Measure Is Last of Major Projects of Session

TIME CLAUSE WAS PROBLEM

International Meeting on Neutrals' Rights Provided

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. (AP)—President Coolidge today signed the naval bill calling for the construction of fifteen cruisers and one aircraft carrier. The president's approval was given in spite of the measure's clause requiring that all the vessels be laid down by July 1, 1931, which he had opposed. His opposition to this provision was based on the view that it called for expenditures at future dates with no advance knowledge as to the condition of the treasury when they would be made.

In addition to providing for the construction of the vessels, the measure calls for an international agreement establishing the rights of neutrals at sea in time of war, under an amendment sponsored by Chairman Borah of the foreign relations committee and Senator Reed of Missouri.

The president affixed his signature to the measure, the last major legislative project of his administration, a few minutes after he had conferred with congressional leaders on expenditures which must be made under it. Those present were Senators Curtis and Robinson, majority and minority leaders of the Senate, Chairman Hale of the Senate naval committee, Speaker Longworth, Representatives Tilden and Garret, and Republican and Democratic leaders of the house and Chairman Borah.

Under the measure, five cruisers are to be laid down in each of the three fiscal years 1929, 1930, and 1931. In addition, the construction of an aircraft carrier is authorized, to be begun prior to July 1, 1931.

EUROPE'S WEATHER IS STILL SEVERE

LONDON, Feb. 13. (AP)—Westward shifting of Europe's arctic blanket today added France and England to the extreme sufferings from cold unprecedented in continental weather records. Deaths on the continent continued to increase.

"Very cold" was the forecast for the British Isles for the next 24 hours. In France there was a heavy snowfall in even the sunny Riviera, and it was feared the Marne and Seine would freeze over.

JARDINE ACCEPTS JOB
WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. (AP)—Secretary Jardine eliminated himself as a possible member of the Hoover cabinet in a formal statement today announcing that he had accepted a position as counsel for the federated fruit and vegetable growers.

Mrs. J. A. Jeffus underwent a major operation yesterday and today is in a satisfactory condition, according to the report from a local hospital.

—AND A FROWN
NEW YORK. (AP)—Football eminence is only a bubble. This on no less an authority than the Rev. Charles L. O'Donnell, president of the University of Notre Dame. He so remarked in a speech here deploring the excessive and almost exclusive eminence given the university by the game.

LINDY'S COURTSHIP PRESUMABLY WAS IN CLOUDS OVER VOLCANO

NEW YORK, Feb. 13. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh presumably will have an aerial honeymoon. Since his return from Paris the Colonel's only means of transportation has been by air, except such automobile trips as have been necessary to get him to and from flying fields. His fiancée already is air-minded. She took airplane trips with him in Mexico City soon after they first met, and friends surmise that some of the courtship was up in the air over the volcano of Popocatepetl.

LIBRARY HOURS ARE CHOSEN ON TEMPORARY PLAN

Regular library hours were announced last night at the formal opening of the new library. The reading room will be open from 2 until 5 o'clock each afternoon, and from 7 until 9 o'clock each evening. On Saturdays it will be opened at 9 o'clock in the morning and remain open until 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

Members of the various women's club supporting the library will take turns acting as temporary librarians until a permanent librarian can be employed. Mrs. H. D. Lewis, first vice president who is in charge of securing the librarian has made assignments for the month.

According to the one rule read last night concerning the use of the library books, any person who is not known to the librarian in charge must secure a card signed by some member of the library association. The Rev. James Todd, president, explained, as he read the rule, that this step was taken to safeguard the public property and that no one asked to produce a card should feel offended.

MISS MORROW IS SAID TO BE FITTING MATE

Both Old-Fashioned in Type but Lovers Fun

SHE IS 22 AND COLONEL NOW 27

Famous King of Air Completes Trip From South

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 13. (AP)—Pan-American Airways, Inc., announced here this afternoon that R. I. Dunten and Lieut. Steven Callaway had been rescued by an automobile ferry 60 miles northeast of Key West, from the amphibian plane in which they were speared down yesterday. Neither had been harmed although they had drifted all night in the disabled craft.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 13. (AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh hopped off here shortly after noon today to join in a search for an amphibian plane in which R. I. Dunten, operations manager of Pan-American Airways, Inc., and Lieut. Steven Callaway, pilot, left Havana for Miami yesterday and which was believed to have been forced down in the gulf off Key West.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13. (AP)—Miss Anne Spencer Morrow, the future Mrs. Chas. A. Lindbergh, was described by friends today as an ideal mate for the flying Colonel.

Both are of the old-fashioned type as contrasted to the modern flapper and the slick-haired youth of today. But Miss Morrow is not adverse to a bit of fun and to her intimates is known as a frolicsome young woman, just as "Slim" Lindbergh in his mail flying days was known for his practical jokes. Born in Englewood, N. J., a fashionable suburb across the Hudson from New York, Miss Morrow is 22 years old, five feet, five inches tall, and has large brown eyes and dark brown hair, un-browed hair. The colonel is 27 years old, more than six feet tall, and a blonde. Both are Presbyterians.

Was Popular Student

At Smith college, Northampton, Mass., from which she was graduated last year, Miss Morrow was one of the most popular girls of her class. Besides showing a decided aptitude for her studies, she was prominent in many social and extra-curricular activities.

She wrote the Ivy Day song for her class and a senior song as well. She was a member of the Manuscript club, the International Relations club, and the Alpha fraternity, and was an usher at the junior prom. Her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Cutter Morrow, is a trustee of the college.

