LEGENDS ENFOLD "GEM OF MISSIONS" IN TEXAS

San Jose mission at San Antonio, was built by Spanish priests more than two centuries ago. Those who pause before the mission see only fragments of the beauty which has made it known as "the gem of missions."

Treasure seekers, neglect and time have ruined many of the elaborate ornamentations. The mission was built about 1720 and all the work was done by priests.

The delicate carvings of the famous "rose window," which has been studied by architects from all parts of the world, are said to have been made by one Huicar as his expression of despair over an unrequited love. The legend is that Huicar, having amassed a fortune as a conquistador, was returning to Spain to be married when he learned that his intended bride had married another. He donned the robes of a priest.

The bellry once held a carrillon noted for its beautiful tone. Legend says this tone was due to gold thrown into the crucible when the bells were cast in Spain. Don Luis Angel, who was to marry Teresa, had gone to Texas, where he met death and was buried in the shadow of the tower at San Jose.

Another legend about the building—that priests had buried a great treasure near it—has caused gold hunters to burrow under the foundations, and these excavations are blamed for the collapse of the roof and the tower.

Mystery Man Confirms Charges in Richards Case

DALLAS, Feb. 6. (P)—A. A. Crabb, alias Clyde R. Vest, the mystery man in the Mathews election bet here last September, took the stand today and testified that Ben Richards, Jr., prominent business man on trial for forgery in connection with the election bet, had paid him to collect the bet on the strength of forged credentials.

Yesterday W. Taylor Ramsey, Jr., of Belton had testified that he and V. Ray Adams of Bartlett had bet $1,000 on Tom Connally in the recent senatorial primary which Connally won. Richards, he said covered the bet, and Orville Mathews, a banker held the stakes.

When Adams attempted to collect the bet after Connally's victory he learned that a man purporting to be Clyde R. Vest of Waco had collected the money on the strength of telegrams and a letter purporting to come from Ramsey. Adams shot Mathews to death on a busy street corner here last September in an argument over the matter. Today Crabb testified that Richards had offered him "perhaps $200" for collecting the stake. Richards, he said, suggested that he use the name Clyde R. Vest and had him practice writing it.

THE WEATHER VANE

WEST TEXAS: Cloudy, colder in north portion with temperature 12 to 18 tonight; Thursday, partly cloudy.

AND A SMILE

LOS ANGELES—Golf is fine for pleasure, but in the words of a grand master, Walter Hagen, it is not so good for making money. Such was his plea in asking that agreement regarding payments to his wife be set aside. When the arrangement was made, he pleaded he was making money in Florida reality.

Church Drive Postponed Today

Church enlistment campaign services for the remainder of the week, including this evening's, have been postponed until a future date to be announced later, the Rev. T. W. Brabham, campaign secretary, announced today, following a conference of the ministers whose churches are participating.

"Because of the bad weather, it was decided that it would be better for all concerned to postpone the program as outlined at the beginning of the week to some more favorable time in the future."

For himself and on behalf of other ministers, Rev. Brabham expressed appreciation for the excellent support given by the congregations and the co-operation received from various organizations.

COLD WAVE IS SEVERELY FELT IN CITY TODAY

Thermometer Drops to 18 Above Before Noon

SNOW IS LIGHT AROUND PAMPA

Sleet and Ice Do Much Damage to Wires

Pampa's temperature took a sudden nose-dive just before noon today and leveled off at 18 degrees above zero. Predictions of colder weather and probable snow materialized last night and early today, but Pampa's share of the snowfall was somewhat less than that reported from other points on the North Plains.

At St. Francis a heavy snow was reported at noon and at Amarillo the thermometer had dropped to 15 degrees. East of here the same conditions existed, according to late reports received at the local depot.

Driving was precarious, as the streets were slippery from a light snow and sleet during the night. Windshields became coated with ice.

The weather man reports that the mercury may drop as low as 8 to 10 degrees here.

Telephone lines to the oil fields are down and rural telephone service has been disrupted by the recent snow, sleet, and frost. Ice-coated lines have snapped and in many instances poles have been broken by the weight of ice on the wires, and wind.

Efforts are being made to repair the service to oil company headquarters but little success is reported.

Oil field operations have been curtailed but not shut down. Roads are in fair condition but slippery in places where snow has melted.

MANY ENTHUSIASTIC CITIZENS ATTEND B. C. D. MEETING, AT WHICH J. E. BIGGS IS SPEAKER

The most enthusiastic gathering since the railroad and county seat campaigns last night heard J. E. Biggs of Amarillo and many local speakers at a Board of City Development meeting.

Mr. Biggs, connected with the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and Amarillo B. C. D., spoke particularly on the subject of agricultural development. He declared that the Plains country has plenty of commercial and professional men, but that more producers are necessary, especially farmers. He pointed to the new feeling that has developed in regard to this section—the transition from the grazing to the farming projects.

The speaker went into detail regarding the work of Panhandle-Plains of Texas, Inc., which is made up of cooperating counties but largely financed by the Amarillo Board of city development. Mr. Biggs said the organization last year took exhibits to fifteen fairs in the Middle West and registered 8,000 interested persons. This year larger exhibits will be taken to larger fairs, he asserted.

Million Persons Possible

With 20,000,000 acres of tillable land in the Panhandle, and present methods of farming only 40 per cent efficient, Mr. Biggs believes agriculture will make possible a population of one million persons in this territory.

He also stressed aviation and other modes of communication, civic development, and participation of the women of the community public affairs.

F. M. Gwin, city manager, declared "prairie dogs build towns, but the word city implies all the man-power that can be mustered in its building." He pleaded for sustained enthusiasm in local affairs, asserting that while there are almost certain to be three major cities on the North Plains, not one of the smaller cities has a cinched position. He believes more railroads vital to the future of the city.

Relative to this discussion, County Judge Ivy E. Duncan stated that he would duplicate his subscription to the C. & O. W. line toward the next railroad that offers to come here.

Old Times Recalled

City commissioners and chairmen of the B. C. D. committees with their fellow workers were introduced, and many made short talks regarding their specific work. Mrs. Grace Higgins, member of the industrial committee, was among those who spoke.

