TECH STUDENT AND FRIEND DIE IN CAR CRASH

MIST BLAMED FOR TRAGEDY NEAR LUBBOCK

Paul Brewer, Freshman, and Clint Lewis Killed

MANY OTHERS BADLY INJURED

Two Parties Were on Way Home From Fort Worth

LUBBOCK, Oct. 29.—(P)—A collision near here last night between an automobile carrying five West Texas Technological College students to Lubbock from Fort Worth and a car driven by Miss Winnie Green of Littlefield resulted in the death of Paul Brewer, 18, of Memphis, Texas, and Clint Lewis of Wiley, and injuries to six boys and five girl undergraduates.

Lewis, who was not a student suffered a broken neck and fractured skull and died instantly. Brewer, a freshman, died soon after being brought to a Lubbock hospital. His head was crushed and he received internal injuries.

The more seriously hurt included J. W. Dyer, Tech student from Weverka, Okla., who is recovering from a broken arm; Miss Jessie Dyer, Littlefield who probably will not live because of a gash in her throat; Miss Leveta Davis, Littlefield, who sustained a fractured skull; H. D. Davis, who lost an eye in the crash, and Harry Dunavant, who received a head wound.

The accident was held due today to mist and rain which obscured the vision of both drivers. The cars rolled into a ditch on the impact.

The students were returning to Lubbock from the Texas Tech-Texas Christian university football game Saturday at Fort Worth.

YOUNG GIRLS HURT IN BUS COLLISION

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Oct. 29.—(P)—Twelve young girls, students of the Maryland College for Women today were injured though not seriously, when a bus in which they were riding collided with a trolley car and overturned here.

Five of the injured were discharged at the hospital after first aid treatment and rejoined their party for a sightseeing trip to Williamsburg, Jamestown and Yorktown.

The girls arrived here by boat from Baltimore for a trip to historic points on the Virginia Peninsula, expecting to return tonight.

AND SO THEY LAFFED IT OFF SO THEY DID

The Laugh It Off club sponsored by The News has two nominations for consideration. The story goes that two local nimrods broke their customs and arose before the dawn, as nimrods will.

Came daybreak and artillery roared, and roared, and rumbled. And the fowls of the air fell under the barrage, to the number of nine. Then the game was gathered up and brought to the city.

Silently, as hunters do, the nimrods walked to the rumble seat of their car. Look! their manner said. The Committee-for-the-advancement-of-Truth-in-Hunting looked.

There they were—nine MUD HENS, and the hunters didn't know the difference.

The tumult and shouting hasn't died, and even the victims joined in and laughed it off.

"WHAT TO COOK" TO BE THEME OF TALK

"What to cook" is an eternal problem for every housewife and "How to properly cook it" is knowledge that is missing among many women. The ladies of Pampa are fortunate to be able to have the privilege of hearing and seeing Mrs. Leona Rusk Thrig, nationally noted authority on modern culinary practice, in a series of five free cooking classes starting Monday, Nov. 5 at the Methodist church basement and continuing through Friday each afternoon at 2:30 to 4:30.

Most every woman can prepare an edible meal but it is a real art and a science to bring to the table such food as is possible for every woman through the simple rules of cooking as taught by Mrs. Thrig.

This does not mean increased work in the kitchen but merely the wise application of home economics and the latest findings of all the leading dietitians and culinary experts.

"It is not a flagrant exaggeration," says the noted food expert, "to state that the sense of smell and sight lend an excellent aid to digestion. It is seldom that prepared food which smells good and looks good is poor to taste. You've often heard it stated that the smell and sight of food made the "mouth water." This is literally and actually true in many cases. The greater portion of digestive fluids are secreted from the glands in the mouth before and while the food is being masticated.

All of which "proves" the advisability of knowing how to prepare savory dishes that are as nice to look at as they are to taste.

Every woman who attends these five Daily News cooking school classes will be benefitted immeasurably because Mrs. Thrig will talk and demonstrate on the newest methods of fine cooking. Every woman who would improve the products of her kitchen should take every advantage of this free school which is to be conducted as a courtesy to the women readers of The News and their friends.

Each of the five lectures are to be different, each will be chuck-full of new ideas, new dishes and new ways to cook old dishes. In every step from coast to coast where Mrs. Thrig has held her classes, she has been highly acclaimed for the interesting as well as instructive manner which she addresses her audience.

Every one is invited, and due to the numerous subjects of food selection and cooking, it is advisable that pencil and note book be brought along to take down notes for future use and reference.

Don't forget the dates, Nov. 5-9, inclusive.

Democrats to Convene Tonight Despite Weather

Rain or no rain, the Democratic rally will be held at the Pla-Mor auditorium tonight at 8 o'clock.

The chief speaker of the evening will be Mrs. Cecil Smith of Sherman. Mrs. Smith is a member of the board of directors of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs and a former National Committee woman from Texas. She is the mother of William Smith and the law firm of Cook, Smith and McLynn.

The other speaker of the evening will be E. E. Underwood, prominent Amarillo attorney. Mr. Underwood is one of the well known orators of the Southwest and an ardent Smith-Robinson supporter. Local men will make short talks and announcements.

The executive board of the American Association of University Women and College club is to meet at 8 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. M. A. Finney.

MRS. I. N. WHITE PASSES AWAY

Beloved Pioneer Woman Dies Today at 1:10 a. m.

Death claimed one of Pampa's most beloved pioneer women at 1:10 o'clock this morning.

Mrs. I. N. White, mother of members of several of Gray county's best known families, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. E. Corson following an illness of several weeks. Many relatives had been near her side often since, a few days ago, it became apparent that the end was near, and hundreds of friends had been making daily inquiries as to her condition.

