McCloskey Denies Records Were Changed in Any Way

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 30. (AP)—Judges of three of the 17 Bexar County precincts involved in Republican Congressman Harry M. Wurzbach's dispute of the officially announced election of his Democratic opponent, Augustus J. McCloskey, were warned yesterday by the congressional majority today to produce their copies of general election returns within 24 hours or "hear from Washington."

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 30. (AP)—Bexar County Judge Augustus J. McCloskey, Democrat, denied on the witness stand before the Congressional House campaign expenditures committee today that there had been any alteration in returns canvassed by his commission's court, giving him a 298-vote victory over Republican Congressman Harry M. Wurzbach in the 14th Texas district race.

McCloskey was questioned by Wurzbach, and at times refused to answer questions in the way Wurzbach put them. Wurzbach laid a written statement before the committee, challenging the reported count in 14 precincts. Ed Englehart presiding judge of precinct 20 testified that Fritz Huest, his superior in the school system, came to his home, got the precinct returns and returned them some 24 hours later with McCloskey's vote of 298 changed to 328. A subpoena has been issued for Huest, but he could not be found.

The committee refused to permit John H. Bickett, Jr., McCloskey's counsel to cross-examine witnesses, but after Bickett had objected to the procedure as "novel," Chairman Fred Lehbach of New Jersey, repeated Bickett's questions to McCloskey.

Overruling repeated objections, Lehbach declared that the committee is not sitting as a court and that the general rule of Congressional committees is to hear only direct testimony.

Crippled Friend of Cripples Is Dead—Work Done

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 30. (AP)—His life-long ambition to bring help and happiness to crippled children fulfilled, William Henry Rust, philanthropist, lawyer, and former mayor of Minneapolis, died yesterday at the age of 83. Mr. Rust has been a cripple since he was 15 years old, the result of an injury. Despite the handicap, he made a fortune during his 47 years residence here, and he gave virtually all of his wealth to promote the welfare of unfortunate children.

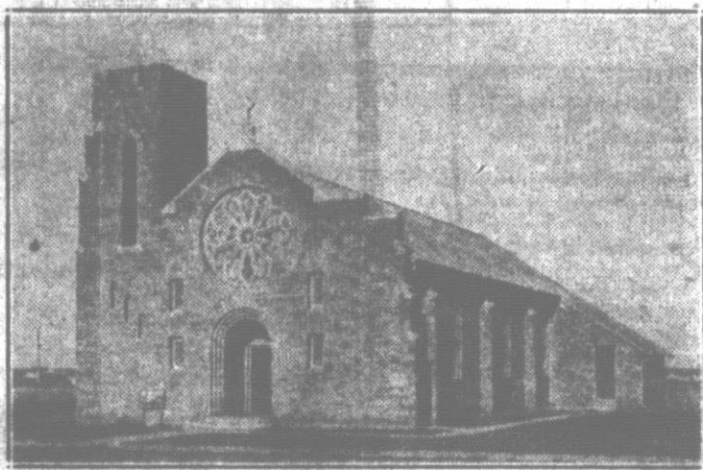

His greatest gift in this connection was the donating of 65 acres of land to the city of Minneapolis and the University of Minnesota, and the building and endowment of the Minnesota hospital and home for crippled children—valued $1,800,000.

Train Men Alert in Clearing Tracks for Fire Trucks

Quick work on the part of the local fire department and a brakeman on a Santa Fe freight train was the means of saving a building in South Pampa Wednesday afternoon. A train was on the Cuyler street crossing when the fire truck turned south on Cuyler street, but an alert brakeman heard the truck approaching and succeeded in cutting the train, causing the department very little delay. Fire, thought to have been set by youngsters playing, had very little start when discovered in a shed at the rear of the old Rice Cleaning company's plant. Water from the supply tank on the truck put out the blaze.

It was necessary for the Santa Fe to cut another train for the truck to return to the station.

Ethics Discussed at Rotary Session

Interesting discussions of the ethics of their professions by Carl Boston, Dr. W. Purviance, W. C. Mitchell, and C. C. Cook, were features of the Rotary program at its regular meeting at the Methodist church Wednesday. The program was in charge of Neil McCullough, chairman of the vocational service committee.

The Rev. Tom W. Brabham told how the 1928 meeting of the Methodist conference was brought to Pampa and thanked the Rotary Club for its interest and the invitation expressed in the telegram sent to Lubbock.

In addition to enjoying an unusually good program, the Rotarians blossomed with three other features. Attendance badges, which have been ordered for some time, had arrived and were worn for the first time Wednesday. A box of cigars were passed around by Dr. A. R. Sawyer as the compliments of his week-old daughter. Then the marksmanship of J. M. Dodson and his hunting party proved venison as a delicious meat course.

The creation of a new judicial district composed of Gray, Carson, Wheeler and Roberts counties, as requested by many citizens of the counties, was explained by C. C. Cook.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bratton and children spent Wednesday in Amarillo.

New officers for 1929 will be elected by the Pampa Public Welfare association next Thursday afternoon in a general meeting of representatives of local organizations. The session will be held at the First National bank building at 4:30 o'clock.

In addition to the present officers and directors of the organization, representatives will be present from the Chamber of Commerce, Pampa Business Men's association, American Legion, school board, civic clubs and possibly other groups.

The present officers of the Public Welfare association are: President, the Rev. James Todd, Jr.; secretary, Olin E. Hinkle; treasurer, J. O. Gillham. Other directors include the Rev. D. H. Truhitt, Mrs. R. C. Campbell, Mrs. E. A. Medkief, Mrs. A. B. Zahn, Mrs. Joe Smith and Mrs. C. W. Stowell. Mrs. M. P. Downs is community nurse employed by the association, and she also is in charge of the charity administered under the authority of the directors. The welfare association is closing its first year's work. It has had the endorsement of the city administration and the school board, which have contributed toward the salary of the nurse in exchange for part of her time. For this term, the trustees are finding Mrs. Downs' services especially necessary in halting threatened epidemics of smallpox and scarlet fever. The board has gone on record as favoring continuance of its policy of contributing to her salary. A definite distribution of her time will be agreed upon by the board and the new association directors.

Local churches, which in the past cared for most of the needy, have helped guide the policies of the association in its first year, and will continue to have representatives, but the plans for 1929 call for full participation by all other interested organizations and business interests. Perfecting of the working plan has shown the desirability of an expansion of the program, such as community-wide parties, religious classes, etc. The reports of Mrs. M. P. Downs, for the most part confidential to the directors in order that there may be no embarrassment to those assisted with charity, reveal scores of cases in which acts of mercy alleviated suffering, helped to make unfortunates independent, and even helped to bury the dead.

Raising funds for the 1929 program will be outlined by the new board. It was decided by the retiring directors. This will give the incoming officers an opportunity to plan their work in advance and set their budget accordingly.

Four-Room House Destroyed by Fire

Fire completely destroyed a four-room frame residence off Barnes street, north of the Dallas hotel this morning. The building was a mass of flames when the department arrived. The house was owned by Elmer Luttrell.

Because of the distance from a fire plug the department had to string 1,200 feet of hose to reach the burning building. The cold also hampered activities of the firemen, who upon arrival, made fast work of connecting the hose.

Fire was caused from a gas heater, members of the family residing in the house said.

