Rock Hits an Electric Light Bulb This Morning

DERRICK IS BURNED DOWN

Important Wildcat Has Been of Much Interest

When 20,000,000 cubic feet of gas was encountered at 2,785 to 2,790 feet this morning in the Marland Production company's No. 1 Brown-Finley, at the northeast corner of the east half of section 33, block B-2, life broke out and at press time flames were shooting high in the air and dense volumes of smoke could be seen from the city.

According to drillers, none of whom was injured, the gas shot rocks from the hole. One of the large pieces struck an electric light bulb, breaking it and setting the heavy flow of gas on fire. The wooden derrick was quickly consumed.

This important test is in semi-wildcat territory midway between the Bowers-McGee and the LeFors pools. First gas was encountered last week while drilling at 2,500 feet. Additional flows were picked up at 2,550, 2,565 and 2,580 feet until the flow amounted to 5,500,000 feet.

A show of oil was encountered last week at 2,640 feet. The 6 5/8-inch casing was set at 2,700 feet and drilling resumed Monday.

It is possible that the fire will have to be shot out.

Telegrams Sent Moody in Belief of Land Behalf

Telegrams urging Governor Moody to consider favorably the land title bills to be in his hands shortly are being sent by local landowners and other citizens and clubs.

This action was suggested by Homer D. Wade in a letter to George Briggs and by Representative Dewey Young in a message to T. D. Hobart.

It is believed the bills will pass both houses of the legislature, and that it is well that Governor Moody should know the feeling of West Texans in the matter.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Clark are the proud parents of a son born in the McKean & Connor hospital this morning.

Grady Van Landingham will leave the McKean & Connor hospital this afternoon. He has been in the hospital for more than a month with severe burns.

APPLICATIONS ALREADY MADE FOR POSITION

Trained Worker Held Essential by Miss Malone

SUPPLIES ARE EXPECTED SOON

Contributions Will Be Gratefully Acknowledged

The Pampa public library is to have a permanent librarian within a short time, it was announced today by officers of the Library association. The executive board of the association met last night and considered a number of applications for the position, some of them from experienced librarians and graduates of recognized library science schools. It is probable that one of these will be employed within two or three weeks, according to the announcement from the association.

Employment of a trained librarian so soon after the opening of the library is in accordance with the advice of Miss Tennessee Malone, library expert, who had been here since Monday, cataloging the books and installing a temporary system. Miss Malone, who is librarian of West Texas State Teachers' college and library organizer of the Seventh district Federation of Women's clubs, strongly urged that an experienced librarian be secured at once, and told the board members the library will never be a complete success until it is done.

The Dewey Decimal system of cataloging will be used. Supplies and equipment recommended by Miss Malone were ordered last night by the executive board.

This additional list of those who have given substantial sums to the library was obtained this morning:

- C. P. Buckler, $25.
- R. S. McConnell, $25.
- Pampa Drug No. 1, $25.
- Tom Rose, $25.
- M. K. Brown, $25.
- Mrs. M. K. Brown, $25.

The complete list of contributors will be published in the near future. The names of those who gave cash, however, are not available.

Checks or currency may be mailed to D. E. Cecil, treasurer, Box 401. Contributions of books may be taken to the library directly.

The library began its service to the community yesterday, following the formal opening Tuesday evening. During the afternoon and evening hours 18 books were lent. Mrs. Lee Harrah has the distinction of being the first person to check out a book. She called shortly after 2 o'clock for Dickens' "Oliver Twist."

Mrs. R. C. Campbell, who was in charge of the reading room during the afternoon, was impressed by the eagerness and enthusiasm of the high school students and children who visited the library. Many of them, she says, wished to keep their books only three or four days, in order that they might secure others as quickly as possible. While the majority of the visitors to the library were children, several older people called, and all showed great interest in the new institution, according to Mrs. Campbell. Mrs. Porter Malone was in charge during the evening. Mrs. A. R. Sawyer and Mrs. W. A. Bratton are in charge today.

ENTIRE NATION RESPONDS TO PLEA TO MAKE LITTLE CRIPPLE HAPPY

In the first place, the doctors have removed the plaster casts that have encased his legs and left arm for several weeks, and he is able to get out of bed again.