The funeral will be held Wednesday, but arrangements are not complete enough for announcement today.

"Grandma" White was 91 years old last July 9, when the occasion was celebrated at a family reunion at the J. E. Corson home. On the day before that reunion, Mrs. White had been able to attend services at the Presbyterian church, as had been her custom for many years. Her devotion to her church was matched only by her devotion to her family, and their love for her.

She taught a Sunday school class while her strength permitted, and was a leader in the work of the Auxiliary, or Missionary Society as the women's organization formerly was called. Her membership in the Presbyterian church dates back to her residence in Scotland. She was born in Glasgow and spent the first few years of her life there.

She was born Elizabeth Dougherty. The Dougherty family came to the United States and settled at Cincinnati when she was twelve years old. There she grew to womanhood and married Isaac Newton White. Immediately after their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. White moved to Kansas, where they lived thirteen years. Forty years ago they brought their family from Kansas to Texas, making the trip in covered wagons. They established one of the first cattle ranches on the Canadian river, where now is part of the Bill Whitsett ranch. It was a sparsely settled country then, and Mrs. White had the distinction of being one of the only two white women within many miles of the ranch.

Mrs. White truly was a pioneer builder. In Canadian she is remembered as the founder of that chapter of the Women's Christian Temperance Union. At the time of its organization, the west was wild and saloons were plentiful. The Canadian chapter was one of the most active in the state and one of the few in the Southwest to own its building. Mrs. White also was one of the founders of Canadian's public library.

SNOW REPORTED FROM KANSAS

Overcoats Make Debut as Temperature Falls

Wheat prospects in Gray and other Panhandle counties received a boost yesterday and today when penetrating rain (that began to fall early yesterday morning) was still falling up to 9 o'clock this morning when one inch of moisture had fallen.

Accompanied by a heavy fog, the rain is one of the most valuable of the year. The rain of last night was accompanied by severe thunder and lightning followed by a cold north wind this morning.

Wheat prospects in this territory had been doubtful as there had been no rain since planting time. In some instances a second sowing was planned, but the arrival of the penetrating rain will probably promote growth in most instances.

According to a report from the Santa Fe, the rain along the entire division was general, with very little variation in the amount.

Many cars have been seen in ditches both in and around the city. The dirt streets are slippery, while county roads just graded have become almost impassable.

CANYON, Oct. 29.—(P)—A drop of 10 degrees in temperature followed a one and five-tenths inch rain here this morning.

WICHITA FALLS, Oct. 29.—(P)—A two-month drought in the Wichita Falls territory was broken during the week-end with 97 inches of rain, clouded skies threatening added precipitation today.

Farmers said the moisture will enable them to plant small grains after having been delayed a month or more.

TOPEKA, Kas., Oct. 29.—(P)—The first touch of winter descended on Kansas yesterday, with snow and rain.

American Legion to Meet Tuesday

There will be a called meeting of the membership of the Kerley-Crossman Post No. 334 of the American Legion tomorrow night at the Legion home. The meeting has been called for 8 o'clock. Post Commander E. A. Webb and his successor, P. M. Culbertson, who will take over the office a week from Tuesday night, are anxious that a full attendance be present as an important subject is to be discussed.

The local post is about to take a step that no other post in the United States has taken and the entire membership is asked to be present to take part in the discussion.

But with all of her public work, Mrs. White found ample time to devote to her large family. She attributed much of her good health and long life to her active interest in young people. She maintained her own home until she was past 50 years old, then moved here to be with three daughters who live in Pampa.

Mrs. White is survived by six daughters and one son. They are: Mrs. Dave Pope, Mrs. P. C. Leduc, and Mrs. J. E. Corson of Pampa; Mrs. R. M. Brown of Whittier, Calif.; Mrs. A. L. Winslet of Higgins; Mrs. J. A. Mead of Miami; and T. E. White of Chanute, Kas. She also had twenty-two grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

AMARILLO MAN SHOTS, KILLS ESTRANGED WIFE

AMARILLO, Oct. 29.—(P)—Mrs. Mary Horton, 38, was shot and killed today at the home of her mother, Mrs. L. H. Giles, with whom she had been staying since her separation from her husband, H. Troy Horton.

The former husband was arrested an hour later. He refused to make a statement.

S. O. S. SOUNDED IN NEWS' DRIVE

Outside Towns Ought to Be Represented in Contest

A call for help!

The Pampa Daily News needs you—wants you at once. More than a week ago we announced our big $5,000 automobile and prize subscription drive, offering to people of Pampa, LeFors, White Deer, Kingsmill, Skellytown, Noletto, Roxana, McLean, Alansred and Miami the opportunity of winning THREE brand new, high-powered motor cars, every one fully equipped, and ready to drive away. The cars, as everyone who has been watching the progress of the campaign knows are a Silver Anniversary Buick sedan, costing $1,550.00, a Whippet sedan costing $778.00 and a Chevrolet coach, costing $736.50.

Yet to date, Pampa, LeFors and Noletto are the only towns represented in the race. The first list of nominations was published yesterday, showing more contestants from Pampa than from all the other towns put together. This is not fair to Pampa. There ought to be four or five entrants from every town, yet so far there are not more than two from any outside town, and none at all from most of them. It was expected that the appearance of the first list would be the signal for a rush of new entrants from District No. 2, yet up to the time this is written at 2 p. m. today, not a single new entrant has appeared from District No. 2. Of course, the weather may have something to do with it, the rains being bad today, but then the U. S. mails are running every day, and new entrants could at least send in their nominations by the postman.

