Machine Guns and Tear Bombs Used to Rout Boy

CHICAGO, Dec. 12. (P)—A 16-year-old negro youth today shot and wounded eight policemen, among them Deputy Commissioner Martin E. Mullen, before more than 200 policemen and firemen, using shotguns, pistols, tear bombs, and machine guns, succeeded in breaking into a building and killing him.

The crazed youth, Ernest Whitehurst, staged one of the most protracted barricades in the history of the police department with policemen firing on the building, in which he had made his stand, from adjacent buildings, telephone poles, and even from ladders.

Whitehurst threw a brick through a store window and the police pursued him to his home.

Cattle Shooting Angers Ranchmen

DILLEY, Dec. 12. (P)—"Bootleg hunters" and "headlighters" are arousing the ire of Southwest Texas ranchers.

The "bootleg hunters" invade private pastures without authority, hunting for deer. Many of them are classed as "headlighters," who use the headlights of automobiles to frighten and blind prospective game.

Unusually high prices for cattle have made ranchers redouble the numbers of their fence riders, for "headlighters" often either mistake cattle for deer or shoot them for the sport. One cattle man found three costly steers dead, with bullets between their eyes.

FATHER AND SON CHARGED BAXTER SPRINGS, Okla., Dec. 12. (P)—Charges of first degree murder will be filed against D. L. Nutt and his son, D. W. Nutt, 19, in connection with the fatal shooting of John Cole, 38, at the Nutt home yesterday. Leo Armstrong, Cherokee county attorney said today.

Homicide May Not Be Punished, Says Court Decision

AUSTIN, Dec. 12. (P)—Holding that the term "homicide" is not a legally defined offense with penalty, the court of Criminal Appeals today reversed and remanded the 18-year conviction of Thomas F. Whiteside, Jr., young Houston lawyer, whose wife jumped from a window and was fatally injured, allegedly from fear of him.

The Harris county jury Whiteside guilty of "homicide," and made his punishment for that supposed offense.

COURT HOUSE WORK WILL BE STARTED SOON

Agreement to Drop Litigation Is Reached

AN INJUNCTION IS DISSOLVED

Contracts for Building Being Re-Drawn Today

Newsboys shouting the Pampa Daily News "extra" early last night carried the first information of the settlement of Gray county's long-standing difficulty over the location of the county seat.

Members of the local bar and council for D. N. Massay and others of McLean reached an agreement yesterday afternoon by which the case was dropped and Pampa was recognized as the county seat. The case was carried to the Amarillo Court of Civil Appeals by Clayton Heare of Shamrock and Sherman White of McLean, who told The News their clients accepted the decision of the appellate court "in good grace" and were ready to drop the litigation.

An order was entered in 84th district court dissolving the temporary injunction granted October 3 to prevent issuance of warrants for construction of the courthouse. The lawyers, with the county commissioners, agreed that the appeal would not be carried to the Supreme Court.

Following this action, the commissioners ordered contracts for the building of the courthouse by the Case Construction company of Pampa re-drawn, and actual work at the site immediately south of Central high school probably will start early next week.

RUTH'S HUSBAND GETS DIVORCE—NOW WITH BYRD

PANAMA, Dec. 12. (P)—An interlocutory decree of divorce has been granted Lyle Womack from Ruth Elder, who was rescued by a tanker when she attempted to fly across the Atlantic.

The divorce action was instituted in the Canal Zone district court by Womack on September 6 before sailing for the Antarctic with the expedition headed by Commander Richard E. Byrd. In a deposition placed before the court, Womack's father said that unhappiness caused by Miss Elder was the main cause of his son's joining the south polar expedition.

King George's Chest Being Tapped to Remove Fluid

LONDON, Dec. 12. (P)—King George's physicians at 3:20 p. m., issued the following bulletin on the king's condition:

The slight improvement in the king's condition noted this morning is maintained. Some purulent fluid around the base of the right lung has been removed by puncture this morning and further drainage will be necessary.

The Prince of Wales was permitted to visit his father late last night after completing a dash of about 6,500 miles from the interior of equatorial Africa which he left two weeks ago.

While some quarters assumed that the prince would not have rushed to Buckingham palace if the end of the king had not been near, it was insisted at the palace that such a meeting would not have been allowed had physicians attending the king regarded the excitement as likely to have an effect immediately dangerous.

The king was sleeping when his son and heir arrived, but he awoke before the prince left the palace and his condition showed some improvement it was decided that the visit might be permitted without risk.

The prince dashed from the station and entered the palace by the garden entrance, which is a private way used exclusively by members of the royal family.

At the palace, the prince was shown into the apartments of the queen and he and his mother were left alone together to give reciprocal comfort under the still menacing shadow of the illness. Shortly before midnight he left the palace with the Duke of York, accompanying his brother to his home in Piccadilly, and then the prince went to his own residence at York House.

CHILDREN'S CLOTHING WILL BE COLLECTED ON THURSDAY

Thursday afternoon from 2 until 5 o'clock will be special collection time for clothing at the American Legion home. During those hours, ladies of the Legion Auxiliary will be at the home to receive any donations that may be brought to them. If it is impossible for the clothing to be delivered to the home, a telephone call to 206 will bring a car to get the bundle.

The response to the call for clothing has not been as great as expected. There is still a scarcity of children's clothing. The collection committee will concentrate their time this week to collecting children's needs.

The Legion investigation committee is operating with several names on its list. All needy families reported to the committee will be investigated and arrangements made for them to receive Christmas cheer.

Another important matter discussed at the meeting last night at the Legion home was the membership drive. Dr. Webb was elected chairman of the drive and C. G. Otterbach, assistant chairman. A buffalo feed will be given at the home the night of December 21. All ex-service men will be invited to attend. The membership committee will be in charge of arrangements. The buffalo meat will be brought from Goodnight and barbecued at the Plamford auditorium.

The auxiliary of the Legion will hold a Mystic supper in the home Friday night, commencing at 7 o'clock. The ladies have arranged an excellent program for the occasion.

At the intersection of two streets, men in another car opened fire on the bank car, shooting directly through the windshield. Adolph Kanter, one of the guards, was shot through the arm. The other guards and policemen were subdued by the robbers, who escaped with the payroll towards New York City.

CEDAR CREEK FIELD TO GET MUCH OIL PLAY

BASTROP, Dec. 12. (P)—At least eight new oil wells will be started within four miles of Cedar Creek before Christmas. Six wells are already either in or being drilled at present in this area, one of Texas' newest oil fields.

Cranfill and Reynolds No. 3 Yost, offsetting the No. 1 discovery well to the west, struck the top of the serpentine formation Tuesday at 1,398 feet, 90 feet higher than either the Nos. 1 or 2 indications were that the well would be brought in Wednesday, a better producer than either of the other two. When pay was struck, oil covered the rigging and overflowed the slush pit. The well was pinched in, pending setting of casing.

Phantom Honeymoon Has Tragic Ending

CHICAGO, Dec. 12. (P)—Dorothy Baker, the housemaid, whose "phantom honeymoon" to New York and Niagara Falls was ended by her arrest for stealing $2,100 from her employer, tried to take her life last night by swallowing poison.

