in January and released this week, cleared the crew and support personnel of responsibility for the crash of the MH-53E Sea Dragon from Naval Air Station Corpus Christi, and placed the blame solely on a defect in the craft.

According to the report, a bearing on the helicopter — the swashplate bearing — did not function properly and caused the crash.

The swashplate bearing allows the rotor blades to spin above the helicopter.

"All of the sudden there was an explosion and the next thing I remember was being in the water swimming," said Airman Shawn R. Palyo. "I saw a piece of the aircraft and I crawled up on it."

People in the news ...

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Country singer Brad Paisley wants fans to know he'll be playing at the Grand Ole Opry "as much as they let me."

Paisley, 28, has played the Opry, in Nashville, Tenn., more than 35 times since launching his career in 1999. He recently became a cast member.

"You know how our shirts will sometimes list cities? Well, my tour shirts, what we did as a joke because I play there so frequently, is we would list cities, for every 10 or so, we'd put in the Grand Ole Opry after it. Des Moines. Grand Ole Opry. Houston. Austin. And I plan to be there at least once a month."

Paisley said his upcoming album will be both surprising and familiar.

"There's a couple of things that you'll hear and immediately when you hear this, you'll say, 'Uh, oh, I didn't know he'd do that.' But not in a bad way hopefully. Strings that we didn't have on the first record that would harken back to say Ray Price. Or a bluegrass-type number. You never know."

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Kim Delaney will exit her role as New York police Detective Diane Russell on ABC's popular "NYPD Blue" at the end of this season.

If her new series doesn't fly, Delaney has a safety net because there's no melodrama planned for her finale. She's not going to die, like Russell's lover, played by Jimmy Smits, so she could always return.

"I go out standing," Delaney told The Associated Press.

She'll play Philadelphia lawyer Kathleen Maguire in "Philly," produced by Steven Bochco. Her legal drama is produced under Bochco's new deal with Paramount Television as a 13-episode order for ABC's fall season.

Delaney said she's only departing because Bochco's new concept was too appealing to resist.

"I wouldn't be leaving this show under other circumstances. It's a great show. I love the people I work with," she said.

NEW YORK (AP) — She's adding "The Tailor of Panama" to her list of film credits, but Jamie Lee Curtis is thinking about giving up her work on the silver screen to spend more time with her children.

Curtis, daughter of actor Tony Curtis ("Some Like it Hot") and actress Janet Leigh ("Psycho"), starred in "True Lies," "A Fish Called Wanda," "Trading Places" and three "Halloween" films.

She's married to Christopher Guest, and they are the parents of Annie, 14, and Tom, 5.

"We are raising generations of motherless children," she says in the March issue of More magazine, making it clear that she means upper middle-class mothers "who have chosen careers that demand they hand over the child-rearing to other people."

"The Tailor of Panama," directed by John Boorman, also stars Geoffrey Rush and Pierce Brosnan. It's scheduled for release later this month.

NEW YORK (AP) — Kathie Lee Gifford plays a hot-to-trot romance novelist in an upcoming episode of NBC's "Just Shoot Me."

"When she shows up, she causes a whole lot of trouble," Gifford tells Entertainment Weekly magazine of her sitcom role, bribing David Spade with toys, scooters and pinball machines to be her "boy toy."

Gifford, 47, bantered with Regis Philbin on television's "Live With Regis & Kathie Lee" for 15 years before leaving last July.

The "Just Shoot Me" episode airs in May.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The FBI is investigating a plot to kidnap "Gladiator" star Russell Crowe.

The agency became aware of the plot several weeks ago and has monitored the Australian-born actor during appearances in the United States, FBI spokeswoman Laura Bosley said Tuesday.

In January, agents donned tuxedos to escort Crowe to the Golden Globe Awards in Beverly Hills, she added.

AUSTIN (AP) — Increased ticket sales have fattened Wednesday night's Lotto Texas jackpot to $85 million, shattering the previous record of $77 million set the day before, Texas Lottery Commission officials said.

"Our sales have been at a near record level," said Texas Lottery spokeswoman Leticia Vasquez. "We realized we could bump up the jackpot with the sales we've had."

Vasquez said ticket sales have reached nearly 19,000 tickets per minute. Between 6 and 10 a.m. Wednesday, about 3,564,000 tickets were sold across the state, she said.

When the Lotto hit $75 million in 1994 — a record at the time — sales before the drawing reached $66,000 per minute.

in the drawing from 50 to 54. The additional balls decreased the chances of winning but increased the potential payout.

"This is exactly the jackpot our players have been asking for,"

Vasquez said. "We're right about where we expected to be."

Should no one claim Wednesday's jackpot, Vasquez said the prize could soar past $100 million.

members. "And we asked the students what courses they would like."

He was surprised to learn that approximately 70 percent of the students would like to take a basic home economics class. "This was the class with highest interest," he said.

Other classes students wanted to take included scrapbook and cardmaking, weightlifting for boys, a course on movies, plays and books, intramural sports for girls, and a class on board and card games.

"I realize this is a non-instructional course," Powers said of the board and card games class. "But it may be of interest to kids who are being passed around from band, choir, theater, arts and athletics. We have very limited options for electives."

The PMS principal said school officials may also offer another art course.

"It would be (an art) medium they choose where they develop a portfolio and are exposed to opportunities in that field," he explained.

If school officials decide to implement a home economics program at the middle school, Powers said a classroom could be converted to a kitchen for approximately $5,000. He said the PMS Booster Club officers have indicated an interest in helping purchase items for the room, also.

"You're going to have some criticism about teaching board games," said Board President Jay Johnson. "You should inform the public about that."

Powers said the board games and card games class can teach many useful skills, including math principles.

"There is scholastic value to it," said Lee Porter, school board member. "We use the same principles in computer programming."

"I can handle (the criticism) if I have the board's support," Powers said. "We are going to have the newsletter come out in March and we'll explain some of these elective courses then. We can very much justify what we're doing."

Prairie Dr., were standing in the street beside a red 1992 Chevrolet Cavalier which was legally parked across the street from the driveway, according to the report. The driver of the Cavalier was listed by police as George Roy Reeves of Mobeetie.

