Church Women Praised For Good Work in Drive

That Pampa's Red Cross roll call is apparently a success was indicated in a report by Chairman Scott Barcus last night. Workers from the various churches of the city have enlisted more than 500 memberships and with only partial returns from the oil field industries committee received Pampa's goal of 600 memberships should be easily reached.

The ladies of the various churches have responded nobly to the call. Chairman Barcus said last night: "I am indeed proud of the women who gave their time in the cold to help put this work over; also, to Alex Schneider Jr., chairman of the oil field industries committee, who has worked unceasingly, goes much of the credit for the success of the drive."

The roll call drive opened Thursday and lasted until last night. Pampa's quota of membership was raised from 500 to 600 this year. Scott Barcus was appointed chairman of the drive and Mrs. Joe M. Smith chairman of the women workers.

"I believe that those who have taken an individual membership in the Red Cross have derived a great personal satisfaction," Mrs. Smith, chairman of the women's committee said. "The response was wonderful and citizens of Pampa are to be congratulated on their support of that movement."

Thanksgiving day is the last day to enroll and Chairman Barcus urges those who have not already subscribed to do so before that date.

Women taking part in the drive include:

A call will then be made for the donation of books, and some of the best and latest volumes will be ordered from the outstanding book concerns of the county.

A series of concerts, plays and other entertainments are being arranged for after the opening of the new year to raise funds for the library. A Car Winner?

The future home of one of the big automobiles in the Daily News subscription contest is going to be in White Deer, according to friends of Mrs. F. M. Higgins, who represents that thriving community in the auto race. And, incidentally, nearly everybody in White Deer is going to be a regular reader of the News before long. That town knows how to support a candidate!

"I certainly do appreciate the way the home town folks are boosting me along," Mrs. Higgins said, "and I want them to know that I am going to do my best to bring home one of the cars."

Mrs. Higgins has not been able to accomplish as much as she has desired recently on account of bad roads which have held back all contestants, but she plans to make up for all lost time during the coming week.

The others in District No. 2 had best get a move on if they expect to keep up with her.

PRODUCTION IS OFF GREATLY IN HUTCHINSON

Cold Weather Sends Figure Down 1,885 Barrels

GRAY ALSO IS HIT BY COLD

Rain and Snow in Panhandle Delay Activities

Cold weather caused Panhandle production to take another slide this week. With Hutchinson county leading the way, the daily production dropped 2,275 barrels, Hutchinson county's decrease was altogether due to the cold weather. The heavy oil found in that county is easily affected by weather conditions.

With Moore county announcing the bringing in of a new well production, that county jumped 210 barrels over the drop recorded in the old Skelley well. Carson county also increased a few barrels as did Wheeler county.

Gray county was affected by the cold to the tune of 675 barrels. No new wells were reported but the United Eight Oil company's No. 1 E. Bass Clay in section 177 block B-2, topped up and sprayed heavily until shut in for storage. The well will be drilled in soon officials announced yesterday.

Heavy rains kept oil activity almost to a shut down last week, but with clear weather in the coming week several tests should be finished in Gray county.

Production by counties: Carson—6,045 barrels, a gain of 95 barrels. Gray—25,525 barrels, a loss of 675 barrels. Hutchinson—24,150 barrels, a loss of 1,885 barrels. Moore—2,850 barrels, a gain of 210 barrels.

Pater—30 barrels, a gain of 15 barrels. Wheeler—70 barrels, a loss of 35 barrels. Total—63,380 barrels, a loss of 2,275 barrels.

AVIATION HOLDS INTEREST HERE

Training School Attended by Fifteen Last Thursday

Boyd Kennedy, pilot and instructor for the Ray Shifflett aviation training school of Mangum, Okla., arrived here Thursday afternoon in an American Eagle biplane to give the first instructions to students who have signed to take a course in aviation here. Just at dusk Ray Shifflett, accompanied by Paul Powell, stunt artist, arrived at the local landing field in a whirlwind-driven American Eagle plane from Dallas.

The trip was made in three and one-half hours against a headwind. A school of instruction was held at the Schneider hotel Thursday evening with 15 present. Local enthusiasts are taking a keen interest in aviation and plan to put over a big program here. One of Mr. Shifflett's instructors will be here three or four days each week giving instructions.

Plans are under way to mark the landing field and level certain ridges across the field so that large planes can land. A triple-motored Ford passenger monoplane circled the city three times Thursday morning but apparently the pilot believed the local field too small or rough to land on. The huge plane, capable of carrying 18 passengers, then turned west following the Santa Fe towards Amarillo.

THANKSGIVING NO RITUAL, SAYS MOODY

AUSTIN, Nov. 24. (P)—There are no other celebrations like Thanksgiving in that it "memorializes no hero, celebrates no military battle or political revolution, and honors no special church ritual," Gov. Moody said today in his proclamation designating Thursday as Thanksgiving Day.

"It is not an occasion especially to give thanks for this great confederacy of states which exist without military or economic frontier and without barriers of language," he said. "It is the timely opportunity for a strong and powerful people to acknowledge that they are greatly indebted to a merciful Father."

LARGE DALLAS BANKS TO BE MERGED SOON

DALLAS, Nov. 24. (P)—Consolidation of the Mercantile National bank and the Mercantile Trust & Savings bank into the Mercantile Bank & Trust Company of Texas will be effected within 60 days, R. L. Thornton, president of the two institutions, announced today.

When the merger is completed the Mercantile bank will be the largest institution of its type in the southwest, President Thornton said. Total capital, surplus and undivided profits of the new institution will be $2,640,300. It will have deposits of approximately $15,000,000.

