FREEZING WEATHER IS PREDICTED FOR PANHANDLE

EDGE OF BAD EARLY SEASON STORM COMING

Cold Wave Follows
Rainfall of Over
Two Inches

SNOW FALLING IN COLORADO

The Worst Blizzard of Many Years in Nebraska

Temperature several degrees below freezing is predicted for Pampa and the North Panhandle tonight as a blizzard sweeping the Northwest and Middle West chills the winds moving 4 or 5 miles per hour. Adding to the disagreeable features of early winter is the fact that more than 2 inches of rain has fallen since Sunday, making roads almost impassable and hampering oil field activities.

DALLAS, Nov. 1.—(AP)—On top of the already chilly weather of the past few days Texas was scheduled to catch the southern edge of a real cold wave today.

Reports said the worst early season blizzard in history was sweeping across Nebraska last night leaving six or seven inches of snow, stalled motors, impassable roads, and impairing communication in its wake. Colorado reported snow sweeping through mountain passes and drifting badly.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Wintry winds, bringing lower temperatures, snow and rain swept November into the Middle West today as the second Rocky Mountain blizzard of the season whipped out over the central prairies.

Strong, shifting winds prevailed and the outlook was for snow over the upper Mississippi region, in Oklahoma, and the Texas Panhandle. Rain, accompanied by falling temperatures, was general over this area yesterday.

Heavy snow, which blanketed the Rocky Mountain regions, has halted air mail traffic, made highways nearly impassable, and threatened rail transportation there. Reports reaching Denver, which city received its first snow of the season last night, said that a severe storm was raging in the high Colorado Rockies, and that snow was drifting rapidly.

Legislature Had Right to Shorten Time Between County Seat Elections Appeals Court Holds in Gray's Suit

Distinction Between Law and Local Option
Precedents Noted—Geographical Center Is Immaterial

The opinion of Justice Hal C. Randolph of the Court of Civil Appeals at Amarillo in the Gray county seat election contest, styled in the courts as D. N. Massey et al vs. John F. Studer, county attorney, has been received here.

After reciting that a county seat election was held in March, 1925, resulting in favor of LeFors, that the law at that time provided that another election should not be held for five years, and that an amendment of this law in 1927 provided that where a county seat was not on a railroad an election to remove the county seat to point on the railroad could be held after the elapse of two years, the court then held, in substance, the following:

1. That when the election was held in 1925 and the result declared in favor of those desiring that the county seat remain at LeFors, it did not create any vested right to have the county seat remain there for five years.

2. That the legislature within the five-year period following the election had the power to enact legislation shortening the time within which a valid election could be held. The constitutional provision pertaining to local option elections, where it had been held that the legislature could not shorten or lengthen the time within which local option elections could be held, was distinguished from the constitutional provision for county seat removal elections, the court holding that in the former case the constitution gave the legislature no authority to enact local option in any precinct. All the legislature could do was to pass a law giving the people themselves in a district the power to enact this law from time to time, and that when the people did this for a definite time the legislature had no power to interfere; whereas, in the matter of county seat removals, the legislature had the power under the constitution to provide for county seat removals, with the exception only that certain majorities should be necessary in certain cases and that the legislature never lost control or authority to enact new and different laws on the question of removal. Moreover the legislature could at any time it saw fit, change the frequency of elections for that purpose. In deciding this question, which was the only one that the local bar ever considered with any seriousness, the court did the local attorneys the honor of copying their argument and adopting it as a part of the opinion of the court.

3. The question of failure to obtain the certificate of the state land commissioner as to the geographical center of the county was held to be immaterial as its only purpose was to determine whether a bare majority or a two-thirds majority was necessary. More than two-thirds majority having been obtained, it was immaterial as to the geographical center.

4. The contestants claimed that no election was held in Precinct 9, and the whole election was therefore void. The contestees claimed that while the commissioners passed the resolution creating Precinct No. 9 (south of the railroad) out of Precinct 2 (Pampa), it was never completed by publication and therefore was not effective. The court did not deem it necessary to decide this, as it would be immaterial unless it was alleged and proved that there were fraudulent votes polled or that some people were deprived of a vote as a result, neither of which facts appeared.

As a matter of local history, it is recalled that the legislative amendment changing the maximum of time between county seat elections from five to two years was prepared by Attorney Riley Strickland and H. C. Studer of Pampa, who went to Austin and saw the bill enacted. Mr. Strickland is now located in Amarillo.

While the decision of the Appeals Court may be carried to the State Supreme Court, no action indicating this step has yet been observed.

HOOPER IS FOOLING PEOPLE, SAYS SMITH

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(AP)—With a dash into New Jersey where he criticized his Republican opponent for what he characterized as "fooling of the people" on all the big questions of the day, Governor Smith has wound up his campaign away from home.

From now until election day, he will concentrate his efforts on his home state of New York, with its 45 electoral votes.

Speeches in Brooklyn tomorrow night on state issues and in New York City Saturday night will conclude the governor's appearances before large campaign audiences. He will make a radio appeal from his suite in the Hotel Biltmore on election eve after Herbert Hoover has had his final say to the voters from Palo Alto, Calif.

Last night Smith spoke at the 113th regiment armory, Newark, after having been acclaimed by thousands of cheering well-wishers during his trip by automobile through Hoboken, Jersey City and other points en route here, into the Republican campaign in sarcastic fashion, particularly as to their arguments on labor and farm relief.