THERE SHOULD BE A LAW AGIN SUCH AS THIS

WILLINGTON, Conn., Dec. 12. (P)—Two Parizeks and one of the Hipskys will marry two Hipskys and one of the Parizeks here Saturday. It sounds confusing but it is just a case of two sisters and a brother in one family marrying two brothers and a sister in the other family. Here is the way they will pair off: Ralph Parizek and Amelia Hipsky, Charles Parizek and Irene Hipsky, Paul Hipsky and Barbara Parizek.

Poultry Men Will Organize Next Tuesday

That a poultry association would be a benefit to this territory was recognized at a meeting of poultry raisers and citizens interested at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday. The advisability of holding a poultry show some time in January also met with approval and further plans will be made at another meeting to be held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms next Tuesday afternoon.

Several men interested in the organization of such an association were absent from the city yesterday, and no definite steps were taken. George Briggs, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, is anxious that everyone interested in poultry raising be at the meeting next week.

Local Residents Will Protest Plan to Restrict Gray County Drilling

A protest to the oil and gas division of the Railroad Commission against taking affirmative action in the State's petition to prevent drilling within 1,000 feet of the Red river in Gray and Wheeler counties was authorized last night at a meeting of citizens, oil operators, and land owners.

A resolutions committee, composed of T. D. Hobart, chairman; J. E. Williams, and James Shaw, was appointed to draft the protest. The counter petition will be submitted to prevent, if possible, the alteration of Rule 37,

BOYLE HOTEL BURNS EARLY TODAY THERE

Guests Trapped and Forced to Jump Into Bayou

BODIES FOUND AMONG RUINS

Mexican Boy Awakens Manager and Is Called Hero

HOUSTON, Dec. 12. (P)—Three men were known to have perished in a fire which swept the Old Boyle hotel here early today, and searchers braved a heavy downpour of rain to poke among the ruins, fearful that they might yield other charred bodies.

When the flames enveloped the entire building roomers cut off from the narrow stairway in its center could get away only by reaching a fire escape in the rear or jumping into the bayou back of the hotel.

HOUSTON, Dec. 12. (P)—At least two persons lost their lives in a fire which gutted the Boyle hotel here early today. The body of an unidentified man was found by firemen searching the ruins this morning after the body of J. J. Lindley previously had been removed from the debris of the building.

The hotel, located at 220 Louisiana street, backed on Buffalo Bayou. The Smith Transfer and Storage company, Dollar Tom's Place, and the Larooco Confectionery, adjoining the old building, were badly damaged by fire and water.

A little Mexican boy whose identity was not learned, was the hero of the fire. He waked R. W. Green, manager of the hotel, and gave the alarm.

Green said he ran from one room to another and knocked on each door until the guests answered and heard the fire call.

The hotel, owned by the city, was covered by insurance. It was erected in 1894.

There were 30 guests in the hotel last night. Most were forced to leave without dressing.

Shell Company Completes Borger-Pampa Pipeline

The Shell company, formerly the Roxana Petroleum company, announces the completion of an oil pipeline from Pampa to Borger. With the completion of eight miles of 4-inch line connections were made this week and Hutchinson county crude is being received here. The line is 35 miles long and is 4 and 6-inch in size.

Paul Guarin, known as "Pipe Line Guarin" of Tulsa, chief pipeline superintendent of Oklahoma and Texas Panhandle district, was here this week and made an inspection of the line.

which provides that no wells may be drilled within 150 feet of a property line. The State is seeking to recover title to the river bed, alleging that the Red river branch is state property under an old definition. Pending settlement of the suit, the State asks that drilling be restrained within 1,000 feet of the stream. The effect would be to seriously restrict drilling. M. K. Brown was chairman of the meeting. Prominent visitors included Judge H. S. Garrett and Judge Jameson of Fort Worth, and Judge Ray Johnson of Amarillo.

IT'S LIKE THIS—

HUTCHINSON county will dedicate her magnificent courthouse Saturday in a program that will begin at noon and last until midnight.

The oil riches of Hutchinson have been skimmed by the commissioners and the people to build there a monument to the sensational development that translated almost barren grazing land into a community of teeming thousands.

It will be a pleasure to accept Hutchinson's invitation to attend the dedication. We expect to be able to return the invitation before another year passes.

ARMISTICES are always welcomed. We believe the end of litigation in the Gray county seat fight will be welcomed by most of the residents of every portion of the county.

We believe the recent activities have been fair, sincere, and conscientious on both sides, all things considered. It should be a closed age in Gray county history, and there should be no permanent ill will.

EVERGREENS are pretty, especially at Christmas time, when green seems to symbolize the spirit of joy and generosity.

It is probably not true that all the evergreen branches seen represent destruction of a tree, or even of damage to one. But the custom of placing an actual "Christmas tree" in every home an offence ultimately will prove destructive.

We hear the wives don't buy the neckties any longer—they give the men the money equivalent and let it go at that.

WASHINGTON—It may not be epochal news, but my first interview with Calvin Coolidge, president of these United States of America, brought forth the fact that he had hair on his pin-striped blue serge suit—two hairs to be exact—that his hair is red (so were the ones on his suit)—that his sense of humor has been most underrated, and that one can imagine him a swell wisecracker if freed from a few inhibitions due to the dignity of his office.

"Interviewing" the president is not exactly an exclusive affair. The game begins with a doughty-uniformed policeman at the door of the executive wing. He very politely opens the door but he fixes one with a glittering eye that says "thus far shalt thou go and no farther till I know whence you came and why."

He is quite accustomed to the answer. "I want to see the president." He hears that several hundred times a day. He separates the sheep and the goats—those who are armed with letters from their congressmen and are to shake the presidential paw at high noon and those who can't just see him anyhow.

Proper identification, registration in the press book, and introduction to the chairman of the White House reporters, gives one permission to attend a press conference, which is as near to "interviewing" the president as even the loftiest come—and they say that the president has pointed out from time to time that he is under no obligation to be even that accommodating, and that if the newspaper boys and girls don't stop yowling for more and bigger favors he may do as his predecessor Wilson did and not even see them for five minutes at a time twice a week.

Pat McKenna, chief doorman and sergeant-at-arms for the executive offices, claps his hands much in the manner of Aladdin summoning the genie of the lamp. Three minutes past 12. Three minutes late.

The 30 or more reporters, all of the male persuasion but your humble author, begin surging forward like lambs to the slaughter. They are strangely silent. One senses that this is no time for wassail and revelry. The crowd pushes us into the inner sanctum—the president's private office. I find myself bumping the most famous desk of the nation—peculiarly orderly. I note that the paper clips are arranged in a design on a tray, and that even the business pins follow a pattern on their standard.

Somehow that desk humanizes the president. It symbolizes him as a working man, an office drudge who must get to his desk on time every morning, who has his clearest definite routine work ready for him—just another man with a job.

FARMS ARE FACTORIES.

Pampa News: Every farm in Gray County is a little factory. There are about 608 of them. If, by diversification or better methods, $100 is added to the gross incomes of each. There is $60,800, a sum that would liquidate many debts that stabilize the industry.

Six hundred and eight factories in one county where a generation ago there was not one such factory in progress. Every farm is a manufacturing plant. It takes raw materials and turns them into finished products. That is the best any factory can do. But what are usually listed as factories are conducted along rigid business lines. Exact bookkeeping, exact stock taking, exact accounting of income and expense—these all must be carried on in the office of the regular factory or it soon must go bust.