King Improves, But Danger Yet Exists

LONDON, Nov. 30. (AP)—King George's condition showed some improvement today but it was regarded that he is by no means out of danger.

An official bulletin issued by his physician stated: "The inflammation of the lung and pleura shows some improvement. The temperature is slightly lower. The time of possible exacerbation of the infection, it must be noted, has not yet passed and in any case progress must be slow."

SUCCESSOR TO CALLES TELLS OF HIS PLANS

To Continue Policy of Friendship to U. S. A.

GREAT CROWD AT CEREMONY

Efforts to Halt War to Extend into Schools

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 30. (AP)—Emilio Portes Gil took the oath as provisional president of Mexico today and pledged his administration to a continuance of the policies of the Obregon and Calles governments, especially in regard to friendship with the United States.

Immediately after being sworn in, the new president read a brief message outlining the policies his government will pursue. Approximately 25,000 persons were in the national stadium to see the inauguration.

Regarding foreign relations, Portes Gil mentioned especially those with the United States. He said that, as long as the American government continued to show a desire to respect Mexican sovereignty the American people would have no cause to complain about their southern neighbor. But he warned that sovereignty "is a point on which Mexico cannot recede or make concessions despite the magnitude of sacrifices that might become necessary."

Morrow Is Commended Saying that special mention was made of the United States because it is a neighbor and also due to the economic relations uniting the two countries, he added: "Fortunately the wisdom and patriotism with which President Calles and Ambassador Morrow have served their respective countries, have erased distrust and created a mutual understanding which, with all my heart, I desire may continue."

Portes Gil pledged his government to combat war, "even thoughts of war." He said he would make sure that history would be taught in the schools of Mexico from a pacifist viewpoint. In this connection he remarked: "It would not be thinkable to go against a general program (evidently a reference to the peace program) especially regarding a powerful neighbor."

Heavily Stressed The incoming president said that Mexico was proud of her hospitality and generosity which had been demonstrated for more than a century, and also proud of her independence. She would not change her policy of allowing foreign workers and capital to come and share the advantages of the land. He also promised that no prohibitive duties would be placed on foreign manufactured articles that did not compete with Mexican industries.

In regards to financial obligations he said the administration would endeavor to comply strictly with them whether they were internal or foreign.

Turning to domestic affairs, Portes Gil said that there would be strict fulfillment of the revolutionary program and a continuance of the work of the Obregon and Calles administrations.

Portes Gil said President Calles did his part in opening a path to a moralization of the administration by introducing a plan of economy, founding the Bank of Mexico, building roads, and furthering irrigation projects. It would be a task of his administration, he said, to strive to approach even near to perfection.

He promised that the state would take no part in the presidential election of next year to choose his successor other than to guarantee equal rights to contending factions. The religious problem was not mentioned by the incoming president.

Just because she is not right on top of the list today in the Daily News big automobile contest is no reason to believe that she will not be there when the final whistle blows on December 15, declare friends of Miss Beth Blythe, contestant in District No. 1.

Miss Blythe has to divide her time between getting votes and going to school, but she is not letting that worry her.

"I've got a yearning for that cash prize to be given tomorrow," she told the Contest Manager.

The way she said it indicated that she has something up her sleeve for this week. The others in District No. 1 had best take her into serious consideration when figuring their chances of winning.

MEXICAN BOY HIS VICTIM ON MURDER FARM

Youth Asserts Accuser Took Part in Crime

"FEELS BETTER" AFTER TELLING

Officers Doubt That Woman Really Is His Mother

NORTHCOTT SPECIAL CASE. Enroute to Bakerfield, Cal., Nov. 29. (AP)—Deputy District Attorney Earle Redwine of Riverside county today announced that Gordon Stew art Northcott had made a complete confession to the slaying of an unidentified Mexican youth on the Northcott farm.

Northcott was said to have told the officers that Sanford Clark, his 16-year old nephew and principal accuser, aided him in the murder. He then told how he had burned the head at the ranch and had taken the body to Puenze, Cal., where he buried it. Northcott previously admitted mistreating the Mexican youth.

"I am happy, now that I have told it," Northcott was quoted as having said.

The confession came by degram as officers were returning Northcott from British Columbia, where he was captured several months ago.

His captors failed to shake from him any admission that he slew three other youths named in murder indictments returned against him and Mrs. Sarah Louise Northcott, who is said to be his mother. Mrs. Northcott is held in Calgary, Alberta, pending extradition.

At one time, officers said, Northcott voiced an inclination to "take all the blame." In the past he has said to have expressed fear over the fate of Mrs. Northcott, whom he generally refers to as "my dear little mother." Officers have attempted also to get him to admit that Mrs. Northcott is not his mother, but thus far they have been unsuccessful.

Northcott indicated he had knowledge of the existence of the other three boys named as his victims: Walter Collins, of Los Angeles, and Louis and Nelson Winslow of Pomona, all of whom disappeared many months ago. The "ape man" as he has been called by his relatives, told the officers he feared Collins never would return alive, but that he felt the Winslow boys were safe.

Highway Meeting to Be Here Monday

Monday has been set as the date for the executive and legislative committees of the Panhandle Highway association to meet here. The committees were scheduled to meet last Tuesday, but owing to the absence of committee members, the date was postponed.

President J. Sid O'Keefe of Panhandle will preside over the meeting, which has been called to work out plans for the future of the organization.

Wage Scale Accepted. Two alternatives faced conductors and trainmen of western railroads—accept a 6-1-2 per cent wage increase with out abolition of the double-header rule, or a 7-1-2 per cent increase in case of a change.

The wage increase affects 42,000 men and adds $6,500,000 to the payrolls of western railroads. The 7-1-2 per cent raise would have meant more money in the pockets of part of the employees, but fewer men would have been used had the railroad companies been allowed to use more locomotives per train with smaller crews.

The saving of one per cent in wages thus accrues to the railroads to offset their greater cost for operating trains, and ultimately the public pays the difference. That an appreciable difference is made in freight rates is doubtful, however, and the public does not begrudge the railroad men their wage increase.

But as scientific research makes possible cheaper modes of transportation, the railroad employees will be forced to adjust themselves accordingly, and the preservation of the operating rule is menaced by practically unregulated motor truck traffic paralleling the railroads. For this reason, the railway workers will look favorably upon stricter regulation of competing bus and truck operation. The equalization of all factors in view of modern inventions is not easy, and new modes are apt to get away with practices which ultimately will have to fall under governmental supervision, regulation, and taxation.

Our Factories

Every farm in Gray county is a little factory. There are about 608 of them.

Suppose, by diversification or better methods, $100 is added to the gross incomes of each. There is $60,800, a sum that would liquidate many debts and stabilize the industry.

There are many ways to add that $100. A few extra hogs and chickens, meaning some extra labor, would do it. Comes Farm and Ranch, the Texas Farm Journal, with the suggestion that better seed would do it. In terms of bushels of wheat per acre, this of course is easily possible.

Bad seed not only damages the land on which it is planted, but destroys the farmers' purchasing power and his ability to pay off his debts. Farm incomes are too small to meet the demands made by the activity upon them. In proportion to worth of the farm factories, taxes upon the land are not high. But in proportion to the incomes of those farms, taxes are too high, living is too high, and necessities for economical farming are too high.