Reminiscences were many during the evening. T. D. Hobart said he rode over this area 42 years ago, and that the Santa Fe railroad was just then being constructed. Chas. C. Cook, in an enthusiastic talk, said that when he came here 17 years ago development was still meager. He endorsed the city hall project.

Before the general meeting, the Board met to hear reports of committees. Members voted to spend $30 to bring a nationally known city planning expert here to offer advice on zoning and other problems. The Board voted to cooperate with the American Legion in the latter's park plans.

Owing to lack of time, several matters were deferred for consideration at an early called meeting of the Board.

BAIL FINALLY GRANTED IN TEXAS SLAYING

AUSTIN, Feb. 6. (P)—P. F. Robidoux charged with the murder of Willet and John Moore, brothers, on an island near the mouth of the Guadalupe river, was granted bail in each case today. Bond was fixed at $7,500 in each case.

Robidoux had been refused bail both at a preliminary hearing and on application for writ of habeas corpus before the district court, in Calhoun county.

TRAFFIC SIGNS WILL BE PLACED ON SOMERVILLE

More stop and slow signs will be placed on Pampa's paved streets, according to City Manager F. M. Gwin, who says that some of our paved streets are becoming speedways for automobiles.

A stop sign will be placed on Somerville street leading into Foster avenue. The "U" sign will be removed and "U" turns will be allowed at that intersection in the future. A stop sign will be placed on West Francis avenue where it intersects with Frost street so that eastbound traffic will have to stop before reaching the schools. Westbound traffic on West Francis avenue will be through.

A stop sign will also be placed on West Francis street leading into Cuyler street. A slow sign will be placed at each corner of the intersection of North Somerville street and West Francis avenue. It is a dangerous corner and several accidents have been narrowly averted at that point, the city manager says.

OPERA STAR DIES

LUCERNE, Switzerland, Feb. 6. (P)—Minnie Hauk, 77, former American prima donna, who was widely known on the operatic stage in the role of "Carmen," died here today.

Record Maker

CAPT. HAWKS

NEW YORK, Feb. 6. (P)—Captain Frank Hawks and his mechanic, Oscar E. Grubbs, who overcame fog, wind and sleet to establish a nonstop flight record from Los Angeles to New York were invited to the city hall at noon today to receive the official welcome of the city.

"I would have made it three hours sooner with decent weather," Capt. Hawks said, "but there were times when I didn't know whether we would ever land at all."

"We had bad winds almost all the way across—winds, clouds, rain, sleet and snow. We hit bad weather at Roswell, N. M., and never got out of it until we hit West Virginia. At that time I was flying between 8,000 and 14,000 feet trying to get away from the weather."

ONLY MOODY NOW CAN SAVE HARRY J. LEAHY

Appeals Court Denies His Motion for Rehearing

ONCE SENTENCED TO FIFTY YEARS

Mexican's Confession Is Basis of Conviction and Verdict

AUSTIN, Feb. 6. (P)—Harry J. Leahy of Mathis today lost his motion for a rehearing before the court of criminal appeals, and unless the governor intervenes he will die in the electric chair for the murder of Dr. J. A. Ramsey, also of Mathis.

Leahy was convicted by a Williamson county jury, after he had refused to take a sentence of 50 years at his first trial in Live Oak county. The Live Oak county court granted his motion for a new trial and sent the case to Williamson county on a change of venue.

Dr. Ramsey's body was found in a shallow grave several weeks after he had disappeared from his home. He left with a Mexican who had asked him to minister to his sick wife.

Later the Mexican was arrested at Laredo and it was his confession that implicated Leahy.

LINDBERGH NEAR END OF FIGHT TO CANAL ZONE

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, Feb. 6. (P)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, en route to Panama on the last lap of his inaugural air mail flight from Miami, landed at Punta Arenas 8:10 a. m. (9:10 E. S. T.) and an hour and twenty minutes later hopped off again for Panama.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Feb. 6. (P)—For the last lap of the first commercial airmail trip between the United States and Panama Col. Charles A. Lindbergh today had a variety of terrain.

The route was over low tropic coasts, high isthmian mountains, and along the Panama Canal to Cristobal, at the Atlantic entrance to the canal.

Six hundred and fifty-three air miles with three intermediate stops were included, 194 from Managua to Punta Arenas, Costa Rica; 204 from Punta Arenas to David, Panama; 139 from David to Panama City, and 126 across the isthmus to Cristobal, terminus of the three-day trip from Miami.

The territory in today's route was regarded as the most pleasant of any of the trip, the worst stretch lying between Punta Arenas and David. Colonel Lindbergh estimated he would pass over high mountains between those places at an altitude of 6,000 feet, although aviators usually make 9,000 feet in the district.

'It's Like This--'

PAMPA'S LIBRARY problem is being studied by the students of Central high. A thoughtful article on the subject has been written by Miss Louise Glover, a senior. Here it is:

In the building of a new town there are so many things to be done. Convenient houses, pavement, and sidewalks, all must be constructed for the comfort of the body. The churches are built to give the people spiritual comfort and rest, but often the comforts of the mind are overlooked. The people need food for the mind—food that can be obtained only through the best books and magazines.

The library of a town furnishes this desired food. The best books and magazines are kept ready to serve anyone and everyone. A library is also a place of entertainment. It does not offer fun of talking, laughing, and 'cutting up' with one's friend, but it affords the pleasure of drifting down the path of knowledge and dreams with the characters of the books. Quiet is kept in the room so that the book-lover may enjoy each minute of his reading.

There are books of every kind and description in the best libraries. There is always a place set off especially for the little tots. In this section there are books with pretty pictures, rhymes, and fairy-stories, all of which help to develop the mind of the little child. In the library there are also books of histories, fiction, poetry, encyclopedias, dictionaries, and books of reference for almost every occasion. These books are for every type of people, and especially for the pupil going to school. The pupil is able to do much better work with such a great number of books to choose from for reference work.