New Building Permits Raise Year's Figure

This week's building permits issued at the city hall amounted to $24,500, and raised the year's total to more than $1,125,000. Heading the list was a $16,500 residence to be erected in the Cook-Adams addition for H. E. Saunders. W. E. Davis, local contractor has been awarded the contract to erect what will be one of the largest and most beautiful residences in the city. It will be a brick home.

Dewey Priest is having a $3,000 residence built in the Priest addition. W. McCray has been given the contract, Mrs. Lena Schneider has let a contract to Frank Thomas to build a $3,000 home in the Crow addition.

The other permits issued are for $1,000 buildings.

Delayed Paving Is Started Saturday

With the forms being laid for curb and gutter, Pampa's third paving program got under way yesterday for the first time in more than a week. The curb and gutter gang began work yesterday on Russell street after the course grade had been completed. Rain has kept the work back after being started two weeks ago. Gangs are at work putting in bridges on West Foster avenue and East Francis street. It is probable that Foster avenue will be the next to be graded for paving.

There are to be 27 blocks paved with vibrolithic concrete, five and one-half and six and one-half inches thick. The Stuevey Construction company was awarded the contract two months ago but could not begin work until two weeks ago because of the legal details.

Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Renshaw are visiting friends in McLean today.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morse left this week to live in Portland, Ore.

SEARCH WILL BEGIN SUNDAY MORNING AT 5

Flier Seen to Turn Back to Mexico at Dusk

ENGINE WAS GIVING TROUBLE

Equipment Assembled for Expedition at Brownsville

BROWNSVILLE, Nov. 25. (P)—Three airplanes will take off here at 5 a. m., today to search for a plane believed to have come down last night about 14 miles south of Matamoras, Mex. The searchers fear that the machine was that of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, who left Tampico, Mex., yesterday to fly back to the United States.

The scouting ships will be piloted by Major B. Law of the Tex-Mex Fisheries E. A. Anding of the International Air ways and Frank Bogier of Brownsville. Charles Quinn, Quincy, Ill., pilot also will go along, as will Harry Sexton of the Brownsville Haerli.

They will fly over the rough country south of Brownsville—around Matamoras and Sota La Marina, about half way from Brownsville to Tampico.

The plane used by Capt. Ralph Stone pilot for the Texas-Mex Fisheries, has said he had instructed Capt. Stone lights for night flying but Major Law who was in Sota La Marina today, to remain there until tomorrow. All ships at Fort Brown were checked last night and found in their hangars.

The decision to start the search was caused by the report of the Fort Brown Meteorological Station which at 10:30 p. m. last night sighted a plane, lighted and observed its progress for about six miles. The machine then appeared to develop motor trouble, the radio said, and made a half turn, heading back toward Mexico. It then was lost to view.

Messengers were dispatched to Matamoras late last night with the request that a troop of Mexican cavalry be started from there at daylight to beat through the heavy brush. The thought that a start before dawn would not be pography is so forbidding, it was said, feasible.

BROWNSVILLE, Nov. 24. (P)—The Fort Brown meteorological station tonight reported sighting at 10:30 p. m., a plane which those in the station believed might have been that of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, who left Tampico, Mexico, today to return to the United States.

The station men said they watched the plane, which was carrying lights, progress about six miles and that it suddenly seemed to develop engine trouble, made a "half turn," heading back toward Mexico, and then was lost to sight.

Prize Winners

Winners of the two special cash prizes for securing the greatest number of points on the Daily News offer which closed at 9 o'clock last night are:

- T. G. Nabers, District No. 1. Mrs. L. R. Taylor, District No. 2.

The result was very close, and required several counter checks before the Campaign Manager himself was satisfied of the winners.

This week the leader in each district will receive $50 in cash. Full details of the new offer starting tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock and ending next Saturday night at 8 o'clock, are included in a page advertisement elsewhere in today's paper. New entrants are eligible to enter and compete for the $50.

The Code Of a Gentleman

By REV. JOSEPH A. VANCE

(Pastor, First Presbyterian Church, Detroit, Mich.)

"Perhaps a real gentleman," as Thackeray said years ago, "is a rarer man than some of us think for." The best breed of gentlemen has come from those who identify honor with morality, and whose conduct is dominated by their religion. It was a man of this type who embodied the code in one of the finest paragraphs in existence, the fifteenth Psalm.

This famous paragraph was written by a man trying to picture a gentleman from God's point of view; and thereby he wrote a code for both "the man with a hoe" and the "man on horseback", for the child of the palace and the founding from the slums.

"Who shall be admitted to residence with the Lord", he asked; and who is fit to "dwell in his holy place"? Who is a gentleman in the esteem of God?

Here is his answer: His moral code rules his daily conduct. "He walks uprightly, and works righteousness."

He is a man of truth who says what he means, and means what he says. "He speaks the truth in his heart." He will not lie.

He is a good neighbor to live with. He does not throw mud nor circulate slander. Your name is safe in his hand. He does not "backbite", nor "do evil to his neighbor." He radiates decency, and always lines up on the side of right. A vile person is condemned in his eyes, "but he honoreth them that fear the Lord."

He gives his word for "keeps", and does not grow "yellow" in the hour of adversity. "He swears to his own heart and changes not."

He puts people above money, courtesy above cash, kindness above gain and cannot be bought to side with wrong. He does not practice usury, and will not be bribed "against the innocent."

Surely it is not a bad code. Can we find anywhere better human pollen to cross-breed into the flowering character of our day?