As the pickup backed from the driveway, police said, it hit Ellison but missed Nickelberry who was standing beside him, then continued backing until it struck the Cavalier causing minor damage to the car. The white pickup left the scene.

Assistant Chief Terry Young said it was not clear whether Ellison and Nickelberry were standing beside the Cavalier talking to someone inside or if there was anyone in the car at the time the accident happened.

"It doesn't seem to be intentional, a fight or anything," he said. "No one seems to know who it was."

"We still haven't found the (pickup)," Young added. "It's still under investigation."

CENSUS

Grant Neely said lawmakers will need to recognize the loss of political clout in West Texas.

"The state is going to have to face the fact that counties with a declining population are going to need some additional financial aid at the state level," he said.

Specifically, he noted the debate about abolishing the Robin Hood school funding plan. Overturning Robin Hood, where money from the property taxes of rich districts are passed to poorer areas, could devastate West Texas school districts, he said.

"If you have conservative Republicans who think that the government should spend less money for welfare programs, it is going to make life much more difficult for the counties that are highly rural," he said. "They are going to have to tighten their belts. And if they have low property tax rates, they are going to have to raise them."

The resulting higher property taxes would undercut the incentive for newcomers and industry to move into the agriculture- and oil-based region that is struggling to diversify its economy, Neely said.

Low property taxes are often cited as one of the pluses to living in West Texas.

"We have to figure out some way to bring some industry in here," said Garza County Judge Giles Dalby, who lives in Post. "We have to create some incentive for people to move back. We get our young kids ready for college and try and get them to come back — about 95 percent of them never come back. After they are degreed, there are so many more job opportunities for them in the big cities."

That's something Lubbock Mayor Windy Sitton is trying to change through a regional work force partnership. She and other West Texas mayors hope the program will help attract companies and educate the residents they might employ. A Web site promotes the region's work force, gives workers a place to post a resume, offers training programs and assesses local employment trends.

Sitton said cities must work hard to attract new residents, keep those who already are here and put aside differences to ensure the region and its struggles are represented.

"It comes down to sheer numbers," Sitton said. "The people who are making the laws that affect us are thinking about the most populated cities. They really don't care what we say, because we don't have the people or the politicians to say it."

An exception is House Speaker Pete Laney, D-Hale Center, whose lofty position strengthens the region's voice, the mayor said.

"He certainly does everything he can to make sure we get our fair share," Sitton said. "If we don't have the growth, and the representation is based on population, he can't conjure it up. He can't create people."

Census: Hispanics, black numbers nearly the same

WASHINGTON (AP) — Demographers have long predicted that the fast-growing Hispanic population would soon become the nation's largest minority group. New figures from the 2000 census show that is closer to becoming reality.

The Hispanic population numbered roughly 35.3 million in 2000, or about 12.6 percent of the country's 281 million people the Census Bureau said. The black population, meanwhile, ranged between 34.7 million and 36.4 million, with the exact figure uncertain yet because Americans, for the first time, were allowed to check off more than one race on the 2000 census form.

Bureau officials and outside analysts warned that the figures, released in a Census report last week, may not be final, and could change because of ongoing study. The population numbers for Hispanics, especially, surpassed previous projections, exploding 58 percent since 1990. One bureau estimate had placed the Hispanic population in November 2000 at 32.8 million —

2.5 million less than the actual 2000 census figure, which is officially tied to April 1, 2000.

"Hispanic" is considered an ethnicity, and Hispanic people can be of any race. Therefore, it is unclear yet whether Hispanics are officially the nation's largest minority group, since data showing how many blacks were specifically "non-Hispanic" is not yet available.

Public school week celebration under way

By NANCY YOUNG
Managing Editor

Pampa students and educators join schools across Texas during the week, March 5-9, to extend an invitation to the people of the community to visit the public schools in observance of Texas Public Schools Week. Community members are invited into the schools to see first-hand how they are preparing students for the future.

Texas Public Schools Week was established in 1950 by the Masonic Lodges of Texas to recognize the contributions made by the state's free system of education.

"The community is always welcome in our schools, and this week is especially exciting because our students have planned many special activities to demonstrate the learning taking place each day," said Dr. Dawson Orr, Superintendent of the Pampa Independent School District.

As part of the week-long emphasis, local schools will be inviting parents and community members to visit classrooms and be a part of open-house events.

"Texas Public Schools Week is a celebration in which everyone — parents, grandparents, families and the community — can participate," Orr added. "This observance gives us an opportunity to spotlight our students and their wonderful achievements. We invite the public into our schools so that they can look education in Pampa right in the eye. Our futures are bright and are reflected in the eyes, minds and hearts of our young people."

Each year the event has grown and it continues to be a meaningful way to showcase the many educational opportunities afforded to the more than four million students attending Texas Public Schools.

Man's body found at Lake Meredith's Plum Creek camp

The body of an Amarillo man, Gary Joe Marcum, was found this morning in the upper camping area of Plum Creek at Lake Meredith National Recreation Area, according to a news release from the National Park Service.

The release said a missing person's report had been filed yesterday with the Amarillo Police Department.

A relative of Marcum requested the Moore County Sheriff's Office check the Plum Creek area of the park, the release said. Marcum was found inside his pickup truck with a single gunshot wound to the head.

The release said a preliminary investigation indicates a possible suicide. Further investigation has been turned over to the Potter County Sheriff's Department.

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to our many friends and neighbors who were so kind to us during our recent bereavement and to express gratitude for the cards, memorials, and floral offerings.

TWC reports strong job growth

AUSTIN — Texas' seasonally adjusted unemployment rate rose to 3.8 percent in January from December's rate of 3.7 percent, but is down seven-tenths of a percent from January 2000. "While the Texas unemployment rate moved up slightly, this is the first time Texas has had two consecutive months under four percent since April and May of 1974," said TWC Chair Diane Rath. "Despite the fact that some national economic indicators are down, Texas unemployment remains low and annual job growth remains strong at 2.8 percent." Nonagricultural jobs grew by an estimated 4,100 over the month, gaining 261,800 jobs over the year. "Services led all major industries in monthly job gains," said Commissioner Representing Labor T. P. O'Mahoney, "and shows the highest over-the-year growth of 123,300 jobs." The Mining industry, the majority of which is comprised of the Oil and Gas industry in Texas, added 1,200 jobs in January.