And in the second place, Billy has found he has more friends than anybody ever dreamed of having.

The story of Billy Newhart was published by the Pampa Daily News simultaneously with other NEA papers of the nation, and many Pampa readers of The News sent the lad greeting cards. The Cradle Roll club of the Baptist Sunday school sent him a shower of valentines.

He has received approximately 20,000 letters and post cards since the day, a fortnight ago, when the Newspaper Enterprise Association sent out to its member newspapers a story about his misfortunes.

And Lots of Gifts! Twenty thousand letters and post cards—and that isn't all. Packages of toys have been flooding his home. There is a toy auto, a whole set of games, a pretty canary in a gift cage, a stack of books—and, last but not least, a fine new radio set, delivered and installed by the boy's bed by Earl J. Hill, local dealer.

The average daily total of letters, packages and cards is close to 2,000. The flood shows no sign of letting up. Mail Carrier Lawrence Keitz has been working overtime every day getting the stuff out to the Newhart home, three miles from town. Today he took one big bagful of letters on his first trip, and then had to come back for two more bags of parcels that were too heavy to carry the first time. In addition, a 70-pound parcel is at the postoffice awaiting delivery.

Billy isn't being spoiled at all. He doesn't feel that the great flood of mail means that he is to be pitied; he simply thinks that it means that there are a great many kind-hearted people all over the country. It makes him happy, but he isn't a bit proud or affected by it.

He's modest, too, and he has a pretty good sense of proportion. He won't let the newspaper men take any more photographs of him, for instance.

GANGLAND END PROMISED BY OFFICIAL

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Eight members of the north side gang of George "Bugs" Moran, were lined up against a wall and summarily executed, and two others were probably fatally wounded, today by a band of men who invaded the northside headquarters of the gang posing as police officers.

After forcing the men to raise their hands, the gangsters shot them down in cold blood.

The heaped bodies of the victims were found in the rear room of the S. M. C. Cartage company, 2122 North Clark street, by the police who had been summoned by a woman living nearby. She was apparently the only person to hear the reports of the saved-off shot-guns and machine guns of the slayers.

The assassins pulled up before the Moran gang headquarters in two automobiles. They rushed into the Cartage company, displaying stars and ordering the eight occupants to raise their hands. Apparently the slayers then herded their victims into a rear room, and lining them up against a wall with hands above their heads, loosed their gun fire.

Six of the bodies, in grotesque positions where they had fallen, were found by police ranged along the bullet-marked and blood-spattered wall. On the floor in an outer room, two others were found still living but probably fatally wounded.

The police immediately identified three of the victims as Peter Gusenberg, robber and jewelry thief; James Clark and Al Weinsank, soft-drinks parlor owners.

Every body, including those of the wounded men, bore from six to 10 bullet wounds. From the appearance of the Cartage company's offices, the gun raiders apparently swooped down with the intention of killing everybody in the place.

The building is a garage and contained a number of cars. The bodies lay in an open space where the men had been herded by their killers, before the executions.

The police viewed the slayings as a new outbreak of bootlegging hostilities but at first were unable to determine the affiliations of the raiding gang.

Police were of opinion that the Moran gang was holding a meeting in the Cartage company office, used for bootlegging, when their assailants took them by surprise. The slayers apparently learned of the meeting and took advantage of it to wipe out all their rivals.

Today's slayings were new in Chicago gang warfare. Previously the gangsters had taken their victims for "rides," luring them into automobiles and killing them, or had swept past in automobiles, raking their victims with gun fire.

Never before, however, had one gang invaded the stronghold of another, rounded up the victims and deliberately shot them to death. The slayers escaped today in approved gangster fashion, dashing away in waiting motor cars.

The list of dead as given out by the police follows:

Peter Gusenberg, notorious gangster; James Clark, owner of the garage and brother-in-law of "Bugs" Moran; Arthur Hayes, North Side hoodlum; Frank Davis, West Side hoodlum; Frank Foster, Moran henchman; Al Weinsank, soft-drink parlor proprietor. An unidentified man, believed to have been a garage mechanic.

The injured man is Frank Gusenberg, brother of Peter, who refused to talk. Physicians said he would die.