When Pupil Bested Master

An old, old story was repeated recently when Boston College defeated Fordham. It was the familiar yarn—Pupil Conquers Master! Joe McKenny, Boston's coach, who is the youngest in the country, once played for Major Frank Cavanaugh at Boston. Cavanaugh is the man with the iron hat, a weapon which its owner thinks is effective against finches, but it didn't work against McKenny's team.

ing south when shot by Mr. Calhoun, who believed it to be a duck.

Paul G. Redington, chief of the department, said in his letter that by means of the numbered bands important investigations relative to the migrations and other facts in the life histories of North American birds are being advanced. He thanked the local man for his information.

The cormorant is a gluttonous bird and a devourer of fish. It has a long bill, long body and short legs. It is dark in color, with a few white spots above the legs and under the beak.

Raisin Sauce

Three-fourths cup light brown sugar, one-third cup water, 1 cup seedless raisins, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 teaspoon cornstarch, juice 1 lemon, one-half teaspoon salt, 1 glass currant or grape jelly, one-fourth teaspoon ground cloves.

Put sugar and water in a sauce pan and bring slowly to the boiling point, stirring until the sugar is dissolved. Add butter, raisins, jelly and salt, pepper and cloves. Stir cornstarch to a smooth paste with a little cold water and add to mixture when the boiling point is reached, stirring constantly. Cook ten minutes and remove from the fire. Stir in lemon juice and serve. Only enough cornstarch is used as thickening to prevent thinness.

TAXIING AROUND THE AIRPORTS

The new municipal airport at Connellyville, Pa., located in the heart of the mountainous district of western Pennsylvania, now is in operation and was dedicated with special ceremonies November 10. The new airport is expected to be of considerable importance because areas adaptable to the landing of aircraft are few and far between in this section of the country.

Colorado Springs has completed the installation of modern night fighting equipment at its municipal airport, which is a stop on the Pueblo-Cheyenne air mail route. The airport is a mile square and more than a mile above sea level.

The Martin Flying Field at North Attleboro, Mass., operated by the Curtiss Aviation Service, Inc., has been officially dedicated. The field, which is one and one-half miles southwest of Attleboro, is well marked and provides complete facilities for aircraft.

Tuscaloosa, Ala., officials are considering the enlargement of their recently acquired municipal airport in anticipation of the designation of Tuscaloosa as an air mail stop. If preliminary plans are carried out the airport will be developed into one of the largest and best equipped in the south.

Department of commerce airport specialists are investigating several requests made by cities to determine the advisability of two or three cities, situated close together, building a joint airport. Each case has presented problems peculiar to itself, so that it is impossible for the Department to advise the cities on the basis of any general rule.

With the designation of certain airports as ports of entry by the customs service, international air passengers may soon be examined by custom officials at the airport rather than experiencing delay at the border. Under the new plan officials will be permanently stationed at the airports designated by the Customs Service to examine passengers and cargoes arriving at that port by air from beyond the territorial limits of the United States.

Preparing to adopt a standard system of air marking high buildings and air ports along the nation's airway network, the department of commerce has illuminated the air marking signs on the top of its building in Washington preparatory to a series of night tests under service conditions to determine the proper method of illuminating such markings for night visibility.

Trojans at Crest of California Totals

COLISEUM, LOS ANGELES, Nov. 24. (P)—Southern California's football trojans rode into a Pacific Coast conference championship today with a crushing 28 to 7 victory over the bulky vandals of Idaho.

Undefeated and tied but once in five conference games, the Trojans, with the aid of the 13 to 13 tie between Stanford and California at Berkeley, tonight were at the top of the percentage column. They were challenged only by the Golden Bears who, however, had two deadlocks on their slate.

Bird Marked in Canada Is Killed By Local Man

In information received from the United States department of agriculture, bureau of biological survey, at Washington, D. C., yesterday, Dave Calhoun, in charge of the butcher shop in the Coffee Grocery and Meat market, has learned that a bird he shot near here last week was a double-crested cormorant. The bird was branded with an aluminum band marked with the number 303,789.

The department informed Mr. Calhoun that the bird had been banded by Bert Lloyd at Davidson, Sask., July 21, 1928. The cormorant was migrating south.

Announcing -

The Outstanding Chevrolet of Chevrolet History

- a Six in the price range of the four!

The Chevrolet Motor Company announces the Outstanding Chevrolet of Chevrolet History... a Six in the price range of the four!

Spectacular as Chevrolet's achievements have been in the past... notable as its engineering triumphs have proved themselves to be—the remarkable new car dwarfs every previous Chevrolet accomplishment. Not only does it introduce into the low-priced field an entirely new measure of performance, comfort, beauty and style—but it is sold at prices so low as to alter every previous conception of motor car value.

The new six-cylinder valve-in-head engine—developed from more than a hundred motors designed especially for this sensational car—stands out as an engineering masterpiece. With a power increase of approximately 32% over the previous Chevrolet motor, with sensationally greater speed and faster acceleration—it offers a type of performance that is literally astounding... even to those who have been driving cars costing hundreds of dollars more.

Throughout the entire speed range, it performs with a smoothness and quietness of operation that have never before been approached in a low-priced automobile. At the slower speeds of city traffic it idles along with wonderful silence and ease. On boulevards and country roads it responds with an eagerness that is a constant delight. It takes the longest and steepest hills with an abundant reserve of power that is a source of pride to the driver. And its economy of operation averages better than 20 miles to the gallon of gasoline!