We are not fanatical over the thought of people leaving the farm. Some one-crop farmers, if they went into the cities, would help to reduce WASHINGTON — Perhaps we are traveling back toward the good old days when election results were sure to be close in a large number of important states.

College professors and newspapermen with mathematical minds have discovered that if Smith could have switched 500,000 additional votes in the right places he would have been elected, thanks to the electoral college system, and that 150,000 more properly switched votes for Hoover would have given him every single electoral vote. Yet, in the first instance, Hoover could still have had a popular majority of more than 5,000,000 and lost and, in the second case, Smith would still have had 15,000,000 popular votes without a single electoral vote.

All sorts of funny and seemingly unfair things can happen under the electoral college system. Fortunately for the system, they seldom do.

Until the Harding and Coolidge landslides, however, one election after another showed that a switch of a few thousand votes—sometimes even a few hundred—here and there would have changed the election results. But in 1920 and 1924 Republican pluralities were so huge in so many of the most important states that there was little nourishment in such figuring.

This year the result was so relatively close in so many states that the boys once more got out pencil and paper.

Well, Smith's present yearning for that switch of a half million votes is probably nowhere near as poignant as that of James G. Blaine, who with a change of 600 votes in New York in 1884, would have been elected over Cleveland. Those were the days when the Solid South was good and solid and most of the northern and western states were invariably doubtful.

In that year Cleveland carried Connecticut 67,000 to 65,000, Delaware 16,000 to 12,000, Indiana 244,000 to 238,000, Maryland 96,000 to 85,000, Missouri 235,000 to 202,000, New Jersey 127,000 to 123,000, Tennessee 133,000 to overproduction. But there should be more farmers raising things needed in their immediate territory. One has but to watch the express as it is unloaded to see the produce coming in to take away our dollars and make some other community prosperous. But the proper coordination of farmer and his market is not brought about in a day. A county agricultural agent can best promote it. Let's have one for 1929.

124,000 and so on. Blaine had California 102,000 to 89,000, Illinois 337,000 to 312,000, Iowa 197,000 to 177,000, Massachusetts 146,000 to 122,000, New Hampshire 43,000 to 39,000, Ohio 400,000 to 368,000 and so on again.

The two Cleveland-Harrison contests show even closer results in some states. In 1888 California was carried by 7000, Connecticut by 334, Indiana by 2000, Michigan by 12,000. In 1892 Cleveland carried California by 290 votes, Delaware by 500, Indiana by 7,000, Wisconsin by 7000 and lost Ohio by but 1072.

In 1888 a change of 7200 votes in New York alone would have elected Cleveland over Harrison and in 1892 a switch of 26,000 in seven states would have elected Harrison over Cleveland.

In 1880 Hancock would have been elected if he could have picked up 10,517 Garfield votes in New York or changed 11,452 others in Maine, New Hampshire, Connecticut, Indiana and Oregon. In 1876 Tilden had more than 250,000 more popular votes and needed no more until the attempt was made to pilfer some of his electoral college votes.

Many more instances would be tedious, but it may be noted that such interesting figures have been consistently announced as something of a sensation for a long way back. A switch of 2200 Pennsylvania votes from Van Buren in 1836, for instance, would have thrown that election into the House.

In St. Louis the other day Miss Irma Mason, 18, married Henry Auer, 76. Maybe she merely wanted to improve the shining Auer.

Whatever has become of Senator Charles Curtis? Wasn't he elected to something or other this fall?

IS IT A SQUARE DEAL? The church has her fallings, she has her reticentness, she has her petty meanness, she is often wayward and indolent and has her many sins, but whoever will look frankly into her life will find the Presence and the glories of the Son of God.

High Offlight by RUTH DEWEY GROVES

THIS HAS HAPPENED Fate introduces JERRY RAY to ALESTER CARSTERS when he crashes his airplane into the camp she is sharing with her roommate MYRTLE. She likes his pilot, DAN HARVEY, but Alester shows her with attention.

Unable to buy a seven for a party he has invited her, Jerry slips one from the store where she works. He is attracted and she is discharged when she confesses. Dan tries to win her, but when he proposes to her, she does not believe in love but hopes to marry for money.

Alester makes advances which Jerry repulses. But when he learns that she has lost her job on his account, he offers her a place in a chorus.

Rehearsals are held, but she is befriended by EVELYN STARR, who is in love with JERRY. When Evelyn gets a job at the hotel which Jack takes exception to Jerry's presence, a scene ensues and Dan forces an apology from Jack.

Alester shows his jealousy, and Dan tells Jerry she is bringing him to her feet but to guard her reputation she must marry him first. Alester invites her to Atlantic City for the evening, but Jerry returns to attend a midnight party he wants to give the chorus and invites EVELYN, LEONINE, RAUDY to take her place. A short mention is made of the show review and promotion to the special dance number which Jerry so that she is the end of the first week on the stage she feels that she is not a failure in the new show.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXVIII WHEN Jerry emerged from Mr. Weinert's office she was all aglow with happy excitement. There had been a moment when she felt the nausea of failure rise within her, but Weinert's next words had dispelled that sensation.

"We have decided to put Jane Ormay back in her place," he had said in the beginning of the interview. Jerry stared at him, wordless. "To give you a chance to go on with Jack Beals," he added with a beaming smile.

Jack Beals! The best hooper in the show! "You mean . . . just Mr. Beals and . . . me?" Jerry stammered, unable to believe that it could be so.

"That's right, Miss Ray. You and the boy. We've got to pep up that second act before we take the show back to New York. It can't hold 'em for the big idea in the third. Clever man, Harrell, very clever."

Jerry knew, of course, that he referred to what the entire company was still talking about, the way Harrell had led the audience to believe they were in for an evening of disappointment before springing that garden pool scene on them.

"But I am . . ." Jerry paused. She was about to say "inexperienced," when she thought of Evelyn and what her friend would say to her if she talked herself out of a chance like this.

"I'd go with you," Jerry said, "but I've got to get packed in a hurry. We're leaving as soon as Alester comes back."

Evelyn stopped and looked at her with a suddenly grave expression. "I wish you were coming with me," she said. Then, excitedly: "Jerry, you won't miss the train in the morning?"

"If I do I'll get there even if I have to sprout wings and fly," Jerry laughed.

"You'd better depend upon the train," Evelyn called back as she hastened on to the elevator.

A BELL BOY got off it and Jerry showed him Evelyn's traveling

MR. WEINERTZ, however, seemed to read her mind.

Her short theatrical career hadn't yet accustomed her to late sleeping. Besides, there had been morning rehearsals to get her out of bed on most days.

"THEY walked to the Boardwalk and took a chair car. After a half-hour of this form of promenading Alester suggested a ride in a speedboat."

Jerry had seen these boats, with seats like those in automobiles and the same kind of steering wheel. She thought it would be fascinating to go out in one.

Motion was always exhilarating to her, she said to Alester, and he promised to take her up in his plane when he got back from the cruise. His promise brought Dan Harvey to Jerry's mind.

"Teach me to steer," she begged suddenly. She did not want to think of Dan.

When they returned to shore, somewhat half-sprayed and wind-blown, she had succeeded in crowding the unwelcome memory out of her mind.

She had been doing that all week, telling herself that what she felt for Dan was a transitory infatuation—something she mustn't encourage if she wanted to go on growing fonder of Alester, as she seemed to be doing.