Apparently everybody in the country is leaving it to everybody else, but that won't do at all. Unless some new entrants put in their appearance by tomorrow, the Contest Manager himself is going to climb in the flivver and go out and invite them to come in. The mud may be awful slick in some places, but it isn't going to keep the C. M. from finding out why people in the outside towns are not responding. There is an automobile and a full set of prizes set apart especially for District No. 2 which includes ALL territory outside the City Limits of Pampa. That's why the manager cannot understand why there have not been more entrants. At least 10 more are needed, and if only one would come in from each outside town and community, it would make a much better representation.

In District No. 1, completion is just starting. Quite a number of those listed in yesterday's paper have already turned in their "First Subscription Coupon," together with a first subscription, and have their subscriber books. Many of them have done nothing but clip the free vote coupons. These had better get busy pretty quick or it will be necessary to remove their names from the list. The first count (See—NEWS CAMPAIGN, Page 5)

STOWAWAY IS FOUND ABOARD GREAT AIR LINER AFTER IT LEAVES COAST LINE OF U. S. A.

Youth Believed to Be Clarence Terhune, Caddy From St. Louis, Who Is Reported Missing

GRAF WIRELESS SAYS WEATHER IS CLEAR AND SPEED 70 MILES

Take-Off Made Early Today After Bad Gales Had Held Airship Prisoner for Days

RYE, N. Y., Oct. 29.—(AP)—Officials of the Rye Country club believe that the youthful stowaway found aboard the homeward bound Zeppelin is Clarence Terhune, 19-year-old caddy, known to his friends at the club as "St. Louis" because he came from the Missouri city.

"I'll be going away any day now," the caddy was telling his friends mysteriously last week, according to Paul Bellusico, one of the club's professional golfers. They thought he meant California until they heard about the stowaway.

"He was just the sort who would do that," said Bellusico. "He left here last Friday with about $50 that he had saved from caddying during the summer."

The youth was described as a blond.

GREAT POINT, Nantucket, Mass., Oct. 29.—(P)—The Graf Zeppelin, greatest ship that ever rode the air, made farewell to the United States which for 14 days has been its host, and headed its nose into the breaking dawn and toward its distant hangar at Friedrichshafen, Germany, at 6:05 o'clock this morning.

After a speedy trip up the coast from the Naval air station at Lakehurst, N. J., the dirigible left land behind as it flew swiftly out over Nantucket Sound nearly midway between Great Point light on this island and Monomoy light on the long spit which juts out from the southeastern tip of Cape Cod.

It was just four hours and eleven minutes from the time it cleared the naval air station. Aboard were three score men including three officers of the United States navy, one woman and a variegated cargo of freight.

After having hugged the coastline since it quit the air station, the Zeppelin struck boldly out to sea, heading southeast. A group of early hunters, who with the lighthouse keepers glimpsed the big ship, estimated it was making close to 80 miles an hour and that it was flying at an altitude of about 1,600 feet.

When midnight came, action followed with breathless swiftness. The passengers were bundled aboard, chatting feverishly and grinning with something of desperation in their smiles.

The ground crew, more than 300 sailors trained to such events by frequent handling of the Los Angeles, marched to their posts and grasped the air monster as unceremoniously as a mother pushes a baby carriage.

Out of the hangar the sailors walked the 778-foot craft as though it were a little blimp such as the two that have huddled under the sail of the Navy dirigible Los Angeles since the Graf Zeppelin came to crowd them into one corner of the hangar.

At 1:30 the Graf Zeppelin was clear of the hangar, and so had passed one of the most perilous moments of any flight. For one of the greatest dangers is the possibility of some errant gust of wind pushing the ship against the hangar walls and ripping its silver flanks against the steel bulkheads.

Out in the night the Zeppelin was a black monster with a fin of silver down its back where the moon struck. It twisted toward the north and moved ponderously, under the sailors' expert guidance, to a hollow far enough from the hangar so that there would be no danger of being blown against the towering steel structure.

"Weigh ship," an officer bellowed. The Graf Zeppelin, a giant waking from a deep sleep, lifted its head slowly as though sniffing the relish of the morning air, and then a roar of five great engines split the night.

The Graf Zeppelin shot upward toward the moon, and circled majestically overhead. Once in the air all its sluggishness seemed to have vanished. In a large circle it swung eastward toward the ocean it must cross to return to its home station.

Texas Company No. 3-C That Is Good Producer

The Texas company added a well to its ever increasing production in Gray county this morning when the Texas company's No. 3-C Hunt 378 fete north and 348 feet west of the southeast corner of section 17 and G. N. block.

Pay was encountered while drilling at 2,752 feet, in a granite was formation. "The well is thought to be good for more than 500 barrels daily."

Amendments on Rocks

Once more it appears that Texas voters will kill perfectly good amendments for no good reasons. We refer to the school amendments; one providing for a state department of education, to take the place of the present ex-officio group headed by the governor, and the other relating to the terms of school officials such as trustees and regents.

Through a lamentable error in the office of the secretary of state, these amendments were linked together on the sample ballot certified to county clerks all over the state. The "for and against" is applicable only to the single sentence which erroneously describes the proposals as one amendment.

There are four amendments, the two relating to schools, the parsonage amendment, and the pension amendment. We are concerned here only with the first two. Gray county is one of those which fell into the same error as the secretary of state—or rather, officials here failed to note the error before the ballots were printed.

Now, some of the ballots have been distributed and absentee voting begins today. Yet the attorney-general's department has given the opinion, in the instance of Dallas county, that the grouping of the amendments on the school proposals is illegal and invalidates both of them.

