REBELS CENTER MEN AT NOGALES

Naco Battle Is Less Likely but U. S. Is Alert

MEXICO CITY, April 15. (P)—President Emilio Portes Gil has seized upon the demoralization of the rebellion to inaugurate sweeping moral reforms in Northern Mexico.

Announcement was made today that he had instructed Luis L. Leon, new governor of Chihuahua, and General Jimon, military commander of Ciudad Juarez, to stop all gambling in that state and attempt to purge it of vice.

General Jimon answered he would close all gambling houses at Ciudad Juarez. Governor Leon also wired his acquiescence.

The president gave as a reason for his orders his desire "to free the country from the immoral effects of the rebellion." Observers, however, recalled strong tendencies of the Mexican chief executive in this direction. He has frequently put himself on record as in favor of a modified prohibition of alcoholic drinks.

AQUA PRIETA, Sonora, April 15. (P)—Six columns of rebel troops from Pulpito Pass were advancing toward the Agua Prieta rebel camp this morning. The six columns, totaling 1,800 men, bring insurgent forces under General Ramon Yuucupio's command here to approximately 2,500 men.

NAGO, Ariz. April 15. (P)—Mexican rebels and federals apparently settled down to a game of "freeze-out" south of here today while American army forces defending the border kept a watchful eye on the situation.

Although the chances that the rebel would attack the Naco, Sonora, loyal garrison seemed to be growing more remote, additional American forces were moved close to that town. Brigadier General Frank S. Cocheu, commanding United States troops in Arizona ordered a third troop of cavalry and another company of infantry to Naco from Fort Huachuca, Ariz.

JUAREZ, Chihuahua, Mex., April 15. (P)—Reports from centers of military activity in Sonora, the state into which various rebel armies are retreating, indicated today that revolutionary leaders were leaving a small force at Pulpito Pass to protect their rear and were concentrating remnants of their columns for a stand against the federals advancing up the Pacific coast.

The rebel commander-in-chief, General J. G. Escobar was said to be moving his entire force, estimated at 3,000 to Nogales, ready to proceed to Guaymas on the Gulf of Lower California, in which vicinity a rebel contingent which failed in its drive to the south is operating.

Minister Sues Aimee's Mother

The Rev. H. H. Clark, Seattle pastor, reversed the usual order of things when he sued Mrs. Minnie "Ma" Kennedy, famous evangelist, for $50,000 heart balm. Rev. Clark charges that Mrs. Kennedy, who is Aimee Semple McPherson's mother, jilted him after she courted him and won his promise to marry her.

WELFARE BODY ASKS WORK FOR MANY PERSONS

Work for both men and women and clothing for all ages are imperative needs of the Pampa Welfare association according to Mrs. M. P. Downs, community nurse. The association has urgent calls for work, whether of steady employment nature or for a few hours. There are applicants who must have work to provide the barest necessities of life, and who are willing to do any kind of work. Clothing is also in constant demand. Those having either work or clothes may communicate with Mrs. Downs by calling phone 608.

Former Enemies of Bailey Present at His Funeral

DALLAS, April 15. (P)—The flag of the Republic of Texas flew at half mast over the home here of Joseph Waldon Bailey, former United States senator from Texas and champion of state rights, as funeral services were held for him at the First Presbyterian church today.

Mr. Bailey died in a court room at Sherman, Texas, Saturday, immediately after addressing the court in a lawsuit involving his client, the Red River Bridge company and the State of Texas. The district and county courts here were closed for the services. Nearly every lawyer in Dallas, his former political enemies as well as his staunch supporters and friends, were at the church along with city and county officials, millionaires and laborers. They mourned the death of a man they considered their personal friend and state leader.

PLANS FROM HOOVER TO BE GIVEN TUESDAY

Republican Majorities Are Increased by Landslide

APPOINTMENTS UP FOR HEARING

Little Organization Is Necessary Before Work Begins

WASHINGTON, April 15. (P)—The first day's business of the special session of congress lasted two hours. Meeting at noon, the senate adjourned at 12:25 p. m., and the house adjourned at 2 p. m.

WASHINGTON, April 15. (P)—Faced with the task of solving two fundamental American problems, a special session of the 71st congress met today at the call of President Hoover to begin work on bills to aid agriculture and to revise the tariff law.

It was a new congress, but it was predominated by old faces, and its political makeup was much more strongly Republican than that of the congress which went out of office on March 4. The Hoover landslide of last November had swept out of office many Democrats and carried in many Republicans. A farm relief bill was ready for house consideration when the noon hour ushered in the session. Minus the equalization fee of the McNary-Haugen bill so distasteful to the Coolidge administration, it would create a farm board with a revolving fund of $500,000,000 to handle the surplus question. In a few days a tariff bill will be ready for presentation.

Senate Is Ready for the purpose of organization. The senate, however, with Vice-President Curtis already installed as presiding officer, was ready for its legislative functions. The re-election of Nicholas Longworth as speaker of the house was merely a routine matter.

After this it was just a question of calling the roll; installing the speaker and other officers; appointing committees to notify the president that congress was ready for business; swearing in new members, adopting resolutions of regret at the death of members who had passed since the last session and adjournment.

President Hoover will send his recommendations for legislation to congress tomorrow. He decided at the last minute today, however, to submit a number of nominations for confirmation, including that of former vice-President Dawes to be ambassador to Great Britain. Eight women had seats in the house when it met.

Ed Wright of Pampa and A. W. Chisum of Miami will leave today for Hot Springs. They expect to be gone two weeks.

Pre-Pueblo Culture Found Among Ruins on Canadian

McMurry College Party Makes Important Discovery

ABILENE, April 15. (P)—A buried village, perhaps a thousand years old, believed to belong to the pre-Pueblo culture of western Indian civilization, has been uncovered on Canadian river above Plemons, Texas, by a group of McMurry college professors and students.