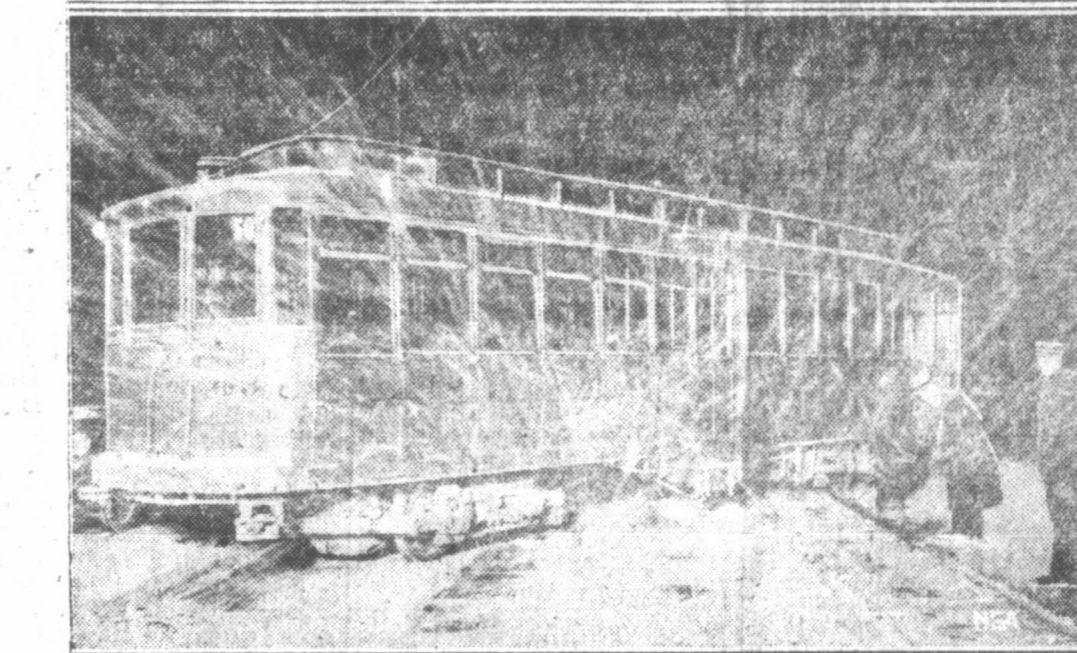

Although as a studious young woman Anne is less so than her sister, Elizabeth, few years her elder, who is a teacher at the exclusive Dwight School for girls at Englewood. Anne is said by friends to be fond of attractive clothes and to have a greater interest in people than books.

Courtship Puzzling

Rumors that Colonel Lindbergh was interested in the Morrow girls persisted almost from the time he first met them a year ago on his first flight to Mexico. But even members of the Morrow family professed not to know which of the girls it might be. Generally he was seen with them together, and both had made flights with him.

When Elizabeth returned from Europe last November where in Turkey she visited the colonel's mother, Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh, rumor had it she was to be the bride. She declined, however to discuss the matter, and the colonel when later questioned on the same subject likewise maintained his customary silence regarding all things other than aviation.

Library Opening Is Success

"Gene Tunney" of Great Help to Dog Catcher

Gene Tunney has been added to the Pampa police force, Chief J. I. Downs announced this morning. Bedecked with a large badge reading "Pampa Police Department," Tunney has been Mullins catching stray canines. The new addition to the police force is an old English bulldog that most any man would be proud of. Gene is of the saint fighting type and whenever his master fails to capture a stray canine he says "Get him Gene," and that is all that is necessary. The bulldog catches his victim by the throat and holds it until his master arrives on the scene. Gene apparently enjoys his work and has sense enough not to chase any dogs until told to do so by his master.

The new dog-catcher reports that since February 1 when he went on duty more than 75 stray dogs have been captured and placed in the pound. Of that number 50 have been killed, a number have been claimed by frantic owners, and the balance are in the pound. A dog bit Mr. Mullins on both hands yesterday and as a result stray canines will get a couple of days rest. The bites are not serious and the dog was not "mad."

SAULSBURY AND ROBERTS CHOSEN CO-CAPTAINS OF HARVESTER TEAM

Donald Saulsbury and J. T. (Skeet) Roberts, both juniors, were elected captains of the Harvester football squad for 1929 at chapel exercises this morning. The two members of the team will alternate as captain on the field. Saulsbury has starred at right end for the last two years and is one of

A program that appealed, an audience that took nearly every available seat in the Methodist church, and a generous response to the appeal for funds marked the formal opening last night of the Pampa Public Library. More than 800 persons attended, and the cash offering amounted to $419.76.

The Lions club won the attendance trophy, a fine atlas of the world which will remain in the library for general use. The Lions club attendance was 733 per cent. Other organizations ranking high in percentages were Episcopal church, 75; El Progresso club, 70; Methodist church, 62.16; Rotary club, 60.7. Principal R. F. Fisher accepted the trophy for the Lions from the hands of the Rev. James Todd, Jr., president of the Library association.