Dallas county ordered the ballots reprinted in time to be used for absentee voting, even though it cost $600 extra. The Dallas News, in absolving the county clerk of blame, warmly commended the action on the grounds that it is the right of every citizen to be allowed to cast his vote on each state proposition.

Certainly, failure to present the proper ballot robs the voter of his constitutional privilege. In the absence of Charlie Thut, county clerk, it has been decided here that since there is little interest manifest in the amendments, and because ballots already printed are in the hands of election judges for absentee voting, no corrective steps will be taken.

With this action The News has no quarrel, if scores of other counties have made the same mistake, which seems likely. The uncertainty of the whole proposition, originating in Austin, is likely more than sufficient to defeat the amendments. But why has not the state department, noting its error, taken steps to correct it? Local officials have only the word of the press that the printing of the ballots according to the form sent out from Austin is illegal.

though perhaps not decisive factor. The fact remains, however, that poor detail work in Austin is working to the infinite detriment of the state.

While acknowledging the truth of the assumption that interest in amendments is far less than that in office seekers, we deplore action based upon that theory. The fault is in the public—not the method. If the amendments are read, studied, and defeated legally, it simply means that democratic method has shown the failure of the people to see the logic in the proposals. But though interest is low, if errors creep into legal procedure so as to invalidate the whole proposition, democracy has not had a fair chance.

True democracy takes no account of the probable outcome, but her methods are such as to respect the right of the minority. The school teachers of Texas are or should be intensely interested in the school amendments. All who are interested in improved education likewise are parties to the plans of betterment. Who shall say that these minorities—if minorities they be—shall not have the right to express their will at the polls? But errors prevent.

The public has a too flippant attitude toward amendments. It is true that the tendency is to believe all wisdom rested in the writers of our state and national constitutions. But not so. The score of amendments to the national constitution look insignificant compared to the many which were proposed through the years, but in them are bound up principles of democracy and justice such as Colonial statesmen only imperfectly foresaw.

Suffrage to all was not granted originally in this country. Women are just lately political factors. Prohibition is the blessing of an amendment. Then why frown on the amendment as a method of improving our government? The learned jurists and statesmen realize how imperfect are our revered constitutions in the states, and, to bring the matter home, Judge Newton P. Willis is staunchly advocating a constitutional convention in which to remedy the many present day imperfections which have appeared in the Texas constitution.

Indeed, it appears that amendments will get a favorable hearing in no other way, although the pension and parsonage amendments apparently are not, in the present instance, affected by the combination of the school amendments.

Liquor confiscated at Houston has been successfully used as a paint remover. And yet most of those who go out to "paint the town red" think they must have some of that liquor.

From Pole to Pole

Telephone engineers, meeting in Chicago, suggest color schemes such as mauve, cerise and orchid, for telephone poles, to harmonize with the surroundings. In cities where the Volstead law is not so strong, it should be suggested that hooks be placed on them on which a gentleman can hang his clothes. . . . Suggested slogan for telephone companies: "Don't write your sweetheart on perfumed stationery; telephone on the Whoozis Telephone Company's Pink Poles!" . . . Or, it might be, "Peace! Poles for Party Lines." . . . However, what'll the phone companies do with the orange poles on St. Patrick's Day? . . . Somebody ought to propose camouflaged poles for Chicago citizens to hide behind when the artillery starts pouring over a barrage. . . . In Hollywood the poles could be dolled up in a little lace and negligee to indicate they have "it".