"They lunched heartily at their leisure and at three they were off for Philadelphia.

JERRY could not down a feeling of guilt. When she promised Mr. Weinertz to make good there had been no thought in her mind of doing the least thing to jeopardize her future.

But Alester was in a very good mood. He was pleased with Jerry, pleased that she was to have a real chance with Mr. Weinertz, and elated that she had consented to go to Philadelphia with him.

Almost without being willing to admit it, he was building up something that might help him in case he ever seriously considered marrying her. She would make a good impression upon the people she was to meet tonight, he felt, and he wanted an ally at court where his mother reigned.

"There had been a change in Jerry. Little crudities that would have made him unwilling to introduce her to certain of his friends had disappeared through association with Evelyn Starr. Jerry was acquiring a manner as well as manners.

"I hope you will like Miss Mortimer," he said as they neared the Quaker City. "She's one of the few girls whose mother doesn't consider among the best."

Jerry wondered why he told her this. She could not help feeling that the remark was significant.

But she had something else more important to think about. What would she wear at dinner and where would she change?

Finally Alester himself settled the matter for her.

"We're going to have the Magnolia Rooms at The Kral," he said and waited for the answering remark he was sure Jerry would make.

CONTEST

All were confident of winning the extra $50 for their district for effort up to 9 o'clock tomorrow night. The two contestants, one in district No. 1, and one in district No. 2, who have turned in the greatest total amount of subscription cash for the period beginning at 8 a. m. last Monday, and ending at 9 tomorrow night, win the cash.

"You might just as well get that $50 ready for me—I'm going to win it," said one lady from district No. 2. She has never won a cash prize, and the campaign manager is going to watch with interest her progress today. In district No. 1, there are going to be some stiff voting arguments presented for the $50, according to reports.

Contestants who expect a better voting offer to come later in the contest, are going to be disappointed. The offer now in effect, and closing at 9 p. m. Saturday, is positively the best remaining opportunity of the entire campaign. Contestants in both districts are fast approaching a fever heat in the rush to win the extra money and the extra votes this week. At the same time, many are accumulating a good reserve to carry them through the final two weeks. The surging battle of the final days is now just around the corner—fifteen days more and the contest is over.

Workers are now settling down to real business in both districts. Grim lines of determination are etched deeply on the faces of callers at campaign headquarters. All seem to realize the importance of winning one of the $50 cash prizes this week. Everyone, apparently is bringing up every ounce of energy for the merry dash at 9 o'clock tomorrow night when the big offer ends.

Out in district No. 2, whole communities are beginning to line up solidly behind their favorites. There are storms of votes gathering in LeFors, White Deer, Miami, Noletta, and in communities on the rural routes that will break with considerable fury when the final rush comes. Winning first honors in this campaign will be something long to be remembered.

The time for accepting new entrants is almost up. Those who have been watching the progress of the campaign with interest, should get in now if they ever expect to accomplish anything. Everyone is given fair warning that he or she will have to beat two $20 clubs if they expect to win an automobile. The $20,000 offer for $20 clubs this week, however, would work wonders for any new entrant. Three $20 clubs would give any new entrant 240,000 extra votes alone, besides all the regular votes and the 2,000 for entering and the 10,000 for securing the first subscription. Those who consider a handicap of $60, or even $100, too great to overcome in the race for the $1,550 Buick, the $788 Whippet, and the $723 Chevrolet, should think twice before entering.

But for those already in—now is the time to kill two birds with one stone—win cash prize, and cinch an automobile too.

CHURCH

The Rt. Rev. Gerken built churches in five Texas cities and founded two schools. His unusual capacity for leadership placed him in the office of bishop as one of the youngest men ever to achieve that honor in this country. Before entering the priesthood, he taught school in several towns in this state. He was consecrated bishop of the newly erected diocese of Amarillo on April 25, 1927.

Music for the dedication and consecration service was sung by the choir, with solo parts carried by Mrs. George Wolfe, Mrs. Thomas Odell and Martin Muench. Mrs. Lynn Boyd sang Millard's "Ave Maria" as the offertory, with Mrs. Ruth Anne Mitchell playing the organ accompaniment. Mrs. A. D. McNamara played other accompaniments. "Holy God We Praise The Name" was sung in English as the closing number.

Prodigies Marry in Delayed Ceremony

NEW YORK, Nov. 26. (AP)—Nanette Guilford, the "baby" of the Metropolitan opera, and Max Rosen, a boy violinist from the east side, met three years ago, marveled at each other's talent and finally decided to keep the talent all in one family. But the parents said wait.

Walking down Seventh avenue last Friday, they decided they had grown tired of waiting and that led to their first quarrel. It was whether they should be married in Greenwich, Conn., or city hall. Miss Guilford decided on city hall, so it was there they were married. They announced the event at a family Thanksgiving dinner and moved to an apartment in West Seventieth street. All was forgiven.

Miss Guilford, a native of Harlem, was singing in musical comedies at the age of 13, and at 18, five years ago, made her debut at the Metropolitan. Rosen is 28 years old and was born in Rumania. He played the fiddle so well as a boy his father's barber shop in the lower east side that he attracted the attention of Edward de Coppert, who arranged for instruction under Leopold Auer. He made his debut at Carnegie hall 10 years ago and gained instant recognition as a concert violinist of the first rank.

The church committee is as follows: Henry Pohl, chairman; Lynn Boyd, Martin Muench, J. J. Devine, P. B. Mooney, Martin McGarrity, A. D. McNamara and A. B. Zahn.

Assassin of Bey Slain at Trial

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Nov. 30. (AP)—Alcibiade Babe, Albanian student, who assassinated Zena Bey, Albanian minister to Prague, was himself assassinated today at the opening of his trial. The assassin was a servant of a brother of Zena Bey, who was a brother-in-law of King Zovu of Albania.

An Italian newspaperman, the correspondent of Piccolo di Trieste, was seriously wounded by the assassin who was seized by the police.

The official court interpreter was also wounded. There was considerable confusion in the courtroom and gendarmes arrested the assassin, who made no attempt to escape.

GETS TWO YEARS FOR SLAYING HIS NEIGHBOR

BELTON, Nov. 30. (AP)—Ed Landers, Prairieville farmer, must spend two years in prison for slaying a neighbor in an argument over the ownership of turkeys. A jury yesterday found Landers guilty and fixed the punishment. Wilson Landers, a brother of the convicted man, is to go to trial on the same charge today.

Ed Landers said Alvey accosted him and accused him of driving away Landers' turkeys. When this argument was settled, Landers said, Alvey accused Landers' wife of driving away his turkeys. Landers took offense at this and struck Alvey. In the ensuing battle Alvey was stabbed to death.

UNKNOWN MAN DIES

A man known as Walcott and formerly employed by the McClurry Construction company working on the C. & O. W. railway over the Oklahoma state line, died in his room at Mobeetle late Wednesday night. The body is at the Malone funeral home here, while friends are endeavoring to locate relatives.

President Hopes to Kill Some Pigeons

SWANANNOA CLUB, Near Waynesboro, Va., Nov. 30. (AP)—After an active Thanksgiving, President and Mrs. Coolidge settled down today to get their country residence at Swanannooce affairs.

While the president engages in some clay pigeon shooting, Mrs. Coolidge looked forward to enjoying the pleasant walks which in attractive estate makes possible.