He attacked Hoover's speech made in the same armory several weeks ago and assailed Charles Evans Hughes and Senator Borah, the mention of whose names brought boos from the audience.

Hughes, he said, amid laughter, should have been the Republican candidate instead of Hoover because he was "doing more to elect the Republican president than the nominee himself."

He said Hoover had made an "exaggerated statement" when he declared in Newark that "real wage and standards of living of our labor have improved more during the past seven and a half years of Republican rule than during any similar period in the history of our country." Credit for such conditions was given to Woodrow Wilson by the Democratic nominee.

After challenging figures from the opposition camp on unemployment and assailing the Republican plank on labor injunctions, Smith said his own program called for the "necessary appropriation to the department of labor" to enable it to make adequate surveys on unemployment so "this question of varacity as between officials" will never arise again.

He said he was satisfied the American people was "not wedded to a policy of holding back public works in order to make a false showing of economy."

PINKIE LEE KEOHN and her mother, Mrs. Fred P. Koehn, as the latter welcomed her returning daughter.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 1.—Pinkie Lee Koehn, 13, decided four months ago that she wanted to see the world.

So she packed a few belongings, put in her purse the money she had saved, and walked quietly away from the home of her parents, bound for the other end of the continent.

Today she is back home, unharmed and well—and all because photographs of her were printed in some 700 daily newspapers of the United States.

Four months ago, Pinkie Lee took part in an amateur moving picture staged by a group of friends here. She failed to get movie-struck, but the experience gave her a hunch that travel about the country might be a lot more exciting than staying home and going to school. So she left.

Efforts to trace her failed utterly. She literally dropped out of sight. Her parents and city detectives believed she had been kidnaped.

But she hadn't. She had taken a bus to Chattanooga, and had gone from there to Cincinnati. At Cincinnati her money ran out.

Everything was going fine. Pinkie Lee had found that she could get along anywhere, without asking help from anybody.

Meanwhile, her frantic parents were trying every means possible to find her. They hired private detectives. Knoxville police went every effort. There were plenty of rumors, but no clues.

But all the time Pinkie Lee was slinging hash in a railroad restaurant at Asheville, N. C., enjoying the best of health.

Her pictures of her were sent to NEA Service, Inc., of Cleveland, by the Knoxville News-Sentinel. The NEA Service, of which this paper is a member, distributed the pictures to its 700 member papers throughout the United States and abroad. One of these papers is the Asheville Times. It printed the picture the other day, and the woman at whose house Pinkie Lee was boarding recognized it and wired the News-Sentinel.

The News-Sentinel sent a reporter to Asheville and he got in touch with Pinkie Lee.

"Don't you want to go home to your mother?" he asked the girl.

"Yes," she said. "I've found that running away isn't fun, and I've had some pretty hard times. I sure will be glad to get back home."

So that's where she is now—home, with her mother, vowing she'll never run away again.

Daily News Will Be Published an Hour Earlier Beginning on Monday

Beginning Monday, Nov. 5, the Pampa News will go to press at 2 o'clock instead of 4 each afternoon. This change in time is necessary because of the increased circulation due to the automobile contest and to the desire of the News' management to better serve its readers. The change will allow the News to reach towns west twenty-four hours earlier.

It will be necessary that all display advertising be in the office not later than 8 o'clock preceding the day it is to appear.

W. T. Johnston, Duplex press specialist of Denver, is overhauling the Daily News' big press this week and will have it in first class shape by Monday.

HOOPER WILL WORK HARD TO ELECTION EVE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover sets out today for California to wait in the quiet of his home on Stanford university campus the decision of the people of the United States as to whether they will crown his career with the presidency.

High in the hope of victory, the nominee in his last public utterance in Washington, directed to newspapermen who have been with him throughout the campaign, said Republican success was assured "if those who believe with us go to the polls."

As Hoover leaves here at 5 p. m. on the three-thousand mile campaign swing across the continent, he will carry with him the best wishes of President Coolidge, members of the cabinet and a host of Washington friends in and out of public life.

Before leaving for the last time the spacious office from which for two months and more he has directed the vast army carrying the message of Republicanism to the people, the presidential candidate had arranged to call on President Coolidge at the White House and to say good-bye to those who have labored in Republican national headquarters nearby.

One of the last pronouncements to come from Hoover's own headquarters was that making public a letter from secretary Mellon attesting that the nominee has made tax returns as an American citizen and paid taxes on those returns since the enactment of the income tax law in 1913.

This letter from the secretary of the treasury, which was addressed to James Francis Burke, general counsel for the national committee, was intended to set at rest reports assailing the American citizenship of the man who carries the hopes of the Republican party in a campaign that for intensity has without parallel in recent political history.

Before he comes to the end of the trail in this, his greatest adventure in a long career marked by adventures in many climes, Hoover has some hard days and nights of campaigning ahead of him as he has determined that there shall be no let up in the fight until the very eve of the day the voters will register their will.

Beginning early tonight at Cumberland, he will complete four speeches into half as many days and nights and soon after his arrival at his California home he will give his last message as a candidate to the nation speaking for fifteen minutes into a microphone in his study with his voice carried to every corner of the land over a nation-wide chain of stations.