A farm factory need not go into the minutiae of accountability, of audits and checks and trial balances, of inventories, credits and collections. The farm factory as a rule sells for cash, and other factories envy the farmer for that. Most manufacturers have a lot of money owing to the man down a lot to offset it. If they could sell for cash they could save interest and the cost of collections and lawsuits.

This is one advantage the farmer has. He can maintain his business on a cash basis. But if he manufactures only one crop he can sell only at one season of the year. If he manufactures a diversified list of crops he may sell every month or every week. It is the sales end that makes the money or loses it. Having something to sell, and selling it, is what makes a business man successful. Having nothing to sell, he must depend on Santa Claus or the Ravens to support him.

And most people are becoming so sophisticated lately they have about as little faith in Santa Claus as they have in the ravens as providers. Moses was fed by manna from heaven, Elijah was fed by ravens sent miraculously, and Romulus was nourished by a wolf, but every one of those famous men is dead now. Their duck didn't last—State Press in Dallas News.

Professor Pitkin of Columbia says there are too many best minds. On the contrary, there didn't seem to us to be so many good quarterbacks this season.

A Chicago policeman is being sued for $50,000 for breach of promise. The trade seems to be shifting and rich men's sons are having a little competition these days from the wealthy police.

To hear Bolivia and Paraguay talk about it, you would think war is comparable to a football game. But war is one game in which the masses are the participants and the spectators are the chosen few.

We've been ridiculing those old laws all along, and now we feel vindicated since the State is trying to make us believe our sand beds are navigable streams, based on some ancient ruling.

Florida girls are more apt to get married than their northern cousins. And Florida men are more apt to be hit by a hurricane, or feel like they have been hit by one.

If Hoover's prosperity plan is a good one, we are to be congratulated, for with our churches, schools, courthouse, and roads we are putting it into practice.

There are two years the Democratic bachelor doesn't relish any more—leap year and election year, and this time they both came at once.

On the transit system in New York City, according to a statistician, 3,235,200,000 people ride in a year. The people who ride the subways know that the statistician must have meant in a day.

NEW YORKER AT LARGE

By G. D. Seymour
NEW YORK.—Several connoisseurs of good cigars, all patrons of the same tobacconist near Madison Square, have personal reason to regret that this Christmas will be Coolidge's last in the White House.

Ever since Mr. Coolidge became president, a New York friend has sent him each December a box of 350 specially manufactured cigars as a gift. The tobacconist makes 1,000 to 1,200 cigars, and from them he selects those of evenest shape and color for the president's Yuletide box. These would retail, he says, at a dollar apiece or more, but after the gift box has been filled the tobacconist disposes of the remaining smokes to some of his favorite customers at much less than that, and they acquire not only a humidor full for their own use, but several small gift boxes made up for their own friends. One of these buyers of presidential "seconds" already has spoken for all the cigars that are left over this holiday season at 35 cents apiece.

A POT OF GOLD
 The New Yorker At Large told recently of Matthew C. Brush and his collection of 1,900 elephant images, and mentioned the annual stag dinner for which he is famous. It develops that these dinners are financed by the fees Mr. Brush gets for attending directors' meetings.

He is a director of half a hundred or so corporations, and whenever he goes to a board meeting he gets a $20 gold piece for attendance. The gold pieces he tosses into a pot which, after twelve months, contains several thousand dollars, and the funds go some distance toward paying for the dinners.

One year Mr. Brush had his feast in the ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, and since it was just before the circus opened at Madison Square Garden, he got the Ringling brothers, who were among the guests to install cases of animals clear around the walls. The tables were arranged in three rings. At each place was a place card in three panels. The guest found his place by finding his picture in the center panel of the place card. He opened the left panel to find a picture and a short biography of his neighbor on the left. The right panel had a similar picture and biography of the neighbor at his right. Thus hundreds of guests, many of them strangers to each other, were enabled to get acquainted quickly and without introduction.

BROWNIE FIREMAN
 Most New Yorkers who live in the neighborhood of 104th street have noticed the little terrier which always rides on the fire truck of Engine Company 53 and barks sharply as the company races through the streets in answer to an alarm.

Brownie, the mascot of the company goes out on every call, and he barks from the minute the gong begins to ring until the scene of the fire is reached. Moreover, he follows the firemen into burning buildings, yet he hasn't a scar to show for his devotion to his comrades of the hose, for although he stays to the finish, he always is out of a building with the last fireman—some times just before a wall falls in.

Jailed By Mistake
OZARK, Mo. (AP)—G. Purd Hays an attorney, while talking with a client was locked in a cell of the county jail. The sheriff had the only keys and he was out of the city for several hours after Hays was locked in.

Add Economy Tips
ROSEWOOD, Minn. (AP)—Folk county commissioners plan to save taxpayers money by denaturing 2,000 gallons of seized "moonshine" with kerosene and dispensing it as "anti-freeze" solution for motor cars.

Not Superstitious
NEW IPSWICH, N. H. (AP)—Fisher men here are not superstitious. Fishing parties for horned pout, conducted at midnight in two ponds in a cemetery, are not uncommon.

Chinese Farms Encouraged
KAIFENG, China. (AP)—Seeking to encourage agriculture, Gen. Peng Yuhsiang, overlord of three provinces, has ordered his arsenal here to manufacture farm implements for distribution among the farmers.

Sentenced To Church
CLINTON, N. C. (AP)—Four young men here were sentenced to attend church services for four consecutive Sundays when found guilty of gambling.

Reforestation Fostered
RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—To aid farmers in reforestation of areas not providing natural forest growth, the state has 350,000 pine seedlings, grown at a state nursery, for distribution next spring.

Watches "Magnitized"
PARIS. (AP)—Half the watches in Paris are magnitized and keep poor time, says Georges Bigourdan, chief of the International Time Bureau. This is due to the growing use of electricity, he says.

WOMEN SUCCESSFUL STATE FAIR SECRETARIES

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—The position of fair secretary or manager usually is thought of as "a man's job," but many women are serving in that capacity in various parts of the United States.

Ralph T. Hemphill, secretary of the International Association of Fairs and Expositions, says they are "working wonders."

Outstanding because of their long tenure of office or the importance of the fairs of which they are secretaries are Miss Mabel L. Stire of the Mississippi state fair at Jackson; Mrs. Ella S. Wilson of the Oregon state fair at Salem; Mrs. Ethel Murray Simonds, Tulsa state fair in Oklahoma; Mrs. Eva J. Swartz, West Virginia state fair at Wheeling, and Miss Lelia C. Neer, Georgia state fair at Savannah.

In addition, several important county and district fairs throughout the United States have women secretaries. Included in this list is the Ozark District Fair at Carthage, Mo., under the direction of Miss Emma Koppel.

Longest in point of service as secretary-manager of a state fair is Miss Stire, who has been acting in that capacity since 1915. In months of the year when fair duties are not pre-empted, Miss Stire is manager of the municipal auditorium at Jackson.

Mrs. Simonds left a small Missouri college in 1908 and started work in the office of the Missouri state fair at Sedalia.