"This is the largest monthly gain in a year," said Commissioner Representing Employers Ron Lehman, "and is the seventeenth consecutive month of growth in the Mining industry."

The lowest unemployment rate among the Metropolitan Statistical Areas (MSAs) was 1.6 percent in Bryan-College Station. Austin-San Marcos was next at 2.1 percent, followed by Lubbock at 2.5 percent, Amarillo at 2.9 percent and San Angelo at 3.0 percent.

The highest unemployment rate was 14.8 percent in the McAllen-Edinburg-Mission MSA, followed by Brownsville-Harlingen at 8.5 percent, El Paso at 7.8 percent, and Laredo and Beaumont-Port Arthur each at 7.3 percent.

The Texas Workforce Commission is a state agency dedicated to helping Texas employers, workers and communities prosper economically. For details on TWC and the services it offers in unison with its network of local workforce development boards, call (512) 463-8556 or visit www.texasworkforce.org.

Large drug seizure made at border

McALLEN, Texas (AP) — Customs and border officials have seized an estimated $5 million worth of narcotics along the U.S.-Mexico border in the past several days. U.S. Customs agents at the Hidalgo Port of Entry have seized nearly 59 pounds of cocaine and 508 pounds of marijuana. The U.S. Border Patrol seized 28 pounds of cocaine and almost a ton of marijuana along the banks of the Rio Grande and on U.S. Highway 281. A large seizure occurred Saturday afternoon at the Hidalgo International Bridge. A Customs spokesman told The Monitor in McAllen that an inspector referred a car driven by Jose Jesus Llanas, 21, of Camargo, Mexico, for a secondary examination. During the search, a drug dog honed in on the trunk of the vehicle.

Silver-Haired Legislature sets priorities for 2001

AMARILLO — The Texas "Silver-Haired Legislature" recently announced priorities passed during its 2000 Legislative Session. Its Number 1 priority is Senate Bill 535 and companion House Bill 1421, bills to retain the Texas Department on Aging as a single department.

If SB 535 and HB 1421 do not pass, TDOA will merge with the Department of Human Services. Silver-Haired Legislative members — including Nikki Gatlin (nine-year legislator), Mary Latham, both of Amarillo, and Bill Reeves of McLean — are concerned that if the two departments, which are both very large, merge they will become unwieldy and inefficient causing services to each group to be diluted and delayed. Other priorities passed by SHL is support of "Prescription Drugs for Seniors." SB 556 and HB 1231 would allow Medicare recipients to buy prescription drugs at the Medicaid price which would be considerably less.

The SHL urges their "constituents" to write Sen. Teel Bivins and Rep. Warren Chisum (Pampa) and David Swinford (Dumas) and urge support of these bills immediately. The Texas Legislature is in session.

For more information, contact your local SHL representatives. Gatlin may be contacted at 5006 Yale, Amarillo, TX 79109, (806) 353-2460; Latham at 11740 Jim Dr., Amarillo, TX 79124; and Reeves at P.O. Box 429, McLean, TX 79056, (806) 779-2979.

U.S. soldiers wound two men in Kosovo gunfight

PRISTINA, Yugoslavia (AP) — U.S. soldiers in Kosovo traded fire Wednesday with gunmen near the Macedonian border, where American troops have been working to contain an ethnic Albanian insurgency. The U.S. military said two gunmen were wounded. The incident occurred inside Kosovo just across the border from the Macedonian village of Tanusevci, where Macedonian troops and ethnic Albanian guerrillas clashed for two days this week. No American soldiers were injured in the gunbattle, the U.S. military said in a statement.

Students return to class in wake of school shootings

SANTEE, Calif. (AP) — Inside the campus of Santana High School, few signs remain of the deadly gunfire that erupted two days ago. Bullet holes that riddled a bathroom where the massacre began have been patched and covered with paint, and the floors have been scrubbed of all traces of blood. But as the school's more than 1,900 students prepared to return Wednesday, the sound and sight of a fellow student gunning down his classmates remained all too vivid. The school reopens the same day accused gunman Charles Andrew Williams, 15, was to be arraigned as an adult on charges that include murder. Two students died in Monday's attack and 13 people were injured.

Sharon fields unity government for conflict with Palestinians

JERUSALEM (AP) — Ariel Sharon is stepping into power at the head of a national unity government that could be Israel's most stable in years but faces the potentially divisive task of confronting five months of Israeli-Palestinian violence. Sharon submits his proposed government Wednesday to the parliament, or Knesset, and once it wins approval he becomes prime minister. Approval seemed assured since Sharon stitched together a coalition from center-left to far right with the support of three quarters of the 120-member house.

Soldiers search for clues in school collapse that killed 41

BEIJING (AP) — Chinese soldiers combed through dusty heaps of rafters, bricks and children's books Wednesday in a search for clues in a schoolhouse explosion that killed at least 41 people — apparently including many children. There were about 190 people in the two-story building when the blast went off Tuesday morning in Fang Lin village, said a member of the rescue team who would identify herself only by her surname, Xu. Fang Lin is in Jiangxi province, in southeastern China, about 480 miles southwest of Shanghai. The cause of the blast wasn't immediately clear, nor was the number of children among the dead and injured.

Respect, not fear, may have contributed to submarine disaster

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (AP) — Respect for the USS Greeneville's commanding officer may have stopped the crew from voicing misgivings about his orders the day the submarine crashed into a Japanese fishing boat, a Navy admiral testified Tuesday at a Navy court of inquiry. Cmdr. Scott Waddle was widely respected by the Greeneville crew that had a track record of success, and the crew had come to trust the captain's hands-on approach, said Rear Adm. Charles Griffiths Jr. But the submarine's second-in-command was quietly concerned the Greeneville was preparing too swiftly for an emergency surfacing drill before it struck and sank the Ehime Maru on Feb. 9, said Griffiths, who headed a preliminary investigation into the collision.