After a lengthy program, the free will offering was taken and the big crowd filed through the library and into the basement, where tea and cakes were served under the direction of Mrs. E. H. Hamlett. Mrs. Jess Wynne and Mrs. George Kahale, who served the refreshments, were in colonial costumes. Chas. C. Cook was the genial chairman of the program. He expressed the spirit of the gathering in his remarks of appreciation for the songs, drills, readings, and toy orchestra music presented by the children of the grades. Miss Kathleen Beatty was accompanist for these numbers. Music features included ladies' quartet numbers by Mrs. J. M. Dodson, Mrs. Lynn Boyd, Mrs. T. W. Brabban and Mrs. F. L. Elliott; male quartet selections by T. A. Panfell, E. D. Zimmerman, R. B. Fisher and T. W. Brabban; duet numbers by Mrs. Ernest Eslick and Miss Mary Emma Barnett; and solos by Mrs. Eslick. Mrs. Tom Rose was accompanist for the ladies' quartet.

STEAMER IN DISTRESS

DUTCH HARBOR, Alaska, Feb. 13. (AP)—The Japanese steamer, Mankoh Maru, hovered off the Aleutian islands fighting a heavy storm today as it awaited an opportunity to rescue 25 men aboard the doomed Japanese freighter, Melyo Maru. Not far away a third Japanese vessel, the Alloway, with one apparently crazed member of her crew aboard, was being driven toward destruction on the rocks.

HUNDRED CARS CARRY HIDALGO COUNTY'S MEN

Re-Opening of Contest Is Demanded of House

MAYORS HEADING BIG DELEGATION

Resignation of McAllen Representative Is Asked

AUSTIN, Feb. 13. (AP)—Two or three hundred citizens of Hidalgo county wearing badges with the inscription "Good Government Hidalgo county," reached the state capitol about noon in a demonstration protesting seating of W. R. Montgomery of McAllen as a member of the house of representatives.

The automobiles, said by Gordon Griffin, who came in advance of the party, to number 100, parked in front of the capitol and the occupants got out, but did not enter the capitol. They congregated on the steps for a picture, then re-entered their automobiles and went to a hotel for lunch. Griffin said the party, which is headed by Mayor D. A. Kirgan of Weslaco, and Mayor H. B. Freeland of McAllen, would visit the legislative halls this afternoon, probably assembling in the gallery of the house.

The party bears a letter to Montgomery asking him to resign and a petition said to contain signatures of more than 5,000 persons asking Speaker Barron of the house to reopen the contest of E. M. Smith against Montgomery.

There were a number of women in the party. While capitol employes and stenographers went to the windows to look at the demonstration, members of the house and senate, working on their respective calendars, paid little or no attention to what was going on. When the noon recess came the visitors had left the grounds.

In his petition Smith stated that he desires "only a fair hearing of the testimony, and trial of the cause, so that it may be determined who received the largest number of legal votes," adding:

"Mr. Montgomery should not object to such a hearing; your petitioner craves it."

The disputed contest was finally disposed of by the house when it adopted a report of the committee on privileges, suffrage and elections formally seating Montgomery.

This action was taken after the committee had reported to the house that it would probably cost $25,000 for it to conduct a hearing on Smith's allegations, since it would be necessary to bring many persons from Hidalgo county here to testify. The attorney-general ruled a sub-committee could not go to Hidalgo county to take evidence.

The house voted overwhelmingly to instruct the committee to bring in a report seating Montgomery and this was done, adopted, reconsidered and tabled, meaning that it could not be reopened again at this session.

COUNTING ELECTORAL VOTES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. (AP)—It is generally known that Herbert Hoover is president-elect of the United States, but just the same the house and senate today had as the first thing on their program the counting of the electoral votes. It was a gesture, but one required by the constitution. The duty of opening the ballots fell to Vice-President Dawes, and Senator Shortridge, republican, California, and King, democrat, Utah, were assigned the task of counting them.

The condition of Mrs. Naomi Reeves, who has been in a local hospital for treatment the last week, today was reported much improved.

"It's Like This—"

PHYSICAL TRAINING in public schools thus far has been half-hearted, apologetic, and inefficient so far as it pertains to all the children.

We have managed to support and to excuse competitive athletics, giving often the reason that the training was necessary to the physical welfare of the students.

But in many states laws supporting a physical training program that is really comprehensive are being passed.

"At present there are about 35 states that have some form of physical education legislation," Dr. Brace pointed out.

"The modern program of education tends to train the physical side of the student and to further his general education through the physical side of his nature.

"This bill has been favorably reported by the educational committees of both houses in the legislature, and its passage would mean a great step forward in educational progress in Texas."

THE SANTA FE report of conditions in the states served by this railroad system is generally encouraging as of Feb. 1, following the heaviest season of holiday buying since the world war.

Relative to Kansas wheat, the report says that "with a normal February, the abandoned wheat acreage in the state will not be greater than that of the five-year average.

record was produced last year. The total area planted to wheat last fall was 12,173,000 acres, or 123,000 acres less than planted for the previous crop.

"Four and a half million acres of wheat in Oklahoma made a fair start before the cold weather came, and the indications are that the crop will emerge in good condition."

The observer was pleased with aspects in West Texas. The wheat acreage is estimated about the same as last year. Some wheat has been blown out, but it has had plenty of moisture at most points.

Spring plowing should be progressing well soon, and demand for more forage should encourage planting of row crops. It is likely that much raw land will be broken.

These conditions should be helpful to those who are trying to encourage diversification and immigration.

Editorial Pages

Today few papers have a regular editorial page, but local news has become front page matter. The old time editor would have no more put the locals on the editorial page than he would have traded his corn cob pipe for a cigarette.