This revolutionary performance has been achieved as a result of the greatest array of engineering advancements that Chevrolet has ever announced. A high compression, non-detonating cylinder head... a new heavier crankshaft, statically and dynamically balanced... automatic lubrication of the entire rocker arm mechanism... semi-automatic spark control... hot-spot manifold... gasoline pump and filter... new and larger carburetor, with automatic acceleration pump and improved venturi choke... fabric camshaft gear... heavier driving gears... heavier differential gears... improved crankcase breathing system... improved lubrication... new 4-wheel brakes that are powerful, safe and quiet under all conditions—these indicate the importance of a group of engineering advancements that embrace every major unit of the entire chassis.

In appearance, this Outstanding Chevrolet is destined to become an automotive sensation—so smart, so stylish and so distinctively appointed that it rivals the costliest custom creations. The new Fisher bodies are longer, lower and roomier with adjustable driver's seat in all closed models—and reveal the matchless artistry of Fisher designers.

With their modish new colors, their smart dual mouldings and their distinctive concave pillars, they achieve a degree of original beauty that has seldom been equalled in motor car design.

You are cordially invited to visit our showroom and secure complete and detailed information on this sensational new car which will be ready for delivery beginning January 1st.

Canary Sandwich Shop, Clever in its Appointments, Open

The Canary sandwich shop, on West Foster avenue, Pampa's newest business establishment, was opened to the public last evening. There was a large crowd of pleased patrons for the first dinner served by the shop and the proprietors, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Allison, were gratified at the expressions of appreciation they received during the evening. Red carnations were given as favors to the women and cigars were given the men on the opening night.

The new store takes its name from three canary singers, Larry, Micky and Toke, which came here from Denver with Mr. and Mrs. Allison. These important little birds not only provide a name for the shop but a color scheme as well, for the tables and chairs and the woodwork are painted a bright canary yellow, with touches of red for contrast. The walls are paneled in blue and buff plaster. Striped awnings on the back wall give a further note of individuality.

The Canary sandwich shop has a lunch counter, a soda fountain and three breakfast nooks, as well as several tables. Sandwiches, hot drinks and dishes, ice creams and cold drinks may be bought there at any time, and in the evening, plate dinners will be served.

CONTEST—

and extra votes with the same subscriptions.

Announcement of the new offer is expected to create considerable excitement among the contestants, and the rush to gather subscriptions during the coming week will know no bounds. Every candidate expects to be on the job with subscription books and pencils, and several are planning on making extra clean-ups. Now that they know about the extra cash it is expected that their effort will re-double.

New contestants can enter this week and compete on an equal basis with all the others for the cash prizes. Wouldn't it be funny if some absolutely new entrant should jump in this week and by working hard take down one of the 500 prizes.

From the effort put forth and results obtained by a few contestants last week on the 90,000 offer, it would seem that they did not care whether a dozen or more new entrants came in and took down all the good things. Several who were in car-winning positions when the 100,000 offer closed a week ago, failed miserably during the 90,000 offer, and the special extra cash is their opportunity to recoup their losses.

The complainant was Orrin S. Stevens of Boston, who asked $50,000 for the death of his wife, a Vestris victim, and $2,000 for loss of his baggage. He alleged in his complaint that the Vestris was unseaworthy, that she was improperly loaded so as to cause a list, that she was incompetently manned and that she was not supplied with proper life-saving equipment.

Stevens makes his home in Buenos Aires where he manages a branch of the First National bank of Boston. He announced yesterday a plan for organizing the rescued passengers into a committee for joint legal action.

Home of Lee Must Be Bought in Near Future

HOUSTON, Texas, Nov. 24. (P)—After a warning that the home of Robert E. Lee may never again be available for purchase if action is not taken immediately, the United Daughters of the Confederacy, in their closing session here Saturday night voted to appoint a committee to investigate the purchase before final action is taken.

Many of the delegates were disappointed at the decision and expressed the fear that the shrine of the confederacy at Stratford on the Potomac forever will be lost to those who had expressed a desire to make it a monument to perpetuate the memory of the great southern leader.

The convention voted to authorize Mrs. W. C. N. Merchant, president general of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, to name a committee to investigate the purchase and submit a report to the executive committee before March 1.

Mrs. Charles Lanier, daughter-in-law of the southland's beloved poet, Sidney Lanier, warned the convention that delay at this time may mean loss forever of the opportunity to purchase the Lee home.

The property now may be obtained for about $200,000. By the time the committee makes its report, she pointed out, the old homestead may not be on the market at any price and if it is the amount asked will be prohibitive.

It was pointed out that the decision to defer action on the purchase came about through by laws of the organization which provide that negotiations involving more than $10,000 must be submitted to the district organizations for approval. The Lee purchase, it was pointed out, involving hundreds of thousands of dollars, could not be passed on at the convention.

Every precaution apparently had been taken by the officers to prevent any possible attempt by friends of the accused slayer to take him from their hands.

Illinois Prof Says Iowa Won Big Ten Title

"Iowa won over Illinois because Iowa played a hard schedule while Illinois unintentionally profited by easy opponents," Professor Dickinson said, Iowa met all of the first division teams except Illinois, whereas Illinois played only the lowest ranking team in the first division, Ohio.

Professor Dickinson rated the teams as follows: Iowa 21; Illinois 20; Wisconsin 20; Minnesota 19; Ohio 18; Michigan 18 (lost to Ohio); Northwestern 16; Purdue 16 (lost to Northwestern); Indiana 14; Chicago 10.

"Iowa played three first division games and won two of them, whereas Illinois played only one such game and won it," Dickinson said.

Amarillo Methodist College Is Revived as Proposed Goal

LUBBOCK, Nov. 24. (P)—Efforts to resurrect the tabbed proposal to establish a Methodist university at Amarillo were seen in a report adopted at today's session of the Northwest Texas Methodist conference.