The principal address of the swing, the one to the preparation of which Hoover has given many long hours, will be delivered at St. Louis tomorrow night. It will deal chiefly with farm relief and inland waterways development and the nominee's friends believe that it will do much to strengthen the party cause in the agricultural west.

Scout School Here to Begin Early in Month

A Boy Scout leadership training school under the personal supervision of E. D. McIver, executive of the Adobe Walls council, will be conducted here early this month. Meetings will be held one night a week for eight weeks.

Men interested in Boy Scout work are urged to take this course and fit themselves to be leaders of a troop here. Teams from the Lions and Rotary clubs will be chosen to take the course with the object in view of each club's sponsoring and leading a troop.

Mr. McIver expects at least 24 men to take the course here.

Why not make that extra money you need for small items by selling these pieces of furniture you no longer use? Someone wants them. Use a Daily News CLASSIFIED AD. Thousands of people read their every day.

Miss Chevrolet to Be Crowned Here as Tonight's Feature

The beginning of Dick Marmon's marathon drive has been postponed from Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock until Wednesday afternoon at the same time. The change was made because of the weather conditions.

Marmon will visit all towns within a radius of 60 miles of Pampa on his drive and needs good roads for his endurance test. Marmon will drive 125 hours without sleep. He will use a Chevrolet sedan for the drive. The start will be from the Culbertson-Strawling garage.

The Amendments

The school amendments providing for a state board of education and for longer, overlapping terms for school trustees are pretty generally approved by school men.

would reduce the amounts received by each. The intent of the proponents of the amendment, however, is to make the pension fund larger and, as veterans die, to gradually broaden the eligibility list so as to use all funds available.

All churches and places of equal worship are now exempt from taxes. Parsonages and other church properties may be taxed, but scores of counties over look them.

It is common knowledge, however, that parsonages are usually furnished without charge to ministers, and the taxes, if any, are paid out of the general church treasury.

The Panhandle is getting ready to present "a united front" to the highway commission in a regional fight for paved highways.

A conference held at Borger this week was attended by representatives from many of the 26 counties joining in the movement.

According to the Amarillo News, "the sole purpose of the organization is to promote the building of highways in this territory."

That means that when one of the 26 counties asks for aid, it will have the moral support of the other 25—certainly a strong line-up.

The value of organization has been demonstrated over and over. The West Texas Chamber of Commerce is the best illustration of that fact.

His objection to the other school amendment is more pertinent, although his fear that "the legislature under this amendment could abolish all local school trustees and turn all school affairs of the county over to the county board of trustees appointed for a term of six years, and take the management of the public schools out of the hands of the people" is, it appears to The News, without basis in any reasonable interpretation of the proposal.

It is perhaps idle to discuss the school amendments in Gray county, for erroneous combination of them on the ballots has invalidated that portion of the ballots.

Mr. Terrell also is opposed to the pension and parsonage amendments. The Confederate pension amendment, he fears, will remove safeguards surrounding the present pension fund and while it would grant pensions to more veterans, it has given every county a courteous hearing. It has not always agreed with local views, but it should be remembered that the commission must serve the whole state, and view the highway problem not by counties or districts, but as affecting the entire state.

The Panhandle experiment will be watched with considerable interest. This mass action presents an interesting side of the battle to get out of the mud.

Ministers who occupy parsonages are usually furnished without charge to ministers, and the taxes, if any, are paid out of the general church treasury.

WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON—There are 55 electoral votes in the Far West, divided as follows: California 13, Washington 7, Colorado 6, Oregon 5, Montana 4, Utah 4, Idaho 4, Nevada 3, Wyoming 3, Arizona 3 and New Mexico 3.

The Democrats concede most of these votes to Hoover. Impartial observers believe California, Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Colorado, Utah and Wyoming are certain for Hoover or the next thing to it.

All ten states went for Coolidge in 1924. But the Coolidge vote was smaller than the combined Davis-La Follette vote in Arizona, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico and Utah and the Coolidge majority in Oregon, Washington and Wyoming was not very large.

The religious issue, intermingled with the prohibition issue, appears to have cut the largest figure in Oregon. There have been defections among Republican men, but Oregon women are counted on to offset them.

Smith is reported likely to carry San Francisco, but California is expected to go to Hoover. The southern section is strongest for the Republican candidate.

Idaho progressives have followed Senator Borah into the Hoover camp. Democrats there hope to roll up a large Smith vote, but do not appear to be confident of victory.

Montana at last accounts, was anybody's state. Montana has two Democratic senators, a Democratic governor and a Republican legislature, with a Republican record in most presidential years. Senator Tom Walsh is supporting Smith, but the efforts of Senator Burton K. Wheeler to put over the national ticket are regarded as more effective.

Reports that ballots are going to be counted in New Mexico this year—all of them, that is—leave the state and its three electoral votes in doubt, with the betting even.

The most plausible reports from Colorado are that Smith may carry Denver and Pueblo, but will be unable to win the state.

Senator William H. King of Utah is expected to be re-elected. This fact and a belief that Mormon voters will favor Smith because of their objection to religious intolerance have given the Democrats some encouragement.

As this is written, Nevada appears to be doubtful and Hoover is feeling reasonably sure for Hoover.

Cheer up—the rain and the political spasms will soon be over—for a time.

Lots of people who are otherwise rational will crawl around in the mud and half freeze to death for the chance to shoot at a handful of ducks—or mud hens.