Freeloading Couple Must Carry Their Weight at Parents' Home

DEAR ABBY: Six months ago, my 31-year-old daughter and her 40-year-old boyfriend moved in with my husband and me. They have financial problems. We didn't ask them for money, but did expect them to help around the house.

I just had an argument with my daughter over the fact she works only 15 hours a week and does nothing to maintain the house. My husband and I are in our late 50s and both work full time.

We don't expect them to scrub floors every day, but it certainly wouldn't hurt them to vacuum, shovel snow and pick up after themselves. I know we should have set ground rules when they moved in, but we figured since they were adults they didn't need to be told what to do.

Abby, are we wrong expecting them to help around the house?
GETTING MAD IN MICHIGAN

DEAR GETTING MAD: Not at all. Lay down the law now and tell your freeloading daughter and her boyfriend exactly what you expect from them.

P.S. If your daughter worked a traditional 35- to 40-hour week, they'd solve their financial problems much faster — and the faster they could move into their own place.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 34-year-old single male, never married. I recently met a woman I want to marry, but here is my problem: She wants a big wedding, and it makes me uncomfortable.

Abigail Van Buren

I have no close male friends, so I would have a hard time finding a best man, much less groomsmen. Also, I don't have a good relationship with my family, so I don't think many guests on my side would attend. Because of this, I think a big wedding would be embarrassing. Her family would think I am a loser. Any suggestions?

TIED UP IN KNOTS

DEAR TIED UP: One of the most important ingredients in a successful marriage is communication. Tell your fiancée how you feel. A wedding is for both the bride and groom. It shouldn't be a fantasy created only by the bride. Therefore, she may have to alter her dream wedding to conform with reality.

P.S. If you are unhappy not having male friends, you may have self-esteem issues that need to be explored. Please consider counseling to resolve them.

DEAR ABBY: Everyone has heard the saying, "Don't drink and drive." Well, here's a new one: "Don't drink and cook!"

Late last night the fire alarm in our condo complex went off. The hallway was filled with smoke. The firemen arrived and traced the smoke to the unit next door to mine.

After banging on the door and getting no response, they broke down the door. Inside, they found two guys "asleep." They had been cooking something on the stove, got drunk and passed out.

So, if you cook, please don't drink — and if you drink, please don't cook!
STEAMING IN MASSACHUSETTS

DEAR STEAMING: I'm sure you're still steaming, but you're lucky you were not burned up — literally. I hope your neighbors learned from that expensive lesson. They could have died from smoke inhalation had the fire department not responded in time.

A drunk in the kitchen is a danger to property, life and limb. In an apartment house or condominium complex, the danger is compounded because the neighbors are also vulnerable.

Abby shares her favorite recipes in a two-booklet set. To order, send a business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $7.99 per set ($9 per set in Canada) to: Dear Abby Cookbooklet Set, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, IL 61054-0447. (Postage is included in the price.)

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have
5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
 Easy does it. Though you might launch into action when clearing out a project, others seem to interfere. Right now, others' needs do take precedence over yours, so forget frustration or irritation. Work out stress by making vigorous plans for later on. Tonight: How 'bout a game of racquetball?

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
 Your ruler, Venus, takes a tailspin today. In the next month, you could find complaints mounting. No one is harder on himself than you. Ease up and take another look after all this passes. Curb spending and risks for now. Tonight: ignore a grumpy person in your life.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
 Deal with personal matters head-on. You might be uncomfortable with a mild or loved one who impacts your home and personal life. Discuss what is ailing you as soon as possible this morning. Otherwise, problems start where you least expect them. Tonight: Make it an easy night.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
 Initiate conversations early in the morning. You feel as if a situation might be out of control. If you don't handle it, it certainly will be. Keep communication flowing. If another's temper flares, understand how tired this person might be. Tonight: Walk home if you can. Run errands on the way.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
 Use extreme caution with finances, even if everything looks and is A-O-K. Everything could backfire in a few weeks where you least expect it. Someone might encourage you to take an emotional risk as well. Instead, opt for slow and easy. Tonight: Treat another to dinner.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
 Aim to clear out work, even though you could easily be overwhelmed by what others drop on you. Everyone knows just how capable you are! A family member could be irritated by your lack of attention or time. Tonight: Make peace.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)
 Slow down, please, and avoid decisions. Your ruling planet, Venus, does a planetary skid during the next few weeks. You could feel as if you are out of sorts. Give yourself time and space to recenter. Postpone any important personal changes. Tonight: Vanish while you can.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)
 Your need to stay focused increases, and so does your caring. A loved one might be uncomfortable or difficult now. Understand where he is coming from. Your understanding goes a long way in helping others during the next few weeks. Tonight: Join your friends.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)
 Take charge and run with a changing situation. Though others seem ready to pitch in and help, you could hear a different tune by the end of the day. Work with others' foibles. Refuse to get tense when you can't accomplish all that you want. Tonight: Work late, if need be.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
 Do needed research and ask questions. Don't put anything on the back burner that should be handled immediately. Your energy sometimes overpowers others. Recognize another for what he offers. Don't lose your temper in frustration. Tonight: Relax and watch a favorite TV show.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
 Listen carefully to another. Brainstorm together and make the most of a sudden opportunity. Your sense of humor comes through for you in a difficult moment. Friends might make a demand you cannot meet because you have other obligations. Tonight: Take a night off.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)
 Defer to others and maintain your sense of direction. Others are playful, and they mean well. Use care with money agreements made today. Someone could reverse a decision from out of the blue. A boss or authority figure becomes irate. Tonight: Let others talk.

BASKETBALL

PAMPA — Charity Nachtigall received the Hustling Lady Harvester award at this year's Pampa High girls basketball banquet.

Jennifer Lindsey and Chasity Nachtigall were also recognized. They both were named honorable mention on the All-District 3-4A team.

BASEBALL

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Erik Schindewolf had four hits in as many as bats Tuesday night to help Texas A&M defeat Penn State 2-1 in College Station.

The Aggies garnered 10 hits to Penn State's five.

In a game played later in the day, the Aggies beat Indiana State 8-1.

The two wins Tuesday brought Aggie's coach Mark Johnson his 700th and 701st career wins, making him only the 39th coach in Division I baseball history to go over the 700 mark. His career record now stands at 701-322-2.