It was only a few years until livestock exhibitors, horsemen and concessionaires all over the United States knew "Ethel Murray, assistant secretary of the Missouri state fair." In 1916 the Oklahoma Free state fair at Muskogee, needed a manager and she was selected. She stayed there eight years with the exception of two years when she returned to Missouri and married Dr. W. W. Simonds. During those eight years, the Oklahoma Free state fair became one of Oklahoma's two big expositions.

In 1915 when Tulsa, the oil city, wanted a fair, Mrs. Simonds organized it and has been at the helm since. All but two of the permanent buildings on the Tulsa grounds have been built under her regime. This year, livestock from 18 states was exhibited. Mrs. Wilson has been with the Oregon fair in some capacity for 14 years. She has seen it increase from a small exposition to one of the best in the northwest.

RANGES NEARLY NORMAL IN TEXAS
OBSERVER ASSERTS

AUSTIN, Dec. 12. (AP)—Texas ranges continued to decline during November, but recent rains have been of great benefit, H. H. Schutz, federal livestock and crop statistician, reported today.

Range cattle have lost flesh on account of declining ranges, but have held up well generally, and will go into the winter in good condition. Cattle prices on the range are somewhat lower than a month ago. Hog prices also showed marked declines during the same period. Prices of sheep and goats on the range have increased slightly. Demand for breeding ewes still continues, indicating a strong tendency toward expansion in the sheep industry. The wool market has shown recent increased activity, with more favorable prices.

Condition of the Texas ranges December 1 was 84 per cent, two points less than a month ago and one point lower than the five-year average. In many cases ranges had become extremely dry and stock water was running low. Since December rain has improved ranges and they are now very near normal.

CAPITOL News

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
WASHINGTON.—The unique proposal of Representative Britten of Illinois that British and American naval committee memberships meet informally in Canada to talk out the cruiser controversy between the two governments all but took Washington's breath away, both officially and unofficially.

Not that Britten has overlooked a great many bets since he first came to Washington in the Sixty-third congress; but this was so very unusual. The suggestion was cabled to Premier Baldwin by the Chicagoan and handed out to the press in text at the same time.

Britten Active
 It set everybody to studying the Logan act all over again. That is the law enacted to curb meddling in inter-governmental affairs. Senator Borah was reminded of its existence when his interchanges with Sacasa, ousted liberal claimant to the Nicaraguan presidency, became public. Of course, nobody expected the Logan act would actually be invoked in the Borah-Sacasa case any more than it was expected to be called out for duty over the Britten-Baldwin message.

What was much more interesting to the Bystander was the light thrown on Britten's attitude of mind on his return to Washington to resume his duties as house naval committee head and with his commission to continue in that job through the seventy-first congress safely tucked in his pocket.

He has been a very active naval committee member ever since he first came to congress in the sixty-third. He was a thorn in the side of Uncle Joe Daniels, then naval secretary. It's quite clear he plans to be even more active as committee chairman, a job inherited on the death last season of the veteran Butler of Pennsylvania. Perhaps the Baldwin message is to be construed as Britten's first bid for promotion to the senate. Who knows but Britten?

Previous Peace Efforts
 Among Britten's other notable activities figures his success in getting the Army-Navy football game of 1927 played in Chicago. Last session he followed that up by efforts to legislate a compromise of the inter-academy row over player eligibility which led to the existing rupture of football relations and scrapping of the famous and colorful service and sport classic. The army ducked Britten's efforts, so that his new and startling role as volunteer international peace makes is founded on no previous success as an arbitrator or conciliator.

About Britten's first act on November 7, when his own re-election was assured, was to telegraph bad news to a veteran employee of his committee, Frank Byron, one of the two negro committee clerks "on the hill." Byron was reduced to assistant clerk.

Pioneers in Every Line of Work
Members of Historical Society

CANYON, Dec. 12. (Special)—The membership list of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society might easily be mistaken for that of the well known service clubs, such a great variety of professions and business interests are represented.

The cattle industry probably has more representatives on the roll than any other, such men as R. B. Masteron of Amarillo and Mark Huseby of Mobeetie among them. Martin S. Garretson of New York represents the American Bison Society which J. Marvin Hunter of Bandera is a magazine editor.

The detective brotherhood has J. Frank Norlett, famous rancher detective on the list, and the railroad fraternity has Avery Turner on the roll.

Among the life members there are more lawyers and teachers than any other professions. Representatives of these are Judge A. J. Fires of Childress, J. O. Guleke of Amarillo, Colonel R. P. Smythe of Plainview, J. D. Hamlin of Farwell, Professor S. H. Condon of Canyon, President H. T. Burton of Clarendon Junior college and Miss Hattie M. Anderson of Canyon. The last named was the first life member and the organizer of the Society.

J. R. Kelso of Cape Girardeau, Mo., president of a large public utility company lives farther from the headquarters of the organization than most of its members. Frank Kell, capitalist of Wichita Falls, is a life member whose personal history is typical of the most successful men of the rapidly developing Southwest.

The women whose names are on the roster include Mrs. W. W. Wetzel, pioneer of Amarillo; Mrs. T. D. Hobart of Pampa, who has lived in the Panhandle for nearly forty years; Mrs. Sam Isaacs and Miss Capitola Gerlach, of Canadian, both prominent club women of Texas.

Guiding Your Child

HIS I. Q.
By Mrs. Agnes Lyne

In this day almost every mother knows that her child has an I. Q. She understands vaguely that this represents the measure of his intelligence. A high intelligence quotient fills her with pride, a low one depresses her.

The I. Q. is the ratio of the individual's mental age to his chronological age and supposedly measures his native intellectual endowment. A child whose mental age is six and whose chronological age is six, is thus said to have an I. Q. of 100, which is considered normal. A child whose mental age is ahead of his chronological age has an I. Q. a corresponding degree over 100, a corresponding degree below 100.

Although it is true that a high I. Q. indicates that the child has superior mental endowment, a low I. Q. does not think, prove conclusively that he has a poor one. The quality of his environment and the richness of his home background are among the factors which exercise a profound influence on the swiftness and accuracy of his response to tests.

In a certain school system all the four-year-olds were given one of the standard tests on their entrance into kindergarten in September. It was found that among those children whose background had been stimulating, the mental age level was generally much higher than it was among those whose homes had not offered such good opportunities for mental growth.

When in January the children were again tested it was found that the mental age of the privileged children merely progressed at the same rate as their chronological age, that is, their I. Q.'s remained the same. But an amazing thing had happened in the cases of the children whose homes had not been stimulating and for whom the kindergarten was a sudden and wonderful enrichment of experience; their I. Q.'s shot up from 10 to 20 points.

When we are given to understand that a child has not come well in his mental test we need not necessarily accept these findings as absolute and conclusive. We should, however, make sure that we give him the right sort of play materials at home and sufficient mental stimulation to wake him up and set his brains to doing their best.

Progress of Aviation Told by President

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12. (AP)—The progress of man's efforts to conquer the air, going back to the fourth century before Christ was outlined by President Coolidge today in an address before the International Civil Aeronautics Conference.

Mr. Coolidge drew a picture of flying especially of heavier-than-air flying in the present day which showed the great strides of this new industry since the Wright brothers rose from the sand dunes at Kitty Hawk, N. C., twenty five years ago in the first sustained flight in a machine driven airplane.