Three human skeletons which crumbled into dust upon contact with the air, a large pot which probably antedates the celebrated white-and-black era of finely-chipped flint artifacts were found.

The exploring party was composed of Dr. W. C. Holden, head of the history department of McMurry college; Prof. Leroy C. Glass, head of the science department, and Cecil Browns, Luke Medley, Martin Hines, and Buckner Osborne, students.

Only one of probably 200 habitations was excavated, high on a cliff above the river bed. Two skeletons, believed to have been those of a woman and baby, were found in a cyst in one corner of a large room, where they apparently had been formally buried. The third skeleton, possibly that of a warrior, had been buried in an outer room of the same habitation, probably by a later generation than that of the woman and child.

One of the curious and important angles of the discovery was that horizontal masonry was found superimposed on the more ancient slab structure almost as if the excavators had come upon the death of one culture and the birth of another.

Based on the premises laid down by the celebrated archaeologist, Dr. Alfred Vincent Kidder, Dr. Holden said the Canadian river find appears to belong to the pre-Pueblo, marking the first known extension of that culture into Texas. Dr. Holden said he expects additional similar discoveries in Texas, though he admits this is speculative at present.

The Abilene explorers are closely guarding the exact location of the important find to preserve it against violation by inexperienced or curious prowlers.

Thousands Pay Tribute to Herrick at Funeral

CLEVELAND, April 15. (P)—The grief of thousands shrouded the funeral bier of Ambassador Myron T. Herrick today.

Two weeks after his death in Paris his mourners paid their last respects to his memory. Joined with representatives of the French and American governments in expressing their grief were city and state officials and hosts of his fellowtownsmen.

Mourning throngs numbering nearly 100,000 yesterday paid tribute as the body was taken from a special train from New York and placed in Trinity Episcopal cathedral for the funeral. The casket was accompanied by the ambassador's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Farnely Herrick, their son, Farnely, Jr., Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and intimate friends of the family. Wishes of the ambassador today separated the last rites from any observance, but that accorded a plain citizen, except for the simplest of recognitions from the governments he served.

CHINESE MENACE FOREIGNERS

SHANGHAI, April 15. (P)—A telegram from Chanteh, in northwest Hunan, today said foreigners there had been under fire for six days, that the Asiatic Petroleum company's agency was wrecked, and the Catholic mission looted. The latest information here, however, was that foreigners concerned had departed and that foreigners were in no further danger.

ROCK ISLAND ASKS PERMIT TO CONNECT PRINGLE AND DALHART WITH LINE 60 MILES IN LENGTH

WASHINGTON, April 15. (P)—Permission to construct 60 miles of line from Dalhart, Dallam county, to Pringle, Hutchinson county, in Texas, was sought today from the interstate commerce commission by the Chicago, Rock Island & Gulf Railway company, a subsidiary of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific.

Pringle is on the Rock Island line between Gruver and Stinnett, hence the proposed line would connect points served by the Rock Island.

Amarillo Child Who Was Killed Saturday Named for Mrs. Doyle

Little Betty Jean Latson, 6-year-old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Latson of Amarillo, who died Saturday after being struck by an automobile, was the namesake of Mrs. W. H. Doyle of Pampa.

Mrs. Latson and Mrs. Doyle were classmates and chums in their girlhood, and Betty Jean took special pride in having luxuriant wavy red hair like Mrs. Doyle.

Dr. Latson is city physician of Amarillo and is well known here. Mr. and Mrs. John Haggard and daughter, Mildred, Miss Viola Haggard, Miss Marjorie Buckler, Mr. and Mrs. John Peake, Miss J. Lovelace, Mrs. Virginia Payne, and W. I. Gilbert returned yesterday from a few days visit in Carlsbad Caverns and other scenic points in New Mexico.

EXPLOSION IS DAMAGING BUT ROBBERY FAILS

Walls Wrecked When Nitroglycerin Is Set Off

FIVE DOLLARS TOTAL OF LOOT

Blacksmith Shop Is Entered and Tools Stolen

CAT SPRING, April 15. (P)—The walls of the Cat Spring State bank were wrecked by a nitroglycerine explosion last night, but the robbers were foiled in an attempt to get into the safe. About $5 in pennies was lost.

Charles Ditter, deputy sheriff, was the first to discover the robbery. He saw the bank door open and found the robbers had left in an automobile.

The blacksmith shop of Chris Ditter, brother of the officer, had been entered and tools taken. A window of the shop was broken. A sledge hammer, chisel, screwdriver, and file were found in the bank. The man apparently entered the bank through a window, placed the explosives under the safe and drove a short distance away before the blast.

Ditter said a large pipeline force was working near here and there had been scores of strangers in town recently.

Officers were unable to determine in which direction the bandits drove because of numerous car tracks. They telephoned for a fingerprint expert from Houston.

IMPORTANCE OF OILFIELD ROADS IS POINTED OUT

That Oilfield highway 41 from Oklahoma City to Colorado through Wheeler, Gray, Carson, Hutchinson, Dallam, and other counties is of much importance to this section of the Panhandle was brought out in a letter to commissioners' court of Carson and Hutchinson counties from the commissioners' court of Gray county, sent this morning.

Judge Duncan in his letter pointed out the importance of the road in cutting off many miles between Oklahoma and Colorado.

The letter asked the commissioners of those counties co-operate with commissioners from this county in getting the route through Carson and Hutchinson counties designated and graded to meet state requirements.

The road crosses the northeast corner of Carson county through Skellytown and thence across Hutchinson county. A road, equal to state specifications, has been graded from Pampa to the Carson county line.