Today's killing brought the total of gang slayings here in the past few years to more than 135. The slaying created a sensation in official circles. William Russell, commissioner of police, Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, county coroner, and Harry Stansbury, assistant state's attorney, were on the scene within a few minutes and took charge of the investigation.

Two hours after the killings the bodies still lay in the shambles in the same positions in which they were found while hundreds milled about outside the buildings as the officials started their inquiry.

"This is the end of gangland in Chicago," Chief Russell declared as he looked at the bodies. "It's a war to the death now and no quarter given or asked by the police. Every policeman in Chicago is going to start one of the greatest fights against crime this or any other city ever has seen. The raids in which 3,000 were taken and put in jail won't be in it with what we will do now."

All victims were well dressed. In the pockets of one the police found $800, and most of them wore expensive jewelry.

Five men apparently were the murderers. The five were seen to leave the garage after the shooting, "lugging along their weapons without any attempt at concealing them. One man said he saw the men emerge from the building, and that they were carrying their weapons in their hands and proceeding without any hurry. He believed them to be police officers.

He said the five climbed into a car at the curb that he thought was a police car, stowed their guns in the rear and drove away.

At the rear the building tapers until it is only about 40 feet wide. There is a narrow runway for trucks and to one side a small square formed by an abutment in the wall. It was in this place, against a white wall and beneath an overhead light that the men were lined up and shot down.

Police began a search for a man known as Marinello, said to have been the owner of the garage, when neighbors reported he was present during the slayings and apparently had escaped unhurt.

Several demonstrations were made today showing the utility of the four-gear shift transmission.

Mrs. J. A. Sargent is undergoing treatment in the McKean & Connor hospital.

"It's Like This—"

SIGNS OF SPRING are with us in the styles and otherwise. Some are good, and some are not.

The early birds among the solicitors are arriving. In the next few months local people will be offered practically every commodity that can be carried in hand or gotten via the order book.

Purported "bargains" will be offered in every line. A large percentage of these will be far short of bargains. Better goods can be bought locally at a fair price.

Of course, mass production by automatic machinery makes it possible to offer slightly lower prices in some commodities that are made elsewhere.

Were every person resident here to buy only the cheapest merchandise, Pampa today would be a city of 1,000 population, or less.

Trading at home is no trifle—the very stability of wages and business depends upon it. And when you think of trading at home, remember that the same principles apply in the newspaper and printing business...

Fair play should be logical—remember the newspaper and its printers just as you expect your customers to remember you when the peddler knocks or the mail order catalog arrives in the mail.

OUR FEARS of "big business" are sometimes carried to absurd ends. A local citizen yesterday recalled that when Dwight Morrow was mentioned for the post of ambassador to Mexico...

crooks, and while in choosing ambassadors we should of course look into the records and tendencies of appointees, nevertheless ability is what is wanted and if ability is not to be found in place of high responsibility where would you look for it?

It is extremely fortunate that now, as Mexico is torn by religious strife, feeling toward the United States is at the highest peak in years. Morrow "has the Mexican viewpoint", at least in Mexico's opinion...

Just how strongly official Mexico appreciates Morrow, and how the populace worships that other good-will ambassador, Lindbergh, is shown by the remarks of ex-President Calles...

Sr. Calles spoke feelingly of his affection, and that of his countrymen, for the young people to be joined by the union just announced. That the romance presumably took place in the Mexican capital—

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
WASHINGTON — Late one afternoon, in a small corridor of the Senate Office Building which had been barred off as a temporary office...

He turned out to be William B. Wilson of Pennsylvania, who is contesting Boss William S. Vare of Philadelphia for a seat involved in the senatorial election of 1926.

For more than two years Wilson has devoted all his time, an immense amount of effort and a great deal of money to the task of obtaining the Senate seat of which he believes he was at least temporarily cheated by the notorious methods of the Vare machines and allied organizations in his state.

He has been forced to employ two lawyers in Philadelphia and two in Washington and for a time two others in Pittsburgh. Sometimes he has required an office force of eight or 10 persons to do the work required to protect his interests.

At the outset he had to advance the money needed to go into court and bring out the ballot boxes containing the evidence of fraud, although that money has been reimbursed.