He pointed out that in 1926 the value of the aeronautics industry in the United States was $5,000,000 and that it now is $150,000,000. Regular flying in this country, beginning with a short air mail line, he said, has increased to 15,500 miles and plans were under way to extend international lines to the Isthmus and South America.

New Mexico Has 37 Denominations

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12. (AP)—There were 37 religious bodies or denominations in the state of New Mexico in 1926, with 1,098 organizations or churches reporting 215,547 members, the department of commerce announces in its census of religious bodies with 1,076 organizations and 209,809 members in 1916.

Church edifices in 1926 totaled 817 against 712 10 years earlier, and value of these properties is placed at $4,361,099 and $1,951,963, respectively. Current indebtedness is estimated at $345,673. As the term "member" has a variety of uses, each church was requested to report the number of members according to the definition of membership in that church or organization. In some religious bodies the term member is limited to communicants; in others it includes all baptized persons; and in still others it covers all enrolled persons.

CHAPTER XLVIII

EVYLYN lifted Jerry away from Dan and led her to the chaise longue where she had reposed for a short while on the occasion of her first visit to the Rolling Stone Inn. Then she looked around for a bell to summon help and when she found one she rang it repeatedly. After that she went to the bathroom and brought a glass of water to hold to Alester's lips.

When he revived Alester was still at the telephone and Jerry was a sobbing, distraught heap on the silk pillows. Dan struggled to sit up on the floor, and fell back weakly. His eyes closed again and his face gradually became colorless.

Evlylyn herself was beginning to succumb to the horror of the situation when help arrived. She had found a moment to perform one merciful act that nearly shattered her nerve to control. Over the dead girl she had placed a sheet, that she tore from Leontine's bed.

And when the curious followed the servants to the room the tragic sight of a butterfly who had winged home on a murderer's bullet was denied them.

No one seemed to pay any attention to Alester, who sat before the telephone and stared like a madman at the others in the room. He had got the number he'd asked for but now that he had time to realize what he had done he was terrified.

The value of church edifices represents the value of the buildings to gether with the land on which they stand and all furniture, organs, bells and furnishings owned by the churches and actually used in connection with church services. It does not include the value of buildings hired for church use or buildings owned by the denominations but not used for religious services.

They were at breakfast in the sunny, tile-floored, cheerfully furnished breakfast room from which they could look down to the Sound and out beyond to the spot where the Carstairs yacht rode at anchor in majestic idleness, when the butler came to inform them that a police inspector was waiting to see them.

"Show him into the library," Mr. Carstairs directed. Then, to Alester, "Remain here until I send for you."

But he did not send for the shaken young man who paced the room in a fever of fear and dread. In 20 minutes he was back and Alester turned to him as a drowning man would clutch at a straw.

"They tell me you called the police to the inn yourself," his father said to him.

Alester nodded.

"I don't suppose you knew what you were doing but it was a fortunate thing, because your name couldn't have been kept out of the affair, I'm afraid, even if you'd tried to hush it up."

"What are they going to do? Do they want me?" Alester cried in torment.

"Not as a prisoner," his father answered contemptuously. "But I've given my word that I will be responsible for your appearance wherever it is required."

Alester sank down in a chair and buried his face in his hands.

"I trust you not to leave the grounds," the elder man went on, with an edge of scorn in his voice. "In fact, I shall see that you will be immediately apprehended if you go outside the gates."

Alester bowed lower before his stern decision.

BUT, how low as he might, he could not be lower in spirit and hope than a grief-stricken girl who hovered over the hospital cot of a wounded man and prayed for his recovery.

If Dan should die. . . If he left her without one farewell word. . . "You must go away, Miss Ray," a nurse told her.

Jerry pleaded to stay. "Just until Mr. mother comes. He can't be left alone—oh please don't drive me away. . . he might call for me. . . he might want me. . ."

Outside the building the newspapers were ignoring the street warnings: "SILENCE—HOSPITAL," and calling the headlines relating to the tragedy at the Rolling Stone Inn. "Millionaire's son—bootlegger—show girl. . . Jerry did not hear it.

Neither did she know that Evlylyn guarded her from interviews and kept her from reading the papers. When night came she was bundled into Mr. Welburt's motor car and taken to her hotel on the orders of a physician. There Myrtle came to her and sat with her until morning. . . inarticulate Myrtle told her, "Gee, kid, don't cry so hard, over and over."

Evlylyn was back again at seven o'clock. She made Myrtle take a hot bath in Jerry's tub, eat a bite of breakfast and lie down to rest until time for her to go to work.

JERRY could no longer be restrained from returning to the hospital and when she got there she found Dan's mother at his bedside.

Jerry's mental picture of Dan's mother had been of a woman who might be either fat and contented or shrunken and tired like her own mother—at least she had taken it for granted that Mrs. Harvey would be akin to all mothers she had known—except, perhaps, Mrs. Starr. Jerry knew that Evlylyn's mother had been born into decadent aristocracy.

Dan had seemed so natural in his manners, so simple and unaffected, that Jerry had never imagined he belonged to a socially well-placed family.

Her experience with prominent people had been only with those who moved on the uppermost crust of the social world. She did not know much of people who lived in unostentatious comfort, with well-filled libraries and exquisitely fine linen, coin silver for heirlooms, and a taste for chamber music and art exhibits.

She had always thought of public spirited clubwomen as meddling busybodies. Of course she did not know that Mrs. Harvey was a leading clubwoman, else she might at least have been prepared to meet a woman of efficiency.

She expected, when they told her Dan's mother was there, to find a weeping, moaning woman at his bedside. Instead she saw a slender, quietly dressed lady—the word came to her unconsciously—sitting with one of Dan's hands in hers.

Mrs. Harvey turned as the nurse came up to her and whispered Jerry's name. Then she placed her son's hand tenderly on the coverlet and rose to meet this girl her son had talked about.

They looked at each other silently for a few seconds; then Jerry found her hands clasped in rose-soft palms and heard a beautiful voice saying: "My son wanted to marry you. You love him, don't you?"

Jerry answered in a choked, broken effort: "Will he live?"

Dan's mother put an arm around her. "If God is willing," she said in a whisper. "Let us ask Him. I want my boy to live now more than ever. I've never had a daughter, Jerry."

TOGETHER they knelt by Dan's side and sent up their piteous pleas. Jerry prayed blindly, without words—the mother asked of an Almighty Father the earthly existence for yet a little longer of one of His own children—that he might not be taken away from her while his manhood flowered at its perfection.

Then they were sent away. Jerry begged with anguished eyes to remain; these she could not control although she muted her lips, pinched them in to hold back the words that were wrung from her heart.

"No." The nurse shook her head with a gentle firmness. She did not tell them the crisis was approaching. "Dr. Claver is ready to dress the wound," she said simply and Jerry submitted to being led away.

A half-hour later they were allowed to return. The doctor was with Dan.

"How is he?" the mother asked.

"Stay with him," the medical man replied. "He may return to consciousness at any moment."

"And. . ." the tremulous words hung in the air like a sword of doom.

"You will have him back. . . or you must. . . say goodbye to him," the doctor told them quietly.

JERRY sank into Mrs. Harvey's arms. The doctor helped to seat her in a chair by the window.