PUBLIC FORUM

EDITOR'S NOTE: Assuming that local ministers are interested in the theory of the parsonage amendment to be voted upon soon, The News asked each of them for his opinion here is an article prepared by the Rev. C. C. Merritt, minister of the Church of Christ.

Editor, Pampa Daily News:

On November the 6th, we will be called upon to cast our votes relative to a change in Section 2 of Article 8 of the constitution. This article exempts religious property from taxation. The request is made that this be enlarged to include residence property for the housing of the ministry of churches and of religious societies.

This involves the question of taxation. Our state is one large business corporation. It falls into the class of a "non-profit sharing" institution. But the thousands of men and women needed to carry on this business must be paid. Buildings, roads, and such necessary things must be built and maintained. Therefore taxes are levied upon the citizenship for these necessary monies.

The big question is not taxation, but the equalization of taxation. Just who shall pay, and how much, for this and for that necessary means and ways of the state? It seems easy for a democratic people to logically conclude that all publicly owned properties which bring no individual profit should be exempted from taxation.

The entire community, in which such institutions exist, is partaker of the benefits of such institutions, some more and some less. But he who receives the less benefit should blame himself alone. They are free and open to the public. Any tax-paying citizen has access to its benefits. Otherwise, the general public could not justly be called upon to exempt it from paying its share in supporting the EL PASO, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Residents of this vicinity were thrown into a state of alarm last night by a slight earthquake of 30 seconds duration which shook buildings and caused slight damage within a 30 mile radius in the Rio Grande valley. No one was injured. Two distinct earth tremors were felt at Chihuahua City, Mexico, and reports reaching El Continental, Spanish language newspaper here, said that several appeared in the government palace and other buildings there, while at Guadalupe, a small town below Juarez, two or three houses partially collapsed.

High Society by RUTH DEWEY GROVES

THIS HAS HAPPENED JERRY RAY thinks that love is a delusion and decides to marry for money. Her plans for a vacation at Atlantic City are spoiled by the loss of the money she had denied herself to save. Nothing remains but to go camping with her roommate MYRTLE on the north shore of Long Island. Their camp is wrecked when an airplane owned by ALESTER crashes into the woods near them. The others escape injury, but Jerry is picked up unconscious by DAN HARVEY, the pilot. Alester drives her to the doctor, who finds that her injury is not serious. On the way back, Alester stops at an inn for dinner and seems amazed when Jerry refuses to drink. He introduces her to MYRTLE, who is in the party. Jerry shows Jerry a gay time during her two weeks' vacation and tells her that he loves her madly but does not ask her to marry him. Myrtle warns her against him, but a letter from her mother revealing poverty and illness decides her to continue her efforts to win Alester. But how will she be able to purchase a suitable frock for the party he has invited her to? Unable to borrow enough from Myrtle to buy the new gown, Jerry gave way to the temptation to take a last walk from the store where she worked for the evening—intending to slip it back in stock the next morning before it could be missed. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XIV

Jerry told herself in chagrin. "Maybe he wishes he hadn't brought me." She glanced up at him appealingly. He was frowning. JERRY'S dissimilarity to the girls he'd sought heretofore was losing its savor for Alester. He was glad she'd been straightened until he met her but he continued to wouldn't add anything to her allure in his eyes, he was thinking. He motioned the waiter. "Bring a silver fizz," he ordered. Jerry put a hand on his arm. "Please, tell him not to make it very strong," she begged, and Alester instructed the waiter as she wished. The crowd set up a great roar when he saw the tall glass placed before Jerry. She was toasted loudly and one of the group leaped to the table and sang a foolish little song with words that said goody, the water wagon. "Jerry drank it and she revealed to her distaste for it. Over the she looked into Alester's eyes and saw a gleam there that she believed meant approval. She put her own arm around another after a short wait. She heard him tell the waiter to make it light. It was half consumed when she saw Dan Harvey striding across the room to their table. There were storm clouds all over his face. He glanced at the glass as she put him down, and then at Alester. He knew instantly what Jerry hadn't as yet realized—that Alester had been drinking too much.

"You're lovely," Leontine said admiringly, dashing, up-to-date girls. He had said so. But she attracted him! "Where shall I pin them?" she asked Leontine, lifting the bows to her shoulder. "A little higher," Leontine suggested. "Would you like me to lend you a necktie?" Jerry wanted to laugh. Fane's dress—Alester's corsage—and now Leontine wanted her to wear borrowed jewels. "No, thanks very much," she said nervously. "But I forgot perfume—a little lie: she hadn't any. Leontine brought her an atomizer and Jerry sprayed herself liberally. Leontine smiled. She guessed that Jerry thought she was using toilet water. "I must run down and see how things are going in the kitchen," Leontine said. "Ready?" Jerry followed her to the door. There Leontine paused and faced her. "I'd like to give you a friendly tip," she said with evident hesitation. "I'm interested in you, Jerry. Now don't misunderstand me, she went on hurriedly, "because I'm going to be frank. I don't believe you'd be running around with Alester Carstairs unless you had something serious at the back of your head." SHE came to a full stop but Jerry remained silent. She was too surprised to find words to answer. "Well," Leontine continued, "if you are serious you will have to hit Alester a little harder where he's weakest. I've never known him to fall for an ingenue yet. You'll have to snap out of it, Jerry. Be like the other girls. A drink won't hurt you—only make it easier to put yourself across. Everyone should take something at a party. It makes the other people feel better. No one likes a teetotaler around to be criticizing." Jerry was plainly embarrassed. "I'm not critical," she denied stoutly. "But a girl friend of mine got . . . got drunk once and her father nearly beat her to death. I'm afraid to drink." Leontine shrugged. "Good heavens; you don't need to fry up the ocean. Just be a good fellow and take a cocktail or two. You will if you don't want Alester to think you're a back number." Jerry wouldn't accept any of the drinks that were pressed upon her until a group of Alester's acquaintances began ragging her about her sobriety. She could see that Alester did not like it. She did not know that Leontine had told him something that wasn't true—that several of her guests had complained of Jerry's resenting their efforts to help her enjoy herself. "Why don't you try a silver fizz?" Alester said to Jerry later on at a large table where they sat after dancing. He had noticed that the others at the board waited expectantly for Jerry's answer when the waiter came for their orders. He had no desire to have undue attention directed at her. They might start a story about him and Jerry—a story that would reach his father's ears, he feared. And if his father knew that he had brought a nice girl here . . . "It's hardly more than an ice cream soda," he went on reassuringly. "He thinks I'm a wet blanket."