TWINKLES

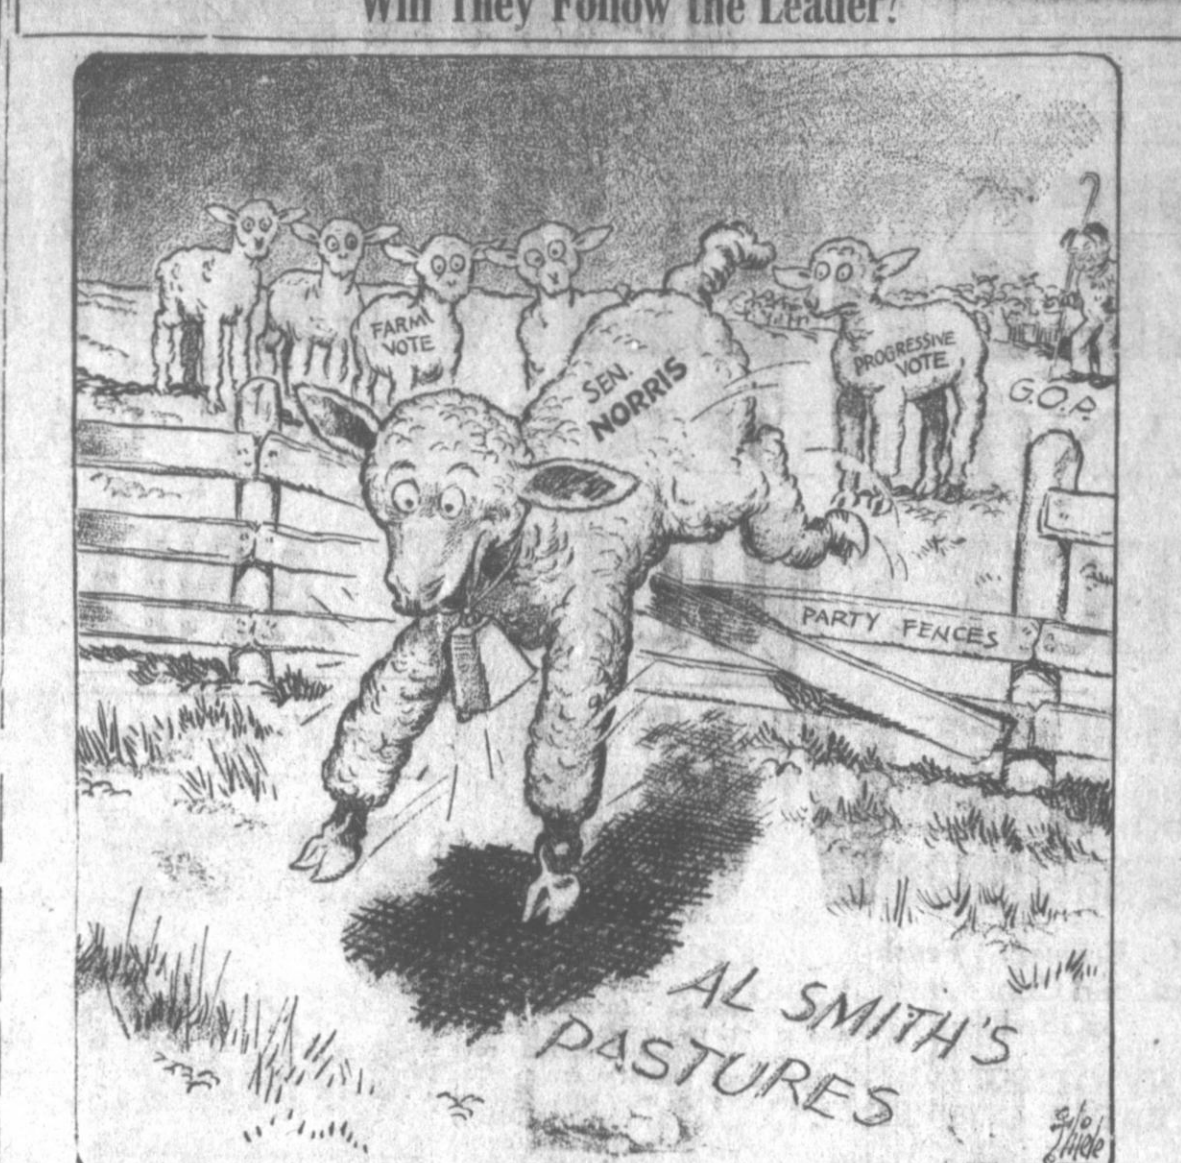

Listen, class: it may be a long, long time before any of you becomes an authority on anything, but remember, on almost any given question it is possible to consult an authority, rather than the man on the street corner. We didn't cause this rain, but, on the other hand, we did not put anything in its way. Italy has executed a criminal for the first time in 71 years. To judge by the names on our court dockets, Uncle Sam has made up for that lack, however. We see where a highbrow professor of political economy spoke on "Muddling Through Presidential Campaign." It looks to us as if the politicians have knocked the "I" out of muddling.

By NEA Service

Scientists find that the earth has speeded up, making its accustomed rotation in less than 24 hours. Probably its only trying to shake off the effects of a few political speeches. A British publisher told an audience in Winnipeg that he found Chicago a nice and orderly city. Sure, you've got to be nice and orderly in Chicago—if you don't, the gangster'll get you. Union men, meeting in Pennsylvania, urged the wearing of hats to help the crippled hat industry, but took no action on a proposal to favor longer skirts to aid the mills. One can't get around to everything. An opera leader says grand opera is gradually being Americanized by the employment of more and more singers born in this country. They may be native born, but it's wonderful the way they disguise it when they get a chance at an aria. One way mother might get daughter to listen when she calls for her to help with the dishes is offered here free—place a large automobile horn under the sink and honk at stated times. Some of our former government officials aren't taking any interest in politics this year. They took the cash and are letting the best go. Winter is almost at hand. Rouge sales are picking up. Cheer up, the election will soon be over and the papers will be printing news again.

100,000 EXTRA VOTES!

FOR EVERY $20 WORTH OF SUBSCRIPTIONS
TURNED IN BEFORE 9:00 P. M.
Saturday, November 17th.
BIGGEST AND BEST OFFER

Pampa Daily News' $5,000 Automobile Prize Campaign "The Winning Opportunity"

In order to assist each and every energetic candidate to get an early start in the great race for the free Automobiles, the campaign manager has decided to present a remarkably liberal offer of extra votes. For each and every $20 worth of subscriptions sent in or mailed before 9 p. m., Saturday, November 17, ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND EXTRA VOTES will be given. These votes are extra, mind you, and are in addition to the regular votes each subscription earns, as per the schedule on the rear cover of receipt books. The extra votes will be issued just as soon as the offer closes, at the rate of 100,000 extra for each $20 in subscriptions turned in. This offer is positively the biggest special vote getting opportunity of the entire campaign. Subscriptions will count MORE in votes between now and November 17, at 9 p. m., than they ever will later. Try to make this offer place you safely within the winning list. Now is the time to get busy. The campaign is just starting, just beginning, just commencing. Start your first $20 club today.

Turn in Your Subscriptions as Fast as You Get Them

It will not be necessary for you to turn in the entire $20 all at one time in order to take advantage of this offer. You may turn in any amount at any time, and when the offer closes, you will receive a SPECIAL VOTING BALLOT like the one shown below, giving the total number of EXTRA VOTES you have earned, also showing the total amount of money you have turned in. The regular votes will be issued as usual. Don't hold your subscriptions—turn them in as fast as you get them, and then the subscribers will receive their papers promptly. ALL SUBSCRIPTIONS TURNED IN THUS FAR COUNT ON THE OFFER.