"It's Like This—"

MARION TALLEY AND MADAME SCHUMANN-HEINK, both of whom have been heard in this section, are great artists. The first is of the prodigy type who is, at 22 years of age, not off the threshold of her powers and opportunities; the latter is near the close of her concert career and is making her farewell tours.

They have made announcements which are as paradoxical as they are opposite in meaning. Marion Talley suddenly announces that she has a "hunch" that she should retire and says she will do so at once. Madame Schumann-Heink says that she will retire from singing for money but that she will sing as long as her beloved crippled soldiers will listen.

The comparison necessarily must be a psychological one. Miss Talley, singing in choirs from childhood and pushed along by admirers until she made her debut and was acclaimed in New York as a genius, perhaps missed some of the enjoyments of an ordinary childhood. Her art cannot mean to her what Schumann-Heink's does after half a century of effort.

Miss Talley, in saying she intends "to have a grand time living—to move out on a farm, wear gingham aprons, and dig in the dirt," implies that she has not interpreted her concert career as "living". Others, given the same opportunity, would reverse the procedure and avoid commonplaces of the past. Marion is tired of practices and concerts and interviews and travel—very tired of singing. In her vehemence she tells remonstrating managers and insistent reporters that "singing in public was just an episode in my life—that's all, and now I'm going to try another." This might be interpreted as the pronouncement of one in love, but we are told that she has no romance that anyone knows of. She is tired of singing, and that is all there is to it. And that is enough, if one feels that way about it.

Marion Talley needs a rest, and she will come back, more mature and more devoted to singing as an art. Her reaction is a very natural one, but it will offend many who cannot understand.

Schumann-Heink is all that Mary Garden is not. Recently she said: "I know better than anyone else that my voice is not what it was. Blessed with unusual health, my voice has stood up longer than I had any right to suppose it would. But I do not fool myself that it is now what it was. I have determined to retire; but when managers offer so much money, and when they put to me that the public will miss something that it genuinely wants to hear, how can I refuse engagements?" After this year, however, she will cease singing for money. The Daily Oklahoman finds her voice still worth hearing, but adds: There is perhaps a further reason for the popularity of this singer. Hers is a great personality, and one which strongly appeals to the public. Again, her long hard struggle, her generous help of other artists, her habit of finding promising talent and lending support of her name, have appealed very strongly to the public and have built up for her a large and genuine personal affection.

Walter C. Dean of Oklahoma City felt impelled to issue this proclamation: "Honoring Madame Ernestine Schumann-Heink, who will make her final concert appearance in Oklahoma City Wednesday evening; in deference to her exquisite art and in deep appreciation of her generous kindness to the ex-service men of America, I, Walter C. Dean, mayor of Oklahoma City, do hereby officially proclaim April 17 to be Schumann-Heink day. I enjoin the citizens of this community to cooperate in every way in making the great singer's stay in our midst a happy and memorable occasion."

Miss Talley, or any other artist, should find in the life of Schumann-Heink much to think about, especially in regard to the service that a great artist should find in the life of music, through highly developed ability and personality, to the masses of people.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
WASHINGTON—No one will know just how feasible that proposed submarine expedition to the North Pole really is until someone has actually made the attempt.

Navy officers familiar with submarines say they would hate to try the trip which Sir George Hubert Wilkins and Simon Lake expect will be made under the polar ice by rebuilt rescue submarine Defender, but experts on water and ice conditions in that region assert that the expedition would have better than an even chance of success.

Some of the former are inclined to shudder at the thought of pushing through the water below the vast ice fields, their lives dependent on their ability to rise in open water and obtain air to recharge batteries. Storage battery equipment is severely limited in any submarine and so is unbroken underwater cruising, although some submarines might be able to keep below the surface as long as 24 hours by cruising only some three miles an hour.

He Thinks It Feasible
But George W. Littlehales,

one of the world's leading hydrographic engineers and a valuable adjunct of the Navy Department since his graduation from the Naval Academy in 1879, is rather optimistic about the proposed expedition. "I think Wilkins has quite a probability of making it", Littlehales says. "He is intelligent, alert and equipped to carry out difficult projects."

"I don't see any danger except in finding a lane where they can get up and recharge. Of course, it's vital to get up to the surface for that. But since the expedition is being made in the summer I should say that his hope of being able to do so about every 25 miles is within the range of expectation."

Littlehales and others interviewed had to speak, of course, without any knowledge of the type of boring and blasting equipment which the submarine is expected to carry.

There won't be any icebergs to worry about, anyway. Just an ice field. It is swayed by the tidal movement and the movement produces cracks, lanes and crevasses, most frequently in the summer. These are generally large enough to allow a submarine to come up.

"The ice fields average about 10 feet thick", Littlehales explained, "and below the sea is quite clear. Surrounding the pole is an oceanic basin of considerable depth, allowing clear navigation in the depths between the continental shelves. This basin is not known as is the Atlantic basin, for instance. Soundings have been few, but Peary and Amundsen found that as they got nearer the pole the water became deeper and from their fragmentary measurements oceanographers have been able to look upon the basin as one of oceanic depth."

No Trouble From Ice
"Thus a submarine navigator would in all probability have a free avenue of progress to the pole. There may be deeper lumps in the ice thickness here and there, but not of any obstructing extent."

"He would be likely to have to hunt for his crevasses, but he probably would be guided by the penetration of light, which goes down into the water to considerable depths and the nature of which would be different where it merely penetrated open water."

It is uncertain in our minds as to whether the term Arkansas Traveler originated with the fast traveling Arkansas tornadoes or with those who do some tall traveling to get out of the way.

We are fatalistic to the extent that we believe that storms will happen, that somebody is going to get killed, and that each day that passes makes the coming of that storm that much nearer. Figure that out.