Each ballot box had to be opened and its ballots counted and the difference between that count and the official returns set down. During the long period required for counting by the Senate committee in Washington, Wilson kept his representatives on the scene with three stenographers to take down the record.

With submission of Vare's reply to these specifications there will be final oral arguments before the Waterman subcommittee of the Senate committee on privileges and elections.

Wilson was a coal miner for 25 years, but he is now 66 years old and won political honors when he became secretary of labor under Wilson, so your correspondent asked him why he had slaved so arduously to become a senator.

"Only", Wilson replied, "because I have wanted to break up this great corruption in Pennsylvania. I have gone through it as a matter of duty."

Pampa bachelors are thinking of getting up a men's chorus. Probably on the theory that the married men are not usually in a mood for singing.

TWINKLES

Of libraries, there is the story told by T. D. Hobart, than whom few can tell more tales of pioneer days. A prominent Mobeetic resident, in the days when that place was the center of things Panhandle, asked an unlettered, loafing young man to go to the gentleman's library and fetch a copy of the revised statutes.

They are going to harness the sun—probably as easy a task as for some people to harness their sons.

Basketball is getting so popular that we look for the eligibility contest hounds to resume their tactics before long.

Speaking of diaries—as one will, occasionally—we read of an Oklahoma man who entered the names of "unnecessary" citizens. We imagine his figures on the subject would reduce the Chamber of Commerce estimate quite a bit.

Freedom of the seas in Washington and freedom of the seas in Austin seem to be nearer realization.

We have been thinking of writing a feature along the lines of "Phantom Towns of the Panhandle", but remembering how "dead" towns have a way of coming mightily to life, we have decided to let them become somewhat dead.

Schmeling Ousts Manager But Is Still in Trouble

NEW YORK, Feb. 14. (AP)—The managerial troubles of Max Schmeling, German heavyweight, and his pilot from the homeland, Arthur Bulow, as well as similar difficulties of other foreign invaders, have put two more rules on the books of the New York athletic commission.

In upholding Bulow's claim to complete control over Schmeling's ring activities, the commission decided to forestall such difficulties in the future by requiring a foreign fighter to secure permission before he can take on an American manager. A visiting manager must obtain permission before he can assign any part of his interest. Any boxer, native or foreign, will be allowed only one manager who may not cut in for more than a third of the boxer's earnings.

In regard to Schmeling, the commission ruled that neither the boxer nor Joe Jacobs, who holds 7 per cent of his contract will be permitted to make his matches.

Meanwhile the wordy battle between Schmeling and Bulow continued in long statements. The "German Dempsey" announced he would remain out of the ring for the duration of his contract with Bulow, charging him with incompetence and with "stealing" him from a former pilot. The manager replied by saying he had developed Schmeling into championship material but that the "wiles and advances" of Jacobs had alienated him.

Dempsey May Have to Select Referee of Fight

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 14. (AP)—Promoter Jack Dempsey may end the absorbing debate over a referee for the Sharkey-Stribling boxing match, February 27, by personally naming the third man in the ring. Dempsey has told Johnny Buckley, manager of the Boston sailor, and "Pa" Stribling, pilot of the Georgia battler, that unless a selection has been made by tomorrow, he will do the selecting himself.

So far, the managers have been unable to agree on any one of a list of officials submitted by Dempsey. The elder Stribling believes a Southern referee should have been included in the list, and there, apparently the matter rests.

While the principals in the Flamingo park battle went forward with their routine conditioning work, Miami and Miami Beach took stock of available housing facilities for the incoming rush of ticket holders to the fight.

Cubs Arriving at Catalina Island to Start Training

CHICAGO, Feb. 14. (AP)—Confident of bringing Chicago its first national league pennant in eleven years, the advance guard of the Cubs was bound for Catalina Island and its training camp today.

Manager Joe McCarthy headed the party, composed almost wholly of batters. Several pitchers and catchers will board the train en route, while the second detachment leaves on February 24.

McCarthy was happy but reticent about discussing pennant chances.

"With Rogers Hornsby batting and fielding for us, it looks like we are going to win the flag at last," McCarthy said. "But don't be too confident. We need a good pitcher, especially a reliable southpaw, and we need him badly. Then we may have more than our share of accidents. But let's talk about the weather."

The early party expects to get to work Monday or Tuesday.