There Is No Limit to This Great Special Offer

You can get just as many clubs as you like. There is no limit to the number of times you earn the 100,000 bonus. The more subscriptions you turn in, the more extra votes you earn. Just as soon as you have completed one club start right out after another. The votes you can earn on this offer will count heavily when the final tabulation is made by the official judges before they read off names of the automobile winners on Saturday, November 17.

Every $20 wins in new subscriptions, wins in bonus, and pro rata number of extra votes will be issued on all portions of a club after the first has been turned in.

A Ballot Like This:

For every $20 worth of SUBSCRIPTIONS you turn in before 9 p. m., Saturday, November 17.

High Flight

1928 By RUTH DEWEY GROVES AUTHOR OF "WHEN A GIRL LOVES LOVE FOR TWO" etc.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

JERRY HAY decides that love is a delusion and makes up her mind to marry for money. She works in a store and desires herself petty luxuries to save for a vacation at Atlantic City. But she is stunned by the theft of her money the night before her departure. Nothing remains but to go camping with her roommate MYRTLE on the north shore of Long Island.

Their camp is wrecked the first evening when an airplane owned by young ALLESTER GARFIELD crashes into it. The others escape unhurt, but Jerry is picked up unconscious by DAN HARVEY, the pilot. Allester drives Jerry to the doctor who finds her injury is not serious.

On the way back, Allester stops at a tea for dinner and is amused when Jerry refuses a drink. He introduces her to LEONTINE LEBANDY, who invites them to her birthday party. Allester showers attentions upon Jerry and tells her that he loves her. But he does not ask her to marry him, and Jerry is puzzled about his motives and those of Dan Harvey, who had remained aloof although she fancied that he loved her.

The vacation is over and Jerry is packing for the return to the city when Dan comes to say NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XI

DAN was changed. Jerry noticed it at once. His unshakable calm seemed shaken at last. But she saw also that it had not given way to anything approaching Allester's ease of manner. There was a suggestion of mental strain etched in his features; and he looked at her with an expression that reminded Jerry of the first time she saw him—when she opened her eyes after the crash and found her head pillowed in the crook of his strong arm.

"Hello," she said, outwardly casual but aware that his presence had stirred her. "Where have you been?" It was said in a light vein of banter but she waited eagerly for an answer.

"Busy," Dan said disappointingly. "Well, you almost missed me; I was leaving in a little while."

"Yes, I know," Dan said, and Jerry was sure she detected a note of relief in his voice. "I ran over to ask if I could drive you to town."

Jerry was taken by surprise. "Why... why," she stammered; "I'm sitting up at home," Dan broke in brusquely.

Jerry's cleft chin came up a haughty inch.

"I wasn't depending upon him," she said stiltedly; "I'm going in with Miss Crane and her boy friend."

"Why cryed them when there's room in my car?" he countered insistently.

"Oh, were you going in anyway?" Jerry's voice dropped a note. His invitation wasn't so flattering after all.

Dan did not follow her thought, but when he answered Jerry's question was restored.

"No, but I'd be glad if you'd go with me," he said truthfully.

JERRY was thinking it over. Yes, she would crowd Myrtle and George in his small car and they had the suitcase. . . . Three made a crowd, too, and Myrtle and George were awfully spongy. . . .

"George says it's terrible driving in to New York on Sunday nights," she said. She wouldn't let him know too quickly that she was going to accept his offer.

"Will you go with me?" Dan returned directly.

"Yes," Jerry said.

Jerry was not sorry for the decision she reached. The drive into the city in spite of the terrific jams at crossroads and on the Queensboro Bridge, was more pleasant than she had anticipated. Dan seemed to have left his forbidding gruffness behind.

Jerry would have been astonished had she been able to read his mind and to know how happy he was to be taking her away from Allester Carstairs's vicinity.

And still more startling to her would have been the story Dan could have told of the session he had had with Allester, and the promise he had wrung from his employer to "pick on some girl who was out to be picked on."

After this stormy meeting Dan had ceased to make a watchdog of himself. He believed that Allester would not seek Jerry in New York.

WHEN they arrived at Jerry's rooming house Jerry noticed that Dan kept his eyes fixed on the number over the door. Memorizing it probably. He carried her suitcases up the dark stairs, but Jerry did not ask him into her room. It wasn't allowed, yet Jerry did not fret about it for in many ways she was strictly conventional.

They stood a moment outside Jerry's open door after Dan had put down the suitcases just inside the threshold. Jerry put out her hand to say good night. Dan took it, pressed it gently, and Jerry thrilled to the feel of his strong fingers. Allester's hand was soft, she remembered.

"Come out to dinner with me," Dan said suddenly, and Jerry felt that he was reluctant to leave her. It was as though his invitation were a last minute device to postpone saying the inevitable good night.

"Wait in your car until I change my dress," she said, unaware that she was radiantly displaying her innermost feelings in her glowing countenance.

When she came down the outer steps a few minutes later Dan advanced to meet her. With the first compliment he had ever paid her. "I thought you were pretty the first time I saw you," he said; "but tonight it's a pity that Ziegfeld can't see you. There's a million dollars in your smile."

Jerry halted abruptly.

"Oh," she said, and Dan thought he had displeased her. To Jerry his words were a mirror through which she stepped back into the world he had made her forget.

Yes, her smile was to bring her a fortune; she must remember that.

And all through the dinner on a sky-tipping roof garden Jerry tried to keep her mind on her avowed purpose in life.

Thoughts of money caused her to question Dan's prudence in bringing her here to an expensive hotel. He worked for his money just as she did. But of course he must be able to afford a "spread" once in a while. Almost anybody could.