There was the hope of Mr. Coolidge, moreover, that he might find some quail shooting during his stay here, although none of his plans were definite.

Bred ewes need some exercise over winter. If winter pastures are not used, scatter the roughage over the field so that they will get exercise in feeding. Dry snow has no bad effect on ewes, but wet snow and rain may result in colds and pneumonia of serious consequences.

Utilize red clover straw and chaff by applying it to thin spots in fields which are to be in clover next year. This method materially improves the productivity of the clover and other crops.

The pine mouse takes an unfair advantage of the orchardist by inflicting damage on fruit trees underneath the ground where it is undetected. The best way to combat this rodent is to use a poisoned bait. Wooden "stations," drain tiles or wide-mouthed bottles may be used as containers.

Now that the pasture season is about over and the cows must be given more expensive feeds, it is a good time to check up on the herd and cull the unprofitable ones. At the same time take stock of the roughage on hand for winter. In event of a shortage, it may be more profitable to cull a little more closely than buy additional roughage.

HARVESTERS CLOSE SEASON WITH 35-7 VICTORY HERE

Panhandle Is Easily Outplayed By Local Team

In the last game of the season, the Harvesters celebrated Turkey day by trimming the Panthers of Panhandle to the tune of 35 to 7, tearing through the line almost at will.

Roberts starred for the Harvesters, making fine gains through the line, and playing air-tight football all the way. He had no difficulty in making gains of eight to 15 yards on off-tackle smashes whenever he took the ball. Walstad and Tracy also made good gains around the ends. Salsbury played one of the best games that he has played for the Harvesters. Stalls, playing his last high school game, was a tower of strength as usual, and was one of the biggest factors in breaking up the Panthers' offensive by hard tackling.

For the visitors, Davidson, fullback, made good gains around the ends of the line, while the diminutive but hard-hitting Holston went through the line for good gains. Davis, left end, proved himself a good ball-carrier as well as an efficient man in his own position.

Three Men Retiring
Capt. Bob Kahl, center and left end; Troy Stalls, star tackle, and Archie Walstead, quarter, played their last game of football with the Harvesters yesterday. The three stars of the local squad will be graduated next spring and will attend college. They have been real stars in the local squad and their flashy playing will be missed next season.

Captain Kahl was the pass receiver of the team. He is sure, fast and a steady player. Troy Stalls, giant of the team, has made half the tackles made by the Harvesters during the past season. For his size, he is fast and seldom is he out of play. Archie Walstead has been the speed merchant of the last two years. A streak of great lightning, Walstead has made hot many yards around the ends as great dinary back makes in a season.

A Punting Duel
Panhandle won the toss and took first to defend the north goal, line of off to Pampa's end zone. The ball returned to the 20-yard line, center, smashed through the tackles, set though carried the ball from the 35-yard line gains of 2 yards each. Robertou believe the 50. An incomplete pass and a 4 yards through left guard and into Pampa's 40-yard line. A pass that failed to connect and two line-backs gained the Panthers' only 2 yards, so Davis punted to Pampa's 30-yard line—a punt of only 10 yards. Walstad gained 9 yards around left end and Tracy followed it up with a drive through right tackle that was good for 4 yards and a first down. Walstad, attempting to get around right end, lost 5 yards. Roberts gained 3 yards through left tackle, and on a criss-cross, Chastain made 6 yards around left end. Kahl punted to Panhandle's 40-yard line.

Some Long Gains
A long end run around the left end of the line gained 5 yards and Holston lost 2 yards on a criss-cross. Davis punted to Walstad, who fumbled. Chastain recovered the ball and returned it 10 yards to Pampa's 25-yard line. Walstad went off right tackle for a gain of 8 yards and Tracy repeated through the same position for 6—and a first down. Walstad went around left end for 7 yards gain and Chastain for a gain of 13 and a first down. Roberts drove off right tackle for an 11-yard gain. Walstad made 27 yards through right tackle, carrying the ball to the 3-yard line. Two short bucks through the tackles by Roberts were sufficient to put the ball across the line for Pampa's first touchdown. Although Panhandle blocked the punt, the visitors were off-side and the point was allowed.

Punt Was Bad
The second touchdown came in the second quarter when Roberts made 5 yards through left guard for the tally, Stalls kicking the point. A bad punt that left the ball on exactly the same line on which it was put in play, gave Pampa the ball on the Harvesters' 21-yard line. Roberts gained 2 yards and Tracy followed it up with a smash off right tackle for 9 yards and a first down. A 3-yard gain by Roberts left the ball on the 8-yard line. Walstad ran around left end for the extra point. At half-time, the score stood 21-0, in favor of the locals. In the third quarter a march down the field and an 8-yard plunge through left tackle by Roberts accounted for another touchdown. A pass intercepted by Roberts gave the Harvesters the ball on Panhandle's 11-yard line. Walstad sprinted around right end and over the line for the final tally, bringing the score up to 34-0. Stalls kicked the extra point.

After Pampa was through scoring for the day, a pass, Holston to Davis, carried the ball from the 35-yard line to the 50. An incomplete pass and a 4 yards through left guard and into Pampa's 40-yard line. A pass that failed to connect and two line-backs gained the Panthers' only 2 yards, so Davis punted to Pampa's 30-yard line—a punt of only 10 yards. Walstad gained 9 yards around left end and Tracy followed it up with a drive through right tackle that was good for 4 yards and a first down. Walstad, attempting to get around right end, lost 5 yards. Roberts gained 3 yards through left tackle, and on a criss-cross, Chastain made 6 yards around left end. Kahl punted to Panhandle's 40-yard line.

An incomplete pass on the second down and a 3-yard gain around end, left the visitors with 8 yards to go on the fourth down. Holston dropped the ball into Davis' waiting arms in the end zone for a gain of 15 yards and a touchdown for the final tally of the game. The final score stood 35 to 0 when the whistle blew.

Bi-District Tilts for High Schools Next Grid Menu
DALLAS, Nov. 30. (AP)—With five of the eight high school football district championships determined, the race for the state prep gridiron title will be ready to enter the bi-district flight next week.

Amarillo, Abilene, Cleburne, Marshall and Main Avenue high school of San Antonio already have clinched their district titles. In district No. 3 Sunset high school of Dallas seems assured of the title, although the Sunset team must beat Woodrow Wilson high school of Dallas Saturday. The district 5 title now lies between Sherman and Greenville, neither of these two teams having been defeated.

Clank, Clank! Here's the Cavalry

The picturesque cavalryman of tradition may soon be only a memory, as a result of tests with a motorized cavalry unit made by the U. S. army. A detachment of seven armored cars, designed to replace the old-fashioned mounted troopers, completed a 2000-mile overland trip from Maryland to Ft. Bliss, Texas, and drew enthusiastic comment from officers in charge. Above is one of the light scout cars, fitted with two one-pounders that can be used as anti-aircraft guns if necessary; below is a heavier model, equipped with 30 and .50 caliber machine guns.

The playoff for the title is scheduled for Saturday, at which time Jeff Davis high school of Houston will play Port Arthur high school for the district 4 title.

The New Brunswick Panatropes will furnish the music at G. C. Maline Furniture Company's grand opening, Saturday. Hear "Sonny Boy."