It is a fact, however, that the party organ that used to be so much in evidence in the olden days, has about vanished from politics and in its place has come the sane and sober reasoning of men who are more liberal in their views and less given to denouncing, with pen of vitrol, everything that is not according to their way of thinking.

WASHINGTON LETTER
BY RODNEY DUTCHER
WASHINGTON — Republican postmasters are not faced with the deadly menace of a horde of hungry Democrats, thanks to the Hoover election, but those who haven't maintained their stand-in with local politicians are likely to get the ax just the same.

Lately the postmasterships at Boston, Mass., and Butte, Mont., have been the objects of covetous political eyes, with the result that there is a new postmaster in Boston and may be soon in Butte.

Postmasters are not discharged promptly on the request of Republican national committeemen. The committeeman who wants to displace the incumbent must tell the postmaster-general about it, whereupon the postmaster-general asks the Civil Service Commission to hold an open competitive examination.

First, second and third-class postmasters are not classified under the civil service law, but are placed under civil service supervision by the president's executive order.

President Wilson decreed that the high man in examinations for these posts should get the job, with the result that such appointments in his administration were divided about evenly between Republicans and Democrats, but since his administration the postmaster-general has been permitted to select from the three men with highest ratings, among whom there is almost invariably a deserving politician with the proper pull.

Postmaster Baker at Boston was originally a Democrat appointed by Wilson, but turned Republican. President Coolidge is supposed to have reappointed him in order to spite the late Senator Henry Cabot Lodge. But after election the Massachusetts politicians decided to get rid of Baker and it was agreed and announced in the newspapers that Charles R. Gow, a more active Republican, would get the job.

The competitive examination was held and Gow was rated higher than Baker. The Civil Service Commission has gone to great pains to demonstrate that Gow was rated purely on merit. At any rate, he was promptly appointed, and would have been appointed in any event as long as he was among the three highest ranking applicants.

Meanwhile the Butte postmastership is still in the air, after being brought to the Senate's attention by Senator Burton K. Wheeler, who said that the present postmaster was most efficient and had the endorsement of the principal business men of Butte. The Republican national committeeman, however, recommended that someone else be given the job and the Postoffice Department asked for another competitive examination, although the incumbent's Republicanism has not been questioned.

TWINKLES

Lindy is engaged. He probably will continue to rule the air, however.

If it is a sign of religion to give a dollar, perhaps it is a sign of interest in learning to give a book to the library—or a dollar.

It is not yet a library suitable for a city of this size, but remember, perhaps you have not yet done anything about it.

Sharp Exchanges Mark Probe of Highway Activity

AUSTIN, Feb. 13. (AP)—R. I. Tennant, purchasing member of the board of control, last night repeated much of his former testimony relative to machinery "bust" of the state highway department, before the joint legislative committee investigating the two departments.

He was grilled by Cone Johnson and Judge Walter Ely, members of the committee, as to his position in the controversy over equipment requisitioned by the department and the purchase of which he opposed.

Tennant said the board of control made purchases for 97 state departments and that so far it had entered into controversies with only two, the highway department and the university board of regents with reference to an order for furniture in the Littlefield dormitory.

At one point Johnson objected to the "animus being exhibited by Tennant" and at another juncture Glib Gilchrist, state engineer, denied he had received from Tennant a letter and a newspaper advertisement advising the board of control of a new price on tractors.

"I gave the letter and advertisement to Mr. Gilchrist in my office, didn't I Mr. Gilchrist," Tennant asked.

"No, you didn't," Gilchrist replied from his seat at counsel's table.

"Then, I haven't any more to say," Tennant retorted.

Tennant was testifying to a purchase of 13 ten ton tractors from a dealer who had lowered the price and so advertised the new price after making the bid for the state's business and before shipping instructions were given.

The company had bid $4,972 and offered to take in second hand tractors at $400 each. The tractors were later advertised for $4,918, and Tennant brought the reduction to attention to attention of the company.

A letter was introduced from the company in which it offered to deliver new tractors on its bid and permit the department to retain the second hand tractors.

Tennant said he favored buying the tractors at the new price but the department insisted on paying $4,972 and keeping the old tractors.

After Joe Orberg, former equipment inspector for the highway department, had testified that certain employees had used state gasoline and parts in their private automobiles, giving their names, the committee ordered the testimony stricken from the record as "hearsay."

Morgan Attracts Interest Abroad

PARIS, Feb. 13. (AP)—The third session of the experts' committee on reparations got under way today with the German delegates apparently still to occupy the center of the stage in the conference room.

The German delegates appeared well ahead of time and with arms full of portfolios. This was regarded as evidence of preparations for questions from other delegates following presentation of the German case yesterday by Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, Reichsbank president.

Dr. Schacht has taken the position Germany cannot maintain the payment schedules laid out under the Dawes plan, and he and his colleagues may attempt to reinforce his arguments today.

As usual J. P. Morgan attracted the most attention. The delegates maintained the greatest discretion before their meeting today and had almost nothing to say.

Army Fliers See Broader Horizon; Break Record

DAYTON, Ohio, Feb. 13. (AP)—Two Army fliers in an old army plane reached an unofficial altitude of 39,000 feet from Wright field yesterday, and brought down with them an account of conditions above the clouds which meteorologists long have suspected but never have been able to prove.

The fliers, Lieut. Johnson and Captain A. A. Stevens, pilot and photographer, were forced down by depleted fuel at Norton field, Columbus, Ohio.