It may be an idle rumor that Marion Talley is quitting the stage for fear Old Tack will call her a has-been.

Heard: An Eastern man who had heard of Amarillo's cold altitude tell his traveling companion that it probably would be appropriate to name Mr. Holmes of Amarillo as governor of Alaska.

And now that Amarillo has a former telephone official for city manager, his realization that words cost money may mean more efficiency and less oratory.

Believe it or not, when Twink did a "wrong" turn in the neighboring city the cop that stepped out from behind a pile of lumber didn't bawl him out, but we had a friendly chat and he referred to us as from Hutchinson county. How to take the latter we don't know—but we never like to ask a cop too many questions.

It is a rare city that can boast of its traffic problem, but such is Pampa. "The Busy City" is an appropriate and effective slogan right now. Sometimes a traffic jam is hard on the motorists but encouraging to the merchants.

Where is the old-fashioned opinion that women's activities are the only ones in which gossip plays a bigger part than business? And are men getting more talkative, or women less so? The difference in mode of procedure is lessening.

Bob Silver Is Still at Large

HUNTSVILLE, April 15. (P)—Bob Silver and two of the four companions who joined him in a sensational break from Wynne state prison farm Friday night still were at large today as the Walker county grand jury prepared to question G. A. Thompson, prison guard, charged with permitting the convicts to escape.

Thompson has promised to give some "red hot" testimony before the probing body. He surrendered yesterday and declared he was being "made the goat." He asserted the charges against him were false and intimated he would make important disclosures against those he termed "higher-ups."

"I did not tell Warden Harrell or anybody else I saw the men escaping and was too chicken-hearted to shoot," Thompson declared. "I have not even seen Harrell since the break, and I did not see the men escape."

The guard, who was discharged immediately after Silver and his companions cut their way from the tubercular ward of the prison farm, said there was a blinding rain at the time of the break and he believed he was trying to light a lantern at the exact moment the men went through the fence.

Marvin Azbell, one of Silver's confederates, was recaptured yesterday at Hempstead, in Walker county, as he attempted to board a freight train. He was returned to prison last night. K. E. Brewer was captured Saturday. Those still at large are Silver, Robert Hill, and John Reid.

HOUSTON, April 15. (P)—Discovery last night of the automobile commandeered by Bob Silver and his companions spurred Houston police to greater efforts today to capture the three escaped convicts from a prison farm near Huntsville who were still at large.

Police found the automobile on the streets of Houston. The car was the one in which Silver and three other convicts forced a young couple to drive them to Houston.

Juniors Present Difficult Play

"The Patsy", a three act play with a diverting plot was given Friday night at the Central auditorium by Junior class members of the high school dramatic club. Clara Brenner in the role of Patricia Harrington, the Cinderella daughter in a quarrelsome family, was the heroine of the comedy and did the outstanding acting.

Ouida Brandon had the part of a pampered older sister for whom Pat was forced to give up everything and hide in the the background. She was convincing, even in the frequent fits of temper she was called upon to enact.

Charles Thomas and Yvonne Thomas as "Pop" and "Ma" Harrington had the most difficult roles in the play, but they played them well. John Willis was good as the hero of the story. Gene Fatheree's easy stage manner and his clean enunciation distinguished him in the part of Billy Caldwell, the boy for whom Ouida Brandon "laid her traps", to use her father's expression.

Louise Richardson, appearing only once, played an embarrassed little girl to perfection. LeFors Doucette had a double role and carried it well. Miss VeLora Reed was director of the play.

The high school orchestra, under the direction of Thomas Fannell, played numbers before the performance that were greatly enjoyed by the audience. A saxophone and clarinet duet by Gene Fatheree and LeFors Doucette and a vocal solo by Audrey Noel were specialty numbers which added much to the entertaining program.

Attachments Are Worrying Pyle

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 15. (P)—C. Pyle's pavement pounders were free to continue their cross country jaunt as far as Springfield, Ohio, today, but writs of attachment held in Columbus three automobiles and a van with much of the artistic talent of the side shows, while the promoter strove with financial problems.

Sheriff's deputies kept eyes on the Pyle impedimenta in the interests of the Chevrolet Motor Car company of New York. There was no explanation to the difficulty except Pyle's announcement the concern had objected to his arrangement with one of its agents to pay for the vehicles in weekly installments.

The runners had a forty-mile gallop to Springfield, with no attachments about them whatever but their bunnions Pete Gavuzal, of Southampton, England, was at the head of the pack. He finished first with Ed Gardner, Seattle negro, in the 54-mile run from Zanesville here yesterday and retained his lead in elapsed time.

Southern Cross Fliers Very Weak

SYDNEY, N. S. W., April 15. (P)—A twelve-day diet of wild beans and mud snails went hard with Captain Charles Kingsford-Smith and his three companions of the Southern Cross.

They were said today to be so weak from their rigorous experience they might be a full seven days in preparing a runway for a takeoff of their plane on a return flight to Sydney.

The pilot of the Heath Airways plane which landed beside them on a mud-flat near the mouth of the Gneleig river said his meeting with the airmen was most emotional. They told him they were so weakened by lack of food an attempt to reach Port George Mission spot was impossible.

Lieutenant Keith Anderson and Robert Hitchcock, in their plane to Kokoburra, were still lost today. They tried to rescue the Southern cross fliers one of whom, Captain Kingsford-Smith, was an avowed enemy of Anderson.

PALESTINE PARTY ON CRUISE IS MISSING

LONDON, April 15. (P)—A Jewish telegraph agency dispatch from Jerusalem today said a party containing, among other, a son and daughter-in-law of Sir Herbert Samuel, former high commissioner in Palestine, were two days overdue on their return from a cruise of the dead sea.