A report from the board of education provided for resumption of negotiations with Amarillo interests, appointment of Dr. George S. Slover, former president of Clarendon college, as president of the proposed institution and authorization of a special session of the annual conference in case of necessity.

The report commended Mayor Lee Bivins and associates of Amarillo for their efforts to bring up their part in the contract with the conference, but in view of the uncertainty the proposed endowment for such an institution was deferred until the conference meets its $500,000 endowment pledge to McClary college. A board of trustees was elected for the proposed Amarillo institution. Busy sessions marked the closing business day of the conference and details were passed in rapid order. Featuring tomorrow's sessions will be the love feast, the memorial service, and the reading of appointments for another year.

CHURCHES

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
 Sunday school, 9:45.
 Sermon, 11:00.
 Training service, 6:33.
 Sermon, 7:30.
 Morning subject, "The Friend of Caesar." This sermon will deal with that crowd that thinks more of Caesar than they do of Christ, and their church, and we believe that we have several in Pampa that are Caesar's friends.
 Evening subject, "Wanted: A Star, or the Straddler." This text is part of one of the most majestic and dramatic scenes of the Old Testament. One day an unexpected visitor appeared at the court of Ahab. He was as unwelcome as he was unexpected, for he rebuked the king and told him the coming years except at his word.
 The trouble with Israel is sin. The trouble with the world today is sin, and we are going to speak kind, and out of a heart of love, but we believe the time has come when we should speak right out against sin. Many questions will be asked, and answered. We have worked with many Christians through the past several years, but we have never worked with a better, more loyal, God-loving, fearing people than we find in this city, then on the other hand, we have never lived in a city where there were more long-tongues than we find on the streets of this city.
 Come to the First Baptist church Sunday, and get these facts first-hand, and have something for your worth while.
 D. H. TRUHITE, Pastor.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH
 On account of a change having been made in the finishing material of the interior of the new educational building, services will be continued in the old building for another two weeks.
 A cordial invitation is extended to all strangers and visitors in the city, as well as to those not members of the other churches.
 Special musical features of the day will be anthems at both services for the choir and a violin choir, composed of Miss Lora Harrell and pupils, will play the communion meditation and offertory at the morning service. The minister will be in his pulpit at both services, 10:45 a. m. and 7 p. m., with two interesting and instructive Biblical discourses. These young people's meetings begin at 6 o'clock.
 A hearty welcome awaits you.

Stars of Other Days to Shine in Today's Game

The Shamrock All-Stars will come to Pampa this afternoon undefeated, but the local All-Star squad hopes to send them back to the Irish-named town with one loss chalked up against them. Fans will see many ex-college football stars in action when the two teams clash at 3 o'clock at Fair park.
 This will be the local team's first game this season but the men have been training hard for the last three weeks and are in good condition. More than 25 men were out for practice last week and all will have a chance to show their wares in this afternoon's encounter.
 Among the local squad are several ex-college stars and high school football men. Local faces will include Carl Stone, Converse, Wilson, Perry and others. Ex-college players will include Zollers of Michigan, Walker of Missouri, Robinson of Kansas, Hicks of Baylor, Studer of Vanderbilt, Morrison of Texas, Thompson of the Army, Chief Herndon of Tulsa and many others.
 The Irishmen also are well equipped with college stars. The team held the fast Childrens team to a 0 to 0 tie last week. The Childrens eleven then took a 19-to-0 win from the Clarendon college eleven.
 Substitutes: H. Walker, Dwight, Hudson, Erhardt, McNamara, Cahill, Converse, Perry, Beck, Thomas, Davis, Mills, Rose, Hicks, Studer, Morrison, Wilson and Garner.

 The following are statements made about the picture "King of Kings," which is coming to the Crescent in the near future.

 "Kings of Kings" will atone for much that has been degrading the theatres lately and inspire many a dramatist to endeavor to make the stage once more an uplifting influence."
 Robert H. Robinson, past grand master, free and accepted Mason state of New York: "The Kings of Kings" is wonderful, thrilling, soul-stirring and inspiring, and all together a stupendous production."
 Dr. Clinton Winder of the Baptist Temple, Rochester, N. Y.: "I was delighted with the spirit of reverence and the clever handling of the plot, the absence of such propaganda and the power of the entire picture."

Collecting Taxes

The annual report of State Treasurer W. Gregory Hatcher is followed by an address by Governor Dan Moody which is at variance with but is not necessarily contradictory to the treasury statement.

Governor Moody, speaking at the Tax Assessors' convention Friday, said the ad valorem tax on physical property as a basis for the Texas revenue system is out of date that it places an inequitable burden upon farmers and home owners, and that the overhead cost of collecting taxes is too great—approximating 162.3 per cent.

Treasurer Hatcher pointed out that the state earned and collected $377,399 interest on public funds during the fiscal year ending Aug. 31, as compared to $294,023 the year before, yet the cost of operating the state treasury increased only 8 per cent despite an increase of 33 per cent in amount of work.

The treasurer naturally places the emphasis where it will reflect most favorably upon his department. Employment of Texas university students on a part-time basis has proved economical and advantageous to the students as well.

Mr. Hatcher points out that while the law provides that county tax collectors must send monthly reports of collections to the state comptroller and money collected to the state treasurer, this is not being done consistently. Failure of collections promptly cost the state $50,000 last year.

Mr. Hatcher claims his department is the most economically operated one the state has. Mr. Moody deprecates the high cost of collecting the funds. He is referring to the system as a whole, while the treasurer is thinking in terms of clerical administration—quite different matters.

It is to be hoped that Mr. Moody may get more action on his tax system reforms than he has in the past. The ad valorem system was developed in the days when tangible property represented and illustrated most of the persons resident in this country. It is no longer so.