The instruments attached to the plane, used in many test and altitude flights, indicated they had reached an altitude out-reaching the record of 28,420.5 feet held by Lieut. C. C. Campion, of the United States navy. No record was claimed because rules of the Federation Aeronautique Internationale prescribe that the plane must land at the field from which it left the earth.

The pilots blamed their failure to establish a record for a two-man plane on another phenomenon of the air: Excessive visibility.

"The ordinary horizon line when flying is between seven and eight thousand feet," they explained. "After we got above the clouds of ice we couldn't see the ground and the horizon line must have been at least 50,000 feet—and we didn't know where we were."

CURLY HEAD

By De Witt MacKenzie (Copyright, 1929, Associated Press)

IT was just before the Armistice. Everywhere along the western front the Germans were retreating before the irresistible which threatened to engulf them. Daily, cities and towns and hamlets were being released from enemy occupation which had extended for four long years.

We were motoring in our British general headquarter car along the highway leading to the recently freed city of Denain. In Flanders, a French officer, who was standing beside the road, hailed us for a ride, which was gladly accorded. Quite apart from our personal desire to be helpful, we were obeying the unwritten but immutable law of the fighting forces that every man should lend a helping hand whenever he could.

As soon as the car resumed the journey towards Denain our French comrade leaped out and began inspecting his surroundings eagerly. Occasionally he would wave with suppressed excitement to civilians along the way and shout a greeting. It looked like a home coming to us, and we asked if he lived in the vicinity.

Yes, his home was in Denain, where four years before he had left his wife to join the colors. Just after his departure a daughter was born to them, his first child. Then came the German occupation so quickly that he was cut off from his loved ones. Now he was going back after these interminable years to his wife, and to the baby he had never seen.

He was visibly wrought up to the highest pitch of nervousness, and well he might be. Denain had been the center of a battle that had cost civilian lives. It was quite possible that he might find his family dead and his home in ruins. No one of us mentioned this fact, but undoubtedly all of us were thinking it as we trundled over the shell pitted road.

We entered the city, and he directed us toward his home through thoroughfares which showed cruel marks of war. As we turned into his street, the first house we passed was in ruins. He gave a start and clenched his hands, but he said nothing. I never saw a finer exhibition of gameness. A few doors further on was his home, and we stopped across the way from it.

Our passenger climbed out slowly and with effort, his eyes fixed on the place. There were no signs of life. Shutters covered the windows. On the door was a printed sign indicating that German officers had been billeted there.

The Frenchman crossed the road and with shaking hand pulled the bell. No one answered. Still staring at the closed shutters he backed away like a man in a trance. He backed until he reached our car against which he leaned, pale and trembling.

Suddenly the door swung open and an aged woman servant appeared. She was leading a beautiful baby girl with a wealth of golden curls.

The officer threw out his arms and took one quick step toward his child, and then halted. The tot had jumped back behind nurse's ample skirts and was peeping out in fright. Mother undoubtedly had told her many times during the German occupation that men in uniform were bad and to be avoided. The field blue of France meant nothing to this child who had been all her short life under German rule. Our passenger was a stranger to his own flesh and blood, and he was under grave suspicion.

The half blind eyes of the old nurse had by this time recognized the master, and she was holding out her hands to him and repeating "Monsieur, Monsieur" over and over in ecstasy. He crossed and grasped her hands. But his baby drew back still further behind the protecting skirts.

The door at the end of the long hall opened and a comely young matron came through to see what was going on. When she was halfway passage she caught sight of a hand on the sidewalk. She her hand flew to her eyes, swayed for a second as though about to fall. Then with a gasp of joy she fairly hurled herself at his arms.

Our motor was already moving for outsiders weren't needed to see the scene. Thus we left the nurse beaming on the happy car and Curly Head looking with troubled eyes at this strange man who had appropriated her mother so completely without a word.

But I couldn't help looking at and my last glimpse of the picture showed Curly Head gradually emerging from the folds of nurse's skirt, tentative overture of friendliness.

BIG-HEARTED ANNOUNCER

has a trick rule that Cleveland ing fathers observe which forbids the introduction of a man from the ring at a fight unless the commis- sioners have sanctioned the perfor- mance.

Johnny Risko, just home from his fight with Max Schmelling, was at a fight the other night and climbed up in the ring to be introduced, with per- mission, as "the local boy who went out and made good."

Old K. O. Christner, from the neigh- boring town of Akron, also was there. He, too, was just back from New York where he had put up a nice scrap against Jack Sharkey.

Well, when Risko got in the ring, Christner's friends sent him in like- wise and all he got was a cold shoul- der from the big-hearted announcer. Risko went over as the local boy who made good, but Christner was left standing there! And none of the box- ing commissioners nearby said any- thing about it.