A number of aircraft and boats, assisted by the Transjordan police had started an extensive search for the party, the message said.

Section 1. That Sections 2 and 3 of Article 5 of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended so as to hereafter read as follows:

"Article 5. Section 2. The Supreme Court shall consist of a Chief Justice and eight Associate Justices, any five of whom shall constitute a quorum, and the concurrence of five shall be necessary to a decision of a case; in other matters, until otherwise provided by Law, the jurisdiction of the Court shall be exercised under such regulations and orders as the Court by a majority vote may prescribe. No person shall be eligible to the office of Chief Justice or Associate Justice of the Supreme Court unless he be, at the time of his election, a citizen of the United States and of this State and unless he shall have attained the age of thirty years, and shall have been a practicing lawyer or a judge of a court, or such lawyer and judge together at least seven years. Said Chief Justice and Associate Justices shall be elected by the qualified voters of the State at a general election, shall hold their offices six years, or until their successors are elected and qualified, and shall receive such compensation as may be provided by law. In case of a vacancy in the office of Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, the Governor shall fill the vacancy until the next general election for State officers, and at such general election the vacancy for the unexpired term shall be filled by election by the qualified voters of the State. The Judges of the Supreme Court who may be in office at the time this amendment takes effect shall continue in office until the expiration of their term of office under the present Constitution, and until their successors are elected and qualified. When this amendment takes effect, the Governor shall immediately appoint six additional Associate Justices of the Supreme Court for terms of office so that the terms of two of such appointed Associate Justices shall expire with the term of office of each of the present members of the Supreme Court, and, upon the qualification of such new Justices, the Commission of Appeals of the State of Texas shall terminate."

Article V, Section 3.

The Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction only except as herein specified, which shall be co-extensive with the limits of the State. Its appellate jurisdiction shall extend to questions of law arising in cases of which the Court of Civil Appeals have appellate jurisdiction under such restrictions and regulations as the Legislature may prescribe. Until otherwise provided by law, the appellate jurisdiction of the Supreme Court shall extend to questions of law arising in the cases in the Courts of Civil Appeals in which the Judges of any Court of Civil Appeals may disagree or where the several Courts of Civil Appeals may hold differently on the same question of law, or where a statute of the State is held void, and shall extend to such other questions as may be within the Court's Appellate Jurisdiction under the Statutes of the State. When this amendment takes effect, the Supreme Court and the Justice thereof shall have power to issue writs of habeas corpus, as may be prescribed by Law, and under such regulations as may be prescribed by Law, the said Court and the Justices thereof may issue the writs of mandamus, procedendo, certiorari and such other writs, as may be necessary to enforce its jurisdiction. The Legislature may confer original jurisdiction on the Supreme Court to issue writs of quo warranto and mandamus in such cases as may be specified except as against the Governor of the State. The Supreme Court shall have power, upon affidavit or otherwise as by the Court may be determined, to ascertain such matters of fact as may be necessary to the proper exercise of its jurisdiction. The Supreme Court shall be open at all times and shall sit at the State Capitol for the transaction of business at such times as may be designated by the Court. The Supreme Court shall appoint a clerk, who shall give bond in such manner as is now or may hereafter, be required by law, and he may hold his office for four years and shall be subject to removal by said Court for good cause entered of record on the Minutes of said Court who shall receive such compensation as the Legislature may provide. Sec. 2. Said proposed Constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this State at a special election to be held throughout the State on Tuesday, July 16, 1929, at which election each voter opposing said proposed amendment shall scratch off of the ballot with a pen or pencil the following words

printed on said ballot: "For the amendment to the State Constitution providing for a Supreme Court of nine members and for continuous session of that Court," and each voter favoring said proposed amendment shall scratch off the ballot in the same manner the following words printed on said ballot: "Against the amendment to the State Constitution providing for a Supreme Court of nine members, and for continuous session of that Court." If it appears from the returns or said election that a majority of the votes cast are in favor of said amendment, the same shall become a part of the State Constitution. Sec. 3. The Governor shall issue the necessary proclamation for said election and have the same published and said election held as provided by the Constitution and Laws of this State. Sec. 4. The sum of Five Thousand ($5,000.00) Dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby appropriated out of the State Treasury to pay for the expenses of said publication and election. Texas Leaguers Rest for Opening of Play Wednesday

DALLAS, April 15. (AP)—With their final spring training game behind them, the Wichita Falls Spudders today went through limbering up exercises while awaiting the opening of the Texas league season on Wednesday. The team in an exhibition game with Fort Worth yesterday made a good impression by defeating the Panthers, 5 to 1, despite the fact that two rookie outfielders were filling in for the injured veterans, Fitzgerald and Eldred. Fitzgerald is expected to be in the line-up at Shreveport Wednesday, but Eldred is out for at least two weeks with a badly bruised hand.

The Shreveport Sports were back home today from New Orleans to put in a few final training licks before the opening of the season. The Sports swept their three-game series at New Orleans, and made it five games out of six in a series with Pelicans here and at New Orleans. Owens' pitching stood out yesterday when for five innings he held the Pels to one hit and walked only one man.

The Dallas Steers will occupy themselves for two days with batting and fielding practice, the club having lost their final exhibition game of the spring season to Waco yesterday, 6 to 3. The Dallas club management has announced ready for the opening of season on Wednesday with the statement that the Herd is a first-division team.

Two games with Beaumont having been rained out, Manager Snyder will not have a chance to see his Buffs in action against Texas league opposition until the opening of the season. He is putting his team through hard workouts to keep the players in trim. Little if any further pruning is expected during the first month of the season as the transfer of Ray Pepper, center-fielder, to Danville and the release of two rookie hurlers cut the squad to about its proper size.