Pampa Grid Men "Off" of Story-Book Football Tricks—But They Had Plenty of Fun Trying to Work This Strategy

Titles in South and East Yet to Be Won Securely

NEW YORK, Nov. 30. (AP)—Five of the country's seven major football championships have been decided. Only the east and south still are in the doubtful stage and the chances are that both will remain that way even after the returns are in.

Illinois captured the Western conference title last Saturday on the same day that Southern California won the crown on the Pacific coast, but the other three conference winners waited until Thanksgiving day to make their titles clear.

A driving snowstorm at Lincoln, Neb., made good football next to impossible but the Cornhuskers of the University of Nebraska took advantage of wheat breaks there were to score an 8-to-0 victory over the Kansas Aggies and walk away with the "Big Six" championship. Nebraska finished its conference schedule undefeated. By turning back Missouri, 16 to 0, Oklahoma finished in a tie for runner-up position with the Tigers.

Showing a surprising reversal of form, the Utah Redskins clinched the Rocky Mountain conference title by defeating the Utah Aggies, 20 to 0.

Forty-five thousand persons, the largest crowd that ever saw a football game in Texas, watched the Texas university Longhorns win the Southwestern conference championship by defeating Texas A. & M., 19 to 0.

A touchdown scored in the closing minutes of play gave Drake a 6-0 triumph over Creighton and the title in the reorganized Missouri Valley conference.

New York university's crushing defeat by the Oregon Aggies muddled up the championship situation in the east more than ever, but in the Southern conference only Georgia Tech and Florida are left in a position to broadcast any loud titular claims. Tech crushed Auburn, 61 to 0, while Florida was filling up a 60-to-6 tally on Washington & Lee. These two teams only

Story-book strategy failed to work yesterday during the Harvester-Panther clash when Troy Stalls "pulled a fast one" on a Panhandle substitute. To begin at the beginning, Stalls and his mate, Bob Kahl, were confined to their beds part of this week with severe colds. Joe Kahl, Sr., purchased numerous magazines for the two stars to read while convalescing.

The two read a good football story and decided to use one idea of its plot yesterday—as follows: Early in the fourth quarter the Panhandle coach sent a substitute linebacker into the game. As he appeared on the field, big Stalls stroled over to him, patted him on the back and said, "what's your name sonny?" "Todd is my name," said the sub. Stalls turned to Referee Campbell and said: "There's a penalty Mr. Referee; he talked."

The referee couldn't see it as did the official in the story.

As the next substitute appeared on the field, Capt. Bob Kahl asked for time out "while he kidded him," but that also was denied—another story-book trick gone wrong.

To end the story, the two boys had read of that happening in an alleged Harvard-Princeton game. Harvard winning the game when a Princeton substitute told, a Harvard backfield man his name.

of the 22 Southern conference members have met neither defeat nor tie. Tennessee and Louisiana State, unbeaten and untied in the conference previously, were held to scoreless draws by Kentucky and Tulane, respectively, while Virginia Polytechnic saw its perfect conference record go to smash before the attack of Virginia Military Institute, 16 to 0.

The eastern titular race, certain to be the subject of considerable debate, may be clarified somewhat tomorrow when Boston college, Army and Georgetown, three of the leading candidates, swing into action. Boston college, playing Holy Cross, has not been beaten nor tied. Army, which meets Stanford, last only to an inter-sectional opponent, Notre Dame. Georgetown meets Detroit, an undefeated aggregation.

Stewart-Snow Match Is Best of Unusual Card

Avery Hits Harder But Granite More Often in Match

Pampa fight fans saw one of the finest fights ever staged in the local arena last night at the Pla-Mor when Kid Granite won by a slight margin over Louis Avery of Tulsa in their 10-round go. Although scheduled as the semi-windup, the fight that really drew the interest of the crowd was the Speedy Snow-Kid Stewart affair in eight chapters that ended in a decision for Snow after a hectic flurry of gloves and fighters landing in the ring-side seats. Kid Stewart, 145, hails from Akron, Ohio, while Snow, 146, is now claimed as a Pampian.

Claud Anderson took the long end of three rounds in the first preliminary, keeping away easily from Jack Thomas' wild swings. Roy Simpson, 110, took three straight rounds from Holly Ash, 114, getting the better of every exchange and hitting almost whenever he wanted to. Andy Gump, traveller extraordinary, fighting at 117, took two out of three rounds from Curt Simpson, 115 in a rough and tumble affair that was mixing all the way.

Wildcat Is Tamed

Louis Von Arnade, advertised as the "Albuquerque Wildcat" took the count in the second frame when he happened into a wallop to the heart started on its way by Kid Night of Pampa (both fighting at 135). In the first round, the harder Night had him on the canvas twice, and in the second canto had the New Mexico lad weaving on his feet and unable to meet the heavy right sent him down for the count.

The last preliminary, between Jack Walton, 116, of Borger and Kid Rutter, 114, of Wichita, Kan., ended up with a decision for Walton, taking three out of four rounds, after a scrap that was a scrap. Last week, in Borger, these boys met in a knock-down and drag-out affair that was pronounced one of the best that had ever been held in the oil metropolis. Rutter was not up to form last night, and was spilled to the canvas once during each round. However, he put up a real fight in spite his handicap and gave Walton a job to win the event.

Big Event Mislaced

The semi-windup between Stewart and Snow, as it turned out, should have been the main event of the evening. The first two rounds went to Stewart by a comfortable margin when Snow went wild and started throwing gloves around with great force and accuracy, and with such telling effect that in the fourth frame the Ohio boy took the count of eight before he came up and fell into a clinch. Both the third and fourth rounds belonged to Snow who was attacking viciously and driving his opponent all over the ring with nasty rights. In the fifth, during a furious set-to, Snow and Stewart both went out through the ropes, Snow catching himself and remaining on the platform, while Stewart landed flat on his back on the floor of the auditorium. Before the count of five he was back in the ring and fighting like a wildcat. In the sixth round, both boys were out on their feet, but still fighting at top speed. Both were missing badly toward the end of the session, Stewart earning a draw for the round. The final round belonged to the Kid, Snow starting to weaken, apparently, under the punishment. It was the most fast and furious six rounds that has ever been fought in the local arena.

Avery Opens Well

Both Avery, the Russian Lion and Kid Granite weighed in at 135 for their match. The first round opened with and both carrying the fight at a fast both boys feeling around for openings tempo. Avery apparently was hitting a trifle harder than Granite and getting the better of the exchanges. The second round was even, Granite having a slight advantage in the infighting, while at long range, Avery kept the fight nicely in hand, still seemingly hitting harder than his opponent but Granite connecting oftener. Avery's body, landing stinging rights in the third, Granite was working on and lefts to the ribs and stomach. Avery was pinning up Granite's ears in nice shape and coming in contact with the Kid's jaw with considerable regularity. Once or twice he set Granite well back on his heels, taking a slight shade for the round. During the fourth, both were cautious, sparing for openings and frequently missing. To all intents and purposes this round was a draw, Avery still appearing to be hitting harder than the Kid. During the fifth round, Granite got warmed up to his work and shook the Tulsa boy with rights and lefts, landing with beautiful precision and forcing Avery to take the defensive. Granite was landing two blows to Avery's one and the Russian was missing by inches as Granite kept pulling his chin out of the way.