FOOTBALL

IRVING, Texas (AP) — A decision on Dallas Cowboys quarterback Troy Aikman's future is on the fast track, with the team reportedly only days away from having to pay him a multimillion-dollar roster bonus.

A source told The Dallas Morning News on Tuesday the Cowboys have not yet submitted any paperwork to the National Football League's Management Council that would allow the club to change the contract's original language.

The pact provides for Aikman to receive a $7 million roster bonus on Thursday, the seventh day of the 2001 league year.

The team can release Aikman, pay him the bonus that will extend his contract through 2007 or change the contract's language to extend the deadline.

Cowboys owner and general manager Jerry Jones and Aikman's agent, Leigh Steinberg, had been discussing an agreement that would have put off until June a decision on the 34-year-old quarterback's future.

Meanwhile, the Cowboys have been proceeding as if Aikman would not be their quarterback for the first time since 1989. Veteran Tony Banks, who started eight games for the Super Bowl champion Baltimore Ravens, worked out for the club and met the coaching staff and team officials Tuesday.

The Cowboys have also spoken with Octagon's Michael Sullivan, representing Trent Dilfer, who led Baltimore to a victory over the New York Giants in Super Bowl XXXV.

In the first of several NFL stops for Banks, he said he has ties with the Cowboys' coaching staff, including offensive coordinator Jack Reilly, who held the same job with the Rams in 1996 during Banks' rookie season.

"Jack knows me from college and knows what I'm capable of doing," Banks said. "I don't know if I had that (in Baltimore). I didn't have that security before. This is a place, if I happen to come here, with Jack, that I think I'd have some security."

Banks said he enjoyed meeting with Cowboys' owner and general manager Jerry Jones.

"We had a great conversation," said Banks. "He's an enlightening individual. He had my heart beating a little fast up in there. He gets you excited. It was impressive."

Jones and the Cowboys had expressed interest in signing Banks two years ago as a backup to Troy Aikman. The Dallas star had one of the worst seasons of his career in 2000, missing five games and parts of three others with head and back injuries that have left his career in jeopardy.

Pampa High junior A.J. Smith collected his 100th career win during the Abilene Tournament.

PHS tennis team competes in Cooper Cougar tourney

ABILENE — The Pampa Harvester tennis team traveled to Abilene to compete in the Cooper Cougar Tennis Tournament, considered one of the toughest tournaments in the state.

There were 16 teams participating, with only three 4A schools, Wichita Falls High, Uvalde and Pampa, entered in the tournament.

The Harvesters best showing came in doubles with junior Brittany Kindle and sophomore Helen Brooks finishing sixth out of 32 places.

Seniors Michael Cornelison and Bryce Jordan finished eighth. Cornelison and Jordan only lost one match during the tournament, a third-set tiebreaker loss coming in the second round.

"I was thrilled to get in this tournament this year. It's difficult to get in because of the level of competition. Each player got to play five matches, all tough competition," said Pampa coach Carolyn Quarles. The experience we got this weekend was great. As a team, we improved in most every position."

Players of the week are Brittany Kindle and Helen Brooks, finishing sixth in doubles, winning three of five matches, and freshman Tara Jordan, who competed hard in all five matches, improving with each match.

Junior A.J. Smith won three out of five matches this weekend and finished the tournament by winning his 100th career victory for Pampa. Smith will be competing in singles this spring at the District 3-4A Tournament.

"He's definitely one of the favorites to win the district," coach Quarles added.

Junior varsity division results are as follows:

Singles

Liz West, lost to Van Peenan, Amarillo High, 6-3, 6-2, to place sixth.

Vanessa Orr lost to Julie Swart, Cooper, 6-4, 6-4, to place fourth.

Erin Norris lost to April Conway, Abilene High, 6-2, 6-2, to place sixth.

Stephen Nelson defeated Andy Hothan, Abilene, 6-6, 6-2, to place fifth.

Doubles

Stephanie Nelson-Shelly Smith lost to Massie-Hughes, Cooper, 6-0, 6-0, to place sixth.

Kevin Turner-Adam Etchison defeated Josh Nachtigall-Zack Hucks, Pampa, 6-4, 4-6 (7-5) to place third. Nachtigall-Hucks placed fourth.

Earnhardt autopsy photos: Not the time to look away

By JIM LITKE
AP Sports Writer

The photos are gruesome. Everyone agrees on that, but not much else.

Two weeks have passed since Dale Earnhardt was killed in a last-lap crash at the Daytona 500. Questions about whether his death could have been prevented haven't gone away, and neither has the intense interest in NASCAR that it sparked.

More people watched Sunday's Las Vegas 400 than saw Duke play North Carolina in college basketball. More compelling than either was a pre-race news conference in which Teresa Earnhardt discussed her attempt to keep The Orlando Sentinel from publicizing her husband's autopsy, then appealed to the public for help.

"I want to let you know that if access to the photos is allowed, others will demand them, too," she said, with Earnhardt's son, Dale Jr., sitting tightlipped by her side. "And make no mistake, sooner or later the photos will end up unprotected and published ... and most certainly on the Internet."

She is right, of course. The newspaper, which ran a series highlighting the safety issues surrounding the deaths of three other NASCAR drivers in the past nine months, has provided assurances it will not publish the photos. Editor Tim Franklin said the Sentinel only wants to have an independent expert examine the evidence and determine of the cause of death. He also suggested a representative of the Earnhardt estate be present to make certain the pictures aren't copied.

But Franklin knows what Teresa Earnhardt said is true. If the Sentinel succeeds in getting a look, requests from other news organizations, some of them less scrupulous, will follow. And somewhere along that continuum, her worst fears will be realized.

A judge in Volusia County, Fla., will decide Thursday whether to lift a temporary injunction barring release of the photos to the Sentinel. The state has always treated autopsies as matters of public record — except in criminal investigations — but Judge Joseph Will broke with precedent in his initial ruling. He decided the photos had no "bona fide newsworthiness" and could cause the family "additional anguish and grief."

And when Teresa Earnhardt pleaded at the Las Vegas Motor Speedway for anyone "who feels strongly as we do, to let your voices be heard," the NASCAR nation responded.