Guiding Your Child

HIS FRIENDS
By Mrs. Agnes Lyne

Carl Ewald in his book "My Little Boy" writes charmingly of his little boy's first sweetheart.

The young man brought her in from the playground one day and announced that he was going to marry her. He was about five and she was a year or more older. She was fat and dirty and possessed of more appetite than intelligence. She was stuffy and slow and certainly did not come of a very good family. But she was the girl of his choice and she charmed him.

The little boy's mother was all for casting out this unimpressive fiancée. But his father felt quite rightly that in matters of the heart we cannot dictate for others. So the young lady was made welcome. True, before they were permitted to play together, she had usually to be subjected to a vigorous scrubbing and fed great quantities of food, but this was no barrier to their youthful happiness. The affair ran its course until another and fairer charmer usurped her place.

The moral is clear. Children must choose their own friends. In our eyes their virtues and charms may be conspicuously absent, but it is not for us to pass judgment. Whoever they are, whatever they are, we must take them in and make them welcome.

If they are vulgar, stupid and untrustworthy it will not be long before our child finds it out. Soon enough he will be bored, repelled. Meanwhile he has learned something of the art of human relationships.

When we mock our child's choice of friends we do violence to his best instincts. How can a child develop loyalty if at home he must stand by while his friends are made fun of or criticized? He must feel like a traitor when later on he plays with them down the street. How shall he learn tolerance if not by catholic taste in friends? He will get on better with people all his life for having had all sorts of friends when he little.

Hidalgo Sheriff Denies Charges of Polling Fraud

EDINBURG, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Sheriff A. Y. Baker of Hidalgo county entered a denial to charges of leaders of the Citizens-Republican faction that election laws have been ignored and violated during the present year.

In a lengthy statement last night the sheriff, himself a candidate for reelection, revised charges contained in nearly 2,000 telegrams sent to President Coolidge and department of justice officials after a mass meeting here and declared them to be "utterly false and without foundation."

"If any man or set of men shall furnish me with a single fact upon which could be based any charge of violation or contemplated violation of election laws I shall immediately request the district judge to call the grand jury to investigate the charge," he declared.

An appropriation of $740,000 is available for the construction and site. The supervising architect of the treasury intends to get out plans and specifications for immediate construction.

Divorce Granted After Quarrel Over Candidates

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The electioneering William Lynch did in his home for his favorite presidential candidate was made the basis on which Mrs. Bartie M. Lynch won a decree of divorce yesterday.

"My husband is a Democrat and thinks that Alfred E. Smith is the best man for president," Mrs. Lynch testified. "I am a Republican and I'm for Herbert Hoover. I told my husband I thought Hoover was the best man and he got angry, grabbed me around the neck and rapped his knuckles on my head attempting to make me take back my statement and change my vote intentions."

Declaring a wife's right to support any candidate she prefers, the judge signed the divorce decree.

Harvesters Work Hard Despite Cold Weather

Prospects of playing in mud and a freezing temperature fails to dampen the spirit of the Harvesters, high school football squad, which will meet the Wheeler Wildcats here tomorrow afternoon in a conference game. The Wildcats came highly touted by accomplishments of this season, but the local boys plan to hand them a setback.

Wheeler has been going good this season, having defeated Miami and Canadian conference fixtures. Besides Pampa, the Wildcats are the only team undefeated in this division. Coach Odus Mitchell brought the Wheeler game here because of the poor playing field at Wheeler. He was afraid of getting some of his players injured on the uneven field.

The Harvesters will have a full team to put on the field against the Wildcats. Mullen and Lard have recovered from injuries and Seitz and Barnard are out again after being confined to their homes by illness. Tracy and Walstad, who received slight injuries in the Pampa-Hinton game last Friday, are practically ready for the big game.

While the Harvester-Wildcat battle is on here the Harvester third team will be playing the White Deer eleven in White Deer. The youngsters have been training hard under Coach A. M. Fox and feel that they can put up a good battle against the White Deer boys. Elmer Principal R. B. Fisher or Joe Kahl, Sr., will accompany the team on its first trip of the season.