Manager Claude Robertson today led his Exporters through a snappy workout, getting the kinks out of his athletes who have been idle for the past two days on account of wet grounds. John Chapman, second baseman, is back in camp after an attack of influenza. Manager Robertson still is silent on his opening date pitching choice, but it will be either Elmer Hanson, Walter Newman or Dennis Burns.

ELIAS FUNK YANKS

For three years Elias Funk, known to his baseball associates as "Liza", has been waiting for something to happen to one of the regular or reserve Yankee outfielders.

This was his third year in the Yankee training camp. Since the Ruth-Meusel-Combs triumvirate is still going strong, Funk has had to concentrate on beating out Cedric Durst or Ben Paschal for one of the reserve posts.

Elias batted 304 for St. Paul in the American association last year. He throws and bats left handed, is 23 years old, 5 feet, 8 1/2 inches tall, weighs 165 pounds and makes his home in Oklahoma City.

Hudkins to Meet Emanuel Tonight

NEW YORK, April 15. (AP)—Ace Hudkins' 10-round scrap with Armand Emanuel at Los Angeles tonight stands out as the high spot in this week's national boxing program.

The Hudkins-Emanuel battle doesn't mean a thing so far as championships are concerned, but it's interesting because it gives Hudkins a chance to prove a good little man can beat a good big man. The Nebraska wildcat probably will be outweighed by 15 pounds for Emanuel scales a few pounds over the light heavyweight limit. Emanuel is not even a big middleweight.

Con O'Kelly, the Irish heavyweight, is to get his third shot at Jimmy Maloney of Boston in Jess McMahon's new coliseum at New York on Friday night. O'Kelly held Maloney to a draw in their meeting but dropped a decision the second time.

On the same night Izzy Schwartz, now campaigning on the Pacific coast, meets Pablo Dano, Manila Filipino, in a 10-round fracas at San Francisco. Schwartz's flyweight championship, awarded by the New York state athletic commission, will not be at stake.

DEMPSEY INTO RACING

TORONTO, Ont., April 15. (AP)—The Mail and Empire today published a dispatch from Windsor, Ontario, stating Jack Dempsey might take over the Devonshire race track at Windsor and operate it as a racing, fight and general sports center, acting as the representative of Humbert Fugazy, of New York.

Yanks Menace Is Chilling Interest in American League

CHICAGO, April 15. (AP)—With the Yankee menace still casting its shadow across the pennant horizon and chilling interest, the American league tomorrow launches what promises to be another one-sided championship race.

Three years straight and six times in eight years have Babe Ruth and his mates blasted their way to the championship. League officials and rival club owners and managers, who admit they and the box office receipts are a bit weary of this prolonged Yankee domination, dispute the "experts" by predicting a tight race. It is generally to Philadelphia, the team that gave the Yankees a scare last year; St. Louis, a combination of fair hitting strength and great defensive power; Washington, a great offensive team with Walter Johnson at its helm, and Detroit, with several heavy hitters and the brain of Bucky Harris, that they look for breakers in New York's championship surge. The other entries—Chicago's weak hitting, erratic fielding; White Sox, Cleveland's mysterious Indians and Boston's mediocre team, are not expected to cause much trouble.

The piece de resistance of tomorrow's four-game menu will be the clash between Philadelphia and Washington at the capital. President Herbert Hoover is expected to start hostilities, by throwing out the first ball. Official Washington and President E. S. Barnard of the American league will attend the contest. "Lefty" Grove probably will get Philadelphia's pitching assignment, being opposed by the veteran, "Sad Sam" Jones.

Waite Hoyt has always been a lucky star for Miller Huggins and the Yankees so he has been chosen for mound duty against the Boston Red Sox at New York. Charley Ruffing or Jack Russell are the probable starting pitchers for Boston. Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis will watch that conflict.

Upset by injuries during its unsuccessful training season, Detroit's starting line-up and pitcher were somewhat of a mystery. The Tigers open their campaign at Cleveland. Joe Shaute is expected to draw Cleveland's initial mound assignment.

The White Sox-Browns opener at St. Louis may see a mound duel between Alphonse Thomas and Sam Oray of St. Louis.

Pampa Nine Is Winner at Borger

The ring of wood on horsehide yesterday resounded in Borger until fans were lulled almost to sleep. The occasion was the first baseball game of the season between Ed Gober's Cabot Co. team and the Borger American Legion nine. The Goberites took the long end of a 19 to 13 score.

Gober used Pegrum, Dillman and McCoy in the box and Sullivan behind the bat. Before the barrage of hits had ended, the Borger manager had used practically his entire team in the box. At the end of the sixth inning the Legion team was in front, 11 to 4, but the Cabot boys entered a batting spree led by Hargrove and McCoy.

With a little more practice the Cabot nine will be one of the most formidable teams in this territory. Gober has gathered a bunch of veterans about him that should make fast baseball for Pampa fans this summer.

Demar Will Try For Marathon Win

BOSTON, April 15. (AP)—Clarence Demar, who has led the field home on six different occasions, today was added to the entry list of the annual Boston marathon to be run April 19.

Demar, who ran his first Boston marathon 19 years ago, predicted that he will be among the first three finishers, even though he has lost much of his oldtime speed.

The veteran's record for the Boston race, the greatest ever established by a marathoner, is six firsts, two seconds and two thirds over a period of 18 years. He won the race in 1927 and 1928 and if he gets it again next Friday, he will have strung together three successive victories for the second time.

DEMPSEY DISAPPOINTED IN HIS DETROIT QUEST

NEW YORK, April 15. (AP)—Jack Dempsey was back in New York today disappointed in his quest for a fight arena in Detroit.