The old cry of lowering taxes is wrong; the taxable sources need to be ferreted out so that more money may be collected with less drain on property holders.

Moreover, Gray county needs to do her public improving now while the oil field valuations—representing her natural wealth—are being appraised. We doubt that the tax values in this county are anything like what they could and should be.

After hearing charges that the state prison system is a disgrace, a resolution recently was adopted by the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs endorsing Moody's plans for reorganization and centralization of the Texas prison system.

The system certainly needs to be taken out of politics and brought up to scientific standards. The prison farm system, it seems to us, is being overdone. Escapes are numerous. Proper environment and training along some vocational line is difficult except in farming.

WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON—It is a common theory that the converts of Socialism in America are confined to a relatively small group of intellectuals and a larger group of rank and file workers situated principally in the larger centers of population.

Apparently this conception is far from the truth. Apparently the Socialists of the nation are really the most powerful political group of all. Apparently the size of the Socialist vote is no indication whatever of the real strength of Socialism in this country.

Apparently, that is, if one takes the precious word of the estimable and eminent Samuel O. Dunn, editor of the Railway Age. If what Mr. Dunn says in an article in the last issue of the Nation's Business may be depended upon, then Mr. Dunn has scored the biggest political scoop in history and we poor Washington correspondents are all left soundly sleeping at the post.

Mr. Dunn says that the business men are really the practical Socialists of the nation. The others—that is, those who openly confess Socialism by voting for its candidates for office—are only what Mr. Dunn calls the "theoretical Socialists" and are so few as not to count.

It is hard at first to tell whether the distinguished editor is trying to establish himself as the super-Babbitt of all-time or merely to have a little fun with other conservative business men. However, he quotes Mr. Rodney A. Elward, a Kansas farmer, as follows: "Paternalistic schemes of government are agitated, not at farmers' meetings, but in business men's organizations. I have heard more Socialism preached at meetings of commercial bodies than in Socialist gatherings."

Mr. Dunn says he has come to the same conclusion and proceeds to develop it. Business men, says he, are responsible for practically every increase in taxes and for nearly every item of government interference with business. Far more so, he explains with snug satisfaction, because: "Business men are the most influential class in the country. They never had so much influence in any other country as they have here, and never so much influence here as they have now. Most politicians do not disregard what business men want."

A hair specialist says tight shoes cause baldness. We have noted that most women are bald. And office data seems to belie the claim that eating potatoes makes people grow thin.

The new Arkansas anti-evolution bill bars even Webster's dictionary from the schools, it is claimed. They will make chool safe for the kids on the atters' own definition, if they keep on.

"Baylor Day" Is Promoted to Help Stabilize School

AMARILLO, Nov. 24. (Special.)—Five months of most strenuous organization activity ended, Nov. 23, when hundreds of Baptist workers launched the Greater Baylor University campaign to raise $2,000,000 over the state before Dec. 4. Every larger Baptist church of the district has been organized and workers instructed to promote the campaign.

The popular campaign will be launched formally on "Baylor Day" in every organized church of the state, Sunday, Nov. 25 when "Fifteen Hundred Hours of Speaking for Baylor" will be a reality. Hundreds of pastors will speak in their own pulpits and hundreds of others have agreed to exchange pulpits with nearby pastors.

Among the speakers for this district are Rev. W. C. Garrett, pastor of Second Baptist church, Amarillo, who will change pulpits with Rev. H. C. Goodman, pastor of Glenwood Baptist church; Rev. J. I. Gregory, pastor of Miami Baptist church to exchange once with Rev. D. H. Truhitt, Pampa Baptist church; Rev. D. Carver, White Deer; Rev. W. L. Williamson, Groton; Rev. A. W. Reclus, Stratford; Rev. D. H. Brynoff, McLean; Rev. H. J. West, Dadsville; Rev. D. D. Sumner, Amarillo; Rev. J. C. Sisemore, Amarillo.

Speakers for the campaign will present the needs of Baylor University, reasons for indebtedness and necessity for retiring that indebtedness. It success really means $4,300,000 for Baylor, with $1,000,000 each from Waco and Dallas, and $300,000 each from the General Education board.

Storage Is Being Erected at Clay Well, Section 177

One 500-barrel tank has been erected and another is under way at the United Eight Oil company's No. 1 E. Bass Clay in section 177, block B-2, which began to spray oil last week. The well was shut in after pay had been picked up at 3,010 feet.

As 16-inch casing was being pulled this morning, heavy sprays of oil resulted. It is expected that the well will be drilled in sometime tomorrow today.

If brought in, this will open up a large territory as yet unproven. The location is six miles southwest of production in the Bowers-McGee pool of the South Pampa field.

Deer for Every Hunter Is Bagged

Twenty-two deer for 22 hunters is the story told by three local members of a party which spent 10 days in camp at the X S X ranch, 125 miles northeast of Silver City, N. M. H. A. McDannald and Doc Prince arrived yesterday afternoon with the deer belonging to themselves and J. M. Dodson, the other Pampa man in the party. Mr. Dodson returned Monday night.

Mr. Dodson said both deer and wild turkeys were plentiful along the Gila river, where they hunted. It was never necessary, he said, to go more than a few miles from camp to kill a deer, and one was shot within 300 yards of the camp. All the deer killed were big black-tails, most of them eight and 10 pointers, he said.

Mrs. A. Gordon and Mrs. J. J. Denebein will arrive tomorrow from Kansas City, where they have visited relatives for the past week. Mrs. Gordon recently underwent an operation at St. Mary's hospital, Rochester, Minn.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

Fate introduced JERRY HAY, a shop girl, to ALESTER GARSTAIN when he crashed his airplane into her room. ALESTER, who likes his girl, HARVEY, but ALESTER admires her beauty and shows her attention.