Star Tackle of Mustangs Is Out With an Injury

DALLAS, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Jack Roach all-Southwest conference tackle last year, will be unable to play against Texas Saturday and it is doubtful if he will be able to enter the S. M. U. line-up against Texas A. & M. a week later. Dr. R. N. Blackwell, Mustang physical director, stated today.

Dr. Blackwell verified a rumor that Roach had received a broken arch prevented his appearance in recent games.

The big lineman's berth can be acceptably filled by Marion Hammon, but the latter is suffering from bruises. The Mustang forward wall would be weakened appreciably should he be unable to finish the game.

Babe and Low Enroute East to Spend Winter

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 1.—(AP)—The 1928 baseball playing season was at an end for Babe Ruth today, who together with Lou Gehrig, his barnstorming mate was en route East where he will spend the winter.

A wintry snow storm prevented the slugger's appearance here yesterday in the last exhibition game allowed them under major league rules which forbid barnstorming after October 31.

While the storm prevented the game, it did not curb the enthusiasm of baseball fans and a large crowd welcomed the Yankee stars on their arrival. They were besieged for autographed baseballs.

PASTOR TRAINS WITH TEAM; IS CHEER LEADER AT GAMES

One of the "boys" out hitting the tackling dummy each day at Birmingham-Southern College. Rev. John Milner, 54-year-old Birmingham preacher, an ardent team supporter who follows the gridiron sport to keep in condition for his church work.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—For six days a week Rev. John Milner, 54, is known to a majority of Birmingham residents as a minister of the Gospel. On Saturday of each week, however, he is "Brother John", able athlete and ball on which the college is located. He is not connected with the college in any official capacity.

A native of Birmingham, Mr. Milner received his bachelor of arts degree from the University of Alabama in 1896. For two years he pitched for the varsity nine. He later studied at Princeton where he received his degree as a theologian in 1899. He was ordained in 1900 and in the following 15 years held pastorate in Georgia and Alabama. He was delegate to the Presbyterian conference in Scotland in 1913 and served with the Red Cross during the World War.

NEW LEGION CHIEF DIDN'T GET TO FRANCE IN WAR

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Oct. 19.—The new national commander of the American Legion is one of those unhappy Americans whose services during the World War were highly essential but not at all spectacular or exciting.

Colonel Paul V. McNutt, the 37-year-old chief of the soldiers' organization, knew too much about field artillery for his own good. Because of his knowledge the army authorities kept him at San Antonio, Texas, where he just won election to the Legion's highest office, training artillery units. He was considered one of the foremost theoretical field artillery instructors in the country—and that was just his hard luck.

Colonel McNutt is youthful to be a national commander, but then, he has traveled far for his years in other ways, too. He is dean of the Indiana national commander; but then, he has been granted a year's leave of absence from that post to carry on the duties of his new Legion office. He won the appointment three years ago, having the distinction of being the youngest man ever made a dean at Indiana.

Born in Martinsville, Ind., in 1891, McNutt studied at Indiana University, graduating in 1913, and went to Harvard to study law. He finished his law course in 1916, returned to Indiana to become an assistant professor of law, and on the outbreak of the war joined the army, receiving his training and commission as artillery captain at Fort Benjamin Harrison.

He was assigned to San Antonio, and spent the remainder of the war there, having won promotion to a lieutenant colonelcy. He is now colonel in the reserve and commander of the 326th field artillery.

It was in San Antonio that Colonel McNutt met his wife, Mrs. Kathleen Tinslet. They were married there in 1918, and their recent trip to the Legion convention at San Antonio was a tenth anniversary of their honeymoon.

Hoover Will Carry Texas

The conspiracy to deliver Dry Democrats to Tammany Hall and the Liquor Interests has failed in Texas. Prohibition Democrats will vote as they want to vote. They will not be led astray by false issues injected into this campaign designed to hide and obscure this the paramount issue. Mothers and fathers appeal to you to consider well the position of the two candidates on PROHIBITION, the greatest moral issue ever before the voters of America.

Below we have set out the testimony of the candidates and their supporters. Consider it well and you will vote for Herbert Hoover to keep this nation dry. Added to this, we want you to consider the statements of

HERBERT HOOVER DRY Wants It to Succeed

1—HERBERT HOOVER
"I do not favor the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, stand for the efficient enforcement of the laws enacted thereunder." (Speech of Acceptance.)

2—HERBERT HOOVER
In his Newark speech said prohibition had contributed greatly towards the prosperity of the nation.

3—HERBERT HOOVER
In his Tennessee speech said that he did not favor the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment "I want it to succeed."

4—WOODROW WILSON
"The Eighteenth Amendment should never be changed. The Volstead Act should never be changed." (The above was among the last written utterances of the late president. Article of Josephus Daniels in Manufacturer's Record of Aug. 23, 1927.)

5—EVANGELINE BOOTH
"Applications for relief in our slum settlements have been reduced fifty per cent since prohibition. The families in the districts are better fed, better clothed and better housed." (Saturday Evening Post, January 28, 1928.)

6—DR. GEORGE W. TRUETT
"The election of Governor Smith would be a National and International tragedy." (Home and State, November, 1928.)

7—CONE JOHNSON
"National prohibition can not exist at the same time with local prohibition under the 'doctrine of States' rights and local self-government.' This would destroy the Eighteenth Amendment." (Houston Post-Dispatch, October 18, 1928.)