Of course, Pampa cannot obtain this height of 'a first rate' library over night. The movement must first start with a small selection of books, the keen interest of the town people, and a committee willing to work for this big cause. With these factors backing such a worthy movement, it will not be long until Pampa can boast of one of the best libraries in this part of the country. The pupil will not have to hesitate and worry about information for his next theme or out-side reading report. The young folk will not lack a place to go for an afternoon of wholesome entertainment, and the older people will know where to go to settle a friendly argument over the dates of a certain war, or the works of one of the presidents.

Thus we see that a library will help not only the school children, but will be of use to almost everyone. Therefore we should all have as our aim and goal, a good public library for Pampa.

LOOKING BACKWARD over a period of two years does not ordinarily bring within the vision the making of even a small city, but in that time the writer has seen the flowering of the New Pampa.

Two years ago today this scribe drove into a big town whose streets were rougher than country roads, whose citizens were largely strangers to one another, whose principal clubs had not been organized, and where the sidewalks were often so covered with mud and people that they were nearly worthless. Parking space was plentiful in the curb lakes, but having once parked, getting back into one's car and backing out was no little task.

The prospects for starting a daily newspaper were no better. We confess that we doubted the faith of the publishers in launching a daily—notoriously expensive—just as the oil market began to sag. But the publication began, and since that time every piece of the original equipment has been replaced, and a specially designed new building has been occupied. The newspaper has grown perhaps more, in proportion, than the city since its beginning—largely through investment of capital necessary for a creditable, permanent newspaper institution.

In two years the paving has gone through three programs, the city government has been modernized, the B. C. D. work has been perfected, the churches have assumed their rightful place in the community, upward of a hundred men and women have made noteworthy places in public service, hundreds have taken part in the work of organizations that have been formed, and the evidences of boom growth have disappeared in the orderly development.

At the end of this remarkable two-year period, we have no regrets for the strenuous efforts required, but feel thankful for not having had to miss a day's work by reason of illness. To have had the advantages of participation in the events of such a formative, preciative and kindly spirit of period has been recompense enough, considering the apathetic local citizenship.

It would be hard for newcomers, without the background of knowing the Pampa of early 1927 and the Pampa that was before discovery of oil, to appreciate the progress that has been made and the work that has been necessary to arrive at the present status. But those of us who were here two or three years ago should have faith in the resourcefulness of a citizenship that has come from many places to become assimilated with old-time residents through common interests. We cannot live in the past, but we can go forward strengthened by the knowledge of how that past was achieved.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHEK
WASHINGTON—A senator's full term runs six years, but the Hon. Octaviano A. Larrazola, senator from New Mexico, may have established a new record by serving a little more than a month in Washington.

Larrazola came here Dec. 12, a few days ago his health forced him back to New Mexico and he may not be able to return before his senatorial days are over. He was elected for the present short session only, taking the seat vacated by the death of Senator Jones, subsequently filled by the appointment of Senator Cutting, and again to be filled by Cutting after March 4.

He was born in Chihuahua, Mexico, 68 years ago and for many years prior to his election, especially since New Mexico made him her governor in 1918, his ambition had been to sit in the Senate. The state law, which would not permit Cutting's name to appear twice on the same ballot, gave him his chance.

Larrazola is regarded as a silvery-tongued orator at home. He wanted to make just one speech during his term here—a hope now apparently doomed.

His interest in the Spanish-American people of New Mexico led him to introduce a bill for an industrial school there. It was his only bill and it was to be the subject of his only speech.

But Washington climate is hard on a man with bronchial asthma and Larrazola has gone home with no other distinction here than that of being the only senator in years to break the rules unwittingly by smoking a cigaret on the floor.

The Congressional Record remains unillustrated, despite a somewhat common belief that comic strips and other art would increase its circulation. Congressman Boylan of New York, who is altogether wet, undertook to insert a cartoon in the Record and couldn't get away with it.

The cartoon was drawn by Harold M. Talburt of the Scripps-Howard Newspapers and portrayed, in a setting representing the dark ages, the spectacle of a forlorn mother of ten children being sent to prison for life for selling a pint of liquor.

Tilson of Connecticut, the Republican floor leader, promptly objected. As he explained: 'It simply is not done.' Boylan contended that the people preferred looking at pictures to reading, but agreed not to press the matter.

The only illustration this writer has ever seen in the Record was a chart inserted last year by Senator Norris of Nebraska for the National Popular Government League. This graph showed the cheaper cost of electricity in Ontario under government ownership.

Old-timers in Washington agree that there is less interest in the session of Congress than in any they can remember. The Kellogg peace treaty, the $24,000,000 prohibition fund proposal and the cruiser bill haven't altered that fact. Nearly everyone, in Congress and out, is principally concerned with inauguration and the new man who will afterward be in the White House. There seems to be a feeling—"in the air," as Al Smith would say—that things are going to be different. No day passes during which someone doesn't ask your correspondent: "What kind of a president is Hoover going to make?" You can hear any prediction you like, and many are engaged in making them—that Hoover will make the best president in history or that he will turn out to be the worst.

TWINKLES

Marriages may be made in heaven, but the office cynic says lots of them are also made in high school now days.

The quacks say the ice age is coming back. That makes us somewhat uneasy, considering that the quack persons have been more often right than not in many of their recent weather predictions.

Records are peculiar—production of oil, for instance, has to increase but very little to "break another record".

Laziness may not be increasing, but informality is getting so popular that we are inclined to believe it.

As a rule, when two hearts beat perfectly as one there is one that is rather weak.

Well, Uncle Sam needs some more penitentiaries, and we suppose there will be a mad scramble to get these important institutions.

We believe Pampa ought to have one of the proposed federal prisons—how will we ever get close enough to glimpse Ace Pendleton without some such arrangement?

A woman owner of night clubs in London was sentenced to thirteen months on charges of bribing a police sergeant. The fact that she was a relative—in fact a mother-in-law—of two peers failed to save her.

New Bill Leaves University Land in Commissioners Hands

AUSTIN, Feb. 6. (AP)—Leasing of university owned lands will remain with the commissioner of the general land office under a revamped bill, drafted from two other measures, passed favorably last night by the house committee on public lands and buildings.