"I will sit by my boy," Mrs. Harvey said in a voice that sounded like a silver wire drawn to the breaking point and played upon by skeleton fingers.

An hour went by like eternity. Mrs. Harvey's eyes never left her son's face. Jerry fought to keep herself away. . . it was his mother's right to have his first—and perhaps his last—words, she told herself.

Her head was buried in her arms when she heard her name called. And there was Dan looking at her, and his mother, smiling the smile that mothers have smiled through the ages—the wistful smile that accompanies the delivery of their own into the hands of the mother-in-law who succeeds them.

Jerry flew to the bed.

In a moment the doctor placed a hand on her shoulder. Dan let her go at the physician's command.

But later she was allowed to be with him for half an hour.

"What is that on your finger?" Dan asked, staring at her left hand. Jerry giggled—yes, it must be said—she giggled, but oh so happily.

"It's your mother's wedding ring," she said. "She gave it to me downstairs when. . . when we didn't know if you would live to give me another one."

"Plain gold," Dan said softly. "No platinum or diamonds, Jerry, darling."

Jerry closed her eyes in sharp recollection of a scene she must live with all her life—a beautiful golden ring on a velvet carpet—a still, lifeless girl to whom jewels mattered not. She seemed to see a price tag on the girl's rich surroundings. "Love."

For love, she knew, was what she herself had been willing to sacrifice to live as Leontine had lived—in luxury.

"Maybe your mother," she said softly, "will let us keep this one. I'm sure it has made her happy."

Dan laughed. "Jerry, you're hitting my name is not Cupid but at least it's Dan."

First Basketball Game Will Be 7 p. m., Tomorrow

The time of the Pampa-Gladstone basketball tilt tomorrow night in the new gymnasium has been changed from 8 o'clock to 7 o'clock because of the boring match at the Pla-Mor auditorium at 8:30 o'clock. Fans will be disappointed both shows during the evening.

It will be the first game in the new gymnasium and plans are being made to handle a record crowd. The high school boys have been practicing hard on their new indoor gymnasium. With seven of last year's lettermen back this term and with new material showing up nicely, the coaches are having some difficulty in picking a team. All the aspirants will have a chance to show their wares tomorrow night, Coach Mitchell says.

There is a seating capacity of more than 500 in the new gymnasium and to judge from basketball talk this fall, those seats will be filled to capacity practically every game.

"Although the boys lack indoor training and experience on wood floors, they are shaping up nicely, and with constant practice and encouragement some fast basketball should be seen here this fall," Coach Mitchell says.

Denton Eagles Overwhelm Baylor in Basketball Tilt

DENTON, Dec. 12. (P)—Baylor university's chances of winning the Southwest conference basketball crown appeared weak after the Bruin Cagers were trounced, 46 to 17, in their opening game with the Denton Teachers' college Eagles here last night. The Eagles used three full teams and scored almost at will on the conference club.

C. U. Banquet For Football Men to Be Dec. 20

FORT WORTH, Dec. 12. (P)—The regular football banquet held each year at the close of the season for the Texas Christian university grid squad is scheduled for Dec. 20, according to Athletic Director L. C. "Fete" Wright. At that time, letter awards will be formally presented to twenty-one members of the Frog team.

The recommendation for letters has already been passed upon by the athletic council, according to Chairman E. W. McDermid. The leader of next year's team is expected to be chosen in the near future.

The banquet will be attended by all members of the squad, as well as by the members of the freshman team. A feature of the evening will be the presentation of the Dan Rogers trophy to the player voted the most valuable member of the team. Each year three judges are selected who attend all of the Frog games and decide upon the recipient of the award.

The trophy was first presented in 1925 when Herman Clark, star quarterback, received the first award. In 1926 it was given to "Hags" Matthews, Frog all-star selection at end, who was awarded the honor. Last year, Merlin Toler, end, was honored for his consistent kicking and work on the 1927 team.

The initiation of the new wearers of the Purple "T" into the "T" association, the varsity athletic society of lettermen is scheduled for the day following the banquet. Ody Thompson, three-year letterman in the Frog backfield, is president of the association this year.

During the day of initiation, the new members of the society are at the mercy of the old members, and the Frog student body is usually entertained by the signs of their grid hero's new and embarrassing postures. The day is ended with a formal initiation in the evening.

Members of the 1928 football team who will be up for initiation include Austin Gaffney, fullback; Cyrus Leonard, half; Phil Handler, guard; Leo Reid, guard; Nobis Atkins, center; Robert Moore, tackle; Howard Barker, end; Bob Alexander, end; Clyde Robinson, end; Obed Martin and Harry Atkins, half.

Only Two Deals in Baseball Finished

CHICAGO, Dec. 12. (P)—The American league player market is still bullish, but the Beane persevered with great expectancy for the big break in prices as junior circuit officials and club owners went into a huddle again today.

Several deals for trades and outright sales of playing talent were expected to be consummated.

Only two deals were made after a session of conference among managers yesterday. One swapped George Dill, Cleveland pitcher, to Detroit in exchange for Shortstop Jack Tavener and Pitcher Ken Hottel; the other was outright sale of First Baseman Johnny Neun to Detroit by the Toledo club of the American association.

Tramel Lately Is 'Bowling Over' all Aspirants to Title

Walter Varner, welterweight boxer, who claims the Roxana Petroleum company and Pampa as home, is due to meet more gloves than he has seen in some time tomorrow night at the Pla-Mor auditorium when he steps into the ring with Duke Tramel, the Fort Worth two-fisted cyclone. A new Duke Tramel has been born, according to recent press dispatches. The Fort Worth youngster, with a string of victories as long as his arm, seems to have taken hold of second life and has been winning some sensational battles.

Pug Humphries, Kid Rich, Harry Ryan, Jack Ecranbrack, and others appear among the list of under-rated aspirants to Tramel's title as the best welterweight in the Southwest. His specialty is an upper-cut and it lands after a few feet onto the head somebody is sure to hit the floor.

In the semi-final, Frankie Farrell will endeavor to make a comeback with Young Kid Stewart of Elorado in the other corner. Farrell has been out of the ring for some time, but says he is in good condition. He has put on weight and will enter the ring at 132 pounds.

Stewart is an unknown quantity, but he is red-headed and fans believe he will be good. He is not a newcomer at the game by any means and should show the kid, Farrell, several new tricks.

Following the preliminaries, a battle royal will be staged.

Reserve seat tickets are on sale at the Pampa Athletic & Amusement club.

May Let Hitters Bat for Pitchers

NEW YORK, Dec. 12. (P)—National league officials are in favor of 10-man baseball teams and pitchers who are just that and nothing more. What's more they will take their plan with them to Chicago for consideration at the joint meeting with the American league tomorrow.

John A. Heydler, just re-elected as president of the National league for four more years, suggested a radical change in the rules whereby weak-hitting pitchers would have somebody else to do their batting and base-running for them. While his club owners inclined a favorable ear, Mr. Heydler explained that he felt the rule change would speed up baseball and at the same time, obviate the necessity of having so many pinch hitters.

Provided the suggestion meets with American league favor it is possible that a special meeting of the rules committee would be called in time to place the suggested change in effect before the 1929 season starts.