8—CHARLES A. LINDBERGH
The following message was sent by Col. Lindbergh to Herbert Hoover, October 3rd: "I have recently flown to St. Louis to register. The more I see of this campaign the more strongly I feel that your election is of supreme importance to the country. Your qualities of a man and what you stand for regardless of party make me feel that the problems which will come before our country during the next four years will be best solved under your leadership." (Mobile Register, A. P. Item.)

AL SMITH WET Would Destroy It

1—GOVERNOR SMITH
"I'll be glad to go down and help put over this bill if that will get us somewhere where we can put a foot on the brass rail and blow off the froth." (New York Times, March 9, 1923.)

2—AL SMITH
"I personally believe that there should be change (in the prohibition law), and I shall advise the Congress in accordance with my constitutional duty of whatever charges I deem necessary or expedient." (The above was included in acceptance speech of Gov. Smith, Albany, N. Y., Aug. 22, 1928.)

3—SMITH
The Arena, Philadelphia, Oct. 27, 1928.—The issue of prohibition in this campaign, Gov. Al Smith said, is no "sham battle." He declared it emphatically to be a real issue. His method of "doing something" about it, if elected, Governor Smith said, will be to take the issue back to the people, where, he contended, it belonged, and appealing to them, if necessary, over the heads of a hostile Congress, just as he several times has successfully appealed to the people of New York over the heads of the Republican Legislature he has always had to deal with. (See front page Dallas Times Herald, Sunday, Oct. 28.)

4—JOHN J. RASKOB
(The wet Republican, in accepting the chairmanship of the National Democratic Committee): "I see an opportunity of performing some constructive service by helping relieve the country of the damnable affliction of prohibition."

5—OSWALD GARRISON VILLARD
"Does Al Smith drink, and does he drink too much? Well, I am reliably informed that he drinks every day and the number of his cocktails and highballs is variously estimated from four to eight."—The Nation, 11-30, 1927. (Editor Villard is supporting Mr. Smith for President.)

6—AUGUST A. BUSH
"For by my vote I shall declare myself against the evils of prohibition."—St. Louis Globe Democrat, Aug. 16, 1928. (Mr. Bush is President of Anheuser-Busch, Inc.)

7—CAPT. W. H. STAYTON
"The idea that 26 states are necessary to upset the Eighteenth Amendment is a fallacy. What is needed is one more member of the Supreme Court to be a liberal."—New York Times, Oct. 21, 1927. (Capt. Stayton is the active head of the Association Against Prohibition.)

8—JACK JOHNSON
The following is an Associated Press dispatch from Winston-Salem, N. C., published in the Washington Star, showing the activity of this negro prize fighter for Al Smith. Jack has a white wife. WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., Oct. 6.—Before leaving yesterday for New York, Jack Johnson announced that he would return here soon on a speaking tour of the south in the interest of Gov. Al Smith. Johnson said: "My next fight will be in politics. I'm going to enter the ring in behalf of Al Smith, who will be the next President of the United States."

Statements made by Governor Dan Moody in his Harmony Speech, April 7, 1928, as reported in the Dallas News of April 8th.

"There are but two subjects on the public mind of Texas at this time, the candidacy of Al Smith and prohibition. His candidacy, as expounded by his chief supporters, is based upon the fact that he is opposed to prohibition and upon the theory that his opposition to prohibition will carry certain votes in the north and east which would otherwise go Republican. The average man in this country only knows that Governor Smith is opposed to the prohibition laws. It naturally follows that his views on this subject subordinate other matters, and most people make up their mind toward his candidacy because of his position upon this subject. The chief argument for his nomination is expediency and that is contrary to the best traditions of Democracy. It is unthinkable to my mind that the Democratic party, which has through all these years stood for those fundamental and essential principles of a Republic and of equality, with all of its colorful history and all of its campaigns for the great principles which are for the benefit of the masses, should bow and pass under the yoke to make itself the party of a man and follow doubtful expediency, forgetting issues and devotion to great principals of government.

A dry platform and a candidate opposed to such a platform is an incongruity that no party of self-respect can offer to the people and hope to maintain the respect of the people."

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Corn prices displayed strength early today in the face of unofficial crop reports showing available supplies 70,000,000 bushels larger than last season.
Opening 1-8 to 3-4 higher, the corn market afterward sagged additional gains. Wheat and oats were also firmer, wheat starting 1-8 to 3-8c up and then reacting somewhat, but later underwriting initial gains. Provisions went lower.

Halloween Quiet in Bad Weather

Halloween pranks last night were few and far between. The inclement weather kept even the most mischievous in-doors or on the pavement. The chief form of amusement during the night seemed to be soaping store windows.

This morning local merchants, without exception, had to get out in the cold and wash and scrape off their windows. Many were the grumbings but the majority entered into the spirit of the occasion.

Other forms of amusement were piling boxes and signs in the middle of the streets, dragging old automobiles and putting them in unthought-of places, ringing door-bells and other Halloween pranks.

When C. C. Malone arrived at his place of business this morning he found that his big furniture sale was over—His signs had disappeared. Later in the morning he found one, but the rest are still missing.

C. E. Cary Is New Legion Adjutant

C. E. Cary yesterday was appointed adjutant of Kerley-Crossman post No. 334 to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Frank Thomas. Mr. Cary is a charter member of Kerley-Crossman post and a charter member of the 40 and 8.