Schaefer Takes Fifth Title in Beating Cochran

NEW YORK, Feb. 14. (AP)—Jacob Schaefer of Chicago, still "young Jake" despite 34 years of age and a dozen years of major competition, is the world's 18.2 balkline billiards champion for the fifth time in a period of just over seven years.

By triumphing over Welker Cochran, Hollywood cue star, by the narrow margin of 400 to 328 in the final match of the International Tournament, Schaefer won his third championship tournament and his fifth title. Twice he defeated other titleholders in challenge matches under the now abandoned system.

Schaefer, who made his first public appearance as a billiardist in exhibitions with his father when he was only six years old, was at his brilliant best last night. Cochran was not far behind, losing his chance at a second championship through two costly fouls. Twice when he was in the middle of good runs with chances of overtaking his opponent, he lost out by touching the ball, one time with his coat and a second with the tip of his cue before it had stopped moving.

WIDOW OF SLAIN MAN KILLS HERSELF

WILLIAMANTIC, Conn., Feb. 14. (AP)—Further interest in the slaying of County Detective William E. Jackson was aroused today by the suicide of Mrs. Gertrude Jackson, his widow. Before she shot herself she wrote a note. It was turned over to the medical examiner. Police hoped it would aid in solution of the mystery of her husband's death.

Trenot A. Rice, special deputy sheriff and former boarder at the Jackson home, was indicted last week for killing Jackson.

"I light up a Lucky whenever I am tempted to eat between meals"

Herbert Bayard Swope

Herbert Bayard Swope, Internationally known journalist, former Executive Editor, N. Y. Morning World

"The activities of a newspaper demand good physical condition. I find Lucky Strike an immeasurable aid in helping me keep trim and fit. Whenever I am tempted to eat between meals, I light up a Lucky. Toasting makes Lucky Strike the cigarette of joy and benefit."

HERBERT BAYARD SWOPE

THE modern common sense way—reach for a Lucky instead of a fattening sweet. Everyone is doing it—men keep healthy and fit, women retain a trim figure. Lucky Strike, the finest tobaccos, skillfully blended, then toasted to develop a flavor which is a delightful alternative for that craving for fattening sweets. Toasting frees Lucky Strike from impurities. 20,679 physicians recognize this when they say Luckies are less irritating than other cigarettes. That's why folks say: "It's good to smoke Luckies."

Note: Authorities attribute the enormous increase in Cigarette smoking to the improvement in the process of Cigarette manufacture by the application of heat. It is true that during the year 1928, Lucky Strike Cigarettes showed a greater increase than all other Cigarettes combined. This confirms in no uncertain terms the public's confidence in the superiority of Lucky Strike.

Scribes Assigned to Marshal Foch Engage in Duel

PARIS, Feb. 14. (AP)—The illness of Marshal Foch had an unexpected repercussion today in a duel between two newspapermen assigned to his home during his illness. Marquis Henri de Sombreuil took offense at some remark made by Georges Chapreau which he considered a reflection upon all the newspapermen who had waited patiently day in and day out for news of the marshal. A challenge followed and early they met. De Sombreuil fired into the ground while Chapreau's bullet went wild. The combatants shook hands then and retired to the nearest cafe to bind their reconciliation with a hot drink. Dr. Daveniere, physician to Marshal Foch, was present at the duel.

Europe's Winter Takes 300 Lives

LONDON, Feb. 14. (AP)—Estimates of deaths from abnormally cold weather in Central Europe along today ran as high as 300, with thousands suffering from frostbite and kindred injuries. Apparently worse was in prospect, with suffering acute, particularly in Southeastern Europe, from fuel shortage. Mines of Poland and Czechoslovakia were looked to relieve the situation, but disruption of railway traffic added even those countries to those hardest hit.

Rivers and sea channels most of Europe, save in Spain, were frozen over and choked with ice. Rome, celebrating Ash Wednesday, had a heavy snow fall. In Berlin schools were closed for a week to meet the icy conditions.

Treasury Asks Only 2 1/2 Millions More in Pro Work

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—The treasury has advised the house appropriations committee that it could use an additional $2,500,000 this year in the enforcement of prohibition.