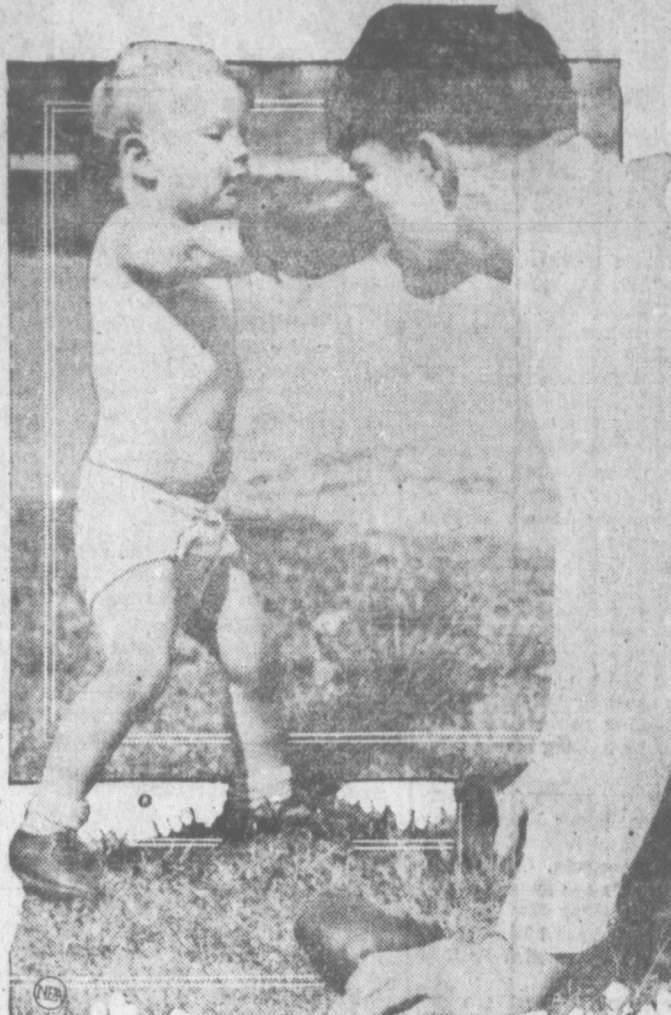

These fellows upstairs did, however, and you know how.

DO YOU KNOW THAT—

The prize say Bill Mehlhorn shouldn't have been awarded . . . like he was when he wasn't named on the Ryder cup team . . . because he has won $8,500 in three meets since . . . and he hadn't won a dime before he saw red . . . Prexy Barnard won't tour the American league camps this year . . . but the judge will pay his re- spects . . . to the Nationals, too. . . Don Moses, one of the backs Howard Jones will use next fall, wasn't in school this year . . . but worked be- fore the flickers. . . George L. Mager- kuth is the name of that new ump- Heydler hired . . . from the Pacific Coast league . . . and he cost $2,000 . . . which they say is a record price for an ump. . . The newest face in tennis belongs to Millicent Hersh . . . she's just 11 . . . and she beat one missis in a big meet in New York be- fore she got beaten.

Young Stribling Takes the Count

"Smacko! Right on the ol' bezer. Atta boy, sonny!" Young Stribling will go into the ring against Jack Sharkey at Miami with at least one clean knockout against his record—and that from the right hand of a yet Younger Stribling. But it's all in the family and probably never would have become known if the cameraman hadn't strolled along just as this fighter's 2-year-old son delivered the punch.

Central's Boys and Girls Teams Will Enter Miami Tournament of This Week—Play May Begin Soon

Both Pampa's girls' and boys' basket- ball teams will participate in the Miami invitation tournament which will begin Friday morning in the Miami gymnasium. Some of the fastest teams in the Northern Panhandle and Oklahoma have been entered and if more entries are received it may be necessary to begin play tomorrow night.

The Pampa Harvesters have taken second place in two tournaments this season and will be out to try for first place in the Miami tournament. The team has been practicing hard for the coming event and have perfected their team play. Salsbury will be able to take his place on the team after a short illness which kept him out of the Amarillo game.

Sprained ankles have healed and when the Harvesters take the floor they will be strong favorites, although several unknown teams from Okla- homa have entered.

The girls' team has also hit its stride, winning four of its last five games and tying the other. A fast pair of forwards backed by a strong defense have made the local team one to be feared. The Stone, Brown, Heiskell scoring combination should be hard to beat. The three forwards are small but accurate and fast.

MEXICAN OFFICIALS ARE UNDER CLOSE GUARD

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 13. (AP)—Bombs and threats of kidnaping today caused heavy police guards to be placed about the homes of prominent figures in public life.

Against this background there ap- peared in today's newspapers here a second signed statement of President Emilio Portes Gil saying the govern- ment was convinced that "exalted fan- atical (Roman) Catholics" were re- sponsible for the attempt made against his life Sunday.

Deportation of a Swede, an Italian and a consul of Bolivia were ordered, after expression of pro-Catholic sen- timents.

Mrs. Viola Moore of Hillsdale, Mich., saved her academic gown after her college commencement. Two sons have worn it since; five other children await their turns.

Young Canadian Beats Americans in All Distances

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 13. (AP)—American sprinters have been trying to match the speed of Percy Williams at all sorts of distances but with failure.

The Vancouver flier, double sprint winner at the Olympics, had beaten his rivals from below the border at 40, 50 and 60 yards in Boston, Newark, and New York before he accomplished the same thing at 45 yards in the annual Meadowbrook games in Philadelphia last night.

Williams' list of victims during his brief but meteoric American invasion includes such stars as Karl Wildermuth, of Georgetown; Jimmy Daly, of Holy Cross; Jimmy Quinn, former Holy Cross flash new competing for the New York A. C.; and Chet Bowman and Jimmy Pappas of the Newark A. C.

The Canadian Express flashed down the straightway in 4 9-10 seconds to take his heat of the 45-yard special last night and beat Bowman and Alf Bates, of Penn State, in the process.