He tried to get the Olympia arena at Detroit, but learned it was not for sale. He said he had looked over several sites for an arena, but had decided upon nothing definitely. The former heavyweight champion said he would confer with his associate, Humbert J. Fugazy, with an idea toward lining up a number of outdoor boxing shows this summer.

Pampa Golfers Win at Panhandle Tournery Sunday

Playing in mid-season form a team of Pampa golfers beat the Panhandle team on their home grounds yesterday afternoon. Fourteen members of the Pampa Country club made the trip to the nearby town. The Pampa players won 10 of the 14 matches played.

The tightest match of the afternoon was between Dr. R. A. Webb of Pampa and J. Sid O'Keefe of Panhandle. Dr. Webb won the round on the eighteenth hole by one shot. All rounds were keenly competed and only the superior driving of the Pampa men won the match.

A gallery of about 200 followed in the play, and took a keen interest in the matches. Panhandle's members served a lunch on the lawn following play. The Pampa players were royally received and entertained. President Otto Steider of the Pampa club said:

Next Sunday a medal match will be held here. Fifteen gold golf balls will be given away. On the following Sunday Dalhart will send a team to Pampa.

Those taking part yesterday were Tommy Thomas, Justine Devine, W. H. Curry, P. B. Carlson, C. N. Barrett, Ernest Estlick, M. Larver, H. O. Studer, J. D. Sugg, DeLea Vicars, Edwin Vicars, Dr. R. A. Webb, Frank Perry, and Dr. H. H. Hicks.

National League May Be Hard and Long Battle

NEW YORK, April 15. (AP)—The National league starts a fight tomorrow that won't be decided for six months. Some critics contend the 1929 pennant won't be clinched definitely much before the closing day of the season, October 6.

Most experts have contented themselves with stating that four clubs—the New York Giants, Chicago Cubs, St. Louis Cardinals and Pittsburgh Pirates—are the outstanding contenders, so closely matched no one can be selected as a favorite. This quartet is almost unanimously picked to take the first four places.

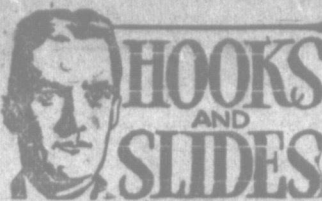

The Giants and Cubs have received the most pre-season support. Of the four members most picked to finish in the second division, Jack Hendricks' Cincinnati Reds appear the strongest.

Shell's Nine Is Winner Sunday

Shell Petroleum company's nine went to White Deer yesterday and beat Hooty Harrah's boys, 13 to 6. With Range and Pierce in the box and the veteran Tom Clayton behind the bat, the Shell boys couldn't be stopped. With Rusty Cahill the big noise with the bat and a star in the field, the local nine ran wild. Goodwin also was a big noise in the game.

The oil boys outdid the White Deer outfit, 12 to 8. It was the first game of the season for the Shell nine and manager Duffy Jones was well pleased with his aggregation of horsehide chasers.

Terry and Kirby were the batteries for White Deer. Terry pitched nice ball but couldn't hold the shugging oil men. Ledgeworth and Couch were the star players for the Harrah nine. Each poled home runs during the game.

WHAT'S THE NAME

In considering the chances of the New York Giants in the National league pennant race it might be well to remember that there is an old man around on the ball club who may do a lot of swell outfielding through the season. His name is Eddie Roush. His name hasn't been mentioned much (this year) and a lot of the customers may have forgotten that he is a Giant. We did. And it happened this way.

A STOWAWAY, HUH?

During a lengthy and pleasant talk with John McGraw in the hotel at San Antonio he talked with considerable detail about his whole squad. He called off the names of the infielders and the outfielders with the precision of an army sergeant. But he didn't mention the name of Eddie Roush.

NO, A HIRED MAN

"Lots of people have forgotten I am with the ball club," Roush said. "But they'll be knowing when we get in their playing."

"You know," he went on, "I had a lot of stomach trouble last summer. Something the matter with misplaced muscles. I don't know the name of the thing the doctors called it."

"But I had it cut last fall and I feel better now than I have in years. I'm still wearing a kind of a corset bandage and I haven't acted so coltish this spring. It's early yet and I didn't want to take any chances. The boss knew how I rated on the ball club and he wanted to look over the younger fellows. I'd do the same thing if I was handling a ball club."

A DEEP SECRET

It might be mentioned at this point

(clubhouse gossip) that someone on the Giant staff thought that Roush was putting or sulking last summer when he was complaining about stomach pains. The doctor said he couldn't find anything wrong and they sent Roush home. They didn't know whether he would come back this year. Perhaps they didn't care.

THEY ALWAYS DO

But Roush came back and he went about his own way of training. In his younger and better days he would refuse to go to a training camp at all. But he's not a young fellow any more and he hasn't reached his second million.

When time came for McGraw to divide his squad Roush asked to be sent with the second team and his request was granted. For a short time only. He came along so fast when he was working every day that McGraw called him back to the first team. And he may be in there when the season opens or shortly thereafter.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

The Babe says all he wants this year is enough home runs to give him a career record of 500. . . . And that most of the time this year he's going to be hitting little ones to knock in winning runs. . . . The father of Jimmy Braddock, rising young light heavyweight, is a night watchman on the Hoboken docks. . . . A membership in the Siwanoy Golf club two years ago was worth $1,700. . . . Now $3,700. . . . Lena Blackburne says that one night in Dallas, Art Shires came into the White Sox hotel. . . . And for some reason didn't recognize the boss when the boss talked to him. . . . Horton Smith took seventeen favorite clubs with him to England. . . . He's a young golf player who has been mentioned plenty lately.

WOMEN'S MEET ANNOUNCED

BROOKLINE, Mass., April 15. (AP)—The first collegiate tournament in the history of women's tennis will be played here at the Longwood club during the week of June 24.