The estimate was sent to the committee in response to an inquiry that developed in consideration of the proposal of Senator Harris of Georgia to make an additional $24,000,000 available immediately. That proposal now is awaiting action by the senate since the refusal of house conferees to accept it.

The treasury advised the committee that the $2,500,000 could be used to strengthen the prohibition and customs bureaus.

Secretary Mellon said today the request for the additional appropriation would be transmitted to the house through the budget bureau in the ordinary course of business.

Protest of Hidalgo Residents Failure

AUSTIN, Feb. 14. (AP)—Everything was serene today around the capitol and Representative W. R. Montgomery of Hidalgo retained his seat in the house after yesterday's invasion by citizens of Montgomery's home county protesting action of the house in dismissing the contest of E. M. Smith of McAllen, who claimed he had been legally elected to the legislature from that district.

The delegation which came to urge reconsideration of the contest, filed quietly out of the capitol after being ordered by Jack Keller of Dallas that the subject deal with matter heretofore considered by the legislature and a motion to reconsider and table had carried at that time, precluding its being reopened.

Gordon Griffin of Edinburg, attorney for Smith said today a majority of the delegation, variously estimated to number from 200 to 600, returned home last night. "I do not know what our next step will be," he said. "We may consider filing impeachment charges against Montgomery."

Rebellion in Mexico Is Hinted by One Candidate

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 14. (AP)—Campaign activities of Gilberto Valenzuela, former minister to Great Britain and presidential candidate, today brought charges that he was fomenting rebellion. The charges were vehemently denied by his adherents. His opponents labelled him "Captain General de Cristeros," referring to the insurgent movement in Jalisco. "Cristeros" is derived from their battle cry, "Vivo Christo Rey," or "long live Christ King."

Publication here of a speech delivered by Valenzuela Saturday at Hermosillo, Sonora, gave some background for the charges against him. In that speech he bitterly attacked the government of President Emilio Portes Gil, but even more strenuously attacked former President Calles.

He declared he was not directing his campaign for the presidential nomination of the national revolutionary party so much against Ortis Rubio and Aaron Saenz, his opponents, as against Calles. The former president has repeatedly said he will not make the race for the presidency.

A deputy, Gonzales Santos, charged that Valenzuela had invited some military commanders to revolt. The deputy declared the former minister was preparing his rebellion for "soon." Then he warned the government was prepared to put it down when it did start.

Japanese Sailors Finally Rescued

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 14. (AP)—Twenty-five Japanese, snatched from the freighter Melyo Maru while it was being ground to pieces on the rocks of the Aleutian Islands, were safe aboard the steamer Illinois and the Japanese ship Nankoh Maru today.

Messages last night told of the exciting rescue, but details were lacking. The rescue was effected by shooting breeches, buoys from the Illinois and the Nankoh Maru to the doomed ship and pulling the crew of the Melyo Maru to safety.

In a pounding sea and with the rescue ships working dangerously near the rocks, the buoy lines often sagged until their human cargoes were dipped into the surf.

The Melyo Maru, a freighter of 5,400 tons, ran aground Tuesday during a storm. Several hours later the Nankoh Maru reached the scene, but was unable to effect a rescue. Yesterday she stood by until the Illinois arrived.

FEUD OVER MULE RESULTS IN KILLING

RUSHVILLE, Ill., Feb. 14. (AP)—A feud started by a mule was blamed today for the deaths of Newton Sowers and Glida Strausbaugh, farmers. Several years ago Sowers' mule strayed into Strausbaugh's pasture. Sowers said his neighbor beat the animal, and threatened reprisal. The grudge they bore each other was well known to neighbors but was never considered serious.

Yesterday Strausbaugh went into Sowers' barn, shot him dead and then turned the gun on himself.

Kingsbury May Be Successor to Robert W. Stewart

NEW YORK, Feb. 14. (AP)—The New York Times today says reports in Wall Street are that K. R. Kingsbury, president of the Standard Oil company of California, is being considered by the Rockefeller faction as a possible successor to Col. Robert W. Stewart as chairman of the Standard Oil company of Indiana.

The Rockefeller interests, says the paper, own a large amount of stock in the Standard of California, some estimates placing these holdings at 20 per cent.