The measure, however, provides a series of guide posts relative to disposal of state-owned properties, especially with reference to what shall be construed as the highest bid offered. Each one-eighth royalty offered in addition to the minimum royalty shall be considered the equivalent of the highest cash bonus offered, the highest royalty specified shall be considered the best bid, under language of the subcommittee draft approved by the committee.

June 1, 1929, is set as the date when lands may be placed on the market, following action taken early in the present session repealing the 1925 land lease laws.

The measure sets out that the Board of Regents of the University of Texas is authorized to employ a geologist and mineralogist to keep a check on activities on lands under lease and those whose mineral resources have not been developed.

Every bid carried with it the obligation to pay not less than 10 cents per acre for delay in drilling.

Famous German Flier and Soldier Dies Last Night

BERLIN, Feb. 6. (AP)—Disease has cut short a life which triumphed over some of the greatest hazards of war and aviation.

Death came last night to Baron Ehrenfried Gunter von Huenefeld, one of the three men who made the first westward air passage of the North Atlantic. He died on the operating table at a sanitarium as surgeons sought to remedy a stomach and intestinal ailment which had marred his last years.

Baron von Huenefeld was only 36 years old, but he had an adventurous career of soldier, German monarchist, poet and dramatist, and, finally, aviator.

Shrapnel wounds in both legs during the world war left him with a decided limp. Vice-consul at Maastricht, Holland, he received the former Kaiser's crown prince when they sought refuge on Dutch soil, and he later spent several years with the crown prince in his exile on the island of Wieringen.

The flight which brought him prominence which had marred his last years. With Captain Herman Koehl and Major James Fitzmaurice of the Saorstaff Air Corps sharing the controls, the three in the plane Bremen flew from Baldonnel air field, Dublin, to Greenley Island, Labrador, where they waited two weeks in the ice and snow to be taken out.

Mrs. Naomi Reeves has pneumonia and was admitted to a local hospital yesterday. She is much better today, the hospital reports.

WILL HONOR TAYLOR

AUSTIN, Feb. 6. (Special)—Unusual interest is attached to the annual banquet of the engineering students of the University of Texas to be held here February 16 by reason of the fact that it is to be made the occasion of the presentation to Dean T. O. Taylor of a bronze bust of him. This gift to the veteran head of the College of Engineering will be in commemoration of his 40 years of faithful service to Texas engineers. The bust was executed by Hugo Villa, well known sculptor of San Antonio.

Mrs. Naomi Reeves has pneumonia and was admitted to a local hospital yesterday. She is much better today, the hospital reports.

R. G. Hughes is a business visitor in Amarillo today.

THE ADJUTANT'S DILEMMA

By DeWitt Mackenzie (Copyright, 1928, Associated Press) For more than an hour the adjutant had sat at his desk in British general headquarters, "Somewhere in France," with reluctant pen poised over the findings of the court martial which had cashiered Captain Freddie. It was the business of the adjutant, as representative of the high command, to pass final judgment, and he was having trouble. It was a most unusual circumstance for him to be stumped. He was adjutant because he was efficient.

Moreover, this was an open and shut case. On the face of it there was no earthly reason why he should have delayed even five minutes in putting his O. K. on the papers before him. And still the pen, from which ultimately must issue that fateful message remained suspended in air, its point weaving little circles of indecision.

The adjutant finally threw his pen down in despair and walked over to the window. Before him was a lovely stretch of emerald countryside; off there somewhere to the west the big guns were vomiting out their missiles of destruction. But he saw neither the beauty of the immediate vicinity, nor was he thinking of the hell over in the distance. He was pondering the case of Captain Freddie.

Captain Freddie, one of the finest officers who ever led a bunch of bayonets over the top. Captain Freddie a clean living, hard fighting gentleman. Cashiered! To be sent home in disgrace. To be a thing, yes, a THING, of reproach in the eyes of his fellow officers for life. To be evicted from his club. To be shunned on the street. Something remarkably like a "damn" escaped the adjutant's grimly set mouth. He drummed impatiently on the window pane, and for the hundredth time reviewed the case, in hope that he might see some tiny loophole which would save the captain.

The whole trouble started from the fact that Captain Freddie loved his wife and she loved him. Daily the military postman trundled back and forth the little missives of affection between this pair of lovers—one in France and one in London. Those letters were wonderful helps to a love-rone couple. Still, it wasn't like seeing each other; a jolly long way from it.

But war is war, and love doesn't enter into it very much. Men must fight, and women must stay at home and wait. Stern military law forbade the wife of any fighting man from joining him in the war zone, even in the back areas where it was quiet. The penalty for violation of this law was court-martial and disgrace for the man.

It was a funny sort of law, too, on analysis. For a soldier might make all the love he wished to any woman other than his wife. Wives only were barred. Of course, several million wives at the front would have presented something of a problem to G. H. Q. That was the military point of view, and the military viewpoint is notoriously lacking in sentiment.

Mrs. Captain Freddie didn't know much about military law. She only knew that she was awful lonesome for Freddie. It was enough for her that she wanted to be with him, without worrying her pretty head about G. H. Q. And so one day she wrangled a trip to the war zone, with the Red Crossers, or some similar workers. She headed straight for Freddie, and she found him in Amiens. He was the same old Freddie, too. It was good to see him.

But after the first greetings were over, an uneasy feeling began to run through Captain Freddie's mind. He was not an officer in His Majesty's forces for nothing. He knew the law, and realized the danger of having his wife with him. He said nothing about his misgivings to his sweetheart, though. She was too happy. He couldn't spoil it all. So he sat tight, and showed his white teeth in the infectious laugh which had endeared him to the officers' mess and to his men. The adoring Mrs. Freddie loved that laugh, too.

They had a wonderful two or three days together, for Amiens, while full of troops, was fairly quiet, and they found good accommodations in a hotel. Finally Mrs. Freddie kissed her captain goodby and packed off for London, happier than she had been in many long months of separation.

Then Captain Freddie faced the music. Arrest. Court-martial. No possible defense that he could see. A sentence to be cashiered. And at last the papers had come up to G. H. Q.

to the adjutant for the formality of signing. All this ran through the adjutant's mind as he stood disconsolate by the window wasting time over a hopeless situation.