Mrs. George W. Wightman has arranged details.

Competitors will play as individuals, making it a "collegiate" rather than an "inter-collegiate" event, she explains.

RICH GIRL POOR GIRL by RUTH DEWEY GROVES

THIS HAS HAPPENED MILDRED LAWRENCE, stenographer at the Judson Hotel, has her fox fur snatched from her in a crowd but STEPHEN ARMITAGE catches the thief and returns the scarf. He asks to take her home, and not wishing to seem ungrateful, she invites him to dinner. He pretends her mother's home cooking and gains favor with the foppish sister, CONNIE, who secretly hopes that old-fashioned Mildred will mix enough pep with her usual quiet manner to hold his interest.

The evening is spoiled when PAMELA JUDSON, daughter of Mildred's employer, phones for her to return to duty. Stephen escorts her to the hotel where Pamela recognizes him as the salesman who had sold her a car. She snubs Mildred as a mental and asks Stephen to dance with her. Pamela continues to lure Stephen, pretending she intends to buy another car. But she becomes jealous at a dance and drives home without him. A near wreck brings about a meeting with HUCK CONNOR, who tells her he is a broker from Chicago.

Connor moves to the Judson Hotel and Pamela introduces him to her brother, HAROLD, who is in love with Mildred. She warns him against Connor after Huck sets bait to trap him in a "deal." Gradually, Mildred realizes that Stephen is forgetting her since the wealthy girl has begun to play for his attentions.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER VII STEPHEN ARMITAGE had walked right past Mildred's desk without seeing her.

For all the boyish flippancy which he showed at times, Stephen possessed a remarkable power of concentration. He was thinking at the moment of Huck Connor. Where had he seen him before? When he gave up trying to place the man he was long out of Mildred's sight, without knowing that he had been so near to her.

To Mildred it seemed that he hadn't bothered to speak. Her face flamed red as she watched him go without even a nod to her. Then she turned to her work and typed furiously, blinking back tears of mortification that blinded her.

Pamela had done a good job, she told herself, in making a conquest of Stephen. He couldn't see anyone else now. For a moment Mildred hated him. Not because he was no longer interested in her but because it disappointed her that he should have fallen for Pamela. After all, she realized, she'd held a faint hope that Stephen would be different, that he would see through Pamela's shallowness.

But, try to despise Stephen as she might, Mildred carried home a heavy heart that day.

Connie opened her mouth to tease her about her loveless expression but closed it again, telling herself that she might be too near the truth for fun.

So it was with mixed feelings that Mildred picked up the nose-gay of tiny rosebuds that she found on her desk the next morning. It was impossible not to be glad that Stephen had remembered her. There was no card with them but she knew they were from him. She did not pin them on her dress at this time, but when Stephen dropped in later they were in a wicker vase on her desk.

MILDRED received him as though he had come on business, hoping he would not notice any change in her manner and suspect its cause. "How are you?" he asked pleasantly, and his eyes lingered on hers. She found it pleasant to search her face. There was a fascinating play of emotions in the changing curve of her lips and in her telltale eyes.

"Busy," Mildred answered discouragingly. "Then, because she was truly polite, 'Thank you,' she said, and indicated the flowers.

Stephen waved them out of the conversation. "Tell me," he said with unexpected seriousness. "Who is this fellow Connor?"

"Who is this fellow Connor?" Mildred explained, and the scowl left Stephen's face. "I'd hate to see you getting interested in anyone else just now," he said and grinned.

"Anyone else?" Mildred repeated. "Now don't say you aren't interested in me until I tell you what I came in here for," Stephen hastened to plead. "For whoever this boss may be in his own paw he was kind enough to come over this morning and hand out a couple of tickets to a show for tonight. You're the chosen one to share the windfall with yours truly."

It was on Mildred's tongue to ask if Pamela had refused to go, but she put that aside as cheap.

"What's the show?" she temporized. "Show Business,"

"Oh, that's a bit!" "Fine, I'll come up for you at eight. I'll be about half way up to your place."

This time Mildred went home with a singing heart and a new dress. She was late and had time for only a bite of dinner, but that mattered nothing at all. What did matter was to get the hem put in her new dress and find a pair of stockings to match it.

"Why didn't you buy a pair?" Connie asked, hesitating over the impulse to offer the pair she'd received from an aunt at Christmas. "Because I had to spend every cent I had on this dress," Mildred answered, guessing what was going on in Connie's mind. "Come on, honey," she coaxed, "let me have them. I'll be careful and wash them out tonight before I go to bed."

While Mildred was thus hastily making preparations to look her best for Stephen, Pamela was pushing away a Pecho Melba and telling the waiter who served her to bring a parfait instead.

Before it arrived Huck Connor came to her table and Pamela asked him to sit down. Harold had swallowed his demi tasse and had gone, leaving her for the moment with no one either to quarrel with her or to amuse her.

She welcomed Huck and, having nothing else to do, half-heartedly vamped him. "How about a show tonight?" he asked her.

Pamela shook her head. "I've got some friends coming in later," she said. Her date wasn't until 11, when she was going to a dance, but she didn't want to go out with Huck. Harold had told her he'd cable their father if she did.

"Perhaps your brother could use these tickets," Huck suggested, taking a small white envelope from an inside pocket. "A friend asked me to get them and then wired he couldn't be here."

DAMELA reached out a hand, a sudden idea for their use coming to her mind. "I'll give them to him," she said, and rose from the table just as the vexed waiter served the parfait. She knew Harold had gone up to the club but she had no intention of giving him the tickets.

In a few minutes she had Stephen on the wire, his hotel number being one of the first things she had asked him for.