The Times says that while it is understood in oil circles that Mr. Kingsbury probably would prefer to remain with the California company we might be induced by the Rockefellers to assume the chairmanship of the Indiana company.

Salvation Army Has New Head

LONDON, Feb. 14. (AP)—The Salvation Army had a new commander-in-chief today—its former commissioner, Edward J. Higgins of England. The immediate future of the Army, however, seemed to depend upon the actions of its deposed head, General Bramwell Booth.

Higgins was chosen at a secret session of his high council last night, receiving 42 votes against 17 for Commissioner Evangeline Booth, sister of General Booth. The action followed adjudication earlier in the day of General Booth as unfit, because of his health, to continue as his post. General Booth has already taken his adjudication as, unfit once to the courts of England and there is nothing to indicate he will not do so again. Some London newspapers today state positively he will continue his chancery court action challenging the validity of the deed poll of 1904, under which the high council functioned.

THE BLACK PIGEON

© 1929 By NEA Service, Inc. BY ANNE AUSTIN

"What are you trying to do, you little devil—arouse the building?—make them think I'm murdering you?"

"I'll—I'll—" Benny was sputtering, his fists clenched.

"Get out and mind your own business! You, too!" Borden added viciously, nodding furiously and gesticulating toward Jack Hayward, who was calling out something in a rage-strangled voice. "Sit down again, Miss Lester," he added, more normally. "And keep your confounded glasses on, if you're crazy about them. Where's that letter to my lawyer?"

Before she obeyed, Ruth turned toward the window again, shaking her head slightly and laying her finger against her lips. Then, trembling, she sat down and was not again molested while Borden signed the letters.

"TELL that fool office boy to get on to my apartment for my bags," Borden reminded her gruffly. Then, "I'm sorry, Miss Lester, but I can't see why you kicked up such a fuss. Didn't mean any harm."

"This—all right, Mr. Borden," Ruth said meekly. "And—I'm sorry I screamed. I'm—easily frightened. And indeed she was sorry she had screamed, for now the blight on her perfect happiness had been communicated to Jack Hayward. But her remorse then over having "kicked up a fuss" was nothing to compare with the agony of self-reproach which was to come to her later. . . .

She found Benny Smith at her desk, bending over the pulled-out bottom drawer. "What are you doing, Benny?" she demanded sharply. "You must keep out of my desk!"

"Looking for a towel," this boy muttered. Then, tensely, "Listen, Ruth, if that guy gets fresh with you again—"

"Hush, Benny!" Ruth cut short his threat. "Run along to my apartment now for my bags. I can take care of myself, Benny. It's sweet of you to mind, but I don't want you to lose your job on my account."

The boy closed the bottom drawer of her desk and snatching up his overcoat and cap, strode out of the office, fancying himself, Ruth reflected tenderly, every inch a man, and—what's more—a man in love!

The door had scarcely closed upon Benny when it opened to admit Carl Adams, one of Borden's dapper, collegial young stock salesmen. Fellow of the men worked on Saturdays, since it was a half holiday.

"Hello, Miss Lester. Saw Benny at the elevator. What's this about you and Borden? Benny seemed to think you might need protection. And I don't wonder. . . . What have you done to yourself? Why, she scared little bunny has turned into a beauty! . . . Greetings, chief!" the salesman broke off his confidential compliments and hailed his employer jovially.

"Come on in, Adams," Borden answered grimly. "Bring me Adams' sales record, Miss Lester, please."

It was 10 minutes after one when the flushed, angry-eyed young man jerked out of the office, and 20 minutes past when Ruth, the last letter to her eyes, of yours out of your head!"

Ruth, who had obeyed his command to look, and who was taking a staggering, uncertain step toward Jack Hayward, framed in the opposite window and being forcibly restrained by another man from leaping through it, thought at first that Borden's last furious sentence was directed at her. But Benny's voice from the doorway told her the truth.

"If you're hurting Miss Lester, I do but to obey. She dragged her chair from its usual place at the big fat-topped desk opposite Borden, and placed it where Borden indicated, with a pointing finger, close to his own chair that the legs almost touched.

"Look!" he pointed to the letter under his large, well-manicured hands. "Wouldn't you think that was a big enough commission for any fly-by-night like Nathan to make?"