"Damn!" he muttered again, as his fingers played their staccato roll on the glass. "And to think that had it been any other woman in the world besides his own wife, there would have been no charges against him."

Suddenly the adjutant's fingers halted their impatient drumming. And gradually a grin spread over his face. He hurried over to his desk and reached eagerly for the pen which he had thrown down so willingly a few moments before.

"This is going to be a bit tough on the little woman," he said to himself, "but it's got to be done."

Then he wrote his decision firm across the papers, with a small flourish of pride showing at the end of each word:

"No evidence adduced to show that the lady in question was Captain Freddie's wife. Case quashed."

College Head Says Farmers Alone Can Never Solve Their Difficulties

HOUSTON, Feb. 6. (AP)—The farmer still is laboring under a delusion that some day, unaided by merchants, bankers and others, he may be able to control his products, E. C. Brooks, president of the North Carolina State college, Raleigh, N. C., said in an address before the Association of Southern Agricultural Workers here.

"Agriculturists, he said, need to re-educate themselves to the demonstration method of teaching business management that there may be a better flow of money to 40 per cent of the nation's customers.

Taking North Carolina as an illustration of the progress under instruction, Mr. Brooks said a farmer in that state today cultivating by the use of machinery four and a half more acres of land than 29 years ago; he is producing 60 per cent more corn, 20 per cent more cotton, 18 per cent more tobacco, 110 per cent more wheat, 47 per cent more rye, 43 per cent more oats, 39 per cent more Irish potatoes and 20 per cent more sweet potatoes per acre. This, he believed, represented the progress of the entire country.

"In other words," the address continued, "the average man on the farm has more than doubled his productive power within a generation and if it were necessary in order to feed and clothe our population, he could double it again with just a little more emphasis on the demonstration method."

Agricultural distress is apparent today, but it is no new problem, Mr. Brooks said. "During the first decades of our nation's history our people, surrounded then by an abundance of new land and fear of famine, and their fears were supported by economic theorists—the Malthusian doctrine, for example. But 25 years after introduction of Dr. Knapp's new method, our people, surrounded by a surplus, are again in distress. But this time they are afraid of over-production and these fears are supported by political theorists, and an extra session of congress will perhaps be called to consider farm relief.

"Notwithstanding that the average farmer has doubled his productive power and has the power to quadruple it if necessary, his prosperity and his business rating are not measured by his productive capacity and we have agricultural distress today, although we are surrounded by a surplus. It is not clear, therefore, that the largest possible results of the agricultural extension service, and even its perpetuity, depend upon a better application of the demonstration methods to the needs of the farmer?"

If the farmer does not lose some of his isolation and exclusiveness, the guilt between him and other units of business will be widened, Mr. Brooks predicted. "The farmer is still hugging to himself the delusion that some day he, unaided by merchants, bankers and other businessmen, may be able to control his products. They are controlled by the flow of money to the consumers and this flow is governed to a degree by all classes of producers and consumers. Therefore, it is absolutely essential that the farmer cooperate freely and intimately with other producers and other businessmen."

Notice is hereby given, that at the next regular meeting of the commissioners' court of Gray County, Texas, on the 11th day of February, A. D. 1929, bids will be received for county depository of the funds of Gray County, Texas. Any banking corporation, association or individual banker of this county desiring to bid, shall deliver to the county judge, on or before said 11th day of February, a seal proposal, stating the rate of interest offered on the daily balance of the funds of the county or any political subdivision thereof, for a term of two years. Said bid shall be accompanied by a certified check of Eight Hundred Dollars to be disposed of as directed by the Laws of Texas, relating thereto.

Harvesters Beat Borger Bulldogs by Score of 30 to 12

Pampa Harvesters defeated the Borger Bulldogs, 30 to 12, on the latter town's court last night, which was the third time they had performed the feat this season.

Stalls played a sensational game in the first half, and Bob Kahl, who went to center in the last period, was leading scorer and perhaps most sensational player on the floor. James hit his stride in the second half. Waldstad got a basket during the game, and Salsbury kept up his usual strong defensive work. Cash played forward for a time, and the second team was inserted toward the end of the game.

The Harvesters will go to Amarillo Thursday night to play the Amarillo Sandies. On Friday night they will meet the Clarendon college quintet here. The Sandies will come to Pampa for a return game Monday. These last two games may be the last of the season on the home floor.

The Central squad will enter the Miami tournament of February 15-16, and the Canyon Interscholastic league finals will be played on February 21, 22 and 23.

U. of Virginia Is Seeking to Obtain Coach of S. M. U.

WACO, Feb. 6. (AP)—A special dispatch from Baltimore to the Waco Times-Herald today said that it is "no secret at the University of Virginia at Charlottesville that the athletic council of that school is angling for the services of Ray Morrison, head coach at Southern Methodist university of Dallas."

DALLAS, Feb. 6. (AP)—Ray Morrison, Southern Methodist university coach, would neither confirm nor deny a report that the athletic council of the University of Virginia was seeking his services when asked for a statement today regarding such an offer.

Boxer Is Arrested When Opponent Dies

SEATTLE, Feb. 6. (AP)—Cecil Geysel, 21-year-old welterweight boxer of Seattle, was held today pending an inquest into the death of Eddie Cartwright, negro welterweight of Portland, Ore., who died a few minutes after having been knocked out by Geysel last night.

The knockout blow did not cause the death of the veteran, an autopsy showed. It was the last of a battery of punches to the jaw from the gloves of Geysel.

A hemorrhage, resulting from a rupture of arteries at the base of the brain when Cartwright's head struck the canvas, caused his death, coroner William J. Jones reported. The examination also revealed a diseased heart, which, consulting physicians said, might have caused his death from any form of overexertion.

Alanreed Chamber to Meet Weekly

ALANREED, Feb. 6.—The Alanreed Chamber of Commerce will in the future meet once a week, it was decided at a recent meeting of the body. The increasing mass of important business which is being handled by the organization made the monthly session inadequate. The meetings will be held every Tuesday night.

Lon Rundell of Clarendon spent the week-end in Pampa.