Wright and Petty in Recent Trades

NEW YORK, Dec. 12. (P)—Trade winds have blown Jess Petty into a Pirate uniform in the same game that deposited Glenn Wright, late of Pittsburgh, in Brooklyn.

Wright, one of the greatest short-stops in the majors two years ago, will do his batting and fielding for Uncle Wilbert Robinson at Ebbets fields next summer, while Petty is pitching his lefthanded slants for the Pittsburgh Pirates. The trade was completed yesterday.

Managerial Roster Is Complete, But in Brooklyn Strife Is Strong and Robinson Holds Silent Control

BY ALAN J. GOULD, Associated Press Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12. (P)—Although baseball has hardly gotten settled in winter quarters, there isn't any room left for speculation over the list of 1929 major league managers. The roster for next year is complete.

Reappointment of Lena Blackburne to lead the Chicago White Sox and sidetracking of apparent efforts to oust the veteran Wilbert Robinson in Brooklyn have cleared up the only remaining doubtful districts.

The rival Brooklyn factions seem hopelessly deadlocked, so much so that they cannot even get together to talk over their differences. Meanwhile Robinson, as president and manager holds executive control and a contract that has another year to run at $25,000.

Four managerial changes have been made, two in each league. Bucky Harris remains a pilot, but shifts his operations to Detroit while his old teammate, Walter Johnson, takes the helm at Washington.

The National league champion Cardinals, who do not have much regard for the old axiom about charging horses in mid stream, have substituted Billy Southworth for Bill McKechnie.

Emil F. Fuchs, of Boston, reversing the procedure of Robinson, has added the responsibilities of manager to those however, that he will be quite willing to turn over most of the responsibility to Johnny Evers, who will associate himself again in Boston with such familiar figures as Rabbit Maranville and Hank Gowdy. This will be a reunion of the grand army of 1914.

The fistic whirl has had many a strange turn lately; strangest of all, perhaps, in Boston, where Jack Sharkey and Jim Maloney develop again as heavyweight contenders after having hit the chutes over a year ago.

Through the early stages of 1927, Sharkey and Maloney moved along impressively as two of the youngest, fastest and hardest hitting of the crop. Their match in May at the Yankee stadium was a "natural," but turned out to be a quick knockout victory for Sharkey. Two months later the sailor made a sorry showing against Dempsey.

Maloney's fragile chin became an apparently easy target. He was knocked out in one round by George Godfrey and Tom Heeney but staged a big come-back recently to beat Johnny Riako, who had as good a record as any heavyweight in action this year.

Sharkey has been erratic ever since losing to Dempsey. His victory over Arthur Dekub has no special significance but it may be necessary for Sharkey and Maloney to fight it out again, at least for the championship of Boston.

Dr. Ettlinger Long Active in Texas University Sports

AUSTIN, Dec. 12. (P)—The job of director of Intercollegiate Athletics of such a school as the University of Texas is a big one. I am going to put my best efforts into filling it and in this I shall need the helpful co-operation and encouragement of every loyal alumnus and true friend of the University.

Thus Dr. E. T. Ettlinger prepares himself for his work on the eve of his induction into one of the most responsible positions in the University.

On Saturday, December 1, Dr. Ettlinger, long a member of the mathematics staff of the University and long prominent in athletic circles in Texas, will assume his duties as acting director of athletics at the University. Dr. Ettlinger was appointed by the Board of Regents some months ago, upon their acceptance of the resignation of L. Theo Bellmont.

Dr. Ettlinger came to the University in 1913, and from the day he stepped on the campus he has served in the position of voluntary athletic coach. From 1913 to 1917, he was freshman and short-horn football coach, and his record shows that the teams he coached never lost a game and tied but three. He was assistant coach of the University team during the World War.

READ THESE FINAL RULES AND INSTRUCTIONS CAREFULLY

As a matter of precaution and to guard against possibility of loss to candidates through misunderstanding through these last days of the campaign, herewith are appended the final rules and instructions that must be observed. All candidates, particularly those residing in outside towns should read and weigh every line carefully.

- The campaign will end promptly at 9 o'clock p. m., Saturday, December 15, 1928.
- All subscriptions, reserve ballots and remittances must be in the News office at Pampa by that hour. The doors of the office will be closed and be locked promptly on the stroke of the hour, but all contestants who are inside at that time will be waited upon, and given ample opportunity to turn in subscriptions and votes, even though several hours are consumed. No one, however, will be allowed to enter the office after 9 p. m., until after the official judges have taken charge of the ballot boxes.
- If you live outside Pampa and intend to mail your votes and final remittances, take precautions to find out exactly what time your local postoffice closes, and concerning train service to Pampa. Positively no remittances received by mail later than 9 p. m., Saturday, December 15, 1928, will be included. All remittances sent after Thursday should come special delivery in order to insure their reaching us in time.
- All letters containing votes and remittances should be addressed plainly: Campaign Manager, The Daily News, Pampa, Texas. The Daily News or the Campaign Manager will not be responsible for remittances sent by mail which do not arrive in time.
- Examine your vote ballots carefully, and see that the proper number of votes have been given. If there is any error notify the campaign manager in writing before Thursday, December 13. Neither The News nor the Campaign Manager, will be responsible for any clerical errors unless notice is given before the final count commences.
- Be sure your name and district number is on every ballot before turning it in.
- UNDER NO CIRCUMSTANCES WILL VOTES BE TRANSFERRED FROM ONE CONTENDANT TO ANOTHER. THIS IS AN ABSOLUTE RULE AND WILL BE STRICTLY ENFORCED.
- Second payment must be marked as such on the subscription stub, also the amount of the first payment, in order that the proper difference may be credited. Neither The News nor the Campaign Manager, will be responsible for errors in second payment credits unless notice is given before the final count commences. The decision of the judges on the votes as issued will be final.
- Subscriptions this week will receive votes according to the Final Vote Schedule. It is final and conclusive and will never change. The scale on the book of receipt books is now void. Note the tremendous number of votes given this week on a 3-year subscription. The number is 104,000.
- Contestants may send in their reserve votes any time now, as the ballot box has been locked and sealed and will not again be opened until the official judges break the seal and begin the final count.
- All votes now in the possession of contestants have not yet been voted. They must be in the ballot box or in possession of the contestant in the campaign office by 9 p. m., Saturday, December 15, to receive credit. The same applies to all votes you receive this week under the final vote schedule. Neither The News nor the Campaign Manager, will be responsible for the counting of your votes unless you send them in.
- When sending in your votes, do not roll or fold them, but keep them absolutely flat, using little pieces of cardboard. Be sure to use special delivery stamps on all letters, containing votes and subscriptions.
- Positively no personal checks will be accepted in payment for subscriptions this final week. All remittances must be express or postal money orders, or the actual cash. If you have any checks given to you by subscribers, go to the bank and have them certified before turning them in.
- Positively no subscriptions will be accepted without the money, and no money will be accepted without the subscriptions. No subscription money will be refunded. No prize can be exchanged for cash or commissions.
- Owing to the uncertainty of mails reaching contestants in time to be returned for the final count the Campaign Manager will not, after Thursday, return any ballots that are issued on subscriptions received by mail. Prompt acknowledgement, however, will be made by mail of all remittances received and the votes will be deposited in the locked and sealed ballot box.
- Every contestant is urged to be present Saturday night, although it is not required. The count will begin just as soon as possible after the last ballots have been deposited in the ballot box, and the result be known in an hour or so. The Buick, Chevrolet and Whippet will be turned over to their new owners the minute the judges announce their names. Orders for prizes other than the automobiles, and cash commissions checks for qualified non-prize winners will be mailed out immediately.
- No new entries will be received this week. The names of the automobile winners are on this page. Who they are, only the final votes will tell.
- Every contestant is advised to do his or her level best this week. Victory is in the Final Vote Schedule Work—fight—to the last ditch!