Granite Gives, Takes

Avery took the sixth session easily, out-guessing the Kid in every ex-

Texas Has First Southwestern Title in Eight Years

Gridiron guns that have wrecked the peace of the southwest for three months were stilled today and the battle flag of the Texas university Longhorns floated over the citadel. For the first time in eight years, Texas university found herself in possession of the conference football title. A smashing 19-to-0 victory over their dearest rivals, the Texas Aggies, before 45,000 fans, boosted the men of Littlefield into undisputed possession of first place.

For the first time since the season opened, the Orange machine came into full possession of its powers yesterday. For two quarters it was change. Both seemed inclined to mix the fight and Avery's timing of blows was perfect, while Granite had difficulty in connecting. However, Granite was also handing out punishment in large doses, and eliciting an occasional grunt from the hard Russian.

In the seventh, Granite again took the lead and chased the Tulsa across the ring, landing with both hands to Avery's face and body. A blow to the jaw moved Avery back four or five feet, and a rush carried him to the ropes. The eighth frame was anybody's, both boys fighting like wildcats and both giving and absorbing lots of punishment, but fighting with undiminished speed. If anything, Granite was hitting a bit harder than Avery in this round. The ninth frame again belonged to Granite. It was in this session that a right cross drove the visitor clear across the ring and into the ropes. Avery came off the ropes laughing, but it was evident that he was shaken by the blow, and for the rest of the round, seemed more reluctant to break than to dive into a clinch. The last round was a slight shade in favor of Granite, with Avery tiring. There was still plenty of sting in his punches, however, to make Granite wary of taking too many of them.

The management of the Pla-Mor announced as the feature of the night of December 13, a match between Walter Varner of Roxana and Duke Trammell, the winner to meet Tommy White, one of the best boys at that weight in the country. Jack Morrison of Borger was in Walton's corner, with his nose scattered promiscuously over his face, result of the Borger-Stinnett football game. Jack plays halfback on the Borger eleven. McCee refereed the entire card.

frustrated by the fighting Farmers. Then, as if realizing its strength, it crashed its way to three touchdowns.

The Arkansas Razorbacks, who finished second, were soundly trounced by the Longhorns early in the season. Any hopes the Southern Methodist university Mustangs might have entertained of establishing a claim on the crown were obliterated by their unexpected, but thorough rout by the Texas Christian Horned Frogs, 15 to 6.

By upsetting the Mustangs, the Frogs finished in a tie with Baylor university for third place. Baylor's youthful team closed its campaign with a 25-to-14 win over the Rice Institute Owls, whose record of five straight conference losses stands unrivaled.

Outside of the courageous, up-hill battle waged by the Longhorns to give Coach Clyde Littlefield a title in his second year as head coach at the capital city, the outstanding development of the season was the demoralization of the splendid Southern Methodist university team in the closing weeks of the marathon.

The Mustangs apparently shot their bolt when they licked the Longhorns, 6 to 2, the only defeat administered the champions by a conference team. The best they could do after that was a 19-19 tie with the Aggies. Then they caught successive thumpings from Baylor and T. C. U. The fact that their ace, Redman Hume, was on the sideline was generally regarded as the reason for their puny display against the Aggies and Baylor, but they didn't do much better with Hume in the line-up yesterday.

Coach Matty Bell's Christians electrified the stands by throwing a touchdown into the Ponies in the opening minutes of play and from then on the outcome was more or less obvious. Instead of playing the defensive game they were expected to, the Frogs dived in with both feet to sew up the decision before the half was over.

Strangely enough, the Mustangs compiled 18 first downs to five for the Horned Frogs, proving that figures can lie.

The Arkansas Razorbacks closed their books with a 73-to-0 rout of Southwestern university at Memphis.

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

International Sunday School Lesson
General Topic: Paul Before His Judges.
Scripture Lesson: Acts 24:24-27; 26:19-20.

Acts 24:24. But after certain days, Felix came with Drusilla, his wife, who was a Jewess, and sent for Paul, and heard him concerning the Faith in Christ Jesus.

25. And as he reasoned of righteousness, and self-control, and the judgment to come, Felix was terrified, and answered, Go thy way this time; and when I have a convenient season, I will call thee unto me.

26. He hoped withal that money would be given him of Paul; wherefore he sent for him the oftener, and communed with him.

27. But when the years were fulfilled, Felix was succeeded by Porcius Festus; and desiring to gain favor with the Jews, Felix left Paul in bonds.

Acts 26:19. Wherefore, O King Agrippa, I was not disobedient unto the heavenly vision:

20. But declared both to them of Damascus first, and at Jerusalem, and throughout all the country of Judaea, and also to the Gentiles, that they should repent and turn to God, doing works worthy of repentance.

21. For this cause the Jews seized me in the temple, and assayed to kill me.

22. Having therefore obtained the help that is from God, I stand unto this day testifying both to small and great, saying nothing but what the prophets and Moses did say should come.

23. How that the Christ must suffer, and how that he first by the resurrection of the dead should proclaim light both to the people and to the Gentiles.

24. And as he thus made his defence, Festus saith with a loud voice, Paul, thou art mad, thy much learning is turning thee mad.

25. But Paul saith, I am not mad, most excellent Festus; but speak forth words of truth and soberness.

26. For the king knoweth of these things, unto whom also I speak freely: for I am persuaded that none of these things is hidden from him; for this hath not been done in a corner.

27. King Agrippa, believest thou the prophets? I know that thou believest.

28. And Agrippa said unto Paul, With little persuasion thou wouldst fain make me a Christian.

29. And Paul said, I would to God, that whether with little or with much, not thou only, but also all that hear me this day, might become such as I am, except these bonds.

Time: A. D. 29.
Place: Caesarea, the Roman capital of Judaea, on the seacoast northwest of Jerusalem.

Golden Text: I was not disobedient unto the heavenly vision.—Acts 26:19.

INTRODUCTION
Five days after Paul arrived in Caesarea, Acts 23:28, his Jewish foes reached that place, Lysias having told them where to look for Paul. Some of the elders of the Sanhedrin came, the Sadducees, who were opposed to Paul the Pharisee. With them they brought a hired advocate, a Roman lawyer named Tertullus, who would know the Roman law and be able to make it appear that Paul was seeking to overthrow the Roman power in Palestine.

Tertullus began in approved lawyer fashion by flattering the "most noble Felix," and praising his rule. Then he proceeded to charge Paul with being "a pestilent fellow," "a ringleader of the sect of the Nazarenes," and—worst of all fomentor of Jewish insurrections in every land. Furthermore he declared that Paul had tried to profane the temple.

The Defence of Paul

When the apostle had a chance to reply—Paul began his speech with no rhetorical flourishes, and with no false flattery of Felix, whose wretched character was well known to him. His defence was a categorical denial of his enemies' charges, and a demand that they be required to bring evidence and proof. Paul's sole offence, he declared, was in serving the God of the Jews, his people according to the new fashion called The Way, having for his prominent teaching a belief in the resurrection of the dead. The governor postponed further consideration of the matter until the chief captain, Lysias, could come from Jerusalem and testify, and in the meantime he placed Paul in charge of a centurion, but gave him considerable liberty, and especially allowed his friends free access to him.