R. B. Harris, manager of the Amarillo Furniture store, is confined to his home with influenza.

EDWIN WIDE TO MATCH STRIDES WITH NURMI IN NEW YORK MEET

Followers of the cinder and board treadways are eagerly anticipating the National Track and Field championship games to be held in Madison Square Garden, February 23.

A meeting between Paavo Nurmi the flying Finn and Edwin Wide, the Swedish schoolmaster in the two-mile event will give the meet added color. Nurmi has already signified his intention of entering this event and Wide is most anxious to match strides with the Finn at the distance.

Paavo the Clam, in his second invasion of America has been running with all the form and speed that made him a sensation here in 1925.

Wide also is staging a return engagement and has started off well by copping the 1500 meter run in the recent Masonic games in New York. Two miles is the favorite race of both the foreigners.

While there should be plenty of excitement when the Swede meets the Finn for the championship, it won't do a thing to settle the question of Nordic supremacy.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — Hollywood's box-lunch business soon may be joining the invective chorus of extinguished silent screen lights against the talking feature.

The long-lunch idea has something of a stronghold here in southern California, where numerous establishments daily prepare hundreds of the portable meals for sale to tourists and other passers-by. But especially has the business been a healthy one in Hollywood where the various film companies have been putting in substantial orders for the feeders of players and workers going on location.

There are a few such establishments here which have depended to a large extent on these orders for prosperity, and it is to these that the advent of the noisy screen offers the ungentle rub.

Locations Lessening For much of the picture taking being done on sound-proof stages within the studio walls, trips to location are becoming perceptibly rare, says the proprietor of one box-lunch house whose business has been hit by the change.

Another grief for the lunch dealers

Honor Students of Teachers College Are Making Good

CANYON, Feb. 6. (Spl.)—Thirteen members of the senior class of the West Texas State Teachers college are members of the Scholarship Society of the South. They belong to the Lloyd Greene Allen chapter which was named in honor of L. G. Allen, a well known Texas educator and for many years dean of the local college.

The senior members represent three states and with the exception of three members who live in Randall county, all are from various towns. They are Marie Dodgen, Groom; Isiah Mateer, Kingman, Kan.; Wilhelmina Oberst, Dorothy Thomas and Ruth Strain, Canyon; Marjorie Walters, Tulla; Grace Aasen, Oakes, North Dakota; Frank Barnes, Plainview; Thelma Brummett, Kirkland; Mabel Faulkner Wilson, Hereford; Arless O'Keefe, Panhandle; Avis Allen, Lockney, and T. H. McDonald, Blackwell.

Since the local scholarship society was organized in 1922, eight of its members have been graduated here and then received master's degrees elsewhere; six have earned the right to add Ph.D. after their names, and another six are superintendents of Texas public schools. Seven are now working toward advance degrees in the universities of Iowa, Michigan and Texas, where they hold scholarships.

Sharkey Resumes Hard Workouts for Big Battle

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. 6. (AP)—Jack Sharkey today was prepared for a strenuous session with his sparring partners, while Young Stribling, the Boston Sallor's adversary in the projected battle of Flamingo park here February 27, cast about for some way to "get the feel of the breeze" in his face.

Stribling will not "get the feel of the breeze," by peering over the cockpit of his airplane, for he was grounded Monday by Promoter Jack Dempsey's injunction.

The Boston Gob went through a hard session yesterday for the camera men, and will appear in his ring again tomorrow. Friday he will go to Tampa with Jack Dempsey to witness a boxing match. Sharkey probably will referee one of the matches.

While Stribling held to his nightly program of two and one-half miles road work, his father manager conferred with Johnny Buckley, Sharkey's pilot, over a referee. No selection is expected until shortly before hostilities.

HOOKS AND SLIDES By HENRY L. FARRELL

MORE ABOUT SHARKEY

Inasmuch as the subject has been mentioned vaguely in this department, some mention might be made today of one of the fellows who is going to fight down there in Miami Beach the last of the month.

The fellow is Sharkey and there always seems to be something to write about the fellow.

Sharkey, it is pretty well known, never will admit that he ever made a mistake. He still will argue that Johnny Buckley and the seconds in his corner were all wrong when they beseeched him not to swap punches with Dempsey. And he will argue away the boners he has pulled in nearly every good and bad fight he has made. But his staff, when out of his majestic presence, will admit the mistakes of the firm but in tactful and diplomatic words they don't say "he erred but put it that "we" did wrong.

TONY TURNS SQUEALER

Tony Polozzolo (spelled correctly) is one of the members of the Sharkey staff. A Jerry the Greek in a way. He was the first of the staff to be sent to Miami Beach to sweep off the sidewalks for his master and he stopped off in Jacksonville to change trains. And he let the natives in on a little secret.

"We made an awful mistake with that Akron Polack," Tony said. "We took that Christner for a sucker and a big chump. But he give us a hell of a surprise. He nearly knocked us loose with a right hand in the third round. He hurt Jack plenty. That Swede is tougher than Dempsey, Willis, Risko or Godfrey. He is green and ain't got much style. But how he can slug."

IT'S ALL SETTLED

There is no question in Tony's mind about the coming fight.

"Stribling will stand up under a punchin'," he said. "When that's over we'll be the champion unless Dempsey comes back and we'll be the champion even if Dempsey wants to 'fight us again. We'll have Pack weighing about 188. That's what he was when he smacked Willis. And he was smacking that day."

WHO'S BEST BUS. MGR.?

The business managers of the two New York ball clubs don't agree about the propriety of numbering ball players but they do agree on the selection of the greatest player that ever lived. Nat Cobb or the Babe, they say, but Honus Wagner. Ed Barrow, of the Yanks was first out with his opinion and Jim Tierney, of the Giants, yessed him the next day when it became his duty to get a piece in the paper.

There'll be plenty of arguments against their opinion but controver-

Loughran Wins Over Emanuel for His Second Time

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6. (AP)—Tommy Loughran, light heavyweight champion and aspirant to the heavyweight title, scored his second victory over Armand Emanuel last night and whatever hopes the fighting law student may have held to occupy the throne vacated by Gene Tunney again faded.