But the girl who married Dan Harvey would probably be just like Doris and her mother and a dozen others she knew, after a few years.

DAN wondered why Jerry's radiance became dimmed. And by the time he took her home he was convinced that, whether she cared for Allester or not, she certainly was not in love with him.

Jerry half expected him to try to kiss her good night. That seemed to be the usual procedure of the boys she'd grown up with. But not so with Dan. He left her without lingering over his departure.

"Well, that's that," she told herself up in her room. Dan had said nothing about wanting to see her again. She did not believe he would try.

Curious how flat the future seemed, even with Allester in a glittering sphere of possibility. Allester! Well, he'd fallen for her even if Dan hadn't. Jerry smiled wistfully. Perhaps she wasn't smart enough for Allester. He admired Leontine.

BUT thoughts of Allester and competition with her thoughts of Dan. The first day back at Fane's Jerry found herself thinking more of the past than of the future. The continuity of her thoughts might have been unbroken had not a necessity of the present thrust itself upon her attention. She must consider what she would wear at Leontine's party. It was only two days distant now—on Friday. And this was Wednesday.

Allester had come to see her on Tuesday night to remind her of the affair. He had again brought up the subject of an evening gown for her. Jerry detoured. She had heard her brother say once that men didn't respect girls they could buy clothes for. Allester had to respect her. Jerry told herself fiercely.

"I'm getting a new dress," she told him proudly and even looked him straight in the eye.

Altogether it had been a bad day for her, but by night she had thought of a solution that was so simple she wondered why it hadn't occurred to her before. She had wait until Myrtle came in from the movies, though, before she could be sure she wasn't taking anything for granted.

"Listen, Myrtle," she cried excitedly as soon as her roommates opened the door. "I want to borrow some of that money Allester gave you. If I don't have a decent dress for Miss Lebandy's party I can't go. I'll pay it back a little each week like I saved that money for Atlantic City!"

She looked expectantly at her friend. And Myrtle's face slowly took on an expression that killed her hopes.

EYES OF FOOTBALL DOPESTERS ON S. I. M. U. --- TEXAS TILT

Ponies Favored to Defeat Longhorns Next Saturday

DALLAS, Oct. 29.—(P)—Eyes of football fandom will be focused this week on the training camp of the Texas Longhorns at Austin, where Coach Clyde Littlefield is trying to correlate an array of superb football material into a smooth working projectile capable of halting the galloping Ponies of Southern Methodist University in Saturday's conference classic at Memorial stadium.

Littlefield's chances of success will occupy columns of newspaper space this week. It is the first chance this year the experts have had readily to get steamed up about a conference clash. It might very well be the last.

Barring the unforeseen, the winner of Saturday's battle at Austin should romp on through to the league title. There still are the Baylor Bears and Texas Christian Horned Frogs to be reckoned with, but critics are inclined to rate either team on a par with the mighty elevens that tie up at Austin.

While neither the Mustangs nor Longhorns have yet encountered a setback in their dealings with other members of the circuit, comparative scoring in recent contests accord the Methodists an edge in their meeting. At a sharp example, the Steers had a tough time licking the Rice Owls Saturday at Houston, 13 to 7, whereas a week previous coach Morrison's flashy team smothered the Owls 53 to 13.

Where the Mustangs have played smart, championship football from their first game, displaying a bewildering offense and a fairish defense against all opposition, the Longhorns have appeared to lack that vital spark even in winning. They reached their peak thus far in their one-point loss to the Vanderbilt Commodores.

The Mustangs are expected to place much of their faith in the twinkling legs of Redman Hume, the "Gallop King," and the bullet passes of Sammy Reed. When Reed isn't passing Hume will be tossing the leather. Morrison has equipped his team with a dozen new plays to spring on the Steers.

Texas, on the other hand, is expected to employ the power in its line and backfield in a bruising, steady assault in the somewhat flexible S. I. M. U. line. Unless Rufus King, Dexter Shelley, Frank Baldwin, Eddie Beular and the other Longhorn ball jugglers can beat their way through, the Austin eleven will have to turn to the air where it probably would be at a disadvantage against the Mustang overhead experts. The Ponies looked like the berries in their 60 to 7 victory over Trinity university Saturday.

If it were not for the conflict at Austin, the tilt between the Baylor Bruins and T. C. U. Horned Frogs at Fort Worth would suffice to set the bugs excited. As a result of their 46 to 7 win over St. Edwards' university Saints Saturday Golden Bears command renewed respect. They are given an excellent chance of kicking the undefeated Frogs down the ladder. The Frogs chalked up their sixth straight over the Texas Tech Matadors 28 to 6. Captain Walker of the West Texans crossed the Christians' goal line for the first time this season with a sprint from midfield.

A third conference tilt for the week is scheduled at Shreveport, where the Arkansas Porkers engage Louisiana State. While the Louisianans are not in the Southwest conference, their annual game with the Porkers is allowed to count in the standing of the Schmidmen.

The Razorbacks increased their conference rating to two victories and one loss, by downing the Texas Aggies, 37 to 13, Saturday at Fayetteville. The last apparently appears the last hope of the Farmers to repeat for the conference flag.

This week Coach Bible's team meet the North Texas Teachers from Denton at College Station and should not be pushed to win. The Blue Owls, who rattled their feathers and gave the Longhorns such a fit encounter in the southwestern university Pirates at Houston.

"TUFFY" MATCHED AGAIN
CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—(P)—Jerry "Tuffy" Griffiths, Sioux City, Iowa, light heavyweight sensation, will go gunning for his fiftieth consecutive victory tonight when he tangles with Harry Dillon, former Canadian champion in the principal 16-round match at White City.