Unable to buy a gown for a party, he has invited her to Jerry's party. He has invited her to Jerry's party. He has invited her to Jerry's party.

ALESTER notices advances which Jerry makes. He wishes to get her out of his room, but she has lost her job and now she has to get her place in a room.

She is discharged from the store when she confesses about the plane. Jerry's party is a success. ALESTER notices advances which Jerry makes. He wishes to get her out of his room, but she has lost her job and now she has to get her place in a room.

Now go on with the story CHAPTER XXXIV

EVELYN, standing beside Jerry, saw her start at Mr. Hule's words.

"Well, what of it?" the girl answered the director. "I'm here when you want me. That's all that concerns you."

Mr. Hule glanced at the show. "You'll be out of the show if you develop a cold," he said. "I won't have you sneezing around here."

"What do you expect?" the girl retorted. "Standing around this barn for hours half dressed would make anybody sneeze."

"Don't try to alibi. I heard about that affair," Hule told her. "It's a wonder you didn't get run in."

"Too bad we didn't," the girl came back at him. "That would have been hot publicity for the show. 'Nude Girls Swim at Milk League's Party.' Great idea. I'll have to pass it on to Alester."

Evelyn reached out for Jerry's hand. "She's lying," she whispered.

Jerry nodded. She didn't believe the girl was telling the truth, but it could not be denied that Alester had given a party at which she was not present. Jerry tried to tell her that he had none of her business, but she could not put down a feeling of resentment.

Before she had refused to attend the party he planned to give on the opening night Alester had asked her to have dinner with him. Just because he had invited her to the refusal did not justify his breaking the dinner engagement, she felt. But she wouldn't have minded if he hadn't consoled himself with an imprudent affair.

And this girl calling him Alester... several of the girls were looking at her. Jerry saw. She made an effort to hide her agitation.

He brought his car to a stop in front of the small restaurant with a suddenness that revealed his state of mind. Evelyn began to think she had made a mistake in letting him come along.

Jerry offered no objections to having him go in with them. She was not settled in any definite conviction about him. She had no right to be angry with him, she told herself—and yet she was. But she didn't feel as if she never wanted to see him again. Her inclination was to fight it out with him. But she couldn't do that with Evelyn present, and she didn't want to send him away until he knew what she thought of him.

Their simple meal of clear soup, a poached egg and milk was soon finished. Alester drank a cup of coffee in an effort to quiet his shaking nerves.

"What time are you going back to the theater?" he asked when they walked across the street to the hotel.

Jerry did not reply, though Evelyn waited for her to do so. The silence became awkward, at least to her.

"We can't say," she said finally. "But don't bother; we can telephone for a cab."

"I'll be back in half an hour," Alester said. "You won't leave before," he added, appealing to Jerry.

"I don't think we could," she said dryly.

ALESTER left them at the street door. Up in their room Evelyn said: "Don't be too hard on him, Jerry. He's been brought up to be a playboy. You will have to lead him out of it and not try to drive him."

Jerry stood at the window, watching Alester drive off. He had stopped to light a cigarette. He looked very handsome in his snappy car. There was an assurance about his movements that attracted her. Obviously he was used to having things his way, and Jerry was not immune to the charm of a personality that had developed from conditions utterly foreign to her.

That it was a personality that could not endure being shorn of power and glamorous background she did not realize. Perhaps Evelyn was right, she thought, and her prudery was silly when used as a standard for Alester's conduct.

But at least she could set standards for herself. He should not make her break them.

When Alester returned in evening clothes to take them to the theater her anger had left her, but in its place there was a cold determination not even to be tempted to attend his party. She supposed she hadn't cancelled it. Jerry had been thinking so intently of her own affairs that she had escaped the general excitement of the occasion. Even as she applied her makeup and got into her costume for the first act she did not feel nervous. Evelyn guessed at this and refrained from speaking about her own stage fright.

The half-hour call had come a few minutes after they entered the dressing room. Evelyn had watched Jerry to see that she did not lag over her preparations. Now and then she had given a word of advice in a casual tone to her less experienced friend.

"Fifteen minutes! Fifteen minutes! Fifteen minutes!" Jerry knew the voice of the assistant stage director. It did not disturb her.

But when it came again, "First act, first act, first act," she grew suddenly cold and sick. "First act!" meant the wings. In about three minutes she would be out there on the stage and the curtains would be up.

A sea of faces swam before her imagination, receded, crowded in upon her.

EVELYN put an arm on her shoulders. "It's always a friendly audience on the first night," she said soothingly; "but you must try to forget them, Jerry. Can't you think of something very, very important to you? How pleased your family will be..."

Her voice was drowned in the clamor that broke out among the girls with whom they were hurrying toward the wings. Jerry felt as though she were moved by some invisible over which she had no control. She remembered that hour of the moment when she had attempted to dance for Mr. Weinert at her first tryout. Would she be like that tonight on the stage before everyone?

"I'm freezing," she tried to say to Evelyn, but even her voice had dropped to a croaking whisper. She closed her eyes and clenched her hands, seeking self-control with all the power of will that she possessed.

A thing she used to say when she was a child returned to her. "Well, if you can do it I can." She opened her eyes and looked at the girls about her. They would go on and dance. She'd never heard of a whole company becoming paralyzed with stage fright. "If they can, I can," she told herself hopefully.

She turned her face to the stage. Two people were out, there speaking their lines. Jerry thought their voices sounded unnatural and she saw a bit of business go wrong. But it did not seem to matter. The audience hadn't caught on. Perhaps they didn't watch so closely after all.