Emanuel, however, looked good in defeat and as upon the occasion of their first battle in New York several months ago, the decision was given to the champion over the protest of many of the fans. Those at the ringside, however, were unanimous in backing up the verdict of Referee Abe Ross.

Loughran's greater experience counted in the long run. They fought at a gait at which only men with the speed and skill that Loughran and Emanuel possess can stand. Upset in the seventh by a hard left hook on the point of the jaw, and on the short end in the eighth, Loughran staged a furious finish in the remaining two rounds.

Two Americans and Jap in Billiard Tie

NEW YORK, Feb. 6. (AP)—The first complete turn of the wheel in the round robin tournament for the world's 182 balkline billiard championship today found two Americans and a Japanese tied for the lead.

Taking European opponents over the hurdles with some difficulty in yesterday's matches, Welker Cochran, of Hollywood, and Young Jake Schaefer, of Chicago, forced their way into a triple deadlock with Kinrey Matsuyama for the pace-setting position. Each has won one match and lost none. Down in the cellar are the three European stars—Edouard Horemans of Belgium, the defending champion; Felix Grange, of France, and Eric Hagenlacher, of Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Joyce are spending a few days at the Kell-Joyce ranch. They arrived yesterday from their ranch in Gladstone, N. M. Charles Rountree of Wichita Falls, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Joyce, will arrive tomorrow for a short visit at the ranch.

make for good publicity.

In commenting about the Yankees and their player numbering gag, Tierney pulled a wise crack that might not have been intended for print.

"When they get the new bleachers built in the Yankee Stadium the fans will be so far out in the country that they will have to have bill board numbers to tell who the players are," he said.

Will Race Here In Indoor Meets

Percy Williams, Canadian schoolboy who won both sprint events at the Olympic games last summer, will compete in leading indoor meets of the winter months at New York and other American cities. Williams' presence should prove an added attraction to the indoor meets.

Sunday Baseball Question Delaying Boston Schedule

NEW YORK, Feb. 6. (AP)—The controversy over Sunday baseball in Boston has delayed adoption of the National league's schedule for 1929.

The schedule, providing for Sunday games in The Hub, was turned over to President John M. Heydler by the league's club owners in annual schedule session yesterday. He will declare it adopted as drawn up if the Boston Braves finally are permitted to play on Sunday or revise it if such is not the case.

The National league season will open Tuesday, April 16, five days later than last year and close Sunday, October 6, a week later than a year ago. Opening games will find the lineup as follows: New York at Philadelphia; Brooklyn at Boston; St. Louis at Cincinnati, and Pittsburgh at Chicago.

Central Girls to Play Shamrock Friday Evening

The Central high school girls' basketball team will meet the Shamrock sextet in Shamrock Friday night, Coach L. K. Maxey said this morning. The local team has been playing snappy basketball lately, winning three of their last encounters and ending the fourth with Mobettie in a tie.

Pampa's girls will be handicapped in the small Shamrock gymnasium but will no doubt put up the fight they are capable of showing. With Avis Heiskell back after a long illness, the scoring machine of Brown, Stone and Heiskell is once more intact. These three girls are as fast and accurate as any seen here this year.

Backed up by a good defense and fast centers, the local sextet will put up a battle with the best teams.

GIBBONS WILL BUILD CHURCH IN MINNESOTA

ST. PAUL, Feb. 6. (AP)—A $50,000 church is to be erected at Osakis, Minn., with funds provided by Tommy Gibbons, St. Paul's retired famous light heavyweight boxer.

Gibbons announced today that a contract for construction of the church has been awarded. It will be finished next August and will be known as the Church of the Immaculate Conception, a gift from Mr. and Mrs. Gibbons.

Failures for Last Month Are Unusually Few Over State

AUSTIN, Feb. 6. (Special)—There were 61 commercial failures in Texas during January, or the fewest for a January since 1920, when 20 defaulting companies were reported, according to Bervard Nichols, assistant in charge of index numbers in the bureau of business research at the University of Texas.

"These figures compare with 54 failures in December and 66 in January, 1928," Mr. Nichols said. "Normally, January is the high month of the year, so that a large gain from December to January is to be expected. The increase this year was but seventeen, whereas there was a gain of 24 last year and of 20 two years ago between the two months."

"From the standpoint of numbers therefore, the showing is very encouraging. On the other hand, the liability showing is not so favorable. Liabilities of the 66 failures amounted to $1,181,000 against $1,571,100 for the 95 defaulting companies in January last year. Liabilities of the average failure is running about $20,000. This is about in line with the trend over the past few months."

Suicide Ends Life of Famous Texas Cattleman

FORT WORTH, Texas, Feb. 6. (AP)—The spectacular career of Tom Ross, West Texas cattleman, who at the age of 53 was sentenced to 55 years for the murder of H. L. Roberson and W. D. Allison, cattle inspectors, only to make a sensational escape from the state penitentiary in 1925, apparently has ended with his reported death in Montana.

According to meager reports from Glacier county, Montana, Ross died as he had lived, a pistol in his hand and defiant. He shot R. C. Hayward, who had succeeded him as foreman of a ranch, held several witnesses at bay for an hour, then went into an adjoining room and took his own life.

Ross had not been heard of since he and Mill Good, convicted also for the slaying of the cattle inspectors, escaped from state prison. Good was captured in 1926 near Antlers, Okla., and returned. The two cattlemen had been in prison only a few months when they escaped. Good attacked a guard with a stick of wood, knocking him unconscious, after which they scaled the wall and fled in a waiting automobile.

Ross had been living in Montana under the name of Charles Cannon. A telegram last night from Great Falls, Mont., officers to Ranger Captain Tom Hickman at Austin identified the dead man as Ross. It was said Hickman knew of Ross' presence in Montana and had planned to leave Austin to bring him back to Texas.

Advice from Lubbock said Ross' body would be sent to Lovington, New Mexico, for burial. His widow, daughter and father-in-law live there.