Paul Before Felix

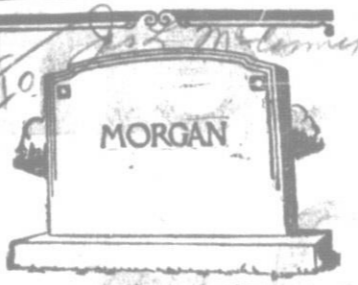

"But after certain days, Felix came with Drusilla, his wife, who was a Jewess." This Drusilla was a daughter of Herod Agrippa I, the man who slew the apostle James, the brother of John, with the sword, and who also threw Peter into the prison from which he was miraculously delivered. She was a beautiful young woman, only about eighteen years old at this time. "And Felix for Paul, heard him concerning the Faith in Christ Jesus." The implication is that Drusilla joined Felix in the desire to hear Paul.

"Go thy way." Anything to get rid of the disquieting monitor, "Go thy way," while Felix keeps on in "his way." "Go thy way" to eternal life, while the governor continued on in the path of eternal death. "And when I have a convenient season, I will call thee unto me." "We do not know to what earthly end Felix came. History tells us only that when, after two more years of wicked ruling, Felix was succeeded in the governorship by Festus, the Jews in Caesarea brought to Nero a charge against him, and it required all the influence of his powerful brother Pallas to save him from punishment. But he never found a "convenient season" for repentance and for acceptance of the one salvation for all sinners, of high rank or lowly station. Paul remained in prison for a time, and while he was expecting to be sent to Rome, King Agrippa arrived to greet Festus on his entrance into his rule. This personage was Agrippa II, the

COLD WEATHER DRIVING
During winter, both Magnolia Gasoline and Magnolia ANTI-KNOCK Gasoline are specially selected to give quicker acceleration than summer gasoline. It is still advisable, however, to have carburetors adjusted for winter driving as suggested by car manufacturers in their instruction books.
Have you changed to winter oil? Have the Magnolia Man drain, crank case and refill with the correct grade of Magnoline Motor Oil, the Dependable Lubricant.

That inch by inch fight through traffic, that incessant shifting of gears, that slow grind at five miles an hour—are "fast going". Not for your car, but for your motor! Every shift to first and second gear ordinarily made necessary, in slow-moving traffic represents high motor speed, and low car speed—an uneconomical ratio that "eats up" the gas.
A motor made powerful and smooth by Magnolia ANTI-KNOCK Gasoline, clears through traffic with less effort on your part and with fewer gear shifts. This means greater economy of operation.
A better fuel that gives you "stay-in-high" power, that's Magnolia ANTI-KNOCK Gasoline—

Growth of Malone Furniture Store Illustrates Recent History of City— Formal Opening Be Held Tomorrow

The spacious new G. C. Malone Furniture company store will be officially opened tomorrow. The new location is in the Murfee-McCullough building on North Cuyler street and it is the largest store building in the city. Although Mr. Malone will be absent from his store because of serious illness, Porter Malone will be in charge. The store is 82 feet wide by 135 feet long with a balcony 45 feet wide by 82 feet long. In contrast with the first G. C. Malone furniture store opened here July 3, 1924, the new home contains 10,850 square feet of space as compared with 790 square feet of space in the former store.

Beautiful displays of the latest models and creations of furniture from eastern markets are ready. Two carloads of new creations have been received during the last two weeks to add to the already large stock on hand. The furniture is beautifully displayed by an interior decorator employed by the company.

G. C. Malone came here from Amarillo July 3, 1924, to open a furniture store and undertaking parlor. He purchased the undertaking equipment owned by W. P. Davis and company and continued the business. The little store was located at the corner of Cuyler street and Kingsmill avenue where the large Duncan building is situated and where the Wade's store is situated.

With a very small stock of furniture, Mr. Malone began his business in Pampa, has built one of the largest retail furniture stores in the Panhandle. Delivery at first was made in a Ford coupe with trailer. Now three large trucks are used.

As business increased with the added population, the store was moved four doors south, where large quarters were secured. A year later a used furniture store was added, and a year ago a large funeral home and chapel were erected, the chapel seating 125 persons.

As business continued to grow, Mr. Malone contracted to have a large store built and into this new building the large stock of furniture was moved November 15.

Favors will be given the ladies attending the formal opening tomorrow. Music will be furnished by a Brunswick Panatrophe machine during the entire day.

In the absence of G. C. Malone, through illness, his brother, Porter Malone, has superintended moving of the store fixtures and been in charge of the business.

Sunday School Lesson...

son of Herod Agrippa I. He was the grand-son of Herod the Great, and Drusilla, the illegal wife of Felix, was his sister.

Festus took an early opportunity to lay before him the puzzling case of Paul, giving him a fair synopsis of the matter. "Now," said Festus, "I am obliged to send this prisoner to Rome, and I do not know which charge to send with him. Perhaps you can help me here." In dazzling robes the monarch sat on a sumptuous throne. Ber-nice by his side with Festus. It was a striking contrast when Paul, clanking his chain, was led into the scene of splendor. To the worldly eye he was a miserable prisoner, a wretched little Jew; but to a discerning spectator he appeared to be the only king in the hall a man of towering intellect and masterful spirit. Indeed, Festus and Agrippa and Bernice are only known today because that prisoner stood before them for half an hour.

Help That is from God
"Having therefore obtained the help that is from God, I stand unto this day." "Therefore" calls attention to the violence of the attack made upon Paul, the venom of his enemies, the variety and viciousness of their assault, and their long continuance now for many years and in many lands; no aid except that of God, could have preserved Paul in that day. The apostle had many friends, but they would have been powerless to save him without God's help. "Testifying both so small and great." God had told Paul that he was to preach Christ before kings (Acts 9:15), and here the prophecy was being fulfilled; but the apostle was just as ready to preach to the little handful of women at Philippi. "Saying nothing but what the prophets and Moses did say should come." "Moses" means the Pentateuch and "The prophets" all the rest of the Old Testament, for the historical books were counted by the Jews as prophetic.

Paul's Appeal to Agrippa
"King Agrippa, believest thou the prophets? I know that thou believest." Agrippa had been educated in heathen thing Paul had said about Jesus was in exact harmony with what they had foretold concerning the Messiah. "And Paul said, I would to God, that whether with little or much, not only thou, but also all that hear me this day might become such as I am, except these bonds." Paul may have been relieved from chains in prison, but on this occasion he was certainly fettered, and perhaps he suffered all the time from this burden and indignity. Paul stood there a free man in Christ Jesus. And he well might wish that he also stood in the same liberty instead of being the slave of sin.

With this impassioned utterance the hearing closed, and Festus with his guests withdrew to talk the matter over. They agreed that Paul had done nothing to deserve imprisonment, still less death, and that he might have been freed if his appeal to the Emperor had not taken the case out of the jurisdiction of Festus. That appeal, however, was presidential for it brought Paul to Rome, where he had to speak for Christ, before the sovereign of the Roman Empire himself.

"A Convenient Season"
"Some one has said that today has two great enemies—the one is yesterday, the other is tomorrow. Are we not reminded of that whenever we think of Felix, whose evil past was such a burden on him, and who talked of a convenient time—which never came?"—Rev. George H. Morrison, D.D.

"Felix and Drusilla did not understand that that hour when Paul stood before them was the pivotal hour upon which everything was poised, and that it tipped the wrong way."—T. De Witt Talmage.