As of Tuesday, Florida Gov. Jeb Bush and state lawmakers had received more than 12,000 e-mails. A woman from North Carolina wrote a letter warning Bush "there a lot more NASCAR fans in the Southeast than there are Republicans," and said that she and several hundred other people plan to start a boycott of Sentinel advertisers.

"When Dale Earnhardt fans spread their wings in Florida, they ain't seen nothing yet," said Cheryl Mundy, who runs a contracting business.

Three Republican lawmakers in Florida are already at work drafting legislation to treat autopsy photos as private medical records, thus prohibiting their release. The law almost certainly won't be ready in time for a vote before Thursday's hearing, but moving beyond grandstanding to actually presenting such legislation would only compound the tragedy of Earnhardt's death.

NASCAR's response to the deaths of four of its drivers — all of them frighteningly similar — has been to drag its feet. Worse, there are signs drivers on the circuit have been pressured to shut up, to stop airing their concerns in public.

"Sorry, I can't talk about safety," a driver told the Gastonia (N.C.) Gazette at the Las Vegas Speedway. "I'll talk about my team, my family ... but I can't talk about safety anymore."

The Gazette concluded that "many drivers are more scared of NASCAR than they are of death, apparently, and it's hard to take up the cause of men who won't stand up for themselves anymore."

But someone has to, unpopular as the cause might seem.

NASCAR is bigger, more powerful and more closely controlled than ever. The circuit has a new $2-billion-plus TV package, and even before the ratings jumps recorded this season, it trailed only the NFL in terms of weekly audiences. If the people at the top ride this wave of emotion without being forced to change the way they do business, another driver will pay the consequences soon enough.

In Rockingham, N.C., just before the race held the week after Earnhardt's crash, defending champion Bobby Labonte stopped outside the driver's meeting to talk to a few reporters.

"We're looking at this from every angle," he said, "but maybe it's a good thing that people on the outside are taking a hard look at things, too."

The photos are gruesome, to be sure. But the real shame would be to avert our eyes before we learn the painful lesson they can teach.

Pampa wins soccer matches

PAMPA — Both Pampa boys and girls soccer teams swept District 3-4A matches with Amarillo Caprock here Tuesday afternoon.

Pampa boys won by a score of 2-1 to push their record to 5-3 in district play.

The Harvesters hold down second place in the standings behind Randall, which is 9-0.

Pampa also defeated Caprock in the girls match.

No score was available.

The win gave the Lady Harvesters a 5-3 district mark and sole possession of third place.

Randall (8-1) and Palo Duro (6-3) hold down first and second, respectively.

The Lady Harvesters host Borger on Thursday.

The top three teams advance into the playoffs.

First round ends with Baylor among teams in Big 12 quarterfinals

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The first round of the Big 12 Women's tournament ended Tuesday with No. 24 Baylor advancing to the quarterfinals for the first time since 1997.

The sixth-seeded Bears are scheduled to play No. 13 Iowa State, which is seeded third in the tournament, on Wednesday. Also advancing to the quarterfinals is seventh-seeded Texas to face No. 11 Texas Tech, seeded second; the fifth-seeded Missouri will play No. 20 Colorado, seeded fourth; and ninth-seeded Kansas will meet No. 7 Oklahoma, seeded first.

Baylor (21-7, 10-7 Big 12) opened the second half with 12 unanswered points and held Kansas State (12-16, 2-15) to just one field goal in the first 12 minutes of the Bears' 60-44 victory.

Sheila Lambert made a 3-point play with 5:27 left to give the Bears their biggest lead at 54-33.

Danielle Crockrom scored 19 points for Baylor. Kristen Rethman led the Wildcats with 12.

Texas guard Kaira White scored 20 points, 15 in the first half, to lead the Longhorns to a 77-60 win over Nebraska.

Texas (20-11, 8-9) led 39-23 at halftime. Then when the Longhorns had a 19-point lead, Nebraska (12-18, 4-13) went on a 9-0 run to cut the lead to 11 with 7:28 left in the game.

Texas scored six unanswered points to squelch the Husker rally, and give Nebraska its third straight conference loss.

Shannon Howell led the Huskers with 17 points.

Meanwhile, Missouri (20-8, 11-6) survived a second half Texas A&M rally to win 75-65 — the Tigers' third straight victory. Texas A&M (12-16, 2-15) has lost eleven straight.

Janae Derrick scored with 8:51 left to cap off a 15-3 run that cut a 15-point Tiger lead down to three, 51-48. But Tracy Franklin hit a 3-pointer to ignite a 9-0 Tiger run.

Marlena Williams had 18 points for Missouri and Toccara Williams had 19 for the Aggies.

Kansas (11-16, 5-11) beat Oklahoma State 66-56, after falling behind briefly in the second half before using a 10-0 run to go up by nine with 14:37 left.

Oklahoma State (14-13, 6-10) cut the lead back to four before the Jayhawks answered and stretched the lead to 15.

Jennifer Jackson scored 19 points for Kansas and Oklahoma State's Kara Faulk had 17 points.

AMARILLO — Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials held a public hearing earlier this week in Amarillo. It was one of 19 public hearings planned this week across the state.

The state is looking at several proposed changes, including a return to the statewide standard for smallmouth bass of a 14-inch minimum length and a five-fish daily bag limit on the following reservoirs: Belton, Cisco, Greenbelt, Oak Creek, Stillhouse Hollow, White River and Whitney. Currently, these lakes restrict smallmouth harvest to a three-fish daily bag limit with an 18-inch minimum length.

State wildlife officials gather public input on the proposed changes before submitting final recommendations to the TP&W Commission. If adopted by the TP&W Commission in April, any changes take effect Sept. 1, 2001.

Free-agent QBs are scrambling

By The Associated Press

The NFL free-agency period is turning into a quarterback shuffle.

Elvis Grbac was the latest to cash in, signing a five-year, $30 million contract with the Super Bowl champion Baltimore Ravens on Tuesday. The deal includes an $11 million signing bonus.

Tampa Bay's signing of Brad Johnson to a five-year, $28 million deal Monday set off a ripple effect throughout the league that won't stop any time soon. Other quarterbacks on the move include Jim Harbaugh, who signed with Detroit on Monday, and Ryan Leaf, who was claimed off waivers by the Bucs last week.