The cue for the chorus!

"Well, Jerry, I'm going to pay so much attention to me—but Alester is going to see that he hasn't wished a fat tire onto Mr. Weinert."

A thing she used to say when she was a child returned to her. "Well, if you can do it I can." She opened her eyes and looked at the girls about her. They would go on and dance. She'd never heard of a whole company becoming paralyzed with stage fright. "If they can, I can," she told herself hopefully.

She turned her face to the stage. Two people were out, there speaking their lines. Jerry thought their voices sounded unnatural and she saw a bit of business go wrong. But it did not seem to matter. The audience hadn't caught on. Perhaps they didn't watch so closely after all.

The cue for the chorus!

"Well, Jerry, I'm going to pay so much attention to me—but Alester is going to see that he hasn't wished a fat tire onto Mr. Weinert."

she hadn't cancelled it. Jerry had been thinking so intently of her own affairs that she had escaped the general excitement of the occasion. Even as she applied her makeup and got into her costume for the first act she did not feel nervous. Evelyn guessed at this and refrained from speaking about her own stage fright.

The half-hour call had come a few minutes after they entered the dressing room. Evelyn had watched Jerry to see that she did not lag over her preparations. Now and then she had given a word of advice in a casual tone to her less experienced friend.

"Fifteen minutes! Fifteen minutes! Fifteen minutes!" Jerry knew the voice of the assistant stage director. It did not disturb her.

But when it came again, "First act, first act, first act," she grew suddenly cold and sick. "First act!" meant the wings. In about three minutes she would be out there on the stage and the curtains would be up.

A sea of faces swam before her imagination, receded, crowded in upon her.

EVELYN put an arm on her shoulders. "It's always a friendly audience on the first night," she said soothingly; "but you must try to forget them, Jerry. Can't you think of something very, very important to you? How pleased your family will be..."

Her voice was drowned in the clamor that broke out among the girls with whom they were hurrying toward the wings. Jerry felt as though she were moved by some invisible over which she had no control. She remembered that hour of the moment when she had attempted to dance for Mr. Weinert at her first tryout. Would she be like that tonight on the stage before everyone?

"I'm freezing," she tried to say to Evelyn, but even her voice had dropped to a croaking whisper. She closed her eyes and clenched her hands, seeking self-control with all the power of will that she possessed.

A thing she used to say when she was a child returned to her. "Well, if you can do it I can." She opened

CANYON HI ROMPS TO 31-19 VICTORY OVER HARVESTERS

Illinois Gets Big Ten Honors by Ohio State Win

Passing Attack of Visitors Never Solved by Locals

The Canyon Eagles swooped down on Pampa yesterday afternoon and after a few hours' stay departed with the Harvesters' scalp in their claws. At the close of the game the score was Canyon 31, Pampa 19. The score just about indicated the calibre shown of the two teams.

Although the Harvesters held the Eagles to an even break on first downs, the visitors scored by consecutive gains. Murphy passed the Harvesters dizzy whenever he felt like it. The Harvesters couldn't fathom the passing game displayed by the Eagles and failed to cover the receiver with the exception of two plays.

Murphy completed ten out of twelve passes for a gain of 228 yards. Two passes were completed for touchdowns, O'Donald running 74 yards for the first and Wiggins 45 yards for the second touchdown. The Harvesters attempted many passes but only two were completed, one a 25-yard pass, Chastain to Saubury, for a touchdown. The other was a short four-yard pass over the line.

Wiggins was the big noise against the Harvester line. He is the big fellow who dealt the locals misery last year. He was injured in the last five minutes of play and had to leave the game. O'Donald was also there when it came to line plunging. Quarterback Cabe seldom carried the ball but when he did he usually made a hole in the Harvester line.

For little fellows, the Canyon line held well against the husky Harvesters, time after time breaking through to smother plays behind the line.

Sheets Roberts was the big ground gainer for the Harvesters. The big fullback crashed the Eagle line for 106 yards. Walstad was next with 45 yards to his credit. With the exception of Jones they were the only players to make any impression on the light Canyon line. Roberts made his gains by charging the line, while Walstad made around end but was usually run out of bounds before making any long gains.

Pampa received two fifteen-yard penalties in a row when Willis was charged with roughing. The Eagles also suffered two fifteen-yard penalties for holding. There were numerous offsides on both sides as well.

Although much lighter, the Canyon line held the heavy Harvesters repeatedly and many times made large holes for O'Donald and Wiggins to crash through. Troy Stalls played his usual steady game in the Harvester line but could not hold it by himself.

The Eagles started out to make a score and three minutes after play began Wiggins went over for a touchdown. Murphy passed for the extra point.

Touchdowns two and three went to Pampa, the first on a 25-yard pass, Chastain to Saubury over the line. Stalls added the point. The second came a minute later when Roberts crashed the line.

On the first play after kickoff Murphy threw a ten-yard pass to O'Donald, who raced through the entire Pampa backfield for a touchdown. He made 64 yards after receiving the pass. Canyon opened the second quarter with another touchdown when Wiggins made 16 yards off tackle for a touchdown. The last score of the half came when Murphy threw a 20 yard pass to Wiggins who trotted 25 yards for a touchdown.

There was no scoring in the third quarter when the Harvesters played their best football of the game. Early in the last quarter the Eagles added another when Wiggins again went off tackle for a touchdown.

The Harvesters then put on their fighting faces and after a march up the field Jones crashed through the line for a touchdown.

The Harvesters will meet the Panhandle Wolves Thursday afternoon in a post-season game.