The retiring adjutant has served Kerley-Crossman post since its organization in 1922 with the exception of a three-year period when he was in California. Mr. Thomas also is a charter member of the post and 40 and 8. His resignation was accepted because he would be unable to devote his time to the office, owing to business demands.

Mr. Thomas always placed his office with the post before persons' business, members say.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Having landed passengers and a stowaway from America, the Graf Zeppelin, huge air liner, was safe in her hanger today with a new record for a trans-Atlantic flight by airship to her credit.

The dirigible completed the first round trip commercial flight over the Atlantic today when she was landed at Friedrichshafen at 7:06 a. m. (1:07 a. m., Eastern Standard Time). She had covered more than 10,000 miles since starting from Friedrichshafen on Oct. 11, for Lakehurst, N. J. Since leaving Lakehurst at 1:54 a. m., Eastern Standard Time on Monday the airship had covered slightly more than 4,000 miles and was landed after being in the air 71 hours and 12 minutes.

The British dirigible R-34 had the best hours, before landing at her air-drome in England in July, 1919, and previous record, being in the air 75 completing a flight from Roosevelt Field, N. Y.

Waits For Dawn

Actually the Graf Zeppelin got home in 68 hours and 56 minutes. She first appeared over the air-drome at 4:50 a. m. (10:50 p. m., Eastern Standard Time). For more than two hours the airship cruised around waiting for dawn to break.

A boisterous crowd which broke through police lines was eager to catch a glimpse of Clarence Terhune the 19-year-old caddy, whose darling in stowing away aboard the dirigible had captured their imagination. But Terhune was smuggled from one of the rear gondolas by the police who took him quietly to the apartment of a hotel here. There he was closeted with the American official for a lone private talk.

"Where's Terhune?" the crowd kept yelling. "Let him come out," they implored. But what had happened to the youth was a mystery to the crowd.

Stowaway Welcomed

Soon after customs officials had boarded the air liner, the official reception committee, of which Consul Kehl was a member, entered the hanger. Kehl boarded the Zeppelin to meet Terhune who was seen at the window of the airship's kitchen wearing an overcoat with the collar turned up. A few minutes later a German official handed Terhune a document which the stowaway was seen reading with the assistance of Kehl. Later Terhune was spirited out of the hangar.

When the customs officials entered the door of the cabin, Mrs. Clara Adams of Tannersville, Pa., only woman aboard, was standing framed in the doorway. She was greeted with loud cheers. A few minutes afterwards the score of passengers aboard, some of whom had made the trip to America and returned by the airship, landed.

Commander Tired

Dr. Hugo Ekener, commander and builder of the airship, asked to be excused from any reception formalities until 6 p. m. He explained that he was thoroughly tired and needed a rest.

The American passengers paid eloquent tribute to the voyage of the airship and said they would not have missed it for anything.

At times she reveals her inwards to show how she masticates, digests and assimilates her food.

Entry List---

ness get busy in their own behalf. Automobiles cannot be won in this contest, "nominations do not mean a thing in the world unless the nominee by simply sending in your nomination and then sitting down and waiting for votes to rain on you. Not by a long shot. You've got to work in this contest to win, and the sooner this fact sinks in the better.

The bad weather of the last few days has slowed things up all along the line. Out on the country it has been impossible for contestants to do a thing, and even right here in Pampa because of the mud some contestants have been unable to see friends right in the next block who have been holding votes for them. But with clearing skies today it is expected that some real action will develop. One thing about this weather—it's mighty good to find folks at home in, and the wise contestants who will make their calls now will stand a better chance of finding their prospective subscribers in their homes or places of business than they would when it is warm and pleasant. There isn't the urge to move around like there is when it is nice.

It is hoped that a few REAL WORKERS will get busy this week. Right now is the best time to make the start. Subscription votes are not hard to obtain if you actually mean business.

Today, being the first of the month, was payday with a lot of folks, and it is expected that many promises made heretofore will be cashed in on.

What is needed in this campaign is a few, who will really take hold of voting and get busy in it just the same as they would get busy in any other business. Any man or woman has 30 hours every day just as they would on some job, would win the Buick. But of course, nobody will do that. It is not a "punch the clock" proposition and the workers' work when they please.

There are dozens of men and women now in Pampa and the surrounding towns and on the rural routes who could get into this campaign, and in the next six and one-half weeks have the time of their lives getting votes. The Contestant Manager would like to hear from a few of them. Will they please come in, obtain their subscription books and start voting.

In the country division, District No. 2, towns without number are not represented. There are not as many active workers in the outside division as there are prizes to be given. All this in spite of the fact that ONE OF THE CARS AND A FULL SET OF SMALLER PRIZES HAVE BEEN SET ASIDE FOR THIS DIVISION! Pampa contestants and those residing outside Pampa do not work against each other except for the Buick. This is the Capital Prize, which goes to the contender with the HIGHEST number of votes, regardless of district.

Contestants of course, can work in both districts. There are no limitations or restrictions.

Time is flying. "Get Busy Week" will soon be gone. Right now is the time to enter and get in line for the fine cars. There are plenty of prizes to go around among the real workers, and cash commissions for all those who do not win. The "Nomination Blank" is all you need to start. Send it in today and get the details. But don't stop there as so many have done—go right ahead and get votes!

A letter or postcard will bring full information by return mail. Just address: Contest Manager, Daily News, Pampa, Texas, Telephone No. 666.