In the final the Canadian showed the way by inches to Wildermuth, Peppas, and Bowman in 5 1-10 seconds.

Attempt to Kill President Gomez Reported Today

BOGOTA, Columbia, Feb. 13. (AP)—A circumstantial account of an attempt to assassinate President Juan Vicente Gomez of Venezuela was telegraphed here today by a newspaper correspondent at San Jose de Cucuta, a Venezue- lan frontier town. The story said the president escaped harm.

The story related that President Gomez, accompanied by an escort, was riding in his automobile in the en- viron of Maracay, a suburb of Carac- as, the capital of Venezuela, when six men opened fire on the car. The escort returned the shots and all the conspirators were killed in the fight.

Brooklyn Calls 25 Men to Camp

NEW YORK, Feb. 13. (AP)—An ad- vance squad of 25 players has been or- dered to report to the Brooklyn Robins' training camp at Clearwater, Fla., on Feb. 24. In the group will be 12 pitchers four catchers, two infielders, and seven outfielders.

In addition to the regular and re- cruit batterymen, Wilbert Robinson, president-manager of the Brooklyn club, has ordered the rookie infielders and outfielders to report with the first group so that they can get more train- ing. Max Carey, veteran outfielder, who has signed his contract, and Harvey Hendrick are the only regulars among the outfielders.

Mrs. Grace Higgins left today for Wichita Falls, where she will visit relatives and friends.

Billiard Title Will Be Again in American Hands

NEW YORK, Feb. 13. (AP)—The world's 18.2 ball billiard crown, worn since last March by Edouard Foremans of Belgium, is to come back to the United States. Welker Cochran of Hollywood, and Young Jake Schaefer of Chicago, clash tonight in the final match of the tournament with the championship going to the winner.

Schaefer eliminated the last of the four foreign entrants when he defeat- ed Klurey Matsuyama, 400 to 331, yes- terday. It was the second reverse for the game little Japanese who won his first three matches in brilliant style. His other defeat was at Cochran's hands in a grueling battle Monday night.

His triumph over Matsuyama ele- vated Schaefer into a tie with Cochran for the lead with only their own duel still on the schedule. The two Americans each have won three matches in four starts.

Giant Cactus

This giant cactus, 55 feet tall and weighing around eight tons, is said to be 250 years old, and one of the largest ever found. It was discovered recently on a farm outside of Phoenix, Ariz., by Will and Jim McCulloch. So valuable was the discovery that the land on which the cactus was found increased in value from $25 an acre to $1000. About 90 per cent of its weight is water.

Tilden Out of Practice, Losing to John Van Ryn

NEW YORK, Feb. 13. (AP)—Back from six months in exile from the ranks of the simon pufe amateurs, Big Bill Tilden has found that time and the younger tennis generation have stolen a march on him. His first competition since his reinstatement by the U. S. L. T. A., the Heights Casino invitation, found a slower Tilden with rusty strokes that failed at times to place the ball where he want- ed it taking the courts against the youth, speed and power of John van Ryn, former Princeton captain, and youth came through to the surprising tune of 6-1, 6-4 and 6-2.

The final proved that the lanky Philadelphian has a lot of practice ahead of him before he can again qualify for top flight competition just as the preliminary rounds showed him still invincible against lesser oppo- nents. Bill had no trouble sweeping through three rounds in one day to reach the final but there he found his six months of absence of competition had left him too far out of practice to cope with the Orange, N. J., youth who gave up a chance for a Davis cup post last spring to complete his college course.

Earl Talley left this morning on a business trip to Levelland and other points.

El Progresso Has Second Lesson on Dorsey's Study

Members of El Progresso club yesterday learned more about "Why We Behave Like Human Beings," as explained by George Dorsey. The first portion of the remarkably interesting book, dealing with the lower forms of animal life and the early stages of the process of evolution, was the basis of an excellent program two weeks ago.

The lesson of yesterday took up the study of nerve reflexes and instincts as they are affected by race inheritance and the actions of certain important glands, under Professor Dorsey's explanation. The closing topics

THIS HAS HAPPENED

RUTH LESTER, private secretary, conceals her most loveliest behind yellow spectacles and ill-fitting clothes and ekks back her hair in order to escape the attentions of flirtatious employers. But for this disguise she could not work unadmired four months for "HANDSOME HARRY" BORDEN, promoter of dubious stock companies and notorious for his affairs with beautiful women.

Ruth, suspecting him of shady dealings, would resign but for a romance which springs up between her and JACK LAYLAND, young insurance broker, whose office is just across the narrow street from Borden's private office on the seventh floor of the Strickland Building.

Ruth and Jack become engaged on a Friday night in January and Ruth dares to come to the office next morning with her disease removed. In her office, Ruth greets BORDEN SMITH, office boy, who is astonished at her transformation and who instantly becomes infatuated with her. The A. A. U. W. and College club and begs Ruth to don her disguise before his return. She is interrupted by a knock and it is "the woman with the contra-voice" whom Borden has previously refused to talk to.

Ruth has time to put on her spectacles before Borden's arrival. Borden finds an orchid-scented envelope in the mail and thrusts it in his pocket with an eye and nod to the bank with instructions to get $500 in cash and to get it in a few minutes. As she returns to the office she wonders whom the second ticket is for.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER III

"HULL-LO, Miss Lester! Is God's gift to women in his office? I phoned and he's expecting me. Oh, pardon me! I thought it was Miss Lester! But I guess Handsome Harry canned her, the poor little scared bunny! Can't say I blame him—why!—what—?"