The murder of the two inspectors at Seminole in 1922 and subsequent trials of Ross and Good attracted nationwide attention. Roberson and Allison were slain as they sat in the lobby of a hotel at Seminole, the day after they were to have gone before the grand jury with evidence against cattle rustlers. Mrs. Roberson, clad in a nightgown, ran downstairs and fired at Ross and Good as they fled, inflicting slight wounds on Good.

Ross first was convicted at Lubbock for the murder of Allison and given 35 years. He then was tried at Abilene for Roberson's death and given 25 years after 95 hours deliberation by the jury.

Good received sentences totaling 51 years.

SEDGWICK COUNTY HOPES FOR ANOTHER PRODUCER

WICHITA, Kan., Feb. 6. (AP)—Another producing well for Sedgwick county boomed today, when the Viola lime was struck at Hays & Reynolds' well test in the northeast quarter of 7-26-1 east. The bit penetrated the formation at 2393 feet, and the hole immediately filled with crude. Oil men estimate the well good for 600 barrels. The well, which is three-quarters of a mile north east of the Wright pool, calls for 20 offsets.

ORCHID

by ELEANOR BARREY

THIS HAS HAPPENED ASHORETH and HOLLI HART are newsworthy, honey-messing, Paris, Ashoreth is rarely beautiful, and Hollis is extraordinarily rich. "ORCHID" because she reminds him of that lovely flower.

But happiness seems, somehow, to have eluded them. Before their marriage Ashoreth had been a stenographer in Holly's employ. She is years younger than he, and he idolizes her youth and beauty.

He treats her rather coldly, but it is apparent that he is still in love with her. Hollis devotes himself to tennis and the collection of antiquities. Both pursuits bore Ashoreth to tears. When he is not at the courts or browsing about in old shops, he makes tender love to his little bride.

She also bears in Holly's mind a better word. She has discovered that he has two front teeth that come out on little awls, and that spells the end of romance.

She invites Monty to have dinner with them and contrives to see him on several occasions, though Monty tries to discourage her.

On their last day in Paris she has luncheon with Monty at JACK'S. He tells her frankly that she doesn't want to go with him. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XLVI

HOLLIS must have concluded his packing some time that afternoon, because when Ashoreth returned at four o'clock from luncheon their suite was deserted.

She looked on her dressing table for the customary note. If Hollis as much as wandered down to the bar, he was sure to leave a message. Weighted with a crystal bottle or an onyx jar. Or stuck, maybe, in the corner of her mirror. "Beloved, I adore you. Seeking liquid refreshment. Return in 10 minutes. Will miss you fearfully. Your adoring husband."

Silly little notes, full of crazy pretensions. She would find them on her pillow mornings. He'd be gone before she awoke.

She had given Mogg the afternoon. Probably Hollis had entrusted a message to her, and the stupid creature had forgotten to leave word. She lifted things on her dressing table, poking about. She looked

Plainview Starts Building Briskly

PLAINVIEW, Feb. 6. (Special)— Building permits amounting to $123,495 were issued from the office of the city inspector during the month of January.
Last year the permit record showed a total building of $180,225 for January.
The majority of the permits issued officially estimated that 25 new residences have been started since the first of the year. Among the new buildings to be erected are the Wash building Dairy show building; new hotel build-

Amendment to Bar Preachers in Politics Is Finally Defeated

AUSTIN, Feb. 6. (AP)—The joint resolution by Representative Thompson of Houston proposing an amendment to the constitution making ministers of the gospel ineligible to hold the governor's office or places in the legislature was voted down by the house committee last night after heated discussion.

Representative Anderson of San Antonio was the only committeeman voting to pass it out with the recommendation that it pass. He said he would sign a minority report, and Representative Woodruff of Decatur, who voted against the resolution, said he would join Anderson in bringing it to the floor.

Woodruff made an impassioned address in defense of Thompson's action in proposing the amendment. He said he resented statement impugning Thompson's motive.

Representative Forbes of Parker county said that although he had been a minister of the gospel for 30 years he said never yet preached a political sermon, or one on prohibition, for that matter, in his pulpit.

Representative Barnett said a preacher has as much right as anyone to make a political sermon outside of his pulpit.

"When we bar them we will do away with politics," he said.

Queen Mother of Spain Is Dead

MADRID, Feb. 6. (AP)—Maria Christina, queen mother of Spain, under whose rule as regent Spain fought its disastrous war with the United States, died at the royal palace today.

Her son Alfonso XIII, King of Spain and members of the royal family were at her bedside when the end came after a sudden illness.

Maria Christina ruled Spain as regent from 1885 until 1902, when her son, Alfonso, who was born six months after the death of his father, Alfonso XII, in 1885, became old enough to assume the throne.

The period of her rule was one of the most critical in Spanish history, and in it the country was bereft of almost all it had left of its once far reaching colonial possessions. The colonial dissensions led also to the war with the United States.

with John D. Rockefeller, Jr., for control of the Standard Oil company of Indiana.

A spectacular flurry in Indiana oil stock which swept through the curb market added a display of fireworks, but experts said it was only the reaction to the announcement for a 50 per cent stock dividend and had no direct connection with the Rockefeller fight to prevent the re-election of Stewart as chairman of the board at Whiting, Ind., March 7.

POPULAR AUTHOR TURNS HER TALENT TO MYSTERY WRITING

Anno
Austin

Anne Austin, author of "Saint and Sinner" and of several other sensational serial successes, has turned to the detective-mystery story for her latest serial.

"The Black Pigeon", which begins in The Pampa Daily News soon, is Miss Austin's first venture into this particular field of fiction, and the story is one of the most mystified thrillers ever produced.

Before she turned to fiction writing, Anne Austin spent several years in newspaper work, during which time she was called upon to "cover" a number of big murder trials. She has had her share of police reporting and she is familiar with police methods.

"The Black Pigeon", which is to be brought out in book form immediately after its newspaper publication, is the story of a murder which will keep you guessing from start to finish. It combines romance with thrills and carries with it an interesting love story.

Anne Austin will be remembered as the author of such serial successes as "Daughters of Midas",
"The Penny Princess" and "Girl Alone", in addition to her ever-popular "Saint and Sinner." "The Black Pigeon" is destined to take its place among the big mystery thrillers of 1929. Be sure to read it. It begins soon.