Ruth leaned forward and peered through her spectacles. Borden laughed suddenly. "Bet you could see better without those goggles, Ruth! Come! I'm going to take 'em off for you. I'll bet a hundred dollars your eyes are just the right shade of blue to go with these yellow curls of yours," and his hands reached out were about to lay hold upon the last item of the girl's disguise, which men of Harry Borden's type had made necessary, if she was to be allowed to work in peace.

Ruth's head jerked back, her small hands going up to hold his back. "Please, Mr. Borden! The light really hurts my eyes," she lied frantically.

Then somehow she was out of her chair, and Borden's left arm was about her shoulders, as his right hand reached determinedly for the spectacles. A hundred times, afterwards, she reproached herself bitterly for the scream that tore out of her throat. After all, he was only trying, half-jokingly, to take her glasses off. . . . But as his flushed face almost touched hers, and his eyes glittered with something more than laughter, she lost control of nerves which had been curiously taut all morning—and screamed.

"What are you trying to do, you little devil?—arouse the building?—make them think I'm murdering you?" Borden demanded furiously. "Look! That chap's getting an eye full across the airshaft—and get out of here and stay out, or I'll knock those pop eyes of yours out of your head!"

CHICAGO, Feb. 14. (P)—Prospects of warmer weather for Europe led to an early setback today in wheat values here. Before the market swung downward, however, July wheat deliveries established a new high-price record for the season.

Opening at 1-4c off to 1-4c up, Chicago wheat later underwent a general downturn. Corn also was easier, starting at 1-8c to 5-8c decline, and subsequently holding near to the initial figures. Oats were relatively steady. Provisions tended to advance.

AUSTIN, Feb. 14. (P)—Willie Adams, alias Bishop Adams, negro voodoo doctor, was charged with murder and robbery today in connection with the death last night of William Glober, suburban grocer found with his head crushed and throat cut yesterday.

Officers said Adams had confessed to the crime.

AUSTIN, Feb. 14. (P)—A negro voodoo doctor is being questioned by Austin officers about his possible connection with the killing of William Glober, Austin groceryman, who died last night after having been found in his store with his head crushed and his throat cut.

Blood was found on the negro's shoes and a bloody handkerchief and a razor with blood were found in his home.

Glover was struck with a five pound rock found near his body in his suburban store. When attacked Glover was evidently stooping over a chicken feed sack. The scoop was near his blood-covered body.

At the hospital Glover scrawled a description of his attacker. He said he was a negro.

Mrs. E. B. Gober Is Hostess at Valentine Bridge

One of the prettiest affairs for which the Valentine season has furnished inspiration was a bridge-tea given yesterday by Mrs. E. B. Gober. A red and white color scheme was followed in card table appointments, and the heart motif appeared in a dainty salad course.

During the game the players were given a red heart for each deuce drawn. Mrs. Joe Kahl held the majority of these at the close of the play and received a vase. High score was made by Mrs. C. M. Bryson, and low, by Mrs. J. L. Nance. Table cuts went to Mrs. E. A. Shackleton, Mrs. B. C. Fahy, Mrs. Bryson and Mrs. Nance.

The guest list included, in addition to the names already mentioned, the following: Mrs. W. H. Lang, Mrs. Joe Berry, Mrs. S. A. Burns, Mrs. Joe Lewis, Mrs. Carl Taylor, Mrs. Charles Boles, Mrs. R. A. Webb, Mrs. W. A. Gray, Mrs. Paul Hill, Mrs. Robert Gilchrist and Mrs. George Woods.

Miss Anne Spencer Morrow already has flown with Col. Charles A. Lindbergh. Perhaps if they go on their honeymoon by airplane she will recall the poem "Height," winner of an alumnae prize and published by Scribner's magazine in April, 1928, after the Lone Eagle's first visit to Mexico City.

The poem follows:

HEIGHT

When I was young I felt so small And frightened, for the world was tall. And even grasses seemed to me A forest of immensity.

Until I learned that I could grow, A glance would leave them far below, Spanning a tree's height with my eye, Suddenly I seemed as high.

And fixing on a star I grew—I pushed my head against the blue. Still, like a singing lark, I find Rapture to leave the grass behind.

And sometimes, standing in a crowd, My lips are cool against a cloud.