Baltimore outbid Cincinnati for Grbac. The move signaled the end of Trent Dilfer's stay and provided the Ravens and Grbac with what they desired.

"Winning is the only thing on his agenda — playing in a Super Bowl and winning a Super Bowl," Grbac's agent, Jim Steiner, said.

The eight-year veteran gives the Ravens, whose offense struggled last season, hope for improvement.

"He will give us that punch we need offensively to get back to the Super Bowl," coach Brian Billicek said. "I think he's got the ability to use our speed on the outside."

Also on Tuesday, free-spending San Diego signed cornerback Alex Molden to a six-year, $16.1 million contract. The Chargers also met with free-agent quarterback Doug Flutie.

Cincinnati backed out of the bidding for Grbac on Tuesday afternoon and focused its attention on three remaining quarterbacks on the market: Gus Frerotte, Jon Kitna or Dilfer, to compete with holdover Akili Smith, who lost his starting job last season to backup Scott Mitchell. The Bengals did sign free-agent defensive end Tony Williams.

Atlanta traded an undisclosed draft pick to Tampa Bay to acquire former Georgia quarterback Eric Zeier.

The Ravens were the only team negotiating with Grbac after Cincinnati dropped out of the bidding Tuesday.

Grbac threw for 28 touchdowns and 4,169 yards with Kansas City last season and earned a spot in the Pro Bowl. He initiated the talks with Baltimore by visiting the Ravens on Friday and meeting with Billicek.

"He felt real good," Steiner said. "He had a great meeting with Brian Billicek."

"He had an opportunity to sign with the Cincinnati Bengals that would have paid him millions more a year than this offer in the early years of the contract. But the strength of the Super Bowl champions and the possibility of getting back to the Super Bowl expeditiously were the overriding factors."

Dilfer, who won his last 11 starts with Baltimore, including a 34-7 Super Bowl victory over the New York Giants, could sign with the Bengals, who wound up with Mitchell as their starting quarterback last season.

In San Diego, the Chargers continued to bolster their defense with the signing of Molden, an unrestricted free agent from New Orleans who was the Saints' first-round draft pick in 1996. He had eight interceptions in five seasons.

In four days, the Chargers spent $71.6 million on three defensive free agents: Molden, defensive end Marcellus Wiley and Ryan McNeil.

Chargers coach Mike Riley met with Flutie, and the quarterback liked what he saw.

Riley envisions Flutie bridging the gap until Michael Vick, the likely first pick in the draft, is ready to play. Flutie, cut by Buffalo last week, would be reunited with John Butler, the former Bills general manager who brought Flutie back to the NFL three years ago.

The sides said they didn't talk about a contract because Flutie plans to visit other teams.

Spurs roll by Supersonics, 101-73

SEATTLE (AP) — The San Antonio Spurs knock the West Coast is no place to be laid back.

The Spurs, who started their current road trip just 2-4 away from home against Pacific Division teams, saw their fortunes change with victories at Vancouver on Monday and at Seattle on Tuesday. They routed the Supersonics 101-73.

Now comes the hard part. "It's huge," David Robinson said of San Antonio's games at Portland on Thursday and the Los Angeles Lakers on Friday. "Utah's not letting up at all. We have no room to make mistakes."

The Spurs are a half-game behind the Jazz for the top spot in the Midwest Division. Utah is percentage points ahead of Portland for the best record in the Western Conference.

San Antonio put on a defensive clinic in Seattle, holding the Sonics to a season-low 27-of-86 shooting, 31 percent. The point total also was a season worst.

"We did a great job of running at them, getting to them, making sure they didn't get easy shots early," Robinson said.

The Spurs have won 18 of 22 games, and they're looking at the Trail Blazers and Lakers as tests of their title hopes. San Antonio won the NBA championship two years ago, but was knocked out of the first round of the playoffs by Phoenix last year after Tim Duncan went out with a knee injury.

"We've proven we can beat Utah. We've proven we can beat every team except Portland, and we've got our confidence back up where we need it to be," said Derek Anderson, who finished with 14 points, including 12 in the first half.

"We'd love to go 4-0 on this trip, of course," said Duncan, who led San Antonio with 22 points. "Portland beat us at home, and we want to get one back."

The Trail Blazers won 95-87 on Feb. 27 at the Alamodome.

"Lately, we've just been commanding games. We've been taking people out early, building big leads," Sean Elliott said. "I think we're just as good or better" than the Spurs team that won it all.

Duncan and Robinson both had nine rebounds, and Robinson added 19 points. He also had three blocked shots in the first half, which ended with the Spurs up by 24.

"Dave was incredible," Duncan said. "He closed that rim up in the first half."

Gary Payton led Seattle with 28 points on 12-of-25 shooting. Vin Baker, with 11, was the only other player in double figures for the Sonics, who played without starters Rashard Lewis and Brent Barry, both out with groin pulls. Baker played with a bandaged left hand and Ruben Patterson was limited by a bruised shoulder.

"Not having Rashard Lewis and Brent Barry takes away a lot of their offense," Spurs coach Greg Popovich said. "Not having those guys out there shooting 3s makes it tougher on them."

San Antonio opened the game with an 8-0 run and took a 58-34 lead at halftime.

"If we keep doing these things that we're doing right now, it's going to be a long season," Payton said.

Notes: Sonics coach Nate McMillan thinks the Spurs aren't being given their due. "I think a lot of people have been overlooking them. These guys won the championship two years ago. They're the forgotten team now, but they're a team that could possibly win it all." ... The victory puts the Spurs ahead 52-51 in the teams' series. ... Baker came into the game needing one point for a career total of 10,000. He got it on a left-handed 3-footer four minutes into the game. The Key Arena announcer did not inform the crowd.

Wait is over for The Maz

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Bill Mazerowski waited so long, he didn't quite know how to react.

Mostly, he smiled Tuesday after being elected to baseball's Hall of Fame by the Veterans Committee. And, of course, he answered questions about his homer that won the 1960 World Series.