THE OFFICIAL JUDGES

B. E. FINLEY
President First National Bank of Pampa

J. M. DODSON      M. K. BROWN
Vice Pres. Gray Co. Agt. White Deer Land State Bank Company

With these well known and highly respected citizens of Pampa in charge of the tabulation of the vote totals, every contestant is assured of a fair and square deal. These judges are absolutely impartial. They have no interest in the fortunes of any contestant, and they will conduct the count in a methodical and business-like way, entirely impersonal. The News feels extremely fortunate to have secured the service of these reliable gentlemen.

The count of the ballots will be public and everyone is cordially invited to attend. The count will begin just as soon after 9 o'clock Saturday night as the last ballots have been dropped into the locked and sealed ballot box, and the result should be known within an hour or so. The automobiles will be waiting in front of the Daily News office and the keys and bills of sale to them will be turned over to the winners the minute the judges announce their names.

A battery of Burrough's adding machines will be used in the final count, and with the nimble fingers of these judges playing upon them, the winners should be driving around in their own new cars at an early hour.

Come Saturday night and see the fun.

Standing today with their faces to the future and the thought of "Now or Never" hovering in their minds, candidates in The Daily News $5,000 Automobile and Prize campaign have launched their final drives for the automobiles and other handsome prizes to be given away free within the next few days. For more than seven weeks these candidates have been busily hustling for the votes with which to win. During that period the Daily News has gained fame that is widespread. It was hailed from the very first as the most liberal and gigantic opportunity ever presented by any newspaper in this section.

And now the effort, the hustle and the diligence of the past weeks is to be crowded with an avalanche of votes that will bring thousands to their feet, cheering for their favorites—hurling themselves into the fury with the vim and vigor of candidates themselves.

The final week! What three words could have a more potent meaning?

This short period will be the deciding factor in determining the winners of the splendid prize array that has for weeks dazzled the eyes of the Panhandle by its stupendous liberality. Hearts are beating faster—pulses are quickening, as eager hands are reaching out to pluck the magnificent prize beauties. Announcement of the final vote schedule, which is effective until the final hour, created a veritable whirlwind of excitement and enthusiasm. The last schedule replaced the one previously in effect, and was figured according to the original announcement of the campaign in The News and affords candidates an opportunity to achieve an almost unbelievable vote total with just a little effort.

What a splendid chance it is!

It has opened wide the doors to success, and those who plunge in and make every day—every hour—of this final week count, will be the ones to drive away in their own automobiles when the race is over. Candidates can now, more than ever, make second payments count for them. The difference in the votes on the scale now in effect will be given on every one of these payments.

A striking feature of these final days is the personal pride that is becoming so noticeable. Countless numbers of candidates have voiced their intention to win at all hazards. Some have declared that to accept defeat would mean disgrace; others have said they owe it to their friends who have supported them to do their very best to come within the winning circle.

Thus, on the basis of personal honor, the campaign is being waged with zest. Shedding luster on this inspiring sight is the civic pride that is manifesting itself. This mighty factor is the bulwark behind candidates in smaller outside towns, and it is pushing them on to the winning line. In short, these candidates in smaller outside towns, have virtually the entire town in which they live lined up solidly for them. And because of the fact that the cars are to be grand prizes, city contenders had better look to their laurels and see to it that two of the grand prizes do not go to county contenders! There is that possibility—but it remains to be seen how the finish will be.

From today on, ambition will reach the highest pitch. And the battle will be waged relentlessly until the hands of the clock point out the final hour. Everything rests with the candidates themselves—who will be the winners can be told only after the final ballots have been cast, and the official judges read off the names of the winners.

Assessments Upon Banks of Guaranty Fund Are Stopped

AUSTIN, Dec. 12. (AP)—The Supreme Court ruled today that the remainder of the fund in the State Guaranty bank system, repealed by the fortieth legislature, shall be prorated among banks which have failed and which have claims against the fund, and that no further assessments can be made against the guaranty system banks.

This allows banking commissioner Shaw to proceed with the prorata payment plan, and generally solves the mass of litigation concerning the fund.
The court refused to grant a mandamus order sought by Edwin Lacey and others of Longview, forcing the banking board to settle their approximately $17,000 total claims against the failed Commercial Guaranty State bank, ahead of the claims of depositors in banks failing after the Commercial bank did. That was on September 29, 1928. Between then and January 7, 1927, eight other banks failed. The Guaranty System went "in the red" with the failure of the Longview bank, and on February 11, 1927, the system was wiped out by act of the 40th legislature.

RIG ON BEDNOR WELL DESTROYED BY FREAK FIRE

Fire destroyed the rig on the Lyons et al's No. 1 Bednorz in section 202, block 3, Carson county, Monday noon. No one was burned, as the drillers were eating lunch at the time of the fire. According to the men they heard a rumbling noise, followed by a burst of flames in the derrick house. The derrick was of wood and burned quickly.

Drilling had begun on the well a few days before after it had been shut down for some time. The hole was bottomed at 2,300 feet. Where the gas came from is not definitely known. It may have been a small amount from a pocket struck higher up, or as some believe it, it was coming from the Tip-ton-McConnell well situated a quarter of a mile west.
By the time the derrick had burned down, the fire in the hole was out. The tools were not in the hole and as a result less damage was caused than if the tools had been in the hole.

Girls Get Most Mail at Texas U., Postmaster Says

AUSTIN, Dec. 12.—With the approach of the Christmas holidays, with their attendant shopping and mailing of gifts, the post office sub-station at the University of Texas is making ready for a fresh deluge of mail, both incoming and outgoing, according to John Gresham, postmaster.

"Girls get most of the 3,000 letters and several hundred packages which pass through this station daily," Mr. Gresham said. "It may be that this is the result of the fact that the woman's building, girls' dormitory, is on the campus and all the mail for the co-eds residing there comes through this office. On the other hand, it may mean that the boys whom the co-eds leave behind them are more faithful than the girls the boys leave behind," he added laughingly.

Flu Death Rate Rapidly Increases

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12. (AP)—An increase in the influenza death rate and a rise in the general death rate in the United States were announced today by the public health service as 40,510 cases of the disease were reported in 39 states, New York City, and the District of Columbia.
A total of 189 deaths resulted from influenza in 77 cities during the week ending December 8, the bureau reported from information submitted by telegraph to the bureau of census. This compared with 43 deaths from the disease in the same cities during the week ending November 3.
The total of more than 200,000 cases for the country estimated yesterday was more than borne out by today's reports, the bureau said. The 40,510 cases are "not more than one-fifth of the cases actually existing," it was said, "indicating a real total of at least 202,558."