Ruth turned in the little swivel chair and faced the girl who had announced herself so nonchalantly. So it was Rita Dubois who was going to Winter Haven with Borden. Ruth was hardly surprised, but a little sorry, for she liked the vivacious, dark-eyed, black-haired little singer and dancer from the noisiest, most garish night club in the city.

"I've just turned my hair loose," Ruth smiled, putting on her timid, scared-bunny manner and peering upward at Rita through her enormous horn-rimmed spectacles.

"Attain!" Rita applauded, as she touched up her already vividly rouged lips. "So you've fallen for Handsome Harry, too, you poor little stimp! Been to the movies and got a few hot tips on how to vamp your boss?"

Ruth laughed, then glanced apprehensively toward Harry Borden's closed door. "The curls are out in someone else's honor, Miss Dubois. And don't you tell Mr. Borden, but—I'm engaged."

"Good child! Wise little baby!" Rita approved, her voice甜ly gentle and low. Then she stooped and laid her hands on Ruth's and scented lips against the rose and ivory of Ruth's cheek. "That's the only way, infant! Lasso 'em with a wedding ring when you're young and—oh, hul-lo, Harry!"

Harry Borden held his door wide, and, regardless of Ruth's presence, he came, too, "Glad to see you, sweetheart! Miss Lester's just bought the tickets. Drawing-room, too, if you're a good girl!"

As Harry Borden, laughing indulgently, was about to close the door, Rita Dubois turned her head and gave Ruth a confidential, mocking grin and a significant wink.

Ruth's fingers were flying over the typewriter keys again when Benny Smith's voice, sullen and indignant, interrupted her.

glad she would not have to see poor Mrs. Borden again on that, her own happy day. "Yes, he told me so just a few minutes ago."

"Thank you," Mrs. Borden said, turning toward the door, when another burst of laughter—troubled wedded to bass—shook the ground-glass panel in the door between the outer and inner offices.

Ruth saw the slight, frail body, away, sprang to put her arm about the older woman. "Please sit down just a minute, Mrs. Borden. I'll be in my chair. And lay your head on the desk. It's the heat—they keep these offices stifling. I'll get you a drink of water. There! Feeling better?" she asked, as she helped Harry Borden's wife to the little swivel chair.

Ruth darted to the water cooler in the corner near Benny's desk, then discovered that the paper cup container was empty. But there was a tub of them in the bottom drawer of her desk. She ran, frightened a little, for Mrs. Borden looked terribly white and ill. The drawer stuck a bit, and the older woman was leaning downward with help, with trembling hands.

"Don't bother, dear Mrs. Borden," Ruth begged. "There! It often sticks. . . . Oh! She snatched her hand from the pulled-out drawer as if she had touched a snake. Then she laughed, shakily. "What a room I am! Please don't be frightened, Mrs. Borden. I keep forgetting that the gun is in there."

"GUN?" Mrs. Borden quavered, shrinking away from the drawer, her hand going to her throat.

Ruth laughed nervously. "Yes—an automatic pistol, isn't it ridiculous—my having a pistol! But there were so many holdups in the building last month that a friend of mine—" she could not yet toss off Jack Hayward's name nonchalantly—"bought one for me, and got himself, too. He has office in this building—and he was terribly in earnest about my keeping the thing here in case of another holdup. As if I'd touch it! I'm more afraid of it than I am of a bandit! Here are the cups. Sorry to be so long."

Five minutes later—just four minutes after Mrs. Borden had left, looking so strange and ill that Ruth was genuinely frightened—the door of Harry Borden's private office opened and he emerged, or rather was pulled along, for Rita Dubois, in high good humor, was tugging at his hand.

"Don't worry! I'll be at the station on time," the dancer was reassuring him gaily. "I can do more shopping in a couple of hours than most girls could do in a day. And mind you don't call up the stores and limit these charge accounts, old dear!"

"Mind you don't fall to keep your part of the bargain!" Harry Borden reminded her, as they reached the door. "I'll keep mine—all of it! But—no double-crossing, Rita!"

Ruth glanced up, her speckled eyes taking in the laughing but mutually suspicious couple. She saw Harry Borden was goodby to Rita, and many hours later she was to try to recall every detail of that picture, though now she only noted, idly, that the man seemed to be waving a torn banknote, and that Rita's finger-tip kiss was for the torn bill rather than for Harry Borden.

"Hull-LO, Miss Lester! Is God's gift to women in his office? I phoned and he's expecting me. Oh, pardon me! I thought it was Miss Lester! But I guess Handsome Harry canned her, the poor little scared bunny! Can't say I blame him—why!—what—?"

WRIT OF ERROR GRANTED IN SUIT ON RULE NO. 37 AUSTIN, Feb. 13. (AP)—The Supreme Court today granted a writ of error on the "importance of the question", involving enforcement by the railroad commission of oil and gas conservation rule No. 37, referring to spacing of wells in oil fields. The case reached the court on application of J. G. Bass, who applied to the district court of Travis county for and was granted a permanent injunction against the commission from enforcing the rule with the court of civil appeals at Austin reversing and rendering the judgment. Bass claimed the rule was void and unenforceable because it did not come within the powers delegated by the legislature to the railroad commission, and because as applied to the land in question it was unreasonable. Bass had applied for permission to drill ten wells on his tract of 3 1-2 acres in the Powell field in Navarro county.