"First thing my name is mentioned, it's 'You hit the home run against the Yankees,' not that you turned 1,700 double plays or you led the league in assists or putouts eight or 10 years in a row," Mazerowski said.

"Defense has always taken a back seat to offense. It's been like that throughout the years. It would be nice if this could change something."

The former Pittsburgh Pirates star will join Baseball Writers' Association of America selections Kirby Puckett and Dave Winfield in being inducted into Cooperstown on Aug. 5.

The Veterans Committee also picked Negro Leagues pitcher Hilton Smith, who died in 1983.

"You dream of a lot of things ... but you never dream of this," said Mazerowski, a seven-time All-Star who won eight Gold Gloves and played with two World Series champions in Pittsburgh. "I'm as happy as I can be," said Joe Brown, a member of the veterans panel and a former Pirates general manager. "He's so deserving. In my personal opinion, he should have been elected the first time he was eligible."

But despite being considered by some as the finest fielder ever at his position, Mazerowski's 260 career batting average with 138 homers and 853 RBIs were not perceived by many as Hall of Fame caliber.

Brown said numbers didn't reflect the true contributions of Mazerowski, who retired in 1972 after 17 major league seasons.

Study: Wives of smokers absorb cancer chemicals from smoke

WASHINGTON (AP) — Women who live with smokers absorb five to six times more chemicals linked to lung cancer than do women who live with non-smokers, a study shows.

In research published Wednesday in the Journal of the National Cancer Institute, scientists said that an analysis of chemicals in the urine of women who live with smokers demonstrates for the first time that tobacco smoke carcinogens, chemicals that cause cancer, are absorbed by non-smokers from second-hand smoke.

"A number of studies have shown a connection between environmental tobacco smoke and lung cancer," said Stephen S. Hecht, the Wallin

Professor of Cancer Prevention at the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis. "Our study provides the first biochemical support for this data."

Hecht, a co-author of the study, said that analyzing the urine of nonsmoking wives of men who smoke at home shows that the women's bodies absorb cancer-causing compounds from the atmosphere through their lungs. The study found elevated levels of compounds called NNAL and NNAL-Gluc, both of which are metabolized products of NNN, a proven, tobacco-specific cancer-causing chemical.

"It is clear that environmental tobacco smoke has all the carcinogens that are contained in tobacco smoke," said Hecht.

In the study, researchers analyzed the urine from 23 women who lived with men who smoked in the home and compared the results with urine from 22 women who lived with non-smokers.

The results showed that women who lived with smokers had levels of NNAL and NNAL-Gluc that were five to six times higher than for women who lived with non-smokers.

Women who lived with smokers had similarly elevated levels of nicotine and cotinine, a metabolic product of nicotine.

Other studies have shown that environmental tobacco smoke increases the risk of lung cancer for non-smokers who work where cigarette and cigar smoking is common, such as bars or taverns. Additionally, studies have shown that children living in the homes of smokers have a higher incidence of asthma and other respiratory problems.

Hecht said that tobacco smoke in homes with central heating and air conditioning systems tends to spread throughout a house.

"If you smoke in one part of a house, the smoke doesn't just stay in that part," said Hecht. "About the only safe thing that a woman who lives with a smoker can do is to tell him to go outside when he smokes."

Q You listed alcoholism as a marriage killer. My husband has that problem. It has created a great deal of pain in our home, and I am concerned about the emotional welfare of my children. Can it be treated, and is there hope for families like mine?

A Alcoholism is a devastating disease, not only for the person who has it, but for his or her entire family. Research shows that 40 percent of people living in Western nations have a close family member who is an alcoholic. That incidence is even higher in Russia and other countries of Eastern Europe. There is no way to calculate the impact of this problem on children, on spouses, and on the culture itself.

Fortunately, it can be treated successfully for those who are willing to seek that help. I discussed the issue of alcoholism with a panel of knowledgeable people on a "Focus on the Family" radio broadcast. Included were Dr. Keith Simpson, a physician who has treated this problem for 20 years, and Jerry Butler, a marriage and family therapist with 25 years of counseling experience. His own father had committed suicide during one of his drunken binges. Also with me were "Bob," a recovered alcoholic, and his wife, "Pauline," who preferred that we withhold their real names.

"I did not ask these four individuals for a detailed analysis of alcoholism; our listeners already knew how serious it is. Rather, I wanted them to provide us with practical suggestions as to how family members can recognize the disease and then be of help to those they love. The answers they gave were most encouraging and enlightening.

Dr. Simpson was asked whether alcoholism can be treated successfully today. Is it a hopeless condition, or is there a way out for the victim and his family? This was his reply:

"I specialized in the field of internal medicine for many years, but found it to be depressing work. I could help my patients with chronic lung disease and severe diabetes and heart disease, but in reality, my efforts were just a delaying action. Over time, condition worsened and the disease progressed. I made my rounds in intensive care each day and watched people losing their battle for life, whereas my alcoholic patients were getting well.

"That's why I deal almost exclusively with alcoholics now, and I find it to be extremely rewarding work. I see people who come in with more horrible problems than you can imagine, but they get into a recovery program, and in a few months, the difference is like going from night to day.

"so yes, not only is alcoholism treatable, but the medical community does better with this disorder than any other chronic disease. Alcoholics emerge from treatment programs more functionally integrated, more capable and more effective than before they 'caught' the disease."

That was the theme of the entire discussion: There is hope for the alcoholic! But before recovery can begin, the problem has to be acknowledged and treatment sought. That applies to your own family situation, I'm sure. Your husband can be helped if he has "the want to."

Q I've been aware of my husband's unfaithfulness for sometime now. I've taken him to task for it, which has resulted in some incredible, horrible battles I have even made demands that he stop his infidelity, yet no changes in his attitude and behavior have happened. What am I doing wrong?

A I'm afraid you've made the common mistake of misunderstanding the difference between expressions of anger and loving toughness. Simply becoming angry and throwing temper tantrums is no more effective with a spouse than it is with a rebellious teen-ager. Screaming, accusing and berating are rarely successful in changing the behavior of human beings of any age.

What is required is a course of action -- an ultimatum that demands a specific response and results in a consequence. Then you must have the courage to deliver on the promise.