"SHARKS" CAUSE TROUBLE
LOCKHART, Oct. 29.—(P)—Pool "sharks" who led less skillful players into games and then won their money are responsible for the indictment of five proprietors of pool halls here. Injunctions seeking to close the places have been requested.

TWO DIE IN ACCIDENT
AUSTIN, Oct. 29.—(P)—Mrs. A. S. Fountain, 70, and Newman Calson, 17, of Hempstead were killed last night and three other persons injured when an automobile and a motor truck collided near Giddings, Texas.

NEWS CAMPAIGN

of votes will be made Wednesday or Thursday. The contest department does not want action held back by the listing of a lot of names of nominees who never intend to do anything for themselves.

The more active contestants there are in the campaign in both districts, the easier it will be to win because voting is split up more. It's just like the race for sheriff, or anything else. If there are 5,000 votes in Gray county to get, and there are 50 candidates, it would take only 101 votes to elect, but if there were only two candidates it would take 2501 votes to elect. So it is in the contest—the more there are getting votes the less any individual will have to have to win. Did you ever look at it that way?

Yesterday's paper also contained full details of the big 100,000 extra vote offer, and the page describing it is being printed again today. Briefly every $20 worth of subscriptions turned in before 9 p. m. Saturday, November 17, counts as 100,000 extra bonus votes, over and above all regular votes. This is the biggest offer. It will not be duplicated nor will it be repeated.

There is a "Nomination Blank" somewhere in today's paper. New entrants will find today an acceptable time to enter the race. There is plenty of time—voting is just starting. Others will be entering the contest all this week—how about YOU?

The list of nominees, with several additions and withdrawals follows below. Watch for the first vote count.

Texas Members' of Congress to Add to Oratory

DALLAS, Oct. 29.—(P)—With all of her congressmen, who have been speaking in other states returning to home stumps for the final week of the campaign, Texas is due this week for the greatest overflow of political oratory she probably has ever known. Congressman Tom Connally of Marlin, and Congressman Hatton W. Summers are two of the crusaders who will return to wind up the campaign at home. Texasana is planning a mammoth four-states' celebration for Senator Morris Sheppard who will speak there Nov. 5, and other sections of the state are promised equally aggressive conclusions to the campaign.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Renshaw visited friends in McLean yesterday.

Beer Gang Chief Shot by Detective

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—(P)—A gun due had left one of Chicago's two leading beer gangs without its chief lieutenant today.

Otto Kosteneck, known also as Geo. Darrow, reputed machine gunner and "trotter" man for "the Joe Sallis mob," was dead, the result of a saloon skirmish with Detective Thomas Curtin.

Darrow, at whose door police laid six shells, was brandishing a shotgun at a bartender and patrons in John Corcoran's saloon when Curtin entered. "I'll kill you," Darrow shouted. Three shells from the detective's pistol sent Darrow to the floor, but not before he had sent four shots in Curtin's direction.

Youngsters Celebrate Halloween in Masquerade Parties Saturday

Saturday was an important day in the social calendars of the youngsters of the city. Halloween festivities were begun and at least three masquerade parties were given in the evening.

MRS. JOE M. SMITH ENTERTAINS CLASS

Mrs. Joe M. Smith entertained the members of her Sunday school class and their friends. The house was lighted with jack-o-lanterns and candles, and a color scheme of black and orange was used in the decorations.

SPOOKY PARTY GIVEN AT BUCKLER HOME

Mrs. C. P. Buckler gave a party for thirty friends of her daughter, Marjorie. The basement, through which the guests entered the house, was dimly lighted and filled with mysterious noises.

CHARLES BRYSON IS HOST TO 3 FRIENDS

Stunts and games and the thrilling business of exchanging favorite ghost stories furnished entertainment for the nine boys who were guests of Charles Bryson.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamlett Entertain at Bridge Saturday Evening

An enjoyable week-end event was a bridge party given Saturday evening by Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Hamlett. Elaborate Halloween decorations made a pretty setting for the occasion.

Social Calendar

Monday

The executive board of the A. A. U. W. and College club will not meet tonight, as was previously announced. The Study Club of the A. A. U. W. and College club meets at 3 o'clock in the parlors of the Methodist church.

Tuesday

The Wayside club will meet at 2:30 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Wm. Jackson. The Young Women's Auxiliary of the Baptist church will be organized at a social meeting in the home of Mrs. John McKamy.

Wednesday

The Baptist W. M. U. will have a Halloween party at the home of Mrs. John McKamy. All members are invited to attend in masquerade. The party begins at 2 o'clock.

The Ladies Aid Society of the First Christian church will hold an all-day meeting at the church. The day will be spent in making quilts. Members will bring lunches.

The MAYTAG Changed My Idea of Washday Servants. "I never thought of having a washing done in my own home until I found out how easy and satisfying it is to let the Maytag do it." Thousands of women have thus expressed their admiration for the Maytag. Over a million homes now enjoy the Maytag wash-hour, enjoy the satisfaction of clothes washed at home in a clean, careful and sanitary manner. The Maytag's unquestioned supremacy among washers is due to many outstanding features, originated by The Maytag Company—the world's largest manufacturers of washers. The one-piece, cast-aluminum tub which keeps the water hot for an entire washing; the Gyrofoam action which makes water do the washing; the Maytag Roller Water Remover which has a flexible top roll and a hard bottom roll. PHONE: For a Free Home Washing. Let the Maytag do your next washing in your own home, and you will know that it is clean and sanitary. Telephone for a Maytag before next washday.
